Albright Schedules First Leadership Recognition Day

Tuesday, November 7, the first Leadership Day program in the history of Albright College will be held. The affair has been scheduled for Union Hall from 2-4 P. M. under the joint sponsorship of Student Council and the faculty committee on student organizations and activities.

Officers of the 32 campus organizations are invited to participate in the Leadership Day program. They will receive practical suggestions for fulfilling their responsibilities and be given recognition for their work. Other students may also attend.

The program will begin at 2 o'clock with a welcome by President Harry V. Masters. Dean George W. Walton will give the keynote address, in which he will explain the purpose of Leadership Day.

Khoury to Discuss Clubs

Prof. John W. Khouri, adviser of Pi Gamma Mu honorary social science fraternity, will describe the mapping out of a year's club program. He will discuss the broad connections clubs can have, such as local community resources and state, national and international affiliations. The service that a club can give to non-members through open meetings will also be considered.

A demonstration of the planning of the year's activities will be given by the combined Y groups, of which all students are members. Mr. H. Eugene Pierce, supervisor of buildings and grounds, will discuss the use of buildings and Dean Levan P. Smith will explain such technical details as chaperones and scheduling events on the college calendar.

Seminars to Meet

Following a question period led by Dean Smith, three seminar groups will meet. Dr. John B. Douds and Prof. Clyde Harding will lead the presidents and vice-presidents; Dean Williams, the secretaries; and Mr. Charles Gordon, the treasurers. An informal tea sponsored by the Women's Student Senate has been scheduled for 3:30 P. M.

Keys will be made for all officers. A different color will designate each type of officer and the name of the club and the student will appear on each key.

Dean Walton has indicated that classes will be dismissed between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock so that all faculty members and students who desire to may attend.

Raymond M. Schlegel, Student Council president, has urged all officers to attend the Leadership Day program. If this year's event is successful, he said, the affair will be scheduled annually.

Y's to Conduct Drive for Family

The Y's will adopt an underprivileged family again this year. The family will be secured through the Social Welfare League of Reading.

A drive will be conducted November 16 through 21 for clothing, non-perishable foods and cash to purchase perishable food. Contributions may be left at the designated place on the first floor of the Administration Building. The drive will close with a Thanksgiving service at 7:30 P. M. in the Chapel on November 21.

As soon as information concerning the family is secured it will be released to the students. The project is sponsored by the Social Responsibility Commission committee composed of Eugene Snyder, Patricia Miller and Dorothy Miller.

Domino Play Tickets Go On Sale Tuesday

Tickets for the Domino Club's fall production, "Good-bye, My Fancy," will be on sale in the Administration Building from Tuesday, November 7 to Wednesday, November 15. Students should present their activity books to obtain tickets.

The three-act play will be given under the direction of Mrs. Annadora V. Shirk on November 16, 17 and 18.

F.T.A. to Present Chapel Programs

The Future Teachers of America Club of Albright will have charge of the chapel programs for November 7 and 9 at 11:10 A. M. Tuesday, November 7. Mr. Earl Master, principal of Reading High School, will speak on the idea of liberal education. Mr. William Burkey, President of the Berks County Manufacturers Association, and a Phi Beta Kappa from Harvard, will present the viewpoint of traditional education. Following the speeches there will be a question period.

On Thursday, November 9 there will be a panel discussion on teacher-student relationships in education. The panel will be composed of Mr. John Khouri, professor of history; Mr. Walter Stanton, professor of English, and Robert Finger and John Savidge, senior education students.

Kathleen M. Guenther will be the moderator for both programs.

Daymen to Plan Project for Year

Terry Connor, president of the Daymen's Organization, has announced that there will be a meeting of all daymen in the men's lounge on November 8 at 12:10 P. M. The possibility of either adopting a war orphan or sponsoring a craft at the Boys' Home on Schuylkill Avenue with the profits from the newly installed coke machine will be discussed. Every dayman is urged to attend the meeting.

There will also be a meeting of the Daywomen's Club in the Lower Social Room at 12:10 P. M. on November 8.

Dr. Heck Discloses Proposed Plan For Union of Three EUB Seminaries

The union of the three seminaries of the Evangelical United Brethren Church into one large institution at Dayton, Ohio within the next five years is a possibility, Dr. J. Arthur Heck, president of the Evangelical School of Theology, Reading, told The Albrightian on Tuesday. He qualified his statement, however, by explaining that in view of the preliminary nature of the actions to date the movement could still be defeated.

Careful Study Made
A careful study of higher education, and of theological education in particular, in the E.U.B. Church was made necessary, Doctor Heck said, by the union of the Evangelical Church and the Church of the United Brethren in Christ in 1946. The three seminaries presently operated by the denomination are located in Reading, Dayton and Naperville, Ill. It is felt by many that the church can not adequately build up and continue to maintain three seminaries, Doctor Heck said.

Following the submission of a resolution by the Board of Christian Education of the E.U.B. Church, which recommended the union of

Student Council Acts to Survey Campus Groups

Student Council took action Tuesday to investigate all campus organizations in an effort to determine whether restrictions concerning the scheduling of meetings can be eased. In other action, Council considered Saturday classes, pay telephones and the proposed constitution.

The investigation of campus organizations was requested by Prof. Clyde Harding on behalf of the faculty committee on student organizations and activities. This group desires to know how many members of each organization are active, what their division by classes is and what the division of officers by classes is. It was explained that calendar restrictions may be eased if it is found that certain groups with reserved meeting times have only a few members in attendance.

Saturday Classes Discussed

John Hoffer reported that he had conferred with Mr. Newton S. Danford, registrar, about the possibility of eliminating Saturday classes. This would be possible if the students would prefer to attend classes from 1-2:30 and 2:30-4 on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Hoffer explained that Mr. Danford feels that students who work in the afternoon might be inconvenienced by the adoption of such a plan. Kathleen M. Guenther made a motion that the question of Saturday classes be taken by each representative to his particular organization.

Barbara Wrisley reported that there is a great need in Selwyn Hall for a public telephone. The question of installing pay phones at various places on campus was taken under consideration last year, Dean Ruth E. Williams told Council, and a decision may be expected soon.

Evelyn Nantz was appointed chairman of the reactivated men-in-service committee. Several sections of the proposed constitution were adopted following their presentation by Russell F. Weigley, chairman of the constitution committee.

The lack of a telephone has been a complaint for several years. There is no telephone on campus that can be used after 7 P. M. by visitors.

Cultural Program to Feature Dr. Oliver's Speech on Korea

Dr. Robert T. Oliver, noted author and columnist, will be the featured speaker at Albright's next cultural program, to be presented Thursday, November 16, at 11:10 A. M. in Union Hall. Dr. Oliver, who is today department head at Pennsylvania State College, will speak on "Korea." Having served for the Korean Pacific Press (an association of 45 Korean newspapers), and being a former advisor for the Korean delegation to the United Nations and a counselor for the Korean mission, Dr. Oliver is uniquely qualified to discuss America's position in the Pacific. A native of Oregon, Mr. Oliver earned his B.A. degree from Pacific University in 1931 and his Master's degree from the University of Oregon one year later. After spending two years as Dean of Clark Junior College in Washington state, he received his doctorate from the University of Washington and then accepted a position as chairman of the Speech Division of Bucknell University. During the war, 1942-44, he served as the War Foods Administrator in charge of public relations of food conservation.

Ground Breaking Officially Starts New Gymnasium

Work on Albright's new gymnasium was officially begun yesterday with ground-breaking ceremonies at the 13th and Bern Streets site. Edward A. Reider, Inc., contractors, had earlier secured a building permit for the $350,000 project from the city building inspector at a cost of $700.

Although some doubt had been expressed concerning the effect of a recent National Production Authority edict on the construction of the gymnasium, college authorities stated Monday that they did not anticipate that this ruling would prevent the beginning of work. The N.P.A. had decreed that new amusement, recreational and entertainment places could not be erected because of the demand made by the national emergency on the supply of major building materials.

Dr. Charles E. Kachel, secretary of the Board of Trustees, gave the main address at the ground-breaking ceremony. Other college and community officials participated. Each class was represented by the presidents and many of its members.

'50 Cue Receives Third Class Rating

John Savidge, this year's Cue editor, has received word from the National Scholastic Press Association that The Cue was ranked in the third honor rating group of four groups. Its main weaknesses were in the cover, several of the faculty cuts, headings, lack of underclassmen pictures, lack of write-ups on majority of organizations, lack of index, and action shots. It was rated excellent in technical quality such as printing and engraving, personality of book, organization of book, athletic section, grouping for pictures of organizations, portraits, and its division pages.

The NSPA evaluates The Cue, only with college annuals published by schools with an enrollment of 500-999 students.

Held Korean Position

In 1944, he became Chairman of the Department of Rhetoric and Public Address at Syracuse University, a post which he resigned in 1947 to assume the duties of public relations counselor to the Korean Commission in Washington. D. C. Dr. Oliver's distinguished career in educational circles led to an invitation from the University of Korea for his appearance as guest lecturer in the summer of 1946. He became so interested in the affairs of that little known Asiatic country that he accepted the position of advisor to Dr. Syngman Rhee, chairman of the Representative Democratic Council of Southern Korea. He became Dr. Rhee's personal representative in Washington in settling outstanding questions between Korea and the U. S. At this time he also acted as manager of the Washington bureau of the Korean Pacific Press.

Dr. Oliver is writer of the weekly newspaper column "Periscope on Asia," regular contributor to such publications as "Asia and the Americas," "International Digest," "American Mercury," "Christian Century" and the New York Times. He has written several books, "Korea, the Forgotten Nation," "Divided Korea," and "The Republic of Korea Looks Ahead."

Stabler Announces Open House Plan

Mr. Lester Stabler, Director of Public Relations, has announced that Albright will hold an Open House Friday, December 1 from 7:30 P. M. until 10 o'clock. This Open House is the first of its kind in that its object is to allow the parents of day students and other parents who care to attend to see the school at work, classes in session, and laboratories in operation.

The Open House will be followed on Saturday by the first of two College Days for the high school seniors. The first College Day will be held from 9 o'clock through the day for the high school seniors outside of Berks County. The procedure will be the same as was initiated last year, and Mr. Stabler will be in charge. The second College Day will be held on December 9 for the high school seniors from Berks County. It will follow the same time schedule and the same procedure as the first College Day.

The members of the committee who are in charge of Open House are as follows: W. Dean Moore; Eugene Pierce; Dean Ruth Williams; Newton Danford; Mrs. Elery Haskell, president of Albright Women's Auxiliary; Mrs. Darlington Hoopes, president of Patron's

A Dream Comes True

With the official breaking of the ground yesterday for Albright's new physical education building, a long-cherished dream became a reality. Even though conditions will not permit the immediate construction of all three units of the building, the start of work on the gymnasium is a definite progressive step.

The gymnasium is the first building to be constructed as part of Albright's Centennial Program, which also calls for the erection of the other two units of the physical education building, the field house and the swimming pool, plus the construction of a chapel and a men's dormitory. Construction of these latter two buildings will be made possible in part by allocation of a proportion of the funds raised by the Evangelical United Brethren Church in a denomination-wide campaign to help all of the institutions of higher learning which the church sponsors. The Centennial Program will culminate in 1956 with the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of Albright College.

Although the present national emergency creates a degree of uncertainty as to how soon the gymnasium can be completed, it is commendable that the trustees of the college and the contractor, Edward A. Reider, Inc., have found it possible to begin work at this time. According to college authorities, last Friday's edict of the National Production Authority which prohibits the start of construction on amusement, recreational and entertainment places will not affect the gymnasium.

Albright students who have not yet completed the payment of the pledges which they made last spring to help defray the costs of construction should not have any fears about fulfilling their promises. They may be assured that construction of the gymnasium will be carried to completion unless unforeseen obstacles prevent it, and that even if these should occur, the funds will be reserved until such time as the work can be finished.

Albright College has kept faith with her students, the community and her many friends elsewhere. We must keep faith with her.

Question and Answer

What is lacking in our freshmen's spirit? Is it the fault of the school, the upperclassmen or the freshmen themselves? Many of our new students have been complaining that Albright isn't what they expected. Tell me, what did we think we would find at college?

Is it the social life? At the Student Council dance we had all the makings of a successful evening. We had a fine orchestra, decorations, and enough students to have a good time, but still some people left with quite a disappointed feeling and a disillusioned outlook on future dances. What was wrong? Wasn't there a unified feeling among the students or were they just lacking spirit?

Then we have the situation of the day students feeling as though they aren't accepted by the boarding students. Whose fault is this? Is it the fault of the boarding students or aren't the day students putting forth an effort to become better acquainted with the dorm students? This seems to be quite a complex problem involving many of our students. We're very much interested to know your personal opinions about this situation and your solutions if you have any. Drop this information in The Albrightian office anytime next week. Come on kids, get on the ball and let's try to find the cause and solution of our problems.

Selwyn Hall's Competitor

By Jacqueline Zwayer

"Got any ideas for a feature next week?" asks the editor.

"Well," says I—(don't get discouraged already, the dialogue gets worse as we go along)—"Jane Katz and Jim Still have told us what goes on in the dorms and freshmen houses. What about the day students?"

"Oh, you mean you'd like to do a story on the Den of Iniquity?" smirks the ed. (Though I can't imagine what he'd know about the daywomen's rooms.)

The result of the above conversation? You are about to spend a day in the nether regions of the dining room, alias the Lower Social Room and the Day Women's Lounge.

First of all, let's get this straight; don't let the word "day" (or "student," for that matter) confuse you. About the most any of us see of home is to fall into bed in the wee hours of the morning and crawl out again in the still wee hours in time for class.

(By now most of us have paid three times for that bus seat we try to get each morning.)

Maybe you've noticed there are two groups of day women. Those who know doggone well they're not going to get any studying done go down into the lounge where they proceed to listen to Arthur Godfrey, smoke all available cigarettes, take turns at reclining on the "contour" studio couch, (sit on it once, you'll get the point) try to decide whether their faces are really dirty or whether it's the mirror, and spend several hours per day trying to figure out how to use those tricky stationary hangers. (To date, this winter has seen one and a half coats hung on this rack.)

The second group, noble fire in their eyes, goes to the Lower Social Room where they open their books and resist the temptation to recline on the padded benches surrounding three of the walls. This resistance sometimes holds out for a full half-hour.

Sooner or later someone will drift over from the Lounge and start to play the piano.

Ever since a certain sorority party (no names since this is a neutral paper—remember?) one faction has been donning flapper outfits and serenading us during lunchtime with everything from "Ain't She Sweet" to "Sing and Smile and Pray."

The old woodbox next to the fireplace makes a perfect chaise lounge for our chanteuse.

Once a month the Day Women hold a business meeting. The president has to make her pleas heard above the crackle of potato chips and the rattle of milk bottles. (Occasionally we "join" committees because it would be rude to decline with food in our mouths.)

About two P. M. things quiet down. By this time you're so used to hearing the bang of the piano, half-listening to the "friendly" gossip, and having the phone ring that you say good-bye to the sole remaining occupant and go to some nice noisy place like the library to get the right study atmosphere.

Two Steps Before Domesticity

The general opinion of fellow Albrightians is, I know, that Home Economics is a snap pre-Wed course and the weeks spent in Sherman Cottage are a final fling of gay frivolity. However, if you think that rising and shining at 6:15 A. M. to prepare a nutritious, aesthetic, inspiring, edible breakfast for seven females is barrels of fun—try it!

Kidding aside, Home Management is really more than meets the eye. It involves planning and marketing for meals that must meet a budget of less than eighty-five cents per person per day, laundering, housecleaning, and housekeeping in general. Jeff is, of course, the man of the house, but he isn't self-sufficient. Being nurse, means more than bouncing him on a knee—babies can be mighty hungry and mighty damp.

Along with homemaking routine, there are research projects assigned to fill in those idle hours (?) and keeps us well informed on the latest in practical equipment and homemaking technique. Then too, we had down-to-earth experience trying our originality in painting and redecorating rooms and refinishing furniture.

There are always the unsuitable classes to be attended whether we think most housewives we know do or not. Regulations cut down on weekend social life too with three meals a day in the cottage a rule.

This schedule, I suppose, sounds pretty dull but in the final reckoning the practical experience and practical jokes far outweigh the confusion, the friendships outweigh the hardships and the grand total is a course well worth its weight in golden experience.

And there goes another bullet pass from Lombaski.

Just ask her; she'll tell you herself—"I'm Jean Magee!" And what a Dandy our tall, slim YW president is.

Jeanie's home is in Lemoyne, Pennsylvania—"just across the river from Harrisburg." However, when she isn't dashing around campus, she and Bob and Hyacinth can usually be found in West Reading.

Our prexy is a very personable young lady, with brown curly hair, brown eyes that twinkle, and—well, who doesn't know Magee? Although Jean spends most of her time seeing that the Y runs smoothly, she is also treasurer of the Women's Athletic Association, chaplain of the Phi Beta Mu Sorority, and a member of the college orchestra. Somehow she finds time to participate in softball, tennis, and to be co-captain of the girls' basketball team. If you want service with a smile, Jean will give it to you in the dining hall or cafeteria line.

In the dorm, Jean is confidante and big sister to everyone. But when she isn't listening to other people's troubles, she is sneaking around corners taking unexpected flash bulb pictures. And don't tell anyone, but she is also an inmate of Belfry.

Jeanie used to have a knack for having accidents—the time the mirror fell on her head. But she's been doing much better since Bob's been around to keep her straight. It looks like Bob will stay around, so we can predict a happy-ever-after ending for our favorite Dandy Lion.

Sound Off-One, Two

The exodus of many Albrightians to Lebanon last Saturday reminded me of a column I read last year written by Tom Donnelly of the Washington Daily News. When Mr. Donnelly was an undergrad, he and a group of friends borrowed a girl's car to "take a short trip to a football game." They put down the top (it could only be convertible, definitely) and several of the more hardy members of the group sat on the back of the seats for the entire trip. Because of snappy weather, they bought some bootleg whiskey, and all thoroughly enjoyed the game, even though their school lost. After the game they decided to drive around a little and—eventually ended up in North Carolina! Mr. Donnelly wanted to know what had happened to the coonskin cap and coat, the bell-bottom trousers, the cane and pennant, and the banjo playing romeo. Well . . . there seems to be a few such left on the campuses (or is it camp?) all across the nation. More than one school boasts of an "O Boy, It's Friday Club," and the revival of a tortuous stringed instrument, the uke, by Arthur Godfrey are both tending to redevelop the Fitzgeraldian type student in many of the larger schools. At least, that's what many such gay blades would have us believe. You've all met their type. They rate all schools by the number of wild parties which were a "frantic panic." Humph, and I thought schooling was for education.

Can anybody verify the rumor that an unidentified publishing company is peddling completely indexed cribs to the student world? From what I hear, they're supposed to be super—chapter titles, all proper names in bold print, numbered pages, footnotes, footnoted-footnotes, and there will even be a bibliography published. How about a bibliography of bibliographies? Bet the bookstore will do a landslide business if they ever get them in.

This-Albright Has

When the feature page is finally compiled, it usually is nothing more or less than the sum total of everybody's gripes. Of course, that's the editor's prerogative; and, since every feature writer is a would-be-editor, they feel it's their privilege too. But I'd like to add a bright note to this compilation of literary sound-offs; I'd like to point out the silver lining in the black cloud so many people call Albright. It's our faculty and administration.

One of the advantages of a small school like Albright is that the students and faculty really know each other. There's a certain closeness between them that is certainly advantageous to the mistreated, misunderstood explorer of the world of knowledge. He can complain and grumble about his prof, but at least he knows who and what he's talking about. The lord and master, in this case the professor, can wonder what goes on behind the blank expression of his students, but at least he knows the subject in question. Those of you vowing to transfer to a big university with the rah-rah college life, could seriously consider that you'll be a non-entity in all your classes—Joe Schmoo third seat, row E. If you've any problems regarding your academic work or personal adjustment, just try to compete with the overcrowded schedule. He won't have the time or inclination to devote to your personal maladjustment.

You may not like the personal references—the digs your profs throw at you, i.e. "Miss A., try devoting a little less time to that football hero of yours and put a little more time on your biology," or, "Mr. X, how about a little less poker and a little more history?" But, it's certainly preferable to being a name and number left to fall by the wayside.

Did you know that Dean Smith devoted two hours and 10 minutes to a boy with a problem? That Dr. Kistler is having a personal interview with those history students not yet "hep" to the course? That's to mention two, but the rest of the administration and faculty are equally interested in the welfare of the students.

Think it over before you chuck aside the personal contact of a small college for the impersonal, do-or-die program of a large university.

Dutchmen Upset, 27-13, In Hard Fought Battle; Rightmire Tabs Two T-D's

Last Saturday in Lebanon High School stadium the Roaring Lions whipped the Dutchmen of Lebanon Valley, 27-13. This victory enabled the Cats to snap a three game Lebanon Valley winning streak and even up their record at three wins against three defeats.

The first Lion score was set up in the first period when John Sudol intercepted a Dutchman pass on his own 47 yard line and returned it to the Lebanon Valley 42. Two passes, one from Chauncey Opening second-half warfare, the constantly improving and pass happy Zetas zoomed into first place in the intramural football league. The KTX aggregation fell to the Zetas, 25-6, with Pat Bieber and Bob Ruoff scoring once, while Lefty Leitham crossed the goal line twice. Earl Langford did the chucking for the Zetas. In their other game, the Zetas, led by the sensational passing of Pat "Otto" Bieber, trounced the Daymen, 27-6. Bieber threw passes to Ruoff, Leitham and Lee Cappel. Earl Langford also uncorked a few nice heaves for the winners.

The Kappas rolled to a 19-0 victory over the Frosh House. Ed Fleming scored twice on a pass and a run. Paul Grisby iced the decision with a six pointer on a pass play.

The APO's shellacked the Pi Taus, 30-0, with Paul Muller doing the heavy duty work for the winners. Paul hit Bill Heidelbaugh and Lee Katz twice and scored once himself. In the 13-6 victory over the KTX lads, Muller scored on an end run and threw a pass to Heidelbaugh for the other tally. Bob Close scored for the losers. These wins put the APO's in undisputed possession of second place. On Thursday, October 26, the Soph Raiders forfeited to the Frosh House, the Daymen to the Kappas and the Pi Taus to the Soph Raiders.

Last Monday the Frosh gained a game over the Pi Taus when the latter again failed to show up for the scheduled contest. The Zetas trounced the Kappa gridders, 28-0, to remain in the loop's lead. Lee Cappel, Lefty Leitham, Bob Ruoff and Don Loder scored for the victors.

On Tuesday, October 31, the inspired KTX swamped the Soph Raiders, 27-0. Charlie Klinger, Bob Close, and Dean Hoffman accounted for the future preachers' score. The APO's trimmed the floundering Daymen, 14-13, with Lee Katz and Bill Heidelbaugh scoring for the winners. Lee Wool and Dan Bieber gave the losers their points.

Gettysburg Wins, Muhlenberg Ties Delaware as Scranton Loses First

Gettysburg won its fray with John Hopkins, 46-14, at Gettysburg last Saturday before a 3,000 Dad's Day crowd while Muhlenberg was holding mighty Delaware to a scoreless tie in the only two games fought by Albright's future foes last Saturday.

The hapless Bullets, who had won only one game previous to last week's contest, trounced a more hapless John Hopkins College. Jim Hammond, a sophomore, was given the starting role at quarterback and proved himself capable in the brain slot by hurling four touchdown passes. Boyd Thomas and Vince Rossetti each tabbed two TD's for the victors while Larry Johnson, Don Emert, and Russ Hess each claimed one.

The once beaten Mules were about as stubborn as a Mule can be when it came to giving their opponents a score. Twice the Mules were inside the ten yard stripe only to lose the ball on both occasions on downs. When Delaware threatened in the final period, they kicked up their heels and recovered a fumble on their one yard line.

However, the formerly undefeated Scranton Royals, who face our Lions in Albright stadium tomorrow, were dropped from the unbeaten ranks last Sunday, 41-21, by the Quantico Marines.

Thinclads Split Card; Beat Bears, Lose to Teachers

MAS Championships To Be Held Nov. 11

West Chester State Teachers College brought their cross country team to Albright last Tuesday, October 31, and the result was a Halloween nightmare for the Red and White harriers, as the Rams took seven out of the first nine places and defeated the Lions, 22-39. The Lion harriers were more fortunate last Friday, October 27, subduing the Bears of Ursinus, 17-40, by taking the first four places.

Tomorrow the Albright harriers will meet the Royals from Scranton during the football game. Next Friday the team travels to Allentown, where the M. A. S. C. A. C. Championships will be run over the Muhlenberg College course. As there are only four freshmen and three upperclassmen on the team, the Lions will not be eligible for either of the team championships, although they will compete as individuals.

Zellner Notches Second

West Chester's Ed Malikowski broke the tape in the three-and-a-half mile grind with a time of 19:51, just edging out Albright's Charlie Zellner, who registered 19:58 in the meet with the Rams. The Rams' Jack McKernan took third place with 20:05, followed by the Lions' Dave Fulmer in 20:12. George Orren and Francis Wright were fifth and sixth for West Chester in 20:30 and 20:44, while Robert Brightbill, Laverne Russell, and Robert Dickerson of West Chester finished together on 20:51 to occupy seventh, eighth, and ninth places. Tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, and fourteenth places went to the Lions, with Mahlon Frankhouser finishing in 21:25, Jim Rockett in 21:54, Rae Hoopes in 23:09, Dick Flammer in 23:20, and Don Long in 24:37.

In their 17-40 victory over Ursinus last Friday Zellner covered the new four mile Collegeville course in 20 minutes, 42 seconds to notch his first top place for the season. The Lions' Dave Fulmer and Mahlon Frankhouser broke the tape in a dead heat to finish second for the victors. Although this was the third win in four starts for the Shirkmen their loss to the Rams left their record last Tuesday at three wins, and two losses.

Shirk Attends MAS Conference Meeting

Mr. Eugene Shirk attended a meeting of the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Conference Executive Committee last Tuesday, October 24. The committee made plans for the meeting of the entire conference, which will be held at Franklin and Marshall College on November 29 and 30.

Tomorrow afternoon Albright's Lions will return to their home den for the first time in three weeks when they face the high-powered Scranton Royals at 2 o'clock. Next Saturday, November 11 the Cats will again hit the road to journey to Gettysburg for a battle with the Bullets on their home gridiron. Both contests promise to give the Red and White stiff opposition as the Royals were undefeated in their first four starts this year while the Bullets will be seeking revenge for their ignoble tie with the Lions last fall.

Head Coach Pete Carlesimo, who is starting his seventh season at the helm of the Royals, has brought his squad through four decisive victories thus far this season. They were over St. Vincent, 20-7, Lafayette, 20-7, Gannon, 34-7, and PMC, 26-0. In all of the four contests the Royals posted an enviable defensive record. In their fifth fracas, however, Scranton lost, 41-21, to the Quantico Marines.

Twenty Lettermen

Coach Carlesimo boasts a fifty man squad for the 1950 season, 42 of which he used in the PMC game alone. Twenty major lettermen and a dozen promising sophomores returned to the squad this year to form the nucleus of the starting eleven.

Four key losses through graduation last spring plagued the Royals' ranks in the fall. Two of them were the 1949 co-captains and outstanding running backs, Tony Orsini and George Yourishin, while the loss of tackle Al Belardi and center Harry Horan left two vacant gaps in the line.

Three line positions were copper riveted at the outset of the season by three outstanding veterans. Heading the list was Al Applegate, team captain and recipient of several All-Pennsylvania, All-Catholic, and "Little" All-American honors, who fills in the one guard position and has an outstanding kick-off record this year. Dom Colangelo, the Royals' stellar pass-catcher, end, and Jim McHale, nabbed the other two sure-fire line positions.

Returning Veterans

Veterans who returned to the Royals' 1950 backfield were Pete Mondati, their leading ground gainer last year, Newman, regular left halfback, Ray Makowski, number one punter, Joseph Romanko, Joe Krulock, Bill Bartley, and Ed Romanowski. In the line are veterans Dan Sargent, John Copa, and Colangelo at ends; Dick Danko, Bill Lydon, Stan Zebrowski, Steve Knight, and Applegate at guards; John Woodbridge and Vic Snyder at the pivot slot; and Angelo Reich, Lester Santaniello, and McHale at tackles.

The Gettysburg Bullets, who have been plagued with injuries and draft difficulties throughout the start of the season, have posted only a two win, four loss record thus far. They lost their opener to Bucknell, 20-15, went on to down Western Maryland, 19-0, and then lost successively to Drexel, 13-7, Lehigh, 49-6, and Muhlenberg, 28-7. Last Saturday they went pass happy and managed to romp over Johns Hopkins, 46-14, for their second win of the season. They will face Dickinson on November 4 before meeting the Lions the following Saturday on November 11.

Optimistic Outlook

With the loss of only Marty Pavelic and Ross Sachs via the graduation route Coach Hen Bream and his Bullet squad had an optimistic outlook when a squad of 51 candidates, including 21 lettermen, reported for fall workouts. Twenty-three of the candidates were from last year's undefeated freshman squad while seven others were 1949 varsity members although not lettermen.

Two of the Bullets' vital losses occurred before the season actively started when Kenneth Bowman, defensive lineman, and Howard Griffiths, defensive back, reported to the armed services. Other losses

Dutchwomen Trim Lion Lassies, 6-0, In Lebanon Fracas

A hockey game between the Albright Lionesses and the Lebanon Valley lassies was part of the homecoming celebration at Lebanon last Saturday in which the Lionesses once again bowed to their opponents by a score of 6-0. It took the entire first half for the Lionesses' defense to start halting their opponents' attack. With Lebanon Valley's center forward and center halfback leading the attack, the Lady Dutchmen racked up four goals in the first half while the Albright team held the victors to two goals in the second half.

Sophs Win

Intramural hockey got off to a start last Monday afternoon with a game between the Freshmen and the Sophomores. With Captain Pat Miller leading the attack, the Sophs held the Frosh scoreless, winning the game, 3-0.

The date has not yet been set for the game between the Seniors and Juniors. All girls interested in playing in these games should see their class representatives.

from the lineup were caused by injuries during the 1950 season. Last year's leading ground gainer for the Bullets, diminutive Dwight Speaker, is out of the lineup for the rest of the season with a sprained leg.

Fitzkee, Coder Injured

Ron Fitzkee, G-burg's fleet-footed back with the educated toe, broke his leg in the Western Maryland fracas and is thus also retired for the season. Eugene Coder, rangy ace pass receiver for the Blue and White, is also out of the roster due to injuries.

Three men have appeared during the Blue and White's season to take over some of the duties of the injured. Don Young, a 185 pound senior back, has spiritedly bolstered the running attack of the Bream men while rugged Bob Bitner has become outstanding in the passing department. The third member of the trio is 190 pound Tom Faulkner who scored the Bullets' only touchdown in the Muhlenberg fracas and contributed 136 yards to their running attack.

Last of Freshmen Tests To Be Given

There will be a psychology test for all freshmen on Thursday, November 9 at 11 o'clock in the college chapel. It is expected that after Thanksgiving vacation any freshman who wants an interview to discuss his interest will have an opportunity to schedule an appointment.

The Medical College Admission test will be given at the Psychological Center on Monday, November 6. Several Albright students and graduates will take the test at this time.
