DR. A. E. GOBBLE

Has Taken A Large Part In Building
Foundation For Greater Albright
College—Excellent Teacher

LIFE SKETCH

One of the mainstays of Albright College, both indirectly and directly, before and after its beginning has been Dr. Aaron Ezra Gobble, at present Professor of Latin Language and Literature, and Secretary of the Faculty. Even before the school became Albright College he had been doing much to bring about the existence of a college with high standards, educationally, morally, and spiritually.

Dr. Gobble has a very interesting past, with many achievements of which few men can boast. He was born February 14, 1856, in Center County, Penna., near the town of Millheim. In 1861 he entered the public school and continued until he was fifteen years of age. In the spring of 1870 he entered Penn Hall Academy, which he attended during the spring and summer sessions, and one entire year. He entered the Sophomore Class of Franklin and Marshall College, in September 1876, graduating in June 1879 with the A.B. degree and as Valedictorian of his class. Three years later he received from the same institution his A. M. and in 1882, Lebanon Valley College conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

The training for his life work followed intensive courses of study and reading, including ministerial course in Theology, Biblical History, etc. As a fuller preparation for his teaching he followed intensive courses in Ethics and Psychology, then the classic languages, Greek and Latin, their history and literature, together with a careful study of the German language and literature, some Anglo Saxon and Italian, in order to master more fully a complete understanding of the development of language, from its ancient to the modern forms of expression. When in college he took a brief course in Hebrew, and since he has

GIRLS GIVE REPORT OF CONVENTION TO Y.W.C.A.

The regular meeting of Y. W. was conducted by Eva Loucks and Evelyn Bowser. The meeting was opened by the singing of a patriotic hymn in memory of Lincoln. This was followed by the reading of the scripture and prayer.

Both girls gave reports on their trip to Westminster, Maryland, where they attended the "Y" convention. The echoes of the convention were very interesting and clearly brought out the idea of the convention, which was "Finding one's self in the modern world."

The meeting was closed with the Y song and mizpah.

A short cabinet meeting was held in relation to the Valentine Party.

PEACE ORATORICAL CONTEST HELD LAST FRIDAY IN CHAPEL

Helen Uhrich, Norma Michael, And Wendell Berger Winners—Will Attend Assembly At Vassar

The local Peace Oratorical Contest was held in the College Chapel, Friday night at 7 o'clock. The purpose of this contest was to stimulate interest in the world-wide campaign for Peace, and at the same time to select the three delegates, who will represent Albright College at the Model League of Nations Assembly to be held at Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 22nd and 23rd.

The participants in the contest were five in number, and each gave a splendid oration on various phases of the subject "Peace." The contestants, in order of their appearance, were:

"Brotherhood of Man"—Myrtle Wolf.

"What Price Peace"—John Klein-ginna.

"Permanent Peace Possible"—Norma Michael.

"An Inquiry Into Peace"—J. Wendell Berger.

"Progress and Peace"—Helen E. Uhrich.

The oration and presentations were of such equal quality that the judges, Professors Fluck, Zener and Boyer were at a somewhat difficult position in rendering the final decision. A very wide outlook upon Peace was presented to the small, but appreciative audience; various possibilities were presented which had not been given much former thought.

The winners of the contest, who will go to Vassar, and represent the country of Poland at the Model League of Nations Assembly on Friday and Saturday are: Helen Uhrich, Norma Michael and Wendell Berger.

Interesting Original Program And Beautiful Decorations Feature
Entertainment In Mohn Hall

The annual St. Valentine party, sponsored by the combined "Y's", was held in Mohn Hall Reception Room, Monday night, Feb. 18th. An unusually large number of students and faculty members were present and participated in the fun and frolic of the evening.

The decorations, completely in theme with the event, were artistic and original to say the least. Scores of available hearts hung in symetric form from falls and light shades, while others, some sealed and some open for inspection, moved about upon the floor of the party, with the dainty little Cupids moving around with bow and arrow, ready some hearts to pierce. The parts of the Cupids were played very successfully by little Peggy Walton and Donald Boyer.

The opening number on the program was a number of old favorite selections by the Albright Trio, composed of Miles, Servey and Gunther, with Dave Thomas as soloist. Catherine Steltz, Pres. of Y. W. C. A. tendered the welcome to those present, after which "Benny" Wilkes attempted to mix the crowd, thus making all possible appropriate settings for the remainder of the program. Eva Laucks sang a number of familiar love ballads. The main feature of the evenings program was a contest, "Lovers of History, Fiction or Fame," presented in ten different settings, and representing various lovers in costume

ALUMNI SUBSCRIBERS! PLEASE PAY UP!

In two of the preceding issues there has been an urgent plea to the Alumni subscribers to pay up their subscriptions. As yet there has been very little response to these requests. As a matter of fact over half of the Alumni who are receiving their Bulletin regularly have paid no attention whatsoever to it.

Is this the true Albright Spirit? Does not every Alumnus want to see the Bulletin remain one of the important factors on the campus of his Alma Mater? Does not the Bulletin bring news of Albright to you?

Surely you want this paper to be as good as possible. You know too that in order to do this an expenditure of money is necessitated. Every week, when the Bulletins are mailed to our Alumni it costs us money. How are we to finance the paper unless the subscribers pay up?

Every Alumnus ought to have the interest of his Alma Mater and her organizations at heart enough to do this. Whether you consider it a responsibility or a pleasure, for the sake of your school paper send in your check at once.

ALBRIGHTIANS AT Y. M. CONFERENCE IN POCONOS

Williams And G. Todd Represent A.
C. At Meeting Of Middle Atlantic
School Associations

HEAR FINE SPEAKERS

Two delegates, Raymond Todd and Lester Williams, represented the Y. M. C. A. at a conference held last week-end at Buck Hill Falls, Pa. It was the first Mid-winter Conference of the Middle Atlantic Field Area of the Student Young Men's Christian Association.

Representatives were present from Penn State, University of Pennsylvania, Cornell, Columbia, N. Y. U., Syracuse, University of Pittsburgh, Princeton, and all the large and small institutions of the Middle Atlantic States.

The general theme of the conference was "The Christian Technique of Living", and each speaker and group discussion leader brought out various phases of question. The present social order, both national and international, presents a problem to thinkers and a challenge to the Christian ideal for the world. The student of today will be faced with a tremendous task—a responsibility if the next generation is to flourish and progress.

On Friday evening, Dr. Albert Parker Fitch, Pastor of the Park Avenue Presbyterian Church of New York City, gave the opening address. His topic was "Why a Christian Technique of Living?" Why is there need for a new technique of living? There are certain implications in the question. First, human life is not clear, and second, human experience is not easily understood. Mankind was never more lost than it is at present. It is not lost in the same sense as a ship which is sinking is lost. There is no hope in such a condition. It is rather like the condition of one who is lost in a forest. He cannot find the way, he wanders about in circles, he is lost, but not without a certain hope that he will find the way, and not without a search for that way.

GIRLS' GAMES

ALBRIGHT vs. SCHUYLKILL

The Red and White sextette trounced the Schuylkill girls to the score of 52-16 in their return game at Lebanon, on Wednesday night. A new center combination started the game for Albright. This was Mim's first game for her Alma Mater and she proved herself a worthy wearer of the Red and White. This too, was Leah Deck's first game at side center. She acquitted herself well but did not reach her full stride until she went in as forward. Deckie and Detty seemed to have come back to their own as time and again they dropped the ball thru the basket. Deckie broke her season's record by chalking up 34 points for her team. Ray J. and Clara Ray playing their usual brilliant game held the Schuylkill forwards to three field goals. Their successors F. Wilkes, Kutz and Hanger held their opponents to an equal number of points.

Ray J. also played her usual fast game at center during the second half. Ditty and Guke were her capable running mates.

Throughout the game there were numerous substitutions and several new combinations were tried. All the Albright squad, with the exception of Steltzie, who is out with an injured knee, played in the game which again spelled decisive defeat for the plucky Schuylkill six.

ALBRIGHT vs. SLIPPERY ROCK

Slippery Rock, in a beautiful and fast game, which was rather one-sided, put the Albright sextette to defeat 45-23 when they met in the Albright gym on Saturday night. Although this is the largest margin by which the Red-White team has been defeated in three years, it is nothing to be ashamed of. They put up a good fight, they played good basketball, but were up against a team by whom they were outclassed. The Slippery Rock girls have won an enviable reputation for themselves in the West, having not lost a game in four years. They come from a school in which there are enrolled seven hundred girls, 266 of which are Physical Ed. students and out for basketball. We have on the average 12, sometimes 14 girls at practice every day. In comparison

MEN'S GAMES

ALBRIGHT vs. SCHUYLKILL

Albright College made a clean sweep of its two-game basketball series with Schuylkill College, on the Lebanon High School court, on Wednesday night, winning the second of the season 51 to 46. Albright previously had beaten Schuylkill in Reading, 36 to 30.

This victory placed Albright in a deadlock with Lebanon Valley College for first place in the "Little Three" championship. Both Albright and Lebanon Valley have two victories each to their credit over the Julian coached dribblers.

Both teams displayed some fine bits of basketball at times, with Coach "Fog" Smith's pupils showing their superiority over the Berks county collegians during the last ten minutes of the first half and throughout the entire second stanza.

For the first five minutes Albright trailed the visitors, when the Reading collegians stepped out to take an 8 to 5 lead. Karlip and Captain Clemens each shot a foul goal and then Karlip followed with a double-decker to put his team ahead 9-8. The count was deadlocked at 10-10.

Haines Tallies Twice

Haines, Schuylkill's ace, the outstanding star of the game, with two consecutive field goals put his team ahead once more 14-13. Sprague, the Red and White flashy forward, sent two field goals spinning thru the nets to send Albright ahead. From this point up the Myerstown dribblers held the lead to win the battle.

When the first half ended Albright held at 25 to 19 advantage. As soon as the second half opened Albright spurred and rolled up a ten point advantage 29 to 19. This lead was cut down by the visitors 29-26 by a Schuylkill offensive drive.

Captain Clemens, Lebanon's lone representative in athletics at Albright College, started his team on another drive that continued until the score reached 40 to 20. It was during this spurt that Albright showed its best team work. Forwards were cutting for the basket and every man took part in a fine exhibition of passing.

Several Schuylkill players were ruled out of the game by way of the four foul route. This apparently weakened the visitors for only a short time. The substitute players soon warmed up and opened an offensive drive that netted ten points to roll up the score 46 to 39 in favor of Albright.

Starts New Spurt

Captain Clemens again started his mates on another drive that did not end until the game was completed and the score stood 51 to 46. Near the end of the game Schuylkill had threatened the home team's lead, but the timers whistle ended all hostilities in the midst of the visitors rally.

Several hundred spectators witnessed the contest and most of the fans seemed to be rooting for the Schuylkill team.

Schuylkill scored 17 field goals, while Albright caged 18. The Myerstown team, however, led with its foul goal tossing. Captain Clemens and Karlip were tied for high scoring honors on the Albright team with fifteen points each. Cap-

SPORTSMANSHIP

Sportsmanship is not only a term applied to games and recreational life, but must be applied to life in general, because life is the greatest game that must ever be played by anyone. In order to test ourselves according to tried and true sportsmanship we might present here a few principles by which we can guide and shape our lives in the games in which we participate.

1. Unselfishness—A good motto for each one to try and remember and live up to is "I am third." God first, the other fellow second, and each individual third. If each person would learn this adage and practice it we would all be happier, and the world would be a better place to live.

2. A Forgiving Spirit—As a value to human life, forgiveness is almost unequalled. A real sportsman will have to include forgiveness if he is to be a real sport and make the most of his opportunities. Also in the field of battle and play forgiveness is the high and supreme element.

3. Fair and Honest Dealing—The finest qualities in all of us revolt when we see a man win who has to cheat to achieve that end. It is abominable to give credit to a man who has made success through such means. If revenge is necessary, the kind that stings deepest is to play a harder, cleaner game than before.

4. Non-advantage—If we take advantage of another man's weakness we are bound to lose out in the end, and also some of our best qualities will be looked at askance, because of the unfair advantage we might have taken. At one time there was a practice of always finding a chance to slip something over on the other fellow, but today such a practice is looked down upon and condemned.

5. Be Above Board In All Things—Money is often obtained by underhanded methods, victory achieved by base tactics and honor secured by foul means, but after having all these you have nothing. Unless a victory is won by true and honorable methods it is worthless.

Then what is sportsmanship? It is simply playing "upon the square" no matter what game one takes a part in. It is putting the Golden Rule in practice by giving the other man what you would expect them to give you. Any person who honestly tries to carry out a real sportsmanship program will possess a personality of radiating magnetism and it will mark one as a man who really is a man.

The great game of life possesses more chances to display this noble virtue than any game of football or basketball ever could. The man who accepts these chances in life is the man whom we are all anxious to meet and know.

and action. The winner of the contest, the one guessing all correctly, was Flora Gross, who won the box of Valentine candy. The scenes as presented were:

Adam and Eve.
Jacob and Rebecca.
Ivanhoe and Rowen.
Lancelot and Elaine.
Romeo and Juliet.
Pyramus and Thisbe.
Capt. John Smith and Pocahontas.
Abie and His Irish Rose.
Lindy and Ann Morrow.
Wray and Michael.

The presentations were all very good and especially interesting, providing a stimulus for review in the halls of history, fiction, and fame, a real test for a number of those present. "Buddies" again favored the party with more old favorites, and an original selection composed by "Hodge" Miles. The fight, or combat, between Tim Calahan and Michael Carly was short, but interesting, since they each won a ham sandwich. An old time Valentine box was opened and the contents distributed by two floating Cupids.

Following the very interesting and well arranged program, delicious refreshments were served, consisting of sandwiches, cocoa, pickles, olives, ice cream and cakes. The party concluded with the singing of the Alma Mater and a big Boom Yell for the "Y's." As a whole, the party was a big success, and why?—Because of the "Y's."

"Parrakeet's Prattle"

Whoopee! Parrakeet's got news for you. You bet he has! But one of his best secrets has been divulged. Yes, it has too. Pat's gone and got himself engaged, and even Parrakeet didn't know about it for a long time. Sure, his Frat. pin is even now in the proud possession of a certain Mohn Hall girl, whom everyone knows. Did you expect it? Well, rather. Is she likeable? Ask Pat. We all agree with him about it.

'Tis truly a sad state of affairs that the males of A. C. cannot be included in the circle of those who have the inside dope on our college at Reading next year. Isn't it, girls? Aren't you all anxious to go? Parrakeet's sure if the boys knew some of the rules proposed in the Themsian Echo on Thursday nite, they'd be rarin' to go. Don't you agree?

Tonite's another big nite. Who's gonna win the game? And How? Parrakeet's so eager to flap his wings to Lebanon-up that he doubts very much if he'll be at supper. He wants to be sure to get a good seat and be there in time to whistle a welcome to you. He's been practicing the Boom yell and "Fight, Albright, Fight!" until he most knows them backwards, and he wants to see the Red and White win both games. They're going to, aren't they, Gang?

Spring is in Parrakeet's heart even tho' Old Man Time hasn't yet brought us to March 21st. He can see signs and effects of it in other people too. Why is it that Flora and Art didn't find any mud where 'they went'? Orpha and Clara both said they did. Parrakeet even heard Flower say they didn't rest on one stone this time. Isn't that a sign of spring? Parrakeet once heard that in the spring a young man's thots turn to—What was it? He's quite forgotten, but it was something about a young man and a lady. Can anyone help him out? Well, at any rate, Spring will soon be here, and then there'll be no more mud or pools of water. Won't Tommie, Art, Fred and the rest of the warblers from Main Dorn be glad?

Didn't everybody have a good time at the Valentine Party? Parrakeet was happy just to be outside and look in at all the fine doings. The biggest social event of the year. Well, he agrees. But Cupid was on the jump even tho' his one day for this year was over. Parrakeet knows several things but feels he's said just bout enuff for this time. Think so? Well then, he must close and will remind you of summery days ahead, and say, Save your CUTS.

Oh, say, folks. Pardon Parrakeet for being so rude, but he just must tell you this. So few past a window of a certain residence and what do you think he saw? A book with a lot of poems that a girl wrote, lying on a table. He was awfully snoopy, and so he read just two lines before he was interrupted. Guess what they were?

Make me think, dear one, of you.
Who do they refer to? Well, Parrakeet knows, but he just could not tell. But that doesn't stop him from giving you a hint. The young man in question is not tall, nor short, not stout or thin, he's altogether in-between. His hair's not dark, he isn't fat, but this girl likes him and that's that. If you can't guess maybe Parrakeet will tell you next week. But Parrot says run along or people will be tired of your silly chatter, so Parrakeet says "au revoir" until next week.

made an intensive study for about two years.

Feeling a greater need, a real touch with the world which he was constantly presenting to his classes, in 1925 Dr. Gobble took the entire summer course in the School of Classical Studies of the American Academy in Rome, and from this derived more direct benefit than in two years of reading and study at home.

In 1879 he was licensed to preach by the East Penn Conference, convening at Allentown. In 1882 ordained deacon, and elder in 1885. He has been a representative of the Central Penna. Conference at the following general conference; Johnstown 1898; Ill., 1914, and York Pa. 1918.

Begins Teaching Career

In August 1879 Dr. Gobble entered upon his work as professor of ancient languages and higher mathematics in Union Seminary at New Berlin, Pa., the mother of our present Greater Albright College. In December of that year Rev. J. W. Bentz, the principal, resigned to re-enter the active work of the ministry, and Dr. Gobble was elected to fill this vacancy, entering upon his new duties in January 1880.

The original charter of the school dated 1856 had been forfeited by a two years suspension during the Civil War, 1863-65. The new principle at once laid before the trustees the need of having the charter renewed and this was done in September 1880.

Through the subsequent untiring and ceaseless efforts of Dr. Gobble the school grew. New courses were added and more students enrolled. In 1895 when the legislature of Pennsylvania passed a standardization law for colleges and universities, stating that colleges then existing and having property and endowment equal to $100,000.00 would be placed on the accredited list, and the school did not come up to the requirements, Dr. Gobble set about in his usual whole-hearted manner to bring the college up to such a standard as to put it on a par with other schools. Through his efforts in 1901 both Central Penna. College and Albright College were placed on the accredited list by the state legislature.

Following this the two schools were merged in 1902. Dr. Gobble was the first and only president of Central Penna. College. At the time of the merger of the two schools he was made Secretary, later known as the office of Registrar, and Professor of Latin. Since then he has done much to maintain the high standards set for Albright College. Many students have felt the influence of his character and teaching ability in the class room and on the campus. He has upheld the traditions and ideals of our school, and to him goes much credit for the latest step taken by Albright, in becoming the Greater Albright College.

A short business meeting of Rho Beta Chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, National professional engineering fraternity was held Thursday evening, Feb. 14th, in Mohn Hall reception room. Dr. Chislett, adviser, took charge of election of officers, which resulted as follows: Pres., Blanche McCauley; Vice Pres., J. Wendell Berger, Sec'y-Treas. Helen Ulrich, Historian, Norma Michael.

A discussion of the duties and technicalities connected with the fraternity followed the election. Plans were made for the next meeting to be held Tuesday, Feb. 26th, at which time the formal installation and initiation services will be held.

Themisians Have Musical Program

On Thursday evening, the regular meeting of the Themisian Society was held with the President Miss Ray Painter in the chair.

After the opening exercises the minutes were read by the Secretary Miss Evelyn Bowser, and approved, and the roll call taken.

The following program was rendered:

Trio—Eva Laucks, Flora Gross and Mildred Wissinger, accompanied by Dora Elizabeth Miller at the piano, and Maud Sittler, the "Uke." Famous Quintette, composed of Ellen Miles, Dorothy Stauffer, Clara Ray Wilkes, Catherine Steltz and Catherine Dech.

Piano Solo, Dora Elizabeth Miller. Themisian Echo, Myrtle Wolf.

The program was very interesting and amusing.

After the critic's remarks, announcements were made and the meeting was adjourned.

ALBRIGHTIANS AT Y. M. CONFERENCE IN POCONO

Man never knew his origin, mean, or destiny, and he never will know it. He lives by faith. His whole being is bound up in faith. Human life arouses terror and compassion always. Man is a brute, only more intelligent than other brutes. All of history attests that fact. Wars, strifes, despotism, and oppression mark the story of man's existence upon the earth.

In every age man has tried to find a way of life. The present problem is not new. Man has been seeking something better throughout all time. This is shown by the various ways of life which have been advanced by men in days past. There were five ways of life:

First, the way of Renunciation. This was developed by Buddha, who said that the world was unknowing, impersonal, and uncaring. He stressed service as the principle remedy for such a negative condition.

The second way of life is that of Epicurus. The Epicureans emphasize the brevity of life. They say that human life is never being, but always becoming. The only way then is gratification of one's desires and longings, and gratification in a hurry, since life is so short.

Third, was the philosophy of the Stoics, who maintained that we can't know about God. It is an impossibility. However, we do know, say the Stoics, that honor and virtue are here, and that we should follow them.

The fourth way was that of the humanist. He said that to live properly we must understand ourselves; we must live by self observation. His philosophy tends to be somewhat aristocratic.

The last of the theories of the days gone past is the humanitarian. This philosophy of life stated that all mankind has capacity for infinite progress. There are latent potentialities in everyone. The humanitarian is a sublime sentimentalist.

But what is the Christian answer to all this? Why a Christian way? The Christian sees purpose, goodness, and a struggling power whereby men better themselves. There is both good and evil in man, and they are inseparable. They are fighting, as it were, with locked horns, and they cannot be found alone. The Christian way of life consists in making good predominate; to surmount brutality with love, lust with compassion.

The Christian technique must include three things: First, belief in the grace of God. It is impossible to live a life without faith. Faith is the interpretation of truth in terms of personality. Secondly, there must be works, since faith without works is dead. It is necessary to translate faith into action in order to hold faith. Thirdly, prayer is essential. Prayer is the combination of faith plus works.

What is the way going to do with the world? Is the Christian way going to make the world a paradise? Probably not! Why then should it be accepted instead of some other way? Because, maintains Dr. Fitch, it answers more questions than any other way of life. No way answers all the questions of life.

Norman Thomas

On Saturday morning, Mr. Norman Thomas, who was a candidate for President on the Socialist ticket in the recent election, gave an address on "The Necessity of a New Social Order." He brought out the fact that man is little more than he once thought himself, but he has gathered more and more power. Man once was big, and controlled things in a small world. Now, thru science and invention, man is much littler, and the world is larger than it was once thought to be. Thru machinery, electricity and the like, however, man has acquired an enormous amount of power.

The world is rapidly becoming mechanistic, and Mr. Thomas prophesied that within a comparatively short space of time machinery will control the world, and will overpower man. Our collective power is growing rapidly. However, man does not live to produce, he produces to live. The former state appears to hold true, though, that man lives to produce, for production is one of the keystones of industry today.

We have machinery which can abolish poverty. But this machinery is not a god. It is not to be feared nor given first place. Our relative independence is won at the price of economic interdependence of one another. Economically it is impossible to have independence, and America is not near economic independence of other nations as many people think.

The social order is the way in which we handle this power. Interdependence is blocked by two things. First, it is blocked by an increase in nationalism. The feeling of patriotism carried to extremes prevents a spirit of internationalism, and creates a feeling of hatred and a warlike attitude toward other nations on the slightest provocation.

A second way in which interdependence is blocked is by an increase in racial consciousness. Racial prejudice and antagonism is dominant among many classes of people, and is a check to progress.

We control the world now thru a veritable law of the jungle, except that it is tempered by some few qualities. That is the reason for the need of a new social order. The present condition has to be changed by social intelligence. We have powers to insert some measure of social control in the world. We must be the instigators of a new social order.

A Symposium

Saturday evening a symposium on "The Technique of Being a World Christian" was given. The first speaker was Mr. Paul Porter, a graduate of Kansas University. He told how foreign nations, especially those in Asia, are criticizing the United States. We are charged with hypocrisy and there seems to be some grounds for the charge. Within two weeks after passing and approving the Kellogg Peace Pact to abolish war, a cruiser bill is passed authorizing the construction of fifteen new cruisers. And, too, the American fleet is playing a most interesting game of war down in the Caribbean Sea.

The Asiatic countries are following the actions of our nation. China has established military training in her schools, because we have the institution here.

Mr. Porter recommends in the mastery of the technique of being a world Christian first intelligence; a knowledge of the world. International exchange scholarships, and the abolishment of the R. O. T. C. would go far in that direction.

The second speaker, Mr. Paul Meng, a Chinese graduate of Columbia University, spoke of the use of nationalism in China. It has practically become a religion with its spirit of economic sufficiency and country dominance.

He also told of the hold which communism is getting in the East, and that Christianity was the only solution to their problem.

The third speaker was Mr. Stanley High, a journalist and author, said that in developing a technique for a world Christian it is necessary to have an understanding of the world. We are setting up a sort of freebooter tradition among non-white nations which they are coming to resent. They are progressing and we are impotent to stop their progress.

Secondly there must be an understanding of Christianity's place in the world. Christianity is a principle and also a power.

Thirdly, we must develop world Christianity out of our own convictions; out of our experiences. Lastly, there must be thorough consecration. People around the world hesitate because we hesitate.

Discussion Groups

The discussion groups thrashed out different phases of the general theme. One group discussed the whole problem of the Christian technique, and came to the conclusion that certain things are essential in that technique. One is simplicity. We are living a too fast and complex life. We should quiet down, have more time to think and get in touch with the Infinite.

Another essential is humility. As Christ washed his disciples feet as a token of humility, so we are to be humble and follow his example. Personal independence also entered into it. Don't be tied down to a crowd. Exert a spirit of independence and freedom in morale, ethics, and so on. Then there must be a world-view. We must see and appreciate the needs of the whole world in which we live. Finally there must be a new love of mankind, an all-embracing love, a Christ-like love for our fellow men.

Mr. Henry P. VanDusen, who gave the principle address, Sunday morning, spoke at the banquet on "The Student Movement in This Country." Out of the student movement came directly the Y. W. C. A., the Student Volunteer Association, and the World Student Christian Federation. In the student movement the social gospel first found its fullest expression.

The student movement has three tasks. It must effect a synthesis between the classicist and the modernist or futurist. It must reflect the fine aspects of contemporary student life. It must prophesy. Within the next few years there will be a decided progressive step on the part of religion.

Communion was administered on Sunday morning, and worship opened and closed each day of a fine and inspiring conference.

The score speaks well for Albright. All who saw the game will agree that the Albright girls had the edge, and in face of inevitable defeat upheld the true Albright Spirit. Then too, you will not soon forget the thrill of that last beautiful play on the part of the Red and White team, which ended the game. A fitting climax, and a true specimen of the kind of basketball we, too, can play.

ALBRIGHT vs. SHIPPENSBURG

Playing a nip and tuck game from start to finish, the strong Shippensburg basket ball team went down to defeat at the hands of the Red and White last Friday night with a close score of 32-31. The visitors took an early lead and held this throughout the game until there was but twenty seconds left to play, when Karlip shot a field goal to place Albright in the lead by a one point margin.

Cable the snappy little forward for the visitors soon got the range of the basket and dropped three through before the home boys could get going. Karlip soon found his eye for the "bucket" and got three for the home club. The scoring saw-sawed back and forth, each time the Red and White would get within a point or two of their opponents they would forge ahead again. This continued until the closing seconds of play when Albright gained a one point advantage to win the game. Cable and Slaybaugh were the big guns for the visiting team. They kept their team in the running by their scoring and fast floor work. For the home team the honors go to Karlip and Clemens. These boys came thru in the pinches to save the day for the Red and White. The line-up and score.

Albright went down to defeat to the tune of 50-24, last Saturday at the hands of the Muhlenburg basket ball team. The game was played at the Allentown Y. M. C. A. before a capacity crowd of enthusiastic supporters of the Cardinal and Grey team. The night before they met with strong opposition from the Schuylkill team at Reading, winning out by only a one point margin. Albright had beaten Schuylkill by a larger number of points earlier in the week, so this put the teams on fairly equal basis for the game that was to be played that night.

Getting the range of the basket right from the start Wackenmangle started the scoring by collecting the first sixteen points of the game himself. This completely bewildered the Red and White boys, and before they realized what had happened the Allentownites were far in the lead in the scoring of baskets. Albright finally found themselves and started to score points, but the lead was too great to overcome in such a short time.

Sprague was the chief scorer for the Red and White team, getting a total of fourteen points for the evening's set-to. Several baskets were scored to the advantage of the Albright team, but were not allowed by the officials. Had these counted the score would have been much closer. For the Cardinal and Grey team Wackenmangle was the feature of the evening, getting the first sixteen points of the game himself, and collecting six more tallies before he was removed from the game. Minka, the big guard also played an important part in the scoring of the game, getting a total of twelve points.

The line-up and score:

Albright	Muhlenburg
Horn	F. Ulrich
Karlip	F. Wackenmangle
Gibbens	Keifer
Gunther	C. Lauk
Ranaldi	G. Heffern
Sprague	G. Smith

Field Goals: Sprague, 5; Clemens, Gibbens, 2; Wackenmangle, 10; Minka, 5; Lauk, 3; Smith, 2; Heffern, Ulrich, Kaifer, 1.

Foul Goals: Sprague 4, Karlip, Ranaldi 1, Wack 2, Smith, Minka, 1.

Who's Who At AlbrightVALENTINE ELSWORTH BESHORE

Beshore is one of Albright's gay day students, who call themselves the Steitz Collegiate Club. What a bunch they are, with representatives from their number in every activity and organization on the campus. Certainly "Vaps" is not the least of these, with his keen, sensitive ear for music, and his talent for producing haunting melodies and harmonies from the piano. His presence on the Male Glee Club during his freshman year proved also his vocal ability.

Beshore is one of those attractive fellows, capable of cheerful, spontaneous wit, tinged with a bit of sarcasm. But sarcasm seems to be not amiss on our campus; in fact it's a frequent indulgence in pastime.

He's quite a snappy forward, playing for his class in the inter-class basketball games, and a clean, hard tennis player, a member of the Albright tennis team.

Altogether, we find "Vaps" an interesting friendly fellow; perhaps a bit reserved, but we like him none the less for that. We might also add, that not a few of the opposite sex have been attracted to him, and he to them. And now, since Spring is so very nearly here—

May Albright's richest blessing attend you, Beshore, as you leave her campus for success in a worthy profession.

Juniors Go Thru First Round Class Games Undefeated

Swamp Seniors 40-15, While Frosh Down Sophs 20-15—Teams All Set For Second Classes

SENIOR-JUNIOR GAME

First Half

On the evening of February 12th, the weekly "class riots" were staged. The results of the tilts were the Junior and Freshmen coming out victorious, and the Seniors and Sophomores as the "under dogs."

The battle started off with the Seniors and Juniors taking the court, the Seniors only to be subdued by a score of 40 to 15. The game was fast played and the decisions were called close and just, by Referee "Pat" Clemens. "Ike" Hangen Youse, and McLain played equally well for the Juniors, while the Seniors game seemed to be settled around Bowman and McGuigan, although it cannot be said that the rest of the quintet did not do their share to bring about victory.

SOPH-FROSH GAME

First Half

At half time the Sophomores and Freshmen, took to the battle to "battle it out." The Freshmen seemed to have the better of the two teams, although the game was not a "one-sided" affair. Cruttenden and Reitman seemed to be the stronghold of the "Yearlings", while Bollman and Lynn divided honors amongst the Sophomores.

Bollman, seems to be progressing rapidly in the art of basketball under the private tutoring of "Slots" Horn, who is the coach of the Sophomore five.

SENIOR-JUNIOR

Second Half

Again the Seniors and Juniors

took to the court, and it was at this time that the Juniors scored the winning points, which duly gave them the victorious position.

SOPH-FROSH

Second Half

The last half of the Sophomore-Frosh game, seemed to be more of a "track-meet" than a basketball game. The "Frosh" seemed to have the advantage over the "Sophs" in fouls, for it was here that they gained the extra points, as the Sophomores were constantly fouling. The final score was Freshmen 20, Sophomores 15.

The line-up of the four teams was as follows:

Seniors	Position	Juniors
Beshore	Forward	McLain
Schoener	Forward	Houseal
Bowman	Center	Hangen
Wilkes	Guard	Youse
McGuigan	Guard	Malone

Score—Juniors 40, Seniors 15.

Field Goals: Youse 8, Hangen 4, McLain 3, Houseal 2, Schoener 2, Bowman 2, McGuigan 2. Fouls: McLain 3, Youse 2, Hangen 1, Beshore 2, McGuigan 1. Substitutions: Kleinginna for McLain.

Sophomores	Position	Freshmen
Berger	Forward	Cruttenden
Lynn	Forward	Weiss
Bollman	Center	Katzman
Glosser	Guard	Light
Dechert	Guard	Thomson

Score—Freshmen 20, Sophomores 15.

Field Goals: Lynn 3, Berger 2, Bollman 1, Cruttenden 3, Thomson 3, Weiss 2; Foul Goals: Berger 1, Bollman 2, Cruttenden 2, Thomson 2.

C. E. SOCIETY HOLDS DISCUSSION ON WEALTH

A weekly meeting of the College Christian Endeavor Society was held last Sunday evening in the College Chapel. Ben Heiser, Vice-President of the Society was in charge of the meeting. After the usual opening service the meeting was devoted to a discussion of the question "How Much Should We Strive for Material Wealth?" Several articles were read which helped to bring out various points of view in relation to this topic. It was finally concluded that we may strive for material wealth just as long as we do not inflict an injury upon another person and as long as we bear in mind that wealth is of value only when we are willing to use it for the betterment of humanity.
