Monday's Reading Period Approved On Trial Basis

By Nancy Cassidy

A reading period for Albright students has been approved by the faculty and Student Council for next Monday, the day before final examinations begin.

Members of the Special Joint Student-Faculty Committee on the Reading Period met on Tuesday, November 23. The committee (comprised of Marvin Garrett, chairman, Nancy Thompson, Ronald Davis, Gerald McMullen, Michael Flannery, Emmett Venett, representing student council, and Professors Charles Kistler and Luther Brossman) adopted two proposals for the creation of a reading period. These proposals include:

1. Student registration for a subsequent semester shall be scheduled approximately a month before the conclusion of the current teaching period. Wherever possible the two registration dates of consecutive semesters shall be scheduled so as to create the least possible imbalance between the Monday-Wednesday-Friday and Tuesday-Thursday-Saturday cycles. The day thus gained shall be designated exclusively as a reading day immediately preceding the final examination period. This arrangement is already in effect for the current semester, for which the date of registration has been shifted from January 17 to December 7. The same principle shall apply in shifting the registration date from May 25, 1966, to a Monday, Wednesday or Friday three or four weeks earlier.

2. The final examination period as scheduled up to and including May, 1966, shall in the future be shortened by one day, the first day of the examination period. The day thus gained shall be designated exclusively as a reading day. Thus students will have two consecutive days for reading prior to their first final examination. This is to be regarded as a trial arrangement; its continuance shall depend upon a vote by Student Council upon the conclusion of the first semester of effectiveness of the plan in January, 1967.

After considering the report of the joint committee, the faculty approved January 17 as the reading period date for the first semester. The faculty decided to withhold the decision on a reading period for the second semester pending a study of the first semester reading period. Student Council, meeting on Tuesday, January 4, accepted the approval of the faculty with certain reservations.

Because the purpose of the reading day is to provide the students time to study and to prepare for the examinations, the faculty expects the students to make full use of next Monday as a reading day. Because of the possible crowding of the library, Masters Hall will also be open to the students during the reading day.

Oberlin Ensemble Scheduled Here

The Oberlin Wind Ensemble will visit Albright College on February 3, during an annual concert tour that takes the group to six colleges in Pennsylvania and one in New York early next month. Kenneth Moore, associate professor in the Conservatory of Music of Oberlin College, directs the 30-member student organization.

The ensemble of woodwind, brass and percussion players is scheduled to present a concert of music composed for wind instruments, in the regular student assembly at 11 a.m. in the chapel-auditorium. Pianist John Perry, also a conservatory faculty member, will be the featured soloist.

By employing various combinations of instruments, the Oberlin ensemble is able to perform major works of wind literature, from the serenades and divertimenti of classical composers to large wind compositions by contemporary writers.

Included in the program are Riegler's Dance Rhythms, Opus 58a; Divertimento No. 1 in B-flat major, by Haydn; Suite Francaise d'apres Claude Gervaise, by Poulenc; Hindemith's Concert Music for Piano, Brass and Two Harps; Stravinsky's Octour pour Instruments a vent; and Symphony for Wind Instruments, Opus 34, by Ernst Krenek.

Moore, who organized the wind ensemble in the fall of 1958, has been on the Oberlin staff since 1955. He directs the Oberlin College Band, teaches bassoon in the conservatory of music, and plays bassoon in the Oberlin Woodwind Quintet, composed of the five resident woodwind instructors.

Student Activities Committee Considers Amendment Facilitating Constitutional Changes In S. C.

By Jack Latteman, '69

Nancy Thompson, '67, chairman of the Student Council constitutional change committee has announced to The Albrightian that an amendment, modifying the present procedure for the proposal and ratification of amendments to the Student Council constitution, is now under consideration by the student-faculty Activities and Affairs Committee.

Two Books Chosen For Social Study

Walden Two and Growing Up Absurd are the books selected by a faculty-student committee for emphasis in a campus-wide study of "The Great Society".

Growing Up Absurd, subtitled "Problems of Youth in the Organized Society," by Paul Goodman examines the fallacies of our society while B. F. Skinner in Walden Two explains his plans for the formation of a hypothetical perfect society. In studying the two works, students and faculty will be able to consider together special problems such as class structure, labor systems, family relationships, and patriotism.

Discussion groups and panels are being planned to highlight the program. The books are now available in the Albright book store.

ZETAS HOST OPEN HOUSE

The brothers of Zeta Omega Epsilon, social fraternity, will hold an open house tomorrow at the Zeta house, 1607 Alsace Road. Music will be supplied by the Adventures and refreshments will be provided. Bill Kudrick '67 and Andy Mytinger '67 are co-chairmen for the open house which will begin at 8:30 P.M.

HARRY A. (HAPS) BENFER

1882-1966

Harry A. (Haps) Benfer, called by many the greatest athlete in the history of Albright College, now belongs to the ages. The former All-American football ace passed away in his Allentown home on Sunday, January 2.

Benfer won a total of twelve letters and was named Albright's athlete of the century in 1956. He graduated from the college in 1935 after starring in football, basketball and baseball. He did post-graduate work at the University of Illinois and the University of Pennsylvania before being ordained as a minister in the Evangelical Church.

"Haps" returned to Albright for a short period and then went on to Muhlenberg College where he coached the same three sports in which he had been outstanding. He left the coaching ranks in 1954 to become registrar and dean of freshmen at Muhlenberg and when he reached the mandatory retirement age in 1963 he resigned. However, his popularity was such that Muhlenberg retained Benfer as a director of men's dormitories until ill health forced him to resign in the summer of 1965.

The Albrightian is only one of many which remembers the Benfer name with pride. The top Albright performer in the annual Homecoming football game receives the "Haps Benfer Trophy" from this paper. Benfer Hall, a new men's residence hall at Muhlenberg, was dedicated last fall and "Haps" received innumerable honors from various organizations.

Harry A. Benfer—a legend in his lifetime.

To eliminate such an imbalance of power, Student Council had discussed modification for a number of weeks prior to the unanimous passage of the amendment by Council immediately before Christmas vacation. Providing an alternative to Council action, the amendment would establish the right of the student body to a referendum on a proposed constitutional change if a petition containing the signatures of 20% of all students is submitted to Student Council.

The full text of the proposed amendment follows:

"The process of amendment can also be done directly through the student body. In this amending procedure an amendment can be put before the student body for a majority vote if a petition bearing twenty per cent of the student body is presented to Student Council. The voting will take place within a month of the presentation of the petition."

In the opinion of the committee headed by Miss Thompson, adoption of this modification will eliminate the exclusiveness of Student Council in the initiation of constitutional changes. The amendment will give adequate expression to student body desire to make necessary modifications in the constitution, since at least 200 persons must first demonstrate their interest through the petition.

Manned Luncheonette Requested For Sub

Thanks to an alert Student Council, future Albrightians may have the benefit of a manned luncheonette in the new Student Union Building.

On a motion raised by Jay Rosen, '66, the council directed Jean Wilkins, '68, to write letters to Charles Gordon, college Treasurer, Leroy Withers, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, and President Arthur L. Schultz requesting a manned lunch counter to replace proposed vending machines in the Student Union Building.

Around Albright

Contrary to a report in The Albrightian, cost for the junior-senior dinner-dance this spring will come to $6.00 per couple. It was stated here that the affair would cost $8.00, but Student Council has agreed to subsidize the event. We hope it's a success . . . If the shoe fits department: When will the disgusting exhibition of necking put on by a student couple in the dining hall come to a stop? These two apparently are oblivious to the rest of the world and they go about their demonstrations in plain sight. It really looks good to visitors; we always thought there was a time and place for everything, but apparently the love-birds in questions never see each other except before, after and during meals . . . Congratulations to Student Council president Emmet Venett who was married during the Christmas holidays. His wife is the former Patricia Nye, a 1965 Albright graduate; we wish them both the best of everything . . . The Cue, Albright's yearbook, seems headed for a banner year thanks to the hard work of Editor Bill Gay and his assistant Thelma Scatchard. Not only will the yearbook come out in time for a change, but it should be one of the best in the college's history . . . Don't look now, but the new administration's "looking the other way" position has been, and will be tested by sporadic "drinking parties" held by various campus organizations. How long will it be before somebody gets caught again?

The Albright Invitational basketball tournament is good for the college's prestige but why wasn't an organized cheering section set up for it? It is a shame that Long Island University cheerleaders had to try to start cheers for Albright in our own field house . . . There are so many overdue library books that the library staff can no longer send out lists of the books to the borrower. Return the books and give other students a chance to use them . . . There seems to be too much emphasis placed on the spelling test required for graduation, especially when some of the English professors are treating it as a big joke . . . Next semester there will be a change in the system for chapel cuts. If a student has a valid excuse for cutting, such as illness, he will be able to make up the cut by attending a chapel on another day such as Tuesday or Thursday . . . Concerning the chapels, does a closed altar curtain eliminate the holiness and sacred atmosphere? Thank God that in the future we will have an auditorium for the many secular shows that are now presented in the chapel.

IT'S WHAT'S HAPPENING, BABY

Running Scared

By Marc Richman

Lyndon Johnson, master politician and designer of the so-called Great Society, is running scared. He finds himself leading the country into a long-lasting jungle war, the eventual outcome of which is highly uncertain. Being the politician he is, Johnson is well aware of the disastrous effects the war will have on his party's chances in the congressional elections of 1966. The entire House of Representatives and one-third of the Senate is up for election, and a big Republican victory would seriously hurt Johnson's plans for the Great Society. In addition, LBJ himself wants to run for re-election in 1968, and a war in Vietnam is not anybody's idea of a strong plank in the Democratic platform—it may very well turn out to be a gangplank.

The first session of the 89th Congress passed a myriad of laws, many shoddy and unworkable, but still laws. Americans got taxes cut (although the raise in Social Security tax more than makes up for the tax cut), a federal medical care program for the aged (non-discriminatory, rich and poor alike get free medicare), a solution (?) to poverty, and greater civil rights for minority groups. There is much to get excited about, but the only thing exciting anybody is the mismanaged war in Vietnam. What good is medicare if our people are being killed at age 20? Taxes were cut, but as the war escalates, the need for money will force congress to act accordingly. As a result, taxes will be raised and Great Society programs will be cut back. This certainly will not help Lyndon's image among voters.

So Lyndon Johnson is beginning to sense an urgency to end the war as soon as possible. He sent Arthur Goldberg to see the Pope and then to see Charles de Gaulle. He sent W. Averell Harriman to Warsaw to meet with Polish communist leaders and then to Belgrade to see President Tito. He sent McGeorge Bundy to Canada to meet with Prime Minister Pearson. And, finally, he transferred Pat Nugent to a Washington armed forces base so he could meet with Luci more often. All this action was labeled a "peace offensive." But even if it should succeed, we would be hurt badly at the peace table, and just in time to haunt LBJ in '68, the communists would proceed to take over all of Vietnam. So our President is caught in a vice and he cannot get out without being hurt badly.

Rather than a peace offensive, what we need is a new approach to the war. The first step is a naval quarantine of North Vietnam to stop military supplies, followed by increased air and sea raids against significant military targets in the North. Johnson and McNamara must begin to take decisive steps to win this war. (Food for thought: Robert McNamara was president of Ford Motor Company when the decision was made to produce the highly successful Edsel.)

The American people want to win this war. In a recent poll conducted by the Opinion Research Corporation of Princeton: 65% say we are right to stay in Vietnam and fight, 58% say we should increase bombing of North Vietnam (21% say no, 21% no opinion), and 82% say we should insist that negotiations begin while our troops are still present. So Americans want to win the war, and the peace conference.

And President Lyndon Baines Johnson continues to run scared.

Maryland Confab Focuses On Major Political Parties

What do the Democratic and Republican Parties really stand for? Is there a marked difference?

The answers to these and other questions will be provided by speakers at the Republican-Democrat Symposium Weekend scheduled for Hood College, Frederick, Maryland, February 25-27.

Some of the featured speakers appearing include Dr. John Bibby, Director of Arts and Education for the Republican Party, Robert Kunzig, Special Assistant to Senator Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, John Albert, President of the Young Democrats of Johns Hopkins University and Tom Pauken, Chairman of the National College Young Republicans.

Student panel discussions will be held throughout the conference. Any Albright students interested in attending should see Prof. Philip A. Eyrich of the Political Science Department for details.

Robert Tucker, author of The Case for Socialized Medicine, will speak on "Is Medicare Enough?" at the Berks Socialist Party's Labor Forum in the Reading YMCA, Sunday, January 23 at 8:00 p.m.

PRESIDENCIES AT STAKE:

Eight Women Vied For AWS Offices In Today's Elections

By Jackie Randolph, '66

An all-campus election held among women students today (Thursday) served to choose the new presidents for the Association of Women Students (AWS) and for the combined dormitories.

Balloting took place in the dining hall lounge during lunch hours. Both resident and daywomen were asked to cast their votes and 75 per cent of those eligible to vote must cast ballots if the election is to be valid.

The nominees for the AWS Presidency and their qualifications are as follows:

Barbara Allison: Served on the AWS Board for two years, served on Dorm Council, sophomore counselor, current vice-president of South Hall, chaplain-historian of Phi Beta Mu and of the Skull and Bones biological society.

Jean Fister: Active member of the Daywomen's Organization, sophomore counselor, Student Council member, former Orientation Committee member, member of Delta Phi Alpha (honorary German fraternity) and of the Glee Club, and secretary of the German Club.

Michele Skea: AWS Board, former President of Selwyn Hall, current vice-president of Women's Athletic Association and sophomore counselor.

Ruth Wagner: Vice President of AWS, acting president of AWS last semester, vice-president of Selwyn Hall, sophomore counselor, secretary of the Student Education Association, and active member of Kappa Tau Chi, the Glee Club and Dorm Council.

Ellen Winters: Vice President of the AWS Board and Smith Hall, member of the Dorm Council and vice-president of the Home Economics Organization.

The nominees for the Dorm Presidency are:

Emily Fairclough: Student Council member, sophomore counselor and active member of the Phi Beta Mu sorority.

Karen Kuss: Member of the Dorm Council, the Alpha Iota Sigma service sorority, the Student Education Association and the Glee Club and sophomore counselor.

Audrey Miles: Served on Dorm Council for three years, current vice-president of Selwyn Hall and member of the AWS Board, Student Council and the Glee Club.

These candidates, all members of the junior class, will begin their terms of office the second semester. The girl elected Resident Women's President will also serve as president of the dorm in which she lives. All other officers of the AWS Board will be elected by the board itself.

Kappas Lead Bowling Loop

After three weeks of stiff competition at Bowlorama Lanes, the Kappas lead the Albright Intramural Bowling League with ten wins and two losses. They are followed closely by the Pi Taus and the Zetas who have identical 8-4 logs. The Kappas hold the high team triple with 1582 while the Zetas own the high team single of 571. Due to an odd number of teams, one squad draws a bye each week. The team standings are as follows:

	W	L	Pct.	G.B.
1. Kappas	10	2	.833
2. Pi Taus	8	4	.667	2
3. Zetas	8	4	.667	2
4. Conference
Keglers	7	5	.583	3
5. Daymen	4	4	.500	4
6. Holy Rollers	4	4	.500	4
7. APO	5	7	.417	5
8. Walton Hall	1	7	.125	7
9. Pussy Cats	1	11	.083	9

In the individual categories, the keggers are led by Don Stricker who has the high single game with 236 and Bill Baxter who holds high average with 182 and high triple, 590. The individual averages stock up like this:

1. Bill Baxter, Holy Rollers	182
2. Ralph Weise, Kappas	181
3. Ed Rubovitz, Zetas	178
4. Don Stricker, Kappas	178
5. Phil Foster, Zetas	168
Jim Patton, Daymen	168

LIU Conquers All In Albright Tourney

Long Island University, pegged as one of the early favorites for national small college recognition, romped to the title of the Fourth Albright Invitational Tournament without any difficulty.

The Blackbirds, with a rapid-fire offense, disposed of its two opponents with embarrassing ease. Ivy League representative Dartmouth was second, the host Albright Lions finished third and Williams College was fourth.

Sophomore Larry Newbold of LIU was named the tourney's Most Valuable Player and he was joined on the All Tournament selections by teammates Albie Grant and Barry Leibowitz, Albright's Mike Klahr and Dartmouth's Gunnar Malm.

LIU 94 Williams 49

The opening game of the joust saw the New Yorkers race to a lopsided victory over the Ephmen of Williams. LIU upped a mere 39-20 halftime lead to the final score with an explosive attack featuring the twisting and turning moves of Newbold (25 points), Grant's rebounding (19 claims) and Leibowitz' cold-blooded generalship (seven assists and five steals). The outclassed New Englanders were held to a 29 field goal shooting percentage.

Dartmouth 60 Albright 57

The host Lions were eliminated in the first round of their own tournament for the first time in the history of the contest. The Indians from Dartmouth overcame a two point Albright lead at the half as they thrived on numerous Lion mistakes.

Albright's frigid shooting (40 per cent from the floor) and the solid rebounding of the Ivy Leaguers turned the tide. Klahr finished with 22 points to head all scorers while Kudrick dished out six assists. Paul Kinum racked up 16 for the Big Green.

Warriors Hand Lions First Conference Loss, Renkenmen Entertain LVC Here Saturday

Lycoming College unceremoniously bounced Albright from the unbeaten ranks of the Middle Atlantic Conference last Saturday with a 73-59 thrashing. The defending MAC champions now find themselves in a tough position to make the post-season playoffs and must sweep a string of seven consecutive conference contests which began yesterday (Wednesday) against Susquehanna and continues Saturday against Lebanon Valley.

Lion Grapplers Off To Mediocre Start

By Rich Pearson

The Albright wrestling squad kicked off the season on a sour note by dropping a 25-5 decision to a rugged Elizabethtown squad but rebounded strongly to tie Swarthmore, 18-18, defeat Pennsylvania Military College, 22-13, and Muhlenberg, 18-16.

Last Saturday, the Lion grapplers journeyed to Lebanon Valley College to meet the powerful Dutchmen. Red and White matmen could grab only two decisions in their effort to upend the pre-match favorites, as the LVC forces gathered in seven bout victories and walked away with a 21-6 win to their credit. Jon Ericson maintained his undefeated status by outmaneuvering his Dutchman opponent, and senior co-captain Herm Rij decided his 167 lb. division foe. Three of Albright's stronger wrestlers, Larry Wildermuth, Art Helm, and Rich Horst, co-captain and defending MAC 177 lb. champion, were wrangled to close matches that went the enemy's way.

This year's squad and weight classifications include:

123 lb. Larry Wildermuth,	'69
130 lb. Keith Brintzenhoff,	'67
137 lb. Art Helm,	'66
145 lb. Dave Sexton,	'68
152 lb. Charles Ruth,	'68
160 lb. Jon Ericson,	'68
167 lb. Herm Rij,	'66
177 lb. Charles Borland,	'67
Hywt. Rich Horst,	'66

Other team members are Gil Zuckerman, '66, at 130; Dean Eisenberg, '69, at 137; Carl Kuhl, '69, at 145; Steve Kidd, '67 and John Langton, '69, at 152; and heavy-weight Bill Thomas, '69.

This year's squad, carrying a 2-2-1 log into the half way point of the season, is strong in the middle weights and is showing improvement in the inexperienced 130 and 177 classes. Coach Now cites the roughest competition as Delaware University, a vastly improved Lafayette club, and a consistently strong Moravian squad which Albright has never beaten. If the Lions can match up well in the weight classes, they can give any of these clubs a good show; Coach Now has great confidence for a successful season.

Saturday's game against Lycoming had been termed a key game as it pitted the only two unbeaten squads in the Northern Division of the MAC. It now appears that the Warriors of Lycoming, with a 5-0 conference slate, are favorites to win divisional honors. Lycoming has only two tough MAC games left to play—Upsala and Dickinson—while Albright must face several of the better clubs.

The 73-59 loss at Williamsport could have been a lot worse than the final score showed. Lycoming led by as much as 21 points in the second half and only a late Lion rally—sparked by Bill Kudrick and Mike Klahr—could cut the lead to 13 markers with four minutes to go. The home forces, however, kept their advantage with a semi-freeze in the closing moments.

Junior Bill Kudrick, rapidly developing into the team's most consistent performer, paced the Albright efforts with 22 points and he was aided by Mike Eckenroth's 14 tallies. Captain Mike Klahr again failed to play up to his potential as he was held to three foul shots in the first 20 minutes and could only finish with 11 points. Klahr's play even forced Coach Will Renken to bench the redhead for about five minutes of the first half.

Lanky Bill O'Donnell, a 6-5 marksman, set the scoring tempo

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

These were the final standings for the first half of play in the Class A Intramural Basketball League:

1.—Zeta Omega Epsilon	5-0
2.—Daymen	4-1
3.—Independents	3-2
4.—Alpha Pi Omega	2-3
5.—Pi Tau Beta	1-4
6.—Kappa Upsilon Phi	0-5

The Zetas will now meet the winner of the second half to determine the league champion

Student Internship Program Available

Applications for the 1966 political internship program of the Pennsylvania Center for Education in Politics may now be obtained from the PCEP campus adviser: Dr. Charles Raith or by writing to:

Dr. Sidney Wise, Director
Pennsylvania Center for Education in Politics
Franklin and Marshall College
Lancaster, Pennsylvania

Under the PCEP program, students may arrange summer and fall internships with state legislators, candidates for the legislature, local political organizations and/or citizens' groups. PCEP will subsidize approximately half of the student's total salary. Scheduling and salary arrangements may be arranged to the mutual convenience of employer and intern and are subject to approval by the PCEP. Students should consult with PCEP campus advisers in formulating proposals.

All internship proposals must be submitted by March 15.

Kudrick Grabs Lead Among Lion Scorers

Junior Billy Kudrick has replaced Captain Mike Klahr as Albright's most prolific scorer. The hard-driving Perth Amboy, N. J., product leads Klahr by one point—174 to 173 in the statistics for the first ten games.

Klahr, who scored 30 points in the first two games of the year, has been plagued by a long slump which began against St. Joseph's when he only scored twice. Kudrick, meanwhile, has blossomed into a very consistent performer on whom the Lions seem now to rely for their offensive power.

Center Joe Lobichusky, also in a playing slump, leads the team in rebounds with 98, but Kudrick, a demon off the defensive board, has been chipping away at Big Joe's lead.

Other statistical leaders include Mike Eckenroth (best foul shooting percentage at .714), Lobichusky (best field goal percentage at .526), Kudrick (most assists with 26) and Klahr (most steals with 20).

Hofstra 83 Albright 70

In an unusual turnaround, Hofstra gained revenge from last year's loss to Albright 83-70, beating the Lions by the same score.

The long trip to Hempstead, N. Y., proved fruitless for the Red and White. Despite the 13-point edge, Albright was in the game up until the last five minutes when the Flying Dutchmen rallied to ice the verdict. A combination of foul trouble and hot-shooting by Hofstra combined to drop the Lions.

Three of the five Albright starters fouled out of the bruising contest—Bill Kudrick, Andy Mytinger and Joe Lobichusky—and the Renkenmen failed to check the offense-minded Dutchmen.

Kudrick led Albright with 22 points and Eckenroth chipped in with 14. Klahr suffered through another cold night, four-for-fifteen—and ended up with 11 tallies.

Albright 68 Muhlenberg 39

In one of the worst games of the season, Albright trounced the hapless Mules from Abington, 68-39. Both teams displayed extremely erratic shooting and no field goals were scored for the first seven minutes of action.

The Lions eventually got shot behind a three-man screen and never relinquished the lead against the ineffective visitors.

Kudrick's 18 points were high for the night with Eckenroth, 14, and Klahr, 13, close behind. Muhlenberg's performance can be best tested by their field goal percentage—a rousing .250.

St. Joseph's 85 Albright 54

Ranked second in the nation, the Hawks from St. Joe's stormed into the Albright Field House for a going-away victory. The Philadelphians were usually weak in the first half and only led by ten points at the rest stop.

However, with Mike Klahr on the bench as the result of fouling out, St. Joe's ran away in the opening moments of the second stanza and kept piling up the score. Albright again played a very mediocre contest and could have easily led at the half if more mistakes had been avoided. Even then, it is hard to imagine how the Lions, regardless of their play, could have halted the Hawk express in that frantic second half.

Kudrick tallied 15 times to be high for Albright and Lobichusky chipped in with 11. St. Joe's held an overwhelming advantage off the boards, 75 to 38.

Student Re-classification May Follow Increased Draft

The increase in draft calls in recent months has resulted in 1-A classification for some full-time students, and all indications point to a continuing problem as local draft boards exhaust their pools of available registrants.

Colleges have an obligation to the nation and to their students "to see that the national interest is served by keeping young men in college to complete their education," in the words of Selective Service Director Lieutenant-General Lewis B. Hershey.

Students themselves must be fully informed of their obligations and their rights under Selective Service. More and more local boards are sending 1-A classifications to all students registered with the board in an effort to differentiate between full-time students making good progress toward a degree goal and those registrants who are part-time students, or whose academic progress is lacking. In many cases, registrants receiving notices of 1-A classification are uncertain of what action to take. They may delay doing anything until the 10-day time limitation for appeal has passed, without realizing that they have thus lost their right of appeal.

In some cases, students have neglected to send their local boards a current address. Even when mail is forwarded, the day of receipt of notice may be sufficient to cause forfeiture of appeal rights. The 10-day appeal period starts on the date of original mailing of the classification notice.

College personnel and students should be familiar with the 1-S classification and should be prepared to request it for registrants who receive notice to report for induction. The statutory classification (which can be granted only once) will automatically be given on request to full-time students in good standing, and will allow them to complete the current term of college work.

These responsibilities place a heavy burden on the institution, but it is the price that must be paid when the registrant is accepted as a student. The alternative is to have the registrant's effectiveness as a student judged solely by the Selective Service System. Where educational institutions will or cannot participate in the decision-making process, the Selective Service System must make the decision by itself.

Selective Service policy assumes that education is a process which increases the value of a citizen to his nation. Colleges should make whatever effort is necessary to see that their students, parents of the students, and the citizens of their communities are aware that deferment of students and teachers is not a draft-dodging device, but an implementation of the policy of the nation to utilize its most important resource in the most effective way possible for the safety and welfare of the nation.

ACS Discusses Programs, Trips

Programs and field trips were discussed at the December meeting of the Albright chapter of the Student Affiliates of the Am. Chemical Society.

The meeting was convened by president Jerry Cook in the science lecture hall Wednesday, Dec. 18.

The business portion of the gathering produced several programming and touring suggestions for discussion. Among the ideas proposed as program material for future meetings were a program in cooperation with the Reading Chemists Club and Case Institute of Technology. At this time a nationally recognized lecturer and researcher in the chemical field would present a program of his special field of interest. Also proposed was the idea of securing speakers in the areas of food chemistry and chemical instrumentation and automation.

The possibility of attending the regional meeting of the ACS to be held Feb. 3 and 4 in Philadelphia was discussed. Registration fees and transportation costs are to be minimal. Sincere interest was shown in attending the sessions of a professional scientific body of this sort. Further information and details will be available through the officers of the campus chapter and members of the chemistry faculty.

Series of Concerts Marks Dedication of New Chapel Organ

A concert by Russell G. Wichmann, professor of music and chairman of the department of music at Chatham College, Pittsburgh, will highlight dedication of the new Albright College organ, in Merner-Pfeiffer-Klein Memorial Chapel-Auditorium, Sunday, January 16, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Built and installed during October by the Schantz Organ Co., Orrville, Ohio, the instrument was presented to the college by William E. Maier, H.H.D., in memory of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Maier. A Wyomissing businessman prominent in local music circles, Dr. Maier is a 1931 Albright graduate.

The new Albright organ, for which Wichmann served as consultant in creating the tonal design, has 54 stops and is a 40-rank instrument with three manuals and pedal divisions. The organ consists of 2,345 pipes; the great organ has 622 pipes, the swell organ, 922, the choir, 549, and the pedal organ, 252. Both choir and swell organs are under expression.

A series of five concerts by area musicians will follow the dedication recital. Appearing January 23 is Dr. Robert Baker, dean of the Union Seminary School of Sacred Music. Mrs. Benjamin Maurer, organist and choirmaster at St. John's Lutheran Church, Reading, and Robert A. Arnold, Holy Rosary Catholic Church organist and dean of the Reading Chapter, American Guild of Organists, are scheduled to play February 6.

Other artists and their concert dates are: Bruce Bengston, organist in the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Elizabeth, N. J., February 20; two mem-

FASHIONABLE-FEMMES—Shown above are some of last year's finalists in the contest for the Ten Best-dressed College girls in America. The finalists spend two weeks in New York, topped by the "Youth Quake" party where over 2,000 guests were entertained by Sammy Davis, Count Basie, The Supremes, Dionne Warwick, England's Sandy Shaw, and Soupy Sales, as the M.C. They also appeared on "the Match Game", NBC's quiz program and saw several Broadway musicals, including a visit with Barbara Streisand after "Funny Girl".

Fourteen Albright Co-eds Will Compete For Best Dressed Award

The Albrightian, in conjunction with Glamour magazine, will conduct a contest to determine the "Best Dressed Co-ed" on the Albright campus. A field of fourteen candidates will be presented to the students in chapel early in the second semester. Two girls will be selected from each of the four dormitories, the two social sororities, the service sorority and the daywomen's organization.

Last year over 301 colleges in 42 states sent entries to the magazine, and even more are expected in 1966, the tenth annual year of the contest. Interest in the contest has been expressed by colleges all over the country, in Puerto Rico and Canada.

erratic play to edge Williams on Andy Myttinger's three-point play with seconds remaining. Williams led for most of the game thanks to the lackluster display by the Renkemen.

Three Lion gunners hit in double figures to pace the offense—Klahr hit 15, Kudrick 14 and Lobichusky 13. Williams even beat the taller home forces off the boards as the Ephemen pulled in 41 rebounds to Albright's 35.

LIU 90 Dartmouth 55

Long Island made short work of Dartmouth in the championship game as the Indians made the fatal mistake of trying to run with the speed-minded Birds.

Every one of LIU's starters hit in double figures with senior co-captain Al Martini scoring a game-high 18 points. The outplayed Ivy Leaguers managed to "hold" leaping Albie Grant to 15 rebounds, but the rest of the New Yorkers picked up the slack and rebounded Dartmouth, 55-38.

Albright's winner will submit three photographs and an entry blank to editors at Glamour, who select the "Ten Best-dressed College Girls." The "top ten" winners fly to New York in April, and are photographed for Glamour's August College Issue, where they are the stars of the issue.

A two-week trip to New York in June as Glamour's guests is the prize for the winners of the contest. The activities of the two-week visit change from year to year, but there is always plenty of fun and excitement. The winners learn about the behind-the-scenes workings at Glamour, meet with leaders of the fashion and beauty industries, are entertained at some of the best restaurants in New York, meet celebrities and see Broadway's top hits.

A recent college poll conducted by Playboy Magazine shows that 55 per cent of today's students would vote for a Republican candidate in 1968 while 66 per cent of the faculty would prefer a Democratic candidate. Despite their preferences, however, 91 per cent of the students and 95 per cent of the faculty agree that a Democratic candidate would win the election.

bers of the Reading AGO Chapter, still to be named, March 6; and Earl Ness, organist in the First Baptist Church, Philadelphia, and the Keneseth Israel Congregation, Elkins Park, March 21. The last date is the 280th anniversary of the birth of Johann Sebastian Bach.

The Wichmann program follows: "Toccata" by Leo Sowerby; three pieces, "Canzona," "Pavane" and "Chorale" by Myron Koberts; "A Boy is Born" by Charles-Marie Widor; "Passion Chorale" by Johannes Brahms; "Christ Lay in the Bonds of Death" by J. S. Bach; "Prelude and Fugue in A Major" also by Bach; "Poeme Heroique" by Marcel Dupre; "Prelude on an Old Folk Tune" by Mrs. H. H. A. Beach; two selections from "Carnival" by Robert Crandell; and "Symphony for Organ" by Guy Weitz.

All students are cordially invited to attend the dedication and concert series.

SC AMENDMENT . . .

amendment was presented to the Student Affairs and Activities Committee for consideration. If the proposal is accepted, Dean of Students Louis F. Weislogel will submit the change to the faculty at its next meeting on February 7. Subsequent faculty approval would place the proposal before the student body in late February for final ratification.
