Committee Chairmen Appointed For Domino Spring Production

Committee chairmen have been appointed to assist in the production of the Domino Club spring play, "Antigone."

Vaughn Mervine, '59, is coordinator of committees. Stage crew members are Richard Matthews, '60, chairman; Robert Peckham, '59; Robert Poff, '60; Daniel Damon, '60; and Fred Agier, '60.

In charge of costumes are Elizabeth Reynolds, '57, chairman; Marianne Tipper, '57; and Francis Stauffer, '57.

The properties committee is headed by Peckham and Mervine.

Publicity Committee

Sandra Miller, '60, is chairman of the publicity committee. Other members include Barbara Cox, '59, Margaret Schultz, '60, and George Withers, '60.

The make-up committee is headed by Miss Reynolds. She is being assisted by Patricia Nein, '58, Annette Kiesling, '58, Margaret Brookes, '60, Janice Hochhaus, '60, Susanne Gatter, '60, and Miss Schultz.

Eleanor Schmickly, '60 and Miss Miller are co-chairmen of the ticket committee. In charge of ushers are Miss Stauffer, Miss Tipper, and Henrietta Miller, '60.

Mary Ellen Wray, '58, is in charge of lighting and Alexander Wipf, '60, is student director.

"Antigone," written by Jean Anouilh, and adapted by Lewis Galantiere, stars Kathleen Forry, '57, Gerald Robbins, '59, and Eustace Renner, '59. Also included in the cast are the following: Nancy Heilman, '60, Steven Smith, '60, Sarah Dettra, '59, Michael Teitelman, '60, Lawrence Bergstresser, '60, Suzanne Kaltenstein, '60, Mervine, Wipf, and Withers.

The play will be presented March 21, 22, and 23 in White Chapel Hall.

College Head Directs Relations Institute

An institute on "Human Relations and International Implications" was held on campus last Monday and Tuesday. Sponsored by the Y cabinet, the two-day program was directed by Dr. Midway Ritchie, president of Hartwick College in New York.

The institute, organized to observe the 24th annual Brotherhood Week, opened with a luncheon for Y cabinet members and faculty members on Monday. At dinner Monday evening, Dr. Ritchie was introduced to the college student body.

Dr. Ritchie was present for informal discussion at a coffee break held in Selwyn Hall Parlor on Tuesday afternoon at 3:30. Following an open meeting held Tuesday night in White Chapel Hall discussion groups were conducted in the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity house, the Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity house, and the Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity house.

Sheila Greene, '58, was chairman of the institute.

Zeta's, Mu's Sponsor OpenHouse Tomorrow

The Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity and the Phi Beta Mu sorority will play host to the faculty and student body of Albright College in an Open House tomorrow evening. Scheduled to last from 8 to 11 p.m. at the Zeta house, the party is expected to provide the guests with an evening of enjoyment.

Amelia Potteiger, '59, and Celia Petrucelli, '59, co-chairmen of the Mu's and Joseph Kremer, '59, and Charles Rusen, '58, co-chairmen of the Zeta's announced that a variety program has been planned for the evening's entertainment.

College Glee Club Plans Spring Tour

The annual Glee Club concert tour will be made by 40 members of the Glee Club from Sunday, March 31, to Tuesday, April 2. The tour is a public relations service of the college to various high schools of alumni.

The itinerary for the tour is Sunday morning—Harris Street E.U.B. Church, Harrisburg; Sunday evening—Grace E.U.B. Church, Lewistown; Monday evening—Beulah E.U.B. Church, Johnstown; Tuesday morning—Conemaugh Township High School; Tuesday afternoon—Somerset High School, Somerset; and Tuesday evening—First E.U.B. Church, Carlisle. Arrangements are being made for a concert on Monday morning, April 1.

Featured Soloists

Sonia Flicker, '57, soprano, and Kathleen Forry, '57, alto, will be the featured soloists for the concerts. Willard Stitzell, '60, accordion soloist, and Alexander Wipf, '60, balladier, will also be featured at the high school concerts.

The Glee Club presented a program in Chapel yesterday. It will give a religious concert at Nativity Lutheran Church on Sunday, April 7.

The Octet presented its first high school concert of the year last Friday at Exeter Township High School. Members of the Octet include: Sonia Flicker, '57, Kathleen Forry, '57, Josephine Seyfert, '58, William Garrett, '59, Daniel Matthews, '59, Daniel Skeeth, '59, Barbara Boyer, '60, and Richard Reider, '60.

On Friday afternoon, the Octet participated in an organ recital at Northeast Junior High School. Dr. Samuel Shirk, director of public relations and assistant to the president, was the guest of honor at this program.

The Octet will sing at Honeybrook High School on March 18, at Perry Township High School on March 21, and at Fleetwood High School on March 27.

Honorary Fraternity Announces Bid Plans

The Rho Beta Chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, professional English fraternity, will send out bids to membership in the near future. David Pettit, '58, president of the honorary society will officiate at the next meeting at which the new pledges will be selected. Other officers include Josephine Seyfert, '58, recording secretary-treasurer; Shirley Fox, '57, corresponding secretary; Betty Williams, '58, historian; and John Ramsey, '58, publicity chairman.

The English group is trying to establish a strong chapter at Albright by enlarging its membership. An English major or minor with a B- average is eligible for membership. The new pledges will be formally inducted into the organization on Thursday, March 19. Dr. James D. Reppert, instructor in English, is faculty advisor for the group.

Albright WUS Observance Set On Campus During Coming Week

Needy Countries Will Benefit From Money

Attention will be focused on the meaning of the letters WUS next week, when World University Service week will be observed on campus.

Funds solicited during this period will be used to aid those countries where the greatest need exists. WUS works in North America, Western Europe, South Asia, Africa, South America, the Middle East and the Far East.

Dual Aid

This service aids both students and professors. All countries participating in the program contribute according to their resources. The United States is one of the active groups in this program.

Special events of WUS week will begin with the Tuesday chapel program. Paul S. Denise, regional executive of WUS in the Middle Atlantic and New York regions, will speak on his organization and its work throughout the world. Denise will speak at the Y meeting Tuesday evening in the Pine Room. He will also help Albright students explore other means of helping foreign students in addition to direct funding.

General Chairman

Barbara Cox, '59, general chairman for the week, has announced that the solicitation of funds will begin Wednesday and continue until Friday. The goal for Albright campus is $350.

The chapel program Thursday will feature a student speaker. WUS week will be climaxed with Sports Night on Friday.

Serving as co-chairmen of the solicitation committee are Frank Fisher, '58, and Carol Stillwaggon, '59. Mary Ellen Appleman, '58, is publicity chairman. Lucy Pryor, '57, is the adviser to the general chairman.

Tuesday, March 12, is the deadline for all WUS week reports.

School Day Listed On Campus April 6

The Berks County high school day will be held at the college Saturday, April 6. Juniors and seniors who are preparing for college will be invited. Faculty members are also invited.

Tentative Program

The program as tentatively outlined, beginning with registration in Krause Hall at 9:30 a.m., includes campus tours, department exhibits, an assembly program and a tennis demonstration by Dr. William Renken, assistant professor of physical education and coach of basketball. Opportunity will be provided for consultation with admissions officers of department heads.

Co-operating in the program are Arthur Saylor, '57, president of the Daymen's Organization; Jane Shay, '57, president of the Daywomen's Organization; and Melvin Horst, '57, president of the senior class. Horst will be the master of ceremonies at the assembly.

Annual Social Planned For Today

The fourth annual International Exhibit and Faculty-Student Social Hour will be held today in the Blue Room of Selwyn Hall from 3 to 5 p.m.

Mary Bray, '59, and Elizabeth Smith, '59, chairmen of the event, have selected the following committees:

Grace Engleman, '60, is head of the publicity committee. She is being assisted by the following freshmen: Barbara Boyer, Rachel Hinman, Janice Hochhaus, Nancy Siglin, Sandra Strickler, and Claire Vogel.

Refreshment Committee

The refreshment committee is headed by Dorothy Bookhamer, '60. The following freshmen are also on the committee: Margaret Brookes, Marilyn Catlow, Anna Clemmer, Nancy Foote, Barbara Harrison, Marion Hutchins, Suzanne Kaltenstein, Mary Anne Kirk, Marjorie Koons, Julia Neuhaus, Doris Selby, Barbara Teets, Carolyn Thonbode, Marianna Wonder, and Jane Yeager.

Nancy Ratajczak, '60, is chairman of the hospitality and decoration committee. She is being assisted by the following freshmen and transfer students: Judith Barclay, Sarah Anne Bell, Lynette Christ, Patricia Cush, Lois Gottschalk, Nancy Heilman, Kathryn Lesoine, Eleanor Schmickley, Margaret Schulz, Dorothy Siegel, Mary Speicher, and Maxine Thus.

The program committee is headed by Sandra Bressler, '60. Serving on the committee are the following freshmen: Elaine Ache, Joan Bloise, Barbara Boyer, Marilyn Catlow, Margaret Coleman, Edith DeAngelis, Joy Detweiler, Suzanne Gatter, Sandra Gerhart, Ruth Hansen, Mary Ellen Hunsberger, Rita Kinsey, Henrietta Miller, Carol Moyer, Laura Palm, Anne Purvis, and Carol Weber.

Tonight!

"Casbah," featuring Tony Martin, Yvonne DeCarlo, and Peter Lorre, will be shown in Krause Hall at 8 p.m. Everyone is invited. Admission is free.

Changes Listed For Catalog

Dr. Samuel Shirk director of public relations and assistant to the president, reports that the new catalog lists many changes.

The most outstanding of these is the changing of all course numbers. Courses will be numbered 100 through 499. Courses numbered 100 through 199 are designed primarily for freshmen; 200 through 299, for sophomores; 300 through 399, for juniors or seniors; and 400 through 499, exclusively for seniors.

Odd-numbered courses are offered during the first semester, even-numbered during the second. Certain odd-numbered courses which are repeated second semester are indicated.

In the section on admission requirements and procedures, a step by step outline is given to the prospective student on how to apply.

The Music and Spanish departments have been completely rewritten. There is considerable revision in the fine arts department. New courses have been added by the following departments: biology, business administration, history, and sociology.

Four new campus views have been included in the book: Teel Hall, Selwyn Hall, the physical education building, and the administration building.

A write-up on the Men's Dormitory Council and the Daymen's Club has also been added to the book.

The catalog will be available in the middle of March.

May Queen Election Scheduled Next Week

Student Council's Election Committee announced on Tuesday that nominations and election for the 1957 May Queen will be held this coming week. Nominations will take place at the Student Council meeting on Tuesday at 4:15 in Room 10 of the administration building and the elections on Thursday and Friday on the first floor of the same building.

Under the rules set up by the Election Committee, nominations will be called for at the council meeting, any Albright student being eligible to come to the meeting and place another student's name for nomination. Only senior girls are eligible for nomination.

What Is WUS?

Every year Albright, like many other colleges and universities, observes World University Service Week. Many people on our campus and on other campuses want to know what WUS is and what it does.

The initial program of World University Service, launched after the First World War, provided relief for universities in central and southern Europe. Since that time, the organization has grown into a world-wide operation of students and professors battling against ignorance and need on an international scale.

In Europe, where World War II disrupted lives and weakened the physical and moral fibre of almost every student, WUS offers aid to refugees; provides scholarships, medicines and food; and contributes to the operation of an international center offering rest cures.

It is in Asia today that the need is greatest and help is most strategic. Newly-established nations are desperately in need of skilled technicians. These countries cannot afford the loss of students forced to abandon their studies by ill health, bad housing, or insufficient funds. Throughout Asia, WUS has constructed Student Health Centers and TB Sanatoria, stocked libraries and laboratories, established dormitories, and provided scholarships and loan funds.

In the Middle East, universities fail adequately to meet the demand for trained and enlightened leadership because of insufficient resources. Here WUS has helped by undertaking the construction of dormitories, and by sending books and educational equipment.

African universities educate pitifully small numbers of students, largely in isolation from the rest of the world. World University Service provides scholarships for African students as one means of securing effective, skilled, and friendly future leadership.

This year Albright has set its goal as $350 for World University Service. If all of Albright's 700 students offer their support, how can we fail?

Value

Brotherhood Week, 1957 was well-observed at Albright during the past week with the excellent program of the campus institute on human affairs. The program, sponsored by the Y Cabinet, revolved around the basic theme of "Human Relations and International Implications" and brought to our campus a man well chosen to lead such an institute. Dr. Miller Ritchie served to help all those with whom he had contact receive a greater realization of the effect of human inter-relationships on our everyday lives. In so doing, he, along with the other community people who participated in the institute, brought forth again the value to the students of having off-campus individuals participate whenever possible in Albright activities.

The convocations, cultural programs, and other similar events are of inestimable benefit to the student as he seeks, and the college seeks to aid him, to obtain a broad liberal arts education. These affairs serve to complete the picture of the total education of the individual, which only begins in the classroom. Work done in regular classes is vitally important, but we must never forget that the student deprived of the knowledge obtained from extra-curricular activities, social affairs, and special events such as the human affairs institute would be a poor excuse indeed for a college graduate. Keeping this in mind, we should look forward to future events of this kind being held on our campus and support all of them as means to the general advancement of Albright College.

By Phil Goldfeder

I was sitting alone in my office trying to catch up on an old anatomy lecture when there came two soft knocks at the door. I quickly glanced up from my desk, surprised to hear sounds of life at three in the morning.

"Come in," I called as I fastened the cord on my bathrobe.

A devil-like creature with brilliant red horns and a long pointed tail stepped nervously into the room.

"What brings you to the Goldy Detective Agency?" I asked nonchalantly.

"One of our angels is missing. You've got to help us!"

"Slow down now. Suppose you sit down over here next to me and start from the beginning. Tell me the whole story."

"I'm in the Phi Beta Mu sorority and we were participating in stunt night at Albright College."

"Oh yes, I have an anatomy class out there . . . please go on."

"Well, after the show we were so busy cleaning up there wasn't much time to take a count of the angels. When one of them didn't come home that night or the next day, we got worried and—that's why I'm here. You've got to help us!"

"I'll see what I can do. Just leave everything to me. All you can do now is to go home and wait till I call you."

Departure

She went out of my office almost as mysteriously as she came in and I was left with the greatest case of my career, The Case of the Missing Angel.

It didn't take me long to dress and within twenty minutes I was getting out of my car on Olive Street. I had to ring three times before I got any response. A tall, brown-skinned Jamaican opened the door. I could see a pair of congo drums in his right hand and figured this was one of the calypso singers from stunt night.

"Wut ya want?" "Detective Goldy," I said in an authoritative voice, as I pushed my badge in his face. "Want to ask you a few questions."

He led me into a room that was nearly enclosed by hundreds of burlap sacks probably filled with potatoes, oats, or calypso singers. I got right to the point.

Marianne

"Where's the angel?" "You mean Marianne?" "You know who I mean! Let's not play games."

"Yes," he confessed, "I know an angel disappeared. But I want you to realize that she had nothing at all to do with it. Don't we have enough trouble with Marianne?"

I believed him, but only the part about Marianne.

My next stop was behind the green door. There were a few people at the bar and a piano player tapping out a Charleston rhythm.

Twenties

"You the owner?" I asked. "Over there," and he turned his head toward a table in the corner. A cute woman dressed in the early twenty style looked at me.

"If you're looking for an angel you won't find her here."

"News certainly travels fast. Maybe you know where she is?"

"She was here last night, had a few, and then left in a hurry, saying she had to meet someone."

I thanked her for the information and made by way to the Kappa house.

"Is Julius Caesar in," I said to one of the scantily clad Romans.

"Sorry, he's all tied up at the moment. Is there something I can do for you at five in the morning?"

Albright Personality

Sheldon Kaplan

By Ann Miller

Speeding along the highway on weekends is a flashing streak of aqua, headed for Woodmore, New York. Piloting this bright convertible is Sheldon Kaplan, who receives top rating as one of the best dressed men on campus.

Business Ad

With a major in business administration and a minor in economics, Shelly can look forward to a position in the business world. Already he has received experience along this line in his summer work. For the past two summers he has been an interested participant in an experiment in international living. His first summer was spent in the home of a family in Germany. This last summer he stayed in Switzerland for 12 exciting weeks.

On campus Shelly has been a hard-working man on the business staff of The Albrightian for three years. This year he has the job of business manager for The Cue. Shelly is also an active member of the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity. He just ended a term as treasurer for the group. Another of his activities is his membership in the national honorary journalism fraternity, Pi Delta Epsilon.

The immediate plans for the future consist of a stint in the army and then a position in the business world.

Campus Capers

By Puella Larsons
Alias Sandra Strickler

TO BE BRIEF: Charlie S. got pinned last weekend—on the mat! Nine out of ten guys are good looking, the other one goes to Albright.

WHAT INSIDERS THINK: That Lenny's dogs have been losing a little weight—I wonder why! They probably get better food than we do!

EAR TO THE GROUND: One of our favorite professors must have had an early appointment on Thursday. He dismissed his 8:10 class at 8:30 on the pretense of being angry at them.

Popular Classes

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD: Classes have become more popular since the delivery of the cut-pro slips to those who slept in most of the first semester.

CHEERS: To those who are working so hard on the next Domino production of "Antigone."

JEERS: To the students who were on campus over the weekend and didn't go to see "The Babe Ruth Story."

CHEERS: To the Mu's and Zeta's for providing an evening of entertainment. Show your appreciation by attending their open house tomorrow night.

JEERS: To those who use the floor of the Pine Room as an ash tray.

CHEERS: To our girls' basketball team for winning top honors in Play Day last Saturday.

JEERS: To the girls who are furnishing their hope chests with dishes and silver from the Albright dining room.

Pins

HINT: The first two freshmen girls left the ranks of Selwyn Hall's perpetual hen party when they got pinned a few weeks ago. Who's next?

OH MY ACHING BACK: Along with the flurry of activity that Sports Night brings, comes the tired, sore muscles and creaking joints of the participants who have been making use of their athletic prowess for the first time since Sports Night last year.

That's all for now. See you around the campus.

There was only one possible answer left. I tried the men on the Australian tag-team match.

"Hey, you with the yo-yo, and you with the insect sprayer?"

"Yep?"

"You boys have a bird around here by the name of Charming Charlie?"

"Yep!"

"Well, get him here . . . Charlie—I arrest you in the name of the Goldy Detective Agency for the stealing of an angel."

"I'll go along quietly," he whispered as he pulled a hair pin from his golden locks and threw it to one of my readers.

Meaningful You

By Hans Gilde

When the darkness of the night envelopes us and our sublime minds become humble, we experience a great feeling of dependence . . . a dependence which cannot alone come from within. Rather, it must be stimulated and cultivated so that it may grow to maturity and become meaningful to us.

As we go to school and compete with one another and associate with certain groups, we many times lose our courage and identities. In other words, we are no longer the individuals we ought to be.

At the same time, however, we continue to strive with the most craving desire to fulfill our selfish dreams and wishes. We all too often completely ignore our fellow students just to satisfy our egotistical selves.

A more meaningful YOU can be achieved only if it is the outgrowth of mutual sharing and the product of faith in God, Life, and Beauty. Only then, when we realize the needs of others, respect individuality, and experience a dependence—only then will we begin to fulfill the obligation of our lives which then will be more meaningful to all of us.

"Only that I saw her in front of the green door with a Russian delegate."

I rushed over to the Pi Tau's hoping to catch them in a United Nations session only to find the session less talk and more drink. The Russian delegate was so drunk that he called me comrade and offered me a position as a guard in a Siberian pleasure resort. The United States delegate, however, knew nothing about an angel, but told me that the Russian had been seen with Carmen the night before.

"Your name Carmen?" I asked being sure of the answer all along.

"Sure is, big boy."

"Want to ask you a few questions about an angel."

"Good luck," she replied with a suspicious giggle.

"When's the last time you saw her?"

"When my boyfriend made a play for her and then shot me because I was jealous."

"But how could you still live after he shot you?"

"You call this living?"

New York

I found the Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity running around in New York and I got one of their head guides to show me about, I must have questioned everyone in the East Side and Chinatown, but all I got from them was a few songs. I heard an Italian singing about his angel and I jumped on him immediately.

"Hey bud, who's this angel of yours?"

"Dat's my Sweete Maria."

Red And White Nears End Of Court Season

IN THE LION'S DEN

By Phil Eyrich, Associate Editor

Two losses on the road within four days last week ruined the Lions cagers bid for the lead in the Northern Division, Middle Atlantic States Conference basketball league. The defeats pushed Albright's overall record to eight wins and 12 losses and put its conference log at 7-5. Elizabethtown appears certain to take the honors in the Northern Division, while Franklin and Marshall is outdistancing the field in the southern section of the league.

Confronted with the choice between Elizabethtown and F&M, the conference selection committee would seemingly make a logical decision if it named the F&M Diplomats as the MASC's representative in the NCAA college-division post-season tournament. The Diplomats have a fine seasonal record and an impressive 70-68 win over Muhlenberg to boast about, and would have to be the pick to defeat Elizabethtown if a playoff game was arranged to determine the conference representative. If such a playoff is arranged it is hoped that it would take place on a neutral court, especially since a court the size of Elizabethtown's (75 feet by 50 feet) could be a severe handicap to a team like F&M, whose home games are played on a floor 19 feet longer. Last year, en route to a 16-13 record, Elizabethtown topped the century mark in scoring in seven games, six of them on its midget-sized court.

Away Games . . .

One glaring point that came to the forefront again last week was the total inability of the Red and White cagers to win away from home. Albright owns a fine 6-2 record in games played on its home court this season, but has been able to triumph only twice in 12 tries on the road. A year ago, the Lions nabbed five of their eight wins in the Albright fieldhouse. Only LaSalle and Scranton have taken the measure of the Red and White quintet at home this year. Lehigh, Dickinson, Moravian, Franklin and Marshall, Wagner, and Lebanon Valley have fallen before Albright. Looking to the other side of the ledger, the Lions have overcome only weak Dickinson and Gettysburg in away games, while Muhlenberg, Lebanon Valley, St. Joseph's, Lehigh, Seton Hall, West Chester, Bucknell, Army, F&M, and Hofstra bounced the Albright cagers on their own floors. It is true that some of these teams are reorganized as being highly-potent quintets, however this does not hold true for at least half of the teams noted above in the loss column for road games. It is also true that an athletic team is generally weaker in away games than when playing at home, but a drop in games-won percentage from .750 to .166 is hardly to be expected.

Coming Up . . .

Coach John Potskian has issued the call for candidates for the 1957 edition of the Albright baseball team to report to him in the fieldhouse on Monday at 4:15. All prospects are urged to report at that time. . . . High school playoff basketball games begin tomorrow evening in the fieldhouse with the Berks County championship game between Boyertown and Governor Mifflin at 8:00. The winner of this game will be pitted against Reading High's rampaging Red Knights, prospective winner in the Central Penn Conference, in the future at the Albright fieldhouse.

Pi Taus, APOs Vie For Court Crown

Tonight at 8:00 the Pi Tau Beta and the Alpha Pi Omega fraternities will meet in a game to decide the intramural basketball championship for 1957. Last year these same two teams met with the Pi Taus winning with a brilliant second-half rally. The Pi Taus won the first half with a 4-1 record, while the APOs took second half honors with a spotless 5-0 log. In games played on Feb. 21 in the A League, the APOs whipped the Independents 55-30 as Dave Townley hit for 17 points. It was the APOs fourth straight win of the second half. The Pi Taus tripped the Dorm 49-42. Bob Moller hit his high for the year as he registered 21 markers.

The Zetas dealt the Kappas a 58-48 setback as Frank Suddock held on to first place in league scoring with 21 tallies. Gerry Delet paced the Kappas with 14 points. In B League action, the Kappas bombed the Westsiders 47-25 behind George Mack's 19-point performance. The Pi Tau "Bs" outlasted the Gladiators 38-33 with Doug Layman leading the scores with 12 markers. The Daymen bested the Atomites 46-34 with Dave Bennett hitting for 12 points. The APO and Dorm registered wins by forfeit over the Zeta "B," and Pikers respectively.

In Monday's games, the APOs copped the second half with a thrilling come from behind 65-54 victory over the Kappas. Townley and Tom Pollock paced the winners with 24 and 20 points respectively. The Pi Taus sewed up second place by virtue of a 63-54 win over the Zetas. Moller, Myron Hallock, and Ron Brown combined for 42 points for the Pi Taus.

Dorm Wins

In other A League action, the Dorm blasted the winless Independents 61-42. In the B League the Pi Taus pulled the upset of the year by dripping the first place Freshmen 41-39. Laymen hit for 20 markers to pace the winners. The Daymen closed the season by defeating the Westsiders 45-36 as Nelson Haller bagged 19 points. The Gladiators beat the Atomites 44-37. The APOs and Dorm again won their games by forfeit over the Pikers and the Kappas.

Second-half final standings in the A League were:
Pi Tau Beta 4-1
Zeta Omega Epsilon 3-2
Dorm 2-3
Kappa Upsilon Phi 1-4
Independents 0-5

Lion Cagers Defeated In Three Straight Games

By Lee Swartz, Albrightian Sports Writer

Albright College dropped three straight basketball games in the last week to lower its record to eight wins and 13 losses. The Lions lost to Franklin and Marshall 96-70, Hofstra 81-71, and Moravian 89-69. All three games were played away from home.

Jayvees Split Two Contests

Sporting a seven and nine record, the jayvees took on F&M and Moravian in return matches last week. They got past F&M for their eighth win, but dropped a close one to Moravian for their tenth loss.

After losing to F&M at home, the Jayvees trounced the Junior Diplomats 80-72 at Lancaster. Bob Shoup led the way with 21 points, while Tom Faust and Richie Greene split 24, and Lew Molnar had 10. F&M scored 40 points in the second half but couldn't overcome Albright's 45-32 halftime lead.

At Moravian

Against Moravian, the Jayvees lost a heartbreaker 64-63. Greene led the assault with 19 points, Charlie Kachel had 11, and Shoup 10, as the Lions scored 34 points in the second half in a vain effort to beat the Greyhounds. Earlier in the season Albright beat the Moravian Jayvees 91-51.

Riddell Heads Court Statistics

Senior Bruce Riddell leads the Albright varsity cagers in scoring after 21 games with a total of 327 points in 20 contests for an average of 16.3 points per game. Jim Foreman leads Fred Dietzel by 23 (255-232) in the race for second-place scoring honors.

Riddell also possesses the best field goal shooting average with 123 goals in 296 shots for a .415 mark. Dietzel and Ernie Firestone are deadlocked for the second spot among the starters with 375 averages, while reserve Dick Spayd is hitting at a .381 clip.

Dietzel First

Dietzel paces the first strong Lions in foul-goal percentage shooting with an .818 record. Firestone (.800) and Merrill Echart (.708) follow the Ephrata sophomore.

Riddell and Foreman stand 1-2 in the rebounding figures with 223 and 137 respectively. Bruce Storms is next with 134.

At Lancaster, Albright met a strong, fast F&M quintet. The Lions had beaten the Diplomats 84-67 in a previous contest, but this time the shoe was on the other foot. The Dips took a commanding 46-30 lead at the end of the first half as superior rebounding took its toll. Led by 6-7 center Jack Ziegler, who played a fine defensive game, F&M utilized the fast break at will with Ziegler setting up his teammates with easy layups. Albright couldn't seem to get started offensively or defensively as the Diplomats ripped through their zone defense easily. Bob Swetnam led F&M with 20 points as Rudy Koenig followed with 19 and Ziegler, Bill Souders and Bob Benner each hit 16 for the winners.

Hofstra Wins

Hempstead, Long Island was the sight of the next contest. Here the Lions were confronted with a Hofstra team which had lost its two leading players for academic reasons. With the nucleus of his team gone, the situation looked grim for Hofstra coach Bill Van Bredakoff. However, the Lions helped things out as they played one of their worst games of a poor season. Against a team definitely inferior in personnel and experience, Albright trailed at halftime 40-29. Commencing the second half with a full court press helped matters little as the press proved anything but successful. Ray Cuneen, the lone starter from last year's club, found himself practically unguarded in the first half and took advantage of this situation as he totaled 35 points for the game. Bruce Riddell played his usual steady game, scoring 18 for the Lions.

Changed Lineup

In Bethlehem, the Lions tried a revamped lineup but to no avail. The Greyhounds of Moravian, playing their season finale raced away from the Red and White in the second half after leading only 36-29 at intermission. Albright had an exceptionally poor night from the floor, hitting only 9 for 40 in the initial period and averaging only 29 percent for the game. Russ Pegley led Moravian with 34 points, scoring mostly on jump shots as the Lions 2-1-2 zone defense failed. Bob Jones, scoring 24 points, turned in an excellent performance in rebounding as well. The 6-2 Jones displayed terrific jumping both in his shooting and rebounding. Moravian hit 44 percent from the floor to wrap up its fifteenth win against eight losses.

Three Contests Remain For Albright Five

The Albright Cagers will finish out the current season with three games during the coming week. Juniata will be host to the Lions tomorrow evening at 8:30 at Huntingdon. Wednesday, the Bucknell Bisons will invade the Albright fieldhouse court and the following Saturday, the Lions will entertain Elizabethtown. Both home games will start at 8:30, with jayvee preliminaries at 6:45.

The Juniata Indians are newcomers to the Albright schedule this year, the two teams having last met during the 1954-55 campaign. In that contest, the Lions won, 81-63, for their seventeenth win in 20 games with Juniata. Bernie McLaughlin (6-3), a two-year letterman for the Indians, heads the present aggregation. Mike Armstrong and Bill Burchfield are other veteran Juniata players. The Indians are well-supplied in the height department with Bob Ewald (6-6), Hank Hain (6-5), and Jim Midden (6-6), although they are inexperienced. In its last game, Juniata dumped Lycoming 84-72.

Bisons' Record

Bucknell, winner of 14 of its first 20 games, will be seeking to repeat its win over the Lions of Coach Will Renken. The teams met for the first time this season on Jan. 15 and Hal Danzig, a 6-6 sophomore, scored 29 points and Dick Kniffen 21 as Bucknell outclassed Albright. Jim Foreman (20) and Bruce Riddell (19) led the way for the Lions. In recent games, the Bisons swamped Penn State 70-56 and lost to Colgate 88-75.

Elizabethtown, leader in the MASC's Northern Division basketball loop, is challenging Franklin and Marshall, Southern Division pacesetter, for a berth in the NCAA college-division tournament. The Lions until recently held second place in the Northern Division. The Blue Jays have a well-rounded team that does not feature exceptional height. Jim Chase is the tallest of the Blue Jays at 6-4, but three other Cagers reach the 6-3 mark. Seniors Tony Arcuri, Bob Bradie, Sal Paone, Fred Noel, and Bob Wert form the bulk of the Elizabethtown five and give the Blue Jays adequate experience at all positions. Last season, Elizabethtown downed Albright 110-91 in a game played at Elizabethtown.

Wrestlers Defeated By Lehigh Jayvees

The Lehigh University jayvee wrestlers swept all eight matches as they defeated Albright 32-0 at Bethlehem last Saturday. It was the final meet of the year for Albright, and the seventh loss in as many meets.

In the 123-pound class Dick Reidler of Albright lost to Dave Hecht by a decision. In the 157-pound class, Ted Erickson lost by a decision to Gene Shraler of Lehigh. In the 177-pound and unlimited classes, George Morfogen and Clell Hostetter also lost in decisions. The other Albright matmen were pinned: Charlie Sample, Harry Humphreys, Dick Amy, and George Zug.

The Lion mat team, coached by Gerry Barger, was composed entirely of underclassmen who are expected to return experienced as a unit for the 1958 season.

Albrightians Comment This Week On Favorite Types Of Music

A recent all-campus survey on the question of the week, "What type of music do you like and why?" revealed the following varied comments, as gathered by Robert Poff, '60.

Marianna Wonder, '60: "I like calypso because of the beat. Also, I like semi-classical when it is well performed. I'm learning to dislike classical music because my roommate likes it so well."

Frances Jervis, '60: "I like classical music and jazz, too."

Charles Rusen, '58: "I like anything except rock 'n' roll."

Elizabeth Smith, '59: "I'm not partial to any specific type of music. Classical and popular appeal equally to me."

Suzanne Schick, '59: "Any kind of music by Mantavoni I enjoy, and any music with a good fast beat."

Robert Durrwachter, '57: "At one time or another I like all kinds of music, depending on the mood."

Rachel Hinman, '60: "I like almost all kinds of music, including and especially rock'n'roll and hill-billy."

Mary Ellen Appleman, '58: "I can appreciate all kinds of music depending upon the time and occasion but for the collection of records, I prefer classical, semi-classical and show tunes — oh — mustn't forget Harry B. too."

Memming Announces New German Class

Dr. Gerrit Memming, professor of German, is starting a class designed for adults who want to acquire a speaking knowledge of everyday German.

The class will meet at 7 p.m., Tuesdays for 1 1/2 hours, in room 200 of the administration building. Registration will be held next Tuesday at 7 p.m. A $15 fee will be charged for the 10 weeks' course.

Emphasis will be placed upon the spoken word. The aural-oral approach used so effectively by the Armed Forces will be employed as far as practicable. Only a minimum of grammatical material will be presented. An understanding or speaking knowledge of the Pennsylvania German dialect will be extremely helpful but not absolutely necessary for enrollment.

The course will be instrumental in the preparation of teachers for future training of German in the elementary schools.

Dr. Lewis Smith, professor of political science, is now conducting a course in current affairs for adult women.

Albright Girls Win Sports Day Here

The Albright girls basketball team emerged victorious in a four-college Sports Day held at Albright last Saturday. In addition to Albright, the participating colleges were Kutztown State Teachers College, Cedar Crest, and Moravian.

The Lionettes won all three of their games to take top honors. They defeated Kutztown 19-16, Cedar Crest 20-18, and Moravian 32-31 in that order. Martha Richards final shot in the closing seconds provided the margin of victory in the latter game. After the games, the teams dined together in the college dining hall.

Offense Stars

Mary Ellen Appleman, Bonnie Orr, Rachel Hinman, and Ruth Schaeffer starred on offense for Albright, while Billie Williams, Betsy Smith, Amelia Potteiger, and Millie Folk were outstanding on defense.

The Moravian girls took second place honors with a two-win, one-loss record in the day's competition. Kutztown placed third with a 1-2 log, and Cedar Crest was fourth with no wins and three defeats.

Tomorrow afternoon the Lionettes travel to Philadelphia for a game with the Temple girls. Starting time is 1:00.

In games played before the Sports Day action, the Albright girls lost to Immaculata 61-41 and Drexel 49-36 in away games, before downing Beryllium 36-30 at home.

The final standings of the Sports Day activities were:

	W-L	TP
Albright	3-0	70
Moravian	2-1	84
Kutztown	1-2	55
Cedar Crest	0-3	53

John Preska Named Director Of Band

John Preska, '58, was recently elected student director of the band for the second semester. Wilbert Wollenhaupt, '58, served as student director for the first semester.

Second Language Center Organized At St. Michael's

The establishment of a second English language and orientation center for newly-arrived Hungarian refugee students at St. Michael's College, Winooski Park, Vermont, was announced recently by Kenneth Holland, President of the Institute of International Education, the sponsoring agency for the project.

This special orientation program at St. Michael's is the second such center, the first having been established at Bard College (Annandale-on-Hudson, N. Y.) by the Institute of International Education in December.

Accommodations

The center at St. Michael's will accommodate 100 male Hungarian students for a 15 week course in intensive English language instruction and orientation to American society. The first group of students arrived at the center in January. Few, if any, of the arriving Hungarians are at present able to carry on their studies in English. The main purpose of this program will be to equip these university students to take advantage of the numerous offers of scholarships extended them by American colleges and universities.

The students sent to this program will be carefully screened by the Institute and the sponsoring resettlement agencies to ensure that they are bona fide students and will be able to take advantage of a period of study in an American college or university.

St. Michael's, a small Roman Catholic liberal arts college, has for five years sponsored a special program of English training for foreign students with little or no facility in the language. These courses have enabled the students to move on to other academic institutions and carry on their studies.

Courses Available

Courses became available last month. The objective of the course will be to give these students an understanding of American-English pronunciation and intonation and a grasp of basic conversation patterns. They will also receive training in reading and writing English.

During this period the students will receive an introduction to the United States. They will be given the opportunity to acquaint themselves to American colleges and universities, American homes, religious life, American towns and villages, industries, business organizations, service clubs, social services—as much of the general American scene as can be provided in this short period.

The Institute of International Education, sponsoring agency for the orientation program, has also taken a leading role in initiating a general scholarship program for these refugee students whose numbers in this country may reach a total of between 1500 and 2000. Jointly with World University Service, the In-

NEA Operates Varied Educational Program

The National Education Association, biggest national professional organization of the world and so large that few of its own members are conscious of the varied activities in which it is engaged, will observe its Centennial anniversary in 1957 in a program aimed at involving its entire membership of 2/3 million American teachers and school administrators as well as the general public.

The organization was established in 1857 in Philadelphia when 43 educators from 12 states met to organize teachers nationally "to elevate the character and advance the interests of the profession of teaching, and to promote the cause of popular education in the United States." It now enrolls a majority of all teachers of the nation.

Original Purpose

The original purpose, still held by the organization after a century, has made the NEA, then called the National Teachers' Association, a rallying symbol for general support of the schools among all varieties of workers in education. Kindergarten teachers and university professors, teachers of all subjects and school administrators of all levels, from public, private and parochial schools, hold membership in NEA and are served through various special subdivisions concerned with their own special work. School secretaries have an NEA-connected department, for example, and students in Future Teachers of America groups are a part of NEA.

This report, for instance, which reaches school papers through National Scholastic Press Association, comes by arrangement with the National Association of Journalism Directors, an NEA affiliate to which advisers of school newspapers belong.

The NEA Centennial program includes some 28 different projects assigned to special committees. Plans include the following:

The Centennial convention, June 30-July 5, in Philadelphia, birthplace of the NEA, with special ceremonies by Future Teachers of America at the founding site, a special Centennial festival to be produced by the Philadelphia public schools, an exhibit of student art from all over the nation, and issuance of a commemorative stamp by the U. S. Post Office.

Nine New Students Transfer To Albright

Nine transfer students have enrolled at Albright for the second semester and are currently attending classes. They are freshmen Carolyn Adams, Drexel Institute of Technology; Bradley Breneman, Lehigh University; William Rohn, Duke University; and Margaret Schultz, Penn State University.

Sophomore transfers are Wayne Laury, Dickinson College; George Nesbitt, Susquehanna University; Donald Simmons, Penn State University; and Kathryn Ward, University of Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Included among the newly enrolled students are three returnees: Carl Witosky, sophomore, and William Corrigan and James M. Still, juniors. Also, there are two G. I.'s enrolled as freshmen and they are Clair Troutman and Raymond Sauer.

Albright's new foreign student, Chae Yoon, of Seoul, Korea, has enrolled this semester as a junior transfer from Seoul National University.

Institute circularized 1200 colleges and universities for offers for scholarship aid for Hungarian students. Administrative facilities have been set up for the screening and placement of all students.

The Institute of International Education has planned and supervised orientation centers for foreign students coming to the United States on U. S. Government programs since 1950.
