FOOTBALL RESUME

On Saturday, Nov. 19, Albright played the last game of her hard and trying schedule of the 1921 season. Needless to say, the outcome was also a successful one, for the Albright eleven went thru the season with four victories and but three defeats, surely a wonderful record for a college of Albright's standing. The only teams that could boast of victory are F. & M., Swarthmore and Muhlenberg, and all of them were mighty creditable defeats for the Red and White. F. & M. defeated us in the first game of the season before the boys were really in shape and before they had had scrimmage. Swarthmore won 28-0 on a slow and muddy field. Three of her touchdowns were direct results of Albright fumbles, due to the condition of the gridiron. As for Muhlenberg "the Surprise Team of the East" was handed out a surprise, and should have been defeated, for the Red and White outplayed them in every stage of the game, and certainly deserved a victory. As for our victories,—P. M. C., Juniata, Susquehanna, and Western Maryland, all fell victims to the Albright eleven. In all of these games the home team ran up high scores, which is proven by the fact that during the season the Red and White scored 118 points to their opponents 85 points.

The following men are eligible for A's, Saltern, Kingsley, Miller, Knecht, Kline, Hartzler, Jago, Lackey, Sheeley, Dech and Crumbling. Of these, five are new men, Saltern, Kingsley, Miller, Kline, Lackey and Hartzler having served before.

In closing the 1921 season, we feel that we can be justly

FIBRE OF AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP

On the afternoon of Sunday, Dec. 4th, the Y's of the college gave the public the privilege of hearing Dr. I. F. Swift of the national reform association, in his lecture of "Fibre of American Citizenship" in the High School Auditorium. The student body has ample cause for shame, since only about twenty were in attendance. If the work of the "Y" is to be successful the students must take advantage of the numbers presented especially when the time is a free afternoon like Sunday afternoon.

Dr. Swift said, "The first three words of the U. S. Constitution have been discussed more than any other three words. It has been the task of the American people to prove the democracy expressed in these words, 'We the people'.

"Human beings—thinkers—control, by God's help, all other things of earth. The whole mission of life is to touch humanity for some good. God has placed limitations on all except human beings.

"Too often is Christianity forgotten in American life. When God is on the other side of the fray, your armor is challenge, not a defense.

FOOTBALL BANQUET

As a grand finale to our football season, the student body arranged a banquet in honor of the team on Monday evening, Nov. 28. In view of the fact that our team had been an unusually successful one, and that our team had fought against unusually heavy odds, the student body decided that a banquet would be the most appropriate means of showing our appreciation of their efforts. Immediately after the Muhlenberg game, the matter had been put to a vote, and a committee of three—Miss Loucks, Messrs. Mohn and Kachel were appointed to arrange the details of the affair. The college authorities announced that as a means of expressing their appreciation of the team's splendid work for the glory of Old Albright, they would furnish the banquet.

Hittorf or Crookes Tube

How Were X-Rays Discovered?

SIR James Mackenzie Davidson visited Professor Roentgen to find out how he discovered the X-rays.

Roentgen had covered a vacuum tube, called a Hittorf or Crookes tube, with black paper so as to cut off all its light. About four yards away was a piece of cardboard coated with a fluorescent compound. He turned on the current in the tube. The cardboard glowed brightly.

Sir James asked him: "What did you think?"

"I didn't think, I investigated," said Roentgen. He wanted to know what made the cardboard glow. Only planned experiments could give the answer. We all know the practical result. Thousands of lives are saved by surgeons who use the X-rays.

Later on, one of the scientists in the Research Laboratory of the General Electric Company became interested in a certain phenomenon sometimes observed in incandescent lamps. Others had observed it, but he, like Roentgen, investigated. The result was the discovery of new laws governing electrical conduction in high vacuum.

Another scientist in the same laboratory saw that on the basis of those new laws he could build a new tube for producing X-rays more effectively. This was the Coolidge X-ray tube which marked the greatest advance in the X-ray art since the original discovery by Roentgen.

Thus, scientific investigation of a strange phenomenon led to the discovery of a new art, and scientific investigation of another strange phenomenon led to the greatest improvement in that art.

It is for such reasons that the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are continually investigating, continually exploring the unknown. It is new knowledge that is sought. But practical results follow in an endless stream, and in many unexpected ways.

proud of the showing made by our boys. Indeed, the record shown is little short of marvelous, considering the calibre of our opponents and the limited amount of material that the Coach could muster for scrimmage. This year's eleven was one of the best ever representing Albright on the gridiron, and Coach Benfer deserves much commendation for his splendid work. The student body is back of him to the limit and feels more than proud of their boys and their Coach.

So, in bidding farewell to football, and rejoicing in the splendid work of the season, let us look forward to an even better season in 1922, and hope that each one of the men on the squad that does not graduate this year may return to help make an even greater record for Albright next fall.

Following are the men who made the football season a success:

H. A. Benfer, the coach, the man who made our team possible.

Captain "Goof" Saltern, left half back, the man who by his example made the 1921 eleven a fighting team.

"Briggs" Kingsley, full back, whose forward passing and line plunging brought victory to our standard.

"Jerry" Knecht, right half back, small, but feared by every team we played.

"Detty" Miller, quarter back, the Napoleon of the 1921 team.

Harvey Kline, right end, shifted from guard to end and made good as an end.

"Red" Sheeley, right tackle, determined to get his man and got him.

Harry Crumbling, right guard, made varsity in a year.

but mighty. A product of two years' development with the scrubs.

Wagner, Maury, Leinbach, Luckenbill and Mehaffie, substitutes, the reserve strength of the team.

Last, but worthy of much praise, the scrubs who did their best to make things interesting for the eleven.

FOOTBALL BANQUET

The banquet was arranged for Monday evening, Nov. 28, at 6:30 in the college dining room. The tables had been arranged in form of a large—A—to accommodate the whole student-body and faculty. Under the direction of the committee, the team, with its Coach and Manager, and the Toastmaster, was placed at the apex—the position of honor, the faculty and students filled in the sides. The whole occasion was a happy combination of the formal and informal, calculated to show the team in the most emphatic way the college's enthusiasm and pride in their success.

Mr. Fahl acted as Toastmaster and directed the program which followed the banquet. Different members of the faculty and student body had been chosen by the committee to voice from the different view-points the sentiments of the college. Musical numbers, furnished by some of our soloists and the ever popular Jazz orchestra, varied the program.

Dr. Hunt headed the program. He expressed his pride in the fine record the team had to show for their season's work, and then took the opportunity to reassure the students to the statement printed in the "Public Ledger" about the grading of the colleges in this section. Dr. Hunt affirmed that the grading had been done according to artificial standards, and did not effect our scholastic standing in the least.

After several selections from the Jazz orchestra, Dr. Bowman was asked to speak on "The New Gymnasium." Dean Bowman also expressed his appreciation of the calibre of our team and then went on to reveal his vision of the new $75,000 gymnasium.

Miss Trostle's solo, which followed, was one of the best she has ever given and called forth a hearty encore, after which Prof. Dech spoke on "The Faculty and Athletics". Prof. Dech expressed his sentiments in his characteristic way amid the delighted applause of his hearers. He assured the team and the coach of the whole-hearted support of the faculty in their endeavors. It may be said that Prof. Dech and Prof. Keller missed very few nights on the athletic field while the team was practicing.

Miss Sara Statler's solo, "Keep on Hopin'", seemed to harmonize peculiarly with the spirit of the evening, and was enthusiastically received as was her encore number.

"Athletic Ideals" had been given to Prof. Keller as the theme of his remarks, and he went into the subject with his characteristic thoroughness. He expressed his pride in the reputation the team had made for their clean playing and his hope that true sportsmanship will continue to be their ideal in the years to come. He also brot up the scholastic standing of the team,—each member of the team is a fully classified student—and put forth the ideal foot-ball man as the happy combination of scholastic and athletic ability.

The next number took every one by surprise. Few knew of the existence of a banjo quartet, till they were announced, and they gave a good number. Immediately following, the class presidents,—Hangen, Kyle, Kachel, Benfer were called upon in their respective order, and then Hewitt represented the Preps.

Mr. Polk's solo was no exception to the standard set by the two preceding soloists, and its reception was quite as hearty and enthusiastic.

Mr. Livingood, manager of the team, was next called upon and he responded with an ap-

COLLEGE SPIRIT

During the past foot-ball season, college spirit reached its highest point in the past several years. We must not let the spirit die, but we must "carry on." In the past we have thought of college spirit applying only to intercollegiate athletics. Now a new plan of intercollegiate competition enters into the life of Albright College.

Plans are now under way for participation in intercollegiate debating. The success or failure of the debating team, just the same as the success of the athletic teams, depends upon the support and interest that the students manifest. Intercollegiate debating is an innovation at Albright and is a step towards participation in all intercollegiate oratorical work. Whether intercollegiate debating shall be a feature at Albright or not will be determined by the support accorded the work this year. To date little interest has been shown. We do not believe the student body fully realize the value of the opportunity that they are allowing to pass unnoticed.

Student body, support other phases of intercollegiate competition with the vim and ardor with which you supported the foot-ball team during the latter part of the past season and all our intercollegiate teams, athletic and oratorical, will be successful. You can do it. Will you?

ATTITUDE

It is true that the college student must have his fun. This life would be drudgery if everybody would mope around with a long-drawn lip and a melancholy look upon his face. We would then be able to enjoy little and consequently would accomplish but a meager portion of the great work that lies before each of us.

The student must have his frolicsome moments, for they are essential to a prosperous as well as a happy life. This element in one's life is often carried to extreme, especially in the life of a student. He forgets that the purpose of his being at college is to secure a fund of knowledge which will enable him to succeed in after-life. It will depend largely upon what he secures while at college as to his ultimate success in whatever career he may choose to follow.

We should look upon our college life as a serious proposition and not as a thing with which to trifle. Life is not a thing to be played with and juggled about on the end of our fingers as though it were a valueless possession. We must face life without a will, a determination, to make the best of our opportunities.

The "Bulletin" staff join in wishing a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to the Faculty, the students and alumni.

Innocence

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

The Christmas season is with us again with all its merriment, wealth of expectations, general good feeling and good will to all. Fitting it is that we should join in the spirit of the season, for why shouldn't we be happy? However away from the busy marts and scenes of festivities on the mountain tops and in the pine forests live the white plague sufferers who are fighting for their lives. What does Christmas mean to them?

We, who are enjoying good health, little know but what we may be a resident of one of those camps a year from now. Let us share our Christmas joy with these sufferers. These sufferers are making a game fight—and we Americans love the game fighters—so let us share our joy with them by buying Red Cross seals and thus aid these sufferers in their struggle to overcome the white plague. Our Christmas season will be brighter and our sleep sounder for this little deed and who can tell what great good we may do. Manifest the true Christmas spirit by sharing it with others.

peal to the student body to keep alive the spirit manifested in the last two games of the season. After Mr. Livingood, Prof. Short, an Alumnus now stationed in the China Mission field, told the team of the hearty sympathy they had received from all alumni in that field, and of the interest with which all followed up the records of the teams in the Bulletin.

Last, and as a fitting climax, Coach Benfer spoke. The student body feel that words cannot express what we owe to "Ben" and he in turn paid tribute to what our team had endured and done for the glory of Albright. He emphatically declared that it depended upon the students to a great extent and their outside influence what sort of a team he could turn out in the future.

As this was the conclusion of the program, "Rip" took charge for the remaining minutes, and under his leadership—Old Main rang with cheers and as a finale—the Alma Mater.

ALUMNI DEPARTMENT

For several years the Alumni Association of Albright College has contemplated the erection of some kind of structure on the college grounds which should be a fitting Alumni Memorial. In harmony with this purpose a campaign was launched over two years ago for the raising of $50,000 among graduates and friends of the institution. For reasons best known to the committee this program has not been pressed hard up to this time.

The time seems not far distant when we shall be able to get our plans into full swing. The immediate question, however, relates to the kind of memorial to be erected. Alumni will soon be given opportunity to express their judgment in this matter. A circular letter is being mailed to every graduate, presenting this opportunity. At our last meeting in June, there were ardent advocates of a library building, and also a good many boosters for a new gymnasium. Which shall it be? Both are badly needed. Or shall it be a third something? We want your suggestion, fellow-alumnus. Let the proper authorities hear from you.

The following are two self-explanatory articles setting forth the claims of both forms of memorial upon Alumni, presented by respective enthusiasts of each project. Read them and get inspiration, then vote, and when the time comes contribute.

Why A Library Building?

Here are the reasons:

1. Practically all our sister colleges in this part of Pennsylvania have fine, commodious library buildings. Why shall Albright College alone be without one?

2. Of all things at Albright College at present that cause complaint and "knocking", and justified "knocking", is the library. Not the lack of books, although books are often called for that we do not have, but library accommodations. This is a serious drawback here. It has come so far that the Literary Societies have memorialized the Faculty for better library facilities. The Library Committee and the President have wrestled with this problem for a long time. Not more than a dozen can be accommodated in the Library at one time, and not more than six can sit down to read or study at one time and this must be done at a desk adjoining the librarian's desk amid all the hubbub of others constantly coming and going, receiving and returning books.

3. Our Library is becoming too large and valuable to be housed in a building that can not be better protected against fire than the present Administration Building which is also serving as the boys' dormitory. By all means our library should be in a fire proof building. Besides the valuable books for daily use the library contains many valuable old books and records in which some of our early church life is recorded and the only copies in existence, so far as known, and if these should be destroyed no amount of money could replace them.

4. The reader will be interested to know that the Library now contains twelve thousand seven hundred and twenty (12,720) books and about 1700 pamphlets. Many of these pamphlets are valuable and could be constantly and profitably used in preparing for debates and for reference in class work, but they are stuffed in the lower compartment of a book case and packed in boxes where they are practically unavailable.

5. Then there is a lot of library material waiting to come into the library as soon as we have room for it that will fill more than the empty shelves now in the Library.

6. We have at present about 1400 linear feet of shelving and no room for more. What we have extends from floor to ceiling and the upper shelves are hard to reach. Of this all is in use except 140 linear feet. How long will that last? Last year, 1920-21, the books that came in the Library cover just 100 linear feet of shelving. Even if last year was an exceptional year, the reader will readily see how soon all the present space will be covered.

7. We have fine, commodious and modern laboratories with up-to-date equipment, we will soon have a magnificent chapel and a splendid and delightful dining room, and it will not do for Albright College to ask her students to be satisfied with a makeshift of a library.

Let the alumni arise and do themselves and their alma mater honor by doing away with this anomalous condition here and erecting an building for which every student now present and to come in the future will rise and call them blessed.

DR. A. E. GOBBLE.

Why A Gymnasium?

With America's entry into the world war there dawned a new era in physical education. The alarming number of young men rejected as unfit physically for general service, stressed more effectively than any thing theretofore, the extreme necessity of improving the nation's physique.

It must be admitted that our findings by the military draft boards, as well as other evidences secured through physical examinations, are not such as to make the American college proud of the quality or the extent of physical education which it has given in the past.

We must express our keen disappointment at the prevalence of underdevelopment, remediable defects, and unachieved physical possibilities in our college students.

The great need of the moment among the colleges and universities, and especially at ALBRIGHT, is an intensive effort to afford the students the opportunity to participate more extensively in health-maintaining and spirit-producing activities.

In order to change the complexion of the existing physical underdevelopment in our college; to prepare our boys and girls more fully and thoroly for the duties and responsibilities of citizenship, through the development of bodily vigor and endurance, muscular strength and skill, bodily and mental poise and such desirable moral and social qualities as courage, self-control and obedience to authority; to give the students a quality and an amount of physical education that will bring them the health that is essential to their present and future education, happiness and usefulness; to make the young man and women strong and well, quick to think and act, ready to act in unison with others, fair to friend or foe, clean in their habits, and last but not least to make them the happiest beings in the world, a happy contented group, give them a MODERN GYMNASIUM and athletic field, and count it the best investment you have ever made.

Build a gymnasium for Loyalty, for Spirit, for Courage, for Grandeur, for Strength, for all Eternity!

When you can say to yourself. "I hold an inalienable partnership in Albright's welfare", then you have caught the spirit of True Americanism, and then indeed you are a worthy Son of Albright, and a contributor to the forces that make for its perpetuity.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION MEETING

On Tuesday, Nov. 29, the Athletic Association held a meeting. It was decided that the managers and assistant managers of the athletic teams be elected by a committee composed of the coach, the president of the athletic association, faculty representative, manager of that team, and captain of the team. This plan is a new one for us. In the past the assistant managers were elected by the Athletic Association and these men in turn succeeded the out-going managers. At most other schools the position of managers is put on a competitive basis so that managers receive their position because of merit rather than because of election. Since the manager is awarded an A it is only proper that he be compelled to demonstrate his fitness the same as the athlete must do.

The present plan will permit men who desire to become managers to try out as scrub managers in their sophomore year. No limit is placed on the number of men trying out. At the end of the season the authorized committee will decide upon the two men who have shown themselves the most capable looking after the condition of the athletes and keeping of the grounds in condition. The two selected men will be assistant managers during the Junior year. At the end of the year the more capable assistant manager will become the manager of the varsity and receive his A for the work performed. We are led to believe that the new plan will make for greater efficiency. The association elected Prof. Dech as the faculty representative on the committee.

BASKETBALL FORECAST

Albright students can look forward to one of the most successful basketball seasons in the history of the college. While we can hardly expect to surpass last season's record, we hope to equal it. Last year's team won fourteen out of seventeen games, losing the three games by a total of five points. We lost by one point to Gettysburg, by one point to Swarthmore and by three points to Bucknell, all away from home.

Remaining from last year's squad are Kingsley, Wagner, Kline, Miller, Dech, and Hartzler. In addition we shall have the services of some promising men of last year and several new men including Knecht, Jago, Zellers, Bowers, Maury, Frye, McHaffie and others. With a squad of such calibre we should be able to put two teams on the floor of almost equal ability. This year for the first time in many years Albright will have a reserve team. A schedule will probably be arranged for the reserves.

Experience

Kresge: "Girls are like street cars. They aren't worth running after, because one is sure to turn up as soon as another disappears."

Probably

Prof. Keller: Miss Faust, who was Mrs. Brigstock?" "Mickey": "She was the wife of Mr. Brigstock."

Be it ever so humble there's no face like your own.

CHAPEL THOTS

On Thursday morning, Dec. 1 in the period immediately following chapel service the student body of Albright was treated to two splendid little talks by Mr. Ted Mercer and Mr. William Hadley. The two men had been speaking at various places in Lebanon during the week and were brought here by Mr. Kelchner, secretary of Lebanon Y. M. C. A. and former professor and coach of athletics at Albright.

Ted Mercer, the first speaker, related that as a result of habits which students form during their school days, the jails and penitentiaries of our country are filled with college men. To emphasize this statement, he then briefly gave the story of his own life. During his college days he neglected the spiritual side of his life and, after graduating at the University of Virginia, sank lower and lower in sin and crime until finally he was on the verge of being sent to the penitentiary. Then one day he wandered into the Water Street Mission in New York and was there converted. Since then he has been devoting a large part of his time to the students and youth of the country. He closed his talk by saying that in order to commercialize an education, one must be a Christian, have a strong body, and have a specialized mind.

William Hadley, the second speaker, also gave that part of his life which was spent in sin and emphasized throughout his whole talk the need of spiritual re-birth.

The student-body gave close attention to both speakers and was greatly benefitted by what they said.

COLLEGE PRAYER GROUPS

One phase of the Y. M. C. A. work has not been generally recognized as "Y" work. Several years ago it was customary to hold college prayer meetings in the rooms of the Boys' Dorm. Interest waned for a few years, but the meetings have been revived this year. Every Thursday evening for twenty minutes prayer groups are held in the building. It is easily evident that these groups draw the fellows closer together. The leaders would gladly welcome more of the fellows.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Pres. Hunt spoke to the two "Y's" the night before our Thanksgiving vacation. He gave us a very inspiring Thanksgiving message which can be applied thruout the year.

The meeting on November 29, was led by Edith Trostle. Her subject was; "The Bearers of the Torch". Following her remarks there was a general discussion in which all the girls participated. A clearer vision of the conditions of students in other countries was realized by us as a result of this discussion. The Golden Word which calls to our students is "Service". Our torches should be kept burning brightly that others may see that it is because of the acceptance of Jesus Christ, whose teachings are the essence of brotherhood, that we are willing to enter into that service for our brothers.

At this last meeting a final plea was made for the co-operation of the girls in the drive for the "Y" budget. It was reported by the Finance Comm. that promising contributions had been received from Alumni and other friends. Let us go over the top in this drive and forget finances for the rest of the year!

How True

Sad

Hangen hit Stock with one of Minnie's petrified potatoes. Stock: "Look here, Hangen, the first thing you know there will be a Mary-a-widow around here."

Speckled Andelusions

The Soph. girls came late to Bible Class.

Rev. Heck: "You boys did'nt crow early enough to get the 'chickens' up in time for class."

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

On Tuesday November 29, a well attended meeting of the "Y" was addressed by our English professor, Prof. I. C. Keller. The subject of Prof. Keller's address was: "The Street Called Straight", adapted from the book of the same name by Basil King. It was one of the best addresses heard in the "Y" hall this year, and was thoroly enjoyed by us all, as was shown by the various favorable comments expressed by the men after the meeting.

Prof. Keller, in outline, said that the "Street called Straight" leads to the "House Beautiful" or the high moral life. He said that it was our aim in traveling on this street to arrive at that house, at sometime in our lives, and in so doing we shall pass over three divisions of this street. The first of these is Honor, and this phase of one's character was stressed as being highly important on our journey toward the goal. There is a tendency in modern life to make our word less valid than our note, and this tendency must be overcome if we would attain a high moral character. The use of the "pony" is dishonorable and if we would cultivate honor in our lives we must cast out such habits. If honor is cultivated in our lives, reverence will follow, for if we are honorable among our fellowmen, we will be better able to honor and revere God.

In the second place, we should look at Duty in the right light, and think of this essential in our lives as Wordsworth in his "Ode to Duty" terms it "Stern Daughter of the Voice of God". We should take the right attitude toward little duties in our lives, and perform them with the consciousness that we are at least performing our small duties as well as we are able. Man must view duty in the right attitude and he will have achieved some distance on the road to a high moral life.

The third division on this street is that of Love. There are different things in life that man may love. For instance, if he loves money, as in the case of Silas Marner, he will become as hard and yellow as the money itself, or if he loves pleasure he is grasping after the bubbles of life, and these things will not help in the formation of a moral character. Service is the one great love, for it will lift one's life. One must love God and then work down from that great love to the other loves of life. In conclusion, if these things are in one's life, then his character will be beautiful and he will have reached the House called Beautiful. If we reach this house we will continue on to Heaven as our lives reach the higher conceptions of manhood as we traverse each of these strips on the "Street called Straight".

THE CLERIC

Dr. A. E. Hangen, the Editor of the Evangelical, addressed the cleric meeting on Thurs. Dec. 1. He continued the line of that begun by Rev. Heck in our last monthly meeting. The subject was: "The Deepening Sense of Ministerial Opportunity and Responsibility", or the problems to be met by the young minister in his field work after several years have passed. He said, in substance that the first few years are trying, testing years in a young minister's life, but after these years he comes free a congregational and denominational consciousness, to a "social" consciousness and now feels the need of being enlisted in social community movements rather than merely be concerned in his own church and his own difficulties. In other words, the minister should be concerned with the community politics, society, and industry, and thus obtain a hold on the hearts of the people of the community by active fellowship with them in various spheres of activities. Then, also, he must be concerned to his church's relationship to community life, and he must use his efforts in trying to link up the activities of his congregation with those of the community for the mutual uplift and benefit of both parties. Then, as to the minister himself, he must exercise a three-fold function; first as a preacher, second, as a pastor; and, third, as a church administrator. In order to be effective along these lines, there are several requirements demanded of him. In the first place, study is necessary—study along the lines of the Bible, books, the universe, men, and current events. The other two requisites are personal devotions and his own conduct.

The message was a very strong one and was heartily enjoyed by the men present. As our president, Mr. Stock, said after the address, the thing necessary for us is to live out the things in our own lives, brot to us by these various speakers. Mere enjoyment of the message is not sufficient; it is for us to practice the lessons learned thru the address.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT REJECTED BY GIRLS

At a meeting called by Marguerite Willard, president of the girls' student council, in Mohn Hall reception room on Tues. Nov. 22, the code which had been drawn up ready for presentation was read and unanimously accepted by the girls. On Tuesday, Nov. 29, the girls again assembled in the reception room to hear the code read as revised by the faculty. After having heard the entire code with the revisions and having discussed it thoroly, the matter of its acceptance was put to a vote, and it was rejected. Thereupon, a motion was made to the effect that the project of student-government be abandoned, and this motion carried by a three-fourths majority. By this motion it was understood that student government, so far as the girls are concerned, could not in their opinion be effectively launched under the present restrictions.

The following delegates from the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. left Friday morning, Dec. 2, to attend the Student Volunteer Convention at Princeton: Pauline Brower, Marie Cox, Frances Faust, Margaret Davis, Janet Kaltreider and Kenneth Benfer.

Prof. Kiess left Tuesday, Nov. 29, for a ten-day hunting trip in the mountains near Williamsport.

Miss Grace Statler had the misfortune to fall into the trench which is being dug to carry the pipes from the central heating plant to Science Hall, and as a result severely sprained her ankle. Since then her walk has been a cross between the "lame duck" and "hesitation."

During the Thanksgiving vacation the project of cleaning Mohn Hall cellar was started. The men declare that they unearthed relics, dating back twenty years. Among the other antiquities were bundles of newspapers dating from 1906 backwards.

Just as Sara Statler responded to an encore at the foot-ball banquet, Prof. Eisenmenger rose and left the dining room. Sara never before realized how her singing could "move" people.

Verda Wetzel wishes to announce that anyone wishing the particulars of the "east" meeting of the girls' assembly, may have access to the minutes of that meeting.

The various class teams are zealously preparing for the coming basketball tournament which is scheduled to start next week.

The co-eds who were left in Mohn Hall over Thanksgiving were allowed to attend Movies with escorts on two occasions.

Considerable commotion was caused by the Ledger's publication of a list of first-class colleges in which the name of Albright was conspicuous by its absence. However, Dr. Hunt allayed our fears by his explanation of what the list really stood for and by his assurance that Albright still maintained her prestige with the State Board of Education.

Bennett was working on the road gang for several Saturday days. One afternoon he threw down his pick and ran into the Myerstown Trust Co.
