Rev. J. Shaffer To Be Religion Week Speaker

The Rev. Mr. John T. Shaffer, pastor of Villa Park Evangelical-United Brethren Church, Villa Park, Illinois, will be the guest speaker for the annual Religion-in-Life Week services to be held on campus Monday, April 5 through Thursday, April 8.

A graduate of North Central College and the Evangelical Theological Seminary, both in Naperville, Ill., Rev. Shaffer is now studying for his Ph.D. at the University of Chicago.

Rev. Eugene H. Barth, director of religious activities, announced that Rev. Shaffer would meet with smaller groups during the week, including faculty members. Chapel services will be held daily during Religion-in-Life Week, with Rev. Shaffer as speaker. In addition, he will also conduct four evening devotional services to which local ministers and members of their congregations will be invited. Informal discussion groups will follow these evening services, with fraternity groups acting as hosts at their respective houses.

Ivan Moyer Cast in Leading Role of Spring Play

The Domino Club's spring production will be presented before the public on April 1, 2, and 3 in the White Chapel. The play, entitled "Noah," was written by Andre Obey and was presented on Broadway several years ago, winning the acclaim of both audiences and critics. Mrs. Annadora Vesper Shirk will direct the production.

IVAN MOYER

Cast in the leading role as Noah is Ivan Moyer, '54, a member of Domino Club who has appeared in several previous major productions. He took part in the staging of "Goodbye My Fancy," "Mad Woman of Chailot" and "The Silver Whistle."

The theme of the play is Noah's famous ordeal told in the manner of a fairy tale. Noah, his wife, his three sons and three neighbor girls are aboard the Ark, embarking on a search for a brave, new world. When the rain is over, they rejoice over their good fortune in being able to begin anew. But a trace of the old world sin is still with them,

Sports Night at 7:30

The annual Sports Night events are scheduled to begin tonight at 7:30 in the gymnasium. All contestants are urged to be prompt so that the order of events may take place as planned.

The proceeds of Sports Night will be given to the World University Service Drive. Support WUS as you support your favorite team!

Student Council Votes To Change Mardi Gras Date

At a meeting of student council on Tuesday it was decided to change the date of Mardi Gras this year. It was previously scheduled for Friday, May 7, as the first event of Parents' Week-end. It was brought up that this week-end presented too much work for many of the participants and that if the date was changed, more time could be devoted to preparation for Mardi Gras. The new date is set for Friday, April 30. Student council had scheduled a dance for this date, so the two events have now been interchanged.

To Prepare Calendar

In an effort to prepare the college calendar in a manner that will alleviate many of the conflicts that now arise, it was suggested that council write to other colleges for suggestions as to how they organize their calendars. It was also announced that the National Student Association has asked the school if we would like to send books overseas. James Barrett, president, asked if this could be taken from the WUS fund to purchase these books.

At a recent meeting it was suggested that council ask the registrar's office to tell students the number of chapel cuts they have when the students ask. Dean Smith suggested that instead, council request that notices be sent out when the student has five cuts. It was also suggested that the master sheet for recording the cuts be placed in the glass case in the administration building.

Council Sponsors Assembly

Council will be in charge of three Thursday convocations in March. On March 4, the Pi Tau Beta fraternity will be in charge of the program. On March 18, Pi Alpha Tau and Phi Beta Mu sororities will present the assembly and the Glee Club will be in charge on March 25.

James Hall told council that Remington-Rand company has offered to give us three electric typewriters for student use. He investigated places where these could be placed, and it was found that

Dean Smith To Auction Items At Sports Night

Dean LeVan P. Smith will be auctioneer for the student-faculty auction to take place between boy's and girl's events at Sports Night, tonight. Such items as special late permissions for dormitory girls, dinner for two at a professor's home, home baked items, and chauffeur's service for a formal dance will be auctioned off to the highest bidder.

Mrs. Consuelo Jordan is in charge of the administration committee of the auction and Lorraine Wagner is student co-chairman.

Annjeannette Innis Chosen Queen; Carole Althouse Is Maid of Honor

To Rule Over May Day

ANNJEANNETTE INNIS

CAROLE ALTHOUSE

Announce Votes Cast By Approximately 250

Annjeannette Innis, '54, was selected to become the 1954 May Queen by an all campus election held earlier this week. Nancy Lou Walker, Mistress of Ceremonies for the May Day celebration, has announced. Carole Althouse, '54, will attend Miss Innis as Maid of Honor.

Approximately 250 students cast their votes to elect Miss Innis and Miss Althouse. A court of honor will also be selected by an all-campus vote on Monday and Tuesday of next week, March 1 and 2, to attend the queen. Six women will be chosen.

The Queen and her court will reign over the Parents' Week-end festivities, to be held May 8 and 9. She will be crowned at a special coronation ceremony on Saturday, May 8, by Margaret Israel Locher, Custodian of the Crown. The coronation will climax a program of ballet and May Pole dances staged by the underclass women. May Day is sponsored annually by the Women's Athletic Association.

Miss Innis, a graduate of Reading High School, is a liberal arts student. A brown-eyed blond, she is vice-president of the Phi Beta Mu sorority and the Domino Club and is a member of the Cue Staff and the Daywomen's Organization. She has taken part in many Domino Club productions.

Hailing from Lancaster, Miss Althouse is a graduate of Manheim Township High School and is majoring in medical technology. She is presently serving as treasurer of the Phi Beta Mu sorority, women's sports editor for the Cut, and secretary of Skull and Bones and Student Council. She is a member of Women's Dormitory Council, WAA, Women's Student Senate and the varsity women's basketball and hockey teams. Miss Althouse has light brown hair and green eyes.

Parents' Week-end Plans Initiated

Plans were initiated for the 1954 Parents' Week-end at the first committee meeting on Wednesday, February 24, James Hall, general chairman of the week-end, announced. The event is scheduled this year for Saturday and Sunday, May 8 and 9.

At a recent student council meeting it was decided to move the Mardi Gras date ahead one week, changing the date from May 7 to April 30. The rain date is set for May 7, however. The Parents' Week-end committee appointed William Davies and John Pettefman to act as co-chairmen of the Mardi Gras Committee.

Other committee heads include May Queen coronation, Nancy Lou Walker; banquet, Michelina Cacciola, Claire Speidel and Robert Bieler; music festival, David Lubba; worship service, Barbara Bubel and Max Neuscher. The committees are working in cooperation with Dr. Samuel Shirk and the Public Relations office.

James Hall issued a reminder to committee chairmen to submit their reports by Wednesday, March 3, as requested.

Six Male, Four Female Teams To Vie For Sports Trophies In Gym Tonight

The annual contest of muscles and skills is scheduled to get under way tonight at 7:30 in the physical education building, when ten campus groups enter their teams to vie for the Sports Night trophies.

Six men's organizations have submitted entries in tonight's events and four teams of girls will participate in the women's programs. Trophies will be awarded to the winning teams in both the men's and women's events by the Student Christian Association, which is the sponsor of Sports Night each year. Programs will be sold during the evening and the proceeds will be turned over to the World University Fund Drive.

Schedule Announced

Stella Tryka and Jean Dirmitt, co-chairmen for the women's program, have announced the schedule of events. It will include volleyball, badminton, ping-pong, hop, skip and jump and a relay race. The women's relay race, which will be given for the first time this year, will include all four teams and there will be one winner.

The program of events for the men has been announced by James Croke and Edward McNeill, who are serving as co-chairmen. It will run as follows: ping-pong, tug of war, horse and rider, high jump, leg wrestle, boxing and wrestling. Uncheerful Report

You have probably heard the statement "What's happened to our school spirit?" a million times, but there's no harm in asking it again. Where is it? The cheering at the football games was fair but it's down to near-nothingness at the basketball games.

Do Albright students think it's too much like high school to cheer at games? Is it silly or unsophisticated to let the team know that it has some support? Of course there will always be those who say they did their parts by cheering. These faithful fans usually sit near the cheerleaders and make some noise, but how about the rest of the students who sit and stare at the cheerleaders as they jump around in front of their section. These students are the ones whose facial expressions seem to say, "There go those girls making fools of themselves again. Why don't they sit down and keep quiet?" Yet these students would be the first to complain if the cheerleaders didn't show up. After all, those girls might like to come to the games all dressed up instead of wearing a uniform at every game. They cheer because they enjoy it, but it would be wonderful if the students would co-operate.

The Lebanon Valley game was a good example of what Albright's cheering should be all the time. It's not too late in the season to start a rebirth of school spirit, so how's about some loud cheering at Saturday night's game?—P.B.

TV And Element X

Most of the girls on the Albright campus get along fairly well with each other, but every once in a while the ideas of one group about what their best interests are runs afoul of another group's ideas, and there is a little trouble.

Recently the dorm women voted to buy a television set, to be placed in the daywomen's lounge, for the use of both groups. In theory, this was a fine idea. Since the dorm women would spend more time watching television than the day women, it was decided that the amount each woman was to contribute toward the purchase of the set would be greater for dorm women. Then the element X—that unknown element that lurks in the minds of all humans—reared its ugly head. People who had gone to classes together and double-dated together and suffered through finals together suddenly became incapable of understanding each other's motives.

The daywomen didn't feel any great need for a television set, and began to suspect that the only time their cooperation was requested was when money was involved. The dorm women, on the other hand, felt that since they are cooped up all evening in their rooms they needed a television set for relaxation when their work is done, and couldn't understand why the day women, who have comfortable, television-equipped homes in which to spend their evenings, weren't sympathetic to the idea.

Finally a few brave souls on each side tried to bring about a compromise, and discovered that this was a lot easier than they had thought. When all the viewpoints were brought out into the open and compared, the day and dorm girls found that they had been blaming each other for situations that neither could help.

The end result is that the dorm women will get their Milton Berle and Fireside Theatre in the evening and the daywomen will have the glorious opportunity of eating their lunch with Uncle Pete on TV every noon.

If innovations are on the agenda why couldn't this have been the initiate offering at a arena?

Now is the time for something to perk up this "not exactly winter but not quite spring" time of the year. Our list of suggestions would include tickets to see "Teahouse of the August Moon," an album by the fabulous ballad singer, Henry Belafonte, a copy of the newly published "Diary of a Writer" (in this case Virginia Woolf whose impressions in this quarter of a century view of the English literary world will no doubt become a classic), a "pop" record as haunting and reminiscent of spring, Paris, "la vie en rose" and all that as the theme from "Moulin Rouge"—ah, well, make mine sulphur and molasses, Joe, I'm going soft!

CURRENT TIDES—

Eggheads Labeled UnAmerican

By Ray Weitzel
 The reactionary and fascist trend in America is running the gamut of manifestations. Thus far, we have had guilt (of subversion) by reading, by accusation, by association, and now, finally, by guilt education. Not too long ago Representative Velde in opposing aid to libraries, said that education was the first step to socialism which, according to him, is "unAmerican."

Just recently, however, the author of the nationally syndicated unsigned column The National Observer carried this thinking to greater extremes when he came up with some startling conclusions as to why some Americans have been attracted to communism. As he puts it, they were "just not our kind of people." For one thing, they were "overeducated"; they simply "did not have the guts to get out of school and go to work." Generally "their lack of guts, their sense of insecurity, and their cowardice were demonstrated by their rush to accept government employment, just as they had been unhappily content with poor pay as collegiate instructors and beneficiaries of fellowship grants . . . They tossed Adam Smith out of the campus window in favor of Karl Marx . . . They were psychopathic, not true Americans."

Thus there is now being voiced more openly the anti-intellectualism which was subconsciously whispered in the use of the term egghead during the last presidential campaign. It is this same anti-intellectualism which is making the present generation of students fearful of reading controversial material, fearful of participating in open discussion, and fearful of participating in what broadly may be termed social reform movements.

Taking note of the column, the Michigan State College chapter of the American Association of University Professors has adopted the following resolution of censure:

The column . . . implicitly discredits the higher educational institutions of this country in their function of advancing and strengthening the cause of democracy, and repudiates the aim of the American tradition of education . . . casts a slur on the integrity of purpose of candidates for advanced degrees in every American educational institution . . . reflects unfavorably on all members of the academic profession, their aims, their loyalty, and their place within the American system . . . (and) by its use of biased language and

A dynamo running on A.C. 24 hours a day—that's Ivan Moyer, student director of musical activities and campus sparkplug. As student assistant in the Public Relations Office, Ivan has his own little desk facing the open doorway, where he can keep an eye on the passing parade. All rumors to the effect that Ivan sleeps in the top right-hand drawer of this desk are erroneous, and probably originate in the fact that Ivan can be found running around the Administration Building at all sorts of odd hours, attending to his many duties. No, Ivan lives in the APO house, where he relaxes in a busman's holiday sort of way by serving as corresponding secretary of the fraternity and editing its bulletin, the Announcer.

"Hey, gang!" is the call with which this Yorker shepherds his flocks of band, orchestra, glee club, and octet members, leading their feet in paths of harmony and keeping said feet out of hot water. On the recent Glee Club tour, Ivan in his nightshirt proved a great hit with high school audiences, getting dressed just in time to collaborate with one of the other "triplets" to produce the appropriate gestures for "We Kiss in a Shadow."

Ivan is a talented lad when it comes to dramatics. His brilliant interpretation of the role of Anna Hopeless in "Have a Leer, Rustic Anna," will long be remembered by this generation of Albrightians. The effect of the play relied heavily on the combination of his lusty voice and long, golden curls. He will soon be seen as Noah in the forthcoming Domino production of the same name.

As a pre-min, Ivan often thinks ahead to the day when he will have his own church. He has devised a method of making sure that his congregation arises promptly, en masse, to sing the hymns, but as it is not yet patented we are unable to divulge any further information. Pre-mins have to learn a lot of psych, and this suits Ivan perfectly, since one of his favorite hobbies is collecting the reactions of his friends to the famous ink-blot test.

Incidentally, Ivan claims, from the depths of his experience with PR mailing lists, that there is an astonishing number of APO's all over the country, which just goes to prove something.

Downwards And Backwards

By Erhart Lang

I walked into my class one day—
 The class was German three—
 And didn't know just what to say
 When I the prof did see.

My homework wasn't done at all
 And German I knew none.
 I knew that here my grades would fall
 For all I liked was fun.

The teacher knew this all too well;
 He tried to change my ways,
 But no improvement one could tell,
 My grades he would not raise.

I thought then of a wiser scheme
 My test grades to make good.
 I'd fill with German jokes my theme,
 For this one thing I could.

With jokes, then, I did fill each space—
 With many a cartoon.
 Among them was Herr Goethe's face
 An "A" it would fetch soon.

It wasn't long (perhaps three days)
 From when I Goethe drew;
 That I was making all my "A's"
 But was in German two!

Oops!

In response to our Who Said That article which featured this gem: "First rate! Capital! Ruddy! Now we shall see how Hector got her A."

To the Editors of the Albrightian:
 Like many worthies of antiquity Hector of Troy is reputed to have lisped, but it is not recorded as one of this noble warrior's feats that he pronounced his way into Hawthorne's Scarlet Letter, there to appear as the blighted Hester.

Note: Blighted, we have donned our scarlet I . . . for idiot.

Lions Close MASC League Play Tomorrow Night

By Jack Lewis

Foot In Mouth Department

"Open mouth and put foot in same," seems to be a rather strictly adhered to doctrine of late. No sooner does the Albrightian go to press with a commitment than the Lions lose a game to F&M. No matter what the cosmic forces were at Lancaster last Saturday night, they certainly clouded my crystal ball. The Diplomats were led by their gigantic center, Gus Lovett, who accounted for 29 of the Dips' 102 points during that ill-fated evening. Mike DePaul regained the scoring lead only to lose it again on Monday against Scranton. As of Monday night, Conrad was the leader with 358 points.

Lion Bait

Tomorrow night the Lions will seek a repeat victory over the visiting Moravian Greyhounds. Although the game at Bethlehem was close in figures, the game at the Lions Den should be a different story. The Lions have been hit hard of late, and are certain to be lying in wait for any unsuspecting prey—in this case the Greyhounds of Moravian.

Royals

A potential scorer that started scoring was the story as the Red and White journeyed into the coal regions on Monday. Bob Bessoir hit for 25 points, 15 of them on fouls, to lead the Royals to a 73-62 victory. George Conrad led the Lions with 23. This all but eliminated the Lions from the MASC race. It would remain for the Lions to beat Lebanon Valley, which is quite possible, but the Dutchmen would have to lose to Moravian, which is highly improbable.

Lassies In Action

The Lion Lassies have returned to active competition of late. Their first games were with Immaculata of Philadelphia and Ursinus. The girls had the misfortune of dropping both games. The game with Ursinus is easily explained, since they are offered a Physical Education curriculum at their Collegeville institution. The Lassies are in the process of rebuilding and cries of "wait till next year," are in order.

IC-4A's

Four Lion cindermen will journey to the big city tomorrow night. The annual indoor IC-4A's will be held in Madison Square Garden. Albright will make its contribution in the form of Rudy Becker, Mahlon Frankhauser, Bill Shirk and Harold Kretzing. Becker will compete in the 1,000 yard run, Frankhauser and Kretzing in the 600 yard run, and Shirk in the two mile. Time trials will be held first, and those with qualifying times will take part in the evening's contests.

Jay Vee Dedicated

The Lion JayVees have been escaping the public eye during the main part of the season. As has been the standard procedure in the past, the few lines given to a JV team are written at the bottom of the column and it is the bottom of the column that gets "snipped" when the column runs over at the printer's. So, if this column is not already too long, this is dedicated to the Lion Cubs.

Scranton Royals Prove True Miners By Dumping Lions

The Albright Lions suffered their third straight setback last Monday night at the hands of the Scranton Royals. The Lions scored first on Conrad's one pointer, and the rest of the first quarter was a see-saw battle in which the lead changed eleven times—the Royals finally led by one point at the end, 21-20.

The evening's high scorer, Bob Bessoir, scored all but one of his field goals in the first quarter, with the remainder of his 25 points coming on fouls. George Conrad was the Lions' high scorer with 23 points. He scored two field goals in each quarter and led the Lions to a 37-35 half time advantage. His 23 point onslaught raised his seasonal total of 358 points to regain the lead from DePaul, who was held to ten points.

Joe Fitt knotted the score at 37 all and then Joe Licata scored on a jump shot to put the hosts ahead to stay. The Royals led at the three-quarter mark, 56-49.

The loss evened the Lions' MASC record at two wins and two losses. They met Lebanon Valley and will meet the Moravian Greyhounds tomorrow night to finish the season's MASC play.

The Baby Lions dropped their third straight contest also, 65-56. Ron Pisano was the evening's high scorer with 19 points, followed by Ron Bernhardt with 12.

St. Joseph Hawks Halt Lion Five; DePaul Nets 15

A classy St. Joseph's basketball team had too much strength for Albright to compete with, as the Lions went down to defeat, 85-62.

The Philadelphians scored first on a quick break, with captain Jack Heller scoring. Seconds later, George Conrad tied it up with one of his patented jump shots, and, as the Hawks came upcourt, Jim Croke stole the ball and sank a driving layup to put the Lions ahead for the only time in the game, 4-2. They led until about the middle of the period, when a push shot by Bill Lynch knotted the count at 11-all. His foul shot a minute later put St. Joe's in the lead momentarily, but Croke's free throw tied it up again, 12-12. Heller's one-hander then put the Hawks in the lead for good, 14-12.

St. Joseph's led, 18-12, at the end of the initial period, and 42-32 at halftime. In the third stanza they outscored the Red and White, 24-13, and really broke the game wide open.

Leo Breslin was high scorer for the victors with 28 points, followed by Lynch and Wally Nowacki with 11. Mike De Paul led the Gulianmen with 15 markers, trailed by Conrad with 14 and Bruce Riddell with 13.

In the preliminary encounter, the Lion Cubs went down to defeat at the hands of the St. Joe's Freshmen, 61-53. Ray Radzishewski was high for the Baby Hawks with 18 counters, while Dan Dougherty had 14 and Joe Ceremsak had 12. Bernie Krick was the only Lion in double figures, with 11 points.

UNSUNG HEROES

Here's a different shot of Albright's athletic program. It shows the fast and furious action of the unsung heroes, the IM basketball players. Here, Lowell Perry is going in for a layup, guarded closely by, all IM, guards of the week, Fredric Hess and Arthur Bellisio. The Zetas are the current leaders in both leagues.

Towering Dips Outscore G-Men

At Lancaster last Saturday night, Albright College's fighting Lions went down to defeat at the hands of Franklin and Marshall College's Diplomats, 102-75. The Dips had too much height for the Red and White to cope with, most of it in the person of six foot, seven-inch Gus (Goon) Lovett, the nation's second leading rebounder.

Albright scored first and took a quick 4-0 lead on two quick jump shots by Mike De Paul. Lovett came back with a pair of layups and, when Kenny Davis and Jim Croke matched foul shots, the score was tied at 5-all. Hen Eberle's push shot then put F & M out in front for good.

Lovett, playing perhaps his best game of the season, scored 11 points in the first period, and 23 in the first half. Five Diplomats scored in double figures, Lovett leading with 29, and followed by Lee Pitcock with 21, Davis with 18, and Eberle and Dale Ryan with 11 each. Mike De Paul was high for the Readingites with 25 tallies, while Bruce Riddell had 15 and George Conrad 14. DePaul was mainly responsible for keeping the Lions in the game in the first period, accounting for 12 of his 25 points.

In the opening game, the F & M Freshmen outscored the Lion Cubs, 65-56. Rudy Koenig, former Reading High star, was high scorer for the victors with 18 markers, trailed by Bill Schiff with 15. Myron Hallock led the Red and White cause with 14 points, followed by Ron Pisano with 12. Herb Levine, who tallied all of his points in the second period, was third with 9 markers.

Lions Hope To Repeat Win Over Moravian

Greyhounds' Size Main Problem For Lion Five

Albright College will close out the Middle Atlantic States Conference tomorrow night against Moravian College on the home court. The game is scheduled for 8:30. Going into this week's action the Lions posted a 2-1 record in the league, with wins over Moravian and Scranton and an extra period loss to Lebanon Valley, who leads MASC competition.

The game against the Greyhounds will climax a rather full week's action that had the Lions visiting Scranton on Monday and Lebanon Valley on Thursday. All the games were conference games. Before entering the week's activities, the Albright record stood at ten wins and ten losses.

The Gulianmen pulled out a close game against Moravian 70-66 on the loser's court, in a game that saw both teams see-saw the lead back and forth. Jim Croke's field goal put the Lions out in front 66-64, and then two fouls each by Mike DePaul and Bernie Seaman iced the game in the waning seconds.

Mike DePaul hit the nets for 25 points at Bethlehem to take the high scoring honors. Jim Smith was high with 17 for the Greyhounds. Bruce Riddell was second for the Red and White with 15 and George Conrad and Jim Croke had 11 and nine respectively.

Coach Howard Gillespie's Greyhounds will bring a tall team to Albright to battle the Lions. His center, Dick Palenchar, is six-five and guards Dick Zahn and Russ Fegely, a former Reading High athlete, are six-six and six-three respectively. To team with these towering players, the Greyhounds have Bob Jones and Jim Smith at the forward posts. These two accounted for 28 of Moravian's points in the earlier meeting.

Albright will counter with their high scoring sophomore forward, DePaul and Conrad, freshmen Riddell and Foreman, and their alert senior captain, Jim Croke. DePaul took the high scoring lead from Conrad in the Franklin and Marshall game by scoring 25 points to raise his total to 337, two points higher than Conrad. Riddell raised his total to 239. Foreman has 159 and Croke has 107. DePaul and Conrad are sporting averages per game of nearly 17.

The Lion J.V.'s will be trying to improve on their overall 4-12 record this week as well as their 1-2 MASC league record. The Lion Cubs lost 77-71 to Moravian in the last meeting. John Schiavo was high scorer with 12 markers and three other teammates scored ten.

Albright will close out its 1953-54 basketball schedule next week against Lehigh and Franklin and Marshall, with both games on the home court. Starting lineup:

Albright	Moravian
DePaul	F
Conrad	F
Riddell	C
Foreman	G
Croke	G

Zeta "A" met the Gayblades, the Warriors "A" played against the APO "A" and the PiTau "A" took on the Kappa "A." In the other loop the Zeta "B" attempted to keep its slate clean against the warriors while the Stags and Kappa "B" played for a second win.

there was no place on campus where the three of them could be put for all-student use. It was suggested that one be placed in Dean Morton's office and another one in the recreation room of Albright Court Apartments. They would have to be placed where they could be supervised, for the students would be responsible for them. Members of council would supervise their use in the designated areas. The company would send a representative to give instructions on the use of the machines.

The East Lansing professors are properly concerned about the growing campaign against college professors, scientists, and various unclassified eggheads. There is no comfort in the thought that the Nazis shared the National Observer's distaste for "overeducation."

Mr. David Levering Explains Student Activity In India

"The purpose of the Albright drive for the World University Service this week is to help the students of India to help themselves," said Mr. David Levering, regional director and secretary of the New York and Middle Atlantic Conference, who spoke to Y last Tuesday, February 23. Mr. Levering has traveled extensively throughout Asia and especially in India and told many personal experiences with the students of foreign universities.

In telling about student activity in India, Mr. Levering said that college young people are faced with the tremendous responsibility of leadership. It is impossible for them to prepare themselves adequately because of the insufficient facilities for preparations. Mr. Levering stated that in one university economics class four of the forty students had textbooks. Inadequate material is one of the many problems that exist. Communism, another, has planted its roots among the university students.

"As a result of six years of work, the first TB sanatorium in Japan will open this spring. This is only one of the many remarkable achievements accomplished through WUS. It takes a long time to see results, but it is the quality and not the quantity that counts."

"Through WUS we can give the students of India a chance to meet their problems, not in material wealth but rather to cut barriers in race, religion, and nationality.

Doctor To Address Y

"Love, Sex, and Marriage," is the topic of Dr. Dorothy Cleppinger's talk at the Y meeting Tuesday, March 3 in the lower social room at 7:45 p. m. Dr. Cleppinger, a medical doctor from Kutztown, was on campus last year when she spoke to the same group.

Lucy Schuman and Jonathan Kurtz, both '57, are in charge of the game night planned for the Y program on March 9 in Krause Hall.

for Noah's son, Ham, begins to doubt. He voices his skepticism to his father and to the others.

"Noah" then becomes the story of a kindly, simple old man who grows lonely in his faith, pilots his craft to shore in the midst of doubts and is deserted by the young folks when they reach shore. At last he is forced to conclude that God is not "sportsmanlike" in His treatment of His appointed agent. In the closing seconds, from the heavens comes the answer to his despair.

Guest Speaker Is Featured In Thursday WUS Assembly

Students Urged To Support WUS

Students still have an opportunity to contribute to the World University Service Fund Drive, which closes tomorrow, Saturday, February 27. Containers for donations are placed in the Sub, and the offices of the treasurer, registrar and public relations. Proceeds from the Sports Night programs and refreshments will be added to the WUS goal of $400.00.

Fraternities, sororities and other organizations have contributed to WUS. Representatives soliciting the student body are: Elizabeth Wellenmann, Mary Wolf, Stella Tryka, Jean Dirmitt, Barbara Topken and Jeanne Palm, in the girls dormitory; Raymond Horan and Robert Fox in the boys dormitory; Paul Hetrick for the daymen; and Helen Schoener and Patricia Rentschler for the daywomen.

A collection will be taken tomorrow night at Sports Night for the purpose of meeting the designated goal. This campaign will not be a success without the support of every student.

In conjunction with the WUS drive this week, student council and the Y's presented Albrecht Bendziula as guest speaker at the convocation yesterday.

Mr. Bendziula has served as secretary of the WUS National Committee in Germany since July, 1952, and has been closely connected with the needs of refugee students attending universities or living in refugee camps throughout Western Germany. As the administrator of a program which aids some 2000 refugee students from Eastern European countries, Mr. Bendziula is familiar with the problems raised by the influx into Germany of these refugee peoples.

In addition to administering a refugee aid program, his work includes raising funds and planning conferences, seminars, educational travels and executive meetings.

Active in WUS since it was organized in Germany during the post-war period, Mr. Bendziula has recently been elected to membership on the National Committee, to which he had belonged in an ex-officio capacity as secretary. He has participated in two WUS General Assemblies, one in 1952 and the other in 1953; he is also a member of the international WUS Program Committee.

A student in psychology, Mr. Bendziula needs only to complete an internship training period before receiving his diploma. He studied at the University of Berlin in East Berlin in 1946 and 1947 before leaving the Eastern sector on twenty-four hours notice for political reasons. He completed his studies at the University of Munster. Mr. Bendziula has traveled throughout Scandinavia and almost all the countries of Western Europe. This is his first visit to America, and he will be the guest of many colleges while he is here.

On Tuesday, March 2, Rev. Rollin T. Reiner, pastor of the West Lawn E.U.B. Church will be the chapel speaker. The Pi Tau Beta fraternity is in charge of the Thursday convocation service.
