

Saturday, Sunday Is Spring Retreat Of Combined 'Y's

Registration for the spring "Y" retreat, to be held this Saturday and Sunday, April 22 and 23, at Blue Mountain Camp, began yesterday and will continue through Thursday at 4 p. m. The retreat is open to all students of the college.

Janet Luckenbaugh and Fred Clewell are in charge of the retreat, while Jeanne Miller and Gerald Heilmann are planning the recreation. Paul Mattson and Irene Fisher are in charge of registration.

The theme of the services concerns the Christian student and the application of his principles in the world of tomorrow. The newly elected 1944-45 cabinet will meet for the first time on Saturday afternoon at the retreat. In the evening there will be a song service around the fire, after which the Rev. Lester L. Stabler will conduct a short period of meditation.

Smith to Speak

Sunday services include a Galilean service before breakfast and a worship service led by Professor Lewis E. Smith later in the morning. The afternoon service will be devoted to a period in which students may ask questions that have arisen during the retreat. These will be discussed by Rev. Stabler and several students.

Also included in the program for the weekend is a period of recreation on Saturday afternoon and a scavenger hunt in the evening. Recreational activities at Blue Mountain Camp include swimming, canoeing, rowing, tennis, touch football, volleyball, hiking, badminton, and table tennis.

Bus Schedule

The cost of the retreat is $2.75 plus cost of transportation which is $3.00 round trip. Buses will leave the Franklin Street Station at 10:02 a. m. and 12:15 p. m. on Saturday and will return at 5:30 p. m. on Sunday. Dorm students will be provided with box lunches on Saturday, but day students are to bring their own lunches. One blanket per person is supplied by the camp. Students must bring their own linen and additional blankets.

Canteen Operates To Pay Greetings

To cover the expenses of the Easter greetings which were sent to Albright men in service, the Men in Service committee, under the chairmanship of Margaret Sheppard, will sponsor a canteen next week which will sell food to the students. The canteen stock will be made up of mostly home-cooked food, such as pies and cakes, candies and sandwiches.

The campus has been divided into five groups: Daywomen, Freshmen Dorm, Zeta House and Sherman Cottage, Kappa House, and Linden House, which will take their turns in taking full charge of the canteen each day. Every noon and from 3:45 to 4:15 p. m. students can buy their food on the first floor of the ad building. At 9:30 in the evening boarding students will be served in the dormitories.

About 400 Easter greetings were made by members of the committee in the home ec sewing lab on April 1 and 2. Ann deFarges, Felice Epstein, Irma Peoples, Margaret Sheppard, Mae Jean Picking, Jeanne Miller, and Helen Grass, along with many other volunteers painted the cards. The card's design was drawn by Mae Jean Picking, and Robert Kienck wrote the Easter message on it.

Prof Green Will Give "Vitalism" Discussion

Professor Marcus Green will deliver a paper on "Vitalism" at the monthly meeting of the Philosophy Club to be held on April 21 at 8:00 p. m. in the alumni room of the Alumni Memorial Library. Dean Mary Jane Stevenson will be present as a guest. During the meeting election of officers for next year will be held.

Deyscher Emerges Council Head; Pottieger, Ritzman Take 'Y' Vote

Ruth Ritzman

Cecil Pottieger

With no candidate to oppose him, Paul Deyscher made a clean sweep in the election returns to be chosen as president of Student Council for the 1944-45 term. Other important results in the all-campus election held last Friday morning in chapel show that Ruth Ritzman and Cecil (Dietz) Pottieger will prey the Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A. respectively. Miss Ritzman nosed out Janet Luckenbaugh for the position while Mr. Pottieger was the lone contender for his office. Elected vice president of the Y.M.

this fall, Mr. Pottieger became its head upon the resignation of Gerald Heilmann, former prexy.

As president of his class, Mr. Deyscher represented the juniors in Student Council and was co-chairman of the social committee. He is active in Domino Club productions and is sports editor of The Albrightian. 142 ballots were cast for the office.

Vice president of the Y.W.C.A. will be Jane Teitsworth who defeated Irene Fisher for the post. Mae Jean Picking was elected secretary, edging out Martha Fredericks. By winning over Betty Anne Lutz, Jeanne Miller will be treasurer of the Y.W.

For the Y.M.C.A. Paul Mattson defeated Fred Clewell by a slim margin for the job of vice president. Newell Wert won over Charles Russ for secretary, and Orlan Pottieger was named treasurer as the only candidate for that position.

Out of a field of five candidates the juniors elected Jack Teger as their president for next year. His assistant will be Paul Mattson who received the second highest number of votes. Eleanor Schubert was re-elected secretary of the class. As treasurer, the class elected Bertina Blauch. Green and white were chosen as the junior class colors.

A total of 53 men voted in the Y. M. C. A. elections, while 106 women voted for Y. W. C. A. candidates. 42 members of the junior class cast a ballot in their poll.

New Dormitory Open For Visitors Sunday

The student residents of Linden House, and Dean Mary Jane Stevenson held the first Open House on Sunday, April 16. Newest women's dorm, Linden House is located at 1525-519 Linden Street. Refreshments of punch and strawberry cake were served.

Rita Duncavage was general chairman of the arrangements, and she was assisted with the refreshments by Ruth Smith and Selma Schatz, with the invitations in charge of Patricia Kramer. A/S Alfred Zaloz of the Seventh C.T.D. made the invitations.

Treasurer's Aides Have Hearts— When You Don't Owe Them Money

When you enter the Administration Building, trip up a few steps and turn to your right, you are practically in the treasurer's office. It is one of the easiest spots to find on the campus. This was planned deliberately and with malice aforethought.

Speaking personally, our own journeys in that vicinity have not always been fraught with the greatest of pleasure. It came therefore as a surprise to us to learn that the taking in of money is not the only activity of this office. According to Jacquelyn Yoh—also known as "Jackie"—people actually have been known to receive money there. We advise you not to try this, however, as there is a formula that goes with it, and to date we have not been able to worm it out the otherwise good-natured Jackie.

The personnel of the treasurer's office, in case you are so abysmally ignorant as not to know, consists of Treasurer Charles Gordon, receiver-

Frosh-Soph Event Ushers In Spring

Dancing to the music of Ralph Stetler's orchestra, "springy" decorations and a peppy floor show constituted the freshman-sophomore "Spring Frolic" which was held last Friday evening in the College Dining Hall from 9 to 12 p. m.

The floor show, given during intermission, was under the direction of Paul Mattson as master of ceremonies, and featured the performances of talented freshmen and sophomores. Marie Bonner sang "I'll Get By" and "Falling in Love With Someone." "Begin the Beguine" by the Pat Septette and a solo dance by Homer Angstad concluded the evening's program.

Treasurer and Mrs. Charles L. Gordon and Professor Richard N. Rhoda, acting head of the chemistry department, chaperoned the freshman-sophomore event.

Arlan Strausser served as committee chairman for the dance. Sophomore committee members were Homer Angstad, Rita Duncavage, Marion Latta, and June Plowfield. Freshman committee members were Roberta Calamara, Kenneth Good, Richard Heverling, and Elaine Schwartz. Marie Bonner and Newell Wert, class presidents, were advisory members.

May Day Chairman Jean Seidel Announces Attendants for Queen

Attendants for the May Day professional and recreational ceremonies were announced last week by Jean Seidel, May Day chairman, and dancers were chosen for the festivities and began their rehearsals.

Eileen Shearer and Rita Duncavage will act as train bearers. Mary Louise Schappel and Margaret Shalter will be heralds, and Martha Fredericks will serve as crown bearer.

Work on Music, Costumes

Committees are still working on music and costume arrangement for the queen's court, which will be presided over by Polly Brossman as May Queen. Margaret Shepperd will attend Miss Brossman as maid of honor, while Alda Matz serves as custodian of the crown.

Senior women not in the court will be in long dresses of pastel shades and will serve as a floral arch for the queen. The junior women will do the traditional maypole dance.

Prexy to Take Oath In Chapel on Friday

Induction ceremonies of the newly elected president of Student Council will take place this Friday morning, April 21, when Vester Peters, retiring president, will be in charge. At the chapel service this morning Professor Harold E. Newhard presented a piano recital.

Last Tuesday in chapel the Y. W. C. A. presented a program in which they explained the aims of Tag Day. On Friday Dr. Gerrit Memming had charge of a devotional service in chapel.

Dr. Garman to Talk To Reading Chemists

Dr. R. L. Garman, head of the radiation laboratories at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will address the Reading Chemists Club tonight at 8:00 p. m. in the science lecture hall on the subject, "Electron Tubes and Circuits and Their Application to Measurements and Control". Dr. Garman is an electronist of note and at the present is engaged in government work. His lecture will be illustrated to great extent with slides. All college students are urged to attend.

"Fine Steel" was the title of the motion pictures shown at the Alchemist meeting last Thursday evening in the physics laboratory. The film was taken at the Carpenter Steel plant in Reading. College films, old and new, rounded out the program which was topped with refreshments.

At a short business meeting preceding the entertainment, the group decided to reorganize their roll to include only active members. Dues must be paid before the final meeting of the year.

The Alchemists outdoor affair will be held on the date of the last meeting, May 10. The standing refreshment and program committees are in charge of the arrangements.

Graduation Sites Picked

Commencement and baccalaureate services will be held at Northeast Junior High School, 13th and Marion, and Immanuel Evangelical Church, 134 S. Sixth Street, respectively on Sunday, May 21. The baccalaureate service has been scheduled for 10:45 a. m., and the commencement for 3:30 p. m.

Announcement of honorary degrees which will be conferred at commencement will appear in the next issue of The Albrightian.

Traveling Home Ec's Visit School in Phila.

Junior home economics students went to Philadelphia last Friday to visit the Murrell Dobbins Vocational School as part of their teacher training work. The field trip to the progressive vocational school was made under the supervision of Professor Florence V. Innis, head of home economics department.

Members of the group were: Ermg Leinbach, Gloria Best, Catherine Hill, Ruth Ritzman, Christine Calpin, Janet Luckenbaugh, Eleanor Schubert, and Professor Innis.

French Club Selects Next Year's Officers

Officers for next year's French Club were elected at the club's last meeting of the year held on April 12 in the Zeta House social room. Lura Ann Heverly was made president; Rachel Willauer, vice-president; Marjann Barger, secretary; and Mary Briner, treasurer.

The program for the evening centered around the play, "Chanteclair" by Edmond Rostand. Professor Elsie A. Garlach, Rachel Willauer, Doris Snyder, and Lura Ann Heverly summarized the four acts of the play. Excerpts from "Chanteclair" were read by Professor Garlach, Betty Bradley, and Doris Snyder.

The Winnah!

Election day is over at Albright. For some mysterious reason John Doe's name did not appear on the ballot as a candidate for Council president. Since John would not have copped the election anyway, it's best to forget the technicalities and consider that Council has jumped successfully this legal hurdle.

There is a special point of improvement: Because of the newly adopted policy of collecting ballots in chapel, there were only 23 less votes cast for Council president this year than last year when there were almost 100 more students. The winners can feel that they really are the people's choices.

Get On Your Toes

Albright's spring "social season" had started successfully with the Frosh-Soph dance. There are two more dances to go. The committees in charge of both the sorority dance and the May Ball are working hard to bring their dances turn out successfully. Although it may seem impossible for you to find a date—or even to learn to dance in a month—let's see some cooperation. It may be your last chance to step on someone's toes to the tune of a union orchestra.

It's Written In the Stars

With fragments of the Seventh C.T.D. dropping out of existence at odd times and with the draft deferments of the local male civilian population cancelled, Albright threatens to turn into a female seminary. Regardless of whether this may be true in the future, it is not true now. So it's still "in order" to carry on Albright's academic and social life as usual and hope that local draft boards are lenient.

News flash for summer students: Room and also board will be provided on campus for those attending the summer sessions. Price is $13.50 per week and reservations can be made at the Office of Public Relations.

Welcome back to Professor Paul Schach, instructor of German. Prof Schach began teaching his classes last Friday after his absence of several months because of illness.

Emma Cora Hafer, chairman of Tag Day, announced that the receipts totaled $62.59, over $20 more than last year's total.

The poetry contest ends May 1. All persons wishing to enter must have their entries submitted to Dr. John B. Douds, head of the English department, before that time.

There will be another clean-up party of the books collected in the "Y"-Student Council book drive this Friday evening in the library at 8 p.m. Irene Fisher is in charge of the work. Final efforts are being made by Polly Walls, chairman of the drive, to reach the 1000 total. The committee is within 100 books of its goal.

Choice of the May Day one-act-ers will be made this week by members of the Domino Club. Plays written by freshmen are under consideration. The May date for the production has not yet been set.

The Rev. Raymond C. Steinhart, pastor of Bethany Evangelical Congregational Church, will speak to Kappa Tau Chi this Thursday at 7:45 in the Daywomen's room. His subject will be "Enlisting Young People in Church Work."

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

With the new editors stepping cautiously as they take over the reins of THE ALBRIGHTIAN, our Inquiring Reporter tried to be helpful and find out from the student body: "What improvements and additional features would you like to see in future THE ALBRIGHTIAN?"

Gerald Hellman, '44, Pre-Ministerial: My suggestions feature a religious thought for the week in a box in some conspicuous place; list faculty doings; feature a "By LION" and alternate feature writers; a series of articles on geology.

Eleanor Platt, '44, Math: Write brief snappy summary of the most important news of the week, for few of us read the paper as much as we should.

Betta Greenspan, '44, History: There should be more information about the students. "Little Things" tries to accomplish this, but hasn't succeeded to any great extent. Much has happened around Albright's campus that no one ever hears of, yet I'm sure many would be interested in knowing these things.

Edward Daniels, '47, Liberal Arts: I think all of the special columns are okay just the way they are now. But maybe if you could have special reporters to gather news from the sororities, frats, daymen's and daywomen's clubs. I haven't seen anything about them in The Albrightian yet (especially from the Daymen).

Jane Teitsworth, '45, Liberal Arts: I think that this year's issues of The Albrightian have been very good. In regard to additional features, I think that regular sideights on activities and interesting bits of news from the various houses, day room, and other groups might prove successful.

Betty Anne Lutz, '45, Sociology: I would suggest that The Albrightian include more pictures and snaps. I think some snaps or cartoons of pledges would be amusing and interesting. It seems apparent that we need a column for write-ups of engagements and weddings!

Phyllis Abrams, '45, Liberal Arts: More feature stories of all types—sports, other activities, departmental, etc.

Helen Cone, '47, Science: A good hot gossip column, plus a humor column.

With loud gusto, our lion of the week roars in the direction of Student Council proxy, Vester Peters. However, this administration does not consume all of Pete's time, and we can well remember him on this year's varsity basketball team along with his previous reign as manager of the squad.

This popular campus figure is a pre-ministerial student majoring in German and Greek. He hails from Philadelphia, and has a church near Boyertown.

Pete's Zeta activities have been varied and numerous, including that of chaplain in his sophomore year, and secretary for the past three years. In the absence of the acting president, he also received this illustrious position this year.

Ves claims votes in the Philosophy Club, German Club, Y.M.C.A. Cabinet, and Delta Phi Alpha, national German fraternity. Not satisfied with a few precious spare minutes, he also appeared behind the footlights in Domino productions. Among the many roles which Pete has played was Mr. Armstrong, the "cuntry chentleman" in "Red Creates Desire," where he displayed an interesting version of a Dutch accent. His latest role was that of the chaplain in "The Valiant," this year's Easter play.

Our recipient of Dandy Lion laurels is known as "Ves" and "Pete", though the full nomenclature is John Vester Peters. He has the distinction of being the fastest waiter to fill his tables and the fastest to clear them. This velocity makes him a most popular "garcon."

Pete has a gruff exterior but not gruff enough to conceal good intentions and a soft heart. A toast to "Ves" Peters, who, by continuing in the splendid work he has done at Albright, will make Sunday a favorite day for his congregations.

Say It With Music

According to the statement of Professor Hans Nix, the Albright Little Symphony Orchestra will present its spring concert on May 5 at 8:15 p. m. in the College Chapel.

The Women's Glee Club will give its next program for the Women's Auxiliary on May 10. Ebenezer Evangelical Church in Reading heard the glee club's sacred concert last Sunday evening.

The Albright String Trio, composed of Betty Anne Lutz, Irma Peoples, and Ruth Ritzman, will perform at 3:00 p. m. May 12 for the Woman's Club of Reading. Jane Redcay Kriebel is the companion.

Donner to Sing

McGee Bonner will present a vocal recital at the Wyomissing Institute Fine Arts, Trent and Belmont Avenues, Wyomissing, this Friday evening, April 21, at 8 p. m. A local student in the sophomore class, Miss Bonner is a pupil of Walter Leany of New York, and has sung many solos at Albright functions. She is a member of the chapel choir.

Her selections will include: "Now the Sheep Secure Are Grazing," J. S. Bach; "Radamisto," G. F. Handel; "Verborgenheit," Hugo Wolf; "Er Ist's," Hugo Wolf; "Herloade," Jules Massenet; "Across the Hills," Walter W. Rummel; "Ecstasy," Walter W. Rummel; "Halleluja," Ferdinand Hummel.

Brown Will Play

Louella Moyer Brown, Albright senior and pupil of Professor Hans Nix, will be featured in a piano recital, Monday, April 24 at 8:15 p. m. in the college chapel. The public is invited to attend.

The string ensemble, composed of pupils of Mr. Nix, will start the program with several numbers. Mrs. Brown will play selections from Bach, Beethoven, Rachmannoff, and Chopin.

Off They Go...

By FELICE EPSTEIN

Things may come and things may go, but memories live on forever. Very conspicuously on the "going" side of the situation are many of the 7th C.T.D. members stationed at Albright. Having the boys on campus has been a decided asset in many respects. They added a certain amount of life and color (mostly khaki) to Albright in the past year. By the end of this semester the entire contingent will no doubt have gone on to advanced training or wherever else the Fates will lead them. At this time we say good-bye to only a portion of the group.

These boys are leaving Albright, perhaps never to see the buildings, the campus, the professors, or any of the students again. It is to be sincerely hoped that they will take with them fond memories of their stay on campus and of the associations they have made here. We hope they will remember the campus in the dead of winter when every tree is laden with snow and everything is white from the roof of the Theolog Building to the foot of the statue in Sylvan Lake. We hope they will remember Albright in the Spring, when the trees are budding, the grass is green and the population, student, faculty, and Army, is deep in the throes of that fever that migrates north with the robins. We hope they will remember the moon coming up over Mt. Penn, and the grey squirrels, tame enough to feed. These are among our memories and we should like to share them with the members of the 7th C.T.D.

We know that they will remember "Pop's", and the "Crystal" and "Pete's" and week-end passes and classes and the profs. That is why memories were made.

Not only do we want the men who are leaving us to take memories wherever they go—to far-flung fields of battle or to another base in the States—but we want them to know that we, too, will retain memories of them. We will remember them marching to classes in formation; hanging out of the windows of Selwyn Hall as soon as the weather hinted of warmth; singing at the tops of their lungs (or sometimes just singing); running along Exeter Street in gym uniforms; swarming for the trolleys on Saturday afternoons. Yes, we will remember.

Good-byes are not pleasant under the best of circumstances, good-byes to friends whom we may not meet again are even worse. Therefore, it will be simply "So-Long" and the very best of luck.

Inside Albright

By MARY JANE WEBER

Something new has been added. If your eyes happen to wander over to the left hand corner of the page, you, kind reader, will notice a few changes in the masthead. After a series of trial sessions, the staff for the 1944-45 issues of THE ALBRIGHTIAN has been selected and whipped into shape. It is this staff that presents to you now our first issue. We dood it ourselves and deem this the proper time to put forth our inaugural address.

Perhaps you remember playing "Lemonade" when you were a kid. One of the lines of its limerick is "What's your trade?" That's exactly what we'd like to explain to you about us—our trade, THE ALBRIGHTIAN. Our paper was, is, and will be the official student publication of Albright College. In this capacity it pictures in print the people, activities, and ideas of Albright to its students, faculty, alumni, and Lions in the Ranks. This will always be our purpose.

As for tricks of the trade—like a professional newspaper staff, we like to bring you news hot off the wire. The pride and joy of a newspaperman is a scoop. Thanks to Student Council, we were able to start things off with a bang this issue by presenting you the local election returns.

But more important than getting the news while it's hot is getting nothing but the truth. It is our privilege and duty to present to you interested but unbiased views of the facts. If we fail in this undertaking, you, readers, have the right to be up in arms about our negligence of duty.

We, the Undersigned

On the other hand, reserved for the purpose of expressing opinion is the editorial column. Here the editor can praise, defend, criticize, or attack "Inside Albright." He can range from the ridiculous to the sublime. If he makes the sublime too ridiculous or vice versa, please don't organize a posse to gun for all staff members of THE ALBRIGHTIAN within shooting distance. The words of each editorial are the editors' and they are responsible for the consequences.

If you feel like spouting off or taking the crack at the editors—or at things in general—this is still your paper. Any student can write a letter expressing his views, and it will be printed if in accordance with the specifications listed in the masthead. That's what the paper's here for.

Even though we, the new staff, will be putting out the paper each week, we want to feel that you, readers and fellow-students, are as much a part of the show as we are. Publishing the paper is our special trade. Seeing that this paper really expresses all of Albright is both our trade and yours. We neophytes carry on.

Service-Lions Stationed on Foreign Shores Tell of Meeting Former Albright Classmates

The following Lions returned to their old stamping grounds this week: NEWTON S. DANFORD, JACK GUNDLACH.

Letters came from everywhere and "somewhere" this week. First is from BILL CARSON, "I am truly grateful for the many letters I have received from each and every one of you. I still hold onto the hope that someday soon I can pay Albright a visit, if and when a furlough comes. Thanks for the "Cue" and The Albrightian."

From the Nettuno Beachhead KEN GEHRET writes, "Your V-mail arrived weeks ago, but I decided to wait until the books themselves came before sending you an acknowledgment and a 'thank-you'. Yesterday where in the world. Of exceptional value were the clever drawings and caricatures under each of the write ups."

CHARLES H. GABRIEL, "Certainly have enjoyed receiving copies of The Albrightian. They have followed me from England, North Africa, Sicily, Italy and finally back to the United States. Incidentally, had the pleasure of working with a former Albrightian and fraternity brother in Italy, LT. A. D. ADAM LEVINGOOD. Hope you all continue to send me copies of The Albrightian."

From ROBERT SEELEY, "Many thanks, nice people, for sending along The Albrightian. The February eighth issue just arrived—it's about the fifth I've received to date. A few days ago, I picked up an old navigation chart board—inside was the name Ensign M. J. BONNER—I've been wondering if I'm now issuing Mike's equipment. It seems rather unlikely that this would be so, but one can never tell under the present of the opportunities presented by the Home Ec Department. JOHN R. BOARDMAN mentions that he gets to see the Albright Sports scores in their service paper, the So-Pac Daily News—well, from where that's circulated to where we are, are a couple thousand miles of blue Pacific! I've got to depend on The Albrightian, so keep up the good work! My respects to Professors Green, George, and Speicher, and to the faculty in general and my best wishes for success to the students. To the 'could use' department, how about some addresses of Alumni in Service?"

BOB BOLAND writes, "I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for The Albrightian which have come my way since I left Albright. I have found, since moving around, that Albright College does more for their former students than almost any other college. While I was down here I met BUD DINEEN, '45, but he has since left for primary training somewhere. He wished to be remembered to all at Albright."

A card from GUSTAVE COHEN, "I look forward to The Albrightian and enjoy reading it immensely. There's plenty of activity here—with more to come". Gus is in Italy.

HERB VOGT, "It seems that I have been a little lax in expressing my sincere thanks for the consideration that has always been given me, while at Albright and now I'm sure you'll understand when I say the pace we endure is terrific. . . I just want to let all the fortunate people, who have the privilege of sharing in the traditions of Albright, know that the moments spent there, whether happy or sad, will serve them well when the time comes. Speaking from my own experiences, I unhesitatingly admit that the years I exposed myself to the influence of Albright have not been equalled, and probably won't be. I'm proud of my "Cue" and never fail to share the joy of leading through its pages with my fellow men. The persons responsible are worthy of high praise. I have been busy flying, studying, and taking care of the new class that just moved in on us. I have been appointed wing supply officer and that position keeps me moving. . . Regards to all, especially Miss Anne Benninger and Ves Peters."

DALE WEBER, "Today I received a very lovely and original Easter greeting from Albright College. No one who has at any time been enrolled there could fail to be moved deeply by the sentiment and by the picture of the campus in spring."

GEORGE KOEHLER has been discharged from the hospital and is back at the books.
DONALD LYKENS, "I'm glad this time in which I want to thank you for the Easter card which I have received. Such things make a fellow think of his good old college days, and such days he will never forget. I haven't much else to say except that about fifty per cent of our flight was again eliminated. We started out with about eighty men and now it's down to twenty-two."

Springtime Housecleaning

Parts of the science hall have been subjected to a vigorous clean-up campaign this past week. First of all, in the lower regions of the building we found Mr. Kinsey of the physics department hard at work in the physics shop sorting all types of nuts, bolts, and screws (did you lose any?). He made space where there was none by the simple process of tossing out a few useless articles. A neatly arranged, clean shop is the result of his labors.

Up in the chemistry department we found the library tables cluttered with all sorts of valuable junk. The origin of this mess we discovered to be the tall, unimpressive looking cabinet at the northern end of the library. Here Prof Rhoda was making an honest attempt to rub out the last big sore spot of the chemistry labs. Unlabeled bottles of chemicals seemed to be quite the thing. They may prove valuable some day—who knows? Prof Rhoda, however, must have hit the waste basket pretty often for now the cabinet fairly beams with cleanliness.

Did you notice that the cases of birds and animals are now back in their usual place—inside the front door of the science hall? Here you can view all the wonders of wild life by just peering into the cases. No need of going on one of Prof Marcus Green's famous early morning bird hikes!

Lieutenant (j.g.) Newton S. Danford, former chem prof, was wandering around his old haunts in the science hall last week. Vince Ressler, a medical student at Jefferson Hospital, is now sporting a Navy uniform. It looks like he will soon have a lot of friends—and I don't mean in med school. Army, here we come!

Military Secret?

If any one has any hot tips on the future of the Army here at Albright, Captain Maynard E. McDuffie would appreciate them greatly. All the "whys" and "wherefores" of an inquisitive reporter of THE ALBRIGHTIAN were nipped in the bud by head shakes and shoulder shrugs from the commanding officer. Yes, it seems that the actions of the 7th C.T.D. will have to remain unheralded a little longer. So, just in case you've been wondering as to the mysterious happenings lately, well, keep on wondering 'cause—ah! it's a military secret.

the grammar and composition books were received—and so a letter this morning. Language self-taught is a first-rate job, I know. But I'm hoping to accomplish just that to a degree. The job was begun last night. I've received just one copy of The Albrightian since our arrival on these shores, but I realize the difficulties involved and am hopeful of better results. Italy has been interesting in many ways although been darned rugged for the line companies. They've been trying hard enough, but Rome is elusive. The Third Division is a top-notch outfit and can be (always is, in fact) counted on to do the tough job. Again my thanks and best wishes to you all in your work and to Albright and the people there."

From GEORGE MANDERBACH, "Although it's a little late, I'd still like to thank you for sending me the "Cue." I had a swell time looking through it, which I did quite frequently. You could also do me another favor if you would tell The Albrightian that my residence has been changed. That way the paper won't travel all over the country before finding me."

GEORGE WEBER writes these words, "Herewith I wish to express my sincere thanks for the "Cue" which I received. Most of my spare moments are spent in looking through its many pages of campus scenes which bring to mind old times for me. Moreover casual observers have remarked more than once that the female percentage at Albright sports quite a promising gallery of photos."

HAROLD LUEDERS, "I wish to thank you and all the members of the staff that made the best "Cue" of them all possible. I also wish to thank the circulation department for its good job of finding that lost G. I. Joe kicking his way around some-

Treasurer's Aides Have Hearts

In all fairness, though, we must admit that beneath their rough exterior beats a heart of gold. (If they read this it ought to pay us dividends). To discover the same, it is essential that you visit them at a time when you have no official business to transact, otherwise you will view the matter with a decidedly jaundiced eye. When you are visiting them just for fun, they even look human. Try it sometime and see.

For those who visit this spot for business purposes, however, we breathe a solemn warning. According to Mr. Gordon, the office boasts a motto which reads, "In God we trust, all others pay cash." Amen!

I haven't seen many of the former Albrightians in my wanderings—actually, if I qualify the statement, I've seen one—JIMMY MANTIS, who's known even to the present students through your association with his father—the owner of the Crystal Restaurant. I read with interest the continued activities of the Domino Club and believe that BOB WOKW, would, possibly, be almost satisfied!

Having been seized with an acute attack of spring fever and with nothing particular happening in the realm of sports, we thought it might be a good time to toss about a little idle banter in a somewhat leisurely fashion. Let's see.

Oh, yes! Noticed that the sun shone long enough last week to enable the intramural softball league to get in a few games. Previous to those engagements, several tiffs in which the Daymen were to participate had to be called off. The reason? No Daymen.

Thus the whole intramural schedule had to be revised and the program was begun anew. It seems to us that if any campus organization is capable of entering a team in the league, it is the aforementioned party. We hope this lack of enthusiasm is not indicative of the remaining clubs. Softball is the only remaining spring sport at Albright. It should be guarded well.

Since Albright seems reluctant to initiate any new spring sport at this time, we feel that care should be taken to support what remains. We feel sure that once the weather is reasonably nice, the student body will show more spirit towards the games and encourage their progress.

Got to reminiscing about baseball (the kind they play in the majors) with several of the fellows the other day. We couldn't help discussing the truly great players still in the game. Upon looking over the rosters of the big leagues, we found that there aren't very many "great" players. By "great" we mean fellows in the class of Joe Jackson, Babe Ruth, Tris Speaker, Ty Cobb, etc.

In our opinion, the last of the "greats" was Bill Dickey, now in the Navy. Others of recent years were Lefty Grove, Carl Hubbell, and Lou Gehrig. We feel that Gehrig was the greatest ball player we ever saw. We witnessed Lou play in Philadelphia, and it was a privilege to watch him. His calibre of ball player is rapidly dying out. There are still "good" ball players, but not really "great" ones. This era of baseball is fast expiring and we hate to see it go.

Now you might ask, "What has all this got to do with Albright College?" Well, it's just this: We feel that it is institutions such as Albright that are responsible for the downhill slide of baseball. It is the failure of such institutions to promote the game that is ruining it. At Albright there is an Athletic Council to plan for local intercollegiate athletics. They have been silent lately

Fems Inaugurate Class Competition For Softball Tilts

Women's spring sports were scheduled to begin yesterday. With Alda Mats as leader, softball began its schedule with a junior-senior game Monday afternoon. Today, weather permitting, the freshmen will play the sophomores.

The W.A.A. has planned to have this interclass schedule completed within two weeks, and it will be followed by an interhouse league. The latter will probably consist of the following four teams: the Non-Sorority daywomen, the Non-Sorority dorm women, the Mus, and the Pats. These games will be played every Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday at 4:40.

There are four other spring sports which can be elected by the women. Emma Cora Hafer, tennis leader, reports that the two courts behind the 13th and Union Streets gym may be used from 10:30 to 4:30. Archery will be held at the same time on the hill behind the science hall on all days except Wednesday. Lucille Lott is archery leader.

Jane Teitsworth leads the badminton players every Tuesday and Thursday. This group also make use of the 13th and Union gym.

The dances to be used in the May Day extravaganza will be practiced on Monday and Friday, as well as during the regular gym classes on Wednesday.

on the idea of baseball at school. By all indications they intend to remain so.

SIDE LIONS

At the end of the first week of play, the interfraternity softball race find the Zeta-Theologs on top with a record of one victory and no defeats. The Kappa-Pi Taus are in second place with one up and none down, while the A.P.O.'s bring up the rear with no wins and one loss. It seems as though the A.P.O. fraternity has taken in some honorary members or something similar to it. We're referring, of course, to the fact that the A.P.O. boys had two members of the opposite sex participating in their game with the Kappa-Pi Tau bunch during the past week. They didn't do so bad either! Miss Bonner and Miss Eschwei each came through with a resounding wallop.

Softball Season Gets Started Despite Changeable Weather Kappas, Zetas Emerge As Winners; A.P.O.'s Drop to Bottom of Pile; Loesch Pounds Ball Hard

The Standings

Team	W.	L.	T.	Pct.
Zetas-Theologs	1	0	0	1.000
Kappas-Pi Taus	1	1	0	.500
A.P.O.'s	0	1	0	.000

After the weather kept diamond enthusiasts indoors for more than a week, the interfraternity softball season has finally opened. With the Daymen dropping out, the league now includes the following three teams: the Zeta-Theologs, the Kappas-Pi Taus, and the A.P.O.'s.

The first game was played Wednesday afternoon when the Zetas beat the Kappas in a fast and furious game. The five inning tussle saw the Zetas come from behind in the last half of the fifth to make the final score read 9-7. The winners fielded a close knit combination, as only two Kappas hit further than the infield. Big gun for the victors was Al Loesch, who hammered four hits out of four times at bat, one blow going for the season's first three-bagger.

In the first inning the Kappas got the four runs to the Zetas three, and in the second inning the teams matched each other with one run apiece. The third inning witnessed excellent playing by both sides, for each went down without a run. The Zetas got the tying run in the fourth when two runs came across to the Kappas one, and in the fifth they layed it on to outscore the losers 3-1, making the final score 9-7.

Zeta pitcher Ken Bower and Bob Deach for the Kappa aggregation showed remarkable form for the season's first match. Deach also led the Kappas with three swats.

On Thursday, the Kappas-Pi Taus hammered out an 11-3 win over a weak A.P.O. combination. The A.P.O. outfit fielded two feminine players in the persons of May Eschwei and Marie Bonner, who garnered a hit apiece. The heavy hitter of the game was Harry Hantzes of the A.P.O.'s who knocked out four hits. In the first inning the A.P.O.'s were outscored, 4-1, but in the next two innings the pitchers bore down to restore each side without a score. Both aggregations put a run across in the fourth, and from then on the Kappas opened up to outscore the A.P.O. team, 6-1, in three innings.

Behind the superb pitching of John Durko, who allowed runs in only three innings, and Bob Deach, relief pitcher, the Kappas-Pi Taus pulled out their first win of the season.
