ANNUAL COLLEGE NIGHT PROVES GREAT SUCCESS

Program of All College Talent Well Received by Large Attendance of Students and Faculty

On Wednesday evening, December 6, Albright College talent held sway at Maier's Bakery. An evening of excellent entertainment was provided for the Alumni and friends of the College. The program was sponsored by Jan Van Driel, the Chef, in an effort to secure funds for refinishing and redecorating the dining hall.

The program began at 8 o'clock with "Jan" presiding as master of ceremonies. The Mixed Chorus, under the direction of Robert Workman, sang "The Bridal Chorus."

The Domino Club gave an excellent rendition of "The Other Side," a one-act play by Jack Stuart Knapp. The play, under the direction of Miss Shaffer, was presented by the following cast: Haley, the guard, Marshall Brenneman; Quinn, the reporter, Wesley Stevens; Coughlin, the warden, John Wyle; and Allison, the executioner, Bailey Gass.

William Maier, 131, accompanied at the piano by Professor Hunt, sang several selections, including "Sylvia" and "This is Life." Professor Hunt directed the Men's Glee Club in "Home on the Range," "The Norsemen," and "Deep River."

Crayon sketches on the subjects of evolution and moonlight in the southland were made by Asher Gottschalk, while Olaf Holman played appropriate music on the piano.

Alfred Kuder, the magician, entertained with a new group of mysterious doings. During his various appearing and disappearing feats he brought forth a trio composed of Robert Hollinger, Marshall Brenneman, and Joe Ehrhart, who rendered several selections. After the program refreshments were served and dancing was in order. The bakery was open for inspection to those who cared to see it.

Hereby I want to give a word of thanks for the fine co-operation of the teachers and students who took part in the College Night at Maier's Bakery. Only through your help was such a successful evening possible.

I wish you all A Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

JAN VAN DRIEL,
Chef.

SKULL AND BONE HEAR DR. TRAVIS

At the regular meeting of the Skull and Bones Society, held on Monday evening, December 11, Dr. Travis, of the city, spoke on the subject "Cancer." During the course of his address several pamphlets on the subject of cause and prevention of cancer were distributed.

Following the address, a motion picture, "Four Doctors," was shown. The meeting was well attended and again we urge all students interested to attend.

AUXILIARY MEMBERSHIP TOTALS 250 WOMEN

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the college has grown to a membership of 250 women in the city.

At yesterday's meeting Mrs. Andrew Maier pledged herself to secure the money to endow a room in the Reading Hospital for students of the college whom it may be necessary to send to the hospital.

SMITH HAS WEALTH OF MATERIAL TO FORM RED AND WHITE QUINT, DEFEAT KUTZTOWN IN OPENER 50-20

Shipe and Iatesta Lead Cohorts in Scoring Rampage Against State Teachers

The experienced Red and White quintet romped away from the Kutztown State Teachers' College in the opening match of the season. The home team at one time tallied 28 consecutive points while the visitors remained scoreless. At no time during the game were the Lions in danger, but were able to maintain a comfortable lead throughout the contest.

Iatesta and Shipe led the Lion hoopers in scoring, while "Red" Woods, a last year Frosh ace, showed great promise in filling a guard position on the Smith quintet.

The final score was 50-20. The lineup as follows:

174 DELEGATES ATTEND ANNUAL "Y" CONFERENCE

Representatives of 21 Different Colleges Are Guests of College During Past Week-End

The Student-Faculty Conference held at the college over the past week-end was a great success. According to the registrar's report given at the banquet in the college dining hall Saturday evening, the conference broke all previous records with 21 different colleges represented by 174 delegates. The following is a list of the colleges with the number of delegates from each: West Chester, 25; Lebanon Valley, 22; Elizabethtown, 15; Muhlenberg, 13; Bloomsburg, 11; Gettysburg, 9; Stroudsburg, 10; Shippensburg, 9; Albright, 8; Kutztown, 8; Lincoln University, 7; Susquehanna University, 7; Franklin and Marshall, 6; Juniata, 6; Dickinson Seminary, 4; Lock Haven S. T. C., 4; Millersville S. T. C., 2; Ursinus, 2; University of Wisconsin, 2; Mt. Airy Theological Seminary, 1, and University of Pennsylvania, 1.

H. LeRoy Brininger, president of the State Student Council, presided. The registration in Christ Evangelical Church was in charge of L. LeRoy Stabler. Woodrow Bartges, John Wiley, Paul Eye, and Hunter McKain were in charge of local accommodations for the guests.

Dr. Klein, in his opening address of the three-day conference, spoke on the value and necessity of religion in colleges and universities. He pointed out the fact that most of our great universities had their origin as church colleges or through the desires of individuals to improve the religious as well as the intellectual life of youth.

SENIOR XMAS PROGRAM IS WELL PRESENTED

Annual Affair Given in Form of Broadcast; Well Attended by Students

Many attended the Senior Christmas program given in the Chapel on Tuesday night. In the form of a broadcast, the individual class talent was presented to the audience.

The scene was in a home where Ralph DeFranco and Stanley Hino sat enjoying an evening's radio program. Behind the scenes, Willard Burger, the announcer, impersonated Graham MacNamee. The opening number featured "Little" Jack Little at the piano playing a medley of popular songs. Harriet Venus represented this radio star, and later was the accompanist for the solo numbers. Ruth Fitting, the sweetheart of the air, and in this case, Sarah Hoffman, followed with a Christmas song, "No Candle Was There and No Fire."

Fifteen minutes of song and laughter came next when the sisters of the skillet, Eddie and Ralph, came on the air. John Wyle and Marshall Brenneman substituted for this couple and a humorous dialogue resulted.

Tyndal Ice as Lew Armstrong played several popular songs on his trumpet.

A program in words and music followed when Catharine Yerkes gave two musical readings, "The Eskimo," and "How the Elephant Got His Trunk."

The broadcast was concluded with the children's hour in television. Mary Yohn, Helen Yohn, and Dorcas Haines, dressed as children, played a piano trio. They were joined by Harriet Venus and together played a quartette at one piano.

Following the evening's broadcast, Santa Claus entertained the assembled group. Appropriate gifts were presented to the Seniors. Charles Dice was Santa for the evening.

After the entertainment several of the Seniors gathered in Selwyn Hall for a social hour, which ended the Christmas program.

The committee in charge of the evening consisted of: Peg Wittmann, chair lady; Ralph DeFranco, Paul Vanness, Wesley Stevens, and Tyndal Ice. Betty Rimelspacher was in charge of the make-up. The social program was directed by Martha Felmlee.

DOMINOS HOLD FINAL INITIATION

Promptly on the stroke of twelve, December 10, twelve wandering players were led from the College Chapel to the lower social room of Selwyn Hall. Upon their arrival a most beautiful ceremony was presented them in the name of William Shakespeare, who was probably the greatest dramatist of all time.

The Domino Club is happy to announce the following as active members, who have faithfully served their pledge and who have exhibited a wonderful spirit through the whole of their initiatory rites: Marjorie Beglinger, Betty Rosenthal, Betty Ketner, Joseph Ehrhart, Joseph Vargyas, Leroy Garrigan, Hunter McKain, George Messersmith, Robert Diltz, William Basom, James Doyle, and Wesley Stevens.

Veteran Squad, Led by Co-Captains DeFranco and Oslislo, to Represent Lions This Season

Coincident to the deposition of King Football, Op Man Basketball gains re-cession to the throne of inter-collegiate athletic interest.

Against Kutztown, on Wednesday, December 13, Co-Captain Radio DeFranco and Goose Oslislo led a veteran squad. DeFranco and Oslislo, who were named at forward and guard on the mythical all-conference team of 1932-33, have been varsity dribblers since 1930, and Iatesta, Conway, Slack, and Shipe all have at least two years of college experience. Woods, Schlegel, Ross, and Ries, members of last year's powerful freshman team, who will attempt to crash the lineup which held third place in the Eastern Pennsylvania League last year.

Only Johnny Fromm, capable guard, and Al Dittman, reserve center, will be missing from the ranks. Fromm's place at guard will very likely be filled by Slack or Conway, subs last year, or Woods, high scoring back court hooper. The rest of the first stringers will no doubt retain their positions, at least during the initial encounters.

The delegates were addressed on Friday evening by Dr. Robert E. Speer, honorary president of the Student Volunteer movement in America and senior secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions. He spoke on "Is There Adventure in the Application of the Principles of Jesus?"

Five ways in which there is adventure in Christianity today were outlined by Dr. Speer.

The Saturday morning session opened at 8.30 in Christ Evangelical Church. Dr. Speer was again the speaker, addressing the group on "The Finality of Jesus."

From 10.15 to 11.45 various discussion groups were held, having their interests centered mainly on life and vital religion.

The leaders of these groups were: Dr. Calvert N. Ellis, Juniata College; Prof. Roger A. Kratz, Dean Albright Theological Seminary; the Rev. John R. "Jack" Hart, Philadelphia, and Dr. Robert E. Speer.

At 1.30 P. M. the Saturday afternoon session began with an open forum, having as the speaker G. Morris Smith, of Susquehanna University. Dr. Smith spoke on "Why We Are Where We Are in the U. S. Today."

The annual conference banquet was held in the Albright College dining hall on Saturday evening. Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg College, addressed nearly 300 Albright students and conference delegates on "The Cost of Adventure."

The convention closed Sunday morning with services in the College Chapel. The Rev. John R. "Jack" Hart was the speaker. His address was on "Adventuring for Christ on Our Campus."

Literary Column

By Lewis Jones.

Sometimes, being mildly disgusted with the innocuous tedium of college life, we are heretical enough to believe that there may be in this sofarnotsogood life a little more excitement than a weekly football game has to offer. Indeed, we might even go so far as to suggest that an exciting evening debating the tariff falls somewhat short of the possibilities involved in three score years and ten. We sincerely regret such a state of affairs, and offer as a defense our vicious reading habits that led us cruelly to believe that the world was once a merry place to live in. Ah insensate . . .

Thus, when the winter of our discontent is upon us, we return as the opium smoker to his pipe, to those fables of long ago. Tho they be falsehoods, we are content; tho they be but frail dreams, in them we found succor.

Then we discovered Havana . . . With what joy we realized what an umphay we had been in believing that the present was but a feeble anti-climax of the golden past. We found in Havana, with its revolutions and its madness, a refutation.

Havana . . .
Imagine a low, dim, smoke-hung room. About a central, cramped dancing place people sit, sipping strange, hypnotic drinks. From a raided platform to one side, the rumba players beat out their toxic music, ineffably sad, full of a despairing loneliness: the faces of the listeners hold a haunted look . . . Thru some secret, blessed magic, they manage to achieve at the same time a synthesis of extreme stimulation and utter relaxation. Onto the dance floor, out of the dimness, a rumba team appears; a mulatto girl with quick, dark eyes and a tall, black buck, magnificently built. The girl crouches on all fours, laughing softly. Her torso waves impertinently, and she arches her back like a cat. Behind her prances the buck, teeth gleaming, eyeballs flashing, leopard-footed. A flicker, a shining, a swift, pure motion in poetic line. He leaps lightly astride and back again—like a bird. And the dance goes on . . . The basic note throout the town is a luscious corruption of colour and music . . . a darkly burning exhaustion . . . a ceaseless presentation of a futile yet fecund life, drenched in an effortless glamour . . .

At the same time, in another part of the town, men may be sitting, too, about a small table, scheming and plotting. In their faces, drawn and tight, are the eyes of a fanatic; their pulses may race with the poison of revolution . . .

Tomorrow, under a hot, bright sun, a man may be shot down. Screaming, the crowd will run for cover. Fascinated, they will watch a band of men, carrying machine guns and sawed-off shotguns, advance on a barricaded house, pouring scattered volleys into shuttered windows, hurling bombs at cellar walls, until from the house will come no answering fire. Bewildered, they will wonder at the bloodshed and death and return to their homes or to their rumba dancing . . .

Havana.

A THOUGHT FOR VACATION

There is but one virtue: to help human beings to free and beautiful life; but our sin's to do them indifferent or cruel hurt: the love of humanity is the whole of morality. This is Goodness, this is Humanism, this is the Social Conscience.

CHRISTMAS

Christmas in a student's life is as an ever recurrent freshness across a muddled mind. The story is so fine, so firm, and so real. The college student finds that the carols hold year after year the same glow, the same helpfulness. Academic terms are of no avail at such a time. The various "isms" hold no place. The "whys" and "wherefores" of the glorious birth is of little consequence. The never-to-be-forgotten verse, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," brings new hope to every man and woman and together their voices proclaim the holy birth. They know a child is born, a son to Mary has come, yea, even Jesus, yea even Christ the King, God of God, Light of Light, Very God of God.

Truly we are in the Child Jesus, and he in us.

The Y. M. C. A. Local Arrangements Committee wishes to extend to the various fraternities and the School of Theology its deepest gratitude for the splendid co-operation in the housing of the delegates for the recent Student-Faculty Y. M. C. A. Conference.

"The shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem."

The last Vesper Service of the year was devoted to the singing of Christmas Carols and hymns. The Seminary Chapel was ushered for this special service in charge of the Mixed Chorus under the direction of Mr. Robert Workman. Special features included two organ selections by Harriet Venus and several impressive readings appropriate to the season by Lloyd Helt.

As one of its best accomplishments for this semester, the Y. W. has now provided itself with a very fine new room. It was first opened on Alumni Day and there were many favorable comments from the visitors. The room is spacious and very attractive with a color scheme of brown furniture, light walls and rust colored curtains. The room and the furniture are newly painted, and a studio organ and lamps have been bought. The girls have done a great deal of the work such as painting and sewing. Much credit is due to Miss Innis, our Y advisor, and Harriet Venus, chairman of the Decorating Committee (or planning and helping to create such an artistic and homelike room.

A large group of members were present at our first meeting in the new Y. W. room on Wednesday afternoon. An informal Christmas program was given with the Freshmen Commission in charge. Several songs were rendered by a quartet consisting of Amy Leitner, Cora Schankel, Caroline Miller and Dorothy Butler with piano accompaniment by Jean Boner. A Christmas reading was given by Betty Blecker. After some group singing refreshments were served.

Numerous small and useful gifts were brought by members to complete the furnishing of the new room.

INT. RELATIONS CLUB HEAR PROF. HAMILTON

Thursday, December 7, the International Relations Club held its regular meeting in Selwyn Hall. After necessary business had been settled, Professor Hamilton spoke to the group on "The Problem of Cuba," of which he has made a detailed study.

At the next club meeting on January 18, Mr. Ivan Agneroff will speak about his native Russia.

PROMINENT PEOPLE . . .

SARAH HOFFMAN

Sarah is president of the Y. W. C. A. and the Phi Beta Mu sorority. She is vice-president of Sigma Tau Delta and a member of Pi Gamma Mu. English is her major and teaching is her destination. However, if no position awaits her, some think that she would make a success on the stage.

Sarah's numerous activities are probably responsible for her small size. Her one ambition in life is to be able to tip the scales at one hundred pounds.

Selwyn hall will miss the melodious voice of this prima donna when commencement takes its yearly toll. The walls will shriek with silence when she leaves.

Whatever may be her destiny her smile and personality will win her many friends. Success is sure to be hers.

The curtain has fallen on our football season and although we did not have a majority of wins this season, we can be thankful that we stopped Lebanon Valley and succeeded in showing the Ursinus Bears that they were just an "in and out" team. Nick Iatesta received a leather jacket for being the outstanding player on the Red and White team on Thanksgiving. Congratulations, Nick!

With due apologies to Bill Reedy of the "Reading Eagle," there seems to be a "nigger in the woodpile." Dickinson comes through with the announcement at the annual meeting of the Football Conference that Ursinus, Gettysburg, Franklin & Marshall, and Muhlenberg are not living up to the conference ruling in regards to scholarships. According to the ruling of the Middle Atlantic Conference of Colleges, there may not be issued any scholarships for athletic ability. The Eastern Pennsylvania Football Conference allows 15 scholarships of $100 each. Now who has the preference? Dickinson claims they are the only members of the conference who has not violated this ruling but it seems as if they have all violated the ruling of the Middle Atlantic Conference. It looks as if Albright has been the goat for these other colleges in living up to the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference rulings, when the members of it have not been doing so. The most striking example is that Ursinus has 31 members on its freshman squad and only a few should be getting a $100 scholarship. Albright did not even have a freshman team and it seems that these men at Ursinus must be getting some remuneration for playing. Another of the Conference teams has ten men on their freshman squad who either flunked out of or withdrew from Ohio State and played on the freshman team. Are they doing that for nothing? At one of the Conference schools it is a known fact that freshmen are given a $250 scholarship and more the next year if they live up to expectations. Only a few years ago one of the Conference Schools which is continually denouncing scholarships was paying the entire expenses of its athletes and spending money on the side. Draw your own conclusions in regards to this sort of thing. It is only when these schools start to fight among themselves that the truth finally comes out.

The basketball season is under way and the Lions at a glance look like a first class outfit this year. Coach Smith has many veterans back and expects to build up a winning combination. The nucleus of the team will be built around Co-Captains Oslislo and DeFranco, Shippe, Iatesta, and Slack. Each one of these men are experienced players and have the ability to develop into a winning combination. DeFranco and Oslislo were both chosen on the All-Conference teams and should repeat this year again. Shippe is due for a big year and if he can attain the playing form that he exhibited in his freshmen year he should be the cog in the machinery that will bring the Conference Title to the Lions Den. Ex-captain Iatesta should go better this year. With the leadership duties passed on he will be able to devote more of his time to the game. Slack proved his worth in many games last year and if he can overcome his erratic shooting he should become one of the mainstays of the team.

It is interesting to note that the students of Dickinson College were instrumental in having a game scheduled with the Lions. Reports indicate that feeling ran high on the Dickinson campus to meet the Lions in 1934. Many prominent alumnus of both schools worked hard with Graduate Manager Howard and Athletic Director John Smith in bringing Dickinson to Reading. The Lions have been trying for three years to arrange this game and the Albrightian welcomes Dickinson to our schedule and hopes for many more years of gridiron relations.

FOOTBALL RECORD SHOWS 5 DEFEATS 2 WINS AND 1 TIE

Lion Power Rises at Close of Season; Upset Dope by Defeating Bears, 14-7

Coach John Smith's red and white aggregation have terminated another grid season, climaxed by that unexpected but much sought for victory over Ursinus College in the annual Turkey Day classic. It was a pleasure to the eye of every Albright fan to witness the remarkable brand of football and the individual enthusiasm exhibited by the fighting Lions in our Stadium Thanksgiving Day. Our 14 to 7 victory over the Bears, coupled with the tie with our old rivals, Lebanon Valley, fully atones for the other reverses with which we have encountered this season.

The season ended for the first time in years with the final showing of a majority of losses and not wins. Various reasons may be offered to attempt an explanation for this result, but there arises no occasion for us to discuss them now. The Lions opened the season with Fordham in New York and came home on the losing end of the score, 52-0.

They were idle for two weeks and then journeyed to Philadelphia to meet La Salle College. Albright went into this game over-confident, playing a reckless brand of ball, which resulted in a humiliating 12-0 defeat. After nearly two weeks of idleness, a hastily arranged game was scheduled with St. Joseph College at Reading, and the Red and White team showed its old-time form, taking the Jesuits over 47-0.

The following week a strong Villanova team, led by the great triple threat star, Whitey Randour, eked out a 21-0 victory over a fighting Lion eleven that struggled valiantly until the final whistle blew. West Chester State Teachers' College was the next on the schedule and was lucky to get a break in the first quarter which resulted in a touchdown. They were able to hold that lead until the final whistle blew. The Lions clearly outplayed the Teachers, but were unable to score on them.

Davis and Elkins came next with the highest scoring team in the country and with four of the nation's highest individual scorers on it. They administered one of the most humiliating defeats that a Red and White team has ever suffered. When the whistle blew, Albright was on the losing end of the score 53-0.

Saturday, Nov. 25, the Lions tackled the "Flying Dutchmen" from Annville in their traditional battle. This series of rival encounters dates back to 1893 with Albright holding the edge. This year Lebanon Valley was favored for the first time in a good many years, and they fully expected to win the game. An Albright eleven that had been trying to find itself all season started to function and the game ended in a 6-6 tie with Albright having the edge during the entire game except in the third quarter.

Summary of Season

Albright, 0	Fordham	52
Albright, 0	La Salle,	12
Albright, 47	St. Joseph,	0
Albright, 0	Villanova,	21
Albright, 0	West Chester,	6

Albright lost five, won two and tied one this season.

"Tommy" Iatesta, one of the loudest Lion roars during the past season, received the highest vote of recognition for the outstanding work in the Turkey Day classic with the Ursinus Bears. He will receive the ten-dollar suede jacket presented by the Rogers and Johnson Sporting Goods Store.

ZETAS DEFEAT KAPPAS IN FINAL FOOTBALL TILT

Concluding a Series of Three Scoreless Games, Zetas Finally Win, 12-0

After scorelessly deadlocking all three games of the championship series, the Z. O. E. fraternity conquered a hard-fighting K. U. P. team by the score of 12-0 in the deciding championship battle on a partly snow-covered field. The two teams were evenly matched, as the three scoreless ties indicate, but the Zetas exhibited a faster, smoother functioning team to outrun and outwit the determined Kappas.

Both scores occurred in the first period with Passonick falling on a blocked kick behind the goal put the Zetas in front of the Barnard-coached men. Shortly afterward the fleet Frosh, Becker by name, snared a long pass and scampered for a touchdown, putting the Zetas well in the lead.

Those participating in the championship series were:

K. U. P.—Burger, Stevens, Stroessel, Obersutz, Van Ostrand, Kuder, Hoofnagle, Morris, Al and Tony Elleni.

Z. O. E.—Becker, Brininger, Fatzinger, Wenrich, MacNaughton, Pissnick, Barnitt, Cooper, Varygas, Reedy, Compton, Hummel, Felty, and Fay officiated at the games.

SOPH BOOTERS EASILY SUBDUE RIVAL FROSH, 3-0

Soccer, a new venture in athletics at Albright, was received rather enthusiastically, illustrated by the interest shown in the Frosh-Sophr boot-crossing last Saturday in the Stadium. The Sophomores displayed a unity of clever passing which spelled defeat for the "greenies" to the tune of 3-0. Schlegel, Felty, and Garrigan scored for the victors. So air-tight was the Soph defense that goalie Held had no occasion to touch the ball while in play. To Fred Charlton, angel-factory luminary, goes the honor of exhibiting the most unique uniform on the field.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

The Athletic Council wishes to express their appreciation to these Reading Theatres: The Embassy, Park, Rajah, and Lee's Colonial for the courtesies extended to our football squad in allowing them to witness their programs on Friday evening before home games. This entertainment played its part in helping our team finish the season successfully, and in return we ask your patronage of these theatres.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM TO BECOME CITY LEAGUE MEMBER

Basketball for the girls will begin soon after the Christmas vacation. The team will belong to a city league sponsored by the Department of Recreation in Reading. In this league our team will play eight games. The girls are also scheduled to play two college games away, one with the Moravian School for Girls in Bethlehem, and another with Lebanon Valley. Good material is on hand and it is hoped that they may even improve over last year's record when they finished second place in the league.

Miss Betty Rosenthal has been appointed manager of the varsity and class teams will be organized for any others interested.

The Pi Alpha Tau sorority will hold an informal dance January 20th at the Iris Club, Wyomissing.

There's romance in the air. A Senior angel factory lad is gone on that Frosh whose hair is slightly auburn. (It's red to me.) It is his first venture into the field of romance, but I don't know about her.

John T. Deininger, a member of the Zetas, attended the Wilson College Junior class pre-Christmas dance.

Mae Caramana was tended a birthday dinner-bridge on Saturday evening. Those attending the affair were: Esther and Nina Feneli, Sally Caramana, Anita Comfort, Mart Caramana, Bailey Gass, Tom Hepler, Nick Iatesta, Ralph DeFranco, Paul Mohney and Lou Fetta-paldi.

The State is considering a suit against that Med student who recently graduated on the grounds that he uses the Philadelphia pike more than anyone else and should therefore defray at least half the expense of maintaining the road.

Professor Cook, Paul Fye, Robert Hollinger, Al Elleni, Howard Leipart, and Newton Danford spent the weekend in New York attending the Chemical Industries Exposition.

This Week's One-Act Play

Senior Girl—"Marie makes A in Education while the best I can do is a B. Must be something wrong with my system."

The Phi Beta Mu sorority will hold a Christmas party for the Freshman girls Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the lower social room of Selwyn Hall.

The topic of the day in Selwyn Hall is, "What shall I give him for Xmas?" Apparently the tie industry will have another boom year. Personally, I expect a few chunks of Irish confetti; but it doesn't worry me.

The faculty and student body express their deepest sympathies to Ralph Kresge, who recently lost his father.

The York-Albright students are planning two get-togethers during the Xmas season.

Who is it that comes prowling thru the girls' dorm at night, tries a certain door, finds the key on the inside and then breathes a sigh of relief? You guess, but don't ask me; I won't tell you.

Mildred Rothermel, a member of the Pi Alpha Tau sorority, recently spent several days in New York with her parents.

Lillian Slater visited Myrtle Siegfried, a former Albrightian and now a medical student at George Washington University over the week-end.

The spirit of Christmas truly works miracles. Witness that brawny Junior actually escorting a Selwyn Hallite to church.

Many alumni fraters are expected to attend the Kappa Christmas dance at the Iris Club on Saturday night. The Checkers will furnish the music.

The choicest morsel to be thrown to the dogs this week is the one about that dark-haired Senior who swore that the girl with the comic strip name will be the first to wear his new jacket. She's still waiting for it.

It is also reported that he staggered into the dining room late the other day and then had no appetite. Under pressure he admitted that he had been conversing with Her.

The Alpha Pi Omega fraternity basket ball team has planned a week's tour of northern Pennsylvania. The team recently played the Varsity Five and the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Lebanon.

There's much strife among the Senior girls concerning the affection of that punchy-looking Frosh. Some people have the queerest taste. The Lions Club will know who this Frosh is; he aspires to be an actor, and what a reception he got in the Lions' den!

Katherine Yerkes was hostess at a birthday party on Saturday night. The following attended: Sarah Hoffman, Peg Wittman, Dorcas Haines, Harriet Venus, and Betty Rimelspacher.

Let's have no remarks or intended sarcasms about the Domino pledges (those people with the black masks). You see I'm one of them. Incidentally, that gag about coming out from behind the mask—your identity has been surmised is old enough to vote. It's been a standing joke around here for years.

Speedy recovery is wished to Mildred Reichly, who has been confined to bed the last few days.

Now that the new seating arrangement is in order, those two Senior lads have definitely decided that all's fair in love or war.

Dorcas Haines recently gave a party for some of her friends in the "Pat" sorority room.

I wonder why the small kitchen smelled of cigarette smoke the night of the Domino initiation. Someone else beside me noticed it also.

Adam Barnabio, '33, and now a student at Temple Med, visited the campus Saturday and Sunday.

Dave Neff, '28, visited the Kappas on Monday, while "Pup" Male, '33, visited the A. P. O.'s.

FOR A MERRY CHRISTMAS

Telephone Home!

Now—before you go home for Christmas—telephone the family. There are Christmas gifts to discuss . . . traveling arrangements to make . . . family plans to consider before you can make your own.

A few words by telephone will settle every detail. Just as during the college term it is the best way to keep in touch with Home, so now that the term is ending, the telephone will pave the way for a joyous home-coming!

“VOICE VISITS” are SURPRISINGLY
INEXPENSIVE

Wait for 8:30 P.M. to take advantage of the low Night Rates that then go into effect on Station to Station calls.

Just give the Operator your home telephone number and “hold the line.”

Charges may be reversed.
