Two Sororities Pledge 20 Girls On Valentine's Day

17 Freshmen, 3 Others Begin Tolls; Four Seniors Invited By Alumnae Group

Seventeen freshman girls and three upperclassmen received pledges from the two campus sororities on St. Valentine's Day.

Pi Alpha Tau sorority bids were extended to Ruth Smith, Joella Thompson, Jane Rudd, Mildred Ruebsman, Jane Hausman, Polly Walls, Irma Peoples, Emma Hafer, Lillian Schwenke, Ruth Hand and Maxine Pincus.

Mu's Invite Nine

Phi Beta Mu invited Polly Grossman, Edith Bitler, Betty Miller, Betty Laverty, Jane Redcay, Dorothy Fox, Doris Schlasser, Rillie Lee Wright and Margaret Savidge.

The alumnae sorority, Phi Delta Sigma, has pledged Marjorie Lebo, Marian Plummer, Eleanor Troutman and Myrtle Stegman.

Musical Show Wows Chapel Audiences

Sophomores Stage Original Production

Yes, it's been done. An original musical comedy has taken Albright's campus by storm. And it was the Sophs who did it. The material they used was a gift from Charles Castner and Jerry Gabriel, partners in the advertising business.

Drawing on the current fight between ASCAP and BMI, monopolistic music producers, the Reading authors wrote a play and two songs for the chapel programs, Wednesday and Thursday.

The story is set in the Berkely Music Institute where the age-old triangle comes to life in Phil Stean and Allan Foster, two students competing for the honor of taking Eleanor Larson to the prom. Each of the suitors enters a song in a music-writing contest.

"April Serenade" is the contest winner, and "I Never Thought That," is a number accepted for use on the radio when the mythical music war starts.

Geraldine Ross, Peggy Thompson, Bob Mattson, Allan Delong, and Lynn Brown played the leading character parts. Virginia Black and Peggy Thompson co-directed the show.

Lead Worship Services

The sophomore class also had charge of worship services in chapel on Monday and Tuesday. Winfield Morgan was in charge. A sophomore quartet sang several numbers, and Earle Stetler spoke.

Kappa Formal Set For May 3

The spring formal dance of the Kappa Upsilon Phi social fraternity will be held on Saturday, May 3, in the ballroom of Galen Hall, according to an announcement by Jack Boardman, chairman of the Kappa social committee. The Royal Ambassadors will provide music for the occasion.

HENRY BUCKWALTER

MARY T. WALSH

Introducing to Albright College Miss Mary T. Walsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Walsh, East Orange, N. J. The engagement of Miss Walsh to Prof. Henry G. Buckwalter, eminent economist of Albright College, was announced last week.

Keep All Initiations On Campus, Less "Rough Stuff" -- Say Students

Y. W. Plans Mardi Gras For Next Friday Night

The annual night of fun known as the Mardi Gras, will be sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. next Friday night in the girls' dormitories. An Albright king and queen will preside.

Inquiring Reporter Gathers Opinions

With Hell Week coming up, the Inquiring Reporter has been crystallizing student opinion about fraternity and sorority initiations. There seems to be some agreement about confining initiations to the campus and cutting down on some of the "rough stuff." Here's what they say:

Esther Gingrich—"I think they should definitely be limited to campus. Paddling and keeping pledges out all night should be eliminated and more constructive things put in their place. Pledges might cut the junk or clean up the campus instead of defacing it."

Disapproves Emphatically

Jerry Denner—"I disapprove of them. I think they should be greatly modified."

Myrtle Stegman—"There should be initiations, but they should not include paddling and losing sleep. With a little ingenuity, the fraternities could find things that would entertain the fraternity members and keep the boys around the school."

Seymour Mendelsohn—"They should be so altered so as to eliminate community hostility."

Kenny Hopkins—"I think they should be confined to campus."

Ben Funk—"I like them as they are. They're a good disciplinary measure."

Debaters Second In Tournament

Lose Decisions Only To Penn State, Houghton

Moving into the final round undefeated, Albright debaters bowed to Penn State and Houghton College to finish second in the Third Annual Shippensburg Debate Tournament, last Saturday.

The Albrightians were tied with the University of West Virginia and Bucknell. Top honors went to Penn State and Houghton, the only teams to defeat the Red and White debaters.

In the final round, Seymour Mendelsohn and William Bottonari clashed with the negative team from Penn State. At the same time, Charles Miesse and Olga Bitler were nosed out by Houghton. The latter argued the negative side of the question, "Resolved, that the nations of the Western Hemisphere should form a permanent union."

Forty forensic teams from 15 colleges and universities in six states were represented at Shippensburg. Dr. John B. Douds, debate coach, was a judge at the tournament.

85 Students On Dean's List; Mu Sorority High

44 Have 'A' Rating, 41 'B-plus' Average, Semester Report Shows

According to a report submitted by Dean George Walton, 37 percent of the seniors, 27 percent of the juniors, and 17 percent of the sophomores and freshmen maintained ratings of at least "B-plus" for the first semester. Of these, ten seniors, 16 juniors, nine sophomores, and nine freshmen rated "A" averages. Phi Beta Mu Sorority led the groups averages with 2.26.

German Students Rehearse Two Plays For Affair

Save your nickels and bring them to chapel next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Why? It's the fourth annual Fastnachtspiel. Why the nickels? Fastnachts and coffee will be served during intermission. Admission is free. Two plays will be presented.

"Das Boese Weib" concerns a woman, Kathryn Muhs, who vents her rage on a young man, John Hertz; a girl, Dorothy Leiby; her husband, Richard Major, and a neighbor, Roy Sharman.

"Der Gestohlene Fastnachts-hahn" is about a rooster stolen by Grampas, Charles Miesse, and his wife, Gretchen Bieber, from Doetsch, Arthur McKay, and his wife, Geraldine Ross. The two women get into a fist fight over the matter; but Doetsch and Grampas settle it over a glass of wine.

Former Faculty Member, Rev. C. W. Guinter, Dies

Albright College lost one of its former faculty members and alumni recently in the death of the Rev. C. W. Guinter, late pastor of the Evangelical Church in Brightsville.

He was a graduate of Albright College of Myerstown, where he taught in the preparatory school. While a student, he was president of the Y. M. C. A. and editor of the school paper.

Later he went to Africa as a missionary and founded the first Evangelical mission station in Nigeria, West Africa.

Schach Gets M. A., Feted By Memming

Dr. and Mrs. Gerrit Memming held a buffet luncheon in their home last Sunday night in honor of Paul Schach, who received his M.A. degree from the University of Pennsylvania last Saturday. Those present included Dr. and Mrs. Milton Hamilton, Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur Gingrich, Miss Marie Kleppinger and Miss Anna R. Benninger.

Potpourri

By Robert L. Work.

Coming back to the scene of this pot-boiling brings me face to backs of books on the repair shelf above this erstwhile mending table. Now, surely, a list of titles for reading could hardly be a healthy one if it had in its body only books badly in need of repair; but the gamut of this subject-matter is so whimsical that I cannot refrain from calling attention to it.

There they stand or lean sadly on the shelf: some boldly at the edge, others hiding in reticence and allowing a bit of dust to collect on their doorsills. Some have terse memos sticking out of them like coxcombs, these being mostly in books with no obvious need for attention. And the first on the left is so torn down to the bone in preparation for rebuilding that I doubt whether it will ever be a whole book again. At the risk of one final collapse I shall pull it down to find the title.

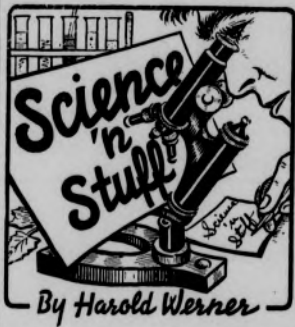

Well, this is interesting. I notice from the title-page in the midst of these disconnected signatures, arrested in their flopping around in my lap, that the book was written by Dr. B. H. Warren: REPORT ON THE BIRDS OF PENNSYLVANIA WITH SPECIAL REFERENCE TO THE FOOD-HABITS, BASED ON OVER FOUR THOUSAND STOMACH EXAMINATIONS. (N. B. There are colored plates, but no pictures to make the gentles faint.)

Second, the best! Here's my favorite novel: THE LIFE AND OPINIONS OF TRISTRAM SHANDY, GENTLEMAN, by Laurence Sterne. The next book is quite unhealthy: Frasier and Armentrout's AN INTRODUCTION TO THE LITERATURE OF EDUCATION. I can't understand how the fourth found its place here, but it is bad: Victor Cousin's ELEMENTS OF PSYCHOLOGY (Entered according to Act of Congress in the year 1855.

Here's a happy pair: Samuel P. Orth's THE BOSS AND THE MACHINE and Plato SELECTIONS. And of all things, Cassell's GERMAN-ENGLISH AND ENGLISH-GERMAN DICTIONARY with a note as follows: "Flxen Sie, Bitte—hmb". Next is Carlton J. H. Hayes' A POLITICAL AND SOCIAL HISTORY OF MODERN EUROPE, Volume I, which through continuous use on reserve is suffering from general debility.

Oh, me! What say you to this? O. S. Fowler's EDUCATION AND SELF-IMPROVEMENT: COMPRISING PHYSIOLOGY—ANIMAL AND MENTAL; SELF-CULTURE AND PERFECTION OF CHARACTER; MEMORY AND IN-

While scanning the pages of the Journal of Chemical Education a while back, your columnist came upon a quite interesting article. It was concerned with the experiments of a high school chemistry club in Flushing, N. Y. This club concentrated its efforts on crystal growing, a phenomenon which is not generally heard about. They experimented with crystals of such compounds as aluminum alums, Rochelle salts, and copper or nickel sulfates. The best and most amazing result was obtained with a crystal of chrome alum. This crystal grew for nine and one-half years and presented a difficult problem as to its container. After outgrowing test tubes, beakers, quart jars, and larger vessels, it was finally placed in a crock 18 inches in diameter and having a capacity of 25 gallons. In 1938, removed from its solution, covered with a protective coating of varnish, it was exhibited in the Westinghouse building at the New York World's Fair. The crystal at that time weighed 80 pounds or 36,287 grams and was 14 inches in width.

That was a high school chemistry club accomplishment—why not college?

We hear that a certain group of sympathetic day students were on the point of reporting Dennis Strawbridge to the Humane Society. It seems Dennis brought a black cat to school to use as a "subject" in zoology "lab" and the fellows wanted "Tommy" for a mascot.

Things have come to a pretty pass when the professors succeed in discouraging students, by their constant—shall we say—heckling, to drop out of classes. Jane Dunkleberger was one of these unfortunates, and now the professor seems to have gone a "Shade" further! (Just propaganda).

Have you heard about the big feed on Sunday evening, February 16, at Dr. Cook's residence. The "Old Maestro" entertained all those "lads" who are "chem" majors. The "chef" himself cooked the dinner of sausages and hotcakes. (Yum-yum). (By the way, no casualties have been reported as yet). Those in attendance were Frystack, Popelka, Walton, Sheffer, Winterhalter, Yoder, Ziegenfuss, and Professor Danford. Dr. Cook brought forth his collection of yearbooks and (we got this confidentially) there was a former girl friend on practically every other page. For advice to the Love-lorn, go C. G.!

GINGRICH SPEAKS

Dr. Wilbur Gingrich addressed the Business and Professional Woman's Club Monday evening at its supper meeting at Whitner's. His topic was "Problems of Peace."

GEORGE'S GOOFY AB

LETTERS ARE BETTER

Dear George:

When I first came to college, I expected to be a great success. I studied hard, joined the Glee Club, and played ping-pong quite well.

I have been here three and a half years and have only met three men: the boys in the Bookstore and Paffy. Now I would like to meet the other two men on campus. Why don't I get around? Please help me. MARCIA.

Dear Marcia:

Change your name, raise your eyebrows, race for a Selwyn Hall sofa after the evening meal, put your name on the APO mailing list, use MAIS OUI for a mouth wash, comb your hair with Highpana, give every Kappa that 'come-hither' look, and stay out of the Book-store. Use Le Page's glue for lip-stick and BO for the life, boy—and Paffy's no mean guy. You probably don't get around because your arms are too short.

Dear Goofy:

On December 3rd, three sneezes in the dining hall prompted me to take refuge in my room to avoid the coming flu epidemic. I have taken every precaution to avoid illness. Each morning I mix two and a quarter table-spoonsful of Lydia P.'s No. 666 with 4 blades of dried grass and a crushed aspirin. I drink a half glass of this each 12 minutes until noon, at which time, I switch to my afternoon medicant—an 11-day-old lemon skin soaked in a pot of Lipton's tea. These seem to help but little, Goofy, and I write to you in desperation.

Dare I leave my room now? Has the flu epidemic fled? I trust you will answer "yes," for my sun tan is fading rapidly.

Hopefully yours,
SNEEZY RIPPBOTTCAN.

Dear Hick-cup:

Come on out, the weather's fine. I hope you had a nice Christmas; your room must be a mess. You probably have that dried grass and Lipton's tea mixed up, it's HAYES that goes with Lipton's tea. Yes, (I can hear you smile, falsely) the flu flew. As for that sun tan, you better go south because it's Florida.

Dear Jawdge:

In anticipation of your trip to the druggery for a sulphanimide and soda upon having received nil correspondence this week, hear is one letter. I am a bit worried and I think you know my problem intimately. Remember the day you were sitting in Abnormal Psych singing out such onomatopoeic appellations as hebephrenia, neurasthenia, schizaphrenia, paranoia to the tune of "Dark Eyes?" Well, you were right beside the case of Catantonia Robesonian that bothers me. He throws snow-balls in the Library and I'm afraid that some day there will be an obscene mob scene and I'll be blamed especially if Bob's (W.) seen. (oooh)

Besides, people are beginning to call him Kleppy (short for kleptomaniac) after he snatched my purse the other day. Please do something.

Inconsequently,
ROSALIND GRANJIVE.

Two New Books On World Affairs Reviewed For IRC

Club Library Gets Six Volumes From Carnegie Endowment

Reviews of the books, "The Caribbean Danger Zone" by J. Fred Rippey, and "Prerequisites to Peace in the Far East" by Nathaniel Peffer, were given by Mary Levan and Jean Bomgardner at the International Relations Club meeting last night.

"The Caribbean Danger Zone" is a fair-minded, frank history and commentary upon inter-American relations within the Caribbean area. It is of especial interest at the present since it is the first one to include an expert's analysis of the new situation created by our acquisition of naval and air bases in the Caribbean.

Far East Overlooked

"Prerequisites to Peace in the Far East" deals with the fact that in the excitement and events in Europe the gravity of the situation in the Far East is sometimes overlooked. The long struggle in the Orient will end some day and there must be a wise peace to remove the causes which originated the war. This book discusses the needs of both Japan and China and also the larger struggle involving the Western World. It is entirely free from appeals to emotion or prejudice.

These books are two of the six recently received from the Carnegie Endowment. The complete list includes: "America's Dilemma: Alone or Allied" by Norman Angell. It opens a wide field for debate and discussion of American isolation—its advantages and disadvantages, offering arguments on both sides.

"True and False Democracy," by the President of the Carnegie Endowment, Nicholas Murray Butler, first appeared in 1907 and recently has been republished as a contribution to the better understanding of the foundation of true democracy.

Plan World Order

"The City of Man" by Herbert Agar, a declaration on World Democracy, is "the outcome of the collective thinking of a group of persons profoundly concerned about the future of our civilization in the face of the immeasurable dangers threatening it today."

"Where Do We Go From Here" by Harold J. Laski is a declaration by the well-known British Labour Party spokesman setting forth his own views of the catastrophe that has overwhelmed Europe, its causes, Britain's part in it, and the way out. It is written with a fervor and conviction that insure attention from the outset.

Debaters Grab 1st Win In Home Territory

By defeating Ursinus College on Tuesday night, Albright debaters celebrated their first home victory.

The judges gave their unanimous decision to Arthur McKay and Seymour Mendelsohn, who attacked the proposal of the Ursinus team for the immediate establishment of a permanent British-American Union. The match was presented before the international relations study group of the College Club, at the home of Mrs. Donald Baker, Wyomissing.

Crucial Tilt At F and M

The Thirteenth and Union Grade school gym will be the scene of a titanic struggle on Wednesday night when the first half champion A. P. O.'s meet the high-scoring Kappas to decide the second-half inter-fraternity crown. Both teams have squashed all opposition to sport identical records of four wins and no defeats. If Stevie Plaskonos and Co. capture the tilt, it means the league championship for the A. P. O. fraternity. If they lose, they still have another chance in the play-off game between the winners of the two halves. But the Kappas do not receive a second chance. They must win this game to make a playoff game possible. Then they must take that contest to win the championship. Anyway you look at it, the game promises to be a close, tough, life and death struggle.

Another top-notch feature of Wednesday night's deciding game will be a scoring duel between Steve Plaskonos, captain and high scoring guard of the A. P. O.'s, and Waldo Eshelman, captain and chief tabulator for the Kappas. All indications point to a possible personal scrap as well as a scoring duel between these two lads when the two teams take to the court. Both captains are former varsity performers and both are contenders for the individual scoring crown. So don't miss that "brotherly and fraternal" fuss next Wednesday.

Here's an interesting note on Jimmy Kane. That seven point offensive in the Kutztown game was the most points "Sugar" Kane has ever made in the 27 contests in which he participated at Albright in the past two years. Incidentally, when "Big Bill" McKinney retired from the Ursinus game last Wednesday a week ago, it was the first time in almost two years that the tall senior failed to score a single tally.

FLASHES: Paul Leinbach, who has played in nine various games for a varying number of seconds, has yet to score his first point. . . Hope Coach Harris takes enough personal interest as physical director to see that the referee appointed for the game between the Kappas and the A. P. O.'s, shows up and has a whistle as well. Also hope there's more than one good ball. . . The boys like to practice with a ball that bounces true as well as play the game with one. . . Tom Warnagiris, '40, began training in Philadelphia on Monday for the Naval Flying Corps. . . Ray Thorpe and Paul Schlegel are already in the flying service. . . Ted Soja and Bishop Halfoster were caught in the draft without their uniforms, so the army obliged by giving them one. . . Fort Dix is the address. . . Attendance has passed the 10,000 mark. . . Wilson Teachers attracted 1,000. . . Actual figure is now 10,200.

Game Tomorrow May Decide Winner Of League; Dips Face Bisons Tonight

Red and White Edge Bucknell, 40-38

The all-out attack on Eastern Penn Conference competitors launched by the Lions several weeks ago, got its severest test on Wednesday night when the high-scoring Harrismen copped a 40-38 verdict from an "overheated" Bucknell squad.

The Hurricanes will get another chance to go into power dives tomorrow night when the undefeated Franklin and Marshall quintet lays out its welcome mat at the Lancaster court. The Diplomats might lose their "perfect" status tonight when they tackle the Bisons at Lewisburg.

Jimmy Kane came through in the clutch on Wednesday night, sinking a sizzler from midcourt in the last 15 seconds to give the perpetual motion boys a tighter grip on second place in the conference, and their eighth consecutive win.

Buzas Misses Foul

Entering the combat as a sub for Kenny Hopkins, Kane found the renny in a hurry and fired. And that was the game. Bucknell lost a golden opportunity to edge ahead shortly before that when Joe Buzas missed a free shot called on Hopkins.

Fred Fahringer caused most of the trouble for the Lions, breezing 14 points through the hoop. Dick Shollenberger, Hopkins, and Bill Spangler handled the Lions' "blitz" work.

Shollenberger, making a bid for the loop scoring leadership, notched eight points. Ralph Mease, Lebanon Valley flash, meanwhile bolstered his position at the league's helm by scoring 15 against Gettysburg.

The fracas started with a one-hander by Sholly and a duplication by Fahringer. Buzas came through with an ace and a double-decker. Hopkins and Buzas each converted twice. Then Fahringer and Glass registered for the Bisons, bringing the score to 11-5.

Half Ends: 20-12

Executing some neat shots soon after Albright's timeout had ended, the Bucknellians forged ahead, 20-12, at halftime.

The second act began with a two-pointer by Fahringer. The Lions came back with baskets by Rhoads, Spangler and Shollenberger. But Bucknell was on its toes as Culbertson and Fahringer scored. Hopkins doubled, but Fahringer and Buzas raised the ante to 30-21.

The Reading guns started to boom then as McKinney, Shollenberger, Spangler, Hopkins and Sam Sehl came through with field goals. Fahringer slipped one in along the line.

With the count at 32-all, Rhoads, Hopkins, and Spangler made it look like a cinch, 38-32. But Bucknell came back and knotted the count. The rest you know.

The A. P. O.'s and the Kappas kept their second-half inter-fraternity basketball slates clean by winning again on Wednesday night at the 13th and Union gym.

The A. P. O.'s won a forfeit game from the Day Students and the Kappas took the Zetas into camp, 37-21. In the thriller game, the Frosh captured a nip and tuck 10-9 victory from the favorite Pi Taus, thus winning their first contest of the season.

Tall Paul Michaels was the big noise for the Kappa aggregation by tossing in 13 points against a fighting Zeta crew paced by Dick Weber, who accounted for ten markers.

The Frosh, who upset the Pi Taus, won on a last-second flip from under the basket by Sid Disend. Carl Yoder and Al Thergeson stood out for the losers.

Elaine Shade Cops Scoring Honors With 13 Markers

Albright's female cage squad dropped a heart-breaker to Moravian College Tuesday night when they were nosed out, 17-16, in a tilt played at Bethlehem. The game was the second one for the Red and White lassies, the first having been a secretive affair with Ursinus several weeks ago.

Leading the conspicuously weak attack for the locals was Elaine Shade, who garnered 13 points. Mary Levan scored the other three.

Keep All Initiations

Wants a Week of It

Bill McKinny—"They should last from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. for a whole week."

Adele Ferguson—"I don't think they should be abandoned entirely. They should be more extensive and not so intensive."

Chris Bratotis—"I think they should be confined to campus."

Thelma Rebert—"I think they're a lot of fun but then I'm not the one being paddled."

Betty Miller—"I think it's good experience for the pledge, and fun for those on campus."

Gene Pierce—"They should be kept within the limits set by the administration."

Eliminate 'Em

Kenneth Stoudt—"I think they should be abandoned. They have a demoralizing effect."

Paul Ackert—"There ought to be student council regulations to keep all activity on campus."

Woodrow Witmer—"I think they should do away with padding, keeping the fellows out all night, certain banquets, etc., where the initiation will cause harm to the pledges or infraction of the civil laws of the community."

Quartet Nears First Anniversary

A first anniversary will be observed soon by one of Albright's "most-traveled" groups—the gospel quartet including Eugene Pierce, Bruce Knisely, Donald Buxton and Robert Mattson.

Starting out on March 3, 1940, the group opened a tour that has taken them to 36 different places in five states—Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Maryland and Ohio—in 11 months.

Covered 2,955 Miles

They have traveled 2,955 miles, singing 155 times before approximately 5,250 persons in churches, schools, and service clubs.

Just last Tuesday they sang at a banker's conference in Reading and in the Windsor Street Methodist Church. They will go to Philadelphia on Sunday.

Their services are not all religious. Movies of Albright are usually on the program. For worship services, Rollin Reiner has acted as leader. The quartet's present calendar has engagements through April.

Buckwalter Addresses York Kiwanis Club

Professor Henry G. Buckwalter was guest speaker at the annual Kiwanis dinner banquet at York last evening. The meeting was held at Hotel Yorktowne at 6:30.

Professor Buckwalter described the several social experiments—TVA, Farm Security Administration, migrant farmer problem, and rural electrification—as he found them to exist during his past summer travel in the United States. Color movies were also shown.

Dear Rosy:

If snowballs you over, what will you do when spring comes? If there is a mob scene, don't forget your anonymity. These mobs become ruts (consult PUNY PUNS, p. 67) that's why the Library is Mckaydamized. About this Kleptomaniac—makes him sound like a "pick-up" . . . Tut tut.

One of last week's letters was quite effective; a romance was started when the Valentine turned up at the "Y" party with a little yellow flour in its hair. The Albrightian hopes that these bits of Had-vice will make Mounties out of some of you—so that you'll get your man . . .

TELLECTUAL IMPROVEMENT. The inserted note says: "See Work". Nun haben wir one whose spintitle is better than the lengthy title-page, which would fill up the rest of this column. I give the spintitle: THE EVERY-DAY LIFE OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN by Those Who Knew Him. To continue: THE FORTUNES AND MISFORTUNES OF THE FAMOUS MOLL FLANDERS (skip four inches of column with this hiatus) by Daniel Defoe; CHIEF CONTEMPORARY DRAMATISTS, SECOND SERIES, by Thomas H. Dickinson. (Notes as follows: "Where is card?" and "Change Call No.")

I see that Tatlock and Martin's REPRESENTATIVE ENGLISH PLAYS has been rebound upside down (Note: "What the —?"); in the same vein is William Wycherley's PLAYS; then Hyde's THE FIVE GREAT PHILOSOPHIES OF LIFE; and Emily Post's ETIQUETTE, W. M. Bayliss' PRINCIPLES OF GENERAL PHYSIOLOGY, and THE CAMBRIDGE MEDIEVAL HISTORY, Volume I.

A few chapters in the next book have been worn out by Guidance Classes: William James' TALKS TO TEACHERS. And I must get around to doing these: Walt Whitman's POETICAL WORKS, Walter Pater's THE RENAISSANCE, Kit Marlowe's PLAYS, and Volume II of one of our Shakespeare sets. The shelf comes to an end with the WORKS of Schiller (Volume II), and George A. Barton's THE RELIGIONS OF THE WORLD.

Here's enough work to make one year for the return of Helene Greene, because the present Repair Head is rather busy: Some Ecking—all of which reads me to warn would-be readers that these books, like newly purchased volumes, are not yet available and may not be for some time to come.
