The Albright Lions showed its strength once more on the playing field this year. Led by QB Bryan Snyder and WR Ryan Ditzte, the Albright Football team had an explosive season, ending with a 9-1 record. Continuing to build from last year's team, and under the guidance of the new head coach, Ron Maier, the Lion proved not only to themselves, but to the league that we were a contender for the MAC title. The Lions outstanding offense in combination with its strengthened defense, enabled them to capture the MAC Commonwealth League title. This victory placed Albright at the top of the league for the first time in over two decades. Congratulations on a job well done! Go Lions!!

MEN'S SOCCER

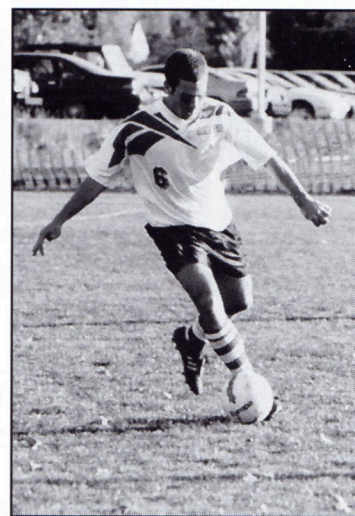

Suffering the loss of many upperclassmen from last year and with only one returning senior, the Men's Soccer team had a tough season ahead of them. With fourteen new members on the roster, the team was hoping to forget about its record from last year. However, the new members proved themselves in the early games. Although the team had a rocky start, they showed their skills late in the season with a noticeable improvement in the game play and record, finishing the season 7-10. The team gained a considerable amount of experience playing highly ranked Division III teams and coming together as competitors. Future seasons will be successes for this young team — Good Luck!

WOMEN'S SOCCER

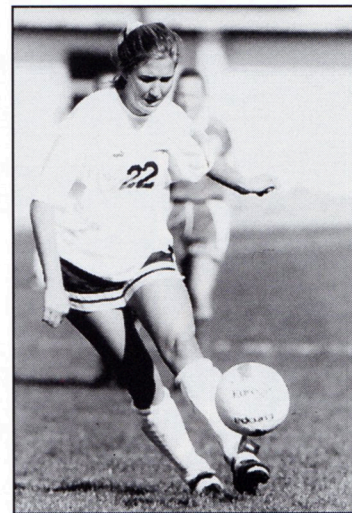

In only their second year as a varsity sport, this women's team has shown much improvement from last year, ending with a 5-10-1 record. Thirteen of the original players were joined by seven freshmen who helped the team meet their expectations of becoming a better team. Head coach Frank Brady has taught and nurtured the girls to enable them to be as successful as they are. Success is also due to the hard work and dedication of co-captain Steph Clark, Lisa Kunkle, Tina Franks, and the entire team. The team will continue next year entering the MAC Commonwealth League and should prove to be real competitors. The women will continue, focusing on offense, especially since they will have lost their leading scorer, senior Steph Clark, who contributed seven of the team's 20 goals this season.

WOMEN'S TENNIS

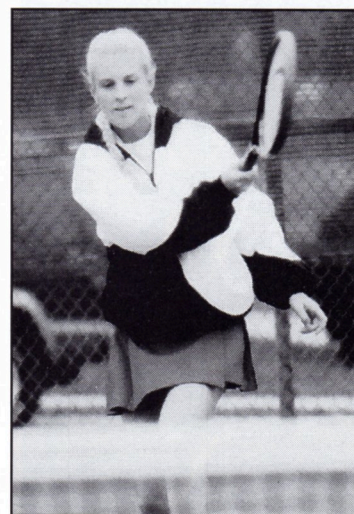

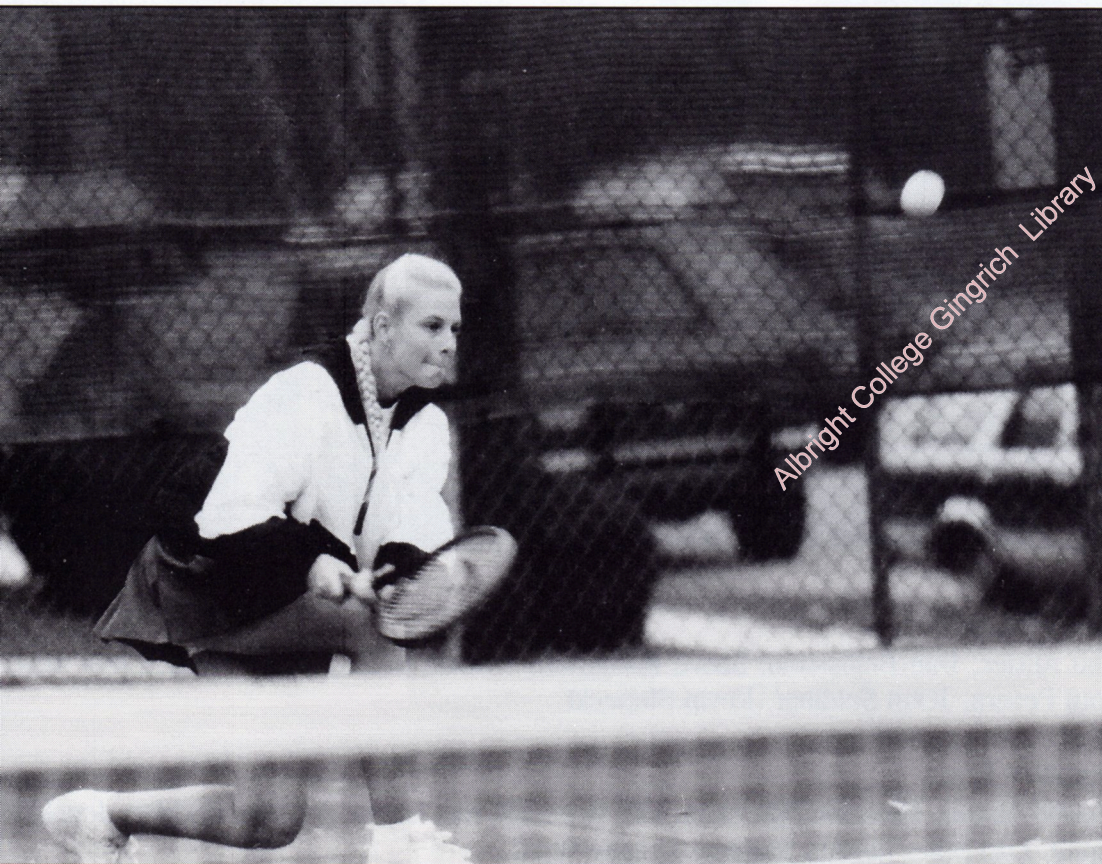

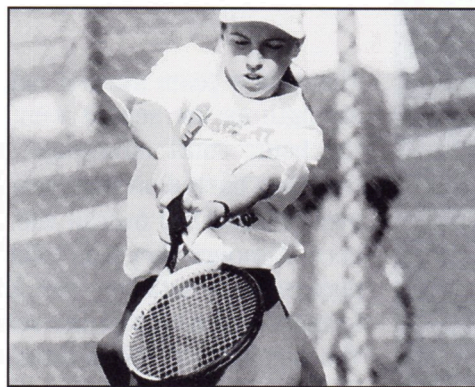

The women's tennis team had a phenomenal season this year. With four returnig letterwinners and a mix of old and new players, the Lady Lions knew early on that they were in for a promising season. They finished with an overall record of 9-6, breaking the record for the most wins in a season. The previous record was set at six wins in 1995. The number one sigles player, junior Jarra Rusnock, earned a silver in the MAC Individual Championship. Yet another great achievement was that of freshman Andrea Dennis, who completed the season with a perfect 15-0 record. Great job Andrea! Although Albright narrowly missed the playoffs, they played a fantastic season that won't soon be forgotten.

This year's team started out small but gained strength as the season went on. The men had the home court advantage, winning all meets that they hosted on their new home course. The men finished 8-0 overall and 2-0 in the conference. Although they didn't fair well at MACs, the players were satisfied with their personal performances throughout the season.

The highlight of the women's season was the Belmont Classic on October 5, 1996. This meet gave the team their only first place score of the season. Overall, times improved throughout the season and both Maggie Ward and Jennifer Smith's times fall within the top 20 of the fastest overall home course times.

Good luck to both teams as they look forward to having a strong, competitive team in the years to come. This is the time for competitive running.

WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL

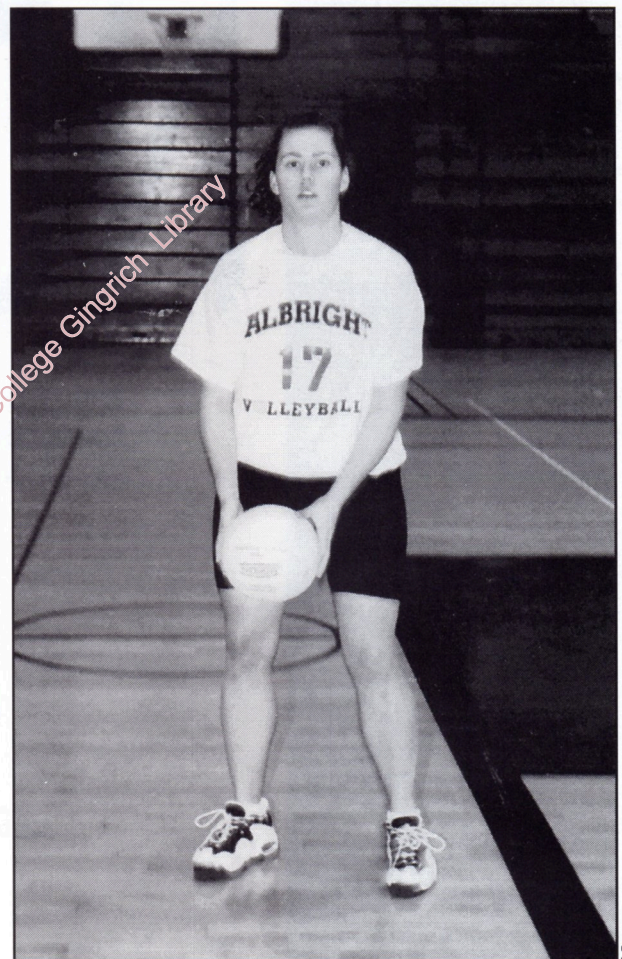

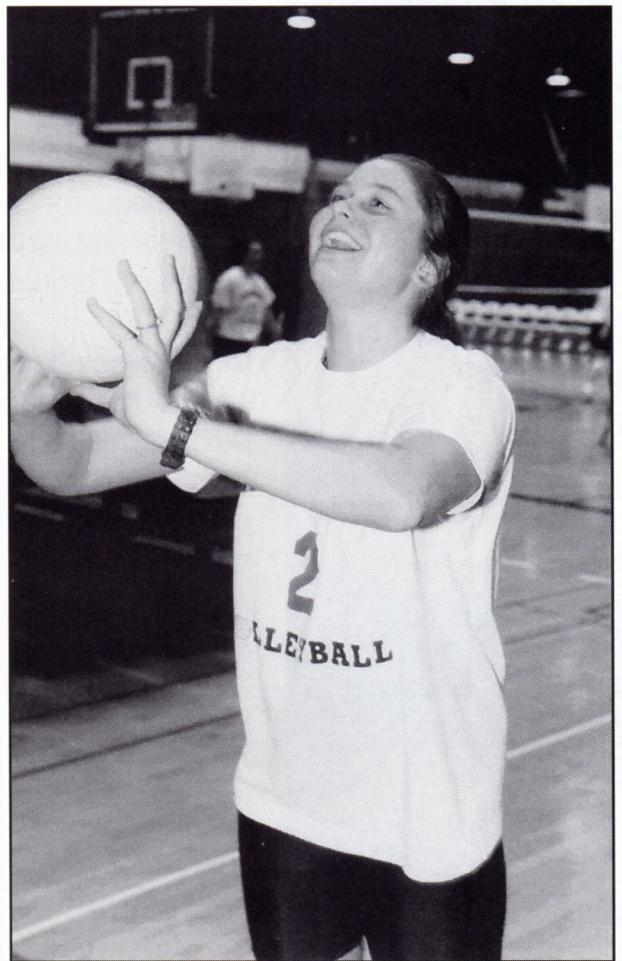

This season's women's volleyball team started out young and lacking experience, but due to strong leadership the team held on to 11 strong wins throughout the season. Three talented freshman, Kim Parsi, Emily Tarleton, and Laura Ernst started every game and through improvement, served to balance the experience and leadership of senior co-captians. Gena Groner and Holly Truckermiller working with the two upperclassmen many freshman played beyond their years providing stability and consistency to an up and coming team. Albright finished the season 11-15 (10-9 non-conference) and they led the entire MAC in digs. Co- captain Gene Groner ranked in among the league leaders in kills, and she led the MAC in digs and digs per game. Freshman, Kim Parsi also ranked among the league leaders in assists.

WRESTLING

Led by second year head coach, Steve Ohnsman, the Wrestling Team finished a tough season with the promise of improvement for next year. Plagued by sickness and injuries, the team lost many members throughout the season. However, the team was able to make up for these losses by the leadership of heavy-weight Jason Alexander and new comer David Armstrong. Ending the season at 5-14, the team is hoping to improve next year and take advantage of their new talent.

CHEERLEADING.

What would most Albright sports be without the cheerleaders? Who would lead us in chants to rally on the football team to victory? Who else would help push the basketball teams to win - win - win? Could we find others to yell and cheer as the players score touchdowns or three points? Each of us is encouraged by the cheerleading squads to get involved with the teams - to support them and cheer them on to winning seasons. But, probably their hardest job is to keep smiling when the home score is lower, to keep their chins up and their pom-poms shaking when we aren't the winners. These dedicated and energetic girls deserve our thanks and congratulations for all their hard work and commitment to the Albright Sports Program. Without them the games just wouldn't be the same!

MEN'S BASKETBALL

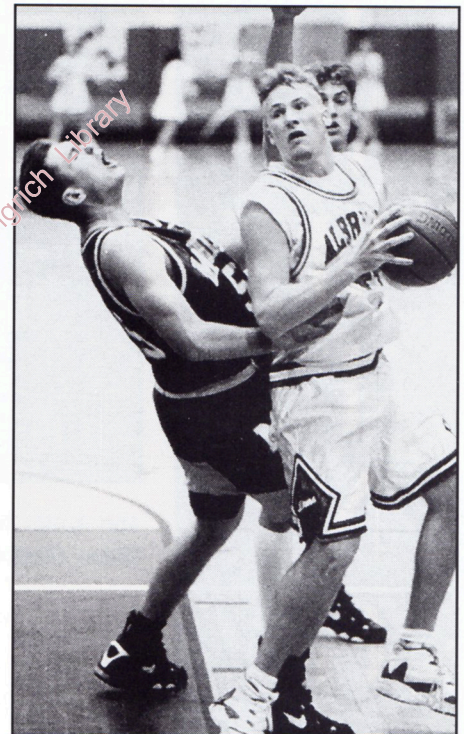

Albright entered the 96-97 basketball season with high optimism despite losing eight players from last season's squad. They also ended the season optimistically, hoping that next year's team would make it to the playoffs. Throughout the season, this basketball team had its ups and downs. They started off weak but counted on the freshmen to build the team's strength. Luckily, the freshmen lived up to the team's expectations. The team picked up the action in 1997 and only missed the playoffs by one game. Seniors Dwight Davis and Jim Scharadin contributed their spirit and leadership for the duration of the season. They will be missed but we wish them luck.

MEN'S SWIMMING

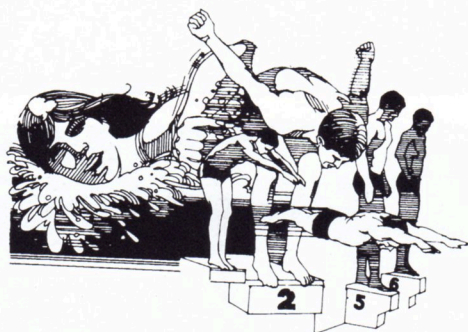

Losing only one swimmer and gaining several freshmen, the team started out strong, placing 3rd at a MAC relay meet. For the first time, the team won individual relays at this particular meet. Over Interim, the swimmers and their coaches, Jenis Frederick and Joanne Stockholm, travelled to Cocoa Beach, Florida for a week of intense training. They came back in great from and finished the season with a 10-3 record. The team then went on to finish 5th at MACs. Among the many medals won by Albright was the bronze in the 400 yd. free relay by Goodreau, Stumhofer, Long, and Miller with a time of 3:24.04, 9 seconds off of the old time. Seniors Abe Antler, and Mike Lapp will be missed but their hard work and speedy swimming will be remembered by all.

WOMEN'S

SWIMMING

The Lions began their season with high hopes since they gained more swimmers than they lost. They started off victoriously despite having many illnesses early on. The team was undefeated in 1996 before training in Cocoa Beach, Florida. The women won nine amazing meets in a row before facing defeat at Lycoming. All new relay team records were set by women including the 400 meter relay set by Houvig, Butterwick, Scianna, and co-captain Steffenauer with a 3:56.36 time. The women completed the season with an overall record of 12-2. At the MAC championships at Widener, the women proudly placed fourth. Numerous records were broken and many medals were earned. Sophomore Angie Bretz qualified for the ECAC swimming championships and the NCAA Division III B Standard of the 100 breaststroke. The swimmers look forward to another successful season next year.

B A S E B A L L

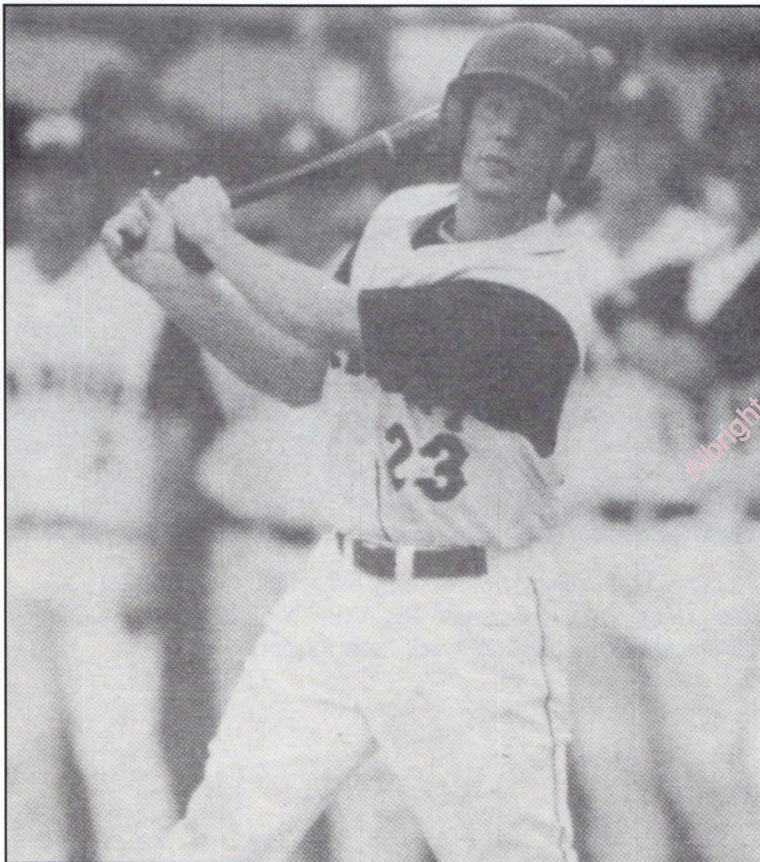

Our Lion's Baseball team was led this season by captains Chris Farley, Kurt Krebs, Jason Thompson, and David Miller. They began their season with a great start winning their season opener against Division 1 Maryland-Eastern Shore. Although they came out with an 18-11 season, the team put their hearts into each game. The four-year head coach, Stan Hyman, was quoted as saying "I was real excited with what I saw." In one of the finest games of the season Albright swept Juniata 5-0. During this game, Chris Richard hit his 5th home run of the season. Lion's baseball has definitely played their best this year. Great job guys!

SOFTBALL

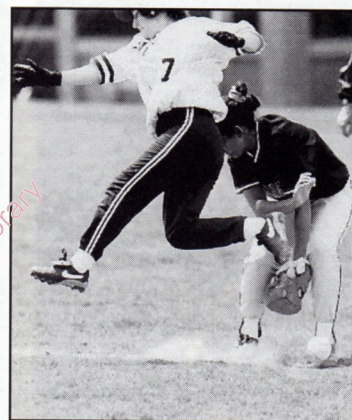

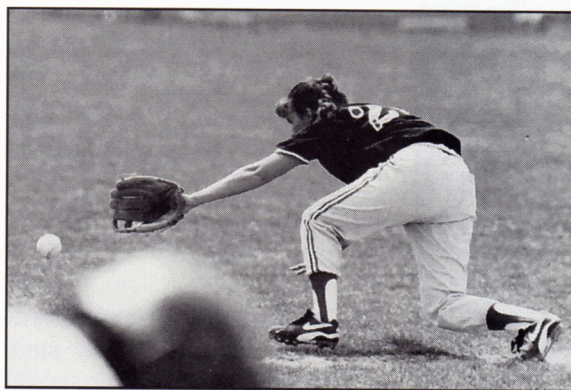

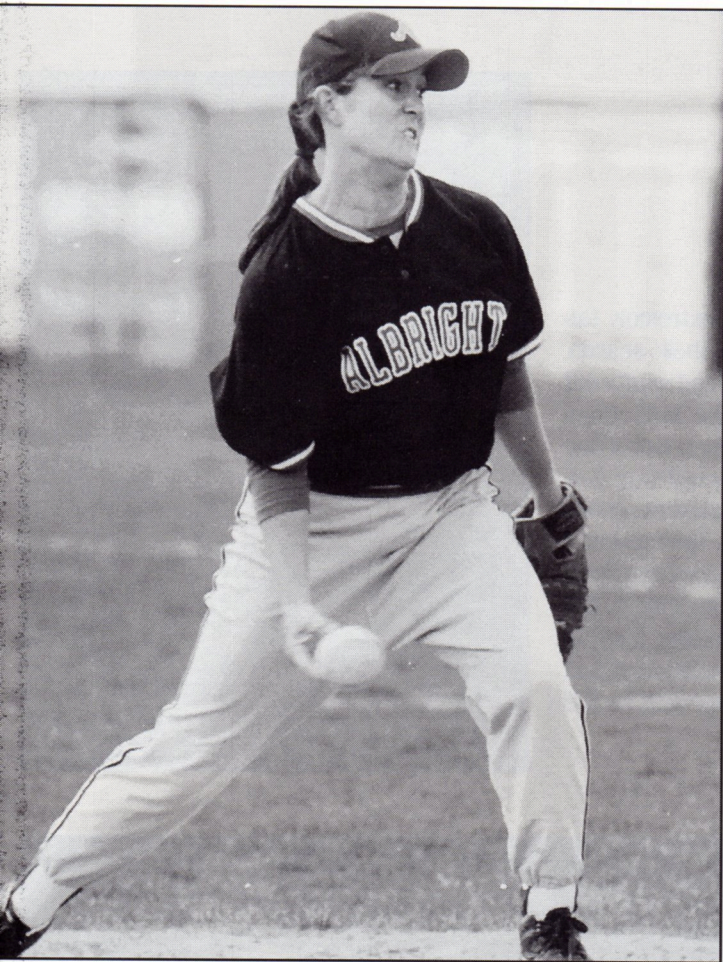

Led by co-captains Gena Groner and Sharon Christensen the woman's softball season ended 8th in MACs with a 3-29 record. The girls traveled to Fory Myers, FL for spring training and captured their first victories of the season. Coach Clement Meccia expected hitting to be the strong point of this year's club and the Lady Lions averaged over five runs and nearly 10 hits per game. The hitters put the ball in play and created scoring opportunities. To strengthen pitching, Jen Moll was added to the pitching rotation, joining freshman Abbey Draper. The two complemented each other with Draper as the hard pitcher, who could throw balls past hitters, while Moll was the control pitcher who relied on hitting spots. Regardless of their record, this team had a lot of heart, quality leadership, and the motivation to do well.

TENNIS

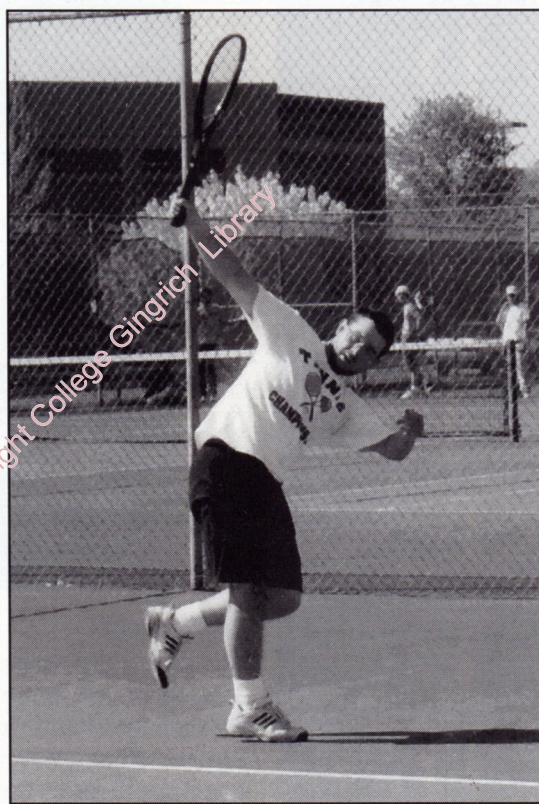

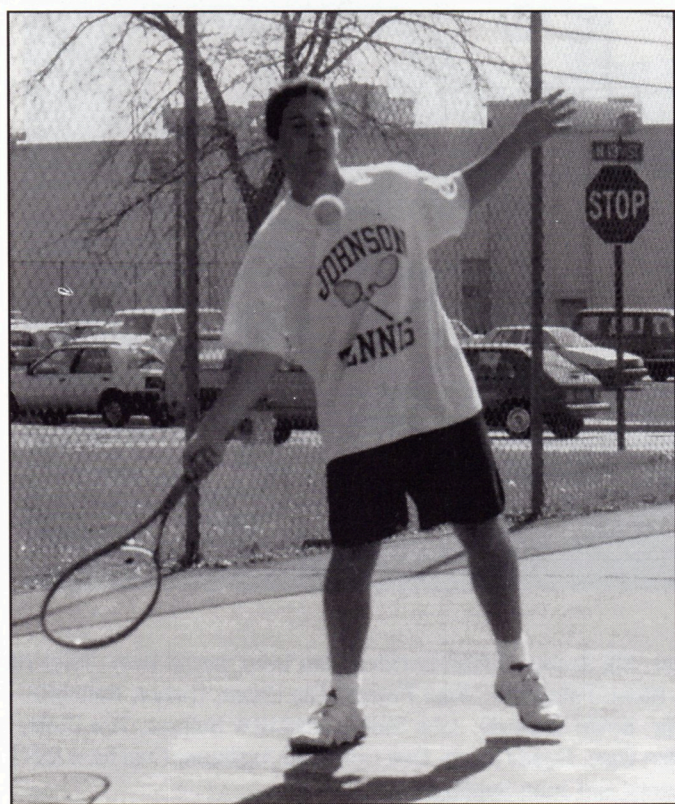

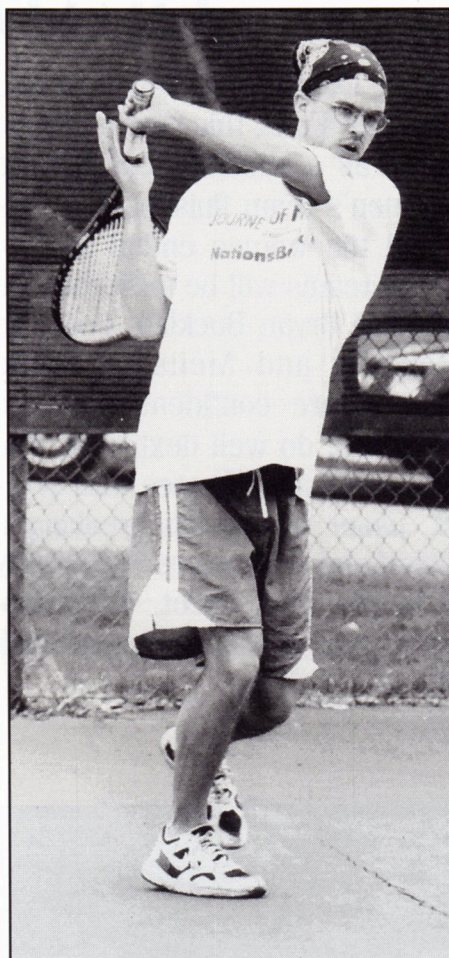

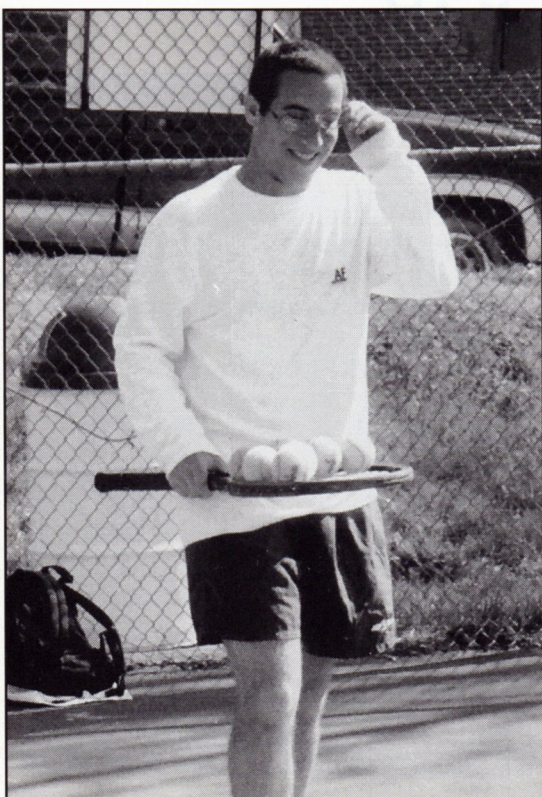

This season's men's tennis team was extremely talented and had an exciting start to their season, although they suffered a disappointing end with a 5-7 overall record and finished sixth in the MAC Commonwealth League. Individually, the men had a fair season overall. The best individual record was 6-5. Bill Fleegler, the number one singles player, ended the season at this mark. Tony Omedes, the number 3 singles player, and Jim Shertz, who played number 5 or 6 singles also finished the season with a 6-5 individual record. The number one doubles team of Fleegler and Jon Schappell was one consistent aspect of the team. The two ended the season with an 8-3 overall record.

OUTDOOR

Led by Head Coach Don Gottshall and Coach Raymond Feick this year's season was deemed as a building year for the team. The men's team finished the season 4-2 and the women ended at 5-1. Although the teams will be suffering the loss of seniors Bryan Bucklen, and Abe Antler (men's) and Melissa Mende (women's), all are confident that the young teams will do well next year. The teams finished on a high notes with Maggie Ward, junior co-captain breaking a school record and sophomore Skye Tandy medaling in the MAC meet. Congratulations on a great season and good luck next year!

GOLF

At the beginning of the golf season Coach Ray Mest was quoted as saying "I'm optimistic. We had a good season last year, and this year our sophomores should make an impact." However, the team had some problems with inconsistency of players. They struggled with this, but they ended the season with 8 wins and 8 losses. The team has really good hopes for the future. Captain, Andy Mest, said that he attributed any weakness of the team to the fact that there were a lot of younger members. They hope to do much better over the next few years. Best of luck!

FIELD HOCKEY

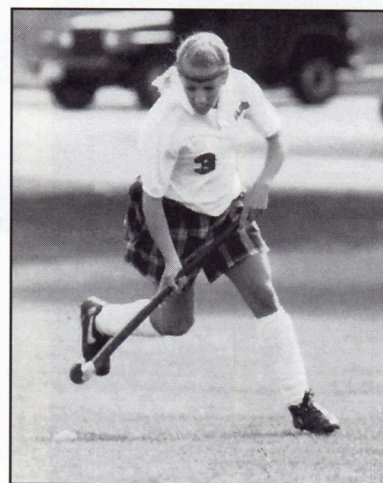

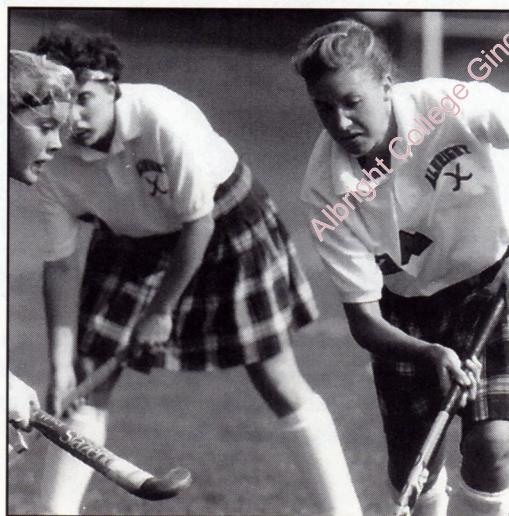

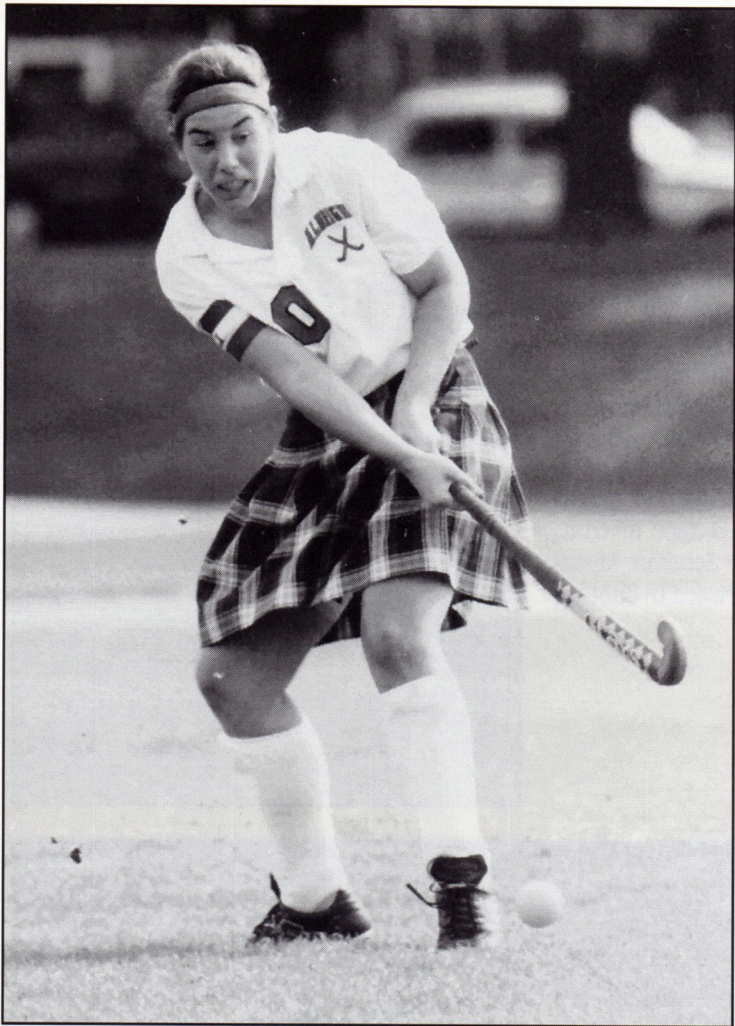

Improvement was the key word for this year's team. In the beginning, they were very inexperienced, but the Lady Lions worked hard on better strategies and playing styles. Their new coach, Debbie Wilkins (the 4th in four years) provided a major role for the team as she demonstrated to the team her experience, eagerness, and optimism. The team really came together and showed their hardwork during each game they played. Top scorer for the team this year was freshman Rhiannon Maniscalco. Senior co-captains Jennifer Myers and Megan Maniscalco will definitely be missed along with 3 other seniors. Although it was disappointing to hardly win any games, the team hopes to build on this season's improvements to accomplish a lot more next year and years to come.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

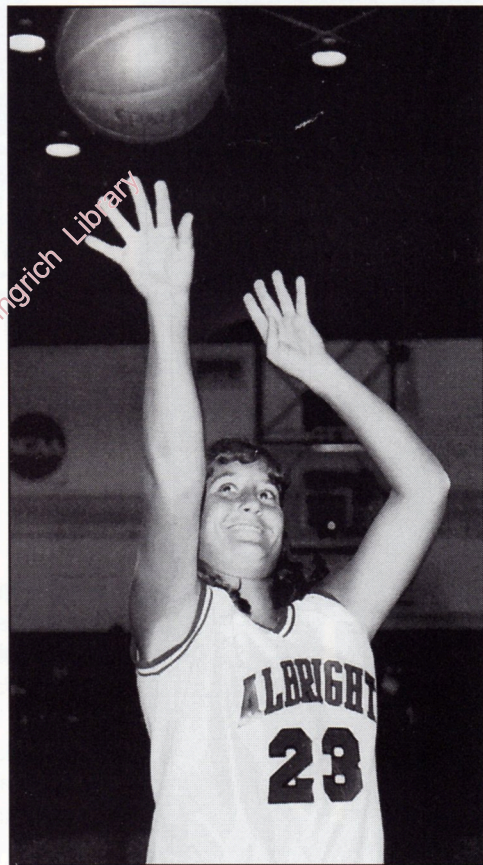

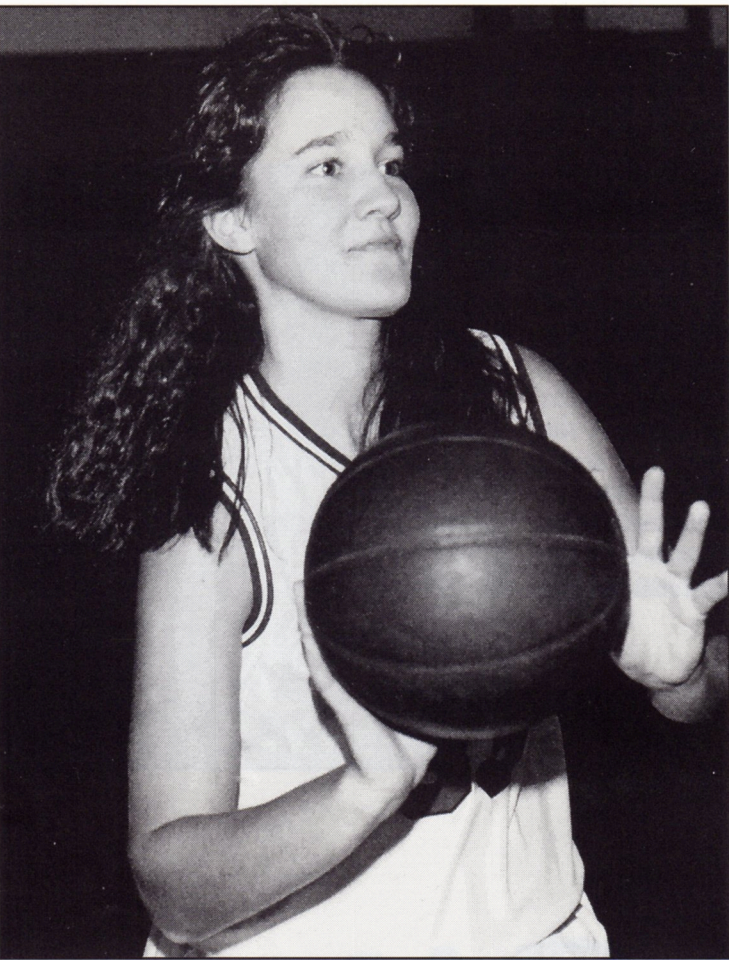

At the start of the season, the team had high expectations including hopes of going to the MAC playoffs. This is the time for the Lady Lions to meet their goals as they made it to the playoffs for the first time in over 10 years. Amazingly, the team accomplished their goal despite many injuries. Their major loss was Junior Jarra Rusnock, who had scored her 1000th point early in the season. Although the Lady Lions lost at the playoffs they gained skills, pride, and unity. Sophomore Jen Houser and freshman Rachel Connolly were named to the Eastern College Athletic Conference Holiday Inn Division III Southern Region Women's Honor Roll. Rusnock was named as a first team 1996-97 MAC Commonwealth League All-Star. The leadership and hustle of senior Jennifer Myers will be missed but the team looks forward to another successful year.

INDOOR

Although the men's and women's indoor track teams have struggled with their numbers throughout the season, they performed well. The season proved successful in keeping many athletes in shape between the fall and spring seasons. At the Middle Atlantic Conference Championships at Lebanon Valley, junior co-captain Maggie Ward finished at 2nd place in the 800 meter run. This earned her a place on the Coaches All-Star Women's MAC indoor track team. On the men's side, a great performance was seen by junior Gia Pham, who placed 3rd in the triple jump. Jim Delp, Skye Tandy, and Gia Pham qualified for the ECACs at Boston University. Congratulations and good luck in your future!

Alanis Morissette is at the top of her profession these days. With sales of "Jagged Little Pill" reaching 13 million, the 22 year-old Canadian singer/songwriter's debut in the United States became the best-selling album by a female artist.

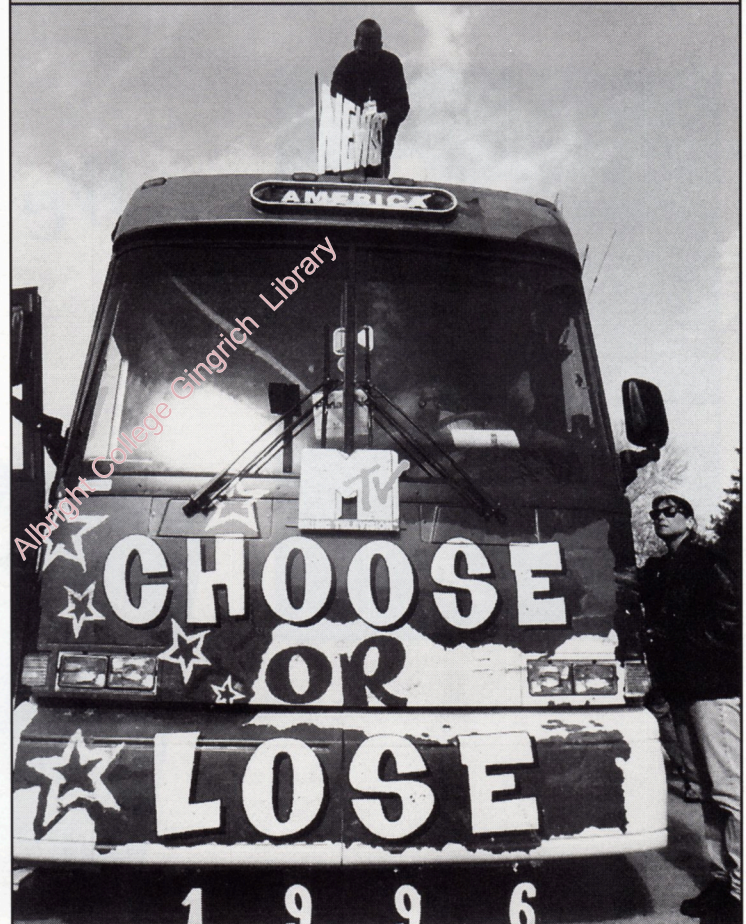

After Morissette won four Grammys in February 1996, including one for album of the year, "Pill" sold at least 200,000 copies a week for seven consecutive weeks.

According to the Recording Industry Association of America, Morissette won out over several other female artists including Carole King, whose 1971 "Tapestry" sold 10 million copies and Whitney Houston's "Whitney Houston" which sold at least 12 million copies.

The "Choose or Lose" campaign, which MTV began in the 1992 election, and the bus reflect the network's commitment to bring 'under 25s' out to vote in the 1996 Presidential elections.

When the bus arrived at various university campus, voter materials were made available as well as MTV's Voter's Guide, which explained the two major parties' views on issues of concern to young people. Students who paid a visit to the bus were asked to sign a pledge card saying that they would vote in the November election. The "Choose or Lose" bus staff kept the cards until late October, they mailed them back to the signees to remind them to go to the polls.

In addition to serving as a voter registration and education center, the bus was also a rolling television studio. Earlier this year, MTV's Tabitha Soren interviewed GOP presidential nominee Senator Bob Dole on the bus. Other politicians and some rock bands took rides to talk about politics as well.

Wildfires burned out of control in California during October 1996, spreading fire across thousands and thousands of acres. Although not responsible for the initial start, Santa Ana winds acted like gasoline on a match, threatening lives, homes, wildlife and wilderness.

Everytime the Santa Ana winds would calm down even slightly, an army of full water-loaded helicopters and airplanes would take to the skies, racing the put an end to the wildfires before the winds picked up.

According to the National Interagency Fire Center, 1996 has produced the nation's worst wildfire season in more than four decades. They have claimed more than 6 million acres, the most since the year 1952.

Governor Pete Wilson declared a state of emergency in San Diego, Los Angeles and Orange Counties. President Clinton was asked to declare the counties as disaster areas.

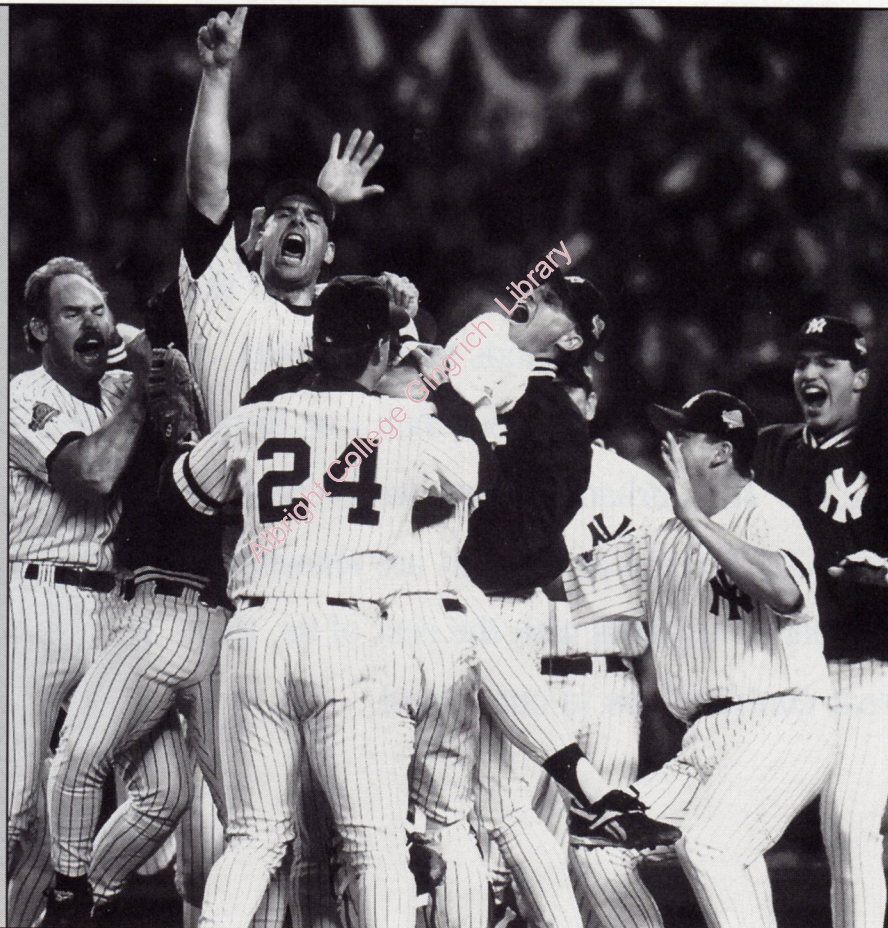

The World Series trophy is back in the Bronx, belonging to a New York Yankees team that never gave up. Together, they pulled off the ultimate comeback.

Given no chance after two humbling losses at home, the Yankees won the first World Series title since 1978 with a 3-2 victory over the defending champion Atlanta Braves in Game 6 on Saturday, October 26, 1996. This marked the Yankees' 23rd title, most in history and surely one of their most remarkable.

The Yankees beat Greg Maddux in becoming the first team to win a game at home in the Series. New York was just the third club ever to win the Series after losing the first two games at home, joining the 1986 Mets and the 1985 Kansas City Royals.

For 56-year-old Joe Torre, it brought redemption in his first year as Yankees manager. He had played and managed in 4,272 games without reaching the Series - - the longest streak in major league history - - and once was fired as Atlanta's manager.

"I never had any doubts about this club," Torre said. "When you get as old as I am, you learn to appreciate it. It might come only once."

Time and time again the Greek Organizations can be found contributing to the social, intellectual, and philanthropic activities of Albright College. Albright would not be the same without our Greeks, as they add so much to the quality of life to our school. They are often found sponsoring activities on campus like the MDA Dance-A-Thon, or selling wares in the campus center for their philanthropies, like lollipops or the Miss-A-Meal program. Also, the Greeks are greatly dedicated to the community outside of our school, like the PUSH America, as well as going to places like the Bethany Children's Home or spending time with the elderly in an Adopt-A-Grandmom program. Socially, we look to the Greeks to host many bands at the Woods, or to have parties on the weekends - or to pull together the Airbands show we all like so much. The Greeks at Albright are showing us time and time along with the rest of us, their great contributions to our school.

The Delta Phi Chi chapter of Alpha Chi Rho celebrated its 10th year anniversary this past April. Throughout those past 10 years the "Crows" have made their presence felt by showing their dedication and commitment to Albright's campus and the Berks County community. They have co-sponsored fundraisers for everything from The Muscular Dystrophy Association to the Humane Society. They also visit Bethany's Children Home on a regular basis and help serve food at an inner city soup kitchen. AXP also has more than its fair share of campus leaders ranging from SGA officers to IFC E-Board members. Yes a lot of fine outstanding individuals have come out of AXP. The brothers of Crow can play just as hard as they work too. Their legendary toga parties are the highlight of the Albright social scene and a cold can of Schlitz Ice is never too far out of reach. The Crows pride themselves on consistently upholding the codes of brotherhood and believe that joining a fraternity is not just for four years, but for a lifetime.

Sigma Phi Epsilon is one of Albright's largest and most active fraternities on campus. While Sigma Phi Epsilon is a social fraternity, it is also active in campus and community service. The willingness of the brothers to give of themselves is evident in their heavy involvement in campus activities and organizations. The brothers serve as orientation leaders, steering committee members, executives of IFC, SGA members, CCB members, RA's, class officers, and participants in many intramural and varsity sports. The brothers take pride in making contributions to both the college and local community. They continue to strive in many endeavors, and have set high goals for the coming year. They hope to continue their strong commitments to service projects such as elementary school tutoring, Adopt-A-Highway, and Project America. Moreover, they will continue to strive for academic excellence and maintain their high grade point average as a group.

The Zeta Chi chapter of Pi Kappa Phi, chartered on November 10, 1990 is in the peak of its sixth year of brotherhood. We currently stand at 35 brothers strong with the recent addition of the associate Theta Class. The chapter is devoted to seeking excellence in scholarship, upholding the highest possible standards of integrity and the acceptance and preservation of diversity among the brotherhood. We are devoted to our national philanthropy, PUSH America, an organization dedicated to raising money and awareness for children with mental and physical disabilities. This year, we raised over $1,700 dollars for PUSH during a successful "No Boundaries" week, which included events such as our annual 100-hour scaffold sit, empathy training, and miss-a-meal. The Zeta Chi chapter of Pi Kappa Phi is very proud of all its accomplishments this year and its bright and promising future. None of us came to Albright College for Pi Kappa Phi, but it is one of the only reasons why we come back.

The Phi Beta Chapter of the Phi Mu Fraternity celebrated their tenth anniversary at Albright this year. The sisters of Phi Mu are extremely proud of their achievements in leadership and social service on campus and in the community as well. Sisters can be seen in numerous activities on campus including RSA, CCB, Lion Dips, POPs, Rugby, Cross Country, Soccer, and Tennis. They also formed the first female intramural softball team this year. Phi Mu is very dedicated to their philanthropy, the Children's Miracle Network. They sponsored the Haunted House with AXP and were Children's seen collecting money in the dorms all throughout the year. Overall, they were able to collect over one thousand dollars for CMN. For the second year in a row, Phi Mu had the honor of being named "Sorority of the Year."

Founded in 1851, Alpha Delta Pi has the distinction of being the first sorority ever founded for women. 136 chapters span the United States and Canada. Here at Albright College, the Eta Lambda Chapter upholds the valued characteristics of leadership, scholarship, and service set forth by the national organization. Social life is also a valuable aspect of the sorority. Many of the sisters are involved in campus activities such as Campus Center Board, Lion Diplomats, Resident Student Association, and Student Government Association, as well as Albright's Athletics. The sorority's philanthropy is the Ronald McDonald House.

As sisters of Sigma Kappa, these girls share a bond of sincere friendship and unity. In turn these characteristics help them to grow socially, intellectually, and spiritually. During their 10th year here on Albright's campus, through strong sisterhood, they continue to make essential contributions to the campus community by being active in SGA, intramural sports, Domino Players, Soccer and Softball just to name a few. Outside of Albright, they enjoy visiting the CAUM Home as part of their Adopt-A-Grandmom Gerontology program, as well as selling lollipops to raise money to "lick the fight" against Alzheimers disease. Socially, once again they had the opportunity to enjoy mixers, formals, airbands, and build a float for the Homecoming Parade. It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, it was a time they'll never forget. But, through it all, they did it together! As their motto goes- remember, for in the end it's not just four years, it's a lifetime.

It's a GUY Thing

The Cue apologizes that it is unable to provide the names of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon brothers.

This year the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity proudly celebrates its one year anniversary of having a charter on campus. Created in 1992 by a group of Freshmen, this fraternity has always prided itself on being different from the rest. They call themselves the "True Gentlemen" and carry that title well. They are a close knit group and enjoy each other's company and the variety that each brother offers. Their presence is not missed on campus, as they are always a part of campus activities, volunteering their time to make Albright a better place. Also, it is hard not to notice an SAE on Fridays as this is their traditional "Tie Day," and each brother is dressed up. We can find the SAE's on SGA, in many varsity sports, in many campus organizations as well as honor societies. When they are off campus as a group, these men can be found working with their philanthropy, called "Natural Ties" which is associated with the Big Brothers and Big Sisters locally.

International Students Association

The International Students Association is one of the major organizations on Albright's campus. Organized in 1989, it has served the Albright community eight years. People might the misconception from the name of the group that is exclusively for international students, but everyone is allowed to join. The basic objective of ISA is to create an awareness among the Albright community about foreign cultures, customs, and people. The ISA holds different events, discussions and symposiums to promote understanding among the student body. But one should not assume that the ISA is an association which is limited to bring international stuff, but they also organize trips around the country for any student to go.

The Cue apologizes for the fact that we were unable to acquire the names of the members of this organization.

American Chemical Society

The Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society are going strong in their third year of active involvement. As an organization with many dedicated members, they strive to promote excitement, involvement, and knowledge in the sciences. Although firmly rooted in Chemistry, we promote awareness in medicine and biology as well. This year the Affiliates have worked on a variety of speakers to visit Albright's campus that have shared their research and experiences with professors and students, along with trips to research labs and facilities, we have worked on promoting a sense of fun with each other and chemistry.

The organization holds various fund raisers throughout the year, and their main event is the MDA Dance-A-Thon and Walk-A-Thon in the Spring. Many student run organizations and many Greek organizations participate in these popular events in conjunction with MDA.

AGON- Literacy Magazine

The AGON is good, old fashioned, mom and apple pie. Our goal conservatively based (and suitably ironic and satirical) is to allow the students, faculty, and administrators to delve into the realm of creation. Here worlds are created, people destroyed, and ascetic desires fulfilled to their utmost potential. In the end creativity reigns supreme as no one can stop the process of the mind. All members are free thinking individuals united behind a belief of free expression, and the ideas expressed in this magazine are not necessarily those of the editors, staff, or you! We are wiser through knowledge, creativity, and free consciousness.

African American Society

The African American Society was organized to consolidate mutual interests and a firm ethnic identity. This organization was further established to foster fellowship among African American students and a greater understanding of African American culture and people within the college community. Finally, the society is a service organization, formed to enhance campus wide programming, thereby promoting tolerance, understanding, and education within Albright, Reading and national communities.

Women's Rugby

Albright College Women's Rugby was founded in the fall of 1994, and their first official season was played in the Spring of 1995.

Rugby is not just a sport- it is a way of thinking, both on and off the field. This group of women prides themselves in never giving up and working hard while having a great time.

Alpha Phi Omega

Alpha Phi Omega is a co-ed national service fraternity that was founded in 1925. It is based on the principles of leadership, friendship, and service. Albright's history with Alpha Phi Omega dates back to 1956. In November of 1996 the Mu Eta chapter of Alpha Phi Omega was reactivated with 16 active members. Our first National Service Project was done in the spring of 1997 and was known as Hunger and Homeless Awareness week. The experience of "living" in cardboard boxes helped us to raise awareness and over $700 for Habitat for Humanity.

Alpha Phi Omega plans to continue to serve the campus and community.

Women of the World

WOW was created in line with the AAS, AAC, and ISA organizations, to promote understanding for women's issues in the Albright community. The organization is dedicated to fighting domestic violence, rape and sexual harassment. It is a group of people from all races, classes and backgrounds, uniting in hopes to make a difference in the challenges that face women of the world today.

Vogue

Vogue is a student organization associated with the Visual Arts and Design Department, though membership is not exclusive to those within the related majors. Under the advisement of Professor Connie Heller-Horacek, students are exposed to the various creative and exciting aspects of visual display that range from decorating to communication skills. The club seeks to provide on and off campus activities. The latter include the Human Ecology Senior Show, fashion shows, projects on conjunction with the City of Reading and service oriented tasks. Vogue also works in conjunction with other campus organizations on the execution of the Homecoming Dance. MDA Dance-A-Thon, etc. In addition, trips to New York City and Philadelphia are planned to explore the cultural attributes of the cities.

Student in Free Enterprise

Students in Free Enterprise (SIFE) is a nonprofit organization that was founded in 1975 by a group of business leaders. This organization is dedicated to the cultivation of the entrepreneurial spirit as well as fostering an understanding of how the free enterprise system works. Although this organization has been around for over 20 years, it is relatively new to Albright College. SIFE members benefit from various skills, creativity, team building, and management skills which help the students become the leaders of the future.

String Orchestra

The Albright College String Orchestra performs a wide variety of music at concerts and at functions which represent the college such as Alumni, perspective students, and administrative events. On occasion, string orchestra may perform for recitals and for other on and off campus functions.

Domino Players

The Domino Players is Albright's theatre company; they are under the direction off Dr. Lynn Morrow. Every year members of the faculty, community and student body work together to produce yearly productions. This year they include CLOUD 9, The Illusion, Adrocles and the Lion and Little Murders. A branch of the organization is the "Playwright of the Month" series which are student run, directed and acted. Some this year include Shakespeare, Marsha Norman, Neil Simon and Tennessee Williams. The organization is one in which everyone is welcome and encouraged to participate.

Beta Beta Beta

Tri Beta, Albright's national Biological Honor Society is a society dedicated to improving the understanding and appreciation of biological study. We encourage a close professional and personal relationship, on which science thrives. Among the events we coordinate are nature-based excursions and student-faculty banquets. Above all BBB seeks to encourage scholarly attainment and cultivate intellectual interests by recognizing those students who demonstrate superior academic performance in the biological sciences and strive towards this standard of excellence.

Inter-Fraternity Council

IFC is the governing body which oversees the activities of all the social fraternities on Albright's campus. IFC works with the organizations to promote brotherhood on campus. The IFC often works with Panhel to coordinate some of the Greek activities.

Campus Crusaders for Christ

CCFC is a non-denominational Christian organization that provides weekly meetings for group Bible study and fellowship among students. Campus Crusade at Albright also participates in retreats and programs put on by the National Campus Crusade for Christ Organization.

Brother & Sister Exchange Program

The BASE program matches each incoming first year student with an upperclassman. This "Big Brother or Sister" helps their "Little" feel at home and adapt to college life. Many lasting friendships have been formed through BASE, continuing to enrich the quality of life at Albright. The Bigs and Littles have many opportunities to meet at the beginning of the school year, often they share majors and or interests, and find they have the same classes or are involved in similar organizations. The life of a first year student can be intimidating and frustrating at first, but with the help of a Big, the transition from high school to Albright is a little smoother.

Lacrosse Club

Albright Men's Lacrosse Club is a collection of college students who have organized a lacrosse team with the intentions of forming a varsity team in the near future. The team has been a member of the National Club Lacrosse League since 1993. Hopefully, with more students enrolling into Albright we can generate more players.

Lion Diplomats

Lion Diplomats is the organization that is responsible for promoting student-alumni relations in the Albright community. Among the many activities the Dips organize are Homecoming, Alumni Weekend, Faculty Appreciation Day, The Senior Grand Mystery Dinner, and the ever popular Oozeball. The Lion Dips work to create a spirit of enthusiasm among the student body and can often be easily spotted on campus wearing their "Where's Waldo" rugby shirts.

Human Services Organization

The Human Services Organization is dedicated to enhancing the education of students by inviting speakers onto campus. Through volunteer activities, the organization attempts to link campus community with the community at large.

Student Government Association

The SGA oversees all student run organizations on campus. They meet weekly to discuss pressing issues at Albright, and coordinate the SGA Senate to include all organizations and committees. The SGA officers and members work hard to make sure that the interest of the student body is in mind while working for the future of Albright College.

On July 17, 1996, a Boeing 747 jumbo jet took off from JFK International Airport in New York, never to reach its destination in Paris. TWA Flight 800 exploded and crashed into the ocean in hundreds of pieces. There were no survivors of the 230 people aboard.

Months of an exhaustive and round-the-clock investigation still have produced no definite cause for why the jet burst into a fireball, and there is growing concern that the mystery will never be solved.

Authorities listed three theories for the cause of the explosion- - a bomb, a missile and a mechanical malfunction. But Transportation Safety Board, the FBI and others, none of these have proven to be the cause.

Several makeshift memorials scattered the coast of Fire Island (NY) - - some erected by family, some by friends and some by those paying tribute to victims who lost their lives in the crash.

The sudden success of the 20-year-old Tiger Woods in his first two months as a professional has focused attention on golf in a way unseen since the days of Arnold Palmer. The difference this time is that Woods, barely removed from being a teenager himself, appears to be drawing teens and pre-teens to the game in astonishing numbers.

"He's just so cool," said 12-year-old Derek Dickson, attending the tournament with his school's 30-member gold club. "It's really neat that someone his age can beat everybody." And that's exactly what Woods has done.

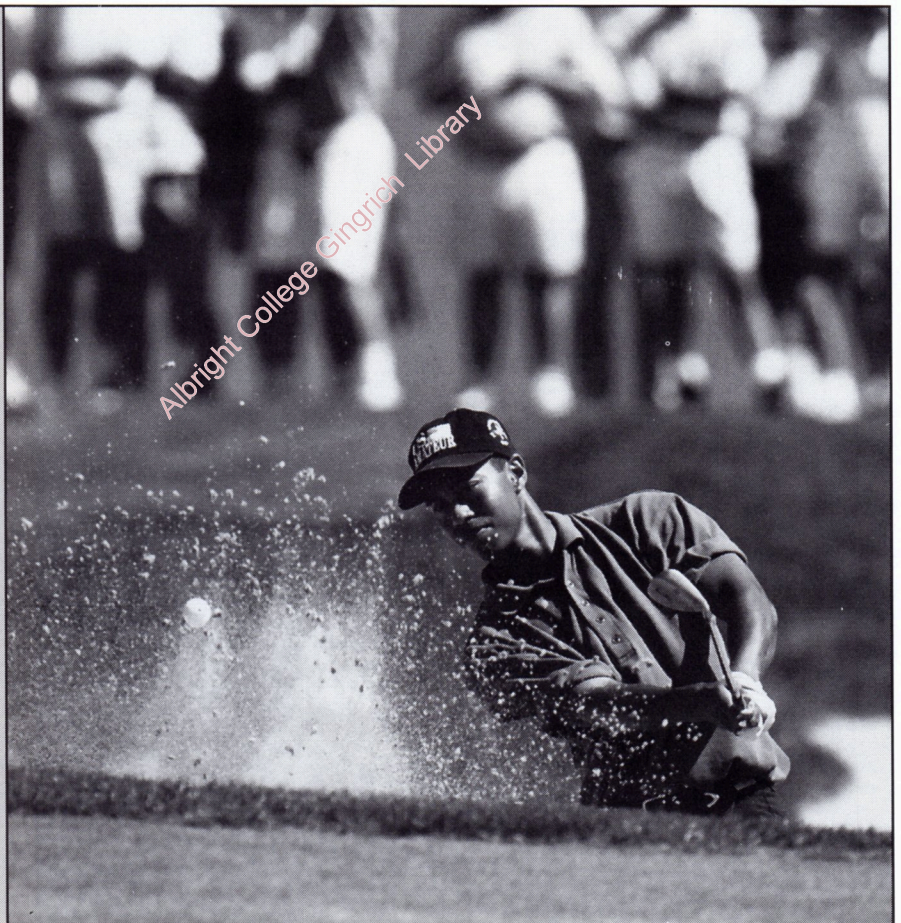

Since turning professional on August 27, 1996, after winning an unprecedented third consecutive U.S. Amateur Championship, Woods has played in several PGA Tour events, winning two, finishing third twice, fifth once and 11th once.

The only event in which he did not have a chance to win was his very first tournament, when exhaustion from all the attention contributed to a 60th-place finish.

He won $734,794 in just seven events - - ranked 23rd on the PGA Tour money list against players who played as 29 tournaments.

Woods, whose father is black and whose mother was born in Thailand, is well aware of his role as a pioneer in a game that is overwhelmingly white on a professional level.

"If I keep progressing in golf, I could help bring more minorities into the game and make it more diverse," Woods said after practice.

Michael Johnson knows how to close out a deal quickly and efficiently. When he thought that his 1996 Olympic rivals in the men's 200 meter might threaten his 19.66 world record, he upped the ante. He broke it himself, coming in with a 19.32 time.

When Johnson won the 400 a few days earlier, he didn't have to do anything special to leave the field gasping for air somewhere near the parking lot. An Olympic record of 43.49 was good enough.

Johnson runs the way no one dares to imagine - - legs churning low to the ground, back straight in perfect posture - - truly something to behold.

Like Bob Beamon leaping beyond the bounds of reason. Like Roger Bannister doing what nobody believed possible. Johnson didn't merely complete an unprecedented golden double in the 200 and 400, he made a joke of his own world record.

The 200 record had never been broken by such a large margin. Even Johnson couldn't believe it.

Kerri Strug came to the Olympics with two goals, to make the all-around women's gymnastics finals and have a good time. While accomplishing these, she became the darling of Atlanta.

Strug's vault that sealed America's first Olympic team gold medal and made her the country's newest sweetheart also left her with two torn ligaments and a sprained left ankle.

Missing the all-around was especially disappointing for Strug because not making the event in Barcelona is what motivated her over the four years leading up to Atlanta.

Sure, she wanted to win the team medal as much as anyone. And she was proud of her role as the anchorwoman in floor exercise and vault. But making the all-around was what kept her going as she shuffled between gyms around the country.

"Winning the team gold medal has been a dream come true, but it's also a little bit hard knowing that I finally did accomplish what I wanted so badly in '92 and it may be taken away," she said before the injury forced her to pull out of the finals.

The sadness of missing again is sure to be pacified by TV appearances, magazine covers, or how-ever heroes are promoted.

The royal treatment started when Bela Karolyi, Strug's coach, carried his latest star back into the arena for the medal presentation. She then wrapped her arms around the shoulders of Miller and Moceanu for a boost up the platform.

President Clinton made a determined case for a second term August 29, 1996, in a climactic convention address that took credit for blocking Republican budget cuts and promised an array of new help for poor and middle-class families.

"Hope is back in America," Clinton declared.

Clinton accepting his party's presidential nomination for the second time, and in prepared remarks he said the economy had roared back to life under his watch, creating 10 million new jobs even as the federal government payroll shrunk. In a second term, he pledged to balance the federal budget.

Clinton's speech was the finale of a Democratic convention remarkable for its show of unity. The Democrats were heading home in an unfamiliar position: Heavily favored to win. Not since Franklin Roosevelt in 1944 has a Democratic incumbent been re-elected, and Clinton's 1992 victory was only the second for a Democrat in the seven presidential elections of the past 30 years.

"As long as I am president, I will never allow cuts that devastate education for our children, pollute our environment, end the guarantee of health care under Medicaid or violate our duty to our parents under Medicare," Clinton said. "Never."

As Gore did in his convention speech the night before, Clinton urged voters to think ahead to the year 2000 as they made their choice this November. He said his four-day train trip to the convention had convinced him that "Hope is back in America. America is on the right track for the 21st century."

Darius Rucker of Hootie and the Blowfish rehearsed onstage at New York's City Music Hall on September 6, 1996, for the MTV Video Music Awards that would take place later that evening. And to the crowd's pleasure, they gave an outstanding live performance.

When Hootie and the Blowfish do their thing, you can't help but be impressed with the quality of their songs. "Be the One" is one of Rucker's favorites, and "Sad Caper" pairs an upbeat melody with downbeat lyrics, remembers a failed relationship.

"I said before this record ("Fairweather Johnson") I was going to write a song about relationship that worked and I guess I'm never in one, so I couldn't do it," Rucker said with a chuckle.

"I guess I like being lonely," he said. "I've discovered being alone really helps me be creative. I love my alone time. I think I like it even more now because I don't get much of it."

When it's pointed out that winning the Best New Artist Grammy is more often than not the kiss of death, Rucker said: "It wasn't the award that did whatever happened to them; it's what they did after that. You can't fault winning a Grammy for anything."

On July 27, 1996, a pipe bomb exploded at 1:20 AM, killing Alice Hawthorne of Albany, GA, and injuring 111 others. A Turkish cameraman rushing to the scene died of a heart attack. Richard Jewell, a security guard working in the park, alerted police to a suspicious knapsack and helped evacuate people just moments before it exploded.

Jewell was hailed as a hero, and numerous interviews were requested. But just a day or two later, a local newspaper identified Jewell as the prime suspect.

Investigators looked at Jewell after the Olympic Park bombing as someone who had a history of overzealousness and a desire to be a hero. Plus, he was near where the bomb exploded.

With such elements fitting the profile of a lone bomber, but with no hard evidence, they went after him - - and stuck out spectacularly.

After three months of an investigation that involved 11 federal, state and local agencies and more than 200 people, Jewell was publically cleared as a target of the bomb investigation.

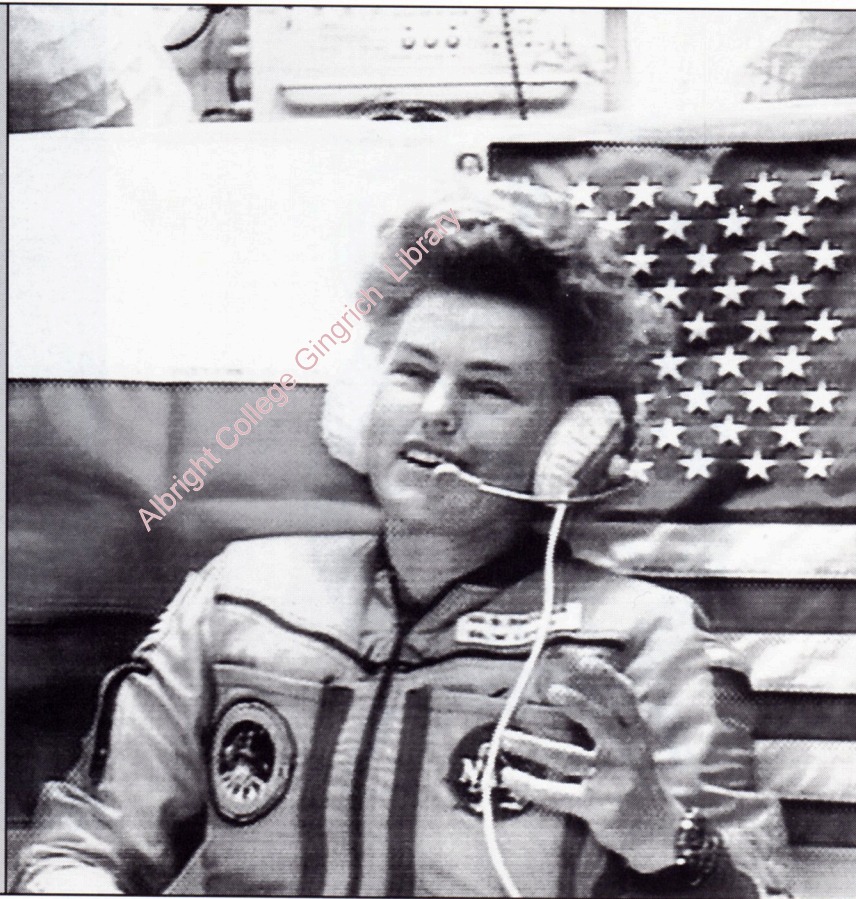

A cheering crowd of hundreds and a handshake from President Clinton greeted astronaut Shannon Lucid as she returned home on September 27, 1996, a day after ending her record six-month journey in space. "All I can say is, Houston never looked so good," Lucid told more than 500 Johnson Space Center workers, businessmen, retirees, children and others who gathered at Ellington Field. Lucid, wearing a NASA cap and blue jumpsuit, was all smiles.

The 53-year-old biochemist left Houston in March for a 4 1/2 month mission to the Russian space station Mir. Her ride home was delayed seven weeks by mechanical and weather problems, but she never once complained out loud.

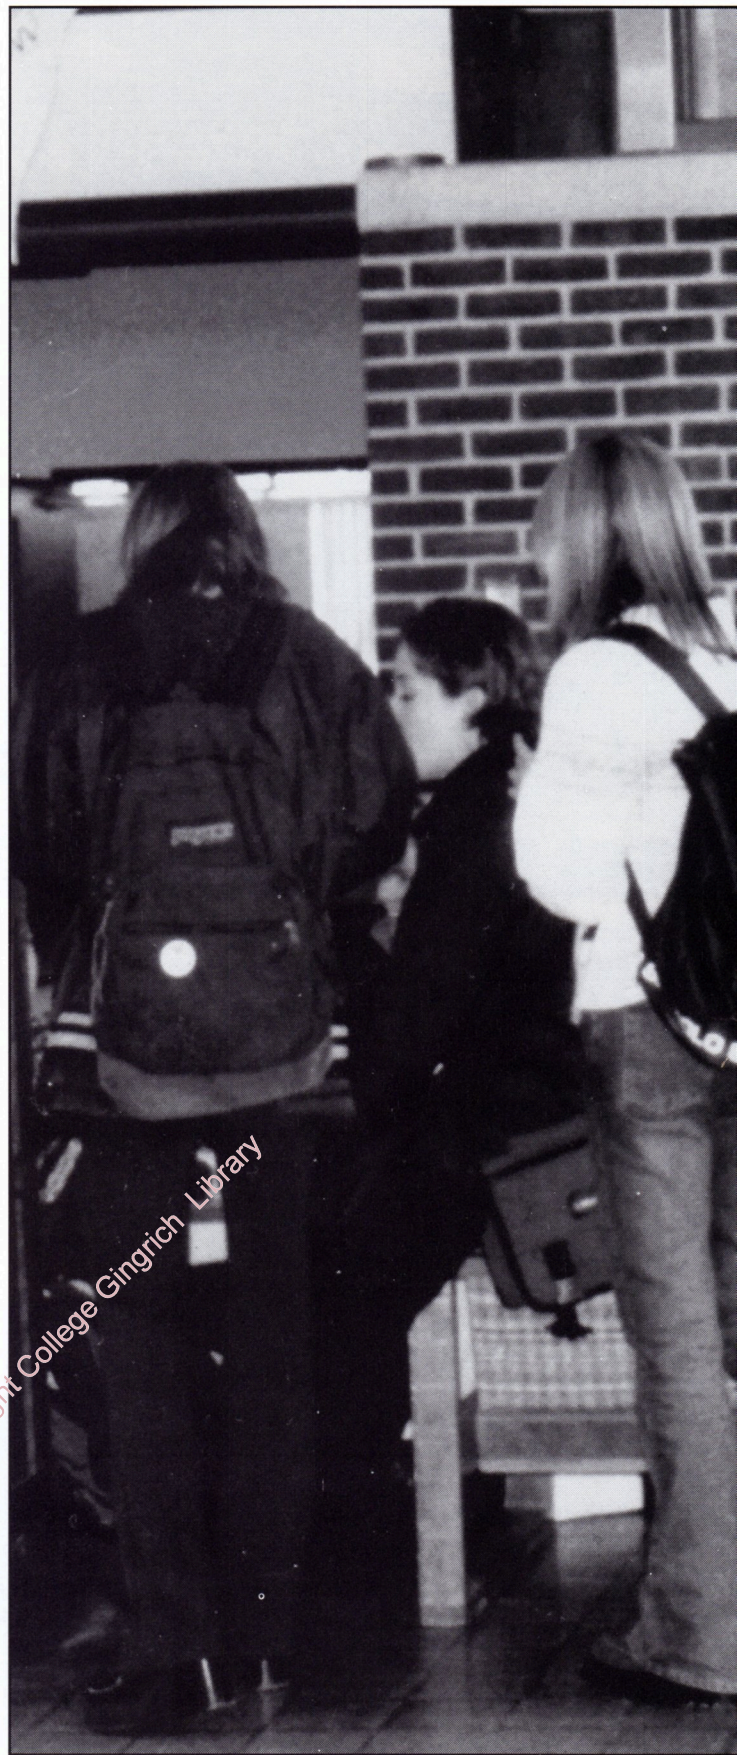

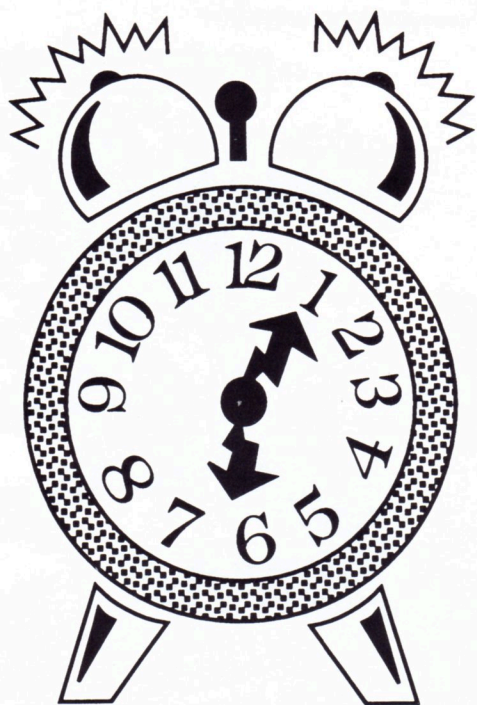

Space shuttle Atlantis finally picked her up and landed in Florida on September 26, 1996, completing her 188-day voyage, the longest spaceflight ever by a woman and an American.

Doctors, figuring she'd be too weak to stand, met her with a stretcher. But Lucid walked away from the shuttle. Still not used to the pull of Earth's gravity, she wobbled a little as she stepped from the NASA plane.

Pilot Greg Johnson said, "She's a real trooper."

SENIOR WEEK

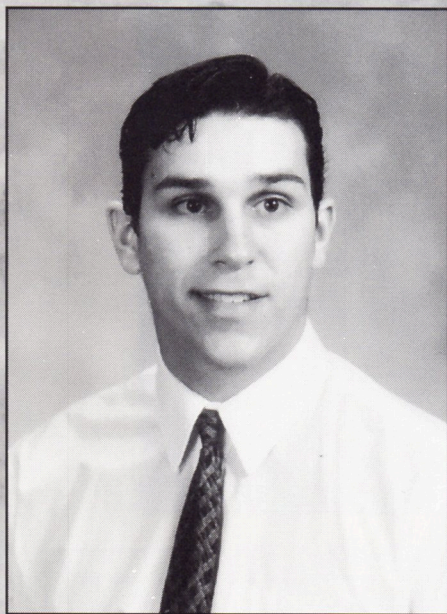

This Is The Time for Seniors to graduate and move on. While at Albright, they've certainly left their mark. The Class of '97 was active on and off the campus, participating in organizations such as SGA, the Campus Center Board, The Albrightian, choir, Greeks, and a wide variety of sports. Seniors also enjoyed thier final year of such activities as Spring Fever, Airbands, Homecoming, and the RSA Formal. We lived, loved, laughed, and learned... all important aspects of the college life. Now is the time to leave college behind yet to retain the memories and lessons learned. This is the time for moving forward and accomplishing new goals.

A Tribute to the Class of 1997

Oh, Mother of Heaven, cause me to choose
Among them all the sympathetic muse,
Whose breath poetic tributes might inspire
By touching on Imagination's lyre,
And plucking from its strings abundant praise,
A song for '97's days.
Perhaps Calliope would be the best
That class' adventurous story to invest
With grandeur and their splendid deeds rehearse
Within the stately iambs of blank verse,
(Among which Truickermiller, if you please,
And Gunzelmann, would fit with perfect ease);
While Elio indicates what, where, and when,
Erato's lyric finger guides my pen;
Thus, though my thoughts to epic upward climb,
My poor terrestrial poem falls to rhyme.
So, in this hybrid temper accompany me
On a brief futuristic fantasy,
Your class' prospect twenty-five years hence,
By which time you'll have lost your innocence,
Anticipated by those pranksters Boles
And Jones, whose firm post-graduation goals
Were pulling classmates' legs behind the scenes,
As practical joking's clandestine deans.
To them attribute all mayhem and madness,
Some screams, some laughter, and a little sadness;
They prowl around, intrepid mischief-makers,
Wreaking havoc — givers, never takers.
Imagine the morning when Paul Sinclair
Combed and brushed epoxy through his hair!
How the villains for his usual gel
Could substitute the glue, no one can tell,
And now his glossy mane will never change.
(That Paul never discovered it seems strange.)

They inked the insoles of Jen Myers' shoes;
She shot some hoop, went home, and there found clues
That they had cracked her locker in the night:
Her footprints black upon the carpet white.
One January Jaime Britigan
Missed work for weeks and lost her job — again,
The boys were up to their old wicked ways:
The TV said her boss had called snow days.
And they drove Nicole Anderson deranged:
When she went out, her house was rearranged.
Thank God, Her La-Z-Boy was waterproof,
She found it oft reclining on the roof.
For years, Michelle Carrara woke in shock
When her alarm rang off at 8 o'clock.
Though no one saw them, they were everywhere,
No mission impossible for that pair.
On the record, those tricks remain omissions,
But other exploits lead the first editions.
When Chief of Staff Ryan Graham, for instance, lost
The president's bull terrier, the cost
Incurred by our pet-loving nation
Exceeded any human calculation.
Where the culprits hid the dog's a mystery,
But Graham's career was instant history.
And don't forget the agonizing blow
Delivered to Marina D'Angelo,
Who accepted large campaign contributions
From two convincing counterfeit Confucians,
Only to have her donors disappear.
Well, she was out of jail within a year.
The scientific world cried out in fright,
When Bell's white lab mice turned black overnight.

Those hoodlums proved themselves extremely thorough:

They pennied Llanos in the Labor bureau,
Sealed up her DC office like a vault,

Brought quest for world dominion to a halt.

It was Big Phat Fun — "Best trick yet," thought Tom;

Said his partner, with Bolesian aplomb,
Of their collaboration, "It's the bomb."

A criminal and omnipresent hand,

They perpetrated scams across the land.

In Philly, Brian Schoenly beat the breeze,

Fleeing from a cloud of killer bees.

Jen Prescott, driving Lollapalooza way,

Followed their detour signs to Baffin Bay.

Melissa, Gary, in the morning paper,

Sharon, Vikki, beheld the super-caper:

False photos showed that William Tennent High

Was beamed to alien ships up in the sky.

Both Boles and Shinebox turned out much acuter

Than you'd have thought — two hackers, one computer:

To buy a cottage, Gallagher and Koch

Applied for a mortgages, but had no luck.

Bank after bank refused, "Because," they said,

"We never lend to people who are dead."

Oh, how could that incorrigible double

Find time to cause so many so much trouble?

Fuji never understood the danger

Of saying, "I want to be an airforce ranger."

Before he knew it, he was in the service —

Enough to make us all a little nervous.

Freese held the flag and heard Scott Agi mutter,

As the exploding golf ball met the putter;

His words were lost as in a thunderclap,

And both made deep impressions in the trap.

Grafitti everywhere, signed "Ted the Kicker,"

Turned Crystal's stomach just a little sicker,

Since none of it was Ted's, and folks were sore

About "Metallica" on Mt. Rushmore.

Alyssa's spread in Playboy magazine

Was artistic, true, but it caused a scene.

Not everything they did, of course, was bad.

Not every gambit made its victim mad.

Indeed, they sent a counterman at Sheetz

A classy Ph.D. in processed meats.

This new sheepskin kept Darren pleased as punch

While turning out the shmuffins every lunch.

Rachel DeSalvo liked the way those loons

Spliced her latest film with Looney Tunes,

And Marcy Shoemaker banks lots of cash

By laundering their Jokes-for-Hire stash.

And though they'd wanted to make her upset,

O'Malley kept the lion as a pet.

Most victims bottled up their keen frustration,

And suffered this or that humiliation,

As in the postcard on which it appears

That Sharon Christenson has breasts for ears,

Or Lapp arises with a new shaved head,

Or Lentzie finds a Piglet cup instead

Of her Pooh tumbler, or when Karen Wert

On stage was quite unable to avert

A curtain fall, and really broke a leg

Or when poor Jim Gencauski kneeled to beg

They send him no more muffins by mail-order.

With Ricci, too, they finally crossed the border:

"Return to sender any Hershey Bars,"

He cried, unlikely to erase the scars.

While Marie Hanks soundly sleeps, it's their mission

To replace her Cherokee's transmission;

Some days it's standard, others automatic,

The choice seems really idiosyncratic.

Smolcheer once argued brilliantly in court,

Plus the opposing counsel came up short,

And yet she met her legal Waterloo,

The judge was just a chimp from Wilbur's zoo.

Shinebox and Boles were pleased to vogue and preen.

After they turned Pesansky's wardrobe green,

Not just his sweats, but every sock and brief.

The Class of '97 sought relief!

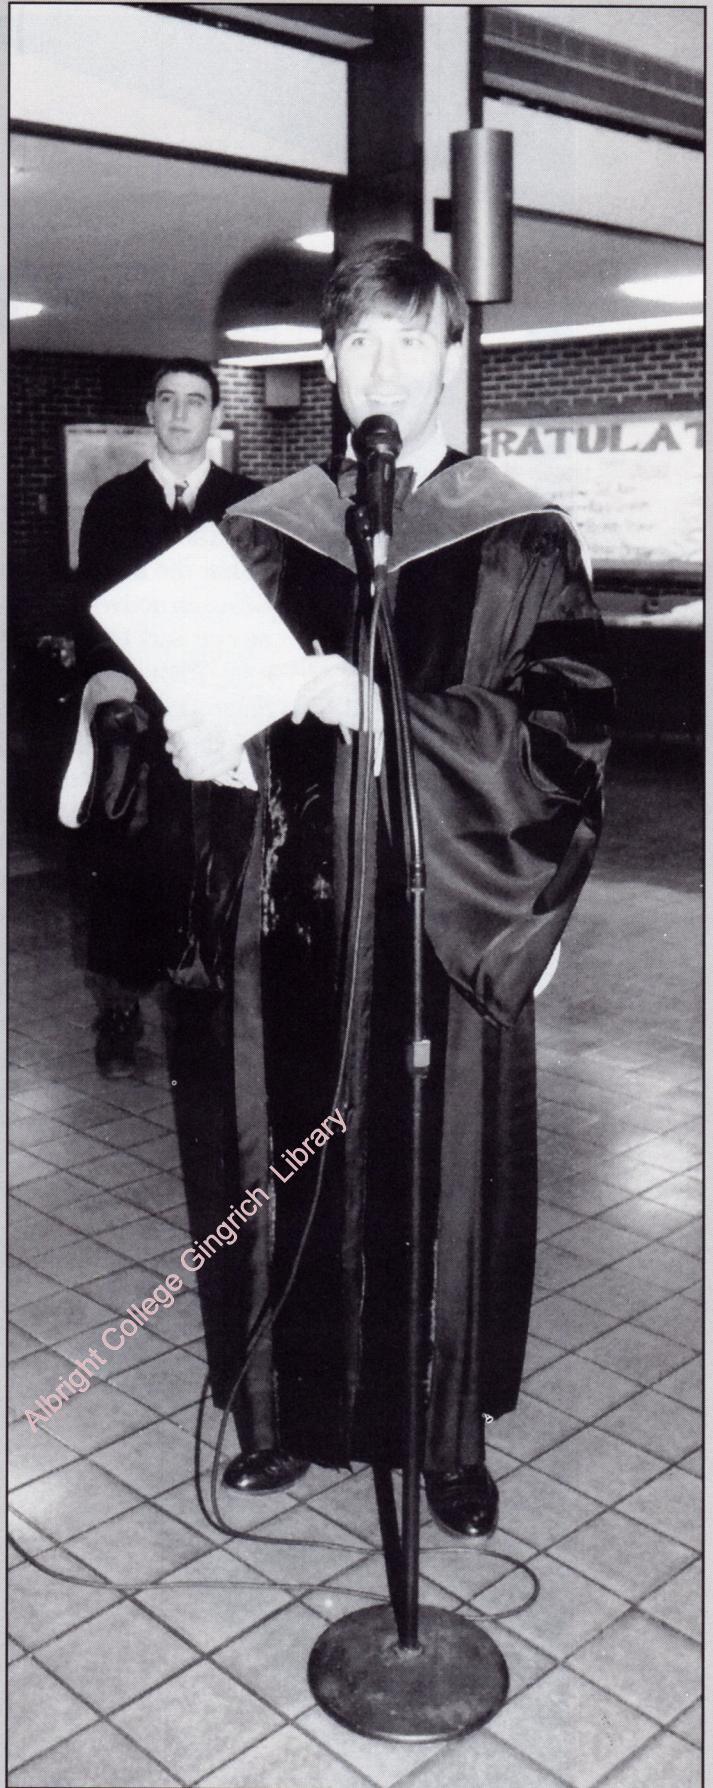

They organized; they formed a big committee
 Of former victims, agonized and gritty:
 Krupetsky, Maniscalco, Ungarelli,
 Jen Rotger, Laura Vinski, Sunni Shelly,
 The gentle giant Outwin, Pat Lemay
 Set out for remedy one cloudy day.
 They went to Kara Morral, always mild
 To strangers, but to classmates Satan's Child.
 They asked her for a talisman, a spell,
 A charm to send those hooligans to Hell.
 She went into her closet with a smile;
 She stayed in there and rummages for a while,
 Returning with a sticky rubber hand
 Bouncing on a long elastic band,
 Connected to a stick, a souvenir,
 From Dave and Buster's her senior year.
 "I once wooed a boy with my hand," she said;
 She beckoned them to follow and she led
 Them all to where Joe Boles and Shinebox stayed.
 Their eyes beamed boyish, and they gladly played
 With Kara's toy- - they were so satisfied,
 It kept them permanently occupied.
 That ended their notorious career,
 Their class emancipated from cruel fear.

May all endeavor meet such good result,
 And cause each friend of your class to exult
 In all your fame, prosperity, and joy,
 Your very golden lives, without alloy.
 May Heaven rain upon you, leave you sodden
 With good fortune Ji Son and Jen Rodden,
 Melissa Meade and Thomas McNamara,
 And Susan Williams, Chrissy Rizzo, Sara,
 Ravindra Parmar, and Georgine Purcell,
 Liz Williams, Fatou, Adam, and Jenelle.
 Accept our heartfelt prayers for good luck,
 Tesic, Shoffler, Simolike, and Chuk.
 May Riordan, Reeser, Mazer, and McCracken
 Never let their excellence slacken;
 May Antler, Groner, Yerger, and Beshore
 Achieve their lofty goals and even more.
 And let's extend our graduation wish

To Warren Metzger and Kristina Grish,
 Mindy Vaughn, Paul Wolf, and Jen Ykoruk,
 George and Barry, Caleb and Gwen Torok.
 And let us praise our friends a little while,
 And clap for Kazuyuki, Lori Stile,
 And singers Brian Rothman, Ryan Chase,
 And all those other heroes of the place:
 For teachers, like Liz Dugan, Trish DiBlasi,
 Athletes like Mike Adams, Huyen Mai,
 Dwight Davis, Wendy Babbitt, Desiree,
 For shakers like Jon Juan, Danielle, and Izzy- -
 The Class of '97 makes me dizzy
 With accomplishments, quite sufficient cause
 For generous and boisterous applause.
 So Rachel Summerson and Matty Shore,
 Lead us in a graduation roar,
 And join then Sherri Wakeling, William Russo;
 McConnell, Ozol, Weidner also do so.
 Prato, Wilhelm, Marchut, come and party
 With the likes of Bereschal, McCarty
 Natale, Delassus, Renninger, Steph Clark,
 With whom we all on celebration's arc
 Ascend. Go, raise a noise, halloo and shout,
 The world should never entertain a doubt
 That Rambo, Marchesano, Hedrick, Goss,
 Coons, Evans, Frantz, and Kallis are the boss;
 Kurata, Pappas, Susao, and Krell,
 Sashima, Marsh, and Marsburger should yell
 And stomp and cheer and show their pride
 In heritage that stands against the tide,
 The friendship that survives through thick and thin,
 And in esteemed alums like Schick and Shin,
 McNabb, Olexa, Morris, Scharadin,
 Okura, Leiblich, Dietrich, and Long,
 Examples fit for legend or for song.
 No college boasts alumni any abler
 Than Lutz, Maucere, McBee, McGowan, Ka-
 bler,
 Nor any whose intentions are more pure
 Than Antonetz, DiLissio, McClure,
 Or Jamie, Bucklen, Armstrong, Moser, Burns
 Shapiro, Ritchie, Robbins, Servis, Kearns,

Nor any who possess more humane power
 Than Lucius, Groth, Foster, Huber, Lauer
 My tribute's incomplete, and running late;
 Life's short, and this brunch can't accommodate
 The entire story in some bulky tome- -
 The Fates must cut the thread on this poor poem.
 So farewell, as the hour slips away
 To Shafer, Diamond, Elbert, and McKay,
 Bhambani, Conrad, Evans, Cooper, Strider,
 Scarola, Snyder-Russo, Berk, and Schneider;
 To Lisa, Manish, Carol, bid adieu,
 And Barbara, Carolyn, and Eric, too.
 Ernst, Smith, and Johnson, Anderson, and Eaves,
 Chizan and Shearer, Slifka, Biehl- -each leaves
 But to return, a type of coming home.
 It really makes no difference where you roam:
 We are your education's native soul,
 And every other place you rest or toil
 We'll visit with you. Donald, Jason, Kim,
 Nicole, Jen, Kristy, Tracy, Debbie, Jim,
 Jen, Bobby, Tanya, Deborah, and Chris,
 And Michael, all of you, remember this:
 Collegial good wishes follow you,
 And Jackie, Douglas, Paul Bartholomew;
 Each graduate I've catalogued above
 Journeys the globe protected by our love.
 In the epic world, distressed by selfish gods,
 It's Justice, Truth- - and Love- -that beat the odds.

GRADUATION

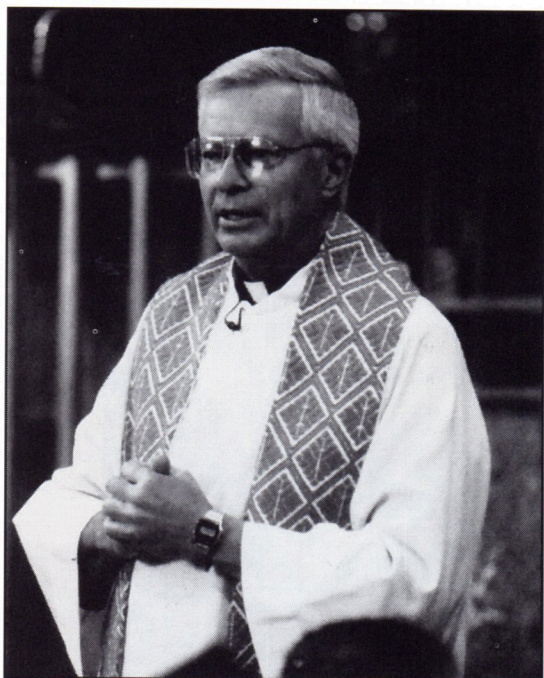

This is the time for Seniors to graduate and go out into the “real world.” After working hard for four years, the time has come to graduate and move on. Being an active part of Albright since 1993, many of us are sad to leave. We leave behind underclassmen friends, trusted faculty, our impact on organizations, broken sports records, and the traditions that make Albright what it is. It all went so fast, and it seems like orientation was just yesterday. We are told these days are the best days of our lives. Luckily, we have our memories that will last a lifetime and never let us forget our experiences at Albright. Many never-ending friendships were formed, relationships were found and lost, goals were set and realized — all of us living and learning together at Albright — now our Alma Mater. We celebrate the conclusion of the past four years and the beginning of the rest of our lives on our special day, May 18, 1997. This is the time to move into the future, with Albright as our base to build upon in life.

GRADUATION CLASS OF 1997

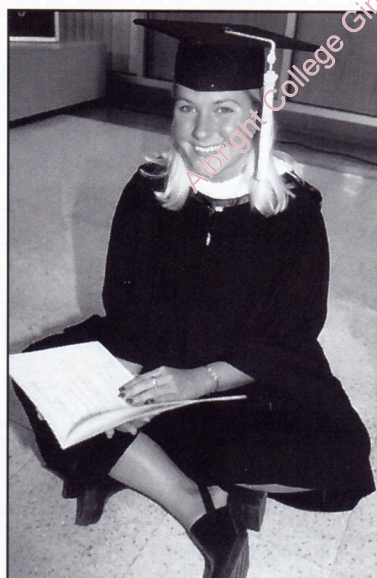

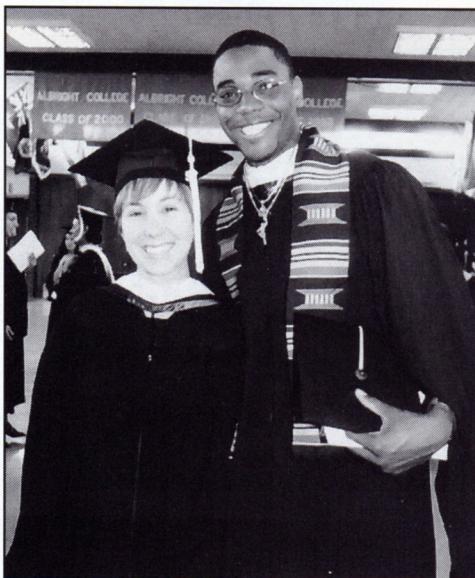

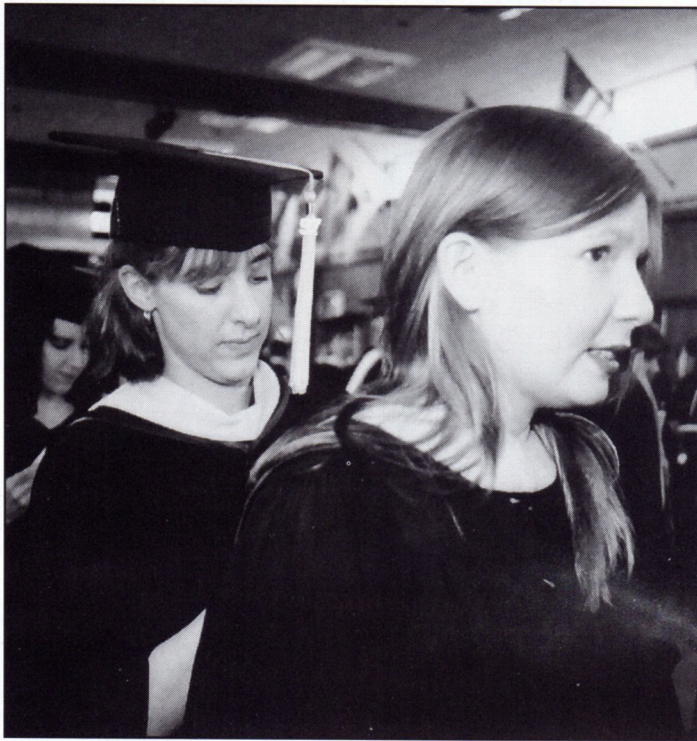

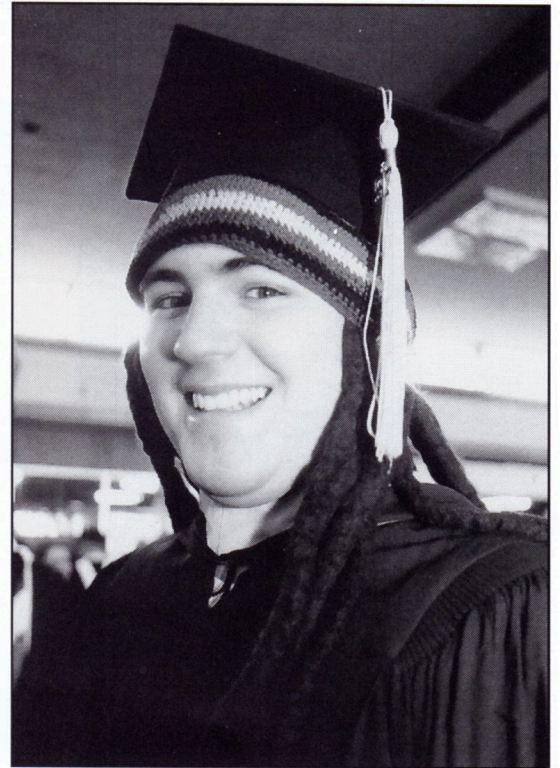

The Hooding Ceremony

A special part of Baccalaureate takes place in the chapel when our distinguished professors place our hoods on us.

This is the time to prepare and wait for the ceremony to begin.

The momentous sound of the bagpipes led us onto science field for our ceremony. As faculty, parents, and friends applauded we filed out for the moment we've all been waiting for.

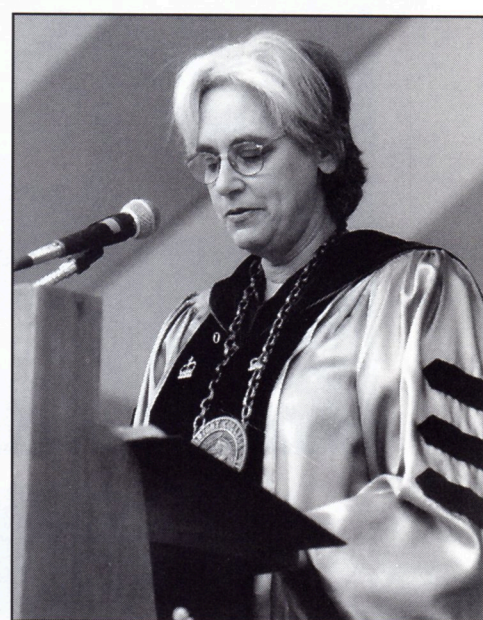

Many speeches are made, meant to enlighten us and give advice to take with us as we depart from Albright and lead individual, goal-oriented lives.

President Ellen Hurwitz

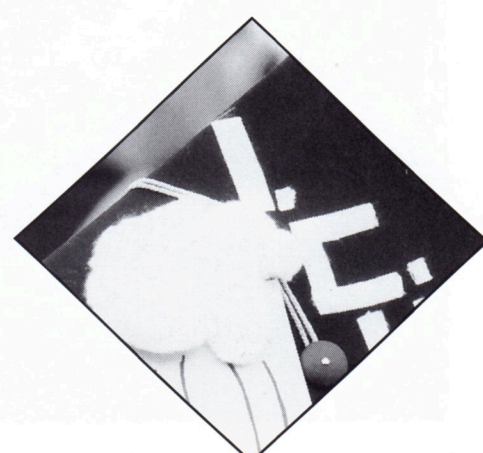

Sharon Christensen, accepting the degrees as the President of the Class of 1997.

THIS IS THE TIME

Colophon

The Cue is an annual production of the yearbook staff of Albright College, in Reading, Pennsylvania. The Cue was printed by Taylor Publishing Company, Dallas, Texas, represented by Ed Patrick Jr. The photographs were produced by DaVor Photo, Inc., represented by Mark Huff. The total number of books printed were 275. This volume contains 176 pages, including 8 color pages. The estimated cost of this book is $22,000.

"This is the time" to finally receive a yearbook. The Cue apologizes for the lateness of this book however, there were several complications. The Cue is also sorry that this edition may not be perfect. As a sophomore taking over the production of the yearbook, with a limited background, this has certainly been a learning experience. It was difficult producing a yearbook that is two years old and I congratulate my staff for a job well done. This book was completed in under two months with a minimum staff, who overcame many hurdles along the way. My sincerest thanks and congrats to them! I am so proud of all that was accomplished in such a short time span. I am still looking forward to producing future editions of The Cue.

Special Thanks

The Cue staff would like to thank the following people who gave us the support and information that we needed to complete this book. Mark Lukens for his Sports Information, all coaches that we came to begging for help, Marilyn Messner for taking care of all our mailing needs, Clarke Hammond, our advisor, without whom we wouldn't have been as organized, the SGA for all their money, and all students that we ran to for information and pictures that were lacking. Thank you to Natalie Famous, you were an enormous help. A very special thanks to Ed Patrick Jr. and Mark Huff and others from Davor and Taylor who showed us the ropes of producing a college yearbook. You have all been invaluable to The Cue and deserve our greatest thanks!
