Once Upon Our Time

Not too long ago, in a town not too far away, there was a school called Albright College. It was a rather small school, with a population of only about twelve hundred, but it was a special place nonetheless. Students came from all over to attend this college in Reading, Pennsylvania. Its campus was full of trees and flowers, squirrels and birds, an occasional jack rabbit, and lots of friendly people. It was a magic place, where young men and women came to learn and explore all of life's wonders and possibilities for a few short years, only to move on to the challenges awaiting them in the real world.

Many things had happened at this school. For one hundred thirty-six years, hundreds of changes had taken place. New dorms were built, new academic facilities were constructed, social organizations were formed, and people came and went on a yearly basis. The history of this school was filled with good times and bad times, hardship and strife, as well as prosperity and thanksgiving. But no matter how rich the history of Albright was, no one particular year could compare with the one hundred thirty-seventh academic year, Our year.

That year was full of excitement and wonder. Mystery and fantasy lurked around every corner. No inhabitant was sure of what to expect. After all, that academic year, the year of one thousand nine hundred ninety-two was a year in which the unexpected happened. No witches cast spells on the students, nor did dragons capture the faculty, nor did monsters come to ransack the dormitories and carry off fair maidens to hold until some brave knight would come to rescue them. Instead, a Queen and her court arrived to save Albright.

This Queen was the fairest and the smartest in all the land. She knew exactly what needed to be done to save Albright from the evil clutches of doom, from the horrid monster of apathy and miscommunication. The Queen and her brave Knight swept in and battled the deficit, the miscommunication, and the apathy on campus. They worked together with the faculty and administration to open up all lines of communication on campus; they held open forums with students and also opened their doors to all.

Slowly but surely, the attitude of all Albrightians changed. Students and faculty became happier and more willing to work together. People banded together to fight against the lack of social functions and the abundance of apathy on campus. Although it seemed as if these problems would never be solved, with time and perserverance, social conditions began to improve. Generally, most conditions began to improve. Living conditions became more comfortable, old rugs and worn curtains in the Woods were replaced, work orders were taken care of more promptly than in the past, and thanks to the insistence of the Queen and her Knight, the heat in the rest of the dorms was turned on earlier.

As time passed, people began to thank the Queen and her brave Knight for all the help they had given, and for working so hard to save Albright. They began to focus on other aspects of life outside of Albright. They became involved in the 1992 Presidential Campaign, urging those unregistered to vote to become registered voters and choose the candidate best suited for the job of President of the United States of America. They worked on petitions to help prisoners of conscience in other countries of the world. Seniors started writing resumes, looking for jobs and applying to graduate schools. Students in general worked diligently at their studies and became more involved in campus activities making the one hundred thirty-seventh year, the academic year of 1992-1993 a time of change and a time of healing for Albright.

Time to Socialize and Relax

-Dinner Time in the Caf

Every day, a little before 5:00, lines start to form outside the Cafeteria. Students become anxious awaiting the beginning of Dinner Time. Are they really that excited about what is being served that day? Usually not. Many times when asked by students, "So, what's good tonight?", Door People usually answer, "Piggers". Most students just shrug their shoulders and keep on going, rapidly speeding by, anxious to get to a table and chat with friends.

Dinner seems to be a time when one can wnader aimlessly around the Dining Hall in search of something to eat, meanwhile bumping into friends. Conversations buzz in every possible corner of the room. Talking, not eating, seems to be the main activity. From standing in line to sitting at a table, to actively searching out someone who is in the same class and can answer a question, the discussions keep on flowing.

> Dinner hour — Time to catch up on the day's happenings with friends.

Most students agree — the main reason they go to the Cafeteria is because it is a social meeting place. Where else can one go and be able to see all of his friends in the same place at the same time? Where else are plans made or R.A. meetings held? No matter what happens during the day, the time to sit back, relax, and chat with those closest to you over a pepperoni pizza dog is dinner — in the Caf.

Time to Share Albright Life

Parent's Weekend 1992

After being on our own for a little while, the time came to share life at Albright with our parents. Parent's Weekend 1992 was a time when parents were able to get a first-hand look at how their child was doing at Albright. They met professors, administrators, saw their child's mailbox, dorm room, and where his classes were. After a long morning of being ushered all over campus, students and their parents ate together in the Cafeteria where moms and dads were able to taste "Caf Food" for themselves. They then hit the Bookstore, where a special sale was going on and bought Albright mugs, car stickers, and sweatshirts. Some lucky students managed to talk their parents into taking them shopping at the Outlets and to dinner for "real food". At the end of this weekend, it was evident that parents were pleased with Albright and returned home with memories of a weekend well spent with their child.

Rediscovery, Reunion . . .

Homecoming Weekend 1992

Homecoming weekend 1992 got under way on October 29 under the theme of Renaissance, Rediscovery, Reunion. The weekend proved to live up to its name, for many alumni returned to reunite with old friends.

Starting off the weekend was a new event, Albrihoopla, sponsored by the Albright Democrats, along with some help from various campus organizations. Later that night, Shirk Stadium was the sight for an incredible firework display sponsored by the Lion Diplomats, as was the remainder of the weekend activities.

Saturday was the athletes' turn to show off their talent. Albright hosted a women's field hockey game against Susquehanna as well as an intercollegiate volleyball tournament in the Bollman Center. This was followed by the Homecoming football game between the Albright Lions and the Lycoming Warriors. Despite their hard efforts, the Lions were unable to overcome the strength of the Lycoming team.

During half-time, the crowd was entertained by the Float Competition which was won by the Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity. Second place was a tie between Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity and Sigma Kappa Sorority. The crowning of the Homecoming King and Queen was also a part of the half-time festivities. These titles were captured by Robert J. Rotante and Jill J. Sandomeno. After the game, the crowd filled the Campus Center for the Songfest Competition. The Alpha Delta Pi Sorority proved victorious in this event.

The nightcap of the evening was the Dinner Dance held in the Bollman Center. Our beloved gymnasium was barely recognized behind the gorgeous decorations which helped to transform it into a Renaissance Fairyland. This is where everyone danced away into the night, eventually bringing Homecoming '92 to a close.

Time to Learn About Albright — Orientation 1992

Starting college can be an overwhelming experience, but thanks to the Orientation program run by upperclassmen, the adjustment was made a little easier. For five days, the Class of 1996 was able to explore areas of Albright without the complications of classes and school work. The students were able to get acquainted with one another in their P.O.P. groups as well as during activities like Playfair, Olympics, and Albright Bound. They also learned about time management, how to get around campus, how not to eat on their trays in the Caf, and all the other peculiarities of campus life. At the end of these five very busy days, these men and women were ready to tackle their first year at Albright.

Sports

Each of us knows that being on a sports team takes a lot of hard work and dedication. Practice, practice, and more practice is what fills our days, trying to be the best we can possibly be while maintaining our grades. Coaches yell and push their teams as hard as they can, trying to get them ready for the BIG GAME. Everybody wants to win — the coaches, the team, and the school. However, as time passes, we realize that we can not always win and that sometimes just playing our best is what is important.

Albright College Gingrich Library

Practice makes perfect is what we all learn from our coaches.

GREEKS

As greek life grows less popular around the country, Albright's greek life system is pulling together in an attempt to become stronger. Unity is the key and last year's Greek Week slogan is the new motto — "Together We're Better". For only if we pull together and become unified can we survive.

Phi Mu

The Phi Beta Chapter of Phi Mu Fraternity was installed at Albright in 1986. Each sister has her own special quality that enhances the organization. Such diversity allows Phi Mu to be represented in a variety of other campus organizaitons and intercollegiate sports. Working together, Phi Mu participates with the Homecoming festivities, M.D.A. weekend, Airbands, and Albright Unity, just to name a few. Fundraising supports the two national philanthropies, Children's Miracle Network and Project Hope. Phi Mu offers a place to find support, trust, and lifelong friendships.

Phi Sigma Sigma

Phi Sigma Sigma, a social sorority founded in 1923 is proud to be the newest addition to Albright Colege. Founded as a pledge colony in spring 1990 by twenty-five sisters, Phi Sigma Sigma has since doubled in size. Since that time, Phi Sigma Sigma has achieved its primary goal of being installed as the Zeta Iota chapter on April 13, 1991. Although this was a great accomplishment for our sisters, the achievement that we are most proud of is our high academic standing within the Albright Community.

Outside of our high standards of scholarship, Phi Sigma Sigma also takes pride in its participation in campus events, and our service to others. Our diverse and unique group of sisters are involved in Athletics, the Performing Arts, Homecoming, Greek Week, Airbands, M.D.A. Weekend, the Special Olympics, B.A.R., Lion Diplomats, tutoring for other sisters, and much more. Our sorority's nationa philanthropy is the National Kidney Foundation to which we donated funds from many diverse fundraisers.

Sigma Kappa

The Theta Theta chapter of Sigma Kappa promotes a strong bond of sisterhood as the backbone of our sorority. Sigma Kappa strives for the development of fine character and standards for scholastic and social achievement. Because of our successful rush, the sisters of Sigma Kappa continue to grow. Many events such as mixers and Homecoming assist us n integrating our sorority. Philanthropy programming dealing with the chapter also plays a very important role. We put time and effort into supporting the different philanthropies such as: American Farm School, the Maine Sea Coast Mission, and Alzheimer's Disease Research. We also take part in a "Meals-on-Wheels" program and M.D.A. weekend. Being involved in a wide variety of activities gives the sisters a new outlook on life and a closeness between each other.

Alpha Chi Rho

Alpha Chi Rho is a social/service fraternity that has a very diverse yet extremely tightly knit brotherhood. All brothers have an important role to play as active members of both the fraternity and other campus organizations.

Alpha Chi Rho has a strong dedication to community service both on and off campus. The brothers annually raise money for M.D.A.; we run a haunted house in the fall and sponsor a bike-a-thon during the M.D.A. Dance Marathon Weekend in which all brothers play a role. The brothers of Alpha Chi Rho also dedicate their time and effort to other philanthropies such as Bethany's Children Home, where the brothers visit at least twice a semester, the Special Olympics, the American Cancer Society Phone-a-thon and the American Humane Society.

Alpha Chi Rho puts a high degree of importance on academics and hard work.

Delta Sima Phi

The Brothers of Delta Sigma Phi had an exciting and eventful year. On campus, our first place Homecoming float, will always be rememberd, along with our giant mud slide at the North Hall Carnival. Off campus, we collected a substantial amount of money to help support the March of Dimes, our national philanthropy.

On the athletic field, we also came into prominence this year. Our brothers are proud to lead teams into competition as we claim both the two baseball captain positions and two football captian positions. Our year has been filled with excitement and we have learned much as we continue to grow in strength and knowledge.

Organizations

Once upon a time activities allowed students lives to extend far beyond the four walls of the classroom and find time to have fun. Many realized the benefits of their getting their noses out of their books and got involved in Albright's community. The participation in activities allowed students to recognize and develop talents and characteristics that they might never had known. By being involved in activities many students pursued a fun and fulfilling way to supplement their academic lives while contributing to Albright's future.

P.O.P.'S

These hardworking individuals carried out a successful Orientation in 1992. The "Great Expectations" theme accurately describes the goals of the Steering Committee, and these Peer Orientation Persons lived up to those goals ina wonderful way. They worked to meet the social, academic, and emotional needs of a huge incoming class of first year students and transfers. Through many old and new programs,these P.O.P.s supported all the students to the best of their ability.

STEERING COMMITTEE

This group of dedicated people worked long and hard to plan and execute 1992's "Great Expectations" Orientation program. They planned programs and selected P.O.P.s with the goals of meeting all of students' needs and insuring that they have a great time as well. With a very large incoming class, this was a difficult task, but one that was carried out well!

After eight years of alumni and student oriented service, the Dips remain dedicated to the theme of formulating a lifetime commitment to our alma mater. During the past year, the Lion Dips worked closely with the Alumni office assisting in and coordinating events to reunite and actively involve alumni in the life of the campus and the Albright community. Such events included Homecoming, Alumni Recognition and Reunion Day, and the Annual Alumni Phonathon. In contributing to campus life, the Dips graciously volunteered their time and energy by providing events such as oozeball, open forums with adminstrators, senior grad dinner, faculty-administration appreciation day, student-alumni career planning events, and homecoming. As a red and white spirit rallying organization, the Lion Dips created enthusiastic "go get 'em" signs for the athletic teams and other campus organizations. For the past 14 years, the MDA Committee has organized an annual Dance-A-Thon to raise money for Muscular Dystrophy. They have raised over $150,000,000 to benefit this cause. The money has gone to help those in the Berks County area. The MDA Dance-A-Thon has become a long-standing tradition here at Albright. The weekend is full of activities for the Albright and the Reading communities to enjoy. Although the Dance-A-Thon is the main event, this committee plans other activities to raise money for Muscular Dystrophy. In the past, volleyball tournaments hae been held in the fall and sacrificial meals have added to funds raised to help fight this disease.

Ink Blot Productions

Ink Blot Productions is Albright's own on-campus video production organization. Ink Blot works in collaboration with the counseling center to create videos aimed at helping college students deal with current social problems. Issues presented in the videos range from pressure to drug abuse to suicide. In addition, Ink Blot has produced their very own "soap opera" called "15 Credits"; a video that deals with the social pressures of college life. In the past, Ink Blot has had much success in producing videos for MDA and recently for the Heritage Foundation for the Center for the Arts. It has also produced a music video for David Cullenja, a well known local musician.

Our goal for 1991/2 is to explore all areas of the video spectrum, from experimenting in cinematography to broadcasting a news program in co/op with Berks Cable TV. Ink Blot is formed by an energetic group of students who work as writers, actors, technicians, directors, and editors dedicated to creating videos aimed at the Albright community.

Our Time, Our History

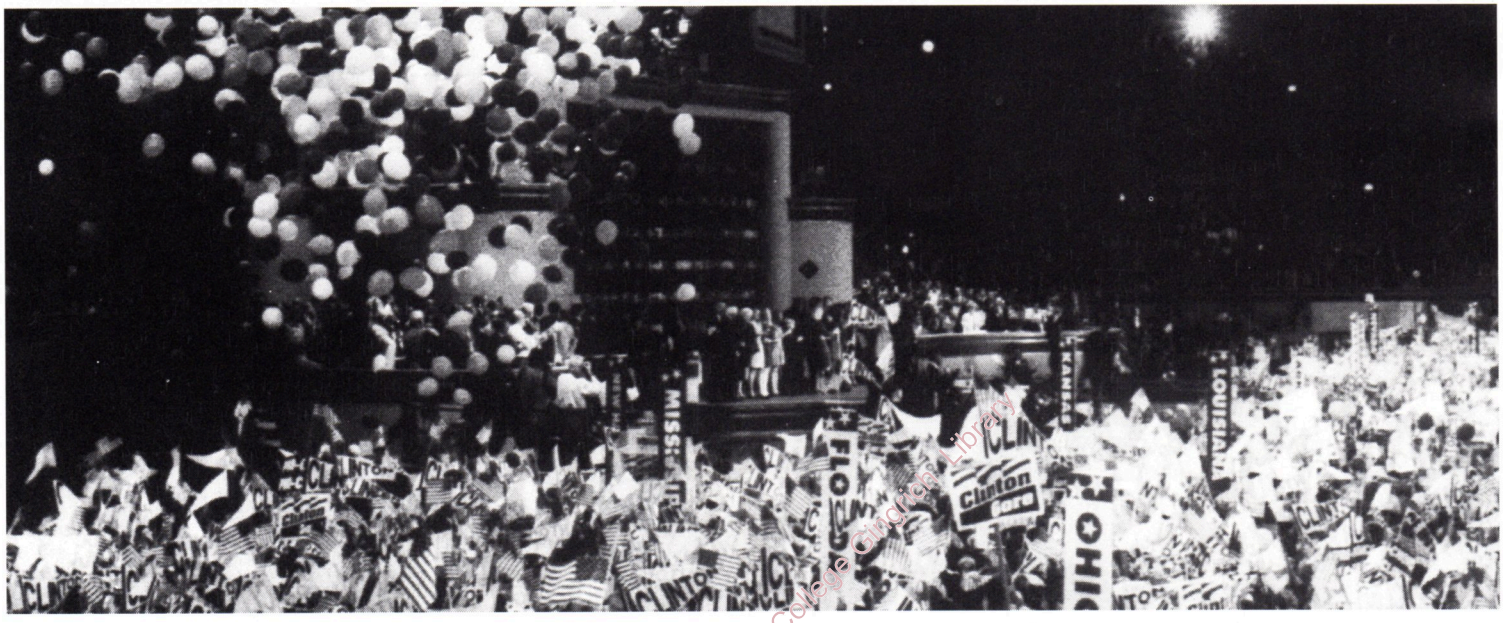
DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION

Presidential candidate Bill Clinton and his running mate, Senator Al Gore, held arms aloft and stood before a convention hall brimming with euphoria and confidence on July 17, 1992, in New York's Madison Square Garden. Exhilaration swept through the convention hall.

In an emotional address to the convention, Clinton told delegates he accepted the nomination "in the name of all the people who do the work, pay the taxes, raise the kids and play by the rules — the hard-working Americans who make up our forgotten middle class."

The speech brought to a festive, foot-stomping close a four-day Democratic convention that adopted a moderate platform reflecting the message of its baby-boomer ticket.

"Jobs. Health care. Education. These commitments aren't just promises from my lips," Clinton said. "They are the work of my life."



BILL CLINTON PLAYS THE SAXOPHONE

Bill Clinton, sitting in with the band, turned out an impressive version of "Heartbreak Hoted" as Arsenio Hall gestured approvingly in the musical opening of "The Arsenio Hall Show" taping at Paramount Studios in June 1992. Hall said of the presidential hopeful's talent on the saxophone, "It;s good to see a Democrat blowing something other than the election."

PRESIDENT BILL CLINTON INAUGURATED

The air filled with cheers as William Jefferson Clinton was sworn into office as the 42nd president of the United States on January 20, 1993.

As he turned to wave to the crowd of hundreds of thousands gathered below him, his 12-year-old daughter, Chelsea, bounced over to his side and waved, grinning.

For the oath-taking, Clinton chose a King James Bible given to him by his grandmother, opened to the Epistle of Paul The Apostle to the Galatians, Chapter 6, Verse 8. It read:

"For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting."

During the inaugural ceremony, two of Clinton's favorite performers, Michael Bolton and Kenny G, were ushered into seats above the podium.

H. ROSS PEROT

In May, Ross Perot was a potential president. Now, he's likely no more than potential spoiler, but nonetheless a wild card who could reshuffle the deck.

The Perot Factor was reintroduced to presidential politics 11 weeks to the day after the Texas billionaire abandoned plans to run, saying he had concluded he could not win. Many analysts view his re-entry as a selfish attempt at redemption by a political novice who failed to realize what he was getting into months ago and now wants to heal a wounded ego.

It may take a while to assess Perot's impact, but there are obvious things to watch and both campaigns have reason to worry.

"Anything that tosses this race up in the air and is an unknown is a good thing for Bush," said Republican pollster Bill McInturff.

And despite his comfortable lead, even Clinton predicts a natural tightening of the race as the election draws closer.

With a personal fortune and no spending limits to worry about, Perot could easily affect the race if he decided to attack one candidate and leave the other alone.

As he rejoined the race, Perot said he was running to win. Whatever his motivation — or chances — Perot is back, and he has the potential to affect the race even if he never leaves third place.

NORTH AMERICAN FREE TRADE AGREEMENT

President Bush and the leaders of Canada and Mexico participated in a ceremony in October 1992 to spotlight an agreement designed to create the world's largest and richest free trade zone.

"This meeting marks a turning point in the history of our three countries," Bush said as Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney and Mexican President Carlos Salinas de Gortari looked on.

The three leaders watched as their trade ministers initialed the 2,000-page document that was negotiated in August 1992. Under U.S. law, Bush is prevented from actually signing the agreement until December 17. For the agreement to go into effect, it must be approved by the legislatures of all three countries.

The NAFTA accord would create the world's largest free trade area by removing all trade barriers among the countries over 15 years. Bush says the agreement ultimately will create jobs in this country, but opponents said it could cost up to 550,000 U.S. jobs over the next decade.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION

President Bush appeared on large video screens as he accepted the presidential nomination during the Republican National Convention at the Houston Astrodome on August 20, 1992. Bush struck a new defiant tone in his acceptance speech — a marked contrast to the 1988 oration in which he promised a "kinder and gentler nation."

Selling his vision for the next four years, President Bush said he would propose an across-the-board tax cut to the new Congress that convenes in January if given a second term. He said the cuts would have to be offset by spending reductions, which he did not specify, to keep from swelling the deficit.

President Bush and his wife Barbara shared a moment on the podium as the confetti fell during the final extravaganza.

Bush and Vice President Dan Quayle roused the GOP delegates to cheers as they accepted their party's nominations for a second term. Bush vowed to go to "every corner of this nation" in the political fight of his life to beat Bill Clinton and "clear out the deadwood" in Congress.

IRAQ

U.S. warplanes swept over southern Iraq on January 13, 1993, bombing selected military targets. The goal of the attack was to take out the radar and missile sites in southern Iraq that have threatened the planes patrolling the area.

Even if the attack did not make an impression on Saddam Hussein, "it will certainly make an impression on his ability to obstruct what we are doing here," said Rear Adm. Philip J. Coady.

Servicemen chalked "to Saddam with love" on a warplane aboard USS Kitty Hawk just before the air strike.

HAITIAN REFUGEES

Is is political persecution by the military or desperate poverty, as the Bush administration suggests, causing Haitians to flee their homeland and seek asylum in the United States?

Initially, the Bush administration accepted the refugees at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and heard their request for asylum. About 27,000 of them were denied asylum and returned to Haiti.

On May 24, 1992, President Bush decided that Coast Guard cutters would intercept the Haitians at sea and immediately return them to their country. The Haitians could apply for asylum only through the U.S. Consulate at Port-au-Prince.

Lawyers representing the Haitians filed a lawsuit to challenge the policy while boat traffic from Haiti virtually stopped.

The Supreme Court will decide in 1993 whether the Bush administration is violating immigration law by sending Haitian boat people back to their country without a hearing.

HURRICANE ANDREW

Hurricane Andrew struck southern Florida on August 24, 1992, with wind gusting to 164 mph and a 12-foot tidal surge that flattened many homes, uprooted trees, flung boats into the streets and wrecked an entire Air Force base.

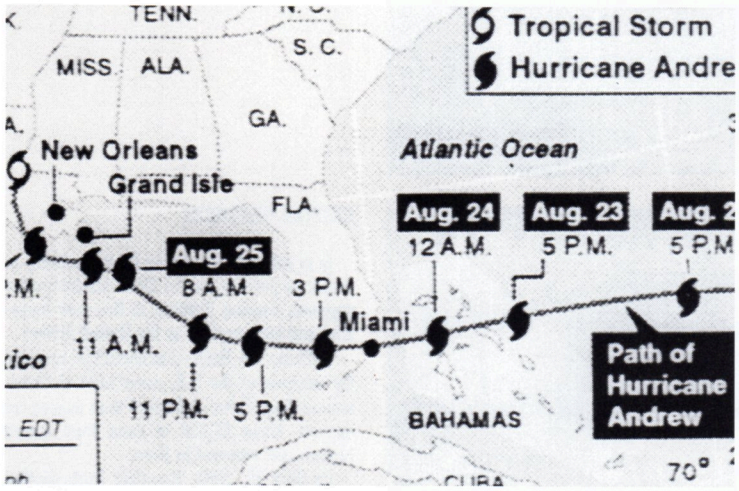
The hurricane continued on, carving its way through the plantation country of Lousiana, throwing tornadoes like darts at a 100-mile-wide target and pumping torrents of rain at storm-weary Louisianians.

Fifty-five deaths were directly or indirectly linked to the hurricane — 41 in Florida, 10 in Louisiana and four in the Bahamas.

The hurricane's 54-hour U.S. rampage, the most expensive natural disaster ever in the country, caused an estimated $20 billion in florida, $1.5 billion in Louisiana and $250 million in the Bahamas.

"It's like a bomb hit," said one Florida City resident, looking at the remains of the trailer park where he and his wife had lived.

Tent cities were set up in Florida with room for 3,800 people.



HURRICANE INIKI

Hurricane Iniki dealt a direct blow to Kauai, one of the Hawaiian Islands, on September 11, 1992, with winds gusting to 160 mph and torrential rain. It destroyed buildings and damaged many others on the island of more than 50,000 people, one official said.

Twenty-foot waves crashed over coastal highways and the island lost all power and telephone service even before the worst o the storm hit. Afterward, early damage reports came to state officials via two-way radio.

Oahu, the state's most populated island with 800,000 people, is separated from Kauai by an 80-mile-wide channel and was spared the brunt of the storm. But a 10- to 20-foot surf pounded Oahu's southern coast, heavy rain fell and power lines were blown down.

Iniki was the most powerful hurricane in the Hawaiian Islands this century, said Bob Sheets, director of the National Hurricane Center.

SOMALIA

Three months after the world woke up to one of the worst famines in history, food started to reach hundred of thousands of Somalis. Estimates of the dead range from 100,000 to half a million, but no one knows just how many have perished in the Horn of Africa nation.

The Central Bay region of the country as been most affected. It served as the main battleground for clans fighting for supremacy after Siad Barre's ouster. Consequently, its harvests were most disrupted and its people most uprooted and displaced and left in great jeopardy.

More than a million Somalis have fled their homeland for refugee camps in neighboring countries, with the wealthier one seeking safe haven nEurope, the United States, Canada and elsewhere.

Central Somalia is where the internatioal community has concentrated its relief efforts, with airlifts to the towns of Belet Huen, Baidoa, Bardera and Hoddur, and airdrops to smaller villages in the region.

Many have died in the factional fighting htat has drived the nation since former leader Siad Barre's ouster. Casualty estimates range from conservative figures of 10,000 to the 60,000 estimated by the human rights group Africa Watch.

CALIFORNIA EARTHQUAKES

Two powerful earthquakes rocked Southern California of June 28, 1992, killing a child and injuring more than 300 people.

The first quake, which registered 7.4 on the Richter scale radiated out from a remote stretch of the Mojave Desert and was felt as far as 600 miles away in Denver. Fires erupted, water systems ruptured and highways heaved. The most serious damage appeared to be in desert and mountain communities east of Los Angeles near the epicenters.

Up to 500,000 people were affected by power outages. About half had power restored rapidly.

The second quake, about three hours later, was centered in the San Bernardino Mountains, about 20 miles west of the first temblor. It was measured at 6.5.

Because of the unusual occurrence of two major quakes within hours of each other, scientists don't know the probability that more powerful jolts could be on the way.

A 1988 U.S. Geological Survey report said there was at least a 60 percent chance within 30 years that the southern San Andreas Fault would produce the so-called Big One, a quake measuring 7.5 to 8 or more on the Richter scale.

COLUMBUS ANNIVERSARY

Escorted by more than 1,000 private boats, replicas of Christopher Columbus' ships arrived in the United States on February 15, 1992, as part of the 500th anniversary celebration of his voyage to the New World.

Miami, FL was the first stop in a 20-city U.S. tour where more than 5,000 people cheered from docks and waterfront roads as the wooden reproductions of the Nina (bottom left), Pinta (top) and Santa Maria (bottom right) sailed into its harbor.

Having toured Spain, France, Italy and Portugal, the ships crossed the Atlantic Ocean and visited the Dominican Republic and the Bahamas.

The ships, christened in Spain in 1990, were built with the same materials carpenters used to build the original ships. Hand-forged nails were modeled after some recovered from a 16th century shipwreck. The sails are made of linen, the closest natural fiber to the original hemp canvas.

From October through December, 1992, the ships are scheduled to stop in the California cities of San Francisco, San Luis Obispo, Los Angeles, San Juan de Capistrano and San Diego.

THE BREAK-UP OF YUGOSLAVIA

The territory of Yugoslavia for centures was a battleground between the Austro-Hungarian and Ottoman empires.

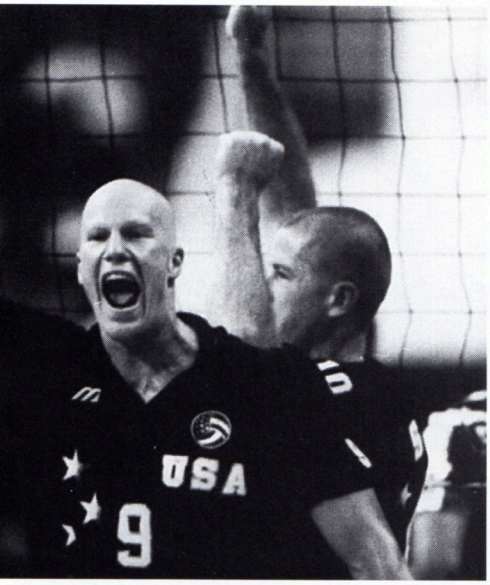
In 1918, the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes was declared, and in 1929 it was renamed Yugoslavia. The new country was torn by demands for autonomy by Croatians who opposed Serbian domination.

Of the 24 million people living there, Serbs account for about 36 percent and the Croats for about 20 percent of the population. Other Slav groups are the Slovenes, 8 percent; and the Montengrins, 3 percent. Ethnic Albanians make up 9 percent of the population. This ethnic diversity has been a source of strife for centuries.

President Tito, who ruled from 1945 until his death in 1980, kept a tight lid on these internal ethnic rivalries. Since his death, however, central power has been eaten away by the feuding republics.

Inhabitants of the territory are confronted daily by the shelling, sniper fire and death of war. They take to the streets during the occasional ceasefire, pushing and shoving, trying to buy bread and other staples necessary to live.

The war has left thousands dead, has sent more than a million fleeing and led to the creation of the dreaded detention camps, likened to those of Nazi Germany.



1992 SUMMER OLYMPICS

An era of amateurism passed into an age of professionalism, and the Olympics were transformed forever, when professional athletes were allowed to compete in the 1992 Summer Olympics in Barcelona, Spain.

Countering the attacks of commercialism, coach Chuck Daly argued that the presence of pros could do nothing but enhance the event. "There's 183 countries and 3 billion people watching these games," Daly said. "And somewhere out there now is a 13-year-old who wants to be a Michael or a Magic, a Larry or a Patrick. That's the role of these games," he said. "That's what happens in all of these sports. It gives people a dream."

The United States emerged from its two-decade Olympic funk, finishing only four behind in the closest medals race since America won in 1964 in Tokyo. Now it stands poised to rule the sports world in Atlanta in 1996 after arguably its greatest Summer Games.

America's 108 medals surpassed by one the total in 1968 and trailed only the inflated totals of the Soviet-boycotted 1984 Los Angeles Games and the 1904 St. Louis Games, attended by just 12 nations.

THE NATION RECYCLES

More than 20 companies, including McDonald's Corp., Coca-Cola Co. and Sears, Roebuck and Co., launched a national campaign in September 1992 to encourage U.S. businesses to buy recycled goods.

Recycling has produced vast supplies of paper, glass and other reusable trash, but demand is still low.

The alliance will conduct programs around the country to show businesses how they can buy recycled goods and use them in daily operations. The effort will include a database that informs businesses where, for example, they might buy memo pads made of recycled paper.

While Americans look at recycling as a way to help the environment, Reynolds Metals Co. and Aluminum Co. of America like it for more practical reasons: It saves on bauxite mining costs.

One aluminum company manager said, "If you have a ton of glass in your back yard, it's worth maybe $35. A ton of steel, that's worth maybe $50. A ton of aluminum cans, that's worth anywhere between $700 and $800."

Major cities of the U.S. either have, or have plans for, some type of recycling program. Shown here are workers at a privately-owned recycling plant in New York City.

1992 WORLD SERIES

There's a new flag flying over Canada — the World Series pennant.

The Toronto Blue Jays took baseball's championship outside the United States for the first time ever, beating the Atlanta Braves 4-3 in 11 innings in Game 6.

After surviving more ninth-inning magic from the Braves, the Blue Jays won it all — and lost their loser's label forever — when Dave Winfield's first World Series extra base hit scored two runs with two out.

"It's been a long, hard battle," Toronto manager Cito Gaston said. "but I said from opening day, these guys have been focusing on this very thing."

The Braves, meanwhile, became the first team to lose consecutive World Series since the 1977-78 Los Angeles Dodgers.

A cheering, chanting delirious sea of humanity flooded Toronto's city center on October 25. The glow from this win will keep Canadians warm all winter.

"We stopped the chop," or "The chop stops here," shouted revelers referring to the Atlanta fans' ritual.

MTV VIDEO MUSIC AWARDS

Van halen and the Red Hot Chili Peppers swept the ninth annal MTV Vidoe Music Awards on September 9, 1992 in Los Angeles, CA.

The Red Hot Chili Peppers won the awards for breakthrough video, viewers' choice and art direction. Lead singer Anthony Keidis displays the MTV Spaceman trophy backstage.

Model and MTV vee-jay Cindy Crawford poses for a photographer outside the pavilion, stopping to greet her fans.

Annie Lennox, is shown accepting her award for best female video for "Why." Lennox's song is from her best-selling double album, "Diva."

U.S. TROOPS IN SOMALIA

U.S. Marines arrived in Somalia on December 9, 1992, to assist in curtailing the wanton, widespread violence and prevent looting of relief shipments.

The troops are patrolling the meanest streets of Mogadishu with a soft touch. Children wave as they pass or run to shake hands with those who have come to help.

To provide safe passage for food delivery to starving Somalis is the goal.

MISS AMERICA — LEANZA CORNETT

On September 19, 1992, 21-year-old Leanza Cornett of Jacksonville, FL, was named Miss America. She's the 66th Miss America, chosen by a panel of celebrity judges.

Cornett, a singer and actress, is a sophomore studying communications at Rollins College in Winger Park, FL.

She plans to speak about AIDS awareness during her yearlong reign. Cornett said her "ultimate goal" is to get a group of drama and theater students together whose performances would "give AIDS kind of a hopeful message." "If we can bring some lightness into it, it would be very motivational and very educational," said Cornett.

Cornett said she would like the federal government to increse funding for AIDS research, but she said society must take the first steps toward finding a cure. "We have to start with ourselves and that is going to be my main point as I go out," she said.

Besides a rhinestone tiara, valued at $1,000, Cornett won a $35,000 scholarship and a ruby red 1993 Chevrolet Corvette. She also expects to earn more than $200,000 from speaking engagements.

U.S. OPEN

It was a new, improved Stefan Edberg who walked off the court in September with his second straight U.S. Open title, the world's No. 1 ranking and $500,000. This Stefan Edberg kissed the net cord in his quarterfinal match, kicked a ball, smacked the net and threw a towel. This Stefan Edberg even hurled the net after Pete Sampras buried a backhand service return into the net on match point, then fled to the side of the court to embrace his wife of five months, Annette.

"I feel very good about myself at the moment. I am playing good tennis and I am fighting for my life out there, but I am coming through. I really earned it this year because I have worked very hard and I have had some unbelievably tough matches," Edberg said.

Top-seeded Monica Seles also won her second straight U.S. Open women's singles title in September, defeating No. 5 Arantxa Sanchez Vicario of Spain 6-3, 6-3. It was the 13th Grand Slam tounament Seles has played, and her seventh victory.

Seles, like Edberg, earned $500,000 for her second straight U.S. Open title and won her third Grand Slam tounament crown of 1992.

Against Sanchez Vicario, Seles ripped through the first five games in just 18 minutes and closed out the opening set in 42 minutes. She began the second set with a service break and held for a 2-0 lead.

Congratulations, Stefan and Monica!

AIDS

A grim new vision of the world AIDS epidemic predicts that more than 25 million people will have the disease by the end of the decade, and up to 120 million will be infected.

The study, released this summer by Harvard University researchers, goes far beyond projections from the World Health Organization. It envisions an explosive, disastrous spread of the disease, particularly in Asia.

Amsterdam, Netherlands, hosted the largest gathering of AIDS experts in July, but there were no breakthroughs on halting the deadly sweep of this virus. The 12,000 participants had the opportunity to hear some 1,000 speeches and discussion on virtually every aspect of the disease, from novel combinations of drugs to the pace of viral mutations.

Nothing approaching a cure — or even an effective treatment or vaccine — emerged during the week-long meeting.

Marking losses here in the United States, people signed panels of the AIDS Memorial Quilt in New York. The exhibition is part of a 35-city national tour.

HE "POTATO KID"

William Figueroa, 12 years old, a.k.a. the "potato kid," waited by a potato vendor's cart tside the NBC studios in New York prior to his appearance of the "Late Night with David terman" show. Figueroa and his family were basking in his new-found celebrity, gained in ne 1992, after he spelled "potato" correctly during a spelling bee and Vice President Dan ayle did not.

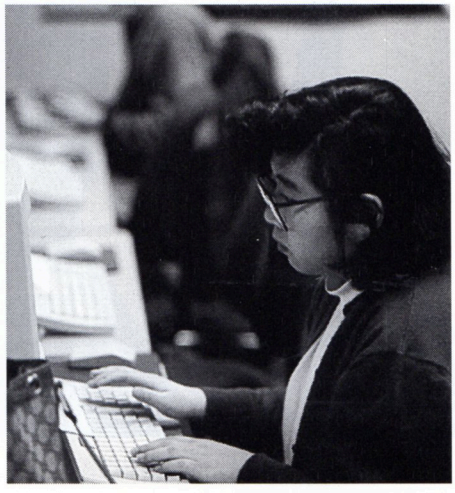
Seniors

Once upon a a time 1993 seemed so far away. The time we lived here, gaining friends, experiences, and knowledge, has helped prepare us for the next phase of our life. As we look back and remember the work, the play, the laughs, the tears and so much more we see that Albright College has given us a fantastic opportunity to grow and learn. But now, in 1993, it is time for us to shine and time for us to say good-bye.

Albright College Gingrich Library



All seniors, like Erik, work hard — studying, job searching, and applying to graduate schools.

Faculty

Once upon a time we probably spent time complaining about the amount of work we had to do. The faculty of Albright College made these assignments for a reason, to help us learn and better ourselves. Someday we will realize the value of these assignments and the wisdom of our professors and appreciate what they have given us.

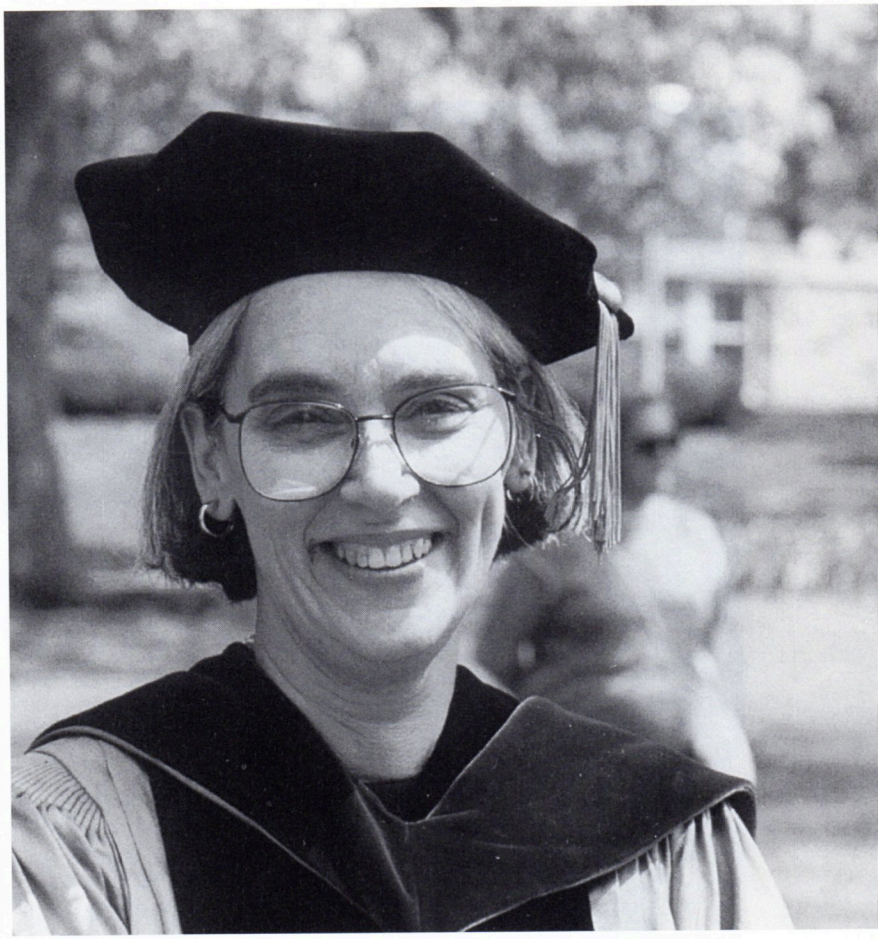
A Time to Learn

President Ellen S. Hurwitz's Inauguration



Albright College Gingrich Library

"We are a college bound by a commitment to learning with and from one another. We have the gift of inclusiveness and the spirit of generosity that has permeated our one hundred and thirty seven year history. If any college in this nation can create harmony from dissonance it is Albright. I believe in Albright's ability to pull otgether and I devote the rest of my remarks this afternoon to affirming that belief and to articulating the meaning of May 1, 1993 in the history of this truly extraordinary undergraduate learning community.

Albright College is a liberal arts institution dedicated to academic excellence. We at Albright support and embrace diversity. We work together in an open and informal undergraduate learning community where students and faculty encounter some of the best thinking of past and present, reflect and act upon their social obligations and value aesthetic and spiritual as well as intellectual growth. Our faculty encourages students to think critically in a climate of intellectual curisoity, freedom and understanding. We blend liberal arts and professional preparation and invite students to explore careers in a world that needs their talents and training. Our United Methodist hertiage and affiliation reflects our commitment to a values-based education for all.

I personally vow to do my utmost to lead this institution into the next century in response to the charge which the Board of Trustees is giving me. Let us vow to be partners in this increasingly integrated community that is Albright college. The success of our beloved school depends upon our covenant to focus in determined harmony and resolvable counterpoint on our long term well-being. Let May 1, 1993 be the first day of an Albright future when our many voices across disciplines, gener, race, orientation, origin and creed will blend together in common pursuit of criticalinquiry and discovery.

Let Albright shine!"

Closing

As the 1993 school year draws to a close, each of us has many fond memories of our time spent at Albright. We have worked hard, have had lots of fun, and have learned more than we thought we ever could. We have seen a lot of changes at Albright this year, changes which will make the school a better place to live and to learn. Each one of us has grown a little this year and has matured, learning a little of what it will take to survive in the real world. When we finally do go out into the world to work and make our way, we will look back on Albright as the place where, once upon a time, we lived, laughed, loved, and cried.

Albright College Gingrich Library

With hardworking staff like Pete Glass, the year was made a little easier.

COLOPHON:

The CUE is an annual production of the yearbook staff of Albright College, in Reading, Pennsylvania.

The CUE was printed by Taylor Publishing Company, Dallas, Texas. The total number printed was 600. This volume contains 224 pages, including 15 color pages.

The print styles are: English Script, Muse Script, Chancery, Geneva Condensed, Nouveau Gothic, Seville, Pyramid Condensed, Athena and Avant Garde with Bold and Italics. Body copy is 10 point and caption copy is 8 point.

The cover is a green based textured fabric with gold embossed print and gold silkscreened design.

Photographs in the CUE were taken by Guy Ruffer and DaVor Photography. Senior portraits were taken by DaVor Photography of Bensalem, Pennsylvania.

The estimated cost of producing this book is $24,000.

Rachel and I would like to thank everyone who helped with the production of this book, especially our editorial staff for their creative ideas, the staff for all their help with "the little things" which are tedious, but important, DaVor Photography and Mark Huff for all their professional help, the students for cooperation with the staff, and finally to Taylor Publishing and Ed Patrick, without whom this book never would have been completed. Thank you for all your patience, perserverance, and ideas, and for training the staff. It was a wonderful third and final year together.
