New A.P.O. Prexy

Lee Kachel succeeds Richard Derr as president of the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity according to the results of an election held at the men's meeting on February 25.

Other officers elected at this session include Richard Gable as vice-president, William Hechler as secretary, and George Morfogen as treasurer. The new officers are assuming their duties immediately.

Zeta Nominations

Since the resignation of Charles Russ as president of Zeta Omega Epsilon Fraternity requires a new election, the men made nominations at their last meeting on February 25. Candidates include Dennis Ertel for president; Ralph Miller and Herbert Vogt, vice president; Lynn Brown and Newell Wert, secretary-treasurer; and Robert Holtzapfel, chaplain. Nominations will be held open until the next meeting when elections will be held.

Plans for the Zeta-Kappa formal dance were brought before the frat for approval by Dennis Ertel, the dance chairman. Jack Heath has been secured for May 25, a Saturday evening. Favors have been selected, and the Reading Country Club will be the probable host for the dance. Stunt Night was discussed thoroughly and plans for rehearsals were made.

Returned Kappas

Recently returned brothers of the Kappa Upsilon Phi Fraternity include Russell Guensch, John Kiliany, and Samuel LaRue. The fraternity's most recent activity was the collaboration with the Zetas on the W.S.S.F. dance. They are also planning for a spring formal in conjunction with the Zetas.

Mu Neophytes

With President Marybeth Schofer presiding, Phi Beta Mu Sorority took seven women into pledgeship on February 25 in Selwyn parlors. The pledges are Mildred Abrams, Elizabeth Deibert, Mary Fry, Elaine Huber, Jean Long, Grace Miller, and Josephine Stahler. Each woman was given a corsage of the sorority colors, purple and gold, and a pledge pin which she will wear for the duration of pledging.

Pat Pledges

Eight pledges of the Pi Alpha Sorority were guests at the initiation service at the home of Jeanne Schlegel Monday, February 25. The pledges attending were Mary Bechtel, Doris Ferris, Betty Jane Leinbach, Eileen O'Neil, Helen Ross, Arleen Schell, Jean Schwartz, and Fay Sheetz. Lynn Parr and Joyce Ruth, also pledges, were unable to attend. Refreshments were served, and corsages of daffodils and miniature carnations were given to the neophytes.

After the ceremony, the sorority members held a short business meeting, and decided to cut down the pledge period from six weeks to four weeks.

Pi Tau Plans

A full contingent of Pi Tau Beta members met on Monday, February 25, in the Daymen's Room. Discussion and plans for the Mardi Gras and Stunt Night were the main business of the meeting.

Students To Go To Model UNO At Lafayette

Albright delegates to the Collegiate Model UNO Conference to be held on March 28, 29, and 30 at Lafayette College were chosen by International Relations Club members at their last meeting.

Delegates chosen are Martha Friedericks, who will serve on the Social Commission; Peter Cianci, the Legal Commission; Stephen Winter, the Political Commission; and John Kissinger, the Economic Commission. The Albright delegation will represent Saudi Arabia, and intensive study is now being made of the foreign policy and domestic problems of this strategic nation.

Lucy Smith will discuss the Palestinian question, and Virginia Hal-lacher will delve into the Pan-American League at the next meeting of the club on March 11.

Dominoes To Produce Skit Thursday Night

"Romantic Interlude" is the name of the skit that will be presented at the Domino Club meeting on Thursday, March 7. Margaret Hendricks, chairman of the program committee, announced that Rita Duncavage and Forest Compton will take the parts in this skit, which Miss Helen Ahrens is directing. Phyllis Stok is in charge of the properties.

The group will also take part in a series of exercises to promote dramatic skills. Refreshments will be served. Non-members interested in the dramatics organization are welcome to attend.

On Saturday, February 23, Domino Club was among those who saw a sneak preview of "The Spiral Staircase" at the Strand Theatre.

From South America and South Pacific—From Italy and Austria, Albrightians Return

By RICK VON SEEKAMM

Slowly Albright is returning to what it used to be before the fellows who left to fight are coming back, maybe a little changed, a little more settled in their ways, or perhaps somewhat restless. I had a chance to talk to a few of them and here is some of the material I gathered from them.

Herb Vogt was a steward in the Army Air Corps Transportation command. He saw Europe, Africa and most of South America. He remembers best the flight from Europe to South America with General Stilwell on which they shared a can of tomato juice. Herbie spent quite some time in Rio, and according to him there is not a better place in this world to spend an ideal vacation than there. He used to sit for hours watching the women pass by with what he terms "queer hats." He got a big kick out of that. Anyone who wishes any inside "dope" on Rio, just see Herbie; he will be more than happy to oblige. I think I'll go there myself, hmmm . . . very nice place.

Dick Major was in the Signal Corps, a T/4 incidentally. He spent all of his time in the European theater. He is quite the linguist, and his favorite hobby is stamp collecting. He spent seven weeks in London. One day while he was there, the Germans were raiding the city with incendiaries; they happened to hit and burn up the payroll. Dick told me that was the time he first began to hate the Germans. He transferred later to do some interesting work.

May Day Dances Will Portray Perfect Day from Dawn to Sunset

By RITA DUNCAVAGE

Once again, graceful co-eds are ready to trip the light fantastic in preparation for that highlight of the spring season—May Day. Grapevine publicity of one sort or another about May Day has been filtered through campus conversation for some time. This year's plans have been so unusual that it is not surprising that some of them have leaked out. However, since the grapevine system is notoriously unpredictable, I would like to use this space to clarify our plans and intentions.

The theme of this year's May Day is perhaps a strange one, in that it will be difficult to portray within the bounds of rhythmical precision, but we are too optimistic to let the magnitude of our theme interfere with our attempt to bring it to life. The theme is one of divine idealization—one of God's most beautiful gifts to his world—"Oh Perfect Day."

Each dance will portray one phase of the "Perfect Day" from dawn until sunset. In the first dance, the first days of the sun will arouse the sleepy flowers to an exaltation of the new born day; the dance of the flowers at dawn will be characterized by the light grace of the rose and lily with a dash of sauciness suggested by the daisy.

Suddenly a tingling blue rain descends and triumphs over a startled sun. The softness of its touch and the delicacy of its gesture give the rain dance a dream-like quality. The appearance of the rainbow ends the rain dance, and the sun again rejoices in its rightful place in the "Perfect Day." Now the flowers, happy at noonday, dance around the May Pole to show their gratitude for the Lord's promise signified by the rainbow.

But now the flowers are weary, and cool dusk and evening breezes are ushered in by the "Deep Purple" dancers. An air of perfection and mystery typifying dusk prevails. As the moon drifts gracefully over the horizon, the silver moonbeams dance out to create a dreamy setting for that romantic orb which rules the end of every "Perfect Day." The dance of the moonbeams to the strains of "Clair de Lune" will close the rhythmic portrayal of the "Perfect Day."

An orchestra, mostly strings, will supply the musical background for the fantasies of the dance. Appropriate and unusual costumes are also being planned.

Like every new administration, we are confident that this year's May Day will be the best ever produced. We know we can do it, and we know that the student body will back us up. We are confident that Albrightians will know excellent plans and real ideas when they see and hear them, and that no one will hide behind the curtain of "I'm too busy," when they are asked to participate.

Sixty-two women have been chosen on the basis of their grace, agility, and ability to present a rhythmic picture of beauty. These women are Mildred Abrams, Alice Albright, Corinne Ball, Jane Bausher, Mary Bechtel, Dorothy Bennet, Betty Berger, Jean Borgstrom, Betty Burnett, Betty Cusano, Betty Davis, Joy Davis, Betty Deibert, Vivian Esslinger, Jean Fry, Doris Ferris, Mary Fry, Martha Herrick, Dorothy Holl, Elaine Huber, Kazuye Kiyono, Elaine Kyle, Lois Lackey, Anna Lauver, Ruth Leickel, Betty Jane Leinbach, Jean Long, Gloria McKittrick, Esther Messersmith, Grace Miller, Shirley Miller, Vivian Miller, Betty Moore.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

For the first time since the war, the Philosophy Club plans to hold its annual banquet in May. Robert Schneider, president, delegated Agnes Snyder and Newell Wert to investigate the possibilities for this traditional banquet which will culminate the year's program.

The March meeting of the Philosophy Club will be held at the home of Dr. Daniel J. Wetzel, at which meeting Gloria Salfetty will read a paper.

"Modern Trends in Catholicism" was the theme of a paper read by Mervin Helfrich at a meeting of the group held last Thursday night at the home of Agnes Snyder. Helfrich illustrated his talk with literature related to Catholic life and beliefs. A discussion of present-day Catholic philosophy followed the reading of the paper.

COLLEGE MEDICO

Tomorrow evening at 8 p. m. Dr. Glenn A. Deibert is to be guest at the meeting of the Skull and Bones Club to be held in the Science Lecture Hall. Of particular interest to the cinematically-minded Skull and Boners will be Dr. Deibert's appearance, as he is presenting pictures obtained first-hand during his war-time experiences in the Aleutian Islands. A veteran of World War II, Dr. Deibert is well-known to the students. (Continued on Page 2)

W.S.S.F. Starts Canteen Duty Next Week

An all-campus canteen will be sponsored by the World Student Service Fund committee next week, March 11-15, announced Robert Schneider and Agnes Snyder, co-chairmen. It will be located opposite the book store in the doorway of the Publications Office from 10 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. daily.

Campus groups are asked to bring home-cooked or bought foods, soft drinks, etc. to sell at the canteen. The proceeds will be turned over to the general W.S.S.F. fund to be distributed to needy students around the world.

Those groups participating in sponsoring the canteen are the day-women, Monday; dorm men, Tuesday; dorm women, Wednesday; day men, Thursday. On Friday, individual Student Council representatives will manage the canteen.

The joint Zeta-Kappa dance last Friday was also held for the benefit of the drive.

Through individual and organizational activities, Albright is cooperating with all other American colleges and universities in raising their $1,000,000 quota for the World Student Service Fund.

Albright Gets Award From War Department In A-Bomb Project

When Columbia University recently received the commendation of the War Department for its work on the atomic bomb, the acting president of Columbia acknowledged the contribution of Albright in this project, because the college allowed Dr. Graham Cook, then head of the Chemistry Department, to go to Columbia to assist in atomic research.

Last October 4, Major General Leslie R. Groves presented to Columbia University a scroll signed by Secretary of War Stimson and Under Secretary Patterson. The scroll bears commendation of the University for the effective part it played in the attainment of the atomic energy bomb.

In his presentation speech, General Groves said that the War Department hoped that it would be understood that the acknowledgment and commendation should be taken to include all those other universities and colleges at which any work on the project was done, or from which men came to contribute their services.

In recognition of the fact that it permitted one of its staff members to work on this project, Albright College received a reduced facsimile of the scroll presented to Columbia University.

Frats Sponsor Dance To Swell Student Fund

An informal Student Council dance sponsored by the Zeta and Kappa fraternities for the benefit of the W.S.S.F. fund was the highlight on last Friday night's calendar. Proceeds from the affair, which was held in the College Dining Hall, were contributed to the current campaign to help needy students abroad.

Warren Pfost, of the Zetas, and Richard White, of the Kappas, made arrangements for the dance, which featured recorded music. Refreshments were served during the intermission.

Stunt Night—1946

"Men" and "pre-war Albright" are becoming well-worn words on the campus these days, but no wonder! We keep getting glimpses of those old days in the happenings of today. For instance, there are the pictures of former football teams Kenny resurrected from the sports files and hung over his desk; they include such faces as those of Herb Vogt, Sam LaRue, John Killiany, and Joe Laucks. And there is the revival of the almost extinct stag line at the dances.

We can hardly wait until this Friday, for we know we are going to see one more evidence of that "return to normalcy." This Friday is Stunt Night. Can you blame us for reminiscing about the old Stunt Nights, complete with catcalls and whistles, that strained the seams of the old chapel. So come along, chillun, if you want to know what you've been missing by way of fun for the past year or two—and see what a genuine old time Stunt Night is like!

They Have Something There

We like to think that the men who have recently entered Albright are one of the crowd. We like to think that the fact that they are older and more experienced does not make any difference to us. They are still Albrightians now, and we are quite satisfied with our generosity in accepting them as one of the bunch.

That is fine, as far as it goes. But are we not very often rather shallow in thinking that, of course, they will all want to become just like all of us immediately. Have you ever thought that they might have something distinctive about them that you would not want changed and you yourself might well imitate?

From our own point of view, we can see one characteristic that the newcomers seem to have almost to a man. That is "purpose." They know exactly why they are here and what they expect to get from Albright. That characteristic is probably more rare on a college campus than it should be. How many of us really know in so many words what we are looking for in college? These fellows are not fooling around. They know. And they are going to accomplish things.

No More Shivers

Three cheers! Albright daystudents won't have to spend another winter shivering and shaking in the cutting wind and zero weather at the Thirteenth and Exeter trolley stop. As reported in "Council Says" on page 3, the College Administration has promised to build a shelter at the Stadium to protect trolley-waiters from the elements (it's going to be mighty handy, too, when that hot summer sun starts beating down).

Council members were gratified at the promptness with which their request was answered. That is the sort of straightforward student administration relations that we want and welcome. We join Student Council in gratitude for the granting of this student request.

Current Events

Your editors would like everyone to take special note of the International Relations Club story on page 1. We feel this quiet, scholarly little group deserves a great deal of commendation for the active interest they are showing in the current problems of peace, as demonstrated by the UNO conference I.R.C. delegates are planning to attend at Lafayette in late March. As students immersed in our little academic and social world, we are all too apt to forget the complex problems that have to be faced in the "outside world." We are often guilty of passing up the front page news of our daily papers as being too remote from our lives.

Therefore, it is with a great deal of interest that we will await news of the outcome of this conference and of Albright's part in it.

Lionizing

By MARION LATTA

The "Cue Ball" under the sponsorship of June Plowfield brought approximately 70 couples to the College Dining Hall last Friday night. Sammy Correnti's little band played its usual brand of good music and kept everyone dancing till the very last number.

"Dark Moments" brought out the blackface talent of Albright at the last "Y" meeting. Cork-smearred faces and white necks characterized most of the singing darkies. Brooklyn served as master of ceremonies complete with an accent from "way down there" so thick it obscured most of his jokes. (But they were rather obscure anyway, come to think of it.)

Joe Laucks surprised us all by revealing a splendid voice to the tune of "Old Man River" and "Without a Song" . . . And, Al Jolsen, in case you didn't know, is none other than "King" Jackie Sklover . . . Phil Harris has nothing on Bill Marlow—he can sing "That's What I Like About the South" without music or forethought!

By the way, a funeral was held on campus last week, a funeral complete with all the trimmings. Two small goldfish lie in cold graves beneath the snow. But they are not forgotten. The taps blown at their graveside still resound in the hearts of each Zeta girl, and their chief mourners. Our sincerest sympathy is extended to the bereaved.

Those queer looking mortals who will be adorning (?) our fair campus for the next few weeks are none other than Pat and Mu pledges. Requests for service from any of these privileged characters will be gladly complied with . . . Just ask 'em!

FRENCH DRAMA

The reading of play scenes will highlight the next evening of the "Cercle Francais," Monday evening, March 11, according to news released by Mary Briner, chairman of the program committee. Games and refreshments will follow the readings.

WORSHIP

EVENING SERVICE

John Howard Smith will lead at the Vesper Service on Sunday, March 10. Ferne Allen led the service and meditation at the Vesper Service on Sunday, March 3.

BIBLE LESSON

Betty Shroyer will have charge of Bible Class Sunday, March 10, when Professor Lewis E. Smith will teach the lesson on the subject "National Disaster and Deliverance."

"Entering and Possessing a New Land" was the subject of the lesson taught by Professor Smith on Sunday, March 3. John Spindler led the program.

Inquiring Reporter

Student teachers are the hardest people to track down on campus: your reporter realized this as she followed leads (most of them false) with anxious face, hopes high, and pencil in hand, as to the whereabouts of these evasive creatures. Finally, after no mean sleuthing herself, and thanks to the aid of another amateur Sherlock Holmes or two on campus, you much relieved, though extremely weary, reporter came up with some few answers to this week's question:

WHAT HAS IMPRESSED YOU MOST ABOUT STUDENT TEACHING?

Marie Bonner, Science: The fine cooperation of the students and the master teacher.

Gayle Haupt, Home Ec: As a student, I was aware of the fact that teachers are very strictly judged by their students, and that many of their actions are considered unfair and prejudiced. Therefore, student teaching seems to me to be a wonderful opportunity to visualize teaching not only from the teacher's point of view, but from the students' as well.

Christine Schweimler, French: The wonderful reception I received at Reading High.

William Bernhart, Social Science: Student teaching is absorbing because of the contacts it affords with young people. It has great potentialities in the field of teacher as well as student personality development. Any pleasure derived is directly dependent upon the type of master teacher. It is an excellent means of clarifying material in one's own mind.

Anna Wartluft, Home Ec: The idea that the students thought I was one of them the first day I taught.

Mary Briner, German: Student teaching is very fascinating. Observation is very helpful, but now that I have actually started teaching, I am even more enthusiastic about it.

Nix Directs Hill School Symphony Concert

Professor Hans Nix, who directs instrumental music at Hill School in Pottstown, besides being a member of the music department of Albright College, recently conducted two symphony concerts at Pennsylvania State.

Last Saturday, Professor Nix conducted the Hill School Symphony Orchestra in a recital at the Baldwin School, Bryn Mawr. The program included "March of the Meistersingers" by Wagner; "Suite in the Old Style" by Zimballist, with soloist, Roy Welch, violin; themes from "Piano Concerto No. 1" by Tchaikowsky; "March and Entrance of the Peers" by Sullivan; and ballet music from "La Giacanda" by Panchielli.

Professor Nix also directed a concert at the Hill School, Pottstown, February 24. This program was composed of "March and Entrance of the Peers" by Sullivan; themes from the "Piano Concerto No. 1" by Tchaikowsky; ballet music from "La Giacanda" by Panchielli; and "Concerto in A Minor for the Violin" by Bach.

Esther Fenili Will Speak At Senate Conferences

Esther Fenili, former instructor in Spanish and College librarian, will be another speaker in the Women's Senate Career Conferences March 27, announced Dean Helen Cunliffe. Miss Fenili is now instructor in Italian at Vassar College.

Miss Fenili graduated from Reading High School and from Albright College. She received her M.A. from Columbia and also attended the School of Library Science at Colum-

By FRED PERFECT

Dr. DesJardins, chief of the department of pathology at St. Joseph's Hospital, delivered the lecture at the last meeting of the Skull and Bones Society. His topic was the function of the pathologist in the modern hospital; he began his lecture by pointing out that pathology is the natural outgrowth of anatomy and physiology, that the body is in a sense mapped thru the study of anatomy and its function is treated by physiology whereas all the diseases or malfunctions resulting from them are studied under the general title of pathology. Dead men . . . do . . . tell tales to those who have been trained to understand the language in which they speak. It would be false to imply that medicine has relied heavily on the autopsy for information but it would not be stretching a point to say that very great steps have resulted directly from, or as a result of, autopsies. Dr. DesJardins summed it up very well with this statement, "Probably the greatest contribution the dead can make to the living." Among other things, the pathologist must be responsible for all tests made in the hospital's lab, for very important decisions rest on lab reports. Lab techs will do most of this work and it is obvious why they must be responsible individuals.

The Junior Chemist Club heard a lecture on the entire beryllium process at their last gathering, Feb. 21, in the Science Lecture Hall. Mr. Kaweck delivered the lecture; he was well qualified for two reasons; first, he invented the process, and second, he is the head chemist at the Beryllium Corp. Roughly we might sum up the process as follows. 1. Crushing of the beryllium ore. 2. Mixing the ore with an sodium fluoro silicate mixture and 3. Heating it to 750°C., precipitating the beryllium salt formed from this mixture with potassium hydroxide. 5. Heating the precipitated beryllium hydroxide and driving off the water producing beryllium oxide. 6. Finally this oxide is mixed with powdered carbon and copper and heated by an electric arc which reduces the beryllium oxide to beryllium. The beryllium mixes with the copper and the alloy is formed.

ALBRIGHTIANS RETURN

he just said, "Associate with women." (P.S. I hear, through the grapevine, that Red likes a Latta that.) Out of all the places he had been in the 46 states he likes Wichita the best because it is the wettest dry spot in the Union.

We now come to quite the "individual," namely "Jake" Sklover, formerly of the Army Air Forces where he was a radio operator. He was in Africa and Italy, and says that he knows some of those places better than his own back yard. He led quite the wild life with the women, according to him; of course, I don't believe all those things he tells me. He still insists, though, there is nothing like a Fatima (Adv.). What struck Jake the funniest was the Arabs who used camel droppings for hair tonic. Furthermore, he says, he dislikes camels, as one day while riding in a weapons carrier, a camel kicked it, and made the vehicle turn over.

Those are just some of the fellows that came back; many have tales they don't want to tell, and tales we can't print. The biggest ambition of these fellows is to get the frat houses back, and return the life of the Albright campus to the pre-war standard.

She worked for a time for the Reading Public Library.

Council Says:

Student Council unanimously voted last Thursday to grant the executive and constitutional committees the right to draw up an amendment to the constitution which would grant the Veterans' Club two representatives in Council. According to procedure, the amendment will be read at two consecutive Council meetings and will then be voted upon by the group.

If Council votes affirmatively, the amendment will then go before a faculty committee for approval. If the amendment is approved by the faculty committee, it will be presented, as a final step, to the general student body for a vote.

In reply to a request made by Student Council at its last meeting, the administration of the college revealed that it will build a trolley shelter at the Thirteenth and Exeter trolley stop in the near future.

The trolley shelter had been included in the future campus expansion plans, stated Lester L. Stabler, faculty advisor, but because of the Student Council request, the project will be expedited.

Council President Kenneth Good appointed Herbert Vogt, Phyllis Carter and Margaret Ball as a student committee to work with college trustees and the administration in carrying out plans for the celebration of Charter Day in the late spring, which will commemorate Albright's 90th year.

Daywomen Start Term Of Office At Meeting

The new officers of the Daywomen's Organization will take over in a meeting today of all daywomen at 1 p. m. in the Lower Social Room. Agnes Snyder, president, will introduce Dean Helen L. Cunliffe and Professor Anna H. Smith, who will address the group.

Miss Snyder will appoint a standing committee for the 1946-47 term of office, and also a committee to formulate and carry out plans for the daywomen's participation in Stunt Night.

Smethers Initiates "Y" Lenten Services; Group Has Minstrel

Rev. Robert F. Smethers will be the speaker for the first Lenten service to be held in the College Chapel tonight at 7:30 p. m. Rev. Smethers is the pastor of the Immanuel Evangelical Church, Reading.

Minstrel

Last Tuesday evening in the Dining Hall, the "Y's" sponsored a minstrel show entitled "Dark Moments." The program was prepared by Marjorie Christ and Rita Duncavage. Warren Pfost was master of ceremonies.

Marie Bonner sang a vocal solo, "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginny." Robert Schneider's selection of "Old Black Joe" was followed by two vocal numbers by Jerry Laucks, namely, "Ole Man River" and "Without a Song." Jake Sklover sang "Sonny Boy."

Trio Songs

A trio consisting of Robert Schneider, Newell Wert, and Leroy Hertzog sang "Swing Low" and "I've Got a Robe."

Also included on the program was a chorus composed of Peggy Walker, Shirley Miller, Elaine Kyle, Nancy Matten, Joy Davis, Helen Porter, Betty Thompson, Shirley Sperans, and Doris Hicks which sang "Ole Kentucky Home," "Dixie," and "Way Down Upon the Swanee River." Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program.

Patrons Redecorate Selwyn Social Room

Extensive redecoration of the Lower Social Room in Selwyn Hall Annex got under way last week when tiling of the floor was started. The project is being sponsored by the Patrons' Division of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Albright College, aided by the Women's Senate. The Armstrong tiling is being put in by the Ralph W. Dundore Company.

Knotty Pine

The room, when finished, will be decorated with knotty pine walls and ceiling. Cushioned seats will be built into all four walls, with supply cupboards under them for ping-pong and other game equipment. A modernized lighting system will be installed. Edward A. Reider is the contractor and decorating is being done by the decorating service of the Armstrong Company of Lancaster.

The daywomen's room, which is located on the left of the Lower Social Room, will be turned into a locker room, with lockers lining all the walls.

Material Shortage

The Patrons' Division and the Senate have planned for some time to rehabilitate the quarters but work has been held up because of the shortage of materials. The Lower Social Room is used during the day for women's physical education classes and as quarters for the Daywomen. In the evening club meetings are held there and from 7 to 8 p. m. the room is open to all students for a recreation hour.

Glee Club Vocalizes At Local Hotel Party

At the Salvation Army Auxiliary birthday party at the Abraham Lincoln Hotel on Friday evening, March 8, the Women's Glee Club will offer entertainment. Besides several light numbers by the group, a trio, composed of Carolyn Powers, Betty Fielitz, and Elizabeth Pottieger, will sing "Star Dust."

At a concert last Wednesday, the club sang at the Immanuel Reformed Church in Shillington. The Glee Club's program, half sacred and half secular, was sponsored by the Youth Fellowship of the Church. Betty Fielitz sang "The True Gift" by Frank in the sacred half of the concert, and Carolyn Powers gave "After a Dream," by Faure and "In the Silence of Night" by Rachmaninoff.

Goody and I were looking through "The Albrightian" file begun by Mike Conner way back in '39 (when even I was still in high school), and, as it usually happens in such cases, I began reminiscing about the events mentioned. Of course, Ken saw his chance there and asked me to write a column on it. So that's how it is that you have a "guest columnist" this week.

Let's start just four years ago—Rhoads, Spanger, Hopkins, and Boltz had just beaten Lebanon Valley 57-36 to make the season record seven and four. The Lions stood fourth in the now-defunct Eastern Pennsylvania Collegiate League, while Muhlenberg and F. & M. shared the top rung and Gettysburg had the number three slot. Sholly had 25 points in that game, and Jug Manderbach, who just returned this semester, was runner-up with nine. A week later the Red and White closed the season with a record of 13 wins and seven set-backs and a third-place tie in league competition.

On the intramural side, the Kappas were leading a six-team court league with seven wins and one defeat. Big news of the week was a Pi Tau upset of the Zetas in a 44-42 thriller. Your columnist is the only one back on campus who played in that game, and he remembers it well. In the other games George Morfogen and Johnny Killiany also played with winning A.P.O. and Kappa clubs. Those last two fellows also made the next issue when they both received honorable mention in the All-Star poll. Oh, yes, the Kappas won the basketball title, and went on to take the softball and track ones for a clean sweep that year. It took some tight softball and a mighty good assist by an in-and-out A.P.O. ten to give the Kappas the title however.

The Zetas took the lead early in the season, but lost out when the Chapel dorm club beat them 3-1 in the final game of the year. It was then we were treated to the novel spectacle of the entire K. U. Phi Fraternity in the bleachers rooting like mad for Alpha Pi Omega. In the balloting for an All-Star ten after the season, George Morfogen was the unanimous choice for the shortstop position. Clem Boland, who pitched for the Zetas, was the number two choice and Manderbach was named as the second club twirler.

Well, there's a glimpse at an Albright that really had sports and spirit. If you want it that way again, it's up to you—no one else will do it for you.

FEMME SPORTS

After being defeated in a close decision, 15-14, with Muhlenberg High School on Muhlenberg's home court, the women's freshman basketball team came back to win the second game 20-17 at Albright's home court on February 25.

Fresh Lead

The fresh team, with a do-or-die spirit, started the bucket brigade by outscoring the Blue and Gold 6-2. Muhlenberg came back fighting and it was anybody's game with one team then the other leading. At half time Albright held the edge 10-9. The second half proved to be just as exciting as the first with both scores rising evenly.

Last Period Rally

A rally in the last period put Albright ahead two markers. Muhlenberg came back, but fell short converting only a free throw as the Albright guards tightened their defense and the game ended 20-17 in favor of the Red and White.

Woman's Sextet Loses to Temple

Albright's Women's Varsity went down defeated to the count of 39-19, against a slick-shooting Temple sextet on Saturday, February 23 at Thirteenth and Union gymnasium. The issue was never in doubt although the Red and White fought to the bitter end.

Ginny Woerle, lanky Lion pivot, occupied the center position with Jeanne Flickinger taking over her old spot at pivot. Flashy Shirley Sperans completed the forward section. Temple took command of the situation from the start and rolled in bucket after bucket. Although the Lion lassies fought hard they just couldn't seem to get going.

Versatile Temple

The versatile Temple forwards all took turns at the center spot. Their short quick passes kept the Red and White guards guessing. The Albrightians played harder with every Temple point, but their eagerness cost them sixteen fouls, only four of which the victors converted into good throws where as the home team converted three out of eight.

Putnam carried off honors for Temple by downing seven goals, while Woerle was high scorer for the losers with eleven markers.

Spring Sports

As the end of basketball season draws near, plans for spring athletic activities are under way. Although it will not be possible to formulate a complete program this spring, it is hoped that one will be in effect in the near future.

Track Meets Pending

Intercollegiate track activities are definitely on the list for this season—provided there is enough material available and enough interest is shown on the part of the men students. Practice is scheduled to start about the third week in March. Several dual meets are pending with such schools as Juniata, St. Joseph's and West Chester, and a relay team will represent Albright at the Penn relays on April 26 and 27. Application has been made for membership to the Middle Atlantic Collegiate Track and Field Association. Also included in the track program is the traditional Albright Inter-scholastic Track Meet for Berks county high schools on April 20.

No Baseball

There is little prospect of baseball for this year as the field will not yet be available; however, next spring may find this popular sport added to Albright's expanding athletic program.

The tennis court will be put in condition as soon as possible and with enough interest and material, a men's team may be developed. There is a possibility that a few tennis matches may be held. Track hopefuls and tennis aspirants should watch future "The Albrightians" for more dope.

Strong To Meet Grid Candidates

A meeting of all the new and former football candidates is scheduled for one o'clock on Wednesday, March 6, in room 103 of the Ad Building. All men who are interested in the gridiron sport should be on hand.

Albright Team Engages E-Town In Away Tilt

Tonight Albright plays their 21st basketball game of the season at Elizabethtown College. The Lions beat the Lizzies 49-32 in the first engagement on January 26 of this year, so the Lancaster County club will be out for revenge from the snarling Lions. The probable starters for Elizabethtown will be the flashy forward Frank Keath (who racked up 14 points against Albright) along with Paul Reed in the other forward position. At center will be the senior Paul Leicht and the guards will be Eugene Shirk and Dick Hivner, both very deadly shots when they get the range. Other players are forwards George Althouse and Walter Gingrich. At center 200 pound Charles Eschelman will be on hand. Substitute guards are Merle Black and Ed Boll.

It is doubtful whom Coach Harris will start for this game, since both Frosh and G.I. men came through nicely in the last few games. The freshmen team composed of the old faithfuls Lee Cappel, Bill Emerich at forward, Mort Witman center, and Joe Kubisen at guard, will be missing one of its cogs on Tuesday since Bernie Lillis leaves Albright Monday via Selective Service. The G.I. starters consist of point-maker Russ Guensch, long shot specialist "Hops" Guldin, Gene Shollenberger, and Red Glickman. Dick Ulrich, another member of the squad, is also slated for induction with Lillis.

Albright Atomizes Millersville, 57-37 As Guensch, Cappel & Witman Star

Snappers Hold Lions in First Two Periods; Joe Podlesny Garners Visiting Scoring Honors

After being held to a stalemate for the first half, Albright's pace-making basketball team surged ahead in the second chapter to defeat Millersville State Teachers College 57-37 Saturday night on the Northwest Jr. High hardwoods. It was the Lions 11th victory against nine setbacks.

Russ Guensch and Lee Cappel shared the scoring honors for the Red and White with 15 markers each. Scoring laurels for the visitors went to Millersville's bespectacled sharpshooter, Joe Podlesny, who garnered nine ducées and a single ace for 19 points.

Rams Mauled By Lion Squad Kirk Held to 5 Points As Russ Guensch Stars

Albright College basketballers bettered the .500 mark for the first time in the season when they mauled West Chester State Teachers College Monday, February 25, at West Chester. For the Lions this was their tenth win of the season against nine losses. The Rams started strong. With ex-serviceman Quay leading the way, they jumped to a 9-0 lead. However, this lead was short lived. Lee Cappel and Russ Guensch each dropped two buckets and Albright held a 10-9 first quarter lead. The Red and White continued the barrage and brought their advantage to 14-9 before the Teachers again found the range. The outcome was in little doubt as the Lions outscored their hosts 19-7 in that second quarter. Guensch was again the big noise in the second chapter, canning 13 points, six more than the entire West Chester team.

The second half was no better than the first for the Rams. Big Mort Witman did most of the feeding, with Guensch putting in one handed shots from all over the floor. Cappel worked the pivot as Hops Guldin and Red Glickman took care of the defensive work.

The Purple and Gold point manufacturers were shackled by the Lion men. Dave Kirk was held to only five points, and Reynolds, who previously had 32 points in seven games, got only one field goal. Only Quay was able to hit the cords, collecting 18 of West Chesters' 33 points.
