DOCTOR TEEL WILL SPEAK

Bi-centennial Dinner Will Take Place in College Dining Room; Cafeteria Opened Outdoors

What with rehearsal programs and advertising campaigns being put into action, the Albright College Washington Bi-centennial Pageant is rapidly whipping into shape. The following detailed outline of the early part of the celebration indicates some of the first fruits of the combined efforts of Chairman Elmer L. Mohn and his co-workers.

The Afternoon Program

The Washington Bi-centennial Program of the Albright College Alumni Association, to be conducted in conjunction with the Reading-Berks County Commission, will open on the afternoon of June 4th at 4:00 P. M. with a formal program in charge of Mr. E. L. Mohn, President of the Alumni Association. After the invocation by Dr. J. Warren Klein, Vice-President and Treasurer of the College, there will be addresses by Mr. J. O. Haines, speaking for the Reading-Berks County Bi-centennial Commission, of which he is President, and Mr. Heber Ermentrout, Mayor of the City of Reading. Following this Miss Margaret Gerberich, Instructor of Vocal Music, will sing "America, the Beautiful," accompanied by Prof. Theodore Hunt, Instructor in Instrumental Music. Dr. W. F. Martin Luther Film Presented in Chapel

Musical Accompaniment Interpreted by Mrs. T. A. Hunt

On Tuesday evening, April 26, Albright students witnessed the presentation of a motion picture of historic and religious interest, in the college chapel. Prof. Albright of the church history department of the seminary was instrumental in bringing the picture, "Martin Luther," to the campus.

Prof. Hamilton of the college history department welcomed the guests and introduced the subject of the motion picture in a short speech which preceded the presentation of the film. The picture, an eight-reel film of unusual historic interest, dealt intimately with the life and work of the great church reformer. The toil and stress of Luther's early life, together with a clear representation of his desire to learn the great truths, were the subjects of the first few reels. The film further dealt with the bitter fight which Luther had with the priestly thieves who sold indulgences, and with his ultimate success and glory.

The presentation of the picture was rendered particularly interesting by a musical accompaniment which was interpreted by Mrs. T. A. Hunt at the piano.

Frosh Debaters To Contest Muhlenberg by Radio

Will Broadcast Over Station WEEU, 3:30 to 4:00 p.m., on Friday, May 6th

An event of primary significance will take place Friday, May 6, when the Albright Freshmen debaters engage the Muhlenberg Freshmen in a radio debate. This is the first radio debate for Albrightians and the event is being anticipated with keen interest.

The debate will be broadcast over station WEEU of Reading from 3:30 to 4 P. M. Each debate team will present three speakers. The first two speakers will present the construction arguments in four-minute speeches.

The third member of each team was given a rebuttal speech of four minutes duration. This is not the Oregon plan of debate procedure, as the debate is being adapted to broadcast purposes.

Donald V. Hock, student coach of the Muhlenberg Freshmen Debaters, will preside as chairman of the debate. The three Albright speakers will be selected by debate coach Dr. Houck from the following Freshmen, Elliot Goldstein, Bernard Levin, J. Guldin Rader, Lester Stabler, Alfred Kuhn and Mildred Rothmel.

Criminology Class Visits Phila. Prisons

Group Afforded Opportunity To Make Contrast of Systems

On Saturday, the Criminology Class under the leadership of Dr. Greth took a trip to visit the prisons of Philadelphia. About 25 members of the class composed the party. The trip was made by bus.

The trip afforded the class an excellent contrast in former and present prisons and the old and new systems of handling the convicts. The group first visited the new penitentiary at Graterford. This plant covers 67 acres and is at present under construction, being about half finished. Everything was modern in this prison.

A sharp contrast was provided by the visit to the old Eastern Penitentiary at Philadelphia. This prison is a typical example of old prisons and poor equipment. The prison covers but 11 acres and houses 1302 criminals compared with the 1600 prisoners in custody at Graterford. The class pronounced the trip both interesting and educational.

Dean G. Walton Addresses Conf. of the Evan. Churches

Eighty-fourth Annual Session of New York Conference Held at Rochester, New York

The 84th annual session of the New York Conference of the Evangelical Church was held at Rochester, N. Y., in the First Evangelical Church of that city. The session extended from Thursday until Sunday.

Dean George Walton attended the conference as a representative of Albright College while Dean Roger A. Kratz represented the Albright School of Theology. The New York Conference has only recently been included in the territory of Albright College, as the New York section had previously been affiliated with North Central College. The conference manifested a fine feeling of interest and response to the appeals of Albright College.

On Saturday evening the Albright Brotherhood of the Conference met in their annual banquet in the conference church with 250 members present. Dean Walton gave the principle address of the evening on the topic "The Measure of Men." Dean Kratz delivered the Sunday evening sermon in the conference church.

Quill Club Holds Election of Officers

Rudolf Shook Elected President of the Organization

The regular meeting of the Quill Club was held Tuesday evening for election of officers and initiation of new members. Because of the inefficient way room assignments are handled and the utter lack of class and club precedence, the meeting had to be held in a classroom of the Administration Building. This inadequacy of the meeting place meant that the program, for which elaborate plans had been made, necessarily had to be changed and made very informal. Those who are new, but full-fledged Quillsters are Bernard Levin, Ida Gamo, Esther Fonliss, Edith Smith, Gladys Novaky, Constance Doty Lucille Littlefield, Harold Krohn, Vaughn Herbert, and John Wyle.

Dr. D. L. Marsh To Address the Albright Grads

Baccalaureate Service Held in Christ Evangelical Church; Rev. Schlegel, Speaker

Daniel L. Marsh, D.D., LL.D., Litt.D., L.H.D., president of Boston University, will be the orator at the commencement exercises of Albright College, on Monday, June 6.

Dr. Marsh is a graduate of Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., and several other universities. Previous to his election as president of Boston University in 1926, he served as pastor and district superintendent of Methodist churches in the Pittsburgh area. He is the author of "Higher Education Plus the Highest Education," and numerous other works.

Schlegel Baccalaureate Speaker

The baccalaureate service this year will be held in Christ Evangelical church, Rev. G. F. Schaum, pastor, on Sunday, June 5. The sermon will be preached by Rev. H. Franklin Schlegel, Ph.D., pastor of the Evangelical church at Perkasie, who is secretary of the trustee board of the college, and chairman of the executive committee.

Founders' Day will be observed with a special chapel service Monday, May 9, with Rev. A. F. Weaver as the guest speaker. Rev. Weaver is a district superintendent in the Central Pennsylvania conference of the Evangelical church and is a member of the board of trustees and the executive committee.

Sigma Tau Delta Will Hold Open Meeting on May 4

National English Fraternity Will Hear Address of Pageant Production in the High School

In keeping with its program of enriching the minds and adding to the resources of the members of the teaching profession, Sigma Tau Delta, National Professional English Fraternity on this campus, invites all prospective English teachers and other interested friends to its May 4 "open" meeting in Selwyn Social Room at which Mr. William L. Fink will address the group on the subject Pageant Production in the High School.

Forms Commencement Pageant

Mr. Fink, who is Head of the English Department of the Reading Public Schools, is widely known for his substitution of the Commencement Pageant for the old formalized diploma award which was heavily weighted with much speech-making. With his efficient corps of workers, Mr. Fink has directed from the writing to the final production four very successful pageants; and he is at present working on one to be presented by the Senior Class in June.

FRIDAY CHAPEL

The advanced vocal students of Miss Margaret Gerberich plan to give a recital in the college chapel on Friday morning, May 6. Those who will sing in this concert are Mildred Wissinger, Emily Yocum, Irma Stahl, Seniors; Cynthia Wallace, Juniors; Sarah Hoffman, Sophomores; Harold Heckler, Freshman.

"The Enemy" To Be Presented in the NE Junior High School

Dominoes Will Present Final Production Thursday evening, May 12 at 8 o'clock

NO ADMISSION CHARGED

War Drama Will Be Supported by Excellent Cast

A request that students keep the date May 12 open, is being made by the Domino Club. Their final presentation for the year, Channing Pollock's play "THE ENEMY," will be given in the Northeast Junior High School. Those who have been working in conjunction with the production report it to be one of the mightiest dramatic efforts ever attempted in the field of drama on the Albright campus. The play is a drama which enacts the scene of events bordering on the World War and not only provides a fine brand of entertainment but gives a true concept of the historical significances attached therewith.

Miss Shaffer has chosen a splendid cast to support the play. Sally Varner enacting the role of Pauli Arndt, an innocent victim of the circumstances evolving from the World War. John Wyle, as Carl Behrend, a promising young author and the husband of Pauli. Carl Gunther portraying the character of Professor Arndt, a pacifist, the father of Pauli. Allan McCavill as August Behrend, gives a fine presentation as the unrelenting and over-patriotic father of Carl. Other prominent roles are taken by Richard Rader, as Bruce Gordon, an Englishman; Dolores Marconi, as Barushka, a servant girl; Flora Lobb, as Mitzi, Pauli's friend; Howard Mayer, as Fritz, a journalist and husband of Mitzi; Marshall Breneman, as Jan, friend and servant to Carl.

In as much as there will be no admission charged to see the play, the club urges that all students make an effort to be present Thursday evening at 8:00 o'clock, May 12.

Y. M. and Y. W. To Publish New Frosh Handbook

Reba Topper Appointed Editor-in-Chief; L. Stabler Named Business Manager

This year the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. organizations plan to publish a new and improved handbook for the incoming Freshmen class. Both Schuyllkill and Albright published very good books before the merger but since then the type of books has not been notable.

Reba Topper has been appointed editor-in-chief of the book by Presidents Irene Fray and Leroy Brining, and Lester Stabler is the business manager. The associate editor is Catherine Yerkes, while Dorcas Haines, Ralph Weigle and Mark Feister compose the remainder of the staff.

The handbook will contain all the information necessary for the new Freshman. The handbooks of many neighboring colleges are being studied in an attempt to gain new ideas and find the best methods. As this is the first of the larger handbooks for the new Albright the staff hopes to make it of a high standard that may be followed in the publication of future books.

ELECTIONS

The Student Council publishes a plan to remedy the "irregularities" of student elections. We are in hearty agreement with their aim but at the same time common sense shows that this is out of the realm of possibility. We are pessimistic enough to believe we will always have irregularities in college elections as long as we have divergent individual or group opinion. A group parallel can be drawn with civic politics. Everyone thinks political elections etc. are not on the up-and-up but a fool-proof solution is yet in the distant future. It seems an accepted fact that we have questionable elections at Albright, so we conclude that the remedy is far from being a simple matter.

The plea to select "the best man" is time-worn and useless here. For most campus offices there are usually several prospects, each capable of filling the position. The resulting selection is bound to be received favorably and unfavorably.

What we do advise though is individual opinion. Each student should vote only for that candidate who he, himself, thinks is the most deserving. Especially in the more important student positions does this hold. For example consider the religious organizations of our school. These organizations do more to promote the finer things on our campus than any other student group. If the student body permits irregularities in the selection of student religious leaders, it is not only beginning an abominable practice but is also working against its best interest. For every organization students should seriously consider the selection of group leaders. Campus life, college spirit in its broad interpretation, and any other phase of college life is made worthwhile or of little value depending on the student leaders. Campus elections are not the comedy relief of our college days but they do present an opportunity for student discernment. Therefore, we hope the Student Council or some agency will gradually eliminate any existing evils in Albright elections. —Editor.

LIVES AND LETTERS

By Rudolf Shook

I have often wondered that the story of Job has not been used more frequently in fiction. It is unquestionably one of the greatest dramas ever written and it is so very human, to be banal, that it is almost sure-fire. But Joseph Roth in his Job: The Story of a Simple Man avoids its natural tendency to become sugary or melodramatic. He achieves what is, to day, almost a miracle in making his story really touching, yet never saccharine. The modern Job is Mendel Singer, a patient Jewish teacher in Russia. His children are, unflatteringly enough, the scourge God has sent upon him. His sons leave him, one to go to war, the other to escape it, and when his handsome daughter starts going with Cossacks he and his wife have to take her to America and leave their pitiful epileptic son in the care of Neighbours. He loses a son in the War, his wife dies, his daughter becomes insane and he is certain that the little, epileptic and his brother have perished. As in the old story, he denounces God. In the end there is a miracle when a famous musician comes to the feast of the Passover in a small Ghetto house, and Mendel finds again his once epileptic son. The old man's faith is renewed, he praises the inscrutability of God's plan, and dies happy.

The charm of this simple story lies in its warmth and the simplicity of its people. There is not a single new situation (indeed it is surprising to see a device so conventional is the long-lost son returning at the Feast used.) We see a simple man living a simple and monotonous life. The beauty of his patient nature shines like a light above it all, and it seems hard to the reader too, that so much sorrow must be heaped upon him. The scenes that Mr. Roth uses again are given a new beauty. Mendel entering the fashionable hostelry recalls Kringlein in the Grand Hotel, but the picture is invested with a new feeling. The other scenes, though not original are given a similar turn that make them Mr. Roth's own. This book is beautifully written, with a style particularly suitable to the theme. Often, especially in the earlier part of the book, it reads like what Miss Amy Lowell called "polyphonic prose."

SPORT LIGHTS

(By Alan McCarroll, '32)

All quiet on the Albright front. With the exception of the inter-class ball games which got under way last Wednesday, the athletics were confined to practice only.

In the inter-class soft-ball games the competition and interest is keen. The Seniors won easily from the Freshmen, while the Sophomores were beating the Juniors, in a see-saw game 23-22. It was said facetiously that Burger held the Juniors to a mere 22 runs. The hard ball games also interesting will be little more than a practice for the Freshmen who have been practicing together all season, working out with the varsity squad. The game between the Sophs and Juniors in hard-ball was great sport and it was difficult to judge whether the players or the spectators had the better time.

The tennis team remained idle as did the ball club getting ready for double headers next week. The track men were unable to round into shape last week and Coach White deemed it inadvisable to send any representatives to the Penn Relays.

As usual the Penn Relays attracted much attention and many of the countries leading runners participated. The U. of P. Relay team established a new carnival record in the mile in the remarkable time of 3 min. 13.7 sec. The world's record in this event is 3 min. 13.7 sec. made in the Olympics four years ago by America's four best quarter-milers. Munger of Penn won the Decathlon replacing Barney Berlinger also of Penn, who held the crown for three consecutive years. Barney, of course, graduated last year and was not in the meet. Keller, of Ohio, showed brilliant form running anchor man in the shuttle hurdles, coming from behind to win by ten yards at the finish. This carnival is held every year at Philadelphia and is open to Colleges, Prep Schools and High Schools. It will be remembered by many that Albright won the mile relay for Class B Colleges five years ago.

The indoor sports will be active this week with the chess team meeting Temple at Philadelphia in a return match, and the Seniors meeting the Carnegie exams for a strenuous struggle in the Chapel.

Future Contests for Athletes Listed

Baseball, Track, Tennis Squads in Fine Fettle for Strong Opposition

Looking ahead we find the Red and White athletes rather active during the week. Coach Smith's ball players will meet opponents on Friday and Saturday. Seton Hall at South Orange followed by a game at Philadelphia with the Philadelphia School of Osteopathy, which will furnish plenty of competition for the Lions. Seton Hall is especially strong. Luke Wenrich is slated to pitch against Seton Hall and Joe Betz will probably hurl the sphere against the Osteopaths with "Bobo" Brookes in reserve if anything goes wrong on either day.

The tennis squad journeys to Villanova for a match on Tuesday. Villanova has won several matches this year and is primed for the clash. The outcome of this tournament will give a sidelight on the real power of the Albright team. On Wednesday Muhlenberg visits Reading for a match.

Albright tennis teams have subdued the Allentown teams on several occasions in the past and are expected to duplicate their previous performances.

Slowly getting into shape the track team will undoubtedly be ready to cop the meet next Saturday, May 7, with the Shippensburg College, at Shippensburg. The Lions are exceptionally strong in the field events and will pile up a substantial lead in these events and if the runners are able to round into form the team will have little difficulty winning the meet.

The intra-mural sports, of course, continue with soft-ball games on Monday and Wednesday and hard-ball games on Tuesday and Thursday.

P. A. T. Sorority Leads Y.W. Meeting

The Pi Alpha Tau Sorority conducted the regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. on Wednesday evening in the "Y" room of Selwyn Hall. Sally Varner, who presided at the meeting, read the Scripture and led in prayer.

Miss Shaffer led the discussion for the evening. She read an article on "Drink," written by a young man who has travelled extensively and visited a considerable number of colleges, in which the evils of drink are discussed. The article was written for a college girl and therefore it was quite fitting.

Class Leagues Play Initial Contests

Sophs and Frosh Win Hardball Games; Sophs and Seniors Are Softball Victors

The hard and soft ball season opened with a bang last week in the Stadium. On Tuesday night in the soft ball league the Seniors took the Frosh into camp to the tune of 10-5 and the Sophs came through in the closing minutes to win over the Juniors 23-22. Thursday evening the hard ball league opened with two interesting games. The Seniors found the going too tough and gave up to the Frosh in the fourth inning with the score standing 17-2. "Airdale" McGovern was tossing airtight ball and was touched for only one hit which was a home run by Eddis Andrews with one man on. The Sophs with McNaughton on the mound and Cwiklinski on the receiving end proved invincible to the Juniors. The Sophs pounded Russ Bonney and Al Dittmann for eleven runs in six innings when Franny Hatton called the game because of darkness. The final score was 11-1 in favor of the second year men.

This week we find the Seniors playing the Juniors, and the Sophs and the Frosh on Monday night in the soft ball league and on Wednesday night the Seniors tangling with the Sophs, and the Juniors vs. Frosh. In the hard ball league on Tuesday night the Seniors playing the second year men, and the Juniors vs. Frosh.

Bible Class Notes

The Albright College Bible Class was in charge of the new President, Edwin Minnich. Leroy Brininger led the singing while Irene Fray played the organ. Ralph Kresge led in the opening prayer. The Scripture lesson was read by Harry Humphreys and Robert Boyer collected the offering.

Professor Smith discussed the lesson for the morning which concerned the inheritance of Isaac from his father Abraham. He stressed the fact that we should give our children a spiritual rather than a financial inheritance.

With Selwyn Hall as a setting representing Mt. Vernon, the episode will picture an artist's conception of the home of Washington on the day when he leaves to attend the meeting of the House of Burgesses of Virginia, which is to hold its session in Williamsburg.

Shortly after the episode is ended, the Bi-centennial Dinner will take place in the Dining Room of the College. Since the space is somewhat limited, a cafeteria will be opened outdoors in front of the College Chapel. Various concession booths will be located on the campus in order to provide for those who wish to attend the evening program without returning to their homes.

Keep a Regular TELEPHONE Date with Home

HERE'S A TIP for Freshman! Now you're at college, you can always "go home by telephone."

Regularly, or whenever you like, give Mother and Dad a call.

Tonight, for instance, pay them a "voice visit." Tell them how you're settling down. What a thrill they'll have to hear your voice—and maybe you won't enjoy it, too!

But, best of all, arrange to call home each week. That's a joy they'll look forward to as much as you.

FOR THE LOWEST COST AND GREATEST EASE

Set your "date" for after 8.30 P. M. and take advantage of the low Night Rates. (A dollar call is 60c at night; a 50c call is 35c.)

By making a date the folks will be at home. Thus you can make a Station to Station call rather than a more expensive Person to Person call.

Just give the operator your home telephone number. If you like, the charges can be reversed!

MENTAL HYGIENE

MENTAL DISEASE NOT A DISGRACE

Those better informed no longer believe that mental disease carries unpleasant implications or that the insane are possessed of devils, but some unfortunate ideas of mental disease still prevail. Especially harmful is the notion that mental illness is a disgrace and that a stigma attaches to those who require treatment in mental hospitals.

Mental disease is no more blame worthy than physical disease. Most physical disorders produce mental symptoms, such as irritability, peevishness, delirium, or depression, and when these occur no one thinks either of disgrace or stigma. In what people call insanity the symptoms are, as a rule, exaggerations of normal behavior or mood. Generally the condition comes through no direct act of the individual. Why, then, the thought of reproach? Why consider stigma.

Through education and experience the people have corrected false ideas regarding general hospitals. They no longer dread them but make use of their facilities with increasing frequency and with growing confidence. No one thinks there is odium attached to treatment in a general hospital for surgical operations, or for pneumonia, typhoid fever or other physical diseases, why should there be any such thought regarding treatment in a hospital for mental diseases simply because the sickness affects the brain? People now realize that mental and physical disease are regrettable conditions which should be prevented, and that when they occur, both should be promptly treated and the sufferer afforded every possible assistance, encouragement, and support, and without thought of reproach in either condition.

False notions of mental disease cause much unhappiness to the families of patients and result in positive harm to the patients themselves, for frequently needed help is not promptly procured. Secrecy and indecision often prevail and valuable time is lost by delay. Mental disease does not usually come out of a clear sky. Its development is usually gradual and, as in tuberculosis, early treatment produces the best results. In many cases serious attacks have been prevented because the patient at the beginning of his mental difficulty was wise enough or fortunate enough, to obtain and follow sound advice.

The nominees for new officers had been selected by the retiring officers, and were presented to the club. The nominees for President were Rudolf Shook and Alyce Ware; for vice-president, Pessie Knoblauch and Reba Topper; for Secretary, Ida Giamo and Edith Smith; for Treasurer, John Wyle and Esther Fenili. Rudolf Shook received the Presidency without a vote being taken by the declaration of Alyce Ware as nominee. The results of the voting were: Vice-president, Reba Topper; Secretary, Ida Giamo; and Treasurer, Esther Fenili. The next meeting will be held in two weeks and plans will be made for a social affair this semester.

Dr. Robert Legge describes the males of the University of California as the "poorest dressed men in the country," and condemns cordurays as "greasy bacteria carriers." A coed is also quoted: "I think the men's trousers are so masculine! I don't know what they would do without them."

The Seniors are welcome to their three-day vacation from classes. Who wants to take Carnegies anyway?

You know the criminology class visited the Eastern Penitentiary on Saturday. By unanimous vote the members of the class decided that the meals at Albright were a little better than those served there.

The oldest couple on the campus is "Dodo" and "Eddie," and the youngest, we hear, is Karlovich and Myrtle Siegfried.

Some one has asked if the telegraph pole on the upper campus was the gift of the class of '32.

Poor "Bo" worried enough Friday night at the Prom to get a beautiful head of gray hair. Don't lose faith "Brookie." You'll get your reward in the committee chairman's heaven.

Rumors and more rumors! The lake may get its annual cleaning. Not that it needs it!

Chances are Albright may develop some good Davis Cup Pretenders. Even "Winnie" was at aSturday.
