DR. WHITE SPEAKS TO STUDENT BODY

EMPHASIZES THE VALUE OF BIBLE STUDY

Dr. White, Vice-President of the White Bible School in N. Y. City, spoke to the student body in the college chapel, Friday morning, May 19th.

Dr. White had worked in the Y. M. C. A. at Calcutta for ten years, and he related some of his experiences and revealed conditions existing in India. He stressed the fact that missionaries are needed in India.

For preparation for the mission field, both home and foreign, as well as for other walks of life, Dr. White recommended an intensive study of the Scriptures. He said that a care-

MRS. B. M. JENKINS REED DIES SUDDENLY

Following we print the letter announcing the death of Mrs. C. B. Reed, formerly Miss B. M. Jenkins, head of Department of French at Albright 1920-1921. The staff, on behalf of her many friends among the student-body, wishes to extend to her husband and parents their sincerest sympathy:

5411 Greenwood Avenue,
Chicago, Illinois.
May 25th, 1922.

Mr. Gordon S. Burgett,
Myerstown, Penna.

Dear Friend:—I enclose payment for subscription in name of Miss B. M. Jenkins. No need to send receipt. Miss B. M. Jenkins was married on January last to C. B. Reed, but died on May 16 of influenza, followed by complications. If you care to print this in the Bulletin, perhaps it will reach the eyes of some friends of hers who otherwise might not know of her death.

Yours sincerely,

THOMAS A. JENKINS.

MUHLENBERG AND F. & M. BOW TO ALBRIGHT

BUCKNELL DEFEATS RED AND WHITE IN 11 INNING CONTEST 9-7

VARSITY MAKING A SPLENDID SHOWING

ALBRIGHT DEFEATS MUHL-ENBERG

Albright journeyed to Allentown, Saturday, May 27, and defeated Muhlenberg on their diamond by the score of 11-4. The boys seem to be hitting their stride at last. Lincoln kept Muhlenberg's hits scattered thru-out the game and was never in danger, while Albright bunched their hits in the third, eighth, and ninth innings. Capt. Hartzler had three hits out of five trips.

A Gateway to Progress

There it stands—a simple forty-foot gateway but unlike any other in the entire world. Through it have come many of the engineering ideas that have made this an electrical America.

The story of electrical development begins in the Research Laboratories. Here the ruling spirit is one of knowledge—truth—rather than immediate practical results. In this manner are established new theories—tools for future use—which sooner or later find ready application.

The great industries that cluster around Niagara Falls, the electrically driven battleships, the trolley cars and electrified railways that carry millions, the lamps that glow in homes and streets, the household conveniences that have relieved women of drudgery, the labor-saving electrical tools of factories, all owe their existence, partly at least, to the co-ordinated efforts of the thousands who daily stream through this gateway.

BUCKNELL DEFEATS ALBRIGHT IN THE 11th

Albright lost a hard-fought, eleven inning game to Bucknell on Albright Field, May 26th, by the score of 9—7. With the score 3—0 against them in the fourth, Albright awoke and knocked Denton out of the box. Bellack who succeeded him pitched wonderful ball, striking out 11 of the Albright batters in the 6 innings he worked. Yost, for Albright also pitched good ball, but errors, both on his own part and his team mates, proved his downfall. Jones playing his first full game for Albright had 3 hits. Bellack hit the ball hard for the winners. The game was won in the 11th when Knecht booted De Corsey's grounder, followed by a single by Bellack and a double by Deitrick.

RED AND WHITE LOSES THIRD STRAIGHT GAME

The jinx continued to follow our team when it traveled to Collegeville to play Ursinus College on May 17. Albright piled up a score of 8-4 in the early innings, knocking Howells of Ursinus out of the box in the second, but Cornog who succeeded him checked the Albright hitters letting them down with 6 hits in the 6 and 2/3 he worked. Ursinus got busy in the 7th, and scored 4 runs tying the score and in the 8th they scored 4 more, putting our fellows in the rear. Yost for Albright pitched a pretty game, but the opportune hitting of Ursinus and costly errors by his teammates proved his down fall.

ALUMNI !!

Our final appeal is to you. We have become so accustomed to depending upon our Alumni for so much that would otherwise be impossible, that we know beforehand our goal of a 250 Student Body in 1922-1923 is unattainable without your co-operation. Experience in past years has taught us that it is to the Alumni we can turn, confident of success, when any project affecting the best interests of our Alma Mater is at stake.

And so we again appeal to you for aid. Although this appeal is not for financial assistance, it is, nevertheless, second in importance to none hitherto made. You who have seen and will see at Commencement, the extensive improvements around Old Albright, will realize that the time has at last arrived when we can definitely look forward to steady expansion. At last we are ready for it. Dormitories have increased in numbers and attractiveness. We have our cheerful new dining-room and beautiful new chapel. We are confident that having started, we can keep abreast of the increasing demands a larger student body will make upon the institution.

We believe that it will be you, the Alumni, who will be most instrumental in the realization of our dream of a 250 Student Body, for next year. After having had a few years' experience in life added to your degrees, you are able far more than the present student body to realize the possibilities as well as the needs of the school. You have, no doubt, formed associations in which your opinion is of no mean weight. You know of at least one person,—perhaps several,—who is ready for college and with whom you have been more or less intimately associated through teaching, preaching, business, or social interests. Your personal interest and influence will likely go a long way in directing his choice of a college. Why not direct his thoughts toward Albright? She is ready for him and anxious for him. What's more, she is eager that you send in the name and address of any prospective student so that she may do her part in forwarding the necessary information, and otherwise manifest a friendly interest in him.

We hope, we are sure, that you will back us up in our campaign throughout the summer. Surely, as loyal sons of Albright, we can back her to a man during the next three months.

Alumni! Faculty! Student Body! It's up to us,—each one to achieve a 250 Student Body by September, 1922. Pick out your man and send him to Albright.

We will have 250 enrolled in September.

A CHALLENGE

Students, we are again facing a testing time. We are again at the threshold of a crucial period in a student's life. There is before us a week which will call for our utmost will, either to do or not to do the right. These few days will mean much in the making of ourselves, and in the moulding of our characters.

The approaching week is devoted to examinations. How are we going to face these examinations; with a will of our own; with a determination to fight through; or with a sneaky desire to slide through? Now, you may say that this an old story. What if it is an old story? Does that lessen the value of the story? The mere fact that it is an old story does not depreciate its value. The people who call it an old story are the people whom the shoe fits. In my estimation it is an old story with a new meaning.

This same question was before the school at our last examinations, and we remember quite vividly the results which transpired. Let us not be forced to go through the same procedure. May we take lessons from past experiences! It is only the fool who is not willing to be taught by his experiences. Let us not be fools, but profit by the past.

As we face this week, may everyone say, "I'm going to be a man," and "I'm going to be a woman." If each student approaches examinations with this thought in mind, I'm sure that there will be no opportunity for criticism from any angle. The various professors will feel delighted if they hear that all examinations were passed "on-the-square". But, above all, the student will have a satisfaction within himself that will surpass any objective satisfaction. I firmly believe that there is no student at Albright, who, if he sets himself to the task with an honest purpose, will be the loser. Furthermore, I believe there is no student that will fail in his examinations by depending on himself,—provided that he is a student who is at college for business. The fact is evident, that the mere joy-seeking student will not pass his examinations without cribbing. But, on the other hand, should he pass his examinations? In my estimation, that kind of student should pack up his grip and say good-bye to the college; for he is no college student, but a college detriment.

Students, if you are here for business, be honest; and, if you are not here for business, be honest for the sake of the rest. Let's be MEN and WOMEN.

WOMAN'S CLUB PICNIC

The Woman's Club, of Myerstown, held a most enjoyable outing at Light's Farm on Saturday, May 27. The afternoon was spent quietly, and at 6:00 o'clock a delicious picnic supper was served in the barn.

The club has been active all winter and has offered splendid, interesting programs at all its meetings. Guest nights were particularly attractive. The club numbers among its members the wives of the faculty members and the lady teachers of the faculty. Mrs. I. C. Keller is president of the club.

MRS. HECK ENTERTAINS AT TEA

The last of a series of delightful teas served monthly by the wives of faculty members was given on Thursday, May 25 by Mrs. Heck. The girls of the College and the faculty ladies were charmingly entertained. Mrs. Bowman and Mrs. Benfer poured.

A HIKE

It was a large evening—there was lots of sky out, and everything, but us was in. There was nothing to do either, so the usual remedy for these useless evenings was proposed,—a general hike. Through the efforts of the Y. M. and Y. W. Presidents, Mr. Lackey and Miss Faust, permission was received, and Prof. and Mrs. Dech chaperoned a big crowd out to the big dam. After they came back the usual crowd entertained in the reception room.

THE JUNIOR PROM

The annual prom was given by the Junior class, Saturday evening, May 20. This, the most anticipated event of the year, was more than usually successful this year. The attendance exceeded that of former proms, alumni and visitors being quite in evidence, as well as the student body which turned out strong.

The class must be congratulated upon its decorative scheme and the interesting program. The Prom was held on the Mohn Hall Campus, which was softly lighted by colored lights. On the lawn directly in front of the Hall, in a small bower-like enclosure of flowers, foilage and crepe-paper, the musicians sat. The town band furnished the music. The porch was also decorated with flowers and crepe-paper, and chairs and davenport were cozily arranged. In the reception room the program was given and the refreshments were served. The color scheme of black and gold, the class colors, was carried out very effectively and prettily throughout the whole evening.

The program consisting of six proms and entertainment, was absolutely original and clever. Concentrated out-door sports were participated in by both students and faculty. Mrs. Ellis deserves special mention for surprising us with her wonderful voice. Prizes were given to the winners. A big feature of the evening was refreshment time. The giving of favors was also a pleasing attraction.

At eleven-fifteen the fair ones began to give good-bye to their escorts, and by eleven-thirty everyone had reached his or her room and was telling of the wonderful time. After all, the success of the Prom is measured by the amount of enjoyment, and the Juniors may feel confident that their Prom was a decidedly huge success.

TO HER

How often we grow careless, and forget
The ever present love which makes no deed
Too large or small for Her to do, if it
Is for Her son or daughter. Little acts,
That we so often take for granted,
are
The products of a thoughtfulness which can
But be the overflowing of that love.
Unnoticed by the casual watcher,
yet
These little acts, so unostensibly Accomplished, mean much more to everyone
Than fewer deeds of larger magnitude.
'Tis Mother's Day and so to-day I wear
A pink carnation, token of the love
I feel for Her, and I am thanking
God
That my carnation still may be of pink,
And praying that for many years to come
It may remain the same. Heaven grant it may!

—Hobart Heller '25.

Ambition

Dice: "Do you know what I'd do
if I had a million?"
Sechrist: "No, what?"
Dice: "I'd buy a wheel chair so I would not have to walk to and from classes."

My Opinion Is This

Here is the place to give expression to your opinions about irregular conditions in our student life. The name of the contributor will be withheld if so desired.—Editor.

Thus far both the students and the citizens of Myerstown have supported the baseball team faithfully, but there is one thing being done which has caused much criticism both on and off the college campus; that is, during the home games, a crowd of baseball enthusiasts crowd around the players' bench, in fact from home plate to beyond first base. The assembly mean well and they feel they can "root" for their team better when they are nearer to them, and this is true, but they are merely looking out for themselves, and not caring a bit for the patrons who are in the grandstand and have paid the price of admission. Is it fair to permit some spectators to stand in front of them and shut off their view of nearly one-third the diamond, and especially first base? You will all agree that it is not, so why not give all a chance to see all the game? In many instances the player's benches are filled with these persons who claim side-line privileges, and when the players come in, they must sit on the ground. This isn't fair to the players. In the days of Pop Kelchner even the players were kept back on benches directly in front of the grandstand, and there was no enticement for the spectators to crowd near the baseline.

As a matter of suggestion, let us play fair and keep in our places. If those "enthusiastic" fans will get in the grandstand and instill a little "pep" there, I'm sure it will be more effective than where it is now carried on, and the people who pay admission will appreciate the game better.

Snyder walked into a music store to buy a mouth organ. He was shown every make in the store, but he was not satisfied. They were all too small to suit him.

"Look here", said the storekeeper, "Just try your mouth along this piano."

Prof. Zener: "What did the Irish contribute to American progress?" (expecting the answer of "Hard Physical Labor")

Schreffler: "Policemen."

COLLEGE NOTES

Yes, yes, as the poet observed, if it isn't one thing it's another. A while ago it used to be spring clothes. Now its exams. Which would you rather have? Personally,—well, we might betray our sex if we committed ourselves. Exams. are all right in their place, but their place seems decidedly "de trop" at the wind-up of a specially glorious and happy and spring-fevery spring.

Can you all stand a shock? Hold your breath—wow! The new chapel is going to be all finished in time to hold the graduation exercises of the class of 1922. The work is progressing nicely, and each day sees it nearer completion. You didn't expect it? Well, neither did we.

The famous "Jazz Six", known in professional circles as "The Jazz Six Collegians?" filled an engagement at Bellefonte Academy over the week-end of May 18th.

When the announcement was made in chapel that the radio concert would run two nights, and that the tickets were 25 cents, Anne Ritter wondered if one could get in both nights on the same quarter.

The other night the bell system of Mohn Hall had an attack of over-estimation of its duties, and it started to work at 12:30 in the morning, keeping on steadily until 10 o'clock, when it is supposed the battery wore out. The thoughts that the girls had about that bell are hardly fit for print.

With apologies to Browning:
"Oh, to be a Senior
Now that exams are here!"

For you know the Seniors took theirs long ago and the agony is over.

The last time the Bulletin went to print there were four blue eggs in the nest on the fire-escape. This is no longer true, because now there are four, featherless, ravenous little robins, all mouth, and it surely does keep Ma and Pa busy rustling worms and "grub" for those children.

The campus promises to be more beautiful than ever. The men are working steadily to gravel and straighten the paths, plant grass on the bare spots, and smooth the extensive lawn. These efforts are appreciated because we know what a wonderfully lovely campus we have. It is gratifying to see so much care bestowed upon it.

Blaine W. Shick and Donald Christ enjoyed a hike to Millersburg on May 20. After spending a pleasant week-end they returned via the railroad.

Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Clark, their daughter, Miriam, and son Elmer; and the Misses Marion Neagle and Mabel Appler visited the college over the week-end. They were the guests of Howard Clark, son of V. B. Clark.

Say! Did you ever hear the story of the cat that lost nine lives all at once? Well here it is:—The other night when all was serene and still an unearthly m-e-o-w coming from the vicinity of the heating plant smote the sensitive ears of several students and rudely defeated sleep. An indictment was immediately drawn up against the feline in question, and a moment later an attempt was made to locate the marauder and bring said feline to justice. The attempt failed, and thinking the creature had vacated the premises, the students again retired. No sooner had they reached the lapping shores of dreamland than the obnoxious feline tried to give an exhibition of a regular Mixed Glee Club concert with Band accompaniment directly under the window of the luckless Swank, who was twice thus fitfully aroused. This time there was no debate, neither failure of plan. From the open window a quick substitution was made. The piercing cry of the feline was cut short by a sharp report and three ounces of cold lead occupied the cavity left vacant by nine lives. Nineteen seconds later silence reigned supreme.

As a reward for services, those girls who have been in the Glee Club for two years are now proudly displaying a tiny pearl studded pin, with a guard "A" attached on a short chain.

The members of the inter-collegiate Debating Team have received their insignia, which is the recognition of membership.

Mr. Vernon Sweitzer, a student of Columbia University, visited Naomi Loucks, '24, over Memorial Day.

Alice and Kay were discussing Crumbling's eyes. Alice affirms that they are blue but Kay says when you get up close they are green. We wonder when she was there.

Mr. and Mrs. Ritter, Miss Mildred Ritter and Mr. and Mrs. Taylor of Carlisle, visited Anna Ritter '24 over Sunday, May 28.

The spirit of self-sacrifice is quite in evidence these days. Many of the more brilliant ones wiled away the merry hours of Memorial Day at picnics. The rest of us poor ones had to stay home and study for exams!

Anna Mengel's latest accomplishment is running so fast that she kicks herself as she runs. The track is the second floor hall.

A NIGHT OUT WITH THE FRESHMEN

On Friday evening, May 26th, Miss Phyllis Bicher '25 entertained her class mates at her home on Main Street. The rooms were tastefully decorated; the reception-room in green, the living-room in the class colors, brown and buff, and the dining-room in the school colors, red and white.

A very unique program was arranged by Miss Bicher and the class president, Mr. Benfer. Every Member of the class participated in the program of which the main features were a vocal solo sung in Russian, accompanied in French and listened to in Spanish; and a debate, "Resolved that the fat man has more advantages than the thin man", the judges, all being stout, decided unanimously in favor of the Affirmative.

The guests then retired to the dining room where a palatable luncheon was served and many interesting toasts given.

At ten-thirty the class gave the Bhoom yell for Bichers and returned to College, feeling that the evening had been well spent. The party was chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. H. A. Benfer.

THINGS TO BE WATCHED

1. The results of hair tonics on Witmer's dome.
2. The Bulletin Board.
3. The grass seeds that have been sown on the campus.
4. The "cases" giving good-bye at the end of the year.
5. New "cases" developing.
6. Dr. Gobble's cellar.

EXCELSIOR

"Evolution and the Bible," was the leading number on the program for May 19. F. H. Shaffer began the discussion by presenting "Evolution, a Scientific Reality". H. W. Beecher then advanced the religious phase or "Evolution as It Relates to the Bible". After Bennett had reconciled to some extent the variation between the two former speeches, the subject was thrown open for general discussion. Several of the members participated heartily, bringing many new facts to light, so that the subject was thoroughly aired. The meeting was one of unusual interest. At the close many were of the opinion that:

"You were a tadpole, and I was a fish,
In the Paleozoic time;
And we slithered with many a caudal flip,
In the midst of the ooze and the slime."

Y. W. C. A.

The meeting on the evening of May 16th was led by Clara Royer. Her subject was "Faith". She discussed her topic in an interesting and adequate manner. The girls entered into the discussion by answering the questions given out by the leader.

The program for May 23rd was in charge of the missionary committee. The leader of the evening was Mary Miller, chairman of the committee. The subject for this meeting was "South America". Both Miss Miller and Janet Kaltreider read and told of conditions existing in parts of South America, and of the need for missionaries and teachers which exists there.

DEBATING CLUB

The Inter-Collegiate Debating teams, together with the members of the Themisian Literary Debating team, which won the Mudge Cup in Inter-Society debating this year, met on Thursday, May 18th, for the purpose of organizing a Debating Club. Prof. Keller presided over the meeting. The following officers were elected: President, C. I. Raffensperger; Vice President, J. K. Snyder; Sec'y., D. L. Sechrist; Treas., A. L. Swank.

Hewitt: "Why do you say this is an age of uplift?"

Schick: "Because suspenders are coming back into fashion."

THEMISIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The meeting of May 19th was unusually interesting because of the number of impromptu speeches. Miss Garlach responded by telling of her intended trip to France this summer. Isabel King spoke of the importance of the literary society and Mary Marquardt told of her trip to Delaware University as representative at the I. N. A. Conference.

Other impromptu speeches were presented by Sara Statler, Frieda Miller, Mary Miller, and Marion Weigel. Frieda Miller's subject was "Why do I fear mice?"

Anna Mingle rendered a pleasing vocal selection and Grace Otto favored us with a piano solo.

A short but interesting program was presented on the evening of May 29. Vocal solos were rendered by Frieda Miller and Frances Faust. Clara Royer gave an autobiography of Edward Bok. Martha Shambaugh gave an eight minute talk on the importance of the Teacher Training School. An interesting feature of the program was presented by Jane Fray and Sara Statler. The subject of the question discussed was "Which is better, riches or poverty, and who is the happier, the rich man or the poor man?" The judges decided in favor of the "Poor Man."

MYERSTOWN HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT ACTIVITIES

An unusually successful Commencement week program was started auspiciously on Monday, May 29, when the class of 1922 of the Myerstown High School rendered a rollicking well acted play, "Borrowed Money." The cast was well chosen and the parts were interpreted creditably. Class day was observed in the usually interesting manner on the 31st of May, and on the 1st of June the commencement exercises were held. The class numbers sixteen, not quite as many as the classes have usually contained, but the class displayed a lot of talent and marked ability along many lines.

THE LATEST

The newest thing in class-rooms: Dr. Bowman conducts his economics class on the bleachers on the Athletic Field. No, there was no ballgame going on at the time. It was purely economics.

Lawyer: "I can't bear a fool."
Farmer: "Your mother could."

TOWN NOTES

The radio-phone concert held in the High School Auditorium on Friday Evening, May 26th, aroused considerable community interest. The operator, a representative of the Northeastern Electric Co., of Reading, experienced a great deal of difficulty in getting the instrument tuned in with the waves from various stations. The clearest and best concert heard was from East Pittsburg, three hundred and two miles from Myerstown. In addition to the concert, Florence Weiser sang and the Albright College Orchestra rendered selections.

Rev. J. Lewis Fluck delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the Myerstown High School in the auditorium on Sunday evening, May 28th. On Monday evening, May 29th, the Senior Class play, entitled "Borrowed Money", was presented to a large audience. On Wednesday evening the class exercises were held. On Thursday evening the class of sixteen members listened to an instructive talk by H. W. Dodd and were then presented with diplomas.

The funeral of Albert C. Tice was held from his W. Main Ave. home. The services were conducted by Rev. A. E. Youse, assisted by Prof. V. C. Zener. Interment was made in the New Union Cemetery.

Myerstown observed Memorial Day with very appropriate exercises. The patriotic organizations of the city were especially active in securing the services of two bands and in arranging the other activities of the day. The parade, marching to the music of the Fredericksburg Band and the Acme Band of Myerstown, directed its course to the New Union Cemetery where Rev. Eggy, Pastor of the First U. E. Church of Lebanon, delivered the oration of the day.

CLERIC

A meeting of the Cleric was held in the College Chapel, May 18, at which Dr. B. H. Niebel presented a fine message on the subject "The Pastor and Missions." Rev. Stauffer, who has been appointed his assistant, also gave a fine talk on Missions. The Cleric greatly enjoyed the messages of these two men and hopes that they will return some time in the future.

Brown: "Who pulled your tooth?"

ALBRIGHT POLITICAL CLUB

Tuesday evening, May 23, was the gala night in the short history of the Albright Political Club. The Club met at nine o'clock and held a banquet in the dining hall of Emlich's "Taste Good Shop" on Main St.

Attorney Moyer from Lebanon, Dr. C. A. Bowman, Dean of Albright College, and Prof. V. C. Zener were the guests of honor. Over an hour was spent in enjoying the good eats which have made the "Taste Good" Shop a by-word around Albright.

After the banquet, the members of the Club enjoyed the privilege of listening to talks by the guests of honor.

Mr. Moyer has a wide reputation as a speaker and orator; he is the national president of the P. O. S. of A. and has been actively engaged in politics for many years. He spoke very interestingly of how he became interested in politics. For many years he was a member of the State Legislature and explained how the Uniform Primary and other interesting laws came to be placed on the statute books of the State. He spoke of the part which the Standard Oil Co., the P. R. R. and the steel industries play in politics and of the Vore activities in Phila. and methods they employ to evade the assistance clause.

He was a prominent factor in the recent Pinchot campaign. He hails Pinchot's nomination in Pennsylvania and Beveridge's nomination in Indiana as the rewards of clean politicians with high ideals. He said the challenge to young men of to-day is to unite with a virile minority that will jam the "Fear of God" down the throats of a sluggish majority. The danger that confronts the country is the unconcern of the electorate. We need to have the honest conception and educated process of the fundamentals of Government.

He predicts that Pennsylvania is going to pave the way for a bigger and better Government and that if Pinchot is elected and puts into action the reforms which he has in mind,—an economic Government, budget system and the conservation of natural resources, nothing can stop him from going to the White House the next Presidential campaign.

Dr. Bowman spoke of the high ideals he has for Albright's young men and women in regard to their responsibilities in political circles. He expressed his interest in the Political

Club and believes that through the medium of such an organization, its members will have a splendid opportunity for developing the civic responsibilities of sovereign citizens.

Prof. V. C. Zener who has an extensive knowledge of politics gave an interesting talk on many phases of politics and regretted that so few of our electorate respond to the call of the Primaries.

The members of the Club are: Fahl, Bennett, C. I. Raffensperger, Beecher, Earl Kurtz, Sheeley, Shick, Miller, Grumbling, Bahney, Swank and Kaufman.

JOKES

Prof. Zener: "What do you know of Vocational Training?"

Miss Loucks: "My brother studied electricity and then switched to the general course."

An Observation

A college course is like a full-course dinner. You can't always tell afterwards what's done you the most good, but you can generally tell what's done you the most harm.

Kachel: "Then Fortune never smiled on you?"

Crumbling: "Oh, yes, but she never flirted."

Gook: "Last night I slept on a billiard table."

Detty: "How much did it cost you?"

Gook: "Oh, the usual price, 80c per hour."

Autocrat of the Breakfast Table

Bennett: "Please, pass the salt."

W. Miller: "What's the matter; is your right arm paralyzed?"

Bennett: "No, I'm civilized."

Swank: "Why didn't you go to the 'prom'?"

Goodhart: "I heard a woman talk before."

"I wonder how many girls will be made unhappy when I marry," said Polk.

"How many do you expect to marry?" answered Mable.

Lincoln: "I don't see how these freshmen keep their caps on."

Yost: "That's vacuum pressure."

A Moving Appeal

"Do you know what it is to go before an audience?"

"No, I spoke before an audience once, but most of it went out before I did."

Information comes from the fac-

 the departments of History and Education. Professor Zener will hereafter have charge of the Education Department and Professor Benfer will take over History. This is a change that cannot help but be beneficial, as it will relieve the crowded conditions of both departments and alleviate the heavy schedule which Professor Zener has carried for several years.

MEMORIAL DAY ACTIVITIES

As a result of the decree of the faculty that Memorial Day should be a holiday, a number of picnics were held. The Preps and their friends went to Mt. Gretna by truck, and the Sophs hiked out to the Big Dam for their outing. Several of the faculty members entertained some students at Monro Valley.

ALBRIGHT COLLEGE—ITS HISTORY*The Fourth Link

The work and growth of Central Pennsylvania College was temporarily checked for several years by the culmination of the division in the Evangelical Association, which in 1894 resulted in a complete rupture and the organization of the United Evangelical Church. Those were days of self denial and hardship of which those now connected with Albright College can not form an adequate conception except those who passed through them.

After the crisis was over the college immediately manifested new life and vigor, but it was very evident to its president that it would be suicidal to its educational interests for the United Evangelical Church to maintain two colleges within one hundred miles of each other. Accordingly he addressed a letter to the General Conference at Naperville, Ill., in November 1894 advocating the merging of our educational interests in the east. That letter was published in the General Conference Journal of 1894.

EXCHANGE DEPARTMENT

We take this opportunity to acknowledge the exchanges of the past year. They, with their constructive criticism of the Bulletin, have played a great part in making our paper what it is today. In turn we hope we have been the means of helping others.

By this time the various papers have been passed on to new managers. We are anxious to see what new things will be added, and what old things will be changed by these. Our best wishes to the new managers of our various exchanges.

Encouraged by the manner in which that letter was received by the General Conference he laid the same matter again before the Board of Trustees of Central Pennsylvania College at the annual meeting in 1895. On motion of Isaiah Bower, one of the trustees, the Board appointed the President of the College a committee to visit the four eastern conferences and lay this matter before them. He visited the Pittsburgh and Ohio conferences in the fall of 1895 and laid the same matter before the East Pennsylvania and the Central Pennsylvania Conferences in the spring of 1896. All four conferences appointed delegates to a joint committee to take up this matter.

That committee met in the United Evangelical Church at New Berlin on Thursday afternoon, June 18, 1896. The outcome of this meeting was a disappointment as nothing definite was accomplished. One reason was that each side wished to control the new or consolidated institution and have the other party play seconds. Under such conditions no merger can be brought about, unless one party is strong enough to crush the other and force a merger. Such was not the case in this instance.

More, however, was accomplished than appears on the surface, as we shall soon see. A beginning was made. Some of the brush was cleared away. Both sides went to work their respective fields to raise an endowment. Agents were placed in the field both for Albright College and Central Pennsylvania College, and both met with fairly good success.

In the mean time both colleges tried to devise means to obtain state recognition. The trustees of Central Pennsylvania College appointed a committee to secure the necessary legislation. After several meetings and conferences the chairman of the committee prepared a bill which was placed in the hands of Hon. B. K. Focht, State Senator from Union county, who presented and looked after the bill in the Senate. In the House Hon. A. W. Johnson, of Union county and Hon. Adam Smith of Snyder county looked after the bill on their side. This bill amended the bill of 1895 and under its provisions both Central Pennsylvania College and Albright College were placed on the approved list.

Between the time this bill passed the House and was signed by the governor the East Pennsylvania Conference revived its committee of 1896 and sent Rev. J. D. Woodring as a delegate to visit the Central Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh conferences to reopen the subject of consolidation. This was in the spring of 1901. He was received with open arms and his message was hailed with delight. Both conferences appointed their quota to meet the delegates of the East Pennsylvania Conference in joint committee on consolidation. The joint committee formulated a plan which was approved by all the conferences and in the summer of 1902 the merger was consummated under the amended charter of Albright College and in September the students of both colleges met at Myerstown as members of the consolidated college then popularly known as "The Greater Albright".

MY OPINION

During the last year more has been done to make Albright a larger and better college than in any previous year in her career. We are now in possession of an ideal modern central heating plant connecting all the college buildings; Mohn Hall has a beautiful and spacious addition; and Main Building has not been forgotten for to it has been added a large and well illuminated dining hall, a beautiful chapel, and additional rooms. At present plans are under way for a large and up to date gymnasium. Thus in buildings Albright has advanced rapidly, but has she not forgotten one element which tends to beautify and make her attractive to the prospective student; I refer to the campus.

One of the main things which tend to make college life pleasant, outside of the buildings, is a beautiful campus. The satisfaction received from looking out of a dorm window across a campus which is well kept, gives additional inspiration to a student to overcome hard lessons. The value of a well-kept campus to a student and to the college can not be computed in dollars and cents. Why can not the campus of Albright be kept in good condition when it would not necessitate a larger outlay of money than it costs to take care of it at present.

Recent scientific experiments have proved that if the sod is kept away from the base of all trees, except the pear and red maple, for a distance of two to two and a half feet on all sides, it will prolong the life, increase the strength and make a more symmetrical and attractive ornament of the tree for the lawn or campus. Around the bases of all the trees on our campus is a growth of grass tall enough to make hay. It is impossible to cut this grass with the mower, and to go around and mow it by hand is too much work for all the help hired to keep the campus. If this sod were cut away from the base of the tree for a distance of two to two and a half feet on all sides, the mower would be able to get close enough to cut it all off,—thus doing away with the present growth at its base, and, also, the work of cutting it with a scythe every time it gets tall enough. The base of the flag pole is a very good example of what will be accomplished. The grass would always be level and also help to strengthen the tree.

Another thing which would help to beautify Main Building would be the substitution of gravel for the newly planted grass along the front of the building. The sod will be extremely hard to grow because it does not receive sufficient sunlight. It will be impossible to keep it growing within a foot of the walk because the students traveling back and forth will soon have all the life trampled out of it. When it becomes high enough to cut, a strip along the building which the mower cannot reach will be left. Thus it will always have a ragged appearance, which could be remedied by a load of fine gravel, thus insuring a level piece of ground which would need no additional attention.

This work would need to be done only once or twice a season. It not only saves work for the caretaker and gives him additional time for some other needy work, but would also make the campus look fifty per cent better, because it would always have that finished appearance which makes a campus beautiful. Let us not forget the appearance of the grounds while we are fixing up the interior, and especially when it will not necessitate an outlay of money.
