

'Campus Capers' Features Soldier Dance Orchestra

The non-sorority resident upper-class women sponsored a Student Council dance, "Campus Capers", at the Campus Canteen in the College Dining Hall on Friday evening, January 7. This was the first Student Council dance to be sponsored by a group other than Council itself.

Theme on the Wing

Felice Epstein was the general chairman for the dance, the theme of which centered about the Army Air Corps. Blue and gold, Air Corps colors, were used in the decorations. The Seventh C. T. D. orchestra provided the music making "Campus Capers" the first Council dance this year to boast "uncanned" music.

Ten Hostesses

In keeping with the Canteen idea, ten of the resident non-sorority women acted as hostesses. These women were Felice Epstein, Patricia Kramer, Shirley Rekon, Gloria Salfeety, Barbara Vigdor, Marian Christ, Eileen Briskman, Betty Bradley, Marion Barger, and Dorothy Leiby. They introduced another "first" by wearing small white organdy aprons trimmed in red rick-rack. The aprons will be worn by hostesses at future Student Council dances.

Everyone joined in an old-fashioned Community Sing at intermission. The soldiers' day room was also open during the dance.

Gilbert & Sullivan Cultural Program In Chapel Tonight

Tonight at 8:15 in the College Chapel, Warren Lee Terry will present Gilbert and Sullivan in song and story for the third program in the Cultural Series. He will be accompanied by Jane Kriebel.

The program will consist of tunes, tales, anecdotes, and plots of the operas. In addition to sketching the life stories of Gilbert and Sullivan, Mr. Terry tells many entertaining facts of the performances and illustrates his remarks by singing several songs.

Having been a leading comedian with the Chautauqua Opera Company, Mr. Terry has participated in fifty-two light and grand operas. His many years on the stage helped to make him a successful lecturer.

This is the third in the present Cultural Program series. Dr. Milton Hamilton is chairman of the program committee.

Dominos to Present Postponed Fall Play in Renovated Chapel; Initial Performance for C.T.D.

Marion Latta

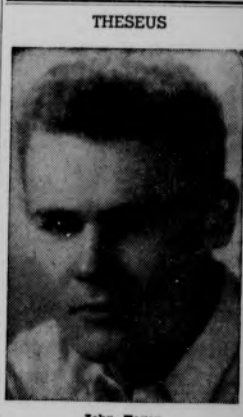

ANTIOPE

Dominos' first performance of "The Warrior's Husband" will be played to an audience of Seventh C. T. D. Cadets tomorrow night at 8:30 p. m. in the College Chapel. Students, faculty and the general public will be admitted on Thursday and Friday evenings, January 13 and 14.

Jeanne Schlegel as Hippolyta and Anthony Cagiano as Sapiens take the leads, while Marion Latta and John Teger play important supporting roles as Antiope and Theseus.

Other members of the cast are Caustica, Jeanne Miller; Heroica, Marie Bonner; Pomposia, Felice Epstein, Hercules, Paul Deysher; Buria, Eleanor Platt; Gaganus, Norman Tolsey, and Homer, Morris Knouse.

The committee on costumes is headed by Professor Ernestine Elder, who is assisted by Christine Calpin and Erma Leinbach. Publicity has been handled by Ann de Farges, Louis McCann, Felice Epstein, Helen Ancona, and Jeanne Miller. Louis McCann and Anthony Cagiano conducted the ticket sale and Betty Claire Voeste did the typing.

John Teger

THESEUS

Co-directors of "The Warrior's Husband", which was written by Julian Thompson, are Paul Bentley Sands and his wife.

The production of the play was postponed from December 8, 9, and 10 to this week because of the fire December 2 in the College Chapel, which damaged the properties and stage. During the period of chapel redecoration, rehearsals were held in the home ec sewing lab.

Activity books must be presented for stamping at the Office of Public Relations before five p. m. on the 12th for the Thursday night performance, and before five p. m. on the 13th for the Friday night performance.

Albright's Rejuvenated Chapel Passes White Glove Inspection

"Ohs" and "Ahs" were plentiful last Tuesday, Jan. 4, when students filed into the College Chapel for the first service since the fire of Dec. 2. Observation revealed that the whole interior has been repainted, including floors, walls, ceiling, woodwork, and seats.

A number of improvements have accompanied the repairing of the stage which were not obvious to students in front. Besides the new red front curtain, a complete new cyclorama and borders have been hung to replace those destroyed by the fire. (To non-theatians—the cyclorama is the curved curtain which forms the back of the stage setting and the borders are the several curtains hanging across the top of the stage.)

Instead of being on a rod as it was formerly, the cyclorama has been placed on a track so that it can be separated and drawn back as the front curtain. This will enable the stage to be enlarged without taking the back curtain down.

The unburned half of the former front curtain has been hung against the back wall of the stage where it will serve as a good background for the altar or other purposes. It is also on a track and when it is drawn aside, movies may be shown against the wall.

Inter-Frat Council Elects Evans, Elder as Officers

The first meeting of the Inter-fraternity Council was held Monday, January 3, for the purpose of organization. Professor John C. Evans was elected chairman, and Professor Ernestine Elder, secretary. Because of poor attendance, little business was accomplished. The Council decided to consult the faculty and administration as to methods the fraternities shall use for pledging, and, as an advisory board, pass them on to the fraternities.

The next meeting of the Council is scheduled for Monday, February 7. It is hoped that attendance will be better than it was at the last meeting. Out of the eleven members, five were present at the January meeting. They were: Professor Evans representing Kappa Upsilon Phi, Professor F. W. Gingrich for Zeta Omega Epsilon, Professor Elder for Phi Beta Mu, and two student members, William Lipfert for Alpha Pi Omega, and Mildred Ruebsamen for Pi Alpha Tau.

War restrictions are making it difficult to get the replacements needed for the damaged organ. The console itself is not damaged inside, and when it is available, a new top will be put in place of the charred one and the entire console refinished.

Stunt Night

If enough organizations on campus will be able to participate, a Stunt Night similar to that of last year will be held sometime in February. Vester Peters, president of Student Council requests that any organization interested in participating should notify him by the end of this month.

However, the tone cabinet which was located behind the grill on the left side of the stage was completely ruined. At first it was hoped that a new one would be installed by Jan. 8, but recent word from the organ company which is now engaged in war production indicates that it will be several weeks at best before the new cabinet can be supplied.

Although not a replacement from the fire damage, the new door cut through the right wall of the chapel just in front of the stage furnishes a much needed emergency exit.

The total cost of the restoration and repairs of the chapel is estimated at $2500. According to President Harry V. Masters, the chapel, like all other college equipment, is insured to the maximum. However, depreciation on the equipment is deducted from its value by the insurance company so that the insurance settlement does not completely pay the cost of the new equipment. The improvements, naturally, are an additional cost to the college.

Destroyer Bears Name of Lt. Knox, Albright Grad and Hero in Pacific

The name of Lieutenant Leslie L. B. Knox, Albright College athlete and hero of the South Pacific war, will ride the high seas aboard one of the first two destroyers to be launched this year.

The U. S. S. Leslie B. Knox, which was formally christened (a Saturday, January 5, was named in honor of the young naval flier, who was reported in June of 1942 as missing in action in the Coral Sea battle. The Navy Department reported that he failed to return to his aircraft carrier after engaging the enemy in that battle, and the Associated Press listed Lieut. Knox as having been killed in the Coral Sea.

Lieut. Knox was an outstanding end and center on the Albright varsity football team, and was also on the basketball team. He went into training as a flier for the Navy soon after his graduation in 1938. He served first in a dive bomber, and after Pearl Harbor he saw considerable service as a fighter pilot on an aircraft carrier in the Pacific.

Albright Symphony Plays Three Numbers in Chapel

The Albright College Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Professor Hans Nix, played for Albrightians in the College Chapel this morning. The orchestra played "March and Entrance of the Peers" by Sullivan, "Rosamunde Overture" by Schubert, and "Fantasy" by Wagner.

Librarian Esther Fenill led a worship-in-song service in chapel on Tuesday morning, Jan. 4, and Professor Marcus Green was in charge of the chapel service Friday, Jan. 7.

Alchemists Elect Officers; Plastics Lecture Follows

Election of a president and vice president will be held at the monthly meeting of the Alchemist Club at 7:45 p. m. tomorrow evening in the library of the Merner-Pfeiffer Hall of Science. An election is necessary because Walter Koch who is now president of the club will graduate at the end of the present semester. Mr. Koch, as vice president, became the club proxy when Eugene Mendelsohn did not return to Albright last fall. Any senior member is eligible for the presidency and any member may be elected vice president.

Harold Werner of the Glidden Paint Company will speak to the members about the manufacture of plastics. Mr. Werner graduated from Albright College in 1942 and is head of the varnish research laboratory at A. Wilhelm's, the Reading branch of the Glidden Co. He will bring samples of various plastics to illustrate his lecture.

Paul Mattson heads the program committee and Mae Picking is chairman of the refreshment committee.

Daywomen Are a Carefree Crew Despite Their Cramped Quarters

"Quiet—I've a test next period," sniff, sniff! "Who has bananas for lunch?" "Where's Griz?" "Do we have gym today?" "June Plowfield on the phone!" etc. etc. are some of the utterances, squeaky, guttural, and otherwise emerging from the recreation room or better still — "wreck"-rea-tion room of the Women Day Students' quarters.

In and out of the "hole in the wall" go some 70 day women each day. However, the only time during the day one may be a "student" in that room is early in the a. m. Alice Voit arrives early, curls up on a sofa with a blanket, and studies. Doris Kinsey usually awakens her from her studies about 7:15 a. m. Let's propose bunks for these two early birds. By 9:00, the room is full of girls, giggles and gossip.

"No-man's land" has some distinct features about it—When a frosh, you get a locker with a plain glass door. Upperclassmen use the ones with frosted glass. Obviously, as an upperclassman, you've acquired more stuff, have less time to put it away, so the frosted glass is quite concealing. They have no waste can in the day student's room. The "Dames" make individual trips across the hall to the boiler room. (Say! Is the fire man that cute or do Durko and Stish have a hot stove league in the boiler room?) The day studes claim a waste can collects mice who thrive on left-

Sneak Attack Staged by Snooping Snow . . . And Then the Rains Came

A beautiful blanket of snow lightly covered the campus, with more coming down every minute. Visions of snowball fights danced in our heads as we climbed out of our snug little beds to greet the white New Year which appeared last Monday morning. Several people we know did not bother to wash their faces, no doubt anticipating that it would be done for them. Speculation was rife as to how much more packing down the snow on the path between the Ad Building and the barracks would need before it could be turned into a bowling alley. Frosh were warned to spare those trees at the bottom of the hill if they planned to go sliding behind the science hall. Everybody, save possibly the man who shovels the walks, was happy about the new snow, and settled down to the prospect of wearing boots and ear muffs for a while.

But like the night before an exam, the snow was gone too quickly. The rains came and the snow went. Or did it, assume a very wet disguise?

Come back, snow! Come back so Dr. Gingrich won't have to tell any more hair-curling jokes. So Dot Powick can throw snowballs. So Ralph Cocking can make a snow man. So Helen Grass can watch it "make down frozen." So Arlene Heckman can have a snowbattle. So Rita Duncavage can go jump in a pile of it, and Bobby Calamara can eat some. (They like to do this, they say.) So Tony Cagiano can wash June Weidner's face. So Vaughn Buehler can "cut-up". So Leiby can use her chem formulas to melt it all up quick. So Santa Claus, more snow, please!

Soft Lights, Sweet Music Or It CAN Happen Here

Orchids, huge white ones, should be delivered at half hour intervals to the non-sorority resident women who did so much to make "Canteen Capers" the swiftest affair it turned out to be. For some reason or other, those dining hall dances never turned out to be all that was expected. Then Student Council decided to sublet them to any campus organization. The non-sorority resident women were the first to volunteer.

The whole thing was so cozy—with both fireplaces blazing away, upholstered furniture for the stag line, and the floor crowded. The Seventh C. T. D. orchestra, another new innovation, provided the zest lacking in the customary juke box. The fact that members of the Permanent Party as well as Albright faculty not chaperoning were interested enough to turn out and socialize indicated another step toward coordination. There was only one hitch—not enough of the feminine element. Paul Deysher was forced to stage a round-up, but even then, the soldiers had to operate in shifts.

Postmortems revealed that, next to Foot Joy, "Canteen Capers" is the most talked about event on campus. When the Army says it had a grand time, that can mean only one thing—more affairs just like it.

Don't Be A Wallflower

O. K., so the cheerleaders promised a student section at the game and all that was there was a sign which the fans completely ignored. Is that sufficient reason for not yelling our heads off for a team that has had six straight wins from sheer plugging? The least we can do is get behind them, setting a lead for the rest of the audience. It's our school, our team, and we are doggone glad to boast about our victories, you know.

Council Says . . .

Dean Mary Jane Stevenson, speaking for the Faculty Committee on Student Organizations and Activities, presented to the council the basis for Student Council Senior Awards as established recently by the committee. The committee is taking six points into consideration: 1. Attendance—a member must have attended at least 75% of the Council meetings. 2. Performance of assigned tasks—to be judged by a recommendation of the Council president, supported by a report from the secretary's minutes. 3. Contact with groups represented—here the committee will feel free to consult faculty and students. 4. Attitude—meaning a good Albright citizen. 5. Contribution to the group—taking into consideration those who act as well as those who talk. 6. Number of awards—all, or none at all, with anything in between, at the discretion of the committee.

Business was at a minimum so that the major portion of the meeting could be spent on the proposed constitution. Article II, dealing with jurisdiction, was postponed because the constitution committee has not reached definite conclusions about some sections. Discussion centered on Article III. Duties and Privileges, with sections specifically centering on officers, members, and campus organizations. The meeting was brought to a halt during a hashing about of Article IV—Quorum.

Among those missing were Tony Cagiano of the Senior Class, Arlan Straussner of the Zetas, Janet Luckenbaugh of the Mus, Ruth Ritzman of the Daywomen, and Warren Loesch of the Dorm Men. Since Tony Stish is now in med school, the Kappas are without representation.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

Far be it from us to break traditions. Since Resolutions are an old New Year's custom, the Inquiring Reporter begins 1944 with the traditional "What are your New Year's Resolutions?"

Dick Detweiler, '46, Liberal Arts: I resolve not to make any New Year's Resolutions because I don't keep them anyway.

Bill Lippert, '44, Pre-Ministerial: I resolve to have my tonsils removed at least once each year so I can have more breakfasts served in bed. (Superman!)

Dot Powick, '46, Pre-Med: To keep up the army morale and my own. (You're doing well.)

Louise Trostle, '47, Home Ec: To support the Navy! (All of it!)

Marion Christ, '45, History: To practice "Pistol Packing Mama" faithfully every day until the gals who insist on singing it stop insisting (or singing).

Rita Duncavage, '46, Biology: To shock my roommate and roll out for breakfast.

Gerry Bowker, '44, Sociology: Get myself dehydrated and sent to England. He can add the water. (New type field ration!)

Joyce Moyer, '45, English: I resolved not to break any New Year's Resolutions — by not making any. (Sounds simple.)

Reita Greenspan, '44, History: To get up on the right side of the bed every morning, study every night, and write a letter every day. I can dream, can't I? (Quite a heavy schedule.)

Eileen Briskman, '46, Soc Science: Well, it's Leap Year, isn't it? (Watch out, fellows.)

LITTLE THINGS

MARIE BONNER, sophomore woman about campus, was not about campus when school resumed on January 3 . . . LA BONNER listened to the wrong little birdie and carried on with the vacation until Tuesday morning . . . Was she surprised to walk into chapel and find the other students one day's college education ahead of her! . . .

The DEPARTMENT OF CHEMISTRY now boasts of a complete, up-to-date, filing system . . . Five units were donated by department-minded laboratory assistants at Christmas time and, just recently, the Administration provided four more . . . Prior to these additions to the office equipment there wasn't a waste paper basket in the joint . . .

Looking for something new and different? . . . Try phoning LINDEN HOUSE . . . GERALDINE (SHOW THEM NO MERCY) BOWKER is courageously adhering to a New Year's Resolution which requires her to make a Leap Year's proposal to at least one man a day . . . At the moment, her batting average is low . . .

PAUL CONNERS, KAY's brother, is now in the Navy . . . According to OUIA, poor JANET LUCKENBAUGH will not graduate from Albright because she is too dumb . . . Redhead FRANK GABLE set something new in court fashions last week when he trotted out onto the hardwood wearing a kelly-green fur hat . . .

MARY ALICE LIPPETT made those slick aprons for the successful "Campus Capers" last Friday evening . . . Gals who never danced before at Albright joined in the light fantastic at Friday night's affair, including DOTTY LEIBY . . . She hasn't been the same since . . .

Hidden in a gigantic cloud of dust, a little red and white contraption tears around the corner of the Ad Building drowning out even the "hup, hup" of the Seventh C. T. D. With a screech of brakes, the frightening roar stops as panic stricken co-eds scurry from the path of Albright's one and only motorcycle.

Mallman

It's daring driver, James K. Snelbaker, is a favorite with the women 'cause he's the one who fills their mail boxes. He brings them letters from Tom, Dick, and Harry and often enough a check from home. The only complaints we have to offer are the cutdars and valentines he presents to us.

Patience Man

Guardian of Albright's Bookstore, his patience is never shattered as shouts for packages, pencils, pretzels, and pennants ring through the little room. Calm, cool, and collected he takes care of everyone in his turn and all trek out satisfied.

Jim's flashy sport shirts are famous on campus and now we know where they fall from. His dad is the owner of a shirt factory back in Mechanicsburg, Jim's home town.

Outdoor Man

The Rod and Gun Magazine has an ardent advocate in our boy Jim. Strictly an outdoor man, he is out on the trail the minute that hunting season opens. From then on his red shirt, high boots, and gun become familiar sights. He was born with a fishing rod in his hand and there is nothing he likes better than roughing it on a camping trip with his pals Gerry and Earl. He's handy with the frying pan, too, and can whip up a mean batch of pancakes over an open fire.

Club Man

Jim holds many prominent offices on campus. The A. P. O.'s have elected him president this year and he also heads the Philosophy Club. Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., he finds innumerable interests in this organization and has been an active member throughout his college career. Every fall, Jim is an enthusiast of the "Y" Retreat. "Back to Nature" seems to be his slogan. He is treasurer of Kappa Tau Chi.

A pre-ministerial student, Jim will receive his A. N. degree in January and then will continue his studies at the Theological Seminary.

Jim has a mania for taking lollipops to MARY. He shies from any specific naming titles but gets around them by calling her S. H. and D. O. (Sorry, you'll have to figure it out for yourself).

Jello tops Jim's pet gripes, but Frank Sinatra runs a close second. He thinks it would be more descriptive if the "I" were omitted in the last name.

Jim's honest face, poised manner, and fine sense of humor have long impressed Albrightians. His efforts to give his best to Albright are fully realized and appreciated. He's a real man's man and the mention of his name on campus will always be welcome.

Sabbath Notes

The College Bible Class will be led by Prof. C. Charles Miesse on Sunday, January 17. Mr. Miesse will teach the standard lesson, "Jesus' Answers the Critics".

Special music will be rendered by the Pi Alpha Tau Sextet consisting of Marie Bonner, Margaret Hendricks, Emma Cora Hafer, Betty Rex, Margaret Shepperd, and Joyce Moyer. Betty Claire Voeste is the accompanist.

Vespers for that evening will be held in Sylvan Chapel with "One of the Great Nights of the Bible" as the theme. James Snelbaker will lead the service, using as his topic, "The Night a Man Fought With the Angels".

Inside Albright

By PROF. ELSIE A. GARLACH

The following jingles were mailed on penny postcards to an Albright soldier in the Field Hospital at Indiantown Gap where he spent several weeks before Christmas. These "pills" are of the one-a-day brand.

"Teacher"

A is for Albright The place you belong. Get well, and we'll greet Your return with a song.

B is for Betz, Section Leader so strong. If you follow his orders, You'll never go wrong.

C is for Canteen, The place for a game. And if you are lucky, You may meet a dame.

D is for the Doctor Who gives you pink pills. If you do what he says, He will cure all your ills.

E is for Eats, To you it is chow. The soldiers partake Of it three times—and how!

F is for the Flag With its red, white, and blue, For courage, for purity, And for the true.

G is for G. I. The Government Issue. You take it regardless Of whether it fits you.

H is for Heinicke, Hintenack, Hyde. Of the class English 10 The three are our pride.

I is for Inspection. Now make your shoes shine; Brush your clothes; wipe up dust; Have everything fine.

J is for the Joy When this war will be over. You can pack up your bag, And go home to Mother.

K is for K. P. Almost too much to bear. You peel the potatoes, While at them you swear.

L is for Lanston, Your room-mate with Spicer. They were in quarantine, Anything nicer?

M is for McDuffie Best man on the Post. We honor our captain, And give him a toast.

N is for Noise You make in the hall. Till "At Ease" the sergeant Loudly will call.

O is for Optimist That's what you seem. If the milk in the pitcher You still call the cream.

P is for Pierre Our good-natured chaf. If you like your food Freely, You'll fare well enough.

Q is for the Queue You form in the hall, The chow-line, the pay-line, The drink-line, and all.

R is for Roll-call You answer to same, So early in the morning When the Sarg calls your name.

S is for the Song When drilling is o'er. The one we like best, Is "The Army Air Corps".

T is for Training Your muscles, how sore! But after they're hardened, You come back for more.

U is for Uncle Sam We came at his call. Best uncle of any— We pledge him our all.

V is for Victory! May it come soon. For when they announce it, We all can go home.

W is for War, That Sierran called Hell. We all shall feel swell.

X is for X-ray It looks you right through. With its help the doctor Can make you like new.

Y is for the Yanks Let's give them a cheer. They're fighting for freedom And all they hold dear.

Z is for Zeros. You get them in class. You always get one, When due for a pass.

(Ed. note: Altho' Professor Garlach goes in for more serious poetry, as is evidenced by her poem in the book for our servicemen, she gives out with these cheerful bits when the occasion arises. We think her work is a fine example of what goes on "Inside Albright.")

Included in the January issue of the HISTORICAL REVIEW OF BERKS COUNTY are articles by Dr. Milton W. Hamilton of the history department and Dr. Raymond W. Albright, acting curator of the Historical Society and teaches church history at the Evangelical School of Theology.

In "George Miller—Evangelical Pioneer", Dr. Albright tells of the career of one of the early leaders of the church. Dr. Hamilton is author of the article, "The Reading Adler—1796-1913", telling the story of the principal German newspaper of Reading. The historical society has completed its file of this 126 year old paper by acquiring the volumes from 1897 to 1913 when the paper was discontinued. Dr. Hamilton is editor of the HISTORICAL REVIEW.

Mrs. Mary Barrett Lowrey, assistant superintendent of nurses at the Georgetown University School of Nursing at Washington, D. C., will speak to the women of Albright Friday, January 14, at 1:15 p. m. This meeting will be held in the chapel for the purpose of informing the women of the need for student nurses. Mrs. Lowrey's visit is part of a nation-wide endeavor to recruit 65,000 student nurses for wartime replacements caused by the needs of Army, Navy, and civilian health agencies. She will also discuss nursing as a post-war career.

Lions in the Ranks Say Thanks for Christmas Book, Show Rising Interest in Varsity Cage Squad, Faculty Season's Greetings from CPL. BOB DOMBRO, who is stationed at the Will Rogers Field in Oklahoma.

V-Mail from LT. JOE FOLGER, who is "somewhere in England." "Very happy to receive my copy of The Albrightian. It brings back so many fond memories of my days at Albright College. I enjoyed the article about the change that has come over the Zeta House. Being a member of the Zeta fraternity, it made me go back to the Class of '39 of which I am a member. The men of Albright have really answered the country's call and are serving in all theaters of operations. Have been in service since June, 1941, and have enjoyed every minute of it. . . Ed Nicolai and I were more than classmates, we came from the same town in New Jersey and were very close friends. Albright College, I know, will always remember Ed and also Les Knox. Please take notice of my new A. P. O. (511) and keep the paper coming because it certainly is a wonderful morale builder. Many of the names I read are strange to me at present. Sincerely hope to visit the campus again and meet new friends and greet old friends. Best wishes for the Holiday season. Best regards to the faculty."

A/S DONALD GABEL at Duquesne University greets us with "Hi, Albrightians. Extend my thanks to Student Council for the neat booklet they distributed. Believe me, I am appreciative. Duquesne resembles Albright in a great many respects, but it can't quite take its place. I was very fortunate in that I was home over Christmas and on Christmas day I made it a point to stroll around the campus—the science hall, the chapel, and most of the A. P. O. house—they all brought back fond memories. I was sorry I couldn't see any of the students, but perhaps I'll have better luck at some later date. The studies here are not at all hard, especially with my previous training at Albright. We have practically the same organization here as the 7th C. T. D. does so I need not say anything along that line. Keep up your good work back there and just keep things the same as they were 'way back when."

A/S WALTER P. GIPPRICH, 13153757, 47th C. T. D. Sqn. A, Room 325, Marshall College, Huntington, West Virginia, "I wish to thank you for the student publication and to wish you all a most successful New Year."

PFC. ROLFE HASTINGS has this new address: 459373, A Company, 1st Pl. Cand. Det. Inf. Bn. T. C. Camp Lejeune, New River, North Carolina. A. "I just finished reading the Christmas edition of The Albrightian, and it sure was good to hear about the school, especially around Christmas. The paper is the only way of keeping in contact with Albright and you really appreciate receiving it each week. I've been transferred to a new camp. . . There are quite a number of boys down here from Brigham Young University and they were quite England. The stay has been a fairly pleasant one, but like other G. L.'s, I'm looking forward to the day those boats start sailing the other way."

SGT. ROBERT REED, A. S. N. 33185293, Det. Med. Dept., 25th General Hospital, A. P. O. 9301, c/o Postmaster, New York City sent us word of this change in his address.

PVT. ROBERT SHAPIRO, Mess Personnel, Building 26, Jefferson Barracks, Missouri, sends this greeting: "I can not express in words my gratitude to my friends at Albright for their every thoughtfulness. Each kind effort from the seasonal greeting to the sending of The Albrightian is graciously appreciated by me. I only hope that my former classmates who are now my 'buddies' and those of you still at school will soon be reunited as one big happy family under the banner of The Red and White."

LT. DON SPATZ, U. S. M. C. R., Sqn V M F (w) 532, c/o F. P. O., San Francisco, California, was recently promoted to his present rank. He sent thanks for The Albrightian.

CPL. HAROLD L. ULMER, "I want to thank the Student Council, and student body for the Christmas greeting which I received a few weeks ago. . . The booklet will be a cherished remembrance of our term of campus. The student body seems to be carrying on for the rest of us very well. More power to them."

A/C JOSEPH ZEOCK, 5th School Sqn., 44-1, Drks. No. 5, K. A. A. F., Kingman, Arizona, "Just a few lines to thank you and the Student Council for sending me The Albrightian and the little booklet. No kidding, I really can say for myself and many other Albright men, it really is good to receive them. The trouble is, it sort of makes a fellow homesick for college. Guess there aren't many fellows left from our class 'cause Ralph Miller was at Kingman and he told me that most of the boys went to summer school and got their degrees already. I'm still in the good old desert where the days are hot and nights cold. Well, we only have two more weeks to go before we get our aerial gunner's wings. Then we go to advanced bombardiering school. . . I understand that there are some C. T. D. Air Corps boys at Albright. Tell them to take it easy and stay "on the ball" and they will be Cadets before they know it. . . say hello to the gang and tell them I'll be around to see the school as soon as this furlough comes through. We will need it 'cause we are spending our Christmas in the deep desert shooting machine guns from B-17's. No Christmas holidays for us, just another day. Tell that to people who are kicking about we problems."

GEORGE WEBER and HAROLD LEUDERS were both here in the other day. ALLEN HYMAN paid us a call, too.

CPL. CLIFFORD ROEMER sent us Christmas Greetings from Gainesville, Florida. He is now in Term 5 of Civil Engineering in the A. S. T. P. He is stationed at the University of Florida. "I'll still take Albright as my favorite school. Say hello to my friends at Albright. I certainly appreciated the booklet I received from Student Council. Here's wishing the basketball team a great year."

CAPT. HARRY BARRER writes from Camp McCain, Mississippi. "For some time now The Albrightian has been chasing me around the country. . . It's nice to have the 'old sheet' come in so regularly. I don't know many of the people you write about now, but every so often a familiar name pops up and it's nice to know where the guys and gals are. . . If you bump into Dr. Horn or Prof. Green—give them a kiss for me. (In '34-'35 we called them 'The Big and Little Bull.') Harry is with the Medical Detachment. His correct address is Capt. H. G. Barrer, Med. Det. 376 Inf. A. P. O. 94, Camp McCain, Mississippi.

A/C JAMES BRUSCH's new address is Sq. 1, Class 44F, Carlstrom Field, Arcadia, Florida. "This is a beautiful place; it's supposed to be one of the best primary schools in the country. We're flying PT-17's. While at Maxwell Field I saw Herb Vogt. He will leave for primary school next month. Once all the Zetas get into action the war will soon be over, and I'll be looking forward to getting back to Albright. See you all then, Jim."

LT. DONALD E. BUXTON sends "thanks to the Student Council for the timely and original Christmas booklet they mailed to us. . . I have been here (Kearns, Utah) exactly one month. Perhaps I will eventually meet up with other Albrightians. I understand they are serving in all corners of the globe. I want to wish all of you a very Merry Christmas. . . Remember me to the students, the faculty, and my brothers of the Z. O. E."

Christmas Greetings also came from SGT. KENNETH CAMPBELL in Fresno, California and from 1st SGT. ROY CONNER at Fort Logan, Colorado. Roy says, "Many thanks for your remembrance to us in the service. Please say hello to Prof. Green and Doc Horn for me."

From A/C W. KENNETH DETWEILER, "I've changed my address again. I'm down here in Chapel Hill, North Carolina. This isn't the sunny south I've heard so much about. Yesterday we had rain with sleet. Today it is raining like blazes and the sandy soil is getting very muddy. Chapel Hill isn't a place to go for a rest. I have classes from seven in the morning until noon. I have my physical classes in the afternoon. Just now, I'm having boxing, football, soccer, and swimming all rolled into one afternoon of sore muscles. Some days we finish off with a navigation and star class at night. We get a little tired sometimes. . . I ran into Bud Dineen down here. I'm going to share my copy of The Albrightian with him. He is very interested in the old place and we've talked for a long time about it. Keep up your good work." Ken's complete address is A/C W. K. Detweiler, U. S. N. P. F. S., Lewis Hall, Room 217, Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

From North Africa, PFC. PAUL DIBLASI writes, "Here's a word of thanks for the paper, which I know is greatly appreciated by the boys overseas, and my new address. I hope all of you back at Albright had a nice holiday season. Don't let the rain bother you. It rains all winter here." He can be reached at Hq. Co. (Band) 8th Regt. Depot, A. P. O. 358, c/o Postmaster, New York City. A. S. N. 33112078.

PVT. SIDNEY DISEND sends us holiday greetings from Carnegie Tech. He sends thanks for The Albrightian and to "The Student Council for the beautiful book that I received. It really makes us feel good to know that we have not been forgotten. Tech is a great school and they really keep you on the ball here. The life is great, nothing compared to actual Army life, but there are no complaints coming from me. Glad to hear that the basketball team is hitting their stride now. I see Stish and Durko are really dropping them into the hoop. Not much doing in the line of sports here so I really eat up the sports page."

ENSIGN RALPH FLEMING's address may be secured in the Office of Public Relations. Ralph is busy collecting souvenirs in North Africa.

over sandwiches. From the size of Emma Cora Hafer's appetite, that sounds like a meager excuse.

If you're lucky — or else have a class on the first floor, you can dash in a hurry for a seat on a sofa to eat lunch. That is, if the furniture hasn't been borrowed for a Domino production. Otherwise you join about 20 others who sit on the floor to munch lunch with the bunch.

When it comes to dressing after gym classes—the first one out is the best dressed. Some gremlins could certainly have fun knotting clothes! (It's ideal) "Worm" Leinbach drapes her clothes over the lamps. The gals have certainly acquired the technique of regulating venetian blinds so that you see out—but no one sees in.

The bulletin board is an outlet for pet peeves between the gals, choice jokes, phone call messages, "no gym today" announcements, "billet doux" from the "clean-up-the-room" committee (about twice a year that happens), and other elevating literature.

The daywomen, even if they're packed like sardines in a can, are a happy lot. The Albrightian staff doesn't advocate sound proof walls, even if it is noisy for the day students hear plenty and tell more.

Albright Extends Streak to Six Straight

Lions Take Easy 45-27 Win Over Lebanon Valley Squad

Tony Stish Makes Final Appearance As Co-Captain of Red and Black In Saturday Night's Contest

Albright's Lion quintet extended its winning streak to six straight last Saturday night when they defeated Lebanon Valley on the Northwest floor by a decisive 45-27 score. It was the last game for co-captain Tony Stish on the present team, since Stish is now enrolled in Temple Medical School.

Offensively Co-captain John Durko led the home team with 15 points. Big John played a bang-up game, connecting with his impossible one-handers and starting on the defensive as well. Although Stish didn't play the entire game, he provided some of the scoring punch by sinking some of his usual long ones.

Big gun on the court for Lebanon Valley was Frank Shupper. The Dutchmen's captain and starting forward kept them in the game both defensively and offensively, scoring all but one of his team's goals. Showing prowess on the backcourt, he stole the ball several times and dribbled down for lay-ups.

Coach Harris has found in Mark Guss a set shot artist as Mook thrilled the crowd with several sizlers, one of which was the opening score of the game. Bill Landis and Bob Deach held the defense tight as they both came in on the rebounds with determination.

The closest the Dutchmen got to Albright all evening was in the first quarter when the Lions held a 12-6 advantage. Late in getting started, the L. V. team got most of their points in the initial frame on foul shots. A set shot by Guss and two successive shots by Red Gable, probable substitute starter for Stish, opened the second quarter. The half ended with the Red and White on the long end of a 21-10 score. From then on the Albright supremacy was never in danger, even with the second stringers comprising most of the squad on the floor.

SIDE LIONS

A team to watch is the Muhlenberg marine-civilian cage five, who have been showing their power on the hardwoods. By taking Lehigh, 73-52, Swarthmore, 53-45, and, 40-28, the Mules have demonstrated that they are going to be a big pill for the Albright Lions to swallow sometime soon. Last Saturday the team went after another first rate team of the state, Villanova, while West Chester, Albright's foe next week, took on Elizabethtown.

Scholastic basketball has come up with a good thing, holding exhibition games to raise money for the planned Albright Gym. Last Tuesday, January 4, Muhlenberg High dropped a 37-29 decision to Kutztown, and Wyoming conquered Robesonia, 33-25. Berks County officials volunteered their services gratis. That's what you call the good neighbor policy.

Albright Seventh C. T. D. has cage stars, too. Two of them, who get their picture in the "Reading Times" were Robert Flynn, former regular guard on the Notre Dame frosh team and Caimir Staniszewski, a high school court star. He was co-captain of the team that won the state scholastic championship in Indiana.

Experts Stun Western Five, Smash Elizabethtown Cagers

Surprising Arkansas, 47-40, Locals Gain Fame, With Durko, Guss Setting Potent Scoring Pace

Flashing a type of basketball that has enabled it to roll up the impressive record of five straight victories, the Albright College quintet has trampled two opponents under foot during the holiday season to put itself on the top of the local basketball world. The Lions, fresh from a hard won victory over Brigham Young, traveled to Elizabethtown on December 21, and there defeated the E-Town five by the score of 60-46. Gaining more finesse with each day of practice, the Roaring Lions next encountered the highly touted Arkansas team on December 29 and administered a spanking by a 47-40 score.

opening minutes of the fray and hung on to it throughout the remainder of the game. The Lions' defense seemed to have the invaders puzzled no end, with big boys John Durko, Bill Landis and Mark Guss, getting the rebounds one time after the other. The Albright five never looked better on the offense. It used its fast break to advantage whenever possible, and when it was unable to apply this weapon, Guss, Tony Stish and Sterling Rickenbach came across with some of the deadliest set shots ever seen in this quarter of the globe.

Particularly outstanding for his floor work and all around play was Rickenbach, a Shillington lad, who is doing all right in his first year in the big time. Slightly reminiscent of Chin Rhoads, "Ricky" was all over the place, breaking up plays and intercepting passes at opportune moments of play. It could be stated that "Ricky" played a "sterling" game. John Durko saw action under the basket, with thirteen points accredited to him in the box score. Mark Guss shared the scoring honors with Durko, garnering the same number of points.

Appearing at Northwest in Navy blues for the first time, Ensign Dick Shollenberger, scoring wizard of former Albright cage combinations, was at the Arkansas game as guest of honor. When he accompanied Coach Harris to the bleachers, Reading fans welcomed him back to his home town by giving him a round of applause.

The Arkansas game is what really put Albright on the map, since all the sports experts had it figured out that the Red and White should lose. Coach Neal O. Harris' proteges experienced little difficulty in gaining the victory, grabbing the lead in the

For the Razorbacks, a boy by the name of Jones seemed to be the most potent factor in the Arkansas attack. The Red and White was unable to keep this big fellow from getting in close, and as a result, he ran off with scoring honors of the game by slipping seventeen points through the rim. The westerners also displayed a pair of fine guards by the name of Flynt and Pense, who were outstanding for their floor work and ball handling.

Cage Co-leaders Lead Varsity Drill Sessions

West Reading Team To Be Host To Frosh Sextet Friday

With co-leaders Eleanor Platt and Erma Leinbach leading the practices, the women's varsity basketball team resumed last Tuesday its regular three practices a week. Following the cancellation of their game with Elizabethtown in December 21, the managers, Doris Kinsey and Eleanor Schubert, also cancelled a game with the same school scheduled for January 14 because several members of the team have roles in the Domino production to be given on that date. They have, however, asked for a game February 4.

The freshmen basketball squad after most constant practice to date is forming into a clicking sextet with Elaine Schwartz leading the offense and Virginia Woerle sparking the offensive play, these "lowly frosh" should have a good season. Calls have been coming in for freshmen games from several high schools of the vicinity, namely Shillington, Muhlenberg, Mt. Penn. and West Reading. The game with West Reading will be held on the latter's court, this Friday, January 14. The dates for the other games are uncertain, but most of them will be played on away floors. Coach Eva Mosser said.

Slightly less spectacular was the Lions' victory at Elizabethtown, due to the fact that the home team encountered little in the way of opposition in defeating the Rams at Northwest and were expected to do so again. The local lads got off to a rather poor start in the opening minutes of the clash, but got going in the second quarter to take a 20-20 lead at half time.

The third period really saw the Albright squad turn on the heat. While holding the opposition to a mere three buckets, the Lions swished the cords for sixteen points to move way out in front. Landis, Rickenbach, and Deach spearheaded this outburst that assured victory for the visitors.

West Chester Invades Local Court Saturday

Red and White Squad Grooms For Lone Tilt Since F. & M. Postpones Meeting

With the postponement of tomorrow night's game with Franklin and Marshall on their home floor, the Albright Lions will face only one opponent this week when they meet the West Chester Rams on the Northwest hardwood this Saturday night. Coach Tom Floyd of F. & M. informed the Lion mentor, Coach Harris, that because of rather vague reasons on that date, the team would be unable to play. February 21 was arranged as the alternate date.

On Saturday night the basketballers will play host to the West Chester rams who have an all civilian team like the Lions. The Rams boast two tall boys in Kenneth Michaels, center, who stands six feet two inches, and Joe Wolfinger, center, who is an even six feet. Both of these players are underclassmen. The Rams squad is made up of three seniors, three sophomores, and five freshmen. In the Rams' lineup will be one county lad, Joe Sharer, who comes from Boyertown, Pa.

The Albright lineup will probably be the same as always with the exception of Tony Stish. Tiny Landis and Big John Durko will be at forwards, Mark Guss at center, and either Frank Gable or Bob Klenck and Ricky Rickenbach at guards.

The probable starting lineups are:
W. Chester Rams: Albright Lions
Greener, F Landis
MacIntyre, F Durko
Michaels, C Guss
Roberts, G Rickenbach
Sharer, G Gable or Klenck

In keeping with the spirit of the new year, we have decided to review the old and speculate on the new in Albright basketball. As the 1943-44 cage season nears its midpoint, the Lions are the most talked-about thing in the local sports theatre. In describing the holiday games Reading sports writers have had a hard time trying to find enough synonyms for "unpredictable."

The holiday vacation was not a rest period for the team. It was filled with hard work putting over three victories. If one compares the calibre of the team in the first game of the season with their stellar performance in the Arkansas event, one can see easily the results of weeks of steady practice and of Coach Harris' commendable training.

To win two inter-sectional games was some undertaking. By looking over the Brigham Young and Arkansas tour schedule, we noted that they must have underrated the Lion's potentiality. BYU met Albright between their Long Island and University of Omaha duels. Arkansas moved into Reading the night after taking a 39-37 victory from C. C. N. Y. at Madison Square Garden.

It was these holiday victories that changed the present cagers from a second-rate to a first-rate team. It was in these games that new surprises came to the fore—like Mark Guss' debut as a consistent scorer, Bob Deach's defense work under the enemy basket, Bill Landis' all-around improvement, and the better team coordination.

Of course the Lions still make mistakes, plenty of them. But they usually come up in the next play with something just as brilliant as their former one was stinko. That's one reason for the perpetual handle, "unpredictable."

Looking into the future, no one can tell how the Lions are going to fare against some of their more formidable opponents—Muhlenberg and F. & M. especially. Tomorrow night's F. & M. game will be a battle of the "haves" against the "have nots." The Dip coach started this year with a total of 56 cage aspirants, most of them Navy trainees. He had difficulty in cutting the squad down to 25, among them five first-stringers from St. Francis, three from St. Joseph's college, and two of his own starting regulars. If you think that's easy competition, guess again.

Pleased by the Lions' recent victories, Albright students may expect too much from their nine-man varsity squad. The next few games will be a test of the locals' strength against their usual Eastern Penn competition. But there seems to be a law of averages, even when it comes to miracles.
