BULLETIN REPRESENTED AT I. N. A. CONFERENCE

ARNITA MILES AND MARY MÄRQUARDT DELEGATES

Arnita Miles Elected Secretary of Association

The 7th semi-annual conference of the Inter-collegiate Newspaper Association convened at Delaware University, Newark, Delaware, May 12 and 13. A more enthusiastic, enterprising group of budding journalists could hardly be found than those who assembled at the banquet table, which event started off the conference. A representative southern dinner was served, after which, Toastmaster Walter Dent Smith, editor of the Delaware Review, introduced Dr. Walter Hulliben, President of the University. Dr. Hulliben delivered a warm welcome address and Mr. Smith then introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Frederic Wile, head of the Public Ledger News Service of Washington, D. C. In his own pleasing inimitable manner Mr. Wile gave his "Weal and Woe of a Washington Correspondent". Any efforts to estimate the Interesting Items From Saturday Evening To Wednesday Eve.

Commencement Week bids fair to be one of the busiest and most attractive in the history of Albright. The authorities have been fortunate to secure Dr. Finnegan, State Superintendent of Public Instruction in Pennsylvania, to deliver the address to the graduating class. A custom abandoned for some years will be revived in the oratorio to be rendered by the combined glee clubs Saturday evening. Aside from these are the Class Day Exercises of the

THE RESULTS OF THE STRAW VOTE FOR GOVERNOR

The following is an expression of the opinion of Albright faculty and students as to whom should be our next Governor. Pinchot, first choice, one hundred and eleven, second choice, twenty six; McSparran first choice thirty three, second choice, sixty six; Alter, first choice, three, second choice, twenty two.

The vote was taken by a committee from the Albright Political Club. About fifteen students did not vote.

GIRLS' GLEE COMPLETES FINAL TRIP OF SEASON

SING IN YORK, WRIGHTSVILLE, RED LION

The Girls' Glee Club left on Thurs., May 11, on their last trip for the year. The Thursday night concert was held in the Jackson St. U. E. Church at York. Due to the efforts of Rev. C. C. Bailey they sang to a full house, and the girls stay at York was enjoyed very much.

The second concert was held at Wrightsville on Friday evening in a large and well filled auditorium. Here again the girls were greeted by a very appreciative audience.

On Saturday evening they sang in the U. E. Church at Red Lion of which Rev. Benfer is pastor. The concert was under the auspices of the Sunday School Classes, and the Club also sang in the Sunday School session on Sunday morning.

The audiences at each place were delighted with the concerts and expressed their appreciation by enthusiastic applause. The special numbers that were given by the Misses Trostle, Statler, Wetzel and Mrs. H. A. Benfer were very well received.

BUCKNELL DEFEATS ALBRIGHT 13-3

At Bethlehem on May 6, 1922 Albright defeated Moravian College by the score of 2-0. Besides shutting out Moravian, Lincoln, the star south-paw of Albright permitted only two hits. He was given excellent support by his teammates.

I. N. A. CONFERENCE

value of Mr. Wile's address would be fruitless. It was a real address, full of stirring enthusiasm and encouragement to young journalists.

Important dinner talks and toasts featured the remainder of the banquet time. Later all retired to the lounge to become better acquainted.

At nine o'clock Saturday morning the delegates were conducted thru "Kells" Printing Establishment. A word must be said about this Old World shop where "Head, Heart and Hand" combine to produce printing that is not merely mechanical but into which a breath of soul and love creeps. At 9:30, in the room at "Kells" called "whim", Mr. Richard Slocum the president called the meeting to order. He introduced Mr. Johnston owner of "Kells" who gave a delightful, humorous welcome chat.

Business of the usual order was then given attention. Miss Miles, editor of the Albright Bulletin, was then appointed Secretary pro-tem. Seventeen out of twenty members answered the roll-call. After the various committee reports, the meeting divided into the editorial and business sections, wherein each division the problems peculiar to that department were discussed at some length.

When the meeting later joined sessions, general business was discussed, applications for membership were read, and motions for the dropping of other papers were passed. Allegheny was admitted and State College dropped. A motion was also passed authorizing a committee to attend to an appropriate remembrance for Mr. Wile for his services of the evening before.

Election of officers took place with the following satisfactory results:

- Pres.—Mr. Jones, Haverford.
- Vice-pres.—Mr. Boyce Delaware.
- Sec.—Miss Miles—Albright.
- Treas.—Mr. Chaulas—Stevens.

The Bulletin is especially proud to note among the officers its editor-in-chief, Miss Miles as Secretary. The introduction of the fair sex into the conference was quite a unique note.

An invitation for the October conference was cordially given by Muhlberg and accepted, and the conference adjourned until next October.

Too much commendation and gratitude cannot be extended to the Review Staff of Delaware University for making this conference a pleasing event. The delegates were entertained with true southern hospitality and everything possible to make the conference a success was done. Albright was represented by Arnita Miles, editor-in-chief, and Mary Marquardt of the Staff. The Bulletin congratulates Delaware most heartily for the success of the convention, and wishes the Review a prosperous and bright year.

The delegates were invited to witness the May Festival of the Womans' College, and the ball game between Haverford and Delaware, both of which took place Saturday afternoon.

RECENT ACTIVITIES OF THE POLITICAL CLUB

During the past week, one of the most important events of interest to both town people and college students was the visit of John A. McSparran, Master of the State Grange and Democratic candidate for the Governorship of Pennsylvania.

The meeting was held Friday evening, June 5th, at the Majestic Theatre under the auspices of the Albright Political Club, a group of ten students organized for the purpose of studying the various phases of politics and current news items.

The lecture was entirely political. Mr. McSparran is a very forceful and eloquent speaker. He spoke for one and a half hours on the political situation of the State, emphasizing particularly the condition of the State Highway, Education and Public Welfare departments. He stated that these departments have been centralized and moved about by machine politicians like pawns on a chess board.

One interesting feature of his talk was an explanation of his attitude toward the present program of Education headed by Dr. Finnegan. While he opposes the present system as impractical and extravagant, he favors a system that will solve the rural problems of education.

Mr. McSparran is a college graduate and during his speech said, "Every young man in College ought to make the best use of his time; in the future it will spell the difference between success and failure. If I had to choose between my College education and my right hand, I would take the education."

After the meeting the Club entertained Mr. McSparran at a luncheon in the College dining room. Following the luncheon the guest of honor spoke to the Club of the different phases of machine politics and methods employed by political bosses.

Mr. McSparran who is an alumnus of Lafayette College spent a half hour in reminiscences of his college days and spoke also of the contribution that the small College is making to the nation.

A Matter of Taste

Zener: "You must cultivate taste."
 Dice: "Yes, that's what people must do with olives."

Bennett on pancake morning: "Come on, gang, we have blowout patches for breakfast again."

Beecher, speaking of the Public Speaking Class: "Whew! 25% off if you don't give your speech."

Mowery: "Better give nothing, if you have it."

Sechrist is thinking of wearing his spectacles when he sleeps because he saw something in a dream he could just barely make out.

Chas. Raffensperger, in a matter-of-fact tone: "All girls use powder."

Ted: "You're wrong, Raffensperger, Jessie Statler doesn't use powder."

An Observation

College is like a chemist's laboratory. You put your boy in, not knowing whether you'll get a loud explosion, a fine character, or an offensive smell.

EDITORIALS

THE OLD ORDER

"The old order changeth, yielding place to new." We are reminded of this quotation, not only as it applies to the retiring of the old staff, but as it suggests what has been their achievement during the past year.

The retiring staff entered upon its duties at a critical period in the history of the Bulletin. There had been increasing criticism from both alumni and student body for several years upon the nature, form, and expense of our one publication. Too much credit cannot be given to the editor-in-chief and business manager of 1921-1922 for the keen insight with which they grasped the problem before them and their resolute, business-like tackling and handling of a ticklish situation.

It was a delicate matter to put aside the conventional time-honored form of the old Bulletin. It demanded keen judgment to decide what should be the nature and form of the new Bulletin. There was opposition to overcome by patient argument and demonstration. The financial risk in changing the paper from a monthly to a semi-monthly publication was by no means light. These were but a few of the problems encountered and mastered by the heads of the retiring staff.

As the newly-elected staff assumes its duties, we deem it only just that we express in this way a measure of our appreciation and gratitude for the solid foundation you are leaving, upon which we may begin our work. The goal which you have set for us is high, but we mean to attain it. Our aim is to make the Bulletin of next year better than ever, for we know that is what you expect of us. We could wish you nothing better than that you may tackle future enterprises with the same success that has attended the launching of the new Bulletin of 1921-1922. What you have so well begun shall live and grow.

"There shall never be one lost good! What was, shall live as before."

Does it sound impossible? It is by no means impossible to increase our enrollment to two hundred and fifty for next year if we can but enlist the co-operation of every factor. It will mean work—organized work—but what is there worth while that does not require work? The student body accepts willingly its share of the effort as outlined in the former editorial. It now remains for the other factors to "step into line". Faculty, Church, Alumni, and Student Body must ally if we are to realize our aim for next year.

The field of the Faculty in this project may seem to be rather limited, but it is surely one that is most vital. A few well-directed questions, a semblance of personal, friendly interest in the young people they meet while upon summer vacations, may serve to balance the scales in favor of Albright, as those same young people are choosing their future Alma Mater. The appointment of one member of the Faculty to travel during the summer for the purpose of boosting the college and interviewing all prospective students, would no doubt in many cases clinch the previous efforts of a member of the student body.

Then the part of the church constituency is no mean one. It is easy to tell which churches and which ministers are interested in this school by the number of their young folks they send to the church college. After all, Albright is primarily an institution of the church, and each individual church should regard her as one of its own organizations, to be supported and worked for as such. Surely there is hardly a church but could persuade at least one person that Albright, the college of our church, should be his choice in September.

The challenge is to Faculty, Church, Alumni, and Student Body, not one, but all—to put Albright "over the top" next year. Our aim is a 250 student body for next year.

MORE ENTHUSIASM NEEDED IN BASEBALL

There seems to be a decided lack of "pep" shown in the baseball season of this year. This is very evident when we consider that there are few who watch our boys while practicing on the diamond, and that only a small number send the boys away with a supporting handshake. We are not complaining of anyone in particular; but feel that each student is at fault in this respect.

When the team leaves the college to play on a foreign field, let's give them a hearty sendoff. When the team plays on our home diamond, let's boost them with a cheer. On Friday, May 26th, there is a home game with Bucknell. May our aim be "100% Present", and our motto be "Bucknell to the Bench."

Come one, come all,
To the Baseball—call.

A WORD OF THANKS

The Editorial Staff, in behalf of the student body, takes this opportunity to thank the college authorities for the advancement made with respect to tennis facilities. We feel that the conditions have been improved to a great degree. Never before during our stay at Albright, have we used any system in playing tennis. The plan that is now in use, at least regulates the scheduling of games. We firmly believe that the present system has proved satisfactory, and thank the authorities for same.

My Opinion Is This

Here is the place to give expression to your opinions about irregular conditions in our student life. The name of the contributor will be withheld if so desired.—Editor.

Somehow many of Albright's students have thus far failed to comprehend what student life consists in. To be sure, his first reason for coming to college is to come in touch with the thoughts of great men. His purpose for doing this is to train his own mind, that it may react in the form of constructive thinking, and thus make a fuller appreciation of life possible both for himself and his friends.

It seems that a love of and for the truth should find expression in a constant and diligent application to our daily task, and the acceptance of kindly criticism. This would qualify us to become "fellows" and not only students of those whose works we study, as well as of those who teach. The often wild expression of delight, when one of the professors finds it necessary to absent himself from one recitation period or more, and the disgusting frowns which gather on the face of some when constructive criticism is offered from behind the desk, however, do not indicate such noble purpose as suggested.

Every class hour ought to be welcomed. We are paying for the services which the teachers are offering us. Criticism ought to be invited and happily accepted in order that we might come "to see ourselves as others see us," and thus pave the way to higher attainments. The critic, as a rule, is the one who possesses the conceited idea that he comprehends all as no other can. He is also characterized as one who seeks large rewards for little services. The same student is found taking an equally unfavorable attitude toward the literary society work, religious activities, and the social life about the school. Life's opportunities are extended but once as we pass our way. It might be well for many of us to do less "kicking", and to avail ourselves of every possible nugget of gold.

A Request

Y. M. C. A. CONFERENCE AT U. OF PITTSBURGH

Another lap of our College life has been run; and as we begin the fourth round, we see that we shall need all the progressive ideas possible to attain the utmost success for the various organizations.

For this reason, it was necessary to have a representative at the Y. M. C. A. Officers' Conference at Pittsburgh, where not only progressive ideas for a progressive Y. M. C. A. were discussed, but also practical working plans were presented by various representatives of the different Colleges.

There were also speakers not connected with the Y. M. C. A., such as Howard Heinz, of Heinz & Co., Chancellor Brown of Pitt. University, Dr. McNaugher, President of Pitt. Theological Seminary and others who showed how the college Y. M. C. A.'s can train men for Christian Leadership in the world today. All these addresses were very instructive, as well as inspirational. They set forth the idea that we are living in a day, when all professions demand that each individual stand at all times for personal convictions; and that he should not be swayed by every doctrine which confronts him.

The time spent at the Conference seemed very short, being only two and one-half days. The time was completely occupied from 8 A. M. to 10 P. M. on Saturday. Sunday we were busy from 8:30 A. M. to 4:00 P. M. In looking back over these few days, personally I feel that there is no place where better spots could have been presented for the benefit of Y. M. C. A. presidents. Men like W. H. Tinker, L. M. Miller, Frank Olmstead—old courses in the Y. M. C. A. harnes—were always near for personal consultation; and thus every representative who was present is prepared to give his best to his respective Y. M. C. A.

BRIGHTER DAYS FOR THE CLERIC

Every day more practical use for scientific principles and their direct application are being found. In a recent issue of a well-known city newspaper an article appeared stating that the minister of one of the largest churches of the city was having the church equipped with many colored electric lights. Different combinations of these lights were to be switched on and off during the sermon, and this would aid in producing the different psychological effects upon the audience. Now science has gone one step further and states in a recent issue of a chemical magazine that different odors also produce different psychological effects.

We can hardly imagine what a boon to the minister science is going to be in the future. Imagine the minister being aided with flaring red and yellow lights and a spray of sulphur dioxide (common sulfur gas) when attempting to vividly describe the nether regions, or of a combination of brown lights and a spray of butyl mercaptan (the odor with which that furry black and white night prowler defends itself) to describe the despicable character of brewers, distillers and bootleggers.

Many other combinations might be suggested if space would permit, but these are sufficient to show to what extent science may aid the minister or lecturer. Cheer up, members of the cleric, science is coming to your aid to make a powerful message of what you might otherwise consider a very poor sermon.

COLLEGE NOTES

Oh, dear! Oh, dear! these glee trips are simply terrible on the cases—those left behind. Oh my! oh my! But cheer up! It's an ill wind that blows nobody good. The Post-office Department business has picked up suspiciously.

The Girls' Glee left for their second week-end trip, May 11. The tour included York, Red Lion, and Wrightsville.

Think hard and try to remember back as far as the night of Wednesday, May the tenth. Ah, you do? Well, if you weren't an "inmate" of Mohn Hall that night, you didn't get half its charm. The fair ones were all soundly—no, not sleeping, but studying, when terrific yells and direful commotion was wafted from the direction of Main Building. Horned heads and "kimmmed" figures popped out the window to see straggling across to the sacred precincts, a band of bum-like serenaders. They had on, —but we won't say what they had on, it wouldn't sound nice. But, heavens, who thinks of looks? When they started to play and sing. Boy, it was great. May, Music, Moonlight, Men! Who would wish for more?

The other night Claire Dice gazed wonderingly around the dining-room, and, as usual, there weren't many girls there when supper started. Claire abstractedly exclaimed, "I wonder where everybody is." And Polk immediately, interested,—"I don't know where Mabel is."

Miss Catharine Marquardt of Pottsville visited over the week-end, May 6.

Miss Sara Statler was soloist at a Masonic banquet in Tremont, May 10th. She was the guest of the Otto family.

Apartments to let:—Mohn Hall fire-escape has some excellent steps which are ready for occupancy. One family, Mr. and Mrs. Robin have already settled and are quite pleased with their home. The apartment is small but large enough to hold four dear little blue eggs.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Shewell, and daughter, Pauline, and Misses Adda Venus and Gladys Snyder visited Albright College over the week-end. They were the guests of their son on his birthday.

Messrs. Shick, Beecher and N. Miller represented the Albright Political Club at the reception given John A. McSparran on May 6, by the Fontana Grange, at Fontana, Pa.

Interesting Glee Trip Items:

Sara Statler, calmly pouring unbelievably rich, thick, cream into her morning cup of coffee, was startled to hear the child of the hostess, "Mom, Mom," very excitedly, and then giggled, "Oh, Mom, look—she's pouring mayonnaise in her coffee.

Grace Otto played the leading part in the tragedy drama, "The Purple Tapestry".

Grace Statler haughtily turned up her nose at "schmear-case" disdaining any knowledge whatever. Sara "What, don't you ever eat it?" "Never heard of it." "Why, we thought that all people from the country ate "schmear-case". Grace's nose came down, and Sara giggled.

MISS DOROTHY HOLLIDAY HERE FOR TWO DAYS

At the regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. on Tuesday Evening, May 9, Miss Holliday, student volunteer, gave the girls a very interesting talk on foreign missions.

Miss Holliday is preparing to enter the foreign mission field in India. In speaking of the many opportunities that are open to college women, she stressed the teaching profession in the foreign field. In a very realistic way she brought home to us the distressing conditions existing among the people in the far interior of Japan and India.

"One of the important things to keep before us", said Miss Holliday "is a noble purpose and a high ideal." And in this age of opportunity for service, the educated woman can find no better way to serve humanity than to carry to her sisters in other countries, the light of the gospel, to-gether with inspiration and knowledge for better living conditions.

The following morning in chapel, Miss Holliday spoke to the entire student body. She said that in the modern college, the interest that is taken in democracy is measured by the active part the students take in bringing the knowledge of democratic institutions to others who need it. In choosing our career, we find more opportunities in a foreign country, and in the realization that we are bringing joy and happiness to others, we, ourselves are made happier.

In the evening Miss Holliday met the Y. W. Cabinet and discussed practical problems and impressed the members with the importance of always keeping in mind the purpose of the Y. W. C. A. She also offered very helpful suggestions to the Missionary Committee with respect to means of arousing further interest in mission work.

NEOCOSMIAN

The motto "Onward" calling all Neos to the task of building the "Neo-Cosmos" still rings out its challenge to every last student. But a few days remain for any who may have failed to redeem the time and help make the last few meetings of the literary society both interesting and effective. During the course of the year splendid opportunities were offered for growth and development along literary lines, which some of us turned aside. The better spirit, however, is to cultivate the good habit of attending the meetings as they are held each Friday evening at 6:15, and contribute our part to the success of our Society. The Neocosmians have thus far never known defeat and never shall. Will you as a "Neo" help to advance her cause and spirit?

On the night of May 19th our Senior members presented an interesting and helpful program.

Current Events.....Heninger.
Five Minute Speech ---- Paul Fry.
Five Minute Speech ----- Wagner.

Sociological Talk ----- Blank.
Vocal Solo ----- Basom.
Scientific Talk ----- Hartzler.

On the 26th of May we will spend a "Night with the Poets". Each member will answer to the roll with a quotation.

The program:—

"Tennyson's Treatment of Love—Teter.

"Walt Whitman—Man and Poet"—Sechrist.

"Whittier as a Poet" -- Crumbling.
"Wordsworth's Treatment of Nature"—H. Andrews.

Although the number present was not very large, due to the absence of the baseball team and of others who went home over the week-end, the society had a very interesting program on May 12th. Every member on the program except two, who had, however, secured substitutes, was present. The program was as follows:

Current Events..... Dietz.
Debate—"Resolved that immigration to the U. S. should be prohibited for a period of five years.

Affirmative Negative
Kyle Hewitt
Raffensperger Snyder

The Judges, Messrs. Basom, Roland and Escott decided in favor of the negative side. The question was opened for general discussion by the house.

Impromptu Talks—Shick, Lackey.

EXCELSIOR LITERARY SOCIETY

The meeting of May 5 was short, snappy, and to the point. K. Benfer presented a variety of current events, and then came a spirited debate on the question, "Resolved that the miners are justified in their demands in the present coal strike." N. Miller and E. Bahney upheld the Affirmative, and S. Mehaffie and H. Clark, the Negative.

E. E. Hostetter opened the program of May 12 with a well-prepared speech. Glen Raffensperger read an enlightening essay on "The Freshman Year at College." In his essay Raffensperger presented many reasons why the Freshman year is most important as a success-determining factor. H. W. Beecher then gave an eight-minute speech on "The Arms Conference", stating among other things that W. J. Bryan deserves credit for beginning the movement for disarmament. The program ended with an interesting speech by O. B. Bennett on the subject, "What Does a Business-man Know?"

PENNSYLVANIA MUSIC WEEK IN MYERSTOWN

The state-wide celebration of Music Week was especially interesting in Myerstown and about the college. Chapel music was selected from Pennsylvania composers and short talks on the prominence of our state in the Music world were given.

Thursday and Friday nights were publicly celebrated in the High School with excellent programs composed of town and college talent. On Thursday night the Myerstown Band, conducted by Mr. Bordner, gave the evening's entertainment, with Mr. Earl Kurtz, a college student, as violin soloist. He played Nevin's "Narcissus".

Friday night occasioned a more varied program. The various church choirs of the town, Lutheran, Reformed and United Brethren; vocal solos by Mrs. Benfer and Miss Light were delightfully rendered.

A piano solo by Mrs. Schoener was encored, as was also a pleasing vocal duet by Mrs. Hawk and Miss Tice. The Boy's Glee Club of Albright scored a big hit in their snappy numbers, and was encored three times. Silver collections were lifted for the benefit of the Playground Association.

THEMISIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

Although the Girls' Glee Club was away, the Themisians held a lengthy and very interesting meeting on the evening of May 5th. The program was as follows:

Piano Solo ---- Mary Marquardt.
 Declamation ---- Margaret Hetrick.
 Literary Production -- Mabel Ewing.
 Vocal Solo ----- Jessie Statler.

Debate—"Resolved that the World War has been a benefit to all Nations".

Affirmative—Claire Dice, Pauline Brower.

Negative—Margaret Davis, Mrs. Mohn.

Reading ----- Grace Snyder.
 Themisian Echo -- Ruth Weinberg.

The debate was one of the most interesting features of the program and the participants showed great interest in the subject.

TOWN NOTES

On May 12th, Ralph H. Bahney, candidate for the State Legislature, delivered a talk to a large number of Myerstown citizens. He was brot to Myerstown by a group of his friends who are conducting similar campaigns in the other towns of the County. Accompanying him were the American Legion Bugle Corps and the Penway Quartette.

FRATERNITY NOTES

Zeta Omega Epsilon

Frater E. A. Long paid his regular weekly visit to the Fraternity.

Zeta Omega Epsilon respectfully announces that fraters Dice and Sheeley have been accepted into active membership in the fraternity.

Pi Tau Beta

Frater C. V. Hassler '18 and his wife, formerly Miss Mabel Cox '19 spent May 12th, renewing old acquaintances at their Alma Mater. Mr. Hassler received his Bachelor's degree and Master's degree as a divinity student at Princeton Seminary on May 9th. We wish them well in the labors among Presbyterian folk at Lower Chanceford, Pa.

Frater A. E. Lehman '11, a missionary stationed at Yushdien, Hunan, China, set sail with his family for the home-land, April 29th. We shall welcome them when they arrive.

The fraternity received an interesting communication from one of its members, Rev. C. W. Guinter, missionary to Africa, stationed at Donja, North Nigeria. In it he expressed his appreciation of our interest as indicated by an Xmas greeting of the progress Albright is experiencing, and expressed as well his call for more help to stem the oncoming tide of Islam.

ALLEGRIANS TRAVEL TO QUENTIN

On Friday evening, May 5, the Allegrians motored to Quentin, a small town north of Lebanon, where they rendered an excellent program. The Allegrians, formerly the Agony Six, are composed of the following members: Livingood, Brown, Roland, Heller, John Raffensperger, and Polk.

The program consisted of:

- String Quartette -- Popular Songs.
- Livingood, Brown, Heller, Roland.
- Vocal Solo ----- Polk.
- Reading ----- Raffensperger.
- Violin Solo ----- Brown.
- Piano Solo ----- Heller.
- String Trio,— Livingood, Brown, Roland.
- Vocal Solo ----- Polk.
- Reading ----- Raffensperger.
- Violin Solo ----- Brown.
- String Quartette—Livingood, Heller, Brown, Roland.
- Alma Mater ----- Club.
- Bhoom Yell.

The club was well received and the audience showed their gratification by the applause which called forth encore after encore. A big hit of the evening was the splendid reading done by Raffensperger, who held his audience spell-bound for thirty minutes. The ever popular String Quartette with its jazzy up-to-date goods also scored a triumph. Brown, who can make his violin speak, was up to his usual excellence; and, generally speaking, the concert was a signal success.

ALUMNI DEPARTMENT

The following item, submitted by the chairman of the Alumni Memorial Committee will be read with eager anticipation:—

Active work by the Committee in charge of the Alumni Memorial Fund was hindered during the year because of circumstances well known to all who are interested. The long delay of this progressive Alumni movement is exceedingly regretted; however, it is hoped that soon the situation will be cleared, and the Campaign be successfully completed.

On Monday evening of Commencement Week the Committee will meet at Myerstown to canvass the question and report to the Alumni Association at the annual meeting.

ALBRIGHT COLLEGE—ITS HISTORY

The Third Link

From 1881 to 1902 Union Seminary (Later Central Pennsylvania College) and Schuylkill Seminary and later Albright Collegiate Institute, worked side by side. After the incorporation of Union Seminary in 1880 the institution picked up rapidly and in less than two years time more than doubled its enrollment. The faculty was not large but all worked together harmoniously and with the single motive of giving the best possible training to the young people under their care. The product of those early years, with small graduating classes, will show whether they, at least in a measure, achieved their purpose. Among those early graduates are one successful superintendent of coal mines, one professor in the University of Maine, one judge of the United States District Court in Central Pennsylvania, a number of successful ministers, one manufacturer and several successful business men.

About 1885 the need of a college was felt and by degrees the work of the Seminary was shaped to that end, so that at a meeting of the Board of Trustees in Green Street Church, Baltimore, Md., during the session of the Central Pennsylvania Conference in 1887, it was resolved to apply for a college charter, under the name of Central Pennsylvania College. This charter was promptly secured and the class of 1887 was the first to receive their diplomas as college graduates. From that class of ten came three lawyers, three ministers (one later a college professor), two home makers, a stock raiser and an educator.

In 1896 a committee appointed for that purpose began to lay plans for a larger endowment and this was perfected by the time of the spring conferences in 1897, and Rev. W. E. Detwiler, the president of the Board of Trustees, spent two full years in that work with good success. The college grew in influence and usefulness till the time of the merger with Albright College.

MALE GLEE CLUB RECEIVE
ROYAL WELCOME IN ALLEN-TOWN AND BETHLEHEM
—MAKE BIG HIT

As I sit at my desk contemplating over the trip, I can truthfully say, that never before was there a more successful trip taken by the Albright Glee Club. Success attended us from the beginning to the end. The Glee Club left Myerstown on April 28, at 11:28 A. M. As usual Ted Kemmerer and Willard Miller were not in sight when the train pulled into the station, but by a hair breadth escape, they boarded the train, as it was leaving the depot. So far so good; for the worst was yet to come.

Were we welcomed at Allentown? Had you seen those palace cars awaiting us in front of the depot, you would not hesitate a moment in pronouncing it a royal welcome. We were immediately taken to the High School where the Club was engaged to sing at 2:30 P. M., but upon our arrival at the building, we discovered that our music was gone. In a mysterious way it dropped from the side of the automobile and never made its appearance again. However, by the thoughtfulness of John Raffensperger, who brought some extra music with him, we were able to give our concert that afternoon and the following nights.

The Club gave three selections in the High School, the appreciation of which was exhibited by the thunderous applause from the students. Seeing that the Albright Boys were supplied with an abundance of numbers, the Principal called the entertainment to a halt, much to the surprise and disappointment of the Club.

In the evening the boys arrived at the High School with the usual amount of life. Not a moment of the evening was dulled by a lack of interest, either on the part of the Club or the audience. The Club sang unusually well and was commended by many listeners. The Male Quartette also reached the height of its success of the season by the rendition of Tosti's "Good Bye." The quality of music rendered by the String Trio was pronounced excellent; this due to the extreme solemn attitude taken on the part of the players, Livingood, Brown and Roland. Mr. Polk withheld no energy in the rendition of the "Erking," and was well applauded by the audience. Mr. John Raffensperger entertained the thirsty

Ted Kemmerer, who sang his favorite song "Dixie". As usual, he exhibited some of the most clever clog-dancing that was ever witnessed on the Allentown stage. One of the unique stunts was the "finger and toe" crawl, which he worked to perfection.

The following night, April 29, the Club journeyed to Bethlehem where a similar program was given. This concert was given in the Emmanuel U. E. Church, which edifice was well filled with a very appreciative audience. Through the kindness of Rev. Huber, pastor of the Church, an evening dinner was given to the Club in the basement of the church.

After the concert, the Club was taken in autos to Allentown where they remained over night. Sunday morning the Club sang in Grace U. E. Church. Their services were liberally made use of. In the afternoon the Club sang in Seibert U. E. Church. Evening found the boys back in the old town, delighted with their successful trip, and yet glad to return to their Alma Mater.

The following comment appeared in the "Allentown Morning Call":

Large Audience Hears the Myerstown Singers in H. S. Auditorium

The Male Glee Club of Albright College gave so delightfully, so jolly a program in the Allentown High school auditorium last evening, that they were recalled again and again, and encore after encore had to be given. The popular entertainers from the Myerstown College have come almost every year for a concert in this city, and quite as usual they were greeted by an immense audience the larger part of which was mentioned on the patron list.
