

Heckman Reveals Radio Workshop Program Schedule

Nan Heckman, Radio Workshop director, has announced that the first meeting of Radio Workshop will be held tonight at 7:15 P. M. at radio station WEEU. Old members and any other students interested in this activity are urged to attend.

Albright's group will have radio time from 11:30 A. M.-12:00 noon on Saturday mornings. These programs will be given every other week as this year Kutztown and Albright will alternate weeks on the radio. The shows will be transcribed.

Professional Level Sought

Mr. Thomas Martin, station director, will speak to the group on what he expects to accomplish this year. The Kutztown group will meet with the Albright Radio Workshop tonight.

A play will be given once a month and the other program will schedule something educational. Professional level is being sought in play performances this year. They will be taped over and over until they are worthy of radio time. The educational program will consist of debating or something similar.

Meetings concerning announcing for men and women, disc jockey instruction, spontaneous news casting and general operational setup for radio and television will be held. Miss Heckman announces that there are plenty of opportunities for anyone interested in any phase of radio, from script writing to actual performance in the skits. No experience is required and all interested are urged to attend.

Positions Open

Nan Heckman has been in charge of Radio Workshop since the second semester of last year when she succeeded W. Walter Hayum. She is at present employed as Promotion Director of radio station WEEU.

If any student is interested in Radio Workshop, but is unable to attend the meeting this week, please leave your name in Richard Stinson's box in The Albrightian office. Positions are open in all phases of radio work.

Albright news broadcasts will not begin until after football season. Richard Stinson is Radio News Editor.

Domino Scores Success with 'Goodbye, My Fancy'

The Domino Club scored another hit with their fall production, "Goodbye, My Fancy," which opened a three-day run last night in the college chapel, under the able direction of Mrs. Annadora V. Shirk.

Although the theme of this year's play, a light comedy, differs from the usual Domino productions, the opening-night audience reacted very favorably. "Goodbye, My Fancy" is a comedy with a message.

The play centers around Agatha Reed, a vivacious congresswoman, played by Kathleen M. Guenther. Miss Guenther was well cast in this role, which she interpreted skillfully.

Marvin Schappel, in the role of the college president, did not appear quite strong enough for the part he portrayed. His best performance was in the second act, when he was accused by Agatha Reed of being a coward. As the photographer, Harry Nelson portrayed his part well. He seemed a "natural" in this role. Barbara Ravel, as the secretary, displayed a great deal of promise. Alma Natanblut, as the college roommate, and Judy Goodman, as the president's daughter, presented commendable performances as usual.

One of the highlights of the play was the acting of Yvonne Voigt, as

Pictures To Be Taken

All organization pictures taken on Monday, November 13 for the Cue will have to be taken over again due to technical difficulties. They will be taken on Monday, November 20 at the same times as before.

Library Announces Change In Hours

New hours will be observed by the Albright College Library beginning Monday, November 27, Miss Josephine E. Raepel, librarian, disclosed Wednesday.

The library will be open from 8 A. M. to 4 P. M. and from 7 to 9 P. M. Mondays through Thursdays. It will close for the day at 4 o'clock Friday afternoons and be open from 8 A. M. to 12 noon Saturdays.

The new hours were announced following a survey to determine how the library could cut down operating expenses and thus remain within its reduced budget. The survey disclosed that between the hours of 4 and 5 P. M. each day and on Friday nights an average of only three students studied in the library.

At a conference with President Harry V. Masters it was decided that keeping the library open the additional hour each day does not justify the use of electricity, heat and labor.

Inter-frat Council Elects President

The Interfraternity Council elected Ralph Wagner president at its organizational meeting on Thursday, November 2. John Wise was chosen vice-president; Robert Miller, secretary; and Vincent Gentile, treasurer.

The council discussed awarding a plaque or trophy to the fraternity having the highest academic standing. This, along with other considerations, was returned to the individual fraternities for discussion.

Dean Levan P. Smith presided during the election of officers. The meeting was attended by the president and two representatives of each fraternity.

The council, whose purpose is to promote harmony among the four fraternities, will meet again on Monday afternoon, November 20, at 4 o'clock.

Seminary Merger Action Postponed By EUB Group

Definite action on the proposal to merge the three seminaries of the Evangelical United Brethren Church into one may not be taken for four years, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Dayton, Ohio, dated November 15.

The seminary question was considered Tuesday by the General Conference of the denomination, now in session in Dayton. This group recommended further study of the merger proposal by the Board of Christian Education of the E.U.B. Church.

Opposition to the merger was voiced at General Conference by Dr. H. H. Heininger, president of the Evangelical Theological Seminary at Naperville, Ill., the A. P. said. His chief objection resulted from the fact that the Illinois institution "has a high enrollment" and is "doing well financially." Prior to the General Conference the trustees of E.T.S. had turned down the proposal.

Must Endorse Merger

The merger had been approved by the trustees of the Bonebrake seminary, at Dayton. Trustees of Albright College had agreed to begin negotiations looking toward ultimate union. The Evangelical School of Theology, Reading, operates legally under the Albright College charter. The merger must be endorsed by the trustees of all three seminaries before General Conference can act finally.

Merger of the three institutions into one seminary at Dayton was recommended last summer following a survey of the theological education program of the denomination.

In other General Conference action, the commission on higher education recommended larger appropriations for the denomination's four accredited colleges, one of which is Albright College.

Dr. D. T. Gregory of Dayton was elected to the reorganized seven-member board of bishops of the denomination. Present bishops were returned to office to fill the other six posts. Two present bishops, John S. Stamm and A. R. Clippinger, were elected bishops emeritus since they have reached the retirement age.

Dr. Joe Willard Krecker was re-elected editor of The Telescope-Messenger.

Spanish Club to Observe Pan American Day Nov. 30; Pageant To Be Presented

La Sociedad Cultural Espanola, Albright's local Spanish club, will present a special program entitled Las Tierras De La Cruz del Sur on Thursday, November 30. The program will be in the form of a historical pageant depicting highlights of different periods of Spanish American life from the colonial period to the present time. Its author, Richard Connell, has managed to combine his two main interests, Spanish and music, in bringing to the public this Spanish musical.

The entire cast will be composed of Albright students. The Albright College Glee Club, assisted by Mrs. Kistler at the organ, will furnish the musical part of the program. The cast of characters is as follows: Juan Fernandez, Galen Klinger; Guard, Norman Dettra; Jose, Albert Fiorini; Maria, Dorothy Deck; La Inca, Ruth Zimmer; Bolivar, Walter Eisenhower; San Martin, Vernon Miller; Officer, Paul Davis; Three Guards, Albert Fiorini, Norman Dettra, Galen Klinger; a Spanish American, Greta Schweners; a North American, Vernon Miller; a Spanish American mother, Ruth Zimmer; Narrator, Patricia Shearer.

Those serving on the production staff are Barbara Finch, General Chairman; Joanne Raffensperger, Co-chairman; Richard Connell, Consuelo Rodriguez, Mary Jane Ward, Directors; Dr. John Duddy, Musical Director; Dolores High, Programs and Publicity; Evelyn Nantz, Collin Linkletter, Scenery; Barbara Ravel, Russell F. Weigley, Properties; Felicia Coucuzza, Costumes; William Houseman, Make-up; Joanne Raffensperger, Ushers.

An invitation has been extended to all Albright students and faculty and to anyone in Reading interested in Spanish to attend this special Spanish presentation.

Progress Seen On Constitution Action

Progress has been made in the adoption by Student Council of its proposed constitution, Raymond C. Schlegel, Council president, has indicated. Most recently approved section is that dealing with the duties of the various Council officers.

Schlegel explained that after each section of the constitution has been approved by the Council, the entire document must be voted upon. If it is approved in its entirety, it will be acted upon by the faculty committee on student organizations and activities. Before it can become effective it must be approved by the entire student body. Russell F. Weigley is chairman of the constitution committee.

Council could not meet last Tuesday because it was one member short of a quorum. In action taken the preceding week, John Hoffer was named chairman of a committee to make a survey of campus organizations.

Mixed Glee Clubs Plan Future Trips

Dr. Duddy will take part of the Albright Messiah Chorus to Norristown on Friday, December 1 to take part with Dr. Duddy's church choir in the performance of Handel's Messiah.

The Mixed Glee Clubs of Albright will journey to York, Pa. on Sunday, December 3 to give a concert at Grace Evangelical United Brethren Church in the morning. They will also perform at St. Paul's Evangelical United Brethren Church in Red Lion that evening.

Handel's Messiah will be given here on campus on Thursday, December 14 at 7:30 P. M. in Union Hall. Dr. Duddy will direct and Mrs. Kistler will play the organ.

Four students with major roles in the fall Domino production, "Goodbye, My Fancy," are, standing, l. to r., Marvin Schappel, Alma Natanblut and Judy Goodman, and seated, Kathleen M. Guenther.

the alumni secretary, whose expression added a great deal to the production even though she was cast in a minor role.

Other supporting players were Annjeanette Innis, Richard Stinson and Elliot Perceley who did a commendable job.

As usual the stage setting was very effective. Credit for this must go to Ella Mae Sheesley and Pete Rentos.—B. A. M.

As We Give Thanks

As Thanksgiving Day, 1950, approaches, we may look back over the twelve months that have elapsed since the last Thanksgiving with genuine joy within our hearts that God has blessed us in many ways. But in counting our blessings we are not unmindful of the multitudes of people who are spiritually, mentally and physically impoverished and of our duty to them.

All of us, since last Thanksgiving, have traveled upward in our educational pursuits and come closer to the goals which we have set for ourselves. New horizons have come into view, new dreams have been dreamed, new ideals challenged us. In spite of the deathly enslavement of the force of Communism which has engulfed much of the world, we are still free to honestly seek for truth and to live according to the highest that we know. We may still find happiness with loved ones and friends, peace through our own ways of worship, satisfaction through the acceptance of ever new opportunities. We still have homes that to thousands seem kingly palaces, clothing that seems fabulous, Thanksgiving dinners that seem unbelievable. For these and many other blessings known only to ourselves we give thanks.

Yet a shadow of sadness is cast over our thanksgiving, when we realize that at least one-fourth of the people of the world live in complete misery and degradation and at least another fourth in pinching poverty. In our own country alone there are three million adults who have never had the privilege of attending any school, and ten million who have mastered little more than the simple rudiments of reading and writing. There are Chinese Reds fighting in Asia to please the whims of the Kremlin and other subject peoples throughout the world whose only hopes are the empty promises of Communism. In our own city there are boys and girls who have never known anything except the degradation of the slums.

Only as we promise anew to make our lives count in making our blessings realities for all mankind will our thanksgiving be truly meaningful.

This 'N That

We couldn't get a Science Slants column this week because our reporters were anchored to their courses for the weekend. What gives over on that hill? Is it true that if one flunks a test, the grade "F" is branded on his left cheek? Have pity, profs, our socialization schedule is being disrupted and our morale is low and so are our grades and our finances and . . . boy, wait until Thanksgiving vacation!

Well, freshmen, you've passed through your quarter-year exams, those dreaded mid-semester tests. Don't shrug your shoulders and think that they're over, for the worst is yet to come. Now you can begin to think about, sweat over, and squeeze out those grades. How'd YOU do? Ah, do we detect a glimmer of doubt on your faces? It's torturous, isn't it? One day, in the near future, you'll punch, scratch, fight, bite, and kick your way through the mob gathered around, on top of, and on all sides of that notice on the bulletin board which will either make or break your heart. That's right, it'll be the valentine list from the dean, a most undesirable list on which to appear. So prepare for the rush, people.

American Election, 1950

The tumult and the shouting have died. Aroused momentarily from a political slumber of fifty weeks this great democratic nation of ours exercised its hallowed franchise in a congressional election. Now the results have all been very carefully tabulated, and the nation can drift back into its characteristic soporific state till 1952.

Comic books, the sports page, and all other interests were tossed aside momentarily in order to demonstrate that supposedly American characteristic, ingenuity, by miraculously doing a job with a limited amount of material, namely knowledge of what made the nation tick since the last election. Despite all textbook arguments to the contrary, the material is limited, or is it merely in seclusion most of the time? In between the microscopic slushes of time devoted to political thinking American minds engage in more indigenous pastimes such as movies, detective stories, television with The Lone Ranger or other stimulating escapades.

It is not very wise to condemn the above mentioned habits of our populace, especially in a journal of this nature, for as you might know, college students, too, can be accused of forgetting about solutions to the world's problems in preference to a little, a very small amount, of gratifying diversion.

The question is, therefore, what limits can be tolerated? If, between elections, any attempt to begin a discussion on what representatives of a democratic, informed, enlightened constituency are doing down by the Potomac, we are mostly countered with, "Shaddup, don't youse wanta see the rassling?" or "Can't you see I'm readin' the funnies?"—then we've got to sketch the limits quite a bit.

Yes, election time is thinking time. It's the time when candidates' records are very carefully scrutinized on the basis of who shouts the loudest and who sinks to a new level of low in democratic government. It's about time for Congress to give a distinguished Slander Medal to each of its embryo members. And do Americans like it? They eat it up. Joe Doaks goes down town the day after election. Did he vote? "Sure," he says to his friends. "I voted. It's a great thing, this America." Yep, it sure is, Joe, but it's all over till 1952. And anybody who doesn't vote in 1952 probably just forgot to set the alarm.

R.M.

Your Inquiring Reporter

"What do you think of Saturday classes? (Please refrain from all unprintable language.)"

This question was submitted by your reporter last week to a cross-section of the campus in between classes—and the prof's glances—with the following results:

Barbara Finch '52 said that Saturday classes were inconvenient for those resident students having to cut classes or not get home. On the other hand, these classes are a necessity for the science students who have labs to fit into their schedules.

The fact that classes prevented your roommate from helping to clean the "cell" Saturdays was Jackie Kline's '54 argument.

Greta Schwerens '53 replied, "Aren't five days enough? After a dance, football game, or just plain five days, who's ready for a class the next day?"

Harvey Stanislaus '69, "I consider the situation deplorable at best; it is the antithesis of all which I hold dear. I suggest the complete and immediate annihilation of this ludicrous practice."

Ronald Schlossberg, a sophomore, would be a joy to the registrar since he staunchly advocated Saturday classes. His very practical reason was the lack of classroom space for a heavier schedule on week days. He also added that he didn't like the idea of being in class for a full day on the other five days of the week.

The obstacle the classes presented to part-time work Saturday aroused Emma Sifret '54.

There were other answers but it was surprising how they all boiled down to the above arguments. Almost all of the opinions were very sensible too. Of course some jokers like Jay Schraier were indignant because they missed "Smilin' Ed and the Buster Brown Gang" on radio (surely you remember radio?)

If you've got any arguments to add, drop down to The Albrightian office (any time you can get past the psychological center) and let us know about them.

And in goes the spear-head of P. U. University!

This week's Dandy is our own Mr. Touchdown, Billy Krohto! A senior, twenty years old, 155 pounds, 5 feet 8 inches tall, and wearing the number "10" on his jersey, Bill can be found at football practice every afternoon. The loud chuckles that burst forth from the training tables in the dining hall may many times be attributed to Bill. His notorious fame as a corner of such words as "oxyebubiating, ploxuserous, and subsliverousness" have won him self-admitted fame in the Albright English department. From whence did you gather your tremendous vocabulary, Bill?

And look at Bill's extra-curricular activity list. For four years he's been on the football team, this year a co-captain, and played in most of our toughest games. The baseball team has also claimed him for four years, as has one of the intramural basketball teams. When Bill graduates this year he leaves behind him an enviable record of athletic accomplishments. Bill has also been a member of the Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity for all four college years, and an ardent Kappa he is, too. On the cultural side, Bill has been a member of the "Y" for four, in the French Club for three years, in the Future Teachers of America for the past two years, and in the Spanish Club for one year. Whew, where does Dandy Krohto find time for all of these things?

Besides the above affiliation, Bill has been a good student in his Social Science major, history minor curriculum. Ask any of his professors or classmates. His hobby, Bill says, is all types of athletics. As for girls, Bill refuses to commit himself, but his many appearances in Selwyn parlor after dinner tend to prove that he has a roving eye. Hey, Bill, who is the most handsome man at Albright, anyhow?

Ask Bill about his favorite baseball team, the Red Sox, and he'll reply with his favorite quotation, "Wait until next year!" Bill is also a special buddy of Matt Batts, the catcher for the team.

Bill's deception is good not only on the athletic field, but also on the campus. Many girls tell us that Bill can play the same practical joke on them as many as a dozen times, and they still fall for it. It must be that Peckville charm, girls.

Plans for the future include teaching, coaching, or perhaps the U. S. Army, depending on how Uncle Joe and Uncle Sam make out. Best of luck, Bill, we know you'll be a champion no matter what may come your way.

A.P.O. House

by Vincent Gentile

Having inaugurated our first year in an off-campus fraternity house, members of the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity agree that fraternity life is a more complete and conducive atmosphere for a place to call "home." Sixteen of the fraternity's thirty-four members share the residence at 1616 Olive street, just a short walk from the Albright campus.

Last summer, several of our members took to paint and brush while others scattered to repossess various pieces of furniture which had been used by the chapel-dorm girls. Before the hoards of co-eds descended upon the campus, the chapel-dorm was occupied by the fraternity.

In a tour of the house, the bulletin board is sure to command one's attention. It's cluttered with announcements, bargains, house rules, pertinent jokes, and pictures of local boys who made good. The living room, long, and featuring overstuffed furniture, is our television room, and is really the most popular room in the house. A sun porch off the living room has been converted into a "radio and reading room." Here we listen to records, the radio, or read the latest magazines and papers.

The remainder of the first floor, except for one square yard of floor space, is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Woomert, our housemother and housefather. The small space referred to produces the most noise per square inch—it's the phone closet, the pulpit of the lovers of the house.

On the second floor, if we look into one of the four rooms, we quickly sense the atmosphere of study. It's not uncommon for the members to begin an evening at their respective desks in deep concentration, and end it, sometimes rather abruptly, by congregating in one of the rooms for an unadulterated bull session. The sleeping quarters are found on the third floor, and are fitted with nine double-decker beds, allowing an extra bed for visiting alumni or friends of the fraternity. An oddity of this floor is the ticking of ten or twelve alarm clocks with different degrees of tone and loudness, and the inconsistent ringing of alarms at the various waking hours.

Dropping all the way down to the basement, let us inspect the scene of the fraternity's bi-weekly meetings. In one corner are the snack bar and stools, and in the opposite side of the basement is a shower room which eases the congestion from the two bathrooms on the second floor. As for recreation, ping-pong feuds are well on their way.

Much more important than the tangible luxuries of our house is the warm and friendly spirit of fraternity brotherhood, which embodies both the respect for one another as individuals and the constant readiness of everyone to lend a helping hand. We now appreciate the fact that the house is a necessity in bringing us together in order that we might get to know and appreciate each other as dependent links in the chain of fraternal success.

Our fraternity house is open to any interested campus visitors, and both students and faculty are welcome.

Ed. note: It is not the intention of this publication to slant any articles in favor of any one particular group. This article was written at my request to add to the incentive of the other fraternities towards procuring houses.

Lionesses Place Second in Playday With Solid Defense

Nudge Kutztown, 2-0; Sophs Head I-M Play

The Albright Lionesses experienced their first good day of the 1950 hockey season last Saturday, November 11, when they participated in a hockey playday at the Moravian College for Women in Bethlehem. Girls' hockey squads from Cedar Crest, Kutztown State Teachers College, and Moravian were the Lionesses' opponents in this tournament.

The Albright lassies emerged in a tie for second place following the completion of the contests, with Moravian taking top honors. The femmes held all of their opponents scoreless through tight defensive play, with the games against Moravian and Cedar Crest ending in scoreless ties. They nudged Kutztown, 2-0, for their lone victory with Pat Miller and Nancy Stump each scoring a goal for the victors.

Playday Lineups

The lineups for the Lady Lions at the playday were: Charlie Winner and Carol Kreeker, wings; Ellie Spring, Doris Hill, and Pat Miller, inners; Nancy Stump in the center slot; Carol Althouse, Norma Jean Snow, Ramona Latorre, and Lois Stockinger, halfbacks; Ellie Williams, and Marge Gardiner, fullbacks; and Delores Bedding, goal tender.

The Sophomore Class Femmes lead in the ladies' intramural hockey loop with the enviable record of two wins and no losses thus far. They have already notched victories over the Freshmen and Juniors. Next in line in the intramural standings are the Seniors, who have won one contest, the Juniors, who have lost only one fray, and lastly, the Freshmen, who have dropped both of their contests.

In last week's contests, the Seniors beat the Freshmen, 5-2, to notch their single victory, while the first place Sophomores trounced the Juniors, 3-1, to maintain their lead. Pat Miller and Dottie Kuettel did the scoring for the victorious Sophs in this contest.

Hoopsters Practice For Opening Fracas

Basketball practice for the 1950 basketball season started last Monday evening. Coach Eddie Gullan announced that all interested candidates should report to the grade school gym at 13th and Union. Practice will be held 7 o'clock to 10 o'clock every evening in preparation for the hoopsters' opening contest with Dickinson on Wednesday, December sixth.

Placements Prove Margin of Victory

The Albright Lions split their last two contests, losing to Scranton, 34-13, on Saturday, November 4 in the Albright Stadium and winning last week's fray, 14-12, before 4000 frozen fans at Gettysburg Memorial Field. Last Saturday's victory was the first win for the Albright gridgers over the Bullets since the series opened in 1913.

Trailing by twelve points at half-time, the Cats battled up-hill, scoring one TD just before the third period ended and the other in the early moments of the final stanza. It was Floyd Rightmire's educated toe, which kicked two conversions for the two points, that proved the margin of victory.

Aerials Aid Bullets

The Bullets gained two quick scores in each of the first two periods, one on an eight yard aerial from Jack Hammond to John Jones and the other on a one yard toss from Hammond to Don Emert. The Lions drove off another G-burg threat early in the second period when they held the Bullets for four downs on the G-burg one yard line.

After a fiery pep talk, the Lions took the field in the second half to out-run, out-pass, and out-score a seemingly hapless Gettysburg eleven. After a pass interference penalty placed the ball on the G-burg one yard stripe with one minute remaining in the third period, Bruce Tenley grabbed the oval on a hand-off from Chauncey Krout and drove through to pay dirt. Rightmire then completed the first of his two successful place kicks.

Lions Score Again

Early in the last quarter, the Lions gained the ball after an exchange of punts on the G-burg 28 yard line. A pass, Krout to Billy Krohto, proved good for 24 yards and a first down on the Bullet 4 yard stripe. Two plays later Krohto darted across for the leading marker and Rightmire added his second point of the day.

John Sudol's kicking kept G-burg in their own territory throughout most of the second half. He averaged close to fifty yard per kick for one of the outstanding feats of the game.

Royals Win

On Saturday, November 4 the Lions met a strong Scranton eleven here at Albright. The visitors proved a little too strong for the hopeful Lions. Although the Cats were outplayed and outclassed, they gave their rivals a battle, coming back to threaten, 19-13, at half-time.

Dan Shea's passing and fine running by Pete Mondati helped the Royals to obtain their victory. After the Royals scored early in the first period, the Lions came from behind to dead-lock the score on long gains by Tenley and a one yard sneak by Krout. The conversion by Rightmire was good.

The second TD was set up and made by Tenley, who after returning a Scranton kick to his own 31 yard line, broke in the clear and raced 69 yards for the score. Tenley through his efforts gained 175 yards to lead all backs in individual rushing honors.

Anlian Signs Pro Hoop Contract With Local Squad

Star Lion Hoopster While at Albright

Eddie Anlian, the Lions' stellar hoop performer for the past four years, was the first hardwood performer to sign a contract with the professional Reading Rangers of the Eastern League announced Lenny Bilger, the owner of the Rangers, on Tuesday, November 7. At present Anlian is serving as a teacher and coach at Robeson High School. He teaches mathematics and science, is assistant baseball coach, and serves as head coach of basketball and track.

In his four years as a Lion hoop performer, Anlian set a new Albright record by racking up a total of 1681 tallies. In his freshman year he tallied 432 markers, scored 364 and 384 points in his sophomore and junior years, respectively, and climaxed his career with 501 points as a senior last season.

Twice Ron Regar Recipient

Anlian also was the only Albright basketballer ever to receive the Ron Regar award for the Lions' outstanding basketball player on two separate occasions. He received the trophy in 1948 for the first time and was again the recipient last year.

In addition to performing on the hardwoods, Anlian was co-captain of the Cats' 1950 track squad with Al Harnly and captained last year's cross-country contingent. He performed in the 440 and 880 yard runs as co-captain of the spring cindermen.

Zetas Clinch I-M Grid Crown; Sophs Forfeit Last Fray

Two wins and a forfeiture gave the Zetas the intramural football championship last week. The Zetas, who led most of the second half play, clinched their title after beating the Soph Raiders on Thursday, November 9.

They rolled over the Frosh aggregation by the one-sided score of 46-7. The hero for the Zetas was Lefty Leitham who raced for three TD's after snaring aerials thrown by Pat Bieber.

Continuing their winning ways, the Zetas soundly trounced the APO's, 37-12. Everytime the Zetas handled the oval in the first half they scored, with Leitham, Bieber and Bob Ruoff gaining the TD's for the victors. The APO's got their lone score on an intercepted pass and a wide run by Paul Muller.

On Thursday the Soph Raiders failed to field a full team which gave the Zetas a forfeiture and the intramural championship for the 1950 season in Coach Bobby Hicks' intramural football circuit.

St. Joseph's College of Philadelphia won the Middle Atlantic States Conference Cross Country Championships for the second straight year, both in the freshman and varsity events, over the Muhlenberg College course at Allentown last Friday, November 10. Albright did not enter a full team in either event, but the team members ran as individuals. The Lions lost to the Scranton Royals, 24-32, the previous Saturday in the Albright Stadium.

Today the Lion harriers journey to Newark, Delaware, where they take on the University of Delaware in their final engagement of the season. Last year's meet resulted in a tie. The Red and White runners will have to better that this year if they want to end with a winning percentage.

Zellner Leads Lions

Seventeen colleges entered forty-nine freshmen and ninety-nine varsity harriers in last week's M.A.S.C. Championships. The Lions contributed three to each group. In the 4.4 mile varsity race, Charley Zellner crossed the line 26th, while Dave Fullmer finished 32nd and Dick Flammer was 56th, which was won by St. Joe's Johnny Cunningham in the record time of 22:05. Mahlon Frankhouser took 21st place and Jim Rocktashel 22nd while Rae Hoopes was 37th in the 3 mile freshman event, which ended in a dead heat between Bob Moberg of Lafayette and Charley Harmon of LaSalle in 17:13.03.

On Saturday, November 4 the Lions bowed to the harriers of Scranton in a meet held between quarters of the grid game. Gordon Price and Robert Sweeney, both of Scranton, crossed the finish line in a dead heat in 19:28.5. Dave Fullmer was the first Albright runner to place in 20:15, 47 seconds behind the leaders.

Coach Gene Shirk's runners have therefore registered victories over Muhlenberg, Gettysburg, and Ursinus while losing to Franklin and Marshall, West Chester State Teachers College and Scranton. The Lion harriers record is thus at present evened at three wins against three losses.

Muhlenberg which began in 1902. Since that date the Cats have won only nine contests while the Mules have been victorious on 17 occasions. The Lions' greatest margin of victory occurred in 1936 when Dick Riffle and company romped to a 70-13 margin over the hapless Mules.

Mules Drop Seven

Last year Muhlenberg overpowered the Cats, 21-7, to notch their only victory in a season which saw them lose seven games and tie another. The Mules' passing quarterback, George England, sparked his squad in their lone win while a pass from Al Harnly to Paul James in the end zone gave the Lions their only tally in the fourth stanza. This was the first time that the Cats had managed to score against the Mules since a 14-3 victory in 1941.

Thus far this season the luckless Mules have defeated Bucknell, 18-13, have lost to Lebanon Valley, 20-13, have trounced Lafayette, 21-6, and Gettysburg, 28-7, have tied Delaware, 0-0, and have lost to Lehigh, 42-13, and Scranton, 20-13.

England Loses Gamble

In the contest with Scranton last Saturday afternoon quarterback England gambled on a fourth down running play deep in his own territory, and lost, thereby handing the oval to the Royals. Scranton's Danny Shea quickly capitalized on the error and in the last fifteen seconds of the game tossed a pass to Pete Mondati to ice the contest. A pass from George Mills to Warren Reed gave the Mules their first tally while Elmo Jackson climaxed his teammates' drive for the second tally. Without England's error the Mules would have had the credit of coming from behind to tie the powerful Royals.

Coached for the second year by Howie Baughman, former Cleveland Heights High School mentor, Muhlenberg boasts a thirty-seven man varsity squad. Heading the list of returning backfield men for the Mules are England, Jackson, Harry Kretzberg, and Ernie Wescoe. Fred Pfeiffer and Al Rubbert are the stellar returning ends while Captain Mysto Deitz and Fred Beraman head the weighty tackle aggregation.

Five Non-Lettermen

Bob Dikon is the only returning veteran guard on the squad while in addition to the above backfield stars, Bill Woodworth and Abby Ruyak are 1949 lettermen who have been on tap for the present season. Non-lettermen returning from last season include ends Al Woodworth and Warren Reed, Frank Stefkovich at center, Nick Yannuzzi at guard, and Dick Landis in the full-back slot.

Reinforcing these 16 upperclassmen from last year's squad are 21 hustling sophomores from the Mules' 1949 freshman squad. Standouts among these aspirants have been Pete Dolly, George Mills, and Inky Ingold. For fall practice the Mules' squad lined up at eight ends, six tackles, seven guards, three centers, two quarterbacks, four fullbacks, and seven halfbacks.

Christmas Plans Made for Orphan By Student Senate

by Charlotte Winner

Holland and little Maria 't Hoen, the Women's Student Senate war orphan, are really far away, especially at Christmas time. So you see, it isn't so strange after all in this case to be thinking of Christmas gifts even before Thanksgiving vacation. The dorm girls have been making excursions into town to buy a sweater, towels, soap, vacuum-packed candy, and, of course, a doll, while the daywomen have collected enough Christmas cards to satisfy any little girl.

Maria's mother has been in the hospital for some time now. In her September letter (which arrived the end of October) Maria said her mother was to undergo a third operation. She has been in the hospital now for three months, and Maria says, "You can understand it is a great festival, when she comes at home again." Perhaps her mother will get home for Christmas, and the box Senate sent will help Maria and her family celebrate the "festival."

Letters are being sent to Maria each week from dorm women and daywomen. In charge of seeing that a letter is written each week are Mary Phillips for the daywomen, and Carol Mickle for the dorm women.

To help in supporting the war orphan, Women's Student Senate will soon begin the sale of Christmas cards on campus. On Sadie Hawkins' Day held November 3, enough money was made through the sale of pop-corn to support the orphan for a month.

And by the way, Maria sends "many greetings and kisses to you all and the best of it."

Albright Holds First Leadership Day; Value of Campus Activities Stressed

Albright's first Leadership Day for campus officers was held on Tuesday afternoon, November 7 in Union Hall. Approximately 100 leaders and interested students attended.

At the opening session of the conference Dean LeVan P. Smith served as master of ceremonies. Dr. Harry V. Masters gave the welcome address. He stressed the point that although there was a cry of inadequate leadership in the world today there was little the college could do for the student but much the college could help the student to do. Dr. Masters stated that leadership cannot be taught and that the only way to learn is by doing. Businessmen of today are looking not for the student with good marks only, but for the B student who had engaged in a number of school activities.

Dean George W. Walton, who gave the keynote address, made the analogy between criminals and college students. He stated that it is said that criminals are not born but made and that the same is true of leaders, and by the size of the audience that was present many on campus are criminals in that they are not active in college affairs. Dean Walton pointed out that in many cases students who had participated in activities in high school had forgotten to continue living when they came to college. The extra-class activities are the highlights of our campus life.

Professor John W. Khouri spoke on The Values of Organized Activities. He noted that clubs are on campus for the purpose of social relationships, academic pursuits, thought provoking material, discussions, field trips and lectures from successful men in the field. Belonging to a group incurs responsibility because it means attendance and participation in the activity. He gave the types of organizations as local, academic and national. Prof. Khouri concluded his talk with the essentials of mapping out a year's program for the group and how to draw up a calendar.

Rev. Barth with the Y presidents, Jean Magee and Jay Shenk, plus several members of Y Cabinet, Percy Brown, Edward Yarnell, Barbara Wrisley, Evelyn Kressler, Ralph Stutzman, and Robert Rentz, gave a short skit on a typical cabinet meeting involving the planning of the year's program and commission reports.

Mr. Eugene Pierce gave a talk on the use of campus buildings. He discussed the procedures for the use of campus buildings and property and where to post notices.

Dean Smith concluded the opening session with a brief speech on the Committee on Campus Organizations and Activities and its functions.

The group then broke up into discussion groups namely, presidents and vice-presidents led by Dr. John B. Douds and Prof. Clyde Harding, Secretaries led by Dean Ruth E. Williams and treasurers headed by Mr. Charles Gordon.

A tea sponsored by the Women's Student Senate ended the affair.

All 33 campus officers were given small cardboard keys to wear to give them recognition on campus during the day. Gold denoted presidents; blue, vice-presidents; white, secretary; and red, treasurer. Critical analysis sheets were filled out by those who attended in order to evaluate the need for the program. All those who have not as yet filled out one of these sheets please obtain one from the office of the Dean of Women.

Bible class will be held in Selwyn Parlor this Sunday at 8:45 A. M. The topic will be "The Healings of Jesus."

State Dept. Official Urges U. N. Support

Mr. John Cates, State Department Officer, addressed the juniors and freshmen in chapel last Tuesday at 11:10 A. M.

The speaker urged college students to support the United Nations in all possible ways. He traced the development of the organization and stressed the progress which has been made.

Aggression must be stopped, the speaker noted, if another war is to be avoided. Therefore the sending of troops to Korea was a necessity.

Mr. Cates was introduced by the Rev. Eugene H. Barth. His appearance was made possible by the Rotary Club.

A youth service of Christian witness similar to one held recently in Toronto, Canada was planned. It was estimated that 1500 young people attended. The service was in the hands of the General Youth Fellowship officers under the direction of Dr. J. Allan Rank.
