Dr. J. Arthur Heck To Be Inaugurated On Monday At Eight

President Roberts Of Bonebrake Will Speak

With a special Founder's Day service in the Chapel of the School of Theology, Monday morning, November 24, at 8 o'clock, a two-day program of events to mark the inauguration of the new president of the Evangelical School of Theology, J. Arthur Heck, will begin.

At this first service, which is open to the public, President Walter N. Roberts, Ph.D., D.D., of the Bonebrake Theological Seminary, Dayton, Ohio, will deliver the address.

Tuesday at 10:30 o'clock in the Christ Evangelical Church, Eleventh and Robeson Streets, an academic procession will precede the inaugural ceremony. In the afternoon, at 1 o'clock, an Informal Inaugural Dinner and Reception by the Board of Trustees and Faculty in honor of President and Mrs. J. Arthur Heck, for invited guests and their wives, will be held at the Wyomissing Club, Fifth and Walnut Streets.

Later that afternoon, 4 o'clock, in the parlors of Selwyn Hall, an Informal Student and Alumni Reception to President and Mrs. Heck is scheduled.

Albright College will be represented by Dean George Walton and Dr. Virgil Zener.

College students will remember Dr. Heck as the speaker during the Week of Religious Emphasis.

Y's Pick Generals For WSSF Drive

50 To 75 Dollars Is The Objective

"Sign up for the draft," "Register now," were the opening and closing shots in the "Y" November campaign for the World Student Service Fund. The effect of the campaign will be dispatched next week when the enlisted funds come to rest in winter headquarters.

The objective from both individuals and organizations is 50 to 75 dollars. The "Y" is aiming to surpass the thirty-seven dollars secured last year, which was somewhat less than that contributed to the fund by other colleges.

Kathryn Taylor and Bruce Knisely, heads of the drive, have as their aide-de-camps Jacob Wagner, Dennis Strawbridge, and Pat Smith.

Dr. Charles Roth's cry for the students was abetted by Senator Dennis Strawbridge and his generals Lester Koffel, Mary Levan, Nina Borisewich, and Nick Schneider.

Remember Stunt Nite; Come Prepared For Fun

Don't forget Stunt Night next Tuesday evening, the 25th, at 7:30 P.M. in the Chapel. Come prepared for an evening of real fun — wear your roommate's best suit so you won't get peanut shells and pop on your own blue serge; take your hair down, if you still have it; loosen your uppers and cheer the stunters lustily!

Dominoes To Present Workshop Production

Griswold, Seidel To Direct Comedy

"The Proposal," a Russian one-act comedy, will be given as a workshop play in the Domino Club meeting on December 3. Lucille Griswold and Jean Seidel will direct the play. Members of the cast include Pearl Dawer, John Hertz, and Vester Peters.

The purpose of the workshop play is to give inexperienced members of the club an opportunity to learn the various details of production. The meeting will be open to all members of the student body.

Reading Chemists Hear C. W. Whitmoyer

Vitamins Is Subject Of Tuesday's Talk

"Vitamins" was the subject of a talk given by Mr. C. W. Whitmoyer, at the November meeting of the Reading Chemists' Club, which was held in the Albright College chapel on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Whitmoyer is the head of the Whitmoyer Laboratories Inc. situated at Myerstown, Pa. The speaker, who does not profess to be an authority on the subject of vitamins, but has studied under the leading authorities, is an Albright graduate of the class of 1928.

Mr. Whitmoyer pointed out that the presence of nutrients other than those known at the time was first asserted by Hopkins in 1906; he called them "accessory food factors." The first of these compounds was not isolated until 1911, when Funk isolated the first of these food factors which he called "vita-amines" due to the presence of nitrogen in their structure. When other of these nutrients were

Sympathies

The Albrightian, on behalf of the student body and the administration, extends its sincerest regrets to Professor John Evans and his family on the loss of their home by fire.

Albright's Council For Defense Organizes Student Committees

Student Chairmen And Faculty Advisors Head The Groups

The Albright College council for defense met this week to choose the committees for the college's part in national defense. The selections were made under the leadership of the committee on committees, the co-chairmen of which are Mrs. Anna Heere Smith and Ray Hain. The committee's secretary is Jane Spotts.

The chairman of the committee for air raid warnings is Jim Kane and the faculty advisor is Professor Paul Speicher. This committee is to give ample warning of air raids to the college community.

The committee on fire protection is headed by Michael Dutzer. Professor Lewis Smith is the faculty advisor. The committee is to sponsor fire drills and be responsible for a plan of action in case of emergencies.

Mildred Ruebsamen heads the committee on American unity along with the faculty advisor, Professor Henry Buckwalter. Observance of national holidays, display of the flag, singing of the national anthem, and the organization of monthly forums to discuss national defense are the chores of this committee.

Ravel on First Aid

Robert Ravel with the help of Professor Newton Danford will be in charge of the committee on first aid. This committee will function to teach Red Cross first aid.

The committee on the conservation of defense essentials is under the leadership of Walter Melick. The faculty advisors are Miss Florence Innis, and Mr. Charles Gordon. This committee will deal with such matters as gasoline, food, personal budgets, etc.

The final committee is the committee on the men in the service. This group has at its head Polly Brossman and Miss Ethel Norton. This committee is to keep in touch with the Albright students and alumni in the military and naval service.

Faculty

Here is the first drawing in a new series of pictures of faculty members to be run in this column for the rest of the year.

Honored this week is Dr. Clarence A. Horn, D. R. Horn, a graduate of Pennsylvania State College, Columbia University, N. Y. U., and Albright, has been professor of biology at Albright for the past eighteen years.

Dean George Walton will attend the Eastern Association of College Deans at Atlantic City Friday, November 21. Dr. Harry V. Masters will attend the meeting of colleges and secondary schools, and Dr. John B. Douds, the conference of English.

Dr. F. Wilbur Gingrich will speak to the congregation of the Palmyra Evangelical Church on Sunday morning, November 23. His topic will be "The Past, the Present, and the Future." Sunday evening he will show his biblical slides.

Why Not A Mediated Peace?

By ART McKAY

4:30 P.M. last Monday is a time that will be remembered in the days to come. At that hour President Roosevelt signed into law the bill repealing all neutrality act shipping restrictions.

For six years this nation has been making an effort to legislate peace. The Neutrality Act came into being because we believed that the sale of munitions and loan of money to belligerents and the various provocative sea incidents in 1914-1917 had led the United States through the back door into a war which did not affect its security.

Step by step the adherence to that premise which underlay the Act has been shaken by the course of events in Europe. First we repealed the arms embargo, now we repeal the prohibition against arming of merchantmen and their entry into combat zones.

The full significance of this latest action by Congress is not understood clearly by most

Acknowledgments

The ALBRIGHTIAN is pleased to find that its efforts on behalf of our boys in the service were not performed in vain. We have found that the Albright students and graduates in the army are highly appreciative of the receiving of the ALBRIGHTIAN weekly.

Quite a few letters have been received from these boys acknowledging their receipt of the paper. One of these is as follows:

Camp Lee, Virginia,
(A great place to live)
November 14, 1941.

To The Editor,

I was very pleasantly surprised to receive my first copy of the "Albrightian" yesterday, and read every article. Please convey my thanks to all concerned and give my best to the gang.

Sincerely,

"Plug"

Waldo "Plug" Eshelman

We hope that all of the Albright men in the service will enjoy their copies as well as the ones who have acknowledged the fact already.

We hope that they will do their part in the plan of the national defense with the zeal and courage that the men of Albright possess. We are sure that they will do their utmost to uphold the army morale aided by the excellent training which they have received at the hands of their alma mater.

Why Not?

of us. Now the seven seas and all the belligerent ports of the world are thrown open to armed American merchant ships. More and more American ships will shortly begin their perilous journeys across the Atlantic with war supplies for Britain and Russia. And—in direct ratio to their increase in number so will the tempo of the battle of the Atlantic increase.

Expanded sea operations will, no doubt, bring more shooting. More American ships will be sunk, more Axis warships will be shot at. Our "undeclared" warfare will be indistinguishable from the action of the declared belligerents.

It seems to me that revision of the Neutrality Act makes war for the United States inevitable. One thing seems certain—with this action, the United States can no longer retreat.

I believe that there has always been another alternative open to our nation in this conflict situation. The Administration has, however, repeatedly refused to consider it seriously, and has allowed it to play no part whatever in shaping the foreign policy of the United States.

Briefly, this is what I have in mind. The alternative policy is a negotiated or mediated peace. There are many hard questions which a mediated or negotiated peace raises; they are not so difficult to answer as the problems posed by war.

Critics of the negotiated peace raise such questions as these: can we trust Hitler's word?; doesn't Hitler want to dominate the world?; what would be the future of the conquered nations of Europe?; what about the Jews and other suppressed minorities?; can the United States prosper in such a post-war world?; would not such a peace now be a mere armistice preceding another war?; can a settlement be guaranteed by an international police force, perhaps an air force?

Well, in the immaturity of my twenty-odd years I would be more than presumptuous to claim that I know an absolute answer to these questions. But—I believe firmly that there are answers to them, the successful consideration of which offers our only hope for a peaceful world.

Next week I shall try to discuss with you these answers. The relevance of all this to college students must be readily apparent. If we are unwilling to accept the problems of this world, perhaps we had better heed Bernard Shaw's advice to such people and "move to another planet."

STRICTLY
RALPH FLEMING

Hello, folks,

According to the papers the "Ark Royal" went down last week. I suppose that event should merit a few remarks, but it's not going to get any. That Ark Royal is a most unreliable boat and has on several occasions greatly embarrassed your columnist by its ungentlemanly conduct. Take last spring for instance. An Italian submarine, (coming up for air no doubt) thought it saw a spot on the horizon which vaguely resembled a British aircraft carrier. This "aircraft carrier" later proved to be only a grease spot on the periscope lens, but at the time the worthy Italian captain was in no mood for fooling, so he promptly ordered six torpedoes fired. Upon coming to the surface he found that no aircraft carrier was in sight. Conclusion: The Ark Royal had been sunk.

Upon reading this item in the paper next day, I decided to write something touching in honor of this gallant boat. No sooner had I finished my literary masterpiece, read it over once or twice, and wiped the tears out of my eyes than I heard some sober voiced radio commentator tell of how an Italian convoy had been sadly pounded by planes of the Ark Royal.

That was the payoff. My manuscript promptly went to the ash can and so as far as I am concerned the Ark Royal is still "wolfing" the Mediterranean.

Then too, there's the note from Seemor Stuff that blew in yesterday. (Postage due: 15c). Seemor, that jovial cosmetic salesman, now operating in Iceland, now resides at the capital city of _____ (pronouncing it is bad enough; spelling it is worse yet. The gent that named the city was probably a Russian). Seemor informs me that at first he thought that possibly Roosevelt sent the boys to Iceland to insure our ice cube supply against Axis seizure. Now he's not so certain.

Anyway it doesn't matter much as far as Seemor is concerned. His big problem is trying to connect an organic solvent that will remove the kiss proof lipstick he invented for the Iceland army camp hostesses. Heddle, the hostess (the sister of Hester) slapped on an eighth of an inch of this super lip-simulator and after 372 kisses still has 7/64 of an inch left.

P. S. The lipstick stood up a lot better under this test than Seemor did. The more experiment like that

THANKSGIVING

(A prayer by Seat No. 284 in Distorted Psych 3X)

Almighty institution, protector of knowledge, savior of culture, guide of scholars, and enslaver of student minds, we, thy oppressed subjects, humbly give thanks to thee for the hardships which you have bestowed upon us in merciless retribution.

We thank thee for the buildings and laboratories in which we can spend our days in endless concentration.

We thank thee for the professors who have made of us intellectual robots and mechanical thinking machines.

We thank thee for the bookstore whose supplies are an ever present temptation for us.

We thank thee for the expensive text books over which we have slaved and sweated.

We thank thee for the unexpected quizzes which have ably demonstrated our ignorance and stupidity.

We thank thee for the innumerable lectures which have contributed to the scientific research in discovering a sure-cure for insomnia.

We thank thee for the many class periods in which we listened in awe to dissertations on Neolithic folkways or Icelandic architecture.

We thank thee for the semester report cards which elicited vehement protests from our misunderstanding elders.

We thank thee for the laws prohibiting the use of crib notes, ponies, scrolls, etc., in examinations.

We thank thee for the chapel programs which gave us the oppor-

Lions Out To Beat Bucknell

We received a letter from an interested touch football fan who attempts the difficult task of picking two All-Star teams from the intra-mural league. Our observer who prefers to remain anonymous explains that his selections were made on the basis of the player's ability in their respective positions. Of course, you realize All-Star teams are all a matter of opinion but we feel this fan made a good selection. Here they are:

- First Team
 L.E.—Schneider, Kappas
 C.—Kane, Kappas
 R.E.—Leinbach, Day Students
 L.H.—Horn, Kappas
 R.H.—Tetar, Frosh
 F.B.—Boland, Zetas
- Second Team
 C.—Deutsche, P. T. B.
 R.E.—Frymoyer, Day Students
 L.H.—Swett, Frosh
 R.H.—McKay, A. P. O.
 F.B.—Arnold, P. T. B.

Remember this name . . . Al Johnson. He's the brother of Tom Johnson, tackle on last year's varsity eleven. Al is the regular fullback on the Bucknell freshmen football team and is being touted as one of the best line buckers the Bisons have had in years.

Vince Rusbosin sends word to his ex-roommate Paul Carls that he was elected Burgess of his home town, South Heights, Pa. However, the former guard doesn't expect to serve very long for he expects an appointment to the Naval air force shortly—that is if he can lose some weight.

Our Lions have a good chance of beating a favored Bucknell team tomorrow. The boys have been running through their daily drills with an air of determination that broods trouble for the Bisons. Coach Dietz has tried to instill the idea in his players' minds that Bucknell can be beaten if the team plays 60 minutes of hard, clean football. A win over the Thundering Herd would be a feather in the Lions' cap.

Albright has defeated Bucknell only once in the ten game series between the two institutions. Back in 1937, the Red and White won 6-0 on a touchdown scored by the great Dick Riffle. Albright was undefeated that year and it was a mighty strong Bucknell team that they downed to keep our slate clean.

Kappas Win Touch Football Crown For Second Straight Season

Zeta Cop Is Twentieth Consecutive Win

STANDINGS

	Won	Lost	Tied	Pts.
Kappas	5	0	0	20
Day Students	2	1	0	4
A. P. O.	1	1	1	3
Frosh	1	2	0	2
Zetas	0	2	2	2
Pi Taus	0	2	1	1

Blanking the Zetas 12-0 the Kappas won the Intra-mural touch football crown for the second consecutive year.

In capturing the title the Kappa dreadnaughts ran their streak of undefeated games to 20 in the last two campaigns, while scoring 376 points to their opponents' 14.

Wednesday's game was a hard fought affair with every minute from the kick-off to the final whistle packed with action.

The Zetas pointing for an upset, brought the ball down to the Kappa goal line after the kick-off only to lose the pigskin on downs. This first period drive was the Zetas' best bid in attempting to register an upset.

The Kappas scored the first six points of the ball game on a short pass from Chin Rhoads to Nick Schneider after Dick Shollenberger and George Horn had run the ball up to the Zeta's five yard line.

The Champs sewed up the ball game on another short pass from Chin Rhoads to Kenny Hopkins who took the pigskin out of the hands of the anxious Zeta safety man.

Besides these two scoring drives the Kappas knocked twice on the door of the Zetas only to have both attempts stopped.

The Kappas and Zetas met as a result of their first half tie and since the Kappas clinched the second half title by virtue of their 18-0 rout of the Frosh, both teams clashed to settle the first half question and also the championship.

The league has one more week to run during which time the race for second place will be decided. In the remaining contests the A.P.O.'s have a good chance to edge out the Day Students when they meet a stubborn Pi Tau aggregation and clash with the Day men in the last game of the season.

Also figuring in the race for second place will be the Frosh who tackle the A.P.O.'s and the Pi Taus. Even the last place Pi Taus can take the spot behind the leaders. Line-ups.

Yearlings Seek No. 3 After F. & M. Loss

After losing to a strong Franklin and Marshall junior varsity 12-0, the Albright yearlings will journey tomorrow to Bordentown Military Academy seeking their third win of the season.

The military lads have bowled over all opponents by large scores and are gunning for the Lion's hide. The frosh will be on the upswing after last week's defeat and under the tutelage of Coach Neal O. Harris, the squad will be in prime condition to give the Bordentown boys a tough afternoon.

Coach Harris will probably start Bill Dearden and Ralph Wagner at the terminals. Mike Plaskonas gets the nod over Tiny Kratz for right tackle, while Leon Cooper is a cinch for the left tackle post. Bill Miksch and Will Fromuth are the guards. Ken Faylor is the unanimous choice for center.

Calling signals will be Thad Szela, flanked by Ridolfi and Pushman in the halfback roles. In the fullback slot Harris has Wally Duncavage.

Seniors Top Foes In Class Hockey

Lebanon Valley Defeats Varsity

The senior hockey team came out on top in the class league by winning three games and losing nine. They clinched their lead on Tuesday when they defeated the frosh 2-0. Although the greater part of the playing was done in the senior's territory, the upperclass players did manage to take the ball down the field twice to good advantage. Toughie Levan drew the first blood when she slid the ball through the uprights and a little while later, Elaine O'Shadey, in the most brilliant play of the day, dribbled the ball the entire length of the field, past the whole frosh team, to make the second goal. When Betty Jones, the manager of the senior team, was asked to what she would attribute the team's fine playing, she said, "All that we are or hope to be owe to our ability to slap our opponents' shins with finesse." Kate Geib, another senior flash, added weight and brains to the winning team.

The manager of the team, Joanie Belmont, is to be congratulated for her fine work in planning the hockey schedule and in seeing that it was carried out. This was the first time in the past four years that all the games were played.

Lion Gridders Rid Of All Injuries; Bison Halfback Out

Dietz' Proteges Learn New Plays For Tomorrow's Fray

Determined to snap Bucknell's football supremacy of the past three seasons, Albright's Roaring Lions take on a powerful Bison eleven tomorrow afternoon in the stadium. The initial whistle is scheduled for 2 o'clock.

At full strength for the first time this year, the Lions are fully prepared to give the Thundering Herd a mighty struggle. Both aggregations have won five and lost three and each club is eager to cop tomorrow's battle. Coach Al Humphrey's charges end their season against the Red and White while the Albrightians play Millersville Teachers in the finale on Thanksgiving Day.

Last Saturday's layoff definitely helped the Red and White cause. In the meantime Coach Lone Star Dietz and his aide Jim Horn have been busy drilling their proteges in some new plays to spring against the Lewisburg eleven. All the gridders are reported to have shaken off all injuries incurred in the P. M. C. win and are ready for action. Bucknell, while beating George Washington, 6-0, last Friday took a physical pounding and may be without the services of co-captain Mel Knuapp, hard driving left halfback. Three regular linemen are also reported to be suffering from minor bruises and may see only part time duty.

Dietz will rely on his regular lineup that has performed so capably in the majority of the tiffs this year. Big Frank Bertino and Bill Spangler will pair at the terminals with durable Bob Baum and Jim Harpster at the tackle slots. Harpster, who missed the P. M. C. fray because of an ankle injury, is ready for 60 minutes of hard football. Sid Disend, who did a nice job subbing for Harpster, will be the No. 1 tackle replacement. Dick Weber and Bill Demidovich, a pair of strong capable guards, will be separated by the veteran Sam Coccodrilli at center.

In the Lions' backfield will be the regular foursome of Bob Bennett, Stan Kuklis, Jim Breen and Vic Gigli. Bennett, operating from the left halfback slot, will do the running and kicking, while powerhouse Kuklis will handle the line bucking chores. The speedy Breen will be used to run the Bison ends while Gigli will call the plays and do most of the forward passing.

Seven Sour—Seven Sweet

It's an old Berks County custom of our Pennsylvania Dutch folk to serve seven sour and seven sweet dishes at their nationally known dinner tables. The thought is that the sour balances the sweet and we feel all the better for having eaten this hearty Berks County Dutch home-cooked meal.

In like manner all of us poor mortals on this earth are plagued with the good and the bad that this world hands us; we are plagued with heart aches and joys between whose interaction we strive to reach our goals in life. To some people the good and the bad come at the same instant with startling suddenness.

Last Monday morning Wayne Allen was suddenly stricken by an acute attack of appendicitis and rushed to the hospital for an immediate operation. At approximately the same instant he received word of his acceptance into the University of Maryland Medical School. This column sincerely hopes that the Docs will salvage enough that Wayne may enjoy speedy recovery and a prosperous future in the field of medicine.

Good things seem to come in bundles, for two other pre-medical students announced their acceptance into medical school. Clem Boland and Ray Hain raise the total of pre-Med students already accepted in medical school to four. Ray plans to attend Jefferson Medical School, while Clem plans to attend Georgetown Medical School.

The Promotion of Science

The chemistry department is happy to announce the addition of new fume hoods in the organic chemistry laboratory. This makes the third laboratory to be outfitted with new hoods in the past two years. We sincerely hope that the two remaining labs will be outfitted with new hoods, for the congested conditions in the chemistry department this year due to the National Defense Training Course make this almost a necessity for satisfactory work.

About Alumni

Glenn Trout, a member of the class of '39" and a chem major while here at school is now a member of the First Photo Squadron of the U. S. Air Force located at Bolling Field, Washington, D. C. Mr. Trout is a laboratory techni-

The varsity hockey team again met defeat, this time at the hands of the Lebanon Valley girls. The teams appeared to be evenly matched the first half, both teams scoring twice. At the beginning of the second half, the Lebanon Valley girls made two more goals in quick succession. After this, neither team scored. Irma Peoples was responsible for Albright's tallies.

The last varsity hockey game will be played on Thursday morning at 10 when the Red and White team will oppose the Reading hockey team.

The Skunka-Kan-E-Unka, commonly known as the "Dance of the Wolves," was responsible for the election of two students to the "Who's Who on Albright Campus." Nina Borisevich was chosen as Minnehaha and Ed Carpenter was chosen as Hiawatha.

The graduate chemist then went on to show the structure, sources, and values of vitamins A, B, C, and D, and stressed the point that contrary to popular belief, vitamins are definite chemical compounds.
