ALBRIGHT LIONS MAKE HISTORY IN HOLDING BISON TO 13-6 SCORE; HINO, IATESTA OUTSTANDING

Coach White's Aggregation Outplays Opponents But Fail To Get the Breaks; Entire Line Proves To Be Bulwark of Strength; Backfield Display Great Co-ordination

Captain Hatton, Suydam and Fromm Form Strong Defensive Trio on Red & White Line; Myers, Bisons' Star

A fighting-mad Albright football eleven fought the husky Bucknell University team to a standstill for 36 minutes of a thrilling battle, only to be cheated of at least a tie score by a fickle fate.

Apparently inspired by visions of a first conquest over a Bison squad in five years of competition, the Red and White snatched a six-point lead early in the fray, only to see the breaks of the game, in the form of injuries and penalties, give a bigger, luckier Bucknell aggregation the victory in the last few minutes of the final period.

Hino and Iatesta led the Lion offense to their sole score of the evening after five minutes of play, the stocky halfback carrying the ball over after Hino had run and passed the pigskin to the ten-yard line. The loss of Hino's generalship and offensive play together with L. Hatton's long punting, was sadly missed when these two boys had to be withdrawn from play because of injuries.

It was the sturdy Albright line, however, which won the real honors of the day. With all seven starting linemen playing the full 60 minutes the Lion forward wall was able to stave off additional Bison touchdowns gallant stands in the shadow of their goal line. Captain F. Hatton and Suydam featured on the defense, with the sterling aid of Gass, Daub, and the other forwards.

Albright's only score began soon after the opening whistle. Dittman recovered an enemy fumble at mid-field and the attack was on. Hino threw a pass to Orr for 15 yards, and then dashed around end for an additional 10 yards. After a 15-yard penalty for holding, the little quarterback ripped off tackle for 12 yards to offset the handicap. Then came the most

DAVIS-ELKINS FOOTBALL GAME TO FEATURE SPECIAL PLANNED HOME-COMING DAY FESTIVITIES

Alumni Dance Scheduled for 9.00 P.M. at Berkshire Hotel; Informal Dinner To Be Held in College Dining Room at 5.00 o'clock; Students Are Asked to Co-operate

Berks Co. Alumni Hold First Meeting

Miss Sophie Noll and Rev. Kachel Speak at Session

The monthly meeting of the Albright Berks County Alumni Association is again scheduled for the first Monday night of each month.

The first meeting of the year was held Monday, October, 3. Miss Sophie Noll gave an interesting illustrated talk concerning a recent tour thru California. Rev. Kachel also appeared on the program.

ALUMNI PICNIC

Berks County Branch, Albright College Alumni Association, held a twilight picnic Monday evening in Luden's Park, along the Schuylkill River. Weather conditions were favorable to the annual Summer social event of the organization, and there was an attendance of almost 100 members and friends. A frankfurter roast featured the supper menu. During the evening there was a program of games under the direction of Charles Brightbill, of the city Recreation Department.

College Band Will March to Parade

Band To Have New Uniforms and Snappy Music

The Albright College Band will make an appearance in the annual Fallowsen Parade, Monday, October 31, on Penn Street. This parade is under the auspices of the city recreation department and Thomas W. Lantz is the general chairman of the parade committee. Band president John H. Bell has filed the official entry for the student musical organization.

The parade will feature competitive band marching with distinctive prizes for the winners. The Albright band with their new uniforms and snappy music hope to be among the winners.

Prof. Miller Speaks At Vesper Service

Vesper last Sunday was in charge of the Y. W. C. A. Special music was furnished by Reading talent. Miss E. Ritter rendered two violin selections. She was accompanied by Miss Daniels also of the city.

The speaker was Professor W. I. Miller who gave an inspiring address on "Making Decisions." He cited Moses and his renouncing a brilliant career in Pharaoh's court for a more worthy cause. No decision should be made without first casting out selfish ideas.

Previous Lion Victory Over "Scarlet Hurricane" Arouses Enthusiasm; Frats. and Sors. Hold Open House

The annual Alumni Home-Coming Day will be held October 22. Alumni president, Elmer L. Mohn is busy with plans which will provide an enjoyable day for the returning graduates. The Davis and Elkins football team of Elkins, West Virginia will provide the main attraction for the Home-Coming Day festivities. It is expected that a large number of our Alumni will return to the campus and again cheer the Red and White on to victory.

Arrangements are being completed by all the fraternities and sororities to hold open house that day and a royal welcome will await the alumni members of the organized groups.

That Davis and Elkins will provide an interesting afternoon can be assured. All those who were fortunate enough to witness Albright's 7-0 victory two seasons ago will want to be on hand as they know the fast quality of football played by the "Scarlet Hurricane." Davis and Elkins came to Reading with a nationally known eleven and were more than chagrined when the final whistle found them on the short end of the score. Last season the boys from West Virginia had the highest scoring team in the East and won ten games and lost one, to St. Louis University. This game will have only one purpose for the visitors and that is—Revenge. But the Albright Lions are plenty tough this year as is attested by the heart-breaking loss to the giant Bucknell team.

After the game an informal dinner will be held in the college dining room at 5 o'clock.

The day's activities will be brought to a climax with the Alumni Dance scheduled for 9.00 P. M. at the Berkshire Hotel. Raymond Dengler is chairman of the dance committee and he promises both Alumni and students an evening of pleasure.

THE ORDER CHANGES

Present economic conditions will no doubt greatly effect the division of college students in this and succeeding years. This year's Freshman is faced with a problem of deciding in which direction to bend his efforts. Several years ago the majority of students began their college work with a definite technical career in mind. The world of big business complained that colleges and universities were turning out too few technicians. So there was a rush to the technical courses in institutions throughout the land. The interest in Liberal Arts was side-tracked in the desire for specific technical knowledge. Today we are faced with a condition which admits a surplus of skilled technicians.

The law of supply and demand has operated in this as it has in other things. The technical fields no longer appear so bright with appeal. The economic system of today has given man the problem of enforced leisure and unemployment. Institution of learning have a dual function of preparing students for the work of life. So the teachers of English Languages, Philosophy and the other arts will again come into their own. The only way to handle this present problem of enforced idleness is by a program of intellectual work. A revived interest in the arts will amply provide for this. Therefore the present college student will not attempt to face today's world without sufficient knowledge of the arts and their application. The increase in the number of amateur writers and the growth of the reading public show a definite tendency to a shift in intellectual interest and pursuit.

This, to us, will be a welcome change. The man with a highly specialized training, and that only, is an undesirable in our scheme of things. The doctrine of "specialization" provides undesirable as well desirable results. The one-sided individual is not balanced mentally and mental poise is very much in need at present.

STUDENT INTEREST

In the past week we had a demonstration of an abstract quantity which was highly commendable. We refer to the large numbers of Albright students who attended the Bucknell game. Nothing but a good healthy interest in the college prompted these students to make the journey. We admit the interest was athletic, but we also contend that a like spirit could be created in other phases of Albright life. Student interest or in the common term "school spirit" is an elusive quantity. It is here today and gone tomorrow. Everyone connected with Albright is repaid in some way if there is a wide-awake, alert student interest in the student body. It is acknowledged that "school spirit" has been at a low ebb the past two terms.

Many things enter into our thought along these lines. We find that "school spirit" is a fair barometer of the all-round efficiency of the college, including everything. It is seldom hard to gain people's interest in something that is good. A good team seldom lacks patronage. Likewise it would be hard to talk "school spirit" to a group of students who are leaving the classroom with a disgruntled or antagonistic attitude. Few would feel like singing the Alma Mater right after a poor meal in the dining room. Nor would they speak of their school with pride if the moral level of the college was low. These are only examples to prove that every activity of our college has a direct bearing on the amount of student interest.

We desire the ideal school spirit. This would mean a lively interest in every school activity by every student. Things of inferior value do not endure when the superior values are sought after and demanded.

LITERARY

Lives and Letters

(Rudolf Shook, '33)

"The tragic and imperishable history of the Brontës," with overtones of comedy, is told again in E. F. Benson's splendid new biography, Charlotte Brontë (it's always Charlotte, rather than any of her interesting relatives, who is spied upon). In this book they all appear and that strange genius Emily, is discussed briefly but with fine understanding. As for the author of Jane Eyre. Mr. Benson deals with her with an affectionate, often amused, but always understanding detachment. He understands her, but presents no case for her. Charlotte has to stand on her own merits. (She is quite capable of doing this.) With Emily (who certainly needs more log-rolling than the militant Charlotte) he is more partial, for he realizes that while Charlotte had great talent, Emily had genius. She appears only in the friendliest light, but, according to other accounts, it is an illumination not quite accurate. Mr. Benson's Emily is unhappy, while others paint her as cheerful. Personally, I am inclined to agree with Mr. Benson.

It is an interesting and well-written book. There are such elements of pathos and comedy in the "Brontë" Saga, as are meat and drink to the writer, and Mr. Benson glories in them, so that his book always borders on tears and laughter, and often intermingles them. The psychological make-up and peculiar relations of this unusual family are skilfully delineated. There is an exceedingly interesting chapter on the question of the authorship of Wuthering Heights and a satisfactory conclusion. The explanation for Charlotte's enmity toward people seems psychologically sound and is enlightening. This biography is particularly interesting if read in connection with Jane Eyre and Wuthering Heights; as I read it.

Margaret Fishback's book of verse I Feel Better Now caused me to feel decidedly worse. The bracing pick-up which is her only quality seems to be lacking when her verses are crowded together. They are most effective when placed at the end of an article on international relations. Besides, she is most amusing when she writes of cly-footed popular idols, and she has not included a single one of these destructive odes in this collection. Even the titles, with their facile cleverness, fall flat after the first ten pages. One of the best, topping a two line verse about Harlem babies, is "Black is always good." She goes on like that at great length. I would suggest, for Miss Fishback's next book, a collection of portraits not failing to note Queen Mary's but, Miss Crawford's, Sanniquin strut, and H. R. H. of Water blouse eyes. And, if I were Miss Fishback, (I am, of course, that I'm not) I should insist that my book be illustrated by Alajalov.

Where To Go And What To Do:—
The Chocolate Soldier—Strauss' lovely operetta with a really good metropolitan cast starring Charles Purcell. Monday night, October 10—Rajah.

Blessed Event—The much-discussed take-off on Winchell, with Lee Tracy really looking like Walter. Also Mary Brian and Vaudeville.—Astor.

POETRY COLUMN

FULFILLMENT

I have not lived so long in years,
As men are used to timing Life's swift race;
But in the things I've loved and lost—the tears
That lingered on my heart's clear mirror
Long after time and place
Could no more know
Why that image satisfied my soul,
And why I did not want to let it go.
And though my Life's been short, as men would say,
Still, there has always been the starlight glow—
The moon's pale slender line—a sun-swept day—
A violet touched with dew—
A mother's smile—a fathers kindly word—
A knowledge that Youth's sword is blinding Truth.
The softness of Spring rain,
That leaves me with a hale
Of bronzed curls—
The staidifying pain
That comes of doing Right, when Wrong would be an easier way.
All these are
Are gifts that never tire—
I love them.
But tomorrow they could go,
Because, I know
I've lived to find the higher love
Of their simplicity.
And when I go—
I'll keep a memory
Of these I've loved.

GRIDIRON GRAVY

Bucknell 13, Albright 6

That is the final score of Friday night's game at the Bucknell stadium and those that were fortunate enough to witness the fray between the Bisons and the Lions were treated to as choice a football classic as could be desired. Biased and unbiased rooters will admit that the outcome of the game would have been somewhat altered had not the Lions been the victims of numerous bad "breaks." Fate deemed that Albright should not win the game and it was so. Better luck next time.

We witnessed the game from the press box so that there was very little that we did not catch. Press reports are that the crowd attending the game was one of the largest ever to witness a game at the stadium, surpassed only by that present at the Home-coming Day game. Albright rooters were there in large numbers and they outcheered the larger Bucknell delegation.

Albright scored its lone touchdown in the first quarter after Hino had passed to Johnny Fromm for a gain of thirty-five yards which brought the ball to the ten yard line from which Hino, latesta, and L. Hatton alternated in carrying the ball to the one yard marker. On the next play latesta dodged his way over Bucknell's goal line and Albright was in the lead. Hatton's kick went wide of the uprights.

Tommy latesta and Captain Franny Hatton stole the show with their sterling defensive work. The two teamed together to make tackle after tackle and we shudder to think what might have happened had these two not backed up the line. Outstanding on the line was the work of Hermie Suydam, along with that of Karlovich and Al Dittmann. Art Daub and Johnny Fromm did yeoman work in spilling the interference, making possible the tackling of Franny and latesta.

Bailey Gass, sophomore tackle, is rounding into a steady performer and with more experience will approach the standard set by Hermie Suydam. Gass, by the way, does the kicking-off for Albright and shows improvement with each game.

Hino's pass, which travelled fifty yards but gained some thirty-two yards, was the outstanding play of the game. With the ball on Bucknell's forty yard line, Hino received the ball, and moving backward beyond the mid-field marker, heaved it to Johnny Fromm who was stopped where he caught it, on the ten yard line. Fromm went down fast and evaded Bucknell backs to make the catch. From here the Albright backs went to work and scored their lone counter.

Bucknell's first touchdown came early in the second quarter after the ball had been advanced to the ten yard line from which it was taken over by Myers on a pass from Reznichak. The kick for the extra point went wide. Their second touchdown, resulted from an Albright blocked punt which was recovered by Reznichak on Albright's fifteen yard marker, and after making the down by a matter of half an inch, Rhubright took the ball over on a short end run. The extra point was made good.

Reznichak and Rhubright, Bucknell sophomores, proved to be the thorns in the Lions' side. Between the two, they gained yardage consistently and were constant threats. The latter got the Bisons out of a number of tight spots by some fancy punting, one of his boots travelling over fifty yards.

As in the West Chester game, Albright received numerous penalties which lost for them a matter of one hundred and fifteen yards. Bucknell was penalized too, but Albright's penalties came at critical stages and proved costly to the Lions.

FROSH MAKE GREAT SHOWING, HOLD PREP SCHOOL SCORELESS

Game Marred by Penalties and Ragged Team-play; Coach Snyder's Boys Show Great Promise in First Game; Schwenk and Meikle Outstanding on Offensive Play

A fast and determined Allentown Prep eleven held the Frosh to a scoreless tie, at the Stadium, on Saturday afternoon. Jimmy Snyder's men played a hard game and outwished the Allentown boys gaining twelve first downs to the Prep Schol's nine. The yearlings would have scored if they had not been quite so rough, as they were on the receiving end of 178 yards in penalties.

Schwenk and Woods were the stars of the Frosh, while Meikle was the mainstay of the Allentown eleven. Early in the game the Allentown Prep eleven started down the field and carried the pigskin to the Albright's four yard strip where they were held and the Frosh punted out of danger.

The Frosh started a passing game in the second quarter and were in scoring distance when they were held on downs and the Allentown boys booted far into Red and White territory. The first half was marked with many penalties and stopped the Frosh from scoring.

The second half featured Albright score as Allentown opened up with a clever aerial that had the Frosh baffled. The Prep eleven was gaining ground with the exchange of punts during the second half with Flood out booting Jefferson the Albright booter.

Next Saturday while the varsity is taking a rest the Frosh will play the West Chester State Teachers College Yearlings, at the Stadium sensational play of the tilt, as Hino heaved a 40-yard forward pass to Fromm, who was stopped at the 10-yard line. After three line bucks, latesta negotiated the last yard for the touchdown. Hatton missed the placement kick for the extra point.

Immediately after Albright kicked off, the Bucknell team launched an offensive of their own. Vetter slashed through tackle for 13 yards, and then threw a long pass to Myers which was good for a 32-yard gain to the Lions' 2-yard line. Reznichak made nine off tackle and Vetter completed the first down on the Red and White 8-yard stripe. Myers scored the tying points after taking a short pass from Reznichak. When Vetter missed the try for point, the score remained at 6-6.

Neither team registered any additional scoring until the fourth quarter although Bucknell threatened several times; once in the second period until latesta intercepted a Bison pass on his own 15-yard mark; and more menacingly in the third quarter, when the enemy was first down and four to go on the Lion 4-yard line. Here Reznichak failed in three successive attempts to take the ball over, Captain Hatton recovering the home team full-back's fumble on Albright's 1-yard stripe.

Although the Red and White took the ball to Bucknell's 28-yard line early in the final quarter, a series of disastrous penalties for holding and a partially-blocked punt by Orr gave the big Bison team possession of the ball on Albright's 10-yard mark. Here the tired Lions made another gallant stand, only to see the Bisons secure a first down with one inch to spare after four plays. Rubright, second-string half-back, then skirted end for the last five yards to a touchdown and victory. The final score became 13-6 when Kubacki scrub back, place-kicked the point.

Y.M. and Y. W. Hold Freshmen Party

Y. W. C. A. in Charge of Meeting; Musical Numbers Given

The Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. held a "get-together" party for the Freshmen on Tuesday evening, in the lower social room of Selwyn Hall. With the aid of the Cabinet members from both organizations the Freshmen were enabled to become acquainted with each other. Games, contests, and groups singing provided entertainment for the evenings.

After the games a doggie roast was held around the fireplace.

The committee in charge of the program consisted of the following: Othe Hoofnagle, chairman; Ethel Sprinkle, Ruth Turner, Catharine Yerkes, James Mohn and Kenneth Bergstreser.

And then there's the Freshman who asked Coach White for a scrimmage line. When questioned, he revealed that he wanted it to tie up a charley-horse. Hey! Hey! How 'm I doin'?

Recently Wesleyan university awarded a "W" to a man who had played third-base on the 1882 baseball team. No reason was given for the delay.

COLLEGIANA

In a survey recently taken at the University of Paris, it was revealed that 90 per cent of the student body does not believe in God.

Up at the University of Rochester the faculty decided that it was better for the students to sleep in their own beds rather than in the class room so they have abolished the eight o'clock class.

Of course we don't know; we only heard that a student at the University of Alabama took a course entitled "How to Study," flunked it and passed all his other subjects with an average of B.

The University of California now offers an elementary course in fishing. Practice is held in the University's swimming pool.

Some more depression statistics—At Ohio State the physical education department has recently announced that the incoming women are thinner since the depression.

In answering term examinations in the course of contemporary history, the freshmen of Rutgers who were taking the course made some of the following answers

"The Moslems were a gift from heaven to the cities of Europe."

"Islam is a shepherd who saw God talking in the field. Then God burned up."

"Cincinnati is the city about which the ad "Vas you efer in Zinzinati", was written."

The faculty of Toronto university has forbidden students to have stenographers take lecture notes for them.

A course in lovemaking has been instituted at Middlebury. Members of the senior class will act as demonstrators and faculty members have announced their intention of enrolling in the course.

Unique History of "Albrightian"

Former Editor Compiles Interesting Summary

(By J. A. Linder, '31)

At New Berlin

THE ALBRIGHTIAN had its origin in the Excelsior Literary Society. That ancient organization was able to publish a small pamphlet two years after its beginning in 1856. It was called The Excelsior Literary Gem, and was published every six weeks by that Society. Records show that it made its appearance regularly from 1858 to June 1863. At that time there was a break in the publication of the Gem due to the Civil War. When the school, then called Union Seminary, again resumed activities, the Gem did not. It was thereafter published only on very special occasions such as Commencement or on the anniversary of the Excelsior Literary Society. Several years later it disappeared entirely from the campus.

Shortly after Union Seminary changed its name to Central Pennsylvania College in the Spring of 1887, another campus periodical was presented to the student body, THE CENTRAL PENNSYLVANIA COLLEGIAN. This 24 page magazine, 7x10 inches in size, was the result of popular demand upon the part of the students, after two campus publications, The Seminary Guard and The Students' Visitor had previously failed. It was published just four times and then had to be discontinued owing to financial trouble and poor student co-operation in 1888. However, in 1889 The Daily News a small news organ, was issued daily during the Commencement days of that year and lapsed the stated eleven days.

In February of 1890, The Collegian was revived and after a small printing press was saved from the hands of the sheriff, The Collegian was able to continue till June of that year after which it failed due to "poor support of students and advertisers."

At Myerstown

If records are correct, there was no student publications till the year 1903. That year saw the merger of Central Pennsylvania College with Albright, located in Myerstown, Pa. "A Greater Albright" was the slogan, and it was not long before The Albright Bulletin appeared, to help further the interests of the new combination. From its very start it was a great success. Beginning in magazine form, with only a dozen pages to print, it developed into an excellent monthly periodical often numbering over thirty pages. In this form it continued for 23 years until 1926, when it was changed to become a weekly newspaper, the first of its kind on Albright's campus. It was this Bulletin that Albright College brought along when it merged with Schuylkill College in Reading, in 1929.

At Reading

In 1904 the students of Schuylkill Seminary banded together to publish The Narrator, a small magazine, somewhat similar to the early Bulletin. It was issued every month and noted for its fine literary quality. The Narrator was published continuously till 1923, when Schuylkill Seminary was changed to Schuylkill College. The need of a campus newspaper was felt, and accordingly, The Narrator was changed to become The Schuylkill News, published weekly and continuously till the Fall of 1929.

During the latter part of September, 1929 the Editorial Staff of the Albright Bulletin, which had taken over the Schuylkill News, felt that a new name should be adopted for the newspaper which was to become the campus publication of the Greater Albright. Accordingly, by popular student vote the Bulletin changed its name to THE ALBRIGHTIAN.

Interesting Y. M. Session Tuesday

Lloyd Helt Is Speaker at Weekly Services

The regular weekly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held in the college chapel, Tuesday evening. The service took the form of a brief devotional program with voluntary prayers. Lloyd Helt presented the evening thought. He stressed the necessity of seeing beyond the commonplace of life and having visions of greater things to be accomplished.

A short discussion of future plans followed the service. President Bringer outlined some new tentative ideas by which the religious atmosphere of the campus would be improved. He emphasized the prominence which the Tuesday evening sessions would have throughout the year. Success of these plans depend on student co-operation which, it is hoped, will be forthcoming.

Mission Session At Baltimore

Miss Elsie Garlach and Sarah Hoffman of Lutheran Club Attend

On Saturday, October 1st, the Young Women's Missionary Congress of the United Lutheran Church in the United States and Canada was held in Baltimore, Maryland. Miss Elsie Garlach, faculty advisor of the Albright Lutheran Club, and Sarah Hoffman attended.

This one-day-congress registered more than twelve hundred young women from colleges and schools from coast to coast. The sessions were held in St. Paul's Lutheran Church and the Lord Baltimore Hotel.

The theme of the conference was "Missions Matching the Hour". Some of the noted speakers were: Miss A. E. Sanford, from India; Miss Mary Helt-bridle, from Japan; Mrs. C. E. Buschmann, from Africa; Miss Mette Blair, from India; Miss Satoko Matumoto, a native Japanese; and Miss Margaret Stewart, from Liberia, Africa, who is now studying at Spelman College, Atlanta, Georgia.

The congress was divided into sessions including speaker hours, and forum groups. In the evening an elaborate banquet was served in the Lord Baltimore Hotel Ball Room. Dr. A. R. Wentz, from the Gettysburg Theological Seminary was the principal speaker.

The many still must labor for one.—Lord Byron.

EDITOR'S BLUES

If we print jokes, folk say we are silly.

If we don't, they say we are too serious.

If we publish original matter, they say we lack variety.

If we publish things from other papers, we are too lazy to write.

If we don't print contributions, we don't show appreciation.

If we do print them, the paper is full of junk.

Like as not some fellow will say we swiped this from another paper.

And we did.

Who's Who

ALICE IRENE FREY

This charming young Miss is undoubtedly the best known and best liked coed on the campus. Her cheerful friendliness and sunny smile are soon familiar sights to the newest Freshman. With such a happy helpful personality it is not unfit that this lady should be president of the Y. W. C. A. on the campus.

Rene comes from Carlisle where she was an honor student in her graduating class. Not the least of her accomplishments is the ability to play anything at all on the piano or the organ.

This year Rene is President of Pi Alpha Tau besides being head of the Y. W. She has been Glee Club accompanist since her Freshman year and has played the piano or organ for practically every service on the campus. At the close of her Junior year she received the Gold A for her leadership in extracurricular and scholastic pursuits.

They are as sick that surfeit with too much, as they that starve with nothing.—Shakespeare.

A little too wise, they say, do ne'er live long.—Thos. Middleton.

He is only fantastical that is not in fashion.—Robert Burton.

I see the right, and I approve it too. Condemn the wrong, and yet the wrong pursue.—Samuel Garth.

Neither fear, nor wish for, your last day.—Martial.
