Student Council Rules Freshmen

Sophs Lose Power Over New Collegians

Overthrowing tradition, Student Council, successors to the sophomore class as the enforcers of freshman customs, met with the frosh in chapel on Tuesday to explain a four-week orientation program instituted this year.

Vincent Rusbosin, president of Student Council, introduced Woodrow Witmer, chairman of the Committee on Freshman Orientation, who conducted the meeting.

Witmer announced that freshmen are to meet for "educational" programs in the chapel every Tuesday at 1 p. m. and for "line-ups" in front of the Science building every Thursday at noon.

Induct Class Last Friday

The last Friday morning under the Frosh regulations will be set aside for an induction ceremony in which the freshmen will be formally enrolled as a class.

"You are going to be privileged to learn just what the symbols of Albright mean," Witmer stated. He then explained in detail the meaning of the seal of Albright, the colors Red and White, and the Albright "Lion." Freshman etiquette was also stressed with a warning to those who proved "poor sports."

The meeting was concluded with the singing of the "Alma Mater," led by cheer leaders Malin and Felter.

Committee Heads Named By Council

Chairmen Get Power To Choose Members

The chairmen of the student committees for the coming year were appointed by Vincent Rusbosin, president of the Student Council, at the first meeting of the student government on Friday.

They are: Freshman orientation, Woodrow Witmer; social activities, Natalie Brant; pep rallies and cheer leaders, Charles Malin; dining hall, Carl Yoder; campus, Jack Boardman; day student girls, Jane Louise Haupt; day student boys, Dennis Strawbridge; dormitory student girls, Kay Wanner.

The council set a precedent by allowing chairmen to select their own committee members from the student body at large, such appointments to be subject to the approval of the student council.

Dorothy Gaul, secretary of Student Council, was appointed head of the new Committee on Constitutional Revision.

Plan Dance Oct. 5

A motion to sponsor a dance in conjunction with the alumni association Homecoming Day, October 5, was unanimously approved.

Plans and dates for the customary Friday evening dances will be announced soon, Natalie Brant said.

Attendance at the first session was almost perfect. Faculty representatives present were Dr. Morris Greth, Miss Ethel Norton, and Dr. F. W. Gingrich.

It's Only the Beginning

No. He didn't splash. That'll come later, perhaps, for Paul Yergey, a frosh from Lehigh, who volunteers (believe that one, if you will) to pose for the above photograph. Administering the breath-taking torture to the poor, defenseless, Yergey are Steve Plaskonos and Jack Gundlach.

Campus Verbal Battles Rage Over Draft, Reporter Finds

Views on Both Sides Are In Overabundance

With the draft controversy literally filling the air everywhere on campus, except, perhaps, in Paffy's headquarters, the Albrightian reporters were on the job this week gathering opinions, pro, con, or in between, from future draftees and the girls they'll leave behind.

The newspapers have been printing the pertinent parts of the draft bill, so this paper will take for granted the students' knowledge of them.

Now to get down to the opinions. JEROME DENNER didn't waste words. He said, "I disapprove entirely, completely, and sincerely, on the grounds that it's undemocratic and the result of war hysteria."

KATHRYN MUHS doesn't agree. She believes "A year in the army won't hurt anyone. It'll be good for some people." EMERSON HAMMER echoed the same opinion in these words: "I think everybody should serve in the army for at least a year."

CHRIS BRATIOTIS struck a negative note with "It's the first road to dictatorship." GEORGE HORN said "It's undemocratic. Besides, France had an army by conscription and see what's happened to it."

CHARLES VIZE also doesn't favor it. In his words, "I believe in pacifism." And JEROME BENTZ is opposed because it is not "according to our democratic ideals and methods."

BOB GIMOTTI said, "It's an all right thing. I'm willing to sacrifice a year of college to train. They should pay a little more, though."

'Y's' Start Season With Annual Retreat

Leave School Tomorrow For Blue Mountain Camp

In order to begin this college year with a week-end of religious inspiration, the combined "Y's" are holding their fifth annual retreat at the Blue Mountain Camp near Hamburg this year, for the first time, in September. The retreat, designed primarily to strengthen individual outlook on religion, centers on this theme: "What is a Genuine Religion?"

Tomorrow morning all "Y Retreaters" will leave the campus from the "Ad" Building at 10 o'clock. The first meal will be served at noon. An hour after dinner the opening assembly will begin, with Dr. F. W. Gingrich speaking on the subject, "Is Religion Personally Satisfying?" Group discussion and comment on Dr. Gingrich's talk and a three-hour recreation period will precede supper scheduled for 6 p. m.

Dean Walton to Speak

The evening assemblage at 7:30 will be addressed by Dean George Walton discussing, "Is Religion Intellectually Respectable?" Sunday morning matins will be held at 7:15 on the lake shore; breakfast will follow at 8 a. m. The discussion groups scheduled for 9 o'clock are planned to give extensive information on a selected list of subjects.

There will be a short intermission before the Holy Communion service is conducted at 11 o'clock, Professor Lewis Smith presiding. After the 12:30 dinner Dr. Milton Gell will speak on "Is Religion Socially Relevant?" Supper will be served at 5:30 P. M. and will be followed by a short vesper service to conclude the religious activity of the week-end. Cars will leave for Reading at 7:30 P. M.

HEO'S HIKE

The HEO Club started its fall program with a hike to Hampden Reservoir last evening. It was a "get-acquainted" trek for freshmen and upperclassmen.

A meeting of the club was held on Monday when plans were made for the year's program.

Alumni Homecoming Next Saturday

Officers of the Alumni Association have completed their plans for the annual Homecoming Day celebration on October 5.

Highlight of the program will be the Albright-Muhlenberg football game at 2:30. Later in the afternoon, sororities and fraternities will hold open house. Evening entertainment includes an informal alumni-student dinner, a one-act play by the Drama Guild, and an alumni-student party in the dining hall.

Missionary Speaks About Chinese Schools

The plight of colleges and universities in war-torn China was described by the Rev. F. W. Brandauer, missionary to that Oriental country, in a talk to the chapel audience on Thursday morning.

Born in Germany and educated in the United States, the Rev. Mr. Brandauer is home for his first leave from China in five years.

About the Cheerleaders

by a Cheerleader

If you think you saw anything wrong with the new girl cheerleaders last Friday night, just stop and consider! None of us had ever come any closer to leading cheers than when we, as freshmen suckers, were forced to lead the rest of the class in making some weak noises. Only one of us had experience and she was head cheerleader in high school way back in Fleetwood, several years ago.

But we had the pep. At least, we thought we had. We started out with some very violent cheering. After zigzagoonizing and imitating a locomotive all week, we still had enough steam to drag ourselves to the game on Friday night under our own power.

If you saw anybody walking around like a one-legged crutch, you can bet it was one of the new cheerleaders. By Thursday, we looked like those things you saw down on Penn street late at night after the American Legion parade, not exactly walking, but just moving around.

Our efforts were appreciated though. We heard some pretty good reports, the best from one of our professors who said we belonged in the Follies. So, if you didn't like it—forget it. Don't get me wrong—I'm not apologizing—I'm just explaining. Not everyone can be a cheerleader. You just have to be the type.

Predigestion

By ROBERT L. WORK

Although the alert reader may find it a presumption to have one present him with a suggested list of articles in current periodicals, there are some things to be read just now that might have escaped his notice in the routine of moving from home to campus. The articles calculated to be most stimulating at the moment are, therefore, presented below by title and annotation in the hope of arousing at the beginning of the term an interest that would not be out of place as a regular habit.

This return to Alma Mater brings to mind the possibility of a new appraisal of the advantages and opportunities a new year may have to offer. To start with the college itself, one can compare it with two others in the news and hold fast that which and so forth: (1) "Education at Bennington" by Hubert Herring in HARPERS for September. This is a report on the Vermont experimental college by one who has been "looking into colleges these twenty-five years"—all types including those "which have rediscovered Plato" and those "which claim to have discovered Christ", not to forget the football colleges, the fraternity colleges, and the college-spirit colleges. Bennington, which has "no chapel, no chapel service, no orthodox course on religion," . . . "offers no apology for dignifying the arts in the curriculum of a liberal arts college and takes pride in recognition won in this field." (2) "Accent on Sin" in THE AMERICAN MERCURY for September. This is an anonymous portrait of a type of small denominational college in which the definition of a scandal is "an illegitimate baby". Free speech and search for truth are non-existent and chaperonage is more nearly espionage. (Things can always be worse!)

Speaking of the arts brings into focus: (3) "Can Artists Make a Living?" by George Biddle in HARPERS for September. One of America's best known painters—he's from Philadelphia, incidentally—writes concerning the widespread interest in art and its effect on the artist. (4) "Can Art Sustain the Artist?" by Charmion von Wiegand in THE NATION for August 24. (Who's the copycat?) This painter, critic, and former editor of Art Front is now writing a book on contemporary American artists. People generally do not have the habit of buying art. They expect to get it free of charge from some friend who happens to be an artist or else expect anything called art to cost $10,000.

The Snooper

By Anne Onymous

What's the attraction at the Reading Hospital for that red-headed A. P. O.? As if we don't know!

Olin Shirey veri-FYE-ing a statement concerning his new love.

Have you seen the newly acquired fraternity pin that Peggy is wearing? Why, George, you didn't tell us!

We hope Edith isn't too bored with her fellow Frosh classmates.

Charlie's sister seems to be making a hit with the Zetas. That's a good start in any gal's diary.

Did you notice the gleam in Steggie's eye last week-end? Her interests travel to Scranton this year.

Jack Gundlack hasn't been wasting much time since one of his h. t. h.'s (home-town honey to you) rode in on the Frosh band wagon.

We understand that a certain member of the faculty has taken a sudden interest in football. Could it be school spirit?

Lenore seems to like the WOLF knocking at her door.

Who are those privileged Freshmen roommates who think that customs mar their individual beauty?

The Draft

"It's a good thing to learn to handle firearms and to learn something about military tactics," is RAY SWETT'S opinion." But that's not what MARIE BERTOLET thinks. She says she's against it, "because it takes all the young men away." ART MCKAY'S against it, too. But he didn't give any reasons because it would take too long, he said.

DON SPANG said "I think it's a good idea as far as a physical education course is concerned." Beyond that, he thinks it is unnecessary. "A strong navy with a small and efficient army," is his slogan.

DEAN ALLEN issued forth in these words: "I think that until there's a super-court of nations to preserve universal peace, conscription in its entirety becomes a necessity for the United States in order to preserve its cherished institutions of democracy and religious faiths."

GENE PIERCE put the finishing touches to the inquiring with this tirade: "I don't believe a college student should be compelled to take time out of his career for military training. I think it should be part of the school curriculum."

HAROLD WINTERHALTER backed up Giomitti with, "I'm fully in favor of it. It's the only way to be prepared." The preparedness theme was also centered in ROLIN REINER'S opinion, "It's O. K. Preparedness is a good thing."

AL FALCONE also said it's a good thing, "provided it doesn't take the student from school; excellent if it wipes out unemployment."

GEORGE'S GOOFY AB

Well, as the nickel said to the pay phone slot, "I just dopped in to make a call." Unaccustomed as I am to public spanking . . . I'll try anything once.

The campus has again blossomed and the Freshmen are the class of the hour . . . so I'll spank them first.

The other day a frosh went into physics class and ardently began to take notes . . . A half hour later he realized he wasn't in Dr. Cook's chem class.

It's a good thing the frosh are wearing red hats this year . . . There are so many squirrels running around looking for nuts!

Song of the Week—"Fools Rush In."

Two freshmen, being scientific, wondered where the sun went each evening . . . so they sat up all night . . . watching, watching . . . and then it dawned on them!!!!

Scene and Herd—Will someone please ask Johnson what he hopes to accomplish by showing that frosh girl the stadium lights? . . . Isn't the moon good enough?

Laugh of the Weak—Charles Werley, sizing up a frosh girl from the back . . . thought here indeed was a find . . . Upon further investigation poor Charles found it was none but his dear sister . . . Oh heck!

If you don't think the freshmen have a line, listen to this one . . . A frosh went up to a sophomore t'other day and said, (quote) Are you going to be a missionary? (end of quote) . . . to which the pleased and surprised, but more surprised than pleased gal replied, "Why no, what made you think that?" . . .

to which Freddie Freshman replied, (and I quote) Why you look like just the type that might be a missionary! (no more quote) . . .

Hail in hall the freshman class ranks among the best . . . Welcome . . . Well-come . . . We'll come . . . See you all in Selwyn parlors.

Last word department: Frosh. Gosh!

Control of "Lineups" Still in Sophs'

Not all of the former prestige of the sophomore class in dealing with Freshmen has been lost, it was learned at the first class meeting on Monday. The president, Winfield Morgan, informed the disappointed "Sophs" that they were given permission by Student Council, who has charge of Frosh activities this year, to conduct "line-up."

The first "line-up" was yesterday in which a six-event program was featured. A few cheers opened the show and solo numbers were presented by individual freshman Touchstones, whose duty it was to make the audience laugh and cry. The speeches of the day were on such enlightening subjects as, "How low is the lowest thing on earth—and why is the frosh it?" And "Why is the sophomore class the most important and illustrious class in the school?" The program was closed when the entire troupe encored with football cheers.

By Harold Werner

Welcome back all you chemists, physicists, biologists, botanists, geologists, toxicologists, socialists, communists—oops, sorry. How did those "Reds" get in there? Fifth columnists, I'll bet—Well, anyway, here's your science editor rarin' to go on that journey through the "labs" and columns.

Let's take a look at some of our friends from the class of '40 and see how they are faring. William Kirlin, voted the "most bashful" in the class of 1940, has a profitable position of assistant chemist with the Spencer Lens Company, Buffalo, N. Y.—Alan Duke, our friend who has a way with the ladies, is now associated with the du Pont laboratories at Wilmington, Del.—George Hurley and James Snyder, two of our genial friends, are employed at the Carpenter Steel Company, Reading.—William Brandenburg, one of our "lab" assistants has a position with the Bollman Hat Co. in Adamstown, Pa.—Algert Gustitus, our football strong man, is employed at the Bethlehem Steel Company, Bethlehem, Pa.—Harold Honadle is working with the Wincer Construction Co., Winber, Pa.—We also have some information concerning one of our successful friends of the class of 1939.—Glenn Trout, associated with the Witmoyer Laboratories, has been transferred to Rockland, Me.

—There's something to work for, Frosh!

Dr. Graham Cook spent a quiet and uneventful summer at home except for a trip to Detroit, where he attended a meeting of the American Chemical Society.

Prof. Newton Danford spent the summer here at Albright, cleaning and checking equipment in the chemistry "labs." He is experimenting upon an aluminum paint, which is heat proof, acid- and alkali-resistant. All of the iron equipment such as ringstands, burners, etc., has been coated with this paint.

Some more new fume hoods have been installed in the "chem labs" during the summer.

The Alchemists will hold their first business meeting on Tuesday in the Science lecture hall.

Dr. Graham Cook had a paper printed in the Journal of Chemical Education, Vol. 17, No. 7, July, 1940. The subject of the paper is "A Lecture Experiment on Dyeing." Take a look at the paper—it's the first time we ever saw the coinage "sloppimetric methods" in print. Quite a descriptive phrase, eh what?

Lions Under Arcs Again Tonight

15 Freshmen Answer Grid Call

Unexperienced Men Among Harris' Squad

If enthusiasm means anything toward building a football team, Frosh Coach Neal O. Harris should emerge with a classic outfit judging from the spirit displayed by the Lion yearlings in practices this week. The original eight-man squad has grown to nearly 15 as each daily drill session finds a few more moleskin hopefuls on hand. Many of the first-year men have had no previous grid experience and demonstrate their eagerness to learn by working hard in the drills.

Of the backfield candidates, Joe Attivo, Lewistown giant, and Pat Nappi, Syracuse, N. Y., fullback, show the most promise. Attivo, six-ft., two-inch fullback aspirant, played on his high school's only undefeated eleven. Nappi came to Albright from Wyoming Seminary.

Turk Durko, end candidate hailing from Mahanoy City, has the distinction of being the biggest man on the campus. His 6-foot, five-inch frame carries 230 well-placed pounds. Myron Porter, Troy, Pa., is another promising end candidate. Two guards, Jim Snelbaker, Mechanicsburg, and Dick Major, 270-pound Media lad, form the nucleus of Harris' line.

The center spot is being sought by Harry Munkel, Roselle Park, N. J., and George Urosevich, Hazleton Township. Munkel was on two all-star elevens in high school, while Urosevich was a protegee of Vince Boyle, ex-Lion great.

Day Students To Start "Blacklist"; Dues, $2

The wrath of law and order has descended on the Daymen's Club. For anyone of the members who does not obey the rules and regulations for right conduct in the club will be placed on a "blacklist" and stand a good chance of being expelled from the organization.

After a student is on the list, it was decided at the meeting last Friday, his status in the club will be left to the other members' jurisdiction. They will vote on his destiny in or out of the organization.

Dues for the semester will be $2, and the membership $1, it was decreed. The club will have membership cards printed.

Pianist To Appear In Chapel Tuesday

The first of a series of cultural events at Albright College will be presented in the chapel at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night when William Fairlamb, Jr. will appear in a piano recital.

His program will be: "Prelude and Fugue in C Minor," Bach; "Sonata in G Major," Scarlatti; "Sonata, Op. 27, No. 1," Beethoven; "Variations Serieuses," Mendelssohn; "Nocturne in C sharp Minor," Chopin; "Polonaise in E flat Minor," Chopin; "Barcarolle in G Major," Rubinstein; "Forest Murmurs," Liszt; "LeGibet," Ravel; and "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 3," Liszt.

Battle Moravian Gridders On Bethlehem Field

Dietz Expects Aerial Attack

Rosati, McConologue Are Big Guns of Greyhounds

Albright's high-scoring grid machine again moves into action tonight at Bethlehem where the roaring Lions will attempt to steamroller their second straight victory under the lights, over Moravian College.

Coach Jud Timm, starting his second year at the helm of the Greyhounds, has intact his 1939 varsity that won four, lost three and tied one game. This veteran team bulwarked by promising newcomers, has instilled in the hearts of the Blue and Grey followers high hopes for an undefeated season.

Realizing the game is definitely out of the breather class, Coach "Lone Star" Dietz has had his squad practicing pass defense all week since Moravian's traditional threat is through the air. With the experienced Larry Rosati doing the flinging and the big Jim McConologue, 6 foot 4 inch end, on the receiving end, the Greyhounds will be extremely dangerous in the wide open game which is expected.

Lions Take to Air

The Lions will be more than eager to challenge the Bethlehem's school's air offensive with an aerial bombardment of their own, led by one Jim Breen, who personally led the Lions to a 13-6 victory over the Greyhounds last year.

The Irishman also paced the Dietzmen to a 24-7 win over Kutztown last Friday in the opening contest of the 1940 season and the first intercollegiate night football game in the city of Reading. Almost 5,000 spectators saw Albright's touchdown combination of Breen and Kuklis provide most of the punch in a slow but interesting game.

Captain Marshall Popelka opened the scoring with a short plunge over the middle, eight minutes after the opening kickoff. The touchdown play was set up by a 28-yard pass play, Breen to Kuklis, which ended on the enemy two.

Score In Seven Plays

When Kutztown again elected to kickoff, the Lion obliged with the same tactics and moved 61 yards in seven plays to score. This time the stage was set with a pitch to Kuklis that moved the oval to the invaders' 28. Breen then made 15 on a reverse lateral before Kuklis slipped a surprising left-handed pass to Petrucka on the 12 and the quarterback dashed across for another touchdown.

Stan Kuklis stole the spotlight from his running mate in the second and third quarters when he

Lion Chief

Marshall Popelka, blond powerhouse, A. P. O., honor student, or what have you, who is captain of the college grid stars for the season. He succeeds Dick Westgate, who was the honorary chieftain last year.

snared dazzling one-handed catches of heavens by John Killiany, Breen's understudy, and slinging Jim to score the Red and White's final 12 points.

Kutztown's lone tally came in the second period on a series of passes from Morrie Fruchter to Bob McCullough and Mike Huber. Each team had nine first downs.

The Albright coaches are expected to start the same team which began against the Teachers. They admit, however, that some positions are being pushed very hard. Paul Petrucka is battling Chuck Klein for the starting field-general's post; Bill Spangler and Frank Bertino are making things tough for Tom Frystack and Bob Baum at the end positions, and Bob Bennett is keeping Marshall Popelka on his toes at fullback.

The probable starting lineups:
Pos. ALBRIGHT MORAVIAN
L. E. .... Frystack ... McConologue
L. T. .... Nelson ..... Hobb
L. G. .... Rusbosin ..... Burkhart
C. .... Coccodrilli ..... Policelli

The Lions really roared open the 1940 season last Friday with an impressive 24-7 victory over the Kutztown State Teachers. Fans who witnessed the first night game in the local stadium were more than pleased with the lighting arrangement. There's no doubt that night football will help Albright College in more ways than one. Let's enumerate them.

1. It avoids conflict with Reading High games (although there still is one conflict this year).

2. It gives more fans an opportunity to witness the games.

3. It gives the players experience in night football as many schools are installing lighting systems and scheduling only night games.

Here are some interesting sidelights on the season's curtain-raiser:

Stan Kuklis—First Lion to carry the pigskin and the first to snare a pass.

Jim Breen—First to run a play and gain yardage from scrimmage. Jim went six yards off-tackle on the opening play from scrimmage. He also completed the first pass.

Paul Petrucka—First substitute of the 1940 season. The senior relieved Chuck Klein in the first quarter. He was also the first Lion to catch and return a punt.

Bob Bennett—First sophomore to see action and also the first backfield man to lose ground. The Corning lad replaced Captain Popelka when the latter was slightly injured early in the game.

Vince Rusbosin—First Albright player to make a tackle.

Meetings

A calendar of social events at Albright has been arranged by the faculty committee on student organizations and activities. It includes meetings of clubs, fraternities, sororities, and other campus groups.

The calendar is in effect all the time with the exception of examination and recess periods. No events may be held unless they are scheduled on the calendar by the committee in charge.

THE SOCIAL PROGRAM

- The schedule follows:
- Monday:
- 10.00—Chapel.
  - 3.30—Symphony Orchestra—every week.
  - 4.30—Band—every week.
  - 4.30—Faculty meeting—first and third.
  - 4.30—Student Council—first and third.
  - 4.30—Inter-Fraternity Council—fourth.
  - 7-8—Fraternities and Sororities—every week.
  - 8.00—Skull and Bones—second.
- Tuesday:
- 10.00—Chapel.
  - 4.30—French Club—second.
  - 7-8—Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.—every week.
  - 8.00—Alchemists—first.
  - 8.00—Kappa Tau Chi—first and third.
  - 8.00—Reading Chemists—third.
  - 8.00—German Club—third.
- Wednesday:
- 10.00—Chapel.
  - 1.00—Each third and 8.00 each first Financial Outlook Organization.
  - 2.15—Ladies' Auxiliary—first.
  - 4.30—Band—every week.
  - 4.30—Pi Gamma Mu—second.
  - 7.00—Sigma Tau Delta—second and fourth.
  - 8.00—Domino Club—first and third.
- Thursday:
- 10.00—Chapel.
  - 4.30—Girls' Glee Club—every week.
  - 4.30—Gym period, first.
  - 4.30—Library book talk and tea.

- Sunday:
- 9.00—Weekly college Bible class.

Lions Under Arcs At Bethlehem

Expect Tilt To Be Aerial Battle

Marshall Popelka—First to make a first down and first to score a touchdown and we're still waiting for the first gridder to make a point after touchdown.

Bill Spangler—First to intercept an enemy pass.

Things You May or May Not Know Department.

If you think night football is new to the Albright teams then chew off as much of this as you can swallow. When the Lions opened their 1940 season under the arcs, it marked the fourth time in the last six years that a Red and White football squad has opened its grid season under lights. Yes, even as far back as 1935, Albright opened its season against Georgetown University in Washington under the lights. They won, too, 7-0, creating one of the major upsets of that year.

The Record

Moravian College has never defeated Albright on the gridiron. The Lions have handed the Greyhounds six successive defeats, although four out of the six were very close. The record:

1934—Albright 14, Moravian 13.
1935—Albright 12, Moravian 6.
1936—Albright 6, Moravian 0.
1937—Albright 25, Moravian 0.
1938—Albright 32, Moravian 0.
1939—Albright 13, Moravian 6.

Although the Red and White are only 30 in number, it was originally supposed to have been a 38-man squad. Gerald Laucks, massive tackle; Whitey Quiren and Jack Munley, shifty halfbacks; Wasil Plaskonis, brother of Steve, giant tackle; Julius Katz, bulky center, and Herb Vogt, fast lineman, have all dropped out of school. George Horn, sophomore back, is expected to report for practice any day, while Waldo Eshelman, senior center, is still sick from typhoid fever contracted two months ago.

Have You Noticed Department—Upsala again upset our traditional rival, Muhlenberg, for the second successive year. I'll bet Doggie is biting his nails off by this time. He not only lost the game but also two of his starting eleven by injuries. And his team plays Temple tonight and Albright next Saturday. Want to bet it won't be 3-0 in Muhlenberg's favor this year?

Catawba College dropped a 34-12 decision to Virginia Tech last Saturday. It was their first win. West Chester opened the season last Friday night with a 19-0 win over Blue Ridge College.

Fraternities Name New Committees

Initial Meetings Used For Reorganization

Appointing of committees was the important business at Monday night's fraternity meetings. Alpha Pi Omega Fraternity named the following: House, Woodrow, Witmer, Stan Kuklis, Steve Plaskonos, Bob Bennet, and Rodney Weaver; absentee, Bob Reicher, Bob Davis, and Willis Heisey; keeper of the portals, Thomas Frystak, and social, Albert Falcone, Woodrow Witmer, Jack Gundlach, and Richard Ziegenfuss.

The Pi Tau Beta Fraternity appointed these members: House, Rollin Reiner, Donald Leman, John Wagner, and Leon Steckley; membership, Alfred Thergeson, George Henry, and Harry Buck; social, Raymond Hain, Richard Walton, and Wayne Allen; athletic, Francis Roupp, Louis Pearce, and Kenneth Kocheil; and literature, Charles Messe, Harry Harnold, and Marvin Runner.

Samuel Coccodrilli was elected by the Kappa Upsilon Phi Fraternity as a representative to the student athletic council. The organization of a touch football team was discussed.

Professor Buckwalter To Address Advertisers

Professor Henry G. Buckwalter will speak on "Advertising Looks Ahead," in a 40-minute talk to the Interstate Advertising Managers' Association convention in the Abraham Lincoln Hotel tomorrow afternoon. The association has members in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, and Maryland.

Yesterday he spoke on "Let's Stake America," to the Rotary Club of Easton. The talk was based on his experiences and study in the Tennessee Valley, among the sharecroppers, and the migrant farmers of Lower California.

Train Pilots Here Starting October 1

A flight-training program similar to the one conducted on campus last term and during the summer, will be inaugurated on October 1 by Professor Oliver George, ground school instructor.

Night classes in meteorology and navigation will be taught at 7 and 9 o'clock on Tuesday and Thursday nights. The quota probably will be 20 students, Professor George said.
