Give Gold "A's" To Two Seniors

Dr. Masters Presents Awards On Charter Day

Two seniors, Margaret Hollenbach and Margaret Savidge, received the coveted gold "A"—the highest recognition the college bestows upon any of its students for outstanding service in extra-curricular activities.

Presentation of the merited awards was made by President Dr. Masters at the conclusion of the Charter Day program in chapel on Monday. Only twice a year are "gold "A's" awarded, on Charter Day and at Commencement.

Margaret Savidge, president of the W. A. A. and the Y. W. C. A., is captain of the basketball team and a member of the hockey team. She has played in the band and has been very active in two science clubs, the Alchemists and Skull and Bones.

The managing editor of the Albrightian, Margaret Hollenbach, is president of Sigma Tau Delta and is a member of the Domino Club, Glee Club, Pi Gamma Mu, I. R. C., Philosophy and German Clubs. She is also a member of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet.

D. F. White Discusses Military Campaigns

Russian Historian Speaks At IRC Meeting

"Lessons of the Military Campaigns in Europe," was the subject of D. Fedotoff White's talk at International Relations Club meeting last night in the college chapel.

Mr. White, who had spoken at Albright three times previously, was well qualified to address the club on the subject of international relations since he is recognized as an authority on Russian history.

A Russian by birth and education, he was commander of an Imperial Russian battleship in the Black Sea prior to the Russian Revolution of 1917 and at present is General Manager of the Cunard White Star Line at Philadelphia.

Following the lecture, there was an open discussion period.

Mendelsohn To Play In Chapel Next Week

A musical program will be presented in chapel on Monday and Tuesday mornings by Seymour Mendelsohn, master of the marimba. He will be accompanied on the piano by William Fairlamb.

The program will include "The Glow-Worm," "Beautiful Dreamer," by Stephen Foster; "Flight of the Bumble Bee," by Rimsky-Korsakov, and the "Arabian Minute Dance," by Green. Different selections will be played each program.

W. A. A. Plans Dance Tomorrow Night

A dance to raise funds for equipment will be held in the college dining hall tomorrow night by the Women's Athletic Association. It will start at 8 o'clock.

Must Have Religion In Education, Dr. Stauffer Says On Charter Day

Raps Totalitarianism In Schools

With an inspiring message emphasizing the development and the importance of a denominational college such as Albright in the modern world, the Rev. Dr. E. E. Stauffer addressed the student body on the celebration of Charter Day in Chapel on Monday and Tuesday.

Paying tribute to the founders of the institution, Dr. Stauffer said that "Albright College as I have known it, is in a very real sense the 'dream child' of a certain group of ministers in the Evangelical Church, who believed most earnestly that education was the 'hand-maiden of religion.' As I knew these men, they were deeply religious, were earnest believers in a Christian higher education, and were firmly persuaded that if the church and religion were to survive, then the church must become sincerely interested in education."

"If institutions of higher learning fall under State and political control completely, academic freedom will become a mere fetish, while propaganda becomes the foster mother of education," Dr. Stauffer said.

Slaps Dictatorship

The trustee of Albright was vigorous in his attack against the suppression of intellectual freedom. "Totalitarianism and a free education are as incompatible as totalitarianism and free speech. Totalitarianism is the foe of all free inquiry; Christianity is its champion. The Church is the only real champion today of what we have loved to call 'academic freedom'.

"But surely it is increasingly evident that the civilization that vests upon brute force can never appeal to intelligent men; it can appeal to ignorant and uncultured only.

Council Gives Vote To Class Presidents

Organizations To Name Extra Representatives

The elimination of another longstanding defect in the constitution of student government became a fact Monday when Student Council voted unanimously to extend equal representative status to class presidents. Heretofore, they were only ex-officio members of the council, having no voting power whatsoever.

Council also gave final approval to the amendment doubling membership of the student government. The various organizations are to elect their new representatives by the next Council meeting, Monday, November 18.

Tentative plans are being made to stage a pep rally at a local theatre on the evening preceding the Lebanon Valley football game. The band and cheer-leaders will be admitted free. Students' tickets will have special prices.

Plan Thanksgiving Dance

A Thanksgiving dance will be held Thursday evening, November 28, in the dining hall. Natalie Brant, chairman of the social activities committee, has charge of the affair.

Professor Lewis Smith requested that student council appoint a special committee to investigate the possible functions of the student legislature.

Seymour Mendelsohn, vice president, presided in the absence of the president. A quorum—eight members—attended.

Students To Visit Co-op Hosiery Mill

Trip Sponsored By "Y's" Of City and College

Students of Albright will get a chance to see how cooperatives work at 2 o'clock next Friday afternoon when a trip to the Co-op Pagoda Hosiery Mill on the Fifth Street Highway will be staged by the industrial department of the city Y. W. C. A. and the "Y" cabinets of the college.

May Attend Meeting

They will also be allowed to attend a meeting of the Hosiery Workers Union in headquarters at 635 Oley St., on December 7. A forum on cooperatives will end the series of events on December 12 in the city Y. W. C. A.

The college committee in charge of arrangements includes Miss Ethel Norton, Mrs. Harry Masters, Prof. Henry C. Buckwalter, Mrs. Graham Cook, Miss Margaret Hollenbach, and Paul Ackert.

Snelbaker Heads Freshman Dorm

In a recent election the following freshman boys were given offices in the freshman dormitory: President, James Snelbaker; vice president, Anthony Sisk; secretary-treasurer, Saul Pokrass; chaplain, William Lippert.

Dr. M. G. Geil will continue as the resident dormitory counselor.

November "Y" Calendar

Nov. 12—7:30 p. m. — Stunt Night.
Nov. 17—4:00 p. m. — Organ recital, Jane Redcay.
Nov. 19—7:00 p. m. — Cabinets and associations.
Nov. 20—10:00 a. m. — Student service fund. Drive begins.
Nov. 21—10:00 a. m. — Chapel.
Nov. 26—7:30 p. m. — Chinese party. End of drive.
Nov. 28—9:00 a. m. — Thanksgiving service. Seminary Chapel.

"Y" Representatives Appeal For Leaders

Want Co-op Students To Join Youth Groups

Who needs a college student? Boys do, was the answer given at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Tuesday night by two men who ought to know, Allen Rank, principal of Wyomissing High School, and Miller Bricker, boys' secretary of the Reading Central "Y."

Here's the situation: The city agrees that boys in grade and high schools need leadership. So the schools offer the places, the "Y" offers a program, but no one offers leadership.

Many Openings

According to Bricker there are openings for more than a dozen leaders in schools of Reading. Rank made a strong appeal for student help by citing his personal experiences as a leader.

College boys who are interested can get started immediately by calling on one of the following: President Dr. Masters, Bricker at the city "Y", or Paul Ackert of the college social action committee.

A "fight" song for football games was introduced in chapel on Wednesday. Words were written by Sallie Weaver and Miriam Weidner. They are sung to the tune of the Notre Dame Victory March.

Below are the words. Learn them. They're going to be used tonight in the stadium. Let's really show some fight.

Fight, fight for old Red and White,

We've got the spirit, let's have the fight!

Take that ball right down the field,

To any foe we'll never yield.

Come on, you Lions, let's hear you roar,

We never fumble, we always score.

"Little Symphony" Opens Season

The Albright little symphony orchestra opened its "season" last Friday evening by playing a dinner concert at the Berkshire Hotel for the inauguration of the Reading Community Chest drive.

Hans Nix, conductor, has planned a busy season. With the addition of a dozen freshmen, the orchestra has assumed respectable proportions. The first college concert will be in January, with compositions by Strauss and Ponchielli.

Officers for the current season are: President, Paul Ackert; vice president, Charles Miesse, and secretary-treasurer, Janet Kitzmiller.

Kappa Tau Chi Is Host To 22 Students

The Kappa Tau Chi was host to 22 students Tuesday evening in the faculty room when Dr. F. W. Gingrich addressed them on "What a College Expects of a Ministerial Student."

Besides mentioning general requirements on character and academic levels, Dr. Gingrich spoke specifically on subjects such as sex and fraternities.

Marvin Runner conducted the meeting. Opening devotions were led by the committee chairman, Paul Ackert.

Predigestion

By ROBERT L. WORK

About a year and a half ago, one of the leading theatre magazines suspended for one reason and another its regular publication. Last week, however, saw the reappearance of a newly planned and lavishly furnished STAGE (November, 1940). It presents on the cover most recent color photographs of Helen Hayes, Katharine Hepburn, Lily Pons, and Alice Frost, and has tucked away in the last thirty pages the complete script of George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart's THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER, the first of a regular series of hit shows on the current scene. In between are jammed articles and illustrations in profusion enough to make one wonder what could be garnered for the next issue. If anyone knows of a bigger and better quarter's worth, this impecunious drama-bibliophile would like to be told about it.

Before you have leafed very far — from the front instead of backwards as with a Sears, Roebuck catalogue — you will be thankful for the manner in which the current theatrical bill is presented, bolstered up as it is by an array of advertisements that definitely lure one to Sardi's or to the Rainey Room with plenty of stopovers en route. The brief reviews are enconced in a box of clock dials (which indicate first and final curtains), telephone numbers, complete casts, credits, and illustrations, all with the prospect of a free subscription to STAGE if you "hold on to your stubs." Note: See Page 5.

The first article of interest, fronted by the author and a beautifully captured veil of smoke, is none other than Alexander Woolcott's "Perfectly Gone," which among various things traces the development of the theatre in the inimitable "words of the master." Then, farther on, comes the interview with Somerset Maugham by Ward Morehouse, who was not nearly so successful in his trying to catch the Woolcott. After that, you can read Clare Boothe's "Letters of a Last-Nighter" with a last word by William Saroyan, who also contributes some work in the field of autobiography.

Music, Opera, Ballet, Radio, and Movies have their distinctive art forms ably represented, the much heralded Disney FANTASIA being more nearly completely described here than in anything published heretofore. And if the reader thinks that the editors might have forgotten something, he can un-deceive himself right now by turning to additional sections on books, cooks, and looks, most memorable of which is the shot of the horsey Elsa Maxwell.

By Harold Werner

Here is a bit of news that may enlighten the hearts of the sweet-hearts of chemists and give more hope to the fellows of evading the front-line in case of war.

Dr. Graham Cook reports he has received a request from the National Resources Planning Board for a list of names and addresses of the "chem" majors in the classes of '40 and '41. These people will probably receive at some near date a form, from the Executive Office of the President for the National Roster of Scientific Personnel "to be used as a basis for an intelligent assignment of man power in any national emergency that may arise." Dr. Cook has notified all the majors of these facts in personal letters. The questionnaire to be filled out is a ten page affair.

The Hiking Club took a "motor hike" to Hawk Mountain to observe the hawk migrations. Those in attendance were: Miss Norton, Professors George and Green, Ellen Witmoyer, "Kitty" Geib, Elaine Shade, Mary Levan, June Strawbridge, Marion Myers and Carl Fredericks. Several golden eagles were seen, but most of the hawks were soaring at altitudes too high for close observation.

Charles Buynoski, of the class of '40, is employed as a "lab" assistant with Givaudan-Delawanna, Inc., Delawanna, N. J. The company manufactures aromatic products and perfumes.

Roy Bloom, also of '40, is connected with the Lorain Division of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Co. at Johnstown, Penna.

We think that it is soon time for Dennis Strawbridge to discard his "sympathy stick," but of course, a kick on the shins from a 3-year-old can result in terrific complications.

The Alchemists held their monthly meeting on Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the science lecture hall. Harold Scholl of Barbery's Brewery, gave an informal talk on the topic, "A Cross-section of the Problems of a Bio-chemist." Scholl gave two types of problems, first, money-saving, and second, difficulties in manufacturing. The meeting was closed with an extremely short business session.

On Monday, November 11, at 8 p. m. the Skull and Bones Society will meet in the science lecture hall. Dr. Leroy Gehris will present some slides on appendicitis. All new members are urged to attend.

We congratulate Professor George on his time saving efforts in Physics lectures, but he slipped up on one occasion. Even we can see that to warm up an oscilloscope, the machine must be supplied with an electric current. Don't forget the plugs! Oh gee!

Tonight's game with Dickinson will be the last nocturnal tilt this season. The Lion's record under the lights is not very impressive—one win and three losses. After taking Kutztown in the opening game under arcs, the Dietzmen have dropped three straight, Moravian, Catawba, and West Chester. Albright's offensive failed to click in those last three night games as the unpredictable Red and White scored but six points.

This evening another strong team comes into the stadium, a team which has allowed its five opponents only two touchdowns, collecting five for themselves. Yes, Dickinson has a mighty fine defensive team and a fair offensive team. Last week the Red Devils won an impressive victory over Western Maryland, 13-6, a team which held powerful Bucknell, 0-0, just two weeks ago. That gives you some idea how tough this game will be tonight. Albright's hopes for a .500 percentage this season depend on this tangle, for the Lions have now dropped three straight games. Last year the Dietzmen snowed under the Red Devils, 46-14, but tonight's game is going to be much, much closer.

Last week, due to the all important F. and M. game, we centered our full column on that tiff. However, this week, we're coming back again with our usual predictions of other games. Two weeks ago, we did a little better on picking the winners with four out of seven, including Lafayette over Army as the big upset.

Well, here goes again: Albright over Dickinson, Lebanon Valley over Upsala (do they play them too, we wonder why), Moravian over Susquehanna, Muhlenberg over Lehigh, Gettysburg over Ursinus, F. and M. over N. Y. U., George Washington over Bucknell, and Lafayette over Rutgers. For the big upset of the week, Southern Methodist over Texas A. and M. (we really went out on the limb with that one).

We get some satisfaction out of the fact that two of the four teams that have defeated the Lions are still undefeated, Moravian and Franklin and Marshall.

THINGS YOU MAY OR MAY NOT KNOW DEPT. — Dickinson will play its only night game this season tonight . . . Upsala College has never scored a point against our team in the three games played between the two schools . . . Basketball candidates had their first meeting this week . . . Won't be long now . . . Stan Kuklis and Sam Coccodrilli have the inside track for this year's honors of "Iron men" . . . We nominate Marsh Popelka as the best wrestler on the squad. Did you see him twirl that F. and M. back in the air? . . .

The Red and White swing open the gates to Albright Stadium tonight to the Dickinson Red Devils. The Lions went down in honorable defeat, 27-6, at the hands of a powerful Franklin and Marshall crew last Saturday.

That is the story of the football situation on Albright campus this week. No gloom pervades the atmosphere as a result of the "Dips-krrieg." The campus sages have not yet pinned a crepe on the 1940 season because the Lancaster eleven scored the most decisive defeat the Lions have suffered in a few years. After viewing the power of the Holman crew we can only be thankful that the Red and White came through as well as they did.

A powerful line that never relented in its smashing drive, and a host of speedy backs, supplemented by an equally capable second team, spelled disaster for Albright. The Lions took a marvelous defensive stand throughout the first half, and for a while threatened to score on the visitors. But the Dips' power told, and our club was forced to give ground.

Subs Look Good

In the second half, the Lancaster gridgers really showed their worth. Tossing sub after sub into the fray (one looked just as good as the other), the Blue and White began to roll and never stopped until they had amassed 27 points. The Dietzmen interrupted the visitors' fun for a moment when Bill Spangler took a pass from Jimmy Breen and lateraled to Paul Petrucka who raced to the goal line for the locals' lone counter.

Dickinson comes to Reading intent on avenging a crushing 46-14 setback administered by the Lions last year. The Red Devils boast one of their strongest teams in recent years. The Carlisle molaskinners have won three, lost one and tied one in five starts. Coach Art Kahler's boys upset the dope by clamping a 13-6 defeat on Western Maryland last week.

This record is certainly better than Albright's. The Lions have won only three out of seven, but we must consider the opposition. Moravian and Franklin and Marshall fielded their best teams in years, while injuries and a terrific slump took their toll in the Catawba and West Chester tilts.

Zetas Cop Twice, Move Into Second

Kappas Still On Top, Trounce Day Students

STANDINGS

	Won	Lost	Tied
Zetas	3	0	1
Alpha Pi	1	2	1
Day Students	1	3	0
Pi Taus	0	2	2
Frosh Dorm	0	4	0

An undefeated but tied Zeta squad stole the limelight this week in the inter-fraternity touch-football league by coping two games to advance into second place. The league-leading Kappas and the Theologs also won their games.

Bobby Giomotti paced the Zetas to successive wins Monday and Tuesday by scoring a touchdown in each contest. In the Day Student-Zeta clash, little Bobby was on the receiving end of a sensational forward-lateral play from Lynn Brown to Bill Bottonan to Bob Giomotti for the only score of the 6-0 game. Tuesday, the Zeta flash shared scoring honors with Cliff Balmer, each scoring one six-pointer. "Lang Foo" Brown jumped on top of Gundlach for a safety to make the final score, 14-0.

Jimmy Kane's recovery of a Day Student fumble in the enemy's end zone highlighted the Kappa's 12-0 victory over the Daymen on Wednesday afternoon. Dick Shollenberger's pass to "Chin" Rhoads resulted in the champions' final points.

Lanky Jay Williams ran his touch-football scoring to four touchdowns this season by collecting two against the Frosh Gorm on Monday afternoon. A Westager-Wolf pass gave the Theologs their final markers. Final score was 18-0.

P.A.T.'s Celebrate Sadie Hawkins Day

A rollicking, hilarious time was had on Sadie Hawkins' Day, Monday, by the freshmen girls and their hostesses, the P. A. T's, at Skunk Hollow or, beg your pardon, the Y. M. C. A. The evening was informal, partly because of the old clothes worn by the girls and partly because of the entertainment program for the evening.

18 Dribblers Report For First Session

Last Year's Frosh Team Is Nucleus Of Squad

Eighteen ready and willing potential hardwood performers answered Coach Neal O. Harris' opening varsity basketball call Monday night. The group was the largest to respond to an opening whistle in Harris' coaching career at Albright.

Eight candidates were excused from the opening sessions because of football, but ten of the team's brightest prospects engaged in the initial drills Monday and Tuesday evenings and Thursday afternoon on the Thirteenth and Union Grade School floor. Most of the squad will have a month's practice before engaging in the opening game, December 4. Freshman candidates also have started to report.

Five Holdovers

Of the ten members now competing for varsity posts, five are from last year's sensational freshman squad. They are: Dick Shollenberger, "Chin" Rhoads, Kenny Hopkins, Jimmy Kane, and "Nick" Schneider. The other five are: "Red" Sheffer and Raymond Kent, last year's varsity, and Sam Sehl, Paul Leinbach, and Ken Kachel.

The eight football men excused from practice are Bill Miller, Bill Spangler, Paul Petrucka, John Killiany, George Horn, Bob Bennett, Steve Plaskonos, and Stan Kuklis.

Betty Jones looked quite the part dressed as Adam Lazonga while Pat Smith as "Marrying Sam" married off the couples of girls, half of whom were dressed as boys. All kinds of games that typified the lives of the people of "Skunk Hollow" were played. There was a feud between the Martins and the Coys, a Sadie Hawkins' day chase, a square dance, and even a jug band with all sorts of instruments.

Class Hockey Loop Opens This Afternoon

Juniors Take On Frosh In Initial Fracas

The hockey inter-class schedule is now in its embryonic stage. The initial tilt will be played this afternoon at 4:30, when the juniors meet the frosh.

Team captains are: Frosh, Polly Walls; Sophs, Dorothy Reber; Juniors, Elaine Shade, and seniors, Betty Ebbert.

The varsity hockey squad will play twice this fall, once with Lebanon Valley on November 16, and once with Moravian on November 23. Both games will be played on the Albright field.

Must Have

"The startling fact is this: Popular education has not lifted the level of the public; the unreasonable public has drawn the educated down to its level. Life cannot be stabilized when the element of religion and faith is left out of our thinking. The denominational college must save the nation."

Red Devils

Bernatowicz Tops

Ace of the Red Devil backfield is Sanford Bernatowicz, a shifty quarterback. Steve Gorse and Johnny Danner are two other offensive threats. Some idea of the power Franklin and Marshall had last week and the stiff fight the Lions put up against it, can be gained by a glimpse at the physical condition of the Dietzmen this week. Practically all the Red and White gridders who saw service are carrying bruises or other mementos of the clash.

The same line that started the F. and M. game will likely get the call this week. Sam Coccodrilli, roving center; Tom Lubin and Vince Rusbosin, guards; Steve Plaskonos, and Tom Johnson, tackles, and Frank Bertino and Tom Frystak, ends, are favored to take the field against the Kahlees. Chuck Klein, whose leg was injured in last week's fray, may not see much action tonight. Jim Breen and Stan Kukle probably will start at halfback and Captain Marshall Popelka at fullback.

The engagement is scheduled to begin at 8:30 with the band parading under the lights at 8.00.
