Who's Who Again Voted Down By Albright Student Council

Himmelstein And Heck To Be NSA Delegates; Dinner For February Graduates To Be Held

Action taken by Student Council last Tuesday centered chiefly in the defeat of a motion to reinstitute Who's Who honors and in further discussion of the proposed constitution.

Prof. Clyde Harding, reporting on information gathered last year when Council dropped Who's Who, said that it is directed by an organization interested primarily in the commercial advantage of selling the book. It has no purpose, he declared, except the idea that outstanding students get their names in a book. A letter sent last year to the editor of the book, asking how widely it was circulated among business concerns and libraries, received no answer.

Council accordingly voted for the second year in a row not to select any students for inclusion in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

A letter was read from H. R. Decker, Chairman of the Americanization and Patriotic Education Committee of the Pennsylvania Sons of the American Revolution, asking for information about "any teaching . . . which might be considered in the nature of propaganda for a socialistic, communistic or totalitarian government." The matter was referred to a committee which is to ascertain the nature and purpose of the organization.

Raymond C. Schlegel, Council president, reported on the Student Government Clinic which he attended at Muhlenberg College last Saturday. He also announced the appointment of Marilyn Himmelstein and William A. Heck as delegates to the regional N.S.A. convention in Philadelphia from December, 15-17.

John Wise moved that Council hold a dinner in February for the Council members and January graduates. A sum of money was appropriated for the Men-in-Service Committee. At present 17 Albright men have left since September for the armed forces.

Council accepted an offer from the Civic Opera Society of Reading to provide tickets at a reduced price for their production this evening and tomorrow. Students who wish to take advantage of this are asked to contact Schlegel.

Marilyn Himmelstein, chairman of the Social Committee, reported that tonight's dance in Union Hall has been cancelled.

Discussion on the constitution was led by Russell F. Weigley, committee chairman.

The Council approved the part of the constitution dealing with the duties of members and the opening of meetings to non-members on a non-voting basis. It was agreed that committee chairmen could appoint members to their groups from the entire student body.

Albright to Debate Lafayette College

There will be a debate against Lafayette College tonight at 8 o'clock in room 201. Ray Weitzel and Francis Carney will represent Albright by defending the affirmative side of the question resolved: That non-communistic nations should form a new international organization.

On Saturday, December 1 the debating team went to Temple University to take part in a Novice Debate Tournament. The same question for debate as this week was used. Weitzel and Cynthia Reinhart were the affirmative side while Irene Saylor and Jacqueline Klein were the negative. The affirmative side won one debate; the rest were lost. Russell F. Weigley was sent as a judge to Temple. Prof. Walter Staton is the faculty advisor.

High School Seniors Of Berks County To Visit Albright

High schools seniors from Berks County will visit Albright College tomorrow at its second annual College Day. The schedule of events, which is similar to last week's College Day for seniors outside of Berks County, will include a tour of the campus, a general assembly, a lunch in the Dining Hall, and career conferences.

The students will register in the Student Union Building from 9:00 to 10:00 A. M. and will tour the campus, laboratories and classrooms from 9:15 to 11:00 A. M.

At 11:00 the group will meet in the Student Union Building for an assembly at which Mr. Lester

Glee Clubs to Sing Handel's Messiah

The Albright College Glee Clubs made two trips this past weekend and plans have been made for their rendition on campus of Handel's Messiah.

On Sunday, December 3 they sang in the Grace Evangelical Brethren Church, York, Pa. for the morning service. They received their dinner in the homes of several of the church members. That evening they sang in the E.U.B. Church in Red Lion, Pa.

Their program consisted of:

Praise to the Lord	Christiansen
Grant Unto Me	Brahms
Go Not Far From Me	Maltzoff
Praise the Lord	Franck
Treasures in Heaven	Clokey
Voix Celestes	Alcock
When I Survey the Wondrous Cross	Mason
Sunbeam Out of Heaven	Christiansen
Now Let Every Tongue	Bach
Benedictus Es Domine	Titecomb
Ruth Zimmer and Paul Davis sang solos from portions of the Messiah.

The group visited the Norristown Trinity Lutheran Church on Friday, December 1. Fifty students from Drexel, fifty from Ursinus and the church choir joined with the Glee Club under the direction of Dr. John H. Duddy. Professor Wallace Heaton, head of the Music Department of Drexel, was the accompanist.

On Thursday evening, December 14 at 8 o'clock in Union Hall the Messiah Chorus, consisting of a group of seventy-five students and faculty members under the direction of Dr. John H. Duddy, will present the Christmas portion of Handel's Messiah.

The soloists are Ruth K. Zimmer, soprano; June L. Rapp, contralto; David Smith and Thomas Jones, tenors and Paul Davis, baritone. Mrs. Charles Kistler will accompany on the organ.

Albright Lions Take Opener, 81-55, As Captain Cappel Nets 21 Points

The Albright basketball team opened their 1950-1951 hoop season last Wednesday evening with an 81-55 triumph over the Red Devils of Dickinson on the Northwest Junior High School floor. In the preliminary game, Coach Bobby Hicks' Jayvees won their fray, 69-49, over a determined junior Red Devil team.

In the main event, the Lion aggregation, under the leadership of Coach Eddie Gulian, took the lead in the opening minutes of play and did not relinquish it throughout the game.

Lee Cappel, captain of this year's squad, led the victorious Lions with twenty-one points, nine field goals and three free tosses, followed by Gerry Potts with seventeen. Dick Zilling, lanky forward, was high scorer for the visitors, tallying twenty-one points.

Bieber Scores First

The game opened with Danny Bieber netting the first goal for the Lions. Dickinson's Bill Stark came back to loop a basket for the Red Devils and dead-locked the contest. The game continued to see-saw back and forth throughout

ASSEMBLY SPEAKER

Newton S. Danford

Stabler, director of Public Relations, will preside. President Harry V. Masters will welcome the students, and Terry Connor and Lillian Hager will extend greetings from the student body. Professor N. S. Danford, Director of Admissions, will deliver the main address, "College Today."

After lunch in the Dining Hall at 12:15 the visitors will confer with faculty advisers from 1:00 to 2:00 P. M. to obtain information on various college courses. From 2:00 to 3:00 the late-comers will be given an opportunity to see the campus.

Y Christmas Party Planned; 50 Children To Be Guests; Various Activities Listed

Fifty children will visit Albright on Sunday, December 10, for the annual Y Christmas Party for underprivileged children. These young people will inherit foster parents for the day who will be responsible for bringing them to the party, looking out for them during the day, buying presents and taking the children home. Margery Mansfield and Doris Hill were in charge of the securing and distribution of names.

The first event of the day will be a dinner in the College Dining

Annual Christmas Matins Scheduled

The annual Christmas Matins, sponsored by Albright's combined Y's, will be broadcast beginning Monday, December 11 and continuing through Saturday, December 16 over radio station WHUM from 8:15 to 8:30 A. M. This period has been given to the college by the Reading Ministerial Association which daily uses this time for devotional broadcasts.

Each program was written by a student and will give the story behind a Christmas carol. Charlotte Winner wrote the story of "Hark the Herald Angels Sing." Ralph Stutzman has written the script for "O Little Town of Bethlehem." The story of "Joy to the World" was composed by William A. Heck and Vernon Miller penned the epic of "Silent Night." The story of "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night" was written by Percy Brown.

The broadcasts will originate from the chapel in the Evangelical School of Theology. Leonard Buxton will direct the Y choir which will provide the music and background. Accompaniment will be furnished by Mary Ellen Schuman.

David Smith is in charge of all broadcasts. The program for the sixth broadcast has not as yet been decided upon.

Newspaper Staff Training Debated At ACP Con'ab

At a recent Chicago meeting of the Associated Collegiate Press of which The Albrightian is a member, discussion centered around staff training. One discussion session brought out the fact that the Journalism departments of many colleges require students in reporting classes to work for the newspaper. At other colleges students are given credit towards graduation for newspaper work.

Many delegates agreed a good way to train reporters was to appoint rewrite editors who explain changes in copy to the students whose stories have been rewritten. The Southwestern Louisiana institute newspaper holds seminars in news writing for beginning reporters.

It was found that various incentives were being used to keep reporters working for their newspapers. Among these are promotion of staff members, honorary keys and press cards. None of the weeklies present paid their reporters, but many provide salaries for the editor, business manager and other students in executive positions.

Richard Finnegan, consulting editor of the Chicago Sun Times, was the main speaker at the convention banquet. He told the college editors that they must begin now while in school to understand people. "You might think," Finnegan said, "that this responsibility is a long way off. But right now the college editors have the responsibility of expressing what they and their generation are thinking about.

"College trained people are the grass roots of the American press," he concluded.

Hall at 1 o'clock. In past years Albrightians have found this to be one of the best parts of the day because the children seem to enjoy the meal and companionship so much.

Entertainment in Union Hall will follow the dinner. John Savidge and Frank Bird will give their traditional Indian act. They will tell the story of the hunt, lead the children in a war dance, show them rope tricks and fire-eating and draw pictures of Indian objects. A magician will present a short act on general magical tricks.

Dwight Ong will be this year's Santa Claus. He will give out the presents purchased by the foster parents and also those which have been repaired by the Y's in the last two weeks. Patricia Miller and Terry Connor will take charge of the party.

The day will end with the singing of Christmas Carols.

Last year 90 Reading children attended the Christmas festivities which were held on Sunday, December 11. This event has always been one of the highlights of the Christmas season for the students of Albright.

Campus Y's Plan Yuletide Caroling

The annual Christmas caroling of the combined Y's will begin at 7:30 P. M. on Tuesday evening, December 12 in front of the College Chapel. The students will carol at the homes of the following: Dr. and Mrs. Harry V. Masters, Dean and Mrs. George W. Walton, Professor and Mrs. Clyde A. Harding, Professor and Mrs. William R. Bishop, Dr. and Mrs. Gerrit Mering, Miss Ernestine Elder, Miss Consuelo Rodriguez, Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Handorf, Miss Elsie Garlach, Miss Josephine Raepel, Professor and Mrs. Donald Gates, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gulian, Professor and Mrs. John Khouri, Professor and Mrs. Harry Mengel, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Shirk and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Widdowson. After the caroling the students will return to the campus and end the evening with refreshments and a short worship service, to be held in the Lower Social Room. Charlotte Winner and Gordon Farscht are in charge of the program.

A candle-light dawn communion service will be in the College Chapel at 6 o'clock on December 15. The Rev. Homer L. Trickett, minister of the First Baptist

Albright's Band To Lead Parade

Albright's marching band will lead the Christmas Parade down Penn Street on Friday night at 7:00 P. M. The Reading Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the religious parade this year because it is felt that Christmas has become too commercialized, so a return to the religious connotation of the holiday is being sought.

Mr. Fred Cardin of Reading High School will lead the community singing in the square from 8:00-8:30 P. M. The brass ensemble from the Reading High School Band will provide the accompaniment.

Responses coming in from all over the country show the national interest in the idea.

Report From Okinawa

Jay Kyle

Jean Fehr of Mt. Penn and Dorothy Rath of Sussex, N. J. smiled across their coffee cups in the SUB last Monday afternoon, looked at me, and then muttered something like "he should have graduated three years ago." Both Jean and Dottie are Albright graduates from the class of '49, and both have just returned from a one year stint in Okinawa as Service Club hostesses. The above comment will give you a small idea of the sense of humor possessed by both.

Jean is tall, blonde and blue-eyed and Dottie is somewhat shorter with dark hair and eyes to match. Both bubble over with vitality, humor and in their former school days we affectionately referred to them as Mutt and Jeff.

The girls sailed from San Francisco on October 8, 1949, the crossing to Okinawa taking 14 days. Having attained their jobs as Club hostesses through the Armed Forces Special Service Division, they were attached to an Air Force Group. Their jobs entailed the planning of such programs as picnics, bingo, dances, card parties and other entertainment. Dottie at one time sang with a hillbilly band, costume and all. I know, for I saw a picture. And from the appearance of the faces of the audience, they loved her.

"I'd recommend Okinawa to any girl," said Jean. "The men out-numbered me 3,000 to one!" It sounds like a good idea, girls, for the job is only open to girls with a college degree. The job field is expanding now with our new draft and the opportunities for travel are almost unlimited.

While in the Pacific area, Jean had a 30 day vacation and had the opportunity to visit both Hong Kong and Manila. Dottie, who didn't get a rest leave, had to confine her travels to the surrounding area. A leper colony located off the island produced shudders in her. Dottie also visited the island of Ie Shima, where the grave of Ernie Pyle is located. Suicide Cliff and many old castle ruins on Okinawa were other historical points of interest.

Both Jean and Dottie say they enjoyed it very much, but they're glad to be back to the land of perfume and good dance music. The girls flew back in a C-54 (a bigger plane than the President's, they informed me) and had a very interesting trip that included a visit in Honolulu.

"When Bob Hope came to the island to entertain, we figured that he came to replace us," said Jean, "so we came home."

I left the girls as they greeted more old friends and ordered more coffee.

"Goodbye, and we really hate to see you go." When graduation rolls around next spring, that is what many Albrightians will be saying to our Ginny. Geneva Bolton, this week's Dandy Lion, is known to all by her dancing eyes, pearly smile, contagious laughter and flashing personality. Her musical talents and her love of dancing, pop and jazz records, make her the center of attraction at almost every party that she attends.

A senior this year, Ginny is an associate editor of the CUE, a job well suited to her versatile talents. Thus far she has set up office in the SUB and the dayroom. Where to next, girl?

Ginny's activities since her Albright career began are many and varied. A member of the daywomen for four years, her attendance of both their formal and informal meetings in the Lower Social Room is one of her fondest memories. The Pi Alpha Tau sorority has chained her for four years, and she served for one year as the chaplain of this group. A staunch member of the "Y's", she acted as the secretary for this organization during her junior year. The "Y" retreats usually find a very active Geneva there. A member of the glee club for three years, she also plays the organ for chapel services. And last but not least, Geneva is this year's chairman of the Racial Equality Committee. And ask her about Fellowship House.

With a social science major Geneva hopes to build her future as a teen age director of a Y. Also a fellow named Al seems to be in the picture. Best of luck in the future, Ginny. With your combination of sincerity and talent you shall go far.

November, 1950

by R. Desmond Robinson, '53

Crustacea cut his feet, as he walked
 Near the cold November waters,
 Seashell to his ear,
 Smiling as he heard from yesterday

About the sand, flattened,
 Imprinted by the shapes of bodies,
 Bold new prints the water washed away
 So others would emerge from the rotted shadows to press their

Love prints in the sand
 Tormented, too, by winds,
 Crawling things,
 And daytime's children

Who sit digging at the prints,
 Never dreaming they will love some night,
 When the tide is low
 And the beach is frosted glass,

Clean, until the tide returns,
 New, and never yet tomorrow night,
 Soft, wet, unused before,
 Listening for the nervous laughs

Of untried dreams afoot, approaching,
 Running to the sea!
 Cut caught,
 'By the beauty of the glistening sand

And memories of warm September nights
 That may be warm again if one would wait,
 Believing in what once was love,
 If in nothing else.

Hayum, Down Under

Last night as I was thumbing through the latest copy of the Australian equivalent of the "Daily Worker", I ran across an interesting headline. "AMERICAN COLLEGE GRADUATE ARRIVES IN AUSTRALIA AT GOVERNMENT'S EXPENSE TO ESCAPE CRUMBLING CAPITALISTIC SYSTEM." The rest of the article was not informative at all as to who the student was, but to us Albrightians this signified that our own Walter W. Hayum had arrived in Sydney.

Being in the possession of several letters from Walt, I shall attempt to give you a better picture than the above headline did. Walt and Jane, the little ball and chain, left the U. S. several weeks ago. The voyage was the honeymoon . . . more or less. As this was a marriage of minds according to Walt, they proceeded to board the boat, and separate cabins. (Walt is still very angry with the American President Lines!) In true pioneer spirit this charming young couple boarded the boat with 67 cents. (The moral of this is that man lives not on food alone.)

The Australians according to Walt were very happy to see him, in fact he disembarked amid the flashing of flash bulbs (there was some celebrity getting off behind him). Within 24 hours of his arrival in Sydney the "Daily Telegraph" put him to work covering various events, such as parades (soon the afternoon teas). He is having a little difficulty mastering the particular jargon of the Aussie press, however, we find him working very hard at this at the local Press Club (the only place in Sydney authorized to serve beverages 24 hours a day and 8 days a week).

We are further informed that the Australians like their meat . . . in fact steaks, kangaroo or otherwise, seem to be the epicures delight there.

As it was close to Thanksgiving when they arrived Jane tried to obtain a juicy turkey for the "great meal". What success she had I do not know, but can you imagine eating turkey in summer (in fact it is so hot there several people have died of the heat within the last few days.)? No matter what, I can vouch for the fact that Jane is a good little cook.

The Welcome Mat Is Out

Albright College will be happy tomorrow for the second time in as many Saturdays to roll out the welcome mat for high school seniors who are prospective students here. We hope that our guests tomorrow — seniors from Reading and Berks County schools — will enjoy their day on campus, just as our guests last week — students from more distant areas — did.

Catalogs, bulletins and other promotional data have their obvious value in acquainting others with a college. But an actual day on campus gives that personal touch which helps to transform cold statistics and imposing buildings into the warmly human realities that actually are the college.

We were particularly impressed last Saturday with the willing cooperation of the faculty members and students in making our visitors feel at home. Although all deserve commendation, professors in the Science Hall should receive a special word of praise for the explanations they offered of the intricacies of the physics, chemistry and biology laboratories. The science students, too, some of whom volunteered to work overtime in the laboratories, should be congratulated for their demonstrations of various experiments.

It is our hope that many of the high school seniors who are visiting Albright at this time will find it possible to matriculate here, and that their expectations of college life may be realized.

Ambitions Are Problems

There is damage in "hitching your wagon to a star." In last Sunday's This Week Magazine, Donald Robertson presents several conclusions which were reached in a study of ambitions and the effects they have on people by the Student Counseling Bureau of the University of Illinois.

"The popular conviction that the higher a person's goals are the better, could hardly be more wrong." This survey is not trying to prove that ambition in itself is bad. Every person needs to be ambitious to have a happy and successful life. However, the investigation did discover that people face catastrophe when they allow their ambitions to outstrip their capabilities.

The investigators have set three factors in this problem. "First, many parents set too high a goal for their children. Students are constantly being driven to a frenzy because of their mother's insistence that they get all A's, their father's demand that they become captain of the school team, and things like that. Second, most school systems operate as if all children of a given age have the same abilities and aptitudes. Third, many . . . believe that "all men are created equal" refers . . . to aptitudes and abilities."

Remedial steps offered are: to carefully figure out life goals, to decide what you must do to attain goals and whether you have the qualifications for the goal.

The conclusion that the bureau made is that those things which the majority of people want in life are obtainable if they don't become confused somewhere on the way.

MASCAC Confab Discusses Plans For Rule Change

Coach Eddie Gulian Attends Grid Dinner Of Berk's Officials

Faculty Manager of Athletics Eugene L. Shirk attended a meeting of the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Conference on Wednesday and Thursday, November 29 and 30 at Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster. At the confab he was again elected to the Executive Committee of the M.A.S.C.A.C.

The committee discussed plans that were proposed by Ed Carraway of Lehigh University and decided to amend the baseball substitution rule. The new rule, which will affect about 12 of the 26 schools in the Middle Atlantic States District, allows a player to re-enter a contest after being removed in a pinch-hitting role or by substitution. He must return on the defense and may take his turn at bat when it regularly comes up. The rule applies to all players, including pitchers.

Batting Practice Discussed

Also discussed at the meeting was the possibility of doing away with batting practice during the mid-week games. Eliminating batting practice would allow teams more time for traveling by shortening the time necessary for the games themselves.

This Thursday, Friday, and Saturday Mr. Shirk is attending a meeting of the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference held at the Belmont Hotel in New York City. The conference will discuss plans for various amendments and will complete scheduling of athletic contests on next year's agenda.

Last week Coach Eddie Gulian attended the dinner of the Berks County Football Officials held at the Temple Inn in Temple, Pennsylvania. It was a get-together of officials from the Philadelphia-Harrisburg area. The chief speaker was Mr. Berry, an umpire in the American League, who talked about officiating in the Big Leagues. Rod Kichlime served as toastmaster for the occasion.

Letter From Geil Tells of Students Spirit In Manila

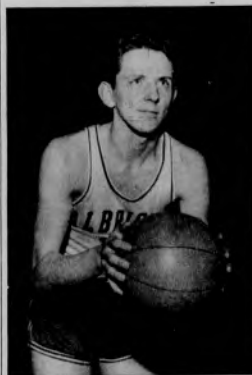

Last October Coach Eddie Gulian received a letter from Dr. Milton G. Geil who is at present with the State Department in Manila in the Philippine Islands. In it he enclosed a clipping from the daily morning paper, the Manila Bulletin, that gave "some idea of the spirit that these people put into their national game, basketball."

Gun Play Hurts Three
The headline of the Manila Bulletin is, "Cage Thriller Marred By Gunplay; 3 Hurt." The article goes on to tell how two teams, San Beda and Letran, traditional rivals were battling for the championship in the N.C.A.A. and were "out for blood." "As the game proceeded a gun-toting enthusiast, tentatively identified as a Letran student, fired from the Letran bleachers hitting the victims who were in preferred seats two paces ahead. The shot caused quite a stir in the stadium, but failed to stop the game, which it was apparently intended to do."

Dr. Geil, speaking of the students of the Philippine Islands, says, "some of them are quick on the trigger or with the knife. I'm not getting into any arguments with any of them if I can avoid it."

Think what the spirit at Albright would be like if we, the students, put half the enthusiasm into the game of basketball that the students of the Philippine Islands put into their national game.

SENIOR GUARD

Pat Bieber

Newly announced basketball rule changes, somewhat simpler than those of last year, will be in effect for the 1950-51 season as the Lions meet their opponents on the Northwest Junior High School floor and the hardwoods of their foes.

The major rule change is the eliminating of the two minute rule which was brought into effect last year and tended to slow down the game. The new rule states that the clock will not be stopped on dead balls and there will be no special penalties for personal fouls during the last two minutes of play.

Substitutions

This year substitutions will only be permitted when the ball is dead and the clock is stopped. The new rule should help check excessive substitutions which led to the clock stopping rule. A scorers' horn is to be sounded after an official has signalled for a time out. Substituting players must report to the scorer and be ready to enter the game before the horn is sounded.

A time-out must be taken whenever there is a jump ball. If a team takes a charged time-out, that team will be charged for it; however, either team may substitute during this time out.

A new rule concerning the backboard states, "when new equipment is being installed the fan-shaped backboard shall be used."

The molded ball is now the official ball.

A penalty is provided for failure to raise the hands at arm's length above the head when a personal foul is called. The official has authority to tell the player to raise his hand and if he complies, the foul is not required to call a foul. Non-compliance will be penalized promptly. A new wording of the Personal Foul Rule gives the official more latitude for the use of his judgment. The extra free throw may be waived and a player fouled in the act of shooting may be awarded two free throws even when the shot is successful.

A revised description of the basket authorizes the use of small gauge loops for attaching the net. Some new definitions have been inserted covering: "player and team in control of the ball, own basket, pass, screen, throw-in, and try for goal."

Capel, Potts to Perform In Lions' Double Pivot; LV Boasts Six Veterans

La Salle On Card for Wednesday, Beat Albright In Last Year's Fray

Next on the court menu for Albright College's basketballers are battles with Lebanon Valley tomorrow evening on the foreign court and with La Salle Wednesday night, December 13 on the Northwest Junior High hardwoods for the Lions' second home contest of the season. The Baby Lions are scheduled to battle the same foes in the preliminaries to both contests.

Varsity hoop coach Eddie Gulian has named Lee Capel, Danny Bieber, Pat Bieber, Bob Ruoff, and Gerry Potts as his starting quintet for the present. In order to compensate for the loss of sparkplug scorer, Eddie Anlian, Gulian has put both Capel and Potts in pivot positions in order to double the chances of scoring under the hoop and has planned for more team cooperation in the scoring aspects of the contests.

Other Varsity Players

The other six members of the eleven-man varsity are Lefty Leitham, Rod Shipe, Dick Whitman, Ozzie Mogel, Dave Nicholas, and Alvin Pollack. Junior varsity coach Bobby Hicks has chosen ten candidates to remain on his Baby Lion squad. They are big Connie Dettling, George Amole, Dale Baker, Jim Bachman, Earl Gernert, Jim Barrett, Bernie Greene, Alan Schlegel, Dick Fechtman, and Dale Hartline.

In last year's contests with the Dutchmen the Lion hoopers nabbed both varsity contests, the first at home with a 73-64 count and the second away by the close margin of 68-62. Danny Bieber sparked the Cats in the first contest with 19 tallies while Anlian, although unpopular with the Lebanon Valley fans, sparked his squad in their winning fourth period rally for the second victory. The fracas with ever powerful La Salle last January in the City of Brotherly Love ended disastrously for the Cats when they came home with an 84-37 loss, their worst of the season.

The Baby Lions' split their card with the Dutchmen last season, copping the first contest, 39-36, and dropping the second at Lebanon, 62-35. The Jayvees fared even worse than the varsity in Philadelphia against the La Salle Frosh by coming home with an 88-17 defeat.

Coach Ralph Mease of the Dutchmen is looking forward to a good season with six lettermen returning from last year's varsity squad. They are Larry Kinsella, Dick Furda, Don Langstaff, Alexander Murawski, K. Tomlin, and Chuck Zimmerman. The squad is further augmented by two high-scoring members from last year's Jayvee team, Leon Miller, and Joe Oxley, and has an extremely promising freshman in Howie Landa. Last year Mease's squad won 12 games, dropped eight, and scored the grand total of 1528 points. The prelim tomorrow is scheduled to start at 7:00 P. M. in the Dutchmen's new Physical Education Building on the Annville campus.

Krohto, Rightmire Win Grid Honors

Two Lion grid players were mentioned in the balloting for the All Pennsylvania squad last week. Floyd Rightmire became the first Lion to be selected to an All State team since Bob Bennett was selected to the third team in 1942. Billy Krohto received honorable mention.

Third Team Fullback

Rightmire, twenty year old sophomore from Hanover, Pennsylvania, was named to the fullback position of the third team. During the regular season of play he added four touchdowns and fourteen extra points to the Lion scoring parade.

Krohto, who was given honorable mention, is a twenty-one year old senior from Peckville, Pennsylvania. He led the Cats in scoring with 42 points and averaged 4.5 yards per try rushing from scrimmage last season.

Former Graduates Take German Posts
In a recent letter to President Masters from Peggy and George Henry, we learn that more of Albright graduates are making a name for themselves. After his graduation George worked for the State Department supervising the plays to be presented in the American Sector of Germany.

In his letter he states that after a trip this year through France, Italy, Austria and Germany he was informed that the theater section in Ulm, where he is stationed at the present time, had been more or less obliterated. Mr. Henry then became Director of the United States Information Center in Ulm. "There are thirty centers in Western Germany and my job is to present America—by means of its culture—to the Germans." He has a staff of 20 German employees. Mr. Henry continues by saying that "we operate a 20,000 volume library, 2 projector film programs, record concerts, exhibits, lectures and artists 2 or 3 times a week."

The Henrys are living in a 20 room house which they find is quite necessary for the entertainment of artists who visit the town.

While at Albright as students both George and Peggy were very active in Domino Club and German Club. Mrs. Henry is the former Peggy Thompson, sister of Joyce Thompson Aicher.

Cultural Artist Presents Musical History Lecture

The chapel program for Tuesday, December 4 featured Mr. Charles Haubiel—pianist, composer, and lecturer—and his presentation of the history of music through variations on the theme "Swanee River." Mr. Haubiel, who is well known in the music world, studied in Germany for several years. He is the recipient of many music awards and has made a film based upon the same topic he chose for Tuesday's program.

Mr. Haubiel's "History of Music" covered a period of over 1400 years. Of the classical period composers, he imitated examples of Gregori, Palestrina, Perdi, Bach, Mozart and Beethoven. Included in the romantic period of music were Schubert, Schumann, Mendelssohn, Chopin, Liszt, Tchaikowsky, Reager, Debussy and Strauss. He used imitations of Ellington and Gershwin as experimental type artists. For a special concluding number, he played "A Chinese Festival," a novelty written for the black keys.

The program was constructive from a cultural standpoint but some students seemed to feel it would have been more interesting if an example of each composer's own work had been used. D.D.

Opening Game

Park, New Jersey, opened his Albright hoop debut during the period and turned in a fine defensive job in addition to setting up several scoring plays.

Although the victorious Lions proved weak in their shooting attempts, missing what seemed would be sure goals, they controlled both baskets and the courts during the entire game with a strong defense that kept the visitors from the home hoop and seldom allowed their opponents a second chance at a missed toss. Cappel, Potts, and Ruoff shared fifty-two of the Lions' eighty-nine points.

Jim Rachman, Connie Dettling and Fats Amole led the Baby Lions in scoring with 21, 17 and 13 points respectively in gaining their 69-49 victory against the Dickinson Frosh quintet.
