STUDENTS HEAR DR. G. W. TAYLOR ON "CODE ERA"

Former Albright Professor Pre-sents Interesting Side-Lights on the N. R. A.

Dr. George W. Taylor, former pro-fessor of Albright College and now Re-search Associate at the University of Pennsylvania, addressed the students and faculty of Albright on Monday morning at 10 o'clock. He gave an in-teresting and enlightening speech on the "Code Era." Dr. Taylor is the Deputy Administrator of the N. R. A. for the hosiery industry. The address centered on the N. R. A. and the changes it has caused in the first six months of its operation. Dr. Taylor said that this was the most spectacular and significant development in history. In six months child labor was abolished, a minimum wage was set, and business was revised.

as revised. The disturb-

The disturb-ing factor present in the business world in the past yearswas, said Dr. Taylor, the absence of rules for busi-ness and in-dustries. Wo-men were working for wages as low as two cents an hour. Some an hour. Some worked 92 an hour. Some worked 92 DB. G. W. TATLOB hours a week and received less than ten dollars. To remedy the appalling situation, the brain-trust was formed. This con-sists of certain people at Washington who are interested in conditions and have good ideas on the subject and wish to put them in practice. Because of the increasing population, businesses as well as individuals must have limits. The brain-trust has established a code authority for each industry. Eight busi-ness men, two working men, and two government representatives organize and establish rules for the various in-dustries. The important thing about these groups, said Dr. Taylor, is the rep-resentation of the working man in them. According to Dr. Taylor, it is essen-tial that United States develop a scien-tific approach on labor. He told of ex-periments that had been made in the hosiery industry. Hours were reduced and wages altered. Complete records were kept of reactions so that the au-thorities could learn the effects of the various devices employed. In closing, Dr. Taylor said that the N. R. A. has caused a change in ideas and ideals, together with a change in usiness thinking.

ENGLISH CLASS TO ATTEND SHAKESPEAREAN PLAY

The Shakespeare class, under the di-rection of Dr. Eugene Page, will turn out en masse to see the local rendition of Shakespeare's immortal comedy. "The Taming of the Shrew." This will be given two evenings, January 17 and 18, by the Community Players in the Little Theatre Off Penn Square. It is gratifying to learn that these players have undertaken to present the comedy which Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford made famous on the screen, and proves a distinct advantage for stu-dents of Albright.

READING, PA.

The Annual Freshman Edition of the Albrightian will make its appearance February 16 this year. The plebes have selected Gene Barth, of Philadelphia, to edit the publication, and we believe that a wise choice has been made. His staff selection from many aspiring young journalists will be published in the February 9th issue of this paper.

BERKS CO. ALUMNI TO HOLD BANQUET THURSDAY, JAN. 25

Rev. W. R. Seigart, of Reading, to be Principal Speaker

The Berks County Alumni Associa-tion of Albright College will hold a ban-quet in the college dining room on Thursday evening, January 25, at 6.30. . Reservations should be made at once through Isabel Willard, the secretary. Tickets for the banquet are 65 cents. Rev. W. R. Seigart, of the Lutheran Church at Fitth and Elm Streets in Reading, will be the speaker. Special music for the evening will be furnished by a quartette consisting of Emily Yocum, Ruth Krott Rothermel, William Maier, and William Burkhart. Following the program there will be election of officers for the coming year.

DR. LUNDELL SPEAKER AT MONTHLY MEETING OF READING CHEMISTS' CLUB

On Tuesday night, January 16, the Reading Chemists' Club held its monthly meeting in the Science Lecture Hall. The meeting was opened by the president, who presented the guest speaker, Dr. G. E. F. Lundell, chief of Standards, in Washington. His subject was, "Analysis of Things as They Are." In it he explained the difficulties of anal-ysis, the points of interest and new de-velopments in the subject. Dr. Lundell, before leaving, presented the College Department of Chemistry a number of standard analytical samples, which are greatly appreciated.

SR. DRAMATIC CLUB TO PRESENT ONE-ACT PLAY IN CHAPEL EACH MONTH

JANUARY 19, 1934

The Domino Club, in a recent meet-ing, decided to follow through the sec-ond semester with a series of one-act plays, in which the entire personnel of the club will be seen. The Student Coun-cil has pledged their support in this matter and now it is up to the students as a whole to uphold this idea of enter-tainment for Friday morning assem-blies. An attempt will be made to pre-sent such plays as are of interest to everyone.

Editorials EXAMINATIONS

"A word to the wise is sufficient." This favorite maxim is especially applicable at this period of our col-lege curricula. With the semester examinations looming up in the foreground like some menacing, necessary evil, many students are finally doing some serious thinking concerning their so-called "snap" courses. On the other hand, there are those who take the deplorable attitude of self-sympathy, which is one of the most detrimental factors to the scholastic standing of our student body.

How many times have you over heard a remark similar to this: admit I don't know my stuff, but I have plenty of company," or "I let the course slide at the beginning, and now it's too late." Little or no symnow it's too late." Little or no sym-pathy should be shown this type of student, for behind such a reaction lies a story that is even more tragic than the statement itself. Generally accompanying such a statement is a willful negligence, a squandering of time and energy, not to mention the betrayal of the confidence placed in them by sacrificial parents. Such a student does not realize when he is running around, attending bull-ses-sions, and participating in many un-necessary pleasures, that he will have nothing but weak alibis to offer when the judgement day rolls around. Invariably he will seek to place the blame anyhere but upon the right shoulders. It may be the professor or it may be the work was too difficult for him to grasp, but without exception the student can trace it back to his own doing. If you can't find time, it's because you don't make time.

Practically all the excuses that are offered are for no other reason than to ease the wounded vanity of the protestant. If you are guilty of being an "alibi addict," remember that you will doubtless have sympathizers who in reality laugh at you behind your back and who actually think less of you for offering the ex-cuse. We realize the warning, if it can be called such, comes at a late date, but there is yet time to develop an individual interest and to realize the responsibility lies not with out-side factors, but with yourself.

WHERE WE COME IN

It seems to be human nature to con-sider our own personal gain when eval-uating the worth of new ideas or form-ing opinions on new suggestions. That is why there has been such heated dis-cussion of the N. R. A. and the relief neasures.

"What benefit am I getting out of it?" has influenced the thinking of many pro-ponents and opponents of the experi-

Whether we deplore or not the selfish motivation of many of those interested in the N. R. A. and the relief activities, we must accept the fact. Which leads us unblushingly to wonder what the college graduate is going to get out of the grab bag of federal appropriations.

In Pennsylvania the answer is $50,000

The means by which the college grad-uate is to get this, is adult education.

As a result of the new low maximums in the number of working hours allowed, the average individual is going to have more leisure time to fill.

This causes the problem of furnishing the people with increased outlets. Peo-ple with much time on their hands can-not afford to go to the movies continu-ally, nor can they spend all their extra time playing bridge, providing, of course, that they know the rule of the sport sport.

It is to care for some of this extra time, brought about by the recent indus-trial changes, that an extensive program of adult education will be carried out. This will be bread and butter to hun-dreds of needy college graduates. It is estimated that this new plan will take care of at least 8,000 teachers. Special teaching certificates will not be neces-sary to qualify. sary to qualify

Undoubtedly the trend in education is upward into the adult field. This is dou-bly welcomed by college students and graduates alike because it will not only mop up much of the "intellectual" un-employment, but adult education will probably become a permanent practice in the future.

LLOYD HELT SPEAKS AT SUNDAY VESPERS

Due to the unfortunate illness of Professor Voigt, last Sunday's vesper service message was delivered by Lloyd Helt. He spoke on the topic "Loyalty and Devotion to Others." As a basis for his excellent talk he took a Seth Parker Story. The story was a fine ex-ample of devotion and was an excellent portrayal of the love, loyalty and de-votion which a father had for his son, who was an invalid. The devotion of the father went to such an extent that he allowed his farm, the dearest pos-session he had, to go to ruin. Mr. Helt's talk was very well received by those present.

Take It From Me... Jav Fay

The Lions bowed to the Mules on Saturday to drop their first game in the Conference. Muhlenberg has not been rated quite so highly this year as in other years and we are wondering if they have been underrated or the Lions had one of those off nights. Two games in a row are a little too much for any quintet to take on, and it is hoped that in the future this mistake will not be watch. They game this Friday night with the Migdals should be interesting to watch. They have been begging for this or they have been arranged. It is unfortunate that students will not be admitted to exause the spirit of the game will cer-tainly be lacking. It is interesting to note the various tainly be lacking. It is interesting to note the various reactions to the proposed Conference on Athletics for Pennsylvania and Dela-ware. The majority of the college school papers that were represented in Harrishurg look upon it more or less as just one of those "things." This column tales the same sort of attitude to the entire conference. The majority of col-leges represented were those having quite a reputation for paying their ath-letes and to sign such an agreement would be a farce. Albright should thoroughly investigate the proposed rules before signing on the dotted line.

rules before signing on the dotted line. Reports from Bucknell College indi-cate that Albright's former coach, the well-known "Doggie" Julian, will get back into coaching college football. If there is anyone that deserves the credit of putting Albright on the map in the football world, it is Julian. He could drive players all week long and when game time came they would go in and play their hearts out. If there is any one person that deserves the break, it is "Doggie." It is understood that a great many of the Bucknell Alumni want him to return to his Alma Mater and take charge of the gridmen. We hope that Julian gets his chance and wish him all the luck in the world. It will be Bucknell's gain and Albright's loss.

loss. We have an interesting article clipped from the Italian newspaper "La No-tiza," which is published in Boston. Johnny Garro, well-known New Eng-land sports writer, picked Iatesta and DeFranco on the All-American Italian team. He says, "Zaninelli of Duquesne is the fullback on our team beating out DeFranco of Albright by a very small margin. Only his experience carried bim through to the position." He rates potranon and Iatesta among the six outstanding Italian backs in the coun-try, and with all the Italian boys that are playing football, this covers a great With exercise predicting and telling

With everyone predicting and telling us who the next Albright coach in football will be, it is about time that we ventured an opinion. It is understood that Snell, the former Reading Hi coach, is after the job and would like to get it. He has the backing of quite a few of the Alumni and some influential persons in the city. He is a former All-American and knowns the game from A to Z and would be a big help in rebuilding the Albright team. There is no official information on a coach for the coming season but he must be named shortly because it is planned to have spring training this year. We do not like the attitude of Williams of the "Times" toward Coach Smith. He seems to think that if a football coach is named, "Fog" Smith is out. Any'time that there is not room for Coach Smith at Albright, there is not room for athletics. This article is not to be taken as an official statement from the administration, but as merely what the writer has been able to gather.

Lion Quint Trounce Drexel 53-34 in First Game, Drop Second to Muhlenberg 45-36; Oslislo is Red and White Chief Offensive Threat in Both Games

The Lions routed Drexel 53-34 at the "Y" Friday night in the second Eastern Pennaylvania Conference til. Despite the loss of Radio DeFranco, out of the game with an injured foot, the Albright five displayed fine form. Oslislo and actesta scored the counters. "Goose," co-captain and star guard, was the out-standing luminary, while latesta was on the scoring end of several well exe-cuted plays. These two boys will give "loop" opponents plenty of trouble this year, and with DeFranco back in the Shipe and Woods or Slack, should go places. The reserves showed their wares and all look ready for varsity berths. Should Coach Johnny Smith need to fill any position, he has fine material to draw from. Knapp and Reynolds starred for the

The Frosh nosed out a local five, Farmers' Fairfield, 41-40 in a hard fought preliminary game. Their play-ing has greatly improved under the able coaching of Dick Brown. MacClintock and Becker starred.

Weary from their game with Drexel the previous night, the Lions could not overcome the Mules' Lead. The Red and White quintet showed their superiority over the Allentown cagers, but were un-able to score in the critical moments. Rodgers and Sterner flashed for the Mules.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM LOSES TWO CLOSE GAMES IN CITY COURT LEAGUE

The Albright girls' baskethall team played their first game in the City League, January 12. Although the Red and White team gave good opposition, they, unfortunately, brought home the lighter part of the score, which was 37-24. Peg Wittmann, the acting captain, was high scorer with eleven points and was well supported by Jeanette Henry. Was well supported by Jeanette Henry. On last Tuesday night the girls' bas-ketball squad played another group from the City League. It was an espe-cially good game in the last half when the difference in the score was one or two points much of the time. With spec-tacular shooting on both sides, the col-lege girls maintained the lead until the final minutes of the game, when the op-posing team sank two neat shots. Thus the victory slipped away from us and the scoring ended 28-25. Peg Wittmann was again high scorer with 18 points. The guards, Ruth Turner and Helen Yohn, played an exceptionally fine game. Agnes Bittle was acting captain.

Doyle and Rimelspacher

The Pi Alpha Tau sorority will hold an informal dance Saturday evening at the Iris Club in Wyomissing in honor of the following girls: Amy Leitner, Mary Falcone, Betty Campbell, Cora Schen-kel, Leona Reed, Dorothy Marquette, Caroline Miller, Jeanette Henry, Dor-othy Butler, Helen Gordon, Ethel Go-forth, Helen Fox, Grace Mengel, Mar-jorie Eastwood, Edith Marquette, and Dorothy Brillhart. Other guests will in-clude Emily Flatt, of Reading, and Emma Wittmann, of Elizabeth, N. J. Miss Ruth Shaffer and Miss Florence Innis will be chaperones, and many alumni members of the sorority expect to attend the affair. to attend the affair.

Apologies seem to be in order for the lack of this column last week. Although apologies are not my strong point, I hereby mumble the appropriate words.

At a recent meeting of the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity the following were elected to new offices: President, Paul Vanness, and Vice-President, Roland Kennedy. The fraternity is also issuing an "Alpha Pi Omega" pamphlet to its alumni members and friends.

The girl with the comic strip name has declared war. The cause of all the strife seems to be a messed-up room. I don't know if she is aware of the identity of the culprit, but I can furnish it on request.

The following will attend the Junior Hadassah formal dance at the Berkshire Hotel on the twenty-first: Sarah Rosen-berg, Mclvin Lustig, and Sam Halperin.

That Senior week-end expert has left another maiden sorrowing on the banks of the Susquehanna. He claims that she was just a passing fancy, but some of the boys have their doubts. Incidentally, he says her grandfather smokes excellent cigars, but the scoffers insist that he went to see her, not the cigars.

Martha Felmlee, Catherine Winter and Harriet Venus recently gave an in-formal party for Dorothy Brillhart, Amy Leitner, and Helen Gordon.

The lad from Noo Yawk gave the boys a break this week by having his babe from the big town up to see the school. She's from the Vanities, and from what I hear and from the swain's mumblings I gather that she's rather gorgeous. As for Luis, he's still in a fog over her.

The Pi Tau Beta fraternity held a card party Wednesday evening in the fraternity quarters. Chaperones were Miss Shaffer and Dr. Page.

THE ALBRIGHTIAN

The Senior gal from York is re The Senior gal from York is re-ported to have been stepping out recently with a number of our more handsome lads. If you don't know who she is, l'll give you a hint. Her nickname is the name commonly applied to a headpiece. Name on re-quest, of course, although you should be able to figure it out.

Rev. Harry M. Buck, a member of the Kappas and a member of the class of 1918 of old Albright, visited the fra-ternity last Thursday.

Believe it or not, the week-ender mentioned in this column had a pack of cigarettes this week. Nope, he didn't buy them; an advertising man handed them out in the dorms. This should be good news for his fraternity brothers. Better get yours while you can; they won't bet long. yours wh last long.

Many of the faculty and student body attended the Columbia Opera Company's rendition of La Traviata, which was given at the Rajah Theatre on Tuesday evening.

Boy, are those two Juniors all wrapped up in each other or am I wrong? They can be seen any hour in the day absorbedly chatting. He's that tall, blond bruiser, while she is the girl with the name synon-ymous with the word solace. It looks like real romance.

On Monday evening the following members of the Pi Alpha Tau sorority will hold a bridge in the "Pat" room: Madge Dieffenbach, Katherine Yerkes, and Mildred Rothermel. Their guests will be Mary Falcone, Caroline Miller, Betty Campbell, and Ethel Goforth.

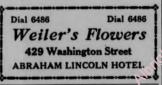

The silent lover referred to earlier in the year is desolate. His passion didn't ask him to her sorority dance. He swallowed his disappointment, however, long enough to accept an invitation from someone else.

A stag banquet for fraternity mem-bers and pledges is being planned by the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity.

If you want to know how far it is from Wyomissing to school, ask that tall, knock-kneed Sophomore whose hair is never combed. He walked from there after the dance Saturday night.

Knute Danford and Kenneth Comp-ton visited Sam Showalter and Al Hol-land, former Albrightians and now pre-dents at Temple University, over the week-end.

Dorcas Haines spent the past week end in Harrisburg.

IT COSTS BUT LITTLE To Telephone Home!

Most pleasures cost money-some too much. No wonder home folks say "go easy" to sons at college.

But you'll never (well-hardly ever) hear that warning when you telephone home. For Father and Nother the pleasure of hearing your voice far outweighs the trifling cost.

After 8:30 P. M. (if you use Station to Station Service) you can telephone a hundred miles for 35 cents. What greater pleasure can such a small sum buy? A "voice visit" home is next best to being there!

PARENTS ENDORSE these SUGGESTIONS . , .

Keep a regular telephone date with Home. Then you can count on the family being there when you call.

Set the "date" for after 8:30 P. M. to take advantage of the low Night Rates on Sta-tion to Station calls.

Just give the Operator your home telephone number.

Charges may be reversed.
