

Class of 1937 Sets New High In Academic Rating

Pi Alpha Tau Tops Social Groups at Close of Spring Sessions

With a rating of 2.35 (B) for the second semester of the 1936-1937 college year, the class of 1937 established a new "high" in academic achievement. The former record was hung up seven years ago by the class of 1930 when they rated a 2.4 during the second semester of their senior year.

A 2.05 (B-1) rating was set by the women of the class of 1937 during the past semester. This average has not been equaled by any class group since the merger of the colleges in Reading. The nearest approach to this new group record was made by the women of the class of 1933 when they rated a 2.09 during the second semester of their senior year.

The general college rating of 2.74 (B-) for the entire student body during the past semester presents the highest average for the entire college since the first semester of the 1932-33 college year.

While 27.3% of the seniors (Class of 1937), 24.6% of the Juniors, 14.4% of the Sophomores and 10.7% of the Freshmen earned positions on the Semester Honor List by maintaining an average of above 2.0 (B-1); and while 30% of the Juniors (Class of 1938), and 22% of the Sophomores were placed on the Dean's List with the privilege of voluntary class attendance for the first semester of the current academic year by rating above a 2.3 (B); 6.7% of the Juniors, 13.4% of the Sophomores and 16.5% of the Freshmen were placed on the academic deficiency list, failing to maintain the minimum quality rating of 3.7 (C-) for the semester.

The Semester Honor List: Rating above 2.0 (B-1).

Prof. Buckwalter chose for his topic "Present Economic Conditions," after which he showed 300 feet of official Olympic film. The other speakers of the evening were Dr. Frain, head of the Economic Department, University of Pennsylvania, and Dr. Carleton Harris, Deputy Banking Director of the State.

DEBATEES MEETING

Dr. John B. Douds, coach of the debating squad, would like to meet all prospective debaters, Monday at 1:00 o'clock, in room 103 for a short meeting. There are only two experienced debaters remaining from last year's highly successful squad and the coach is prepared to give all candidates a chance to prove their ability. Dr. Douds has arranged an attractive schedule for the coming year and all persons interested are urged to report.

ALBRIGHT STUDENTS WELCOME THREE NEW INSTRUCTORS

Prof. MILTON G. GIEL
Psychology

Additions have been made to the personnel of the faculty in three departments of the college. Dr. Milton G. Giel was chosen as head of the department of Psychology. Professor Clyde A. Harding, assistant professor of English and Newton S. Danford, instructor in Chemistry.

Dr. Giel comes to Albright with a vast experience in the field of psychology. He was graduated from North Central College in 1918.

Prof. NEWTON S. DANFORD
Chemistry

He received his M.A. degree in 1928 and his Ph. D. in 1930 at Northwestern University, where he also held the position of Assistant Professor of Psychology for three years. Clinical psychology is his major field. He has worked with and is a firm believer in the Keeler "lie" detector and has worked for several years in clinics. Since coming to Albright he has instituted a new outposts department of Child Psychology. He has also been teaching the Senior Bible class. Professor Clyde A. Harding was graduated from Lehigh University in 1931 with highest honors in English. The following year he completed work for a Master's degree and is at present completing graduate work at Columbia University for his Ph. D. His major fields are Shakespeare and 18th Century literature. From 1932-36 he taught Freshmen and Sophomore English courses at Lehigh University. He comes to Albright to fill the position left vacant by the death of Professor Voigt. Newton S. Danford is an alumnus of Albright College, class of 1935. He was Chemistry major in college and is now completing work for a Master's degree at the University of Pennsylvania. Since 1935, he has been teaching science classes at the Westmore, New Jersey, High School. While in college Danford was a varsity football man and a leader in many campus activities.

Profs. Douds and Harding Attend Debate Sessions

On Saturday, October 2, Dr. John B. Douds, head of the department of English and Albright debating coach, with the faculty member of debating, Prof. Clyde Harding, attended the fall session of the debating Association of Pennsylvania Colleges to aid in the selection of a suitable topic for debate among the forensic squads of the colleges in this district. The debate was held at the Penn Harris Hotel, Harrisburg, where ten schools of colleges were represented at the gathering, which is a bi-annual affair. Another debate is held in the spring at Penn State, with members of the college teams invited.

The committee in charge of picking a question, selected four of them for the consideration of the delegates and the following one was chosen: Resolved, That the National Labor Relations Board Should Be Empowered to Enforce Arbitration of All Labor Disputes.

This will be the main topic for debate at Albright this winter. The delegates were shocked to learn of the resignation of Prof. John H. Frizzell as Executive Secretary of the organization. Prof. Frizzell, an instructor at Penn State has held this post for the past three years and has been the guiding hand in the organization. He has been an instrumental factor in the rapid growth of the organization, but has been hampered by poor health. Prof. Mays of Juniata, has been selected to fill Frizzell's post for the coming year.

A new president also was elected in the person of Prof. Burroughs of Grove City. He will take the place of the retiring president, Dr. Tallmadge, of Cedar Crest.

Three colleges applied for admission in the organization: St. Vincents, situated at Latrobe; Bucknell Junior College and Moravian, St. Vincents was accepted, and the Moravian application was tabled until the next session. Bucknell was refused on the grounds that the Association is composed of four-year institutions and the Lewisburg Junior College offers a two-year course only.

Dr. Douds was chairman of the committee to draw a resolution of appreciation of the work done by Frizzell in the past few years, and the resolution was adopted by the main body.

ALBRIGHT BUSINESS CLUB

After a lapse of one year the Albright Business Club under the sponsorship of Professor Douds has again organized for the coming year. With approximately fifty students attending the first meeting which was in charge of Professor Buckwalter, the club outlined plans for the coming year. It is their purpose to inaugurate a series of lectures given by prominent speakers and successful businessmen of Reading and vicinity, in order to acquaint the students with existing business conditions in this locality.

Bids for membership are given only to upper classmen meeting the club's requirements. The following officers were elected at the first meeting:

P. McCormack, president; A. Ossilio and R. Riffle, vice presidents; K. Plotts, secretary-treasurer.

A constitution was adopted at the meeting. The Albright Business Club will hold meetings the second and third Thursday of every month. At the next meeting pertinent questions of the day will be presented for discussion.

Red and White Grid Machine Faces Powerful Friedman-Coached Eleven

Lone Star Dietz and Star Lion Rifle, Lead Squad Against City College of New York at Lewisham Stadium, For Second Scrimmage of 1937 Gridiron Season.

Beaver's Co-Captain Walter Schimmler Looms as Threat to Lone Star Dietz's Hopes for Victory—Albright Plans To Win With Newly Developed 1 Pass Attack

At two-thirty tomorrow afternoon, in the new, turf of Lewisham stadium in the heart of New York City, the Albright Lions will meet their first major opponent of the current grid season, battling Benny Friedman's City College of New York eleven. But this is not the only thing that will be at stake, for C. N. Y. is trouncing Brooklyn College, 24 to 0, last week while Lone Star Dietz's aggregation was pounding out a 20 to 0 shutout over Geneva in the season's opener.

Coach Dietz has been drilling the Lions intensively this past week to get set for the powerhouse Beaver combination. Last year the Red and White machine whipped the club from end to end, and tips the beam slightly under 180 pounds in the backfield, giving them a material advantage over the pigmy Lions. In four weeks of serious work, the metropolitan squad has not suffered a serious injury which gives them another definite advantage.

The mentor has realized the increased power of the New Yorkers and has laid his plans accordingly. The Lions will enter the tilt tomorrow primed to throw the pigskin all over the lot.

Most of the practice squad has been devoted to polishing up a deceptive passing attack as the mentor has little hope of pounding the C. N. Y. giant forward wall.

For their part, the Beavers have also been pointing to the Albright affair. Friedman has given them a new deceptive double wing-back offense, rounding them into fine physical condition, given them an indefinable something that the coach terms "spirit," and plenty of drilling.

The first program will be the history of C. N. Y. and most of the men are veterans. The team averages almost 200 pounds from end to end, and tips the beam slightly under 180 pounds in the backfield, giving them a material advantage over the pigmy Lions. ## Dr. Evans Chosen Arbiter for Socks Makers In District

Selection Made By Hosiery Men and Hosiery Union Recently.

Dr. John C. Evans, head of the department of business administration of Albright College was selected last week as arbitrator for the full fashioned hosiery industry in this area at a meeting of the newly organized Keystone Hosiery Manufacturers, Inc.

Professor Evans' appointment was in accordance with the terms of an agreement between manufacturers and workers for the settlement of Hosiery Wars earlier in the year when the county-wide hosiery strike was settled. The Keystone organization endorsed the reading of the board of directors in the selection of Dr. Evans. The choice has already been ratified by the union.

Dr. Evans will function in his role of arbitrator only when disputes between the union and the mills cannot be settled in conferences between the individual mill and union or the association and the union.

Professor Evans was on the faculty at the University of Pennsylvania for seven years before his coming to Albright in 1932. He has traveled widely in this country and abroad, studying economic subjects.

EDITORIAL

In the past, it has been the custom of the editors of this paper to waste the first editorial of the year by making a statement of the policy in their editorials during the coming months. Your incumbent is prepared to make no such statement. The reasons for this departure from tradition will now be explained.

Again referring to the past, we find that the persons in charge of the destinies of the sheet, almost without exception, have come into conflict with the powers that be owing to their inability to strictly observe their good intentions. Perhaps they could not resist the chance to take a crack at some real or imaginary faults.

To overcome this difficulty, the present staff has seen fit to organize a committee of five senior members of the staff, selected for sundry qualities, who will direct the editorial policy of this paper so that the mistakes of the past can be avoided as much as possible. Another way of stating this would be to say that the responsibility has been shifted to other and possibly broader shoulders.

In any case, this committee will start to function before the next issue of the ALBRIGHTIAN is on the press and said committee will be in complete charge of what goes into or what is rejected from this column.

Henceforth, all complaints must of necessity be addressed to the Committee on Editorials. We feel that the members have been selected on a sound basis and that they will admirably represent the student opinion at large. Members of the Committee will be entrusted with this precious space from week to week.

Your editor, for obvious reasons, has been selected as a member, although probably lacking the necessary qualifications. He feels, however, that he is in a position at present to make some few generalizations as to what the Committee will decide in reference to the policy. He feels in the first place that the Committee will be above the numerous petty quarrels that have caused so much discord on so many college papers. The members of the group are not notorious for their cynical and quarrelsome attitudes and will raise an issue only when they consider it necessary, have discussed the matter from all angles, and have ascertained the facts to the best of their ability.

In short, they will try to represent the student body as a whole, considering the rights and opinions of the minority as often as possible. That they will fight for their decisions once arrived at goes without saying.

One of our present day columnists has said that without a vigorous dissenting minority, democracy would fail. Considering Albright somewhat in the position of a democracy, the Committee has decided to inaugurate a special column for the use of those students who have a bone to pick with what we might have written. Address your letters to the Committee on Editorials and drop them at the press office. We have two stipulations: that your opinion is a reasonable one; (we must arbitrarily decide this) and secondly, that the name of the author is signed to the article. We must have his or her express permission to use the name although we will print pseudonym if preferred. Otherwise, the space is yours for the asking.

Speaking broadly, we might end with the assurance that the Committee will run the column on a sound basis and that our criticisms will be constructive, never otherwise. We hope you agree with what we say. If not, we have shown you the way to express your dissatisfaction and hope you will take advantage of it.

ON CAMPUS

In the past an editorial appearing in the Albrightian was defined as a "piece of writing, the purpose of which was to 'debunk'". One subject for debunking was as good as another—"debunking for the sake of the debunker" might have been the policy of the paper.

The new students, freshmen and transfers, must be wondering (if they have read this far) just what could have caused such a quantity of negative writing. I, too, would be puzzled if that type of writing were to be done this year. Have you aged Albrightians not sensed a new spirit at Albright this fall and missed a great deal of "gripping"?

Everywhere on campus these past few weeks, I have heard much "building up" of the Alma Mater—"tearing down" and cause for it seem to have become a part of the past. Albright is going ahead and the student body is keeping pace with the

We can just see the looks on some faces at the return of the "Snooper" but may we suggest that scissors would make short work of this column. For the few who would like to know, "there's gossipin' at ya."

We've heard that Les Knox's cheering section at the Geneva game cost him a penny per roter—nice boy, Les. Incidentally, we've not more news about that sleek Zed wonder. He likes a Hank of Hair and a Bit of Bone from West Reading (an old flame never dies) and has fun at the Brugger. Nero also has a nice Ford. Many of the old grads were back at the game on Saturday—ask Helen Teel, Lois Künzle, and Sando. Becker late than never.

We hear that Ace Campbell has the girls at Northeast all flutter. You're there to teach Romeo. That P. A. T. pledge hasn't learned to take it. Someone stole her sleek Zed. Our editor has definitely set aside Wednesday nights for Albrightian work (with his staff) and wonder. What a nice staff you've got grandma.

Wonder how much it cost Skeleton-face Rehrig for the book store advertising at the game Saturday and was Jeanette Shelley's face red. Rev. Riffle has definitely gone preachy on his. His latest speech was on Christian Living. He plays football pretty good, too, sometimes.

Eleanor Richards and Gene Barth are continuing their pursuit of the intellectual every evening. They learn lots of peachy stuff.

Lewis was extremely generous with his shoulder on the trip home from Des Moines. Ask Mary Dunne. A bunch of Keys and Containner weren't on speaking terms last week or have we missed the point?

Betty Straub had some time introducing her little sister to all the interested males—nice going, Mary.

All candidates for the role of "Miss Cherry Blossom" see Prof. Duddy. Getting up in the world, aren't we? Helene Green is sticking pretty close to her funny papers these days. Tony Troisi had another birthday. Your guess is as good as ours.

Ask Pete Alexinok where his frat pin is. Did you lose it, Pete? Don Quixote Jowitz would lose his at the same place if he had one, or perhaps if the Pottsworld bundle was kept it. A new Stoopnagle and Budd version would be "Guys with broken legs have more fun than you."

Why couldn't all faculty receptions be as good as the last one? Those fresh faces are some "suff". Wonder why Grace Degler changed her mind and decided to take American Lit?—Admiral has decided that Ruth is a swell name. Cupid seems to be working overtime this year. We got nice weather, huh?

Charley Chase, of bookstore fame got himself hitched. Dorm girls with intentions on the rugged Charley are now out of luck. Now that Ted College has piffit sorta, he is taking the Drug Store babies to raise only nobody ain't gonna introduce him to one of them. Cocky got a girl. So does Nerves. Won't it be funny when they wake up? Who said anything about the Army and the Navy?—The boy mentioned Nero is also on the warpath again. She's in a convenient spot now.

Time's a-flyin' but see you again.

MANY NEW BOOKS ADDED TO LIBRARY

Before the opening of the school year large gifts were received by the library from the following: Coss, Elsie E. Knoll, Charles J. Moravec, and Professor Henry G. Buckwalter. Many new books were bought by the library, some of which are: Aspects of Modern Drama—Chandler; Quintessence of Ibsenism; Shaw; Shakespeare's Imagery; Spurge; History of the English Language; New Testament, Goodspeed; Introduction to the New Testament—Lake and Lake; Helas and Hellenism; Valchias; The Roman's World, Moore; Hamilton Fish, Nevins.

"Greater Albright" ideal! Have you outsiders ever seen a better spirited group of Freshmen? Was there ever so large a number of sign that demand notice? Were you not pleased with the program shown by the band on Saturday? Have you noticed the abundance of working enthusiasm in all organizations? Has there ever been more wholehearted activity in "Y"? And so it goes on and on—coming from all directions. Here's to the "greater Albright" growing with the true Albrightian spirit.

ALUMNI NOTES

By C. J. Moravec

The Albright Alumni Association as a pioneering unit of this educational institution, is ready once more to depart from custom and tradition. We hope that the items about former students of Albright College to appear in these columns from time to time will be of interest to all readers, and that they may be a means of bringing all units of the college together.

Before coming to the task at hand, the alumni near and far wish for Albright College a fruitful academic, social, athletic and spiritual year. May each day bring our Alma Mater great joys. We hope that we may assist in this achievement.

One of the chief interests of the alumni and students at the present time is the football season under the leadership of Coach William (Long Star) Dietz. The alumni present in the initial game of the 1937 grid campaign wish to take this opportunity of congratulating the new mentor and the team on the splendid victory over the favored Geneva eleven. May this be a new beginning for the greatest pigskin season Albright teams have ever enjoyed. Since the football plans are just about complete for the Home-Coming Day on October 30, when the Lions will enter the arena in Reading, immediately following the game, a Cider Jamoree will be held in the Lower Social Hall of Selwyn Hall. Of course, if the shadow of rain is hard at work, there will be free refreshments and a gala entertainment by alumni will bring to a close a very cheerful day for students, faculty and alumni. More about this event will undoubtedly be published in other columns of this publication in the near future.

Many of the upper-classes are eagerly interested in the activities of the graduates of June 1937. Although a thorough investigation has not been completed, preliminary reports would indicate that the placement of the graduates in the highest of the hierarchy of the college.

Although some of the graduates have not found employment along the fields for which they prepared, most of last year's seniors are doing something. For instance, Buck McClintock, football and track star, is now in the navy. He is engaged in fulfilling some business principles for the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry.

Several prominent seniors are continuing their graduate work at recognized schools throughout the country. For instance, I could start right off by demanding why Bob hasn't installed such necessities as spittoon, a beautiful library. Why, Bob? While I'm on the subject, I may as well tell you about some of the scandalous things that are taking place in our school cafeteria. The last time I ate there, I found a black hair in my soup. Don't you know, ladies know that our school colors are red and white? Where is your school spirit? I have a notion to tell Coach Dietz on your first, maybe, I ought to find out whether we still have a school cafeteria.

However, by the time I'd get warmed up to such a task, I'd be tempted to knock the higher authorities of the school. That would never do. So, leaving the school happens to be financing this sheet.

Well, I guess, after all, I'll have to solve my problem by trying my best at humor. But I shudder a little thought. In the first place, I doubt very much whether I could begin to master such a fine art. Besides, I realize that even a Cal Tinney or a Bob Burns would fail to attempt to amuse college students. The funniest of most college students is insulated with two inches of nonchalance. In the class room they laugh on the least occasion. But at such times they don't laugh because their funniness is being tickled; they laugh to break the terrible strain of class room monotony.

By the way, here's a red, hot, "Snooper" item that won't boom—

It's being dogged about town that Mrs. Joseph's little boy, Charlie, was recently seen sneaking into the corner drug store. He came out with a couple of quarts of gray hair tonic and was muttering some crazy phrase such as "Oy! Albrightian. Oy! Albrightian."

Who is the treacherous woman?

SOME FUN!

Things are starting to move this year, so grab hold and let's go!

The intellectual group of the campus, namely "The Domino Club," starts fall extra-curricular activities Wednesday night in the College Chapel with three "Bang-up" one-act plays. The menu for the evening consists of: "The Plot of the Minute" introduced by the well-known Ernest Dowson, "Before Breakfast," an act by Eugene O'Neill did a little work on, and "The Proposal," a crazy thing by our Russian friend, Anton Chekhov. Those who will attend the spotlight on October 13, are: Mary Kalina, Junior flash; Ada Gossamer, one of the club's more dramatic actresses; Mary Hahn, a freshman; and Louise deLoraine, a Brainer, a campus favorite; William Woods, another "Ham" from the southeast; and Bashful Joe Richter. With three such excellent plays and with six such stellar artists holding up the scripts there should be some fun in the Chapel on Wednesday night. Be sure you don't miss it! The only set back will be 35 cents, but don't let that keep you away.

The Economics class is using Dr. H. LaRue Frain, head of the Department of Economics, University of Pennsylvania, and assistant director of the Wharton Extension School in Reading, spoke informally to the introductory Economics class, Tuesday, September 30. Dr. Frain's topic was "Some Problems Encountered in Writing an Introduction to Economics." He spoke of the Economics class is using Dr. Frain's recently published book, "An Introduction to Economics." This new book is a wide scope of material in a clear and simple style so essential for beginning students, is receiving favorable approval in colleges all over the country.

Most difficult of problems in writing a text book, Dr. Frain told the students, is finding one's way from bias before presenting material. Dr. Frain spoke of the difficulty he encountered in trying to present an interesting manner the rudiments of the "dreary science."

SCHOOL DAZE

By Charles Joseph

Higher Education

Bang! Bang! Crack! Zoom! Crash! ZZZZ! ad infinitum. "Sit tight, the Japs aren't here. This just happens to be the only way that I could think of to attract your patrician ears so that I can get a load off my mind. Perhaps you can help me after you hear my tale."

About a week ago I was asked if I'd like to write a column about anything that might suit my fancy. At the time I definitely liked the idea, but I have changed my mind. Nothing could be worse, for I now realize, after due contemplation, that writing for school students is a Herculean task compared to writing for an English professor. The professors accept themes on anything ranging from politics to the art of making more delicate holes in doughnuts; college students, on the other hand, read only what they like in their school paper. That's as it should be, because the professors, and not the students, are the spring of being bored.

Anybody can be so easily bored as college students. To make matters worse, their journalistic taste is very limited. I can't say I'm very limited, but I probably now realize that my predicament is quite peculiar. I am almost to write anything, and yet I haven't a thing to write about that you will like. I'd hate to bore you at this stage of the semester. Of course, I know that shadow column like the "Snooper."

My juniors and seniors must remember the "Snooper" because it was about the only column that you enjoyed a couple of years back. The "Snooper" was always on the dirt trail, and he could dish out that dirt to you from your own stuff like this: "Is the gogus Tillie Schmutz still that way about Perc Swampdigger?" Now don't deny that you like such stuff.

I could write such a column, but I won't for the simple reason that I am a mere 130 pounds of bone and shadow. I want the shadow to keep what I mentioned the matter.

A sports column would no doubt draw a large following, but I don't want to encroach upon the territory of my very able colleague, Mr. Goldstan, the sports editor. Under other circumstances I could easily fill up space by continually knocking certain people at school. I knew you would like me to knock, but I could start right off by demanding why Bob hasn't installed such necessities as spittoon, a beautiful library. Why, Bob? While I'm on the subject, I may as well tell you about some of the scandalous things that are taking place in our school cafeteria. The last time I ate there, I found a black hair in my soup. ## LIONS CRUSH GENEVA ELEVEN IN FIRST TILT 20-0

Powerful Red and White Machine Rolls Up Three Scores in First Season Conflict

Bob Rettinger, Soph Lineman, Proves Sensation When He Kicks Two out of Two Placements—Touchdowns Reaped By Korner, Disend and Cammarota.

Using power and deception the Albright Lions won their first game under the coaching of Lone Star Dietz. Almost 8,000 fans saw the Red and White team outtrush and outsmash a heavier Geneva eleven. Playing fast, hard, deceptive football the Lions were able to score three touchdowns while holding their opponents scoreless.

In the first period Albright received the ball on its own 44-yard line, and through end runs and line smashes by Riffle, DeLorenzo and Aszman, advanced to Geneva's one yard line. Riffle, a line plunger, succeeded in getting across the goal line but lost the ball, which was recovered by Geneva.

In the second period Albright recovered the ball on its own 22-yard line. Smart running by Riffle and Oslislo brought the ball down to the three-yard line. Korner, in an off-tackle run, went over the goal line, but again the ball was lost. Fortunately Cammarota recovered the ball for the first touch-down. Rettinger kicked the extra point. Score 7-0.

The second scoring drive started on the 38-yard line in the third period. Unable to pass in a pass formation, Riffle elected to run and advanced the ball to the 8-yard line. Riffle and DeLorenzo then advanced it to the one-yard line. On the last down with a yard to go, Disend came out of the line, took a lateral from Aszman, and then smashed through for a touch-down. Rettinger again converted. Score 14-0.

Albright's last score came in the final period. The Lions had the ball on their own forty-five-yard line. Troisi received the ball from center, faked a run, and then lateraled to Riffle. The Albright captain faked back and threw a 35-yard pass to Korner who scored standing up. The kick for the point was bad. Final score: 20-0.

Outstanding for Geneva was their quarterback, Roselli. His straight and accurate passes, at times, presented a scoring threat, and were the main factors in outpassing the Lions. Delon and Ceoli did the great share of the running for the Beavers.

This first game showed not only the Lion's abilities but many of the possibilities of the squad under their new coach. Coach Dietz has not only taught the boys straight

Sixteen Report for Freshman Football

Only sixteen men reported for freshman football practice at the beginning of the 1937 season. Although handicapped by so small a number, Coach Tentsch has a formidable squad which gives the varsity a considerable amount of trouble in freshman-varsity scrimmages. The boys, apparently realizing that they will be depended upon next year, have been working hard to make the grade.

Heading the list is Joe Parente, an all-conference man and a stellar performer at Sayre (Pa.) High. He is 6 feet 1 inch and weighs 194, plays left half.

At right half is Ches Schreck, (175) captain of the Ephrata (Pa.) High eleven. He is one of the fastest men on the squad.

Another blocking back is Paul Petrucca, Mahanoy City. He tips the beam at 155, and plays a good defensive game.

At quarter is Eddie Quiren, diminutive signal-caller from Hanover High, Wilkes Barre. He has been doing most of the punting and rates with the fast men on the squad.

Ken Gross, Kahway High and Dean Academy, is another signal-caller.

Ray Shugard is the only Fresh fullback. Shugard comes from Roselle Park (N. J.). He weighs 155 and is particularly apt at hitting and tackling up the line. Marshall Popoika, of Dover (N. J.), plays at left halfback. He remains an "unknown quantity" due to a foot injury.

Roy Conner, Reading High star, is a able candidate for end. He weighs 170 and plays a good defensive.

Jack Mailler, Madison (N. J.), is another fast end, measuring 6 feet weight 180 pounds. Linden (N. J.), brings us Thomas Fryszak, an end who will be a threat in the future.

James Mantis, Reading High, who played for Perkiomen last year, seeks a berth on the line as guard. Meyers High, Wilkes Barre, sends Robert Gansel, another guard, weight 180 po.-nds.

Another guard is Jack Witt, from Central High, Chicago. Only 150, but knows how to play his position.

Bob Gass, Sunbury, is a 220-lb. tackle, heaviest man on the squad. Robert Goldstein, 211-lb. tackle, of Philadelphia Central, and Tom Johnson of Towanda at center.

We're Depending On You Dietz Make Those Lions Roar!

William H. (Lone Star) Dietz can now add another achievement to his list of accomplishments. He led the Albright team to victory in their first game under his leadership!

Coach Dietz has had a very colorful career, and is particularly apt at hitting and tackling up the line. He received his education at the following institutions: McAlister College, St. Paul, Minn.; Friends University, Wichita, Kan.; and the Carlisle Indian School, Carlisle, Pa.

Rated high among smart coaches in college football, he has coached teams in practically every section of the country. His long career of coaching began in 1912, when for two years he was assistant to Glenn "Pop" Warner, then head coach of the famous Carlisle Indians. In 1915 Coach Dietz went to Washington State College where he coached teams that won the Pacific Coast and Northwest Conference championships in 1915 and 1917. On January 1, 1916, he led Washington State to a 14-0 victory over Brown University in the first Tournament of Roses game at Pasadena, California. His 1917 team was unbeaten.

The next step in the coaching history of Lone Star Dietz was his service as head coach at Purdue University in 1920 and 1921. He led Purdue to its first Big Ten Conference victory in five years.

For the next two years, he was head coach at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, where his team lost but one game each season. His next position was again as head coach, but this time at Wyoming University, where he had another successful team.

In 1927, Dietz seemed to be back where he started from, for he was again an assistant to "Pop" Warner then at Stanford. For five years, following, he coached a team at Haskell Institute, a school for Indians. In 1933 he became head coach of the Boston Red Skins in the National Professional League.

Two years ago Coach Dietz was again back with "Pop" Warner, this time at Temple University, where he continued his football successes by coaching two undefeated freshman teams.

In his long experience, Lone Star has coached six undefeated teams, including two freshmen squads at Temple; two varsity teams at Washington State College, one in the United States Marine Corps, and a professional club on the Pacific Coast.

SPORTSEYE

H. ROBERT GOLDSTAN

Once Coach Albright's gridiron warriors, who led the football team to victory with an impressive victory. And once more, Albright's more followers breathed a sigh of relief.

The start of a new football campaign, especially with a new coach at the helm, always raises many questions. First, will the team fare as well as last year? Second, will the green, untried Sophomores fill the shoes of the departed seniors capably? Third, will the new system employed be as successful as the old one? And fourth, and foremost, just what calibre of football will be displayed?

A survey of these queries shows that the most dangerous fears have been put to rest. That the team will have as good a season as last year's, only the god's know. From last week's result, it appears as though the only logical answer is a very blatant "yes". This despite the fact that Bucknell and LaSalle are two very potent additions to the schedule.

The question of whether the holes left vacant by graduation and by recent injuries will be capably filled has been answered in a thoroughly encouraging manner. The addition of Jack Robson at the center position, Al Gustitus at guard and Dick Westgate at a terminal, seems to this writer as a vast improvement.

The replacing of Stan Kosel is a difficult task. Nevertheless, between Al Oslislo and Burt Aszman, the fullback berth seems to be well handled.

The new system, a combination of the Warner and Minnesota types, is without doubt an enjoyable one to the spectators. Any system featuring a wide offense would be. As to its defensive merits, the unsullied goal line speaks for itself. And praise must be given to Roselli and Alna, Geneva quarterback and left halfback respectively, who again put the Red and White line to the test.

As to these hopeful prospects the uncovering of a pair of speedy ends in Babe Korner and Mario Nicotera, an excellent and much-needed place kicker, in Bob Rettinger, and the increasingly smart generalship of Tony Troisi, and the answer to what calibre of football will be played, is self-evident.

This column is neither so stupid nor so uncritical as to make a first analysis of a team final. It realizes that the opposition was considerably weaker than the Lions. It notices the two fumbles made by Riffle and Korner as they were touched down. The lack of effective blocking and occasional let-down battle on the very nose, 20-0, we hazard a guess with all fingers and toes crossed, that the coming brawl with City College of New York, Ursinus, Moravian and Bucknell will result in victories for the Dietzmen. Yes, we said victories. And we mean Bucknell, too.

To pick results four weeks in advance is a tough job. To pick them correctly, I imagine, makes the writer a pretty good prognosticator. To call them wrong is excusable. So having nothing to lose, I'm going to call the scores of the above mentioned frays. Here goes:

Albright 31 ..... C. C. N. Y. 6
Albright 19 ..... Ursinus 0
Albright 13 ..... Moravian 0
Albright 7 ..... Bucknell 6
Now, just to show that we're not picking scores out of the air, we'll wager anybody on the campus, bar none, at Oh, Henry, chocolate ice cream cone, or cherry coca-cola, that he or she can't pick the scores of these four games any closer. I

Red and White Faces Friedman Coached Eleven

and this cuts the Red and White squad down to 31 men, not enough to form three full teams.

The outstanding member of Friedman's club is Co-captain Walter Schimney. He is a fullback and his 165 pounds compressed into a mere 5 feet, 7 inches make him a terrific buckler and a fierce backer-up. The second and third squads have been unable to stop Schimney's bull-like rushes and Brooklyn College had quite enough of the chunky captain last Saturday. With have been unable to stop Schimney in the backfield probably will be elusive Iz Weissbrod, quarterback, Joe Marsaglia, consistent 60-yard punting halfback, and Jim Clancy. This is one of three possible quartets, as C. C. N. Y. is at least three deep in every position, more than that in several.

The Lions probably will lineup with a midjet quartet of ball toters. Tony Troisi, diminutive quarterback and Babe Korner, tiny blocker, can barely muster 300 pounds between them. Al Oslislo, fullback, is not a great deal heavier than the aforementioned duo, while Capt. Dick Riffle can be classed as the only heavyweight. The Lions forward wall is also not in a class with the Beavers in the matter of weight. Jim Snyder and Les Knox will be at the terminals, Moose Disend and Ed Cammarota will hold down the edging berths, Ed Zelonis and Al Gustitus handle the guard assignments, and Harry VanTosh will cavort at center. Dietz has various replacements in the line, but most of them are green and will find the Beavers play a harder, faster and more deceptive brand of ball than any they have faced thus far.

With this challenge in mind, we utter a short prayer. Forgive us for this poetic effort. Blame it on Korner and Riffle.
"Now I lay me down so humble,
And pray the Albright backs won't fumble,
And if they should, oh please, dear Lord,
Keep it away from the enemy horde.
Amen."

German Club Hears Hun Travel Talk

On Tuesday afternoon, October 5 the German Club met in the lower social room to witness an interesting group of moving pictures taken by Dr. Memming during the summer.

The meeting was opened with the singing by the group of Die Lorelei. The first two reels were taken on board the Europa, on the return trip from Germany. Color added to the interest of the gay scenes thrown upon the silver screen.

Between reels, Betty Ebbert, accompanied by Mary Kurtz, sang "Wer ist Sylvia?" The other pictures were taken on the continent itself. These were three reels devoted to Germany; Stuttgart, Berlin and Wurttemberg, in particular.

The reel depicting scenes in Ostfriesland was especially interesting since it included pictures of Dr. Memming's sister, brother and acquaintances. The last, but hardly least, reel was taken in Jugo-Slavia. Folk dances of Jugo-Slavia finished the main interest lute.

Charles Joseph, the president of the club, adjourned the meeting with the singing of Du, Du Liegst Mir im Herzen.

Domino Club To Cast Tree Plays

The Domino Dramatic Club will inaugurate this season of 1937-38 with the presentation of three one-act plays on Wednesday, October 13, at 8:30 P. M., in the College Chapel. The first play is Ernest Dawson's one and only play entitled "The Pierrrot of the Minute." It is a dramatic fantasy in verse. The characters will be Pierrrot, Lou Briner and the Moon Maiden, Mary Hahn.

The second play is "Before Breakfast" one of Eugene O'Neill's earliest plays. It is a difficult play to present because it is a sordid, depressing study of one character, Mrs. Roland, which will be played by Ada Gossler.

The third play a riotous farce entitled "The Proposal" was written by Anton Chekov. It is the story of a young man who feels he should marry whether he is in love or not. The cast includes William Woods as the father, Mary Kalina as the daughter, and Joseph Richter as the suitor.

The following people were inducted into the Domino Club last week: Ada Gossler, May Capello, Mary Alfonso, Anne Mac, Mary Dunlap, Evelyn Goding, Mabel Thomas, Mary Kalina, Betty Dietz and Robert Seely.

Robert Kline has been appointed business manager for the season. He has placed tickets for the initial performance in the book store, at the school board and among members of the club. Tickets will cost thirty-five cents.

Y. W. To Care For Destitute Family

"Welcome, Miss Schaeffer!" It was a pleasure, indeed, for the thirty-eight girls present at the weekly meeting of the Y. W. on Tuesday evening to learn that our new advisor for the organization is Miss Schaeffer. We know that she is interested in our work, and we are looking forward to many years of happy experiences with her. We do welcome you, Miss Schaeffer!

Our speaker at this meeting on Tuesday night was Miss Edith Enck of the Social Welfare League of Reading. For some time our Y. W. organization has desired to provide for some needy family, so this year Miss Enck was approached in regard to suitable people. On Tuesday night she introduced us to this family which is to be our special concern this year. We will try to provide them with their necessities and remember them at Thanksgiving and Christmas in some particular way.

At present the father of this family is in jail, placed there for deserting his wife. The mother has to provide for six children, ranging in age from a son of twelve to twins of ten months. At our next meeting we will begin to make definite plans for caring for this family. In our small way we hope we may be able to do a great deal of good.

Snatches Here And There:

Those who were interested in the question of cribbing which arose at the joint meeting of the Y. M. and Y. W. may look forward to a lively meeting devoted entirely to the discussion of that problem at some time in the not far distant future. . . . We hope that Mr. Thompson, a representative of the Student Christian Movement, who was on campus with us Wednesday, October 6, may be able to come soon again. . . . Be sure to secure one of the little silver crosses of the World Student Christian Federation which will be for sale on campus soon. They sell for only fifteen cents. . . . Watch for developments in the Freshman Commission group. We hear it contains some splendid talent. . . . Have you been in the Y book in the library lately? One of our most recent books is "The Christ of the Indian Road," the generous contribution of Miss Gerlach.

FRAT ATHLETIC COUNCIL

On September 24, the Interfraternity Council of Albright College organized for the coming year. This council is composed of members from every fraternity organization on the campus and is to provide athletic competition for non-varsity men. At this meeting Riffle and William Tomkowick were unanimously elected as president and secretary, respectively.

The first thing on the schedule will be a series of touch-football games which will take place in the next few weeks. Next winter there will be the basketball series, and in the spring, soft-ball games and a track meet.

The following fraternities have entered the touch football league: Kappa Upsilon Phi, Pi Tau Beta, Alpha Pi Omega. Non-fraternity groups participating will be: Theology, Chapel, Non-frats and Selwyn Hall.
