TO OUR READERS

THE ALBRIGHTIAN this week comes to you in abbreviated, mimeographed form, lacking only feature and lesser news items. The staff has met with unforeseeable difficulties which have necessitated the cancellation of the printing contract due to non-fulfillment of deadline obligations on the part of the printer. We sincerely regret that it has been impossible to publish the current issue of the paper. Every effort is being made to secure a new typesetter so that publication can be resumed next week.

We thank the loyal members of the staff who gave their fullest cooperation and time.

wishing to try out for this position or any others still have the opportunity.

The Celebrities intend to include in their repertoire the type of popular music that has lasted because of its great quality, and not so much ephemeral jazz.

RADIO WORKSHOP STAFF ORGANIZED

Albright's Office of Public Relations has announced the re-appointment of Walter Hayum as director of the College Radio Workshop. Under the supervision of Hayum, auditions for the workshop were held on Friday, September 23. Assisting him this year will be Jack Gounder and Nan Heckman, assistant directors.

In addition to the regular broadcasts and workshop meetings, a series of six acting labs have been scheduled for all novices and interested members; these labs will include voice training, radio interpretation and coordination with sound. Plans are also being formulated for the establishment of a radio studio to be located in the Student Union Building. Two of the local radio stations, WFUM and WEEU, have expressed an interest in this project.

Staff members from last year again associated with the Workshop are: Marie Kaputo, Harry Mousaros, Jay Kyle, Harold Matter and Richard Stinson. Newly selected seniors include Reta Shanaman and Stanley Taub. As a result of the auditions held last week, the following new members have been accepted: Dick Fehle, William Glant, Judith Goodman, Thomas Kidd, Pat Miller, Nancy Neatock, Karal Ruppel, Nancy Smith and Marjorie Sternberg. Additional students, interested in acting or any other phase of radio production should fill out an application blank in the Public Relations Office so that further auditions can be scheduled and assignments made.

Albright students will remember that last year's Radio Workshop was quite successful, highlighted by the presentation of "Macbeth," as adapted for radio by Hayum. Whether the Workshop will continue as last year with two quarter hour presentations and one half hour production per month is as yet undecided.

Y RETREAT PROGRAM OUTLINED

A detailed program for the annual Fall Y Retreat was announced yesterday by Ralph Stutzman and Janice Miller, co-chairmen. Highlighting the activities of the October 1-2 weekend at Eynonwood will be three discussions by Alexander S. Miller, noted lecturer and clergyman, on the theme, "Why Be Concerned -- At All?"

The Retreat will begin at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, when a box luncheon will be served. Day students must purchase them for fifty cents in advance. The first seminar, "Why Be Concerned -- At All?" will begin at 2:30. Discussion groups will meet at 3:40, followed by recreation at 4:30 and dinner at 6 o'clock.

"Our Particular Concern About Vocations" will be the theme of the second seminar at 7:15 p.m. Following the meeting of discussion groups at 8:20, there will be a period of recreation at 9 o'clock singing around a campfire at 11.

Sunday's program will begin with a voluntary World-Wide Communion Service at 7 o'clock, followed by breakfast at 8. The third seminar, "Our Particular Concern about Politics," will be held at 9 o'clock. Discussion groups will meet at 10, after which there will be recreation at 10:45 and dinner at 12 noon.

Those who wish to attend the retreat but failed to register earlier this week should contact Jay Shank, Leonard Buxton, Pete Young, Norman Snook, Pat Pierce or June Christman.

SHIRK OF HISTIC ABOUT OUTLOOK

Prospects for this year's cross country team take on a dim slant as they prepare for their October 7 opener at West Chester. Although Coach Gene Shirk seems optimistic about the season's outlook, he will have a tough job filling the sneakers of Fred Roland and Joe Reeves, departed via graduation. These twin harriers were two of last year's front runners and helped to boost the record of that team to an impressive five wins and three losses, the best showing since the sport was introduced at Albright.

Holdovers, who are working out daily, are returning lettermen Dave Roland, Roy Boush and Ed Anlian. Newcomers include Charles Zellner, Dave Dewitt, Jim McLaughlin, Carl Reesor, Dick Stealey, and erstwhile basketballers such as Bob Ruoff, Dan Bieber, and Pat Bieber.

The schedule for 1949 includes:
Fri., Oct. 7 - West Chester, away.
Fri., Oct. 14 - Muhlenberg, away.
Tues., Oct. 18 - St. Joseph, away.
Sat., Oct. 22 - F. & M., Home.
Tues., Oct. 25 - Gettysburg,

Tues., Nov. 1 - Kin's College away.

Sat., Nov. 5 - Scranton, away

Sat., Nov. 11 - M.A.S.C.A.C. Championships, Muhlenberg College, Allentown.

Fri., Nov. 18 - Delaware, home

LIONS OPEN HOME SEASON TONIGHT

Coach Eddie Gulian and his Albright Lions open their home football schedule this evening against the Lincoln University gridders in the Lion Stadium at 8 o'clock, after absorbing a 46-6 trouncing at the hands of the West Chester Rams last Friday night in the initial fray of the 1949 campaign.

The Lions are hoping to get on the right foot for the remainder of the season against the Orange and Blue, a new football foe but a familiar opponent on the hardwood courts. Known also as the Lions, the Oxford huskies will be fielding an experienced squad featuring seventeen returning lettermen from last year's team, which had a five win - four loss record.

Lincoln pulled the cap off its schedule last week with St. Paul Polytech of Lawrenceville, Virginia, by a convincing score of 39-0. They field a backfield averaging 135 pounds. On the line they can count on the weight of a 260 lb. tackle, Clem Cumberbatch, plus a 190 lb. rugged guard, Captain Frank McCray. Their St. Paul foes were swart back for 400 total yards gained in running. Coached by Irving (Moon) Mondschein, former Olympic decathlon star, who steps into the position vacated by Chet Stackhouse, the visitors will sport two exceptional all-star guards in McCray and "Army" Johnson.

Powered by a fleet of hard running fast stopping backs, the Rams poured it on our Lions in both the first and third quarters while the Lions held their own during the other two periods. The 3,500 fans came away from the game with the impression that West Chester has another powerhouse team.

Three minutes after the opening kickoff, Joe Carlozo, the State's leading scorer in 1947, went over for a touchdown from the three yard line. Joe Dolonza, the Teacher's co-captain, looked like a cross country man as he ripped off two long runs for TD's, 31 and 54 yards respectively. Our passing wasn't too effective, for both Waldman and Kessler intercepted passes and went for paydirt while George Note did some shifty running for 40 yards after catching a Lion punt. Totalling a few more counters was Walt Blair a boy with a toe that added four extra points plus enough acility to be on the end of one of Wayne Schneider's passes into the end zone.

Jerry Pedota, a rugged 205 pound end from Long Branch, New Jersey, accounted for our six points when he broke through the strong forward wall and pounced on a bad pass from center as Schneider stood in the Ram's end zone in punt formation. Pedota, a defensive platoon member, also bottled up many West Chester attempts to penetrate his side of the line and won the plaudits of the fans.

PLAYDAY HIGHLIGHTS HOCKEY CARD

With the arrival of fall the Albright lassies are eagerly awaiting their first clash with Lebanon Valley Oct. 15th on their home grounds. This year a well-rounded schedule promises good contests, the highlight being the Playday in which Moravian, Cedar Crest, and Kutztown will vie for honors on the Albright field. These two tournays fall on Saturday mornings at 10:30. This means that Albright's coeds can come out then and really get behind a team which works as hard as any, but receives little recognition from fellow students.

A strong forward line remains from last year's squad which includes Marge Gardner, Jane Pollack, Ellie Spring and Nancy Stump. Marilyn Metzger is a new team prospect for wing position along with promising freshmen aggressors, Pat Kennedy, Judy Leinbach and Pat Miller. To back up this formidable line-up, Mrs. Fossler has previously tried reliables, Helen Hasselgren, Shirley Johnson, Joan Betty Peck, Jane "Hickey" Honey, and Ellie Williams. Also trying for defensive spots on the team are half backs, Claire Bailey and Carol Kracker.

INTRAMURAL COUNCIL ORGANIZES

Plans were discussed for the coming intramural football competition and rules were agreed upon for contests. At least two and possibly three games will be played a night. All regular competition will take place Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday afternoons, while postponed games will be fought either Thursday or Friday. Competition will start next Monday afternoon, and the schedule for the games can be found on the main bulletin board of the administration building.

Rules for touch football are as follows:

In case of tie - A double tie for a place will necessitate a two game playoff, while a triple tie will be followed by one drawing and a two game playoff.

Length of games - Four, 15 minute quarters.

Time of games - 4:15 p.m.

Forfeit deadline - 4:25 p.m.

Equipment - No cleats of any sort, although heavy shoes will be acceptable. At each game the opposing teams will send representatives to the stadium to obtain two footballs.

A one handed touch is all that is necessary to stop a play.

Downs - Six downs will be given for a touchdown before the ball changes sides.

Players - Seven players will make up a team. Everyone will be eligible for a pass.

Lettermen - No football lettermen are eligible to participate.

Substitutions - Allowed at any time.

Officials - Lettermen are eligible. Two are to be present at each game and may be members of other teams on an inactive afternoon.

Trophies - Medals of the winning team.

Mrs. Eugene Shirk acted as moderator. Members of the panel were the Rev. Eugene H. Barth, Miss Consuelo Rodriguez, Dean Ruth E. Williams and Dean Levan P. Smith.

Before the panel discussion vocal selections were rendered by Marian Miller, soprano, and Richard Miller, bass. Janet Tonkin furnished the accompaniment.

Consisting of approximately 700 members, the Women's Auxiliary has given considerable support to Albright College. The Auxiliary was responsible for the furnishings of the conference room in the Administration Building and the balcony of Union Hall. It also contributed to the aid of the infirmary.

Although the test is not compulsory for seniors, as it is for freshmen, they are urged to participate in this service provided by the college and the R. T. A. The test uses the Mantoux solution in one dose.

Plans have been made by Doctor Horn and the R.T.A. to have an x-ray unit available sometime during the week of October 21 on campus to x-ray all positive reactors.

One hundred thirty-four boys and 65 girls, all members of the freshman class were tested on September 11.

Debating Squad To Organize Soon

To again participate in inter-collegiate debating on this year's national topic, "Resolved: That the United States Should Nationalize the Basic Non-Agricultural Industries," Albright's squad is depending upon the return of several members from last year as well as new freshmen and other interested students.

So far, a meeting of the old members has not been scheduled. However, in order to organize the squad and arrange for a regular gathering time, a meeting will be held in the near future.

Raymond Schlegel, debating manager, is in charge of arranging the inter-collegiate schedule, which will include a debate during a January chapel period.

The members who were held over from last year are Russell Weigley, Jack Rhoads, Richard Meyer, Howard Platzker, William Boyer, Robert Miller, Fred Heck and Raymond Schlegel.

Freshmen and all other persons interested in debating, whether or not they are experienced, are welcome to the practice debates, where they may participate as a means of trying out for the squad.

Seniors and Sophs Make Plans for Year

Completion of plans for the taking of senior class pictures, discussion of other senior activities and election of a sophomore class secretary highlighted the meetings of the Classes of 1950 and 1952 held last Tuesday, October 4.

The seniors approved a motion that $2 be collected from each senior at the time the class pictures are taken. Half of this amount is the sitting fee, while the other half will be regarded as class dues. The pictures will be taken in the Women's Lounge of Schryn Hall Annex beginning Monday, October 24. The senior women will dress uniformly for their class pictures, the particular type to be decided later.

A hayride has been planned by the seniors for Saturday, October 29, at Circle J Ranch near Angelica. The tentative date for the senior prom is Friday, June 2, 1950. The class opposed a popularity poll for the Cue.

Robert Van Houten was appointed chairman of a committee to study types and prices of graduation invitations. He will be assisted by June Christman, Doris Chanin and Robert Rosen.

Sophomores Elect Secretary

Margery Vanfield was elected secretary of the class of 1952. A sophomore class dance will be held on Saturday, October 29. Although the dance will be free, dues of $1 for the year will be collected within the next three weeks. Publicity, decoration and program committees were formed.

PROF. L. E. SMITH DISCUSSES PROBLEM OF RELATIONSHIP OF WAR AND CHRISTIANITY

Prof. Lewis E. Smith discussed the problem of the relationship of war and Christianity during the chapel period on Tuesday, October 4.

Noting that many people sit back and accept wars with a fatalistic attitude, he said that they believe nothing they do can prevent a third world war. However, said Prof. Smith, they are wrong. Since no one in this world wants war, now is the time, during peace, to do something about it.

End Will Follow Righteous Means

Prof. Smith quoted Jesus as saying that men should become interested in the means and the end will follow if these methods are righteous. No nation in the history of the world has survived by the sword. Since Constantine, war and Christianity have gone together, but if righteous means are used to achieve peace, that end can be obtained.

The Rev. Gerald Ziemer, Evangelical United Brethren missionary to China, discussed Communism and Christianity in chapel yesterday.

PI GAMMA MU PLANS MEETING

Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity, will hold its first meeting Wednesday, October 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lower Social Room. Harold Hutter, president, will preside.

Candidates for membership will be evaluated. Invitations are due later.

dandy Iron the little fisherman

Someone put her in a box, tied her with a promise and threw her into Albright's campus last year. The petite, peppy parcel of which I speak is none other than JOANNE SCHREIBER. The contents are clearly labeled; fragile, soft voice enclosed, watch for unleashing energy at all times. Now that the unveiling has presented us with a valuable co-ed, we find her with strings attached after nine years. As is the custom of all steadies, Jo matches wrappers with Ralph at the dances and on special occasions.

The return address indicated previous studies at the University of Pittsburg, Johnstown Center, but that home is in Johnstown, Pa. Like the mythical Pandora's box, Jo brought with her many things to Albright. But in this modern case, only good resulted. Almost any day you can see her busily attending to her duties as President of the Y.W.C.A. in the Selwyn Hall office or on the basketball court sinking them in during the winter months. Dorm women are likely to see her snoozing away the first chance she gets, for who doesn't at least try to catch a few winks on the side?

In the years to come, this dainty miss is aiming for social work, with children preferably, but does not plan on graduate work. As she quietly unraveled part of herself to me, I found that red was her favorite color. That coincides with the fact that she likes a small college, as much as this one takes to her. What's more, Jo came to the right town to indulge in her favorite food, pretzels. A new twist to the tale is her love of swimming and knitting, which must at all times be enjoyed separately.

Jo readily admits that a secret longing to work in one of the bowery's stone front churches was instilled in her after her memorable experiences there as a part of this past summer's work at President's school. Of course the future holds a lot of happiness in store for Jo, proving that big things come in small packages. This one is branded with a large C.O.D. — Courage or Determination. Both are applicable to this week's dandiest of dandies!

BEST WISHES !!

All Albrightians extend heartiest wishes to Jim Raab and Doris Langel (who is now the Mrs.). Jim, a Pi Tau, is a necessity at Albright; he is the one who does such a splendid job in advertising forthcoming campus activities. Thanks, Jim, for your cooperation. And again, the best to you and Doris.

Another wish goes out to Jeanne Swavely who became the bride of Angelo Tucci on September 9.

This is your introduction to a new column in the Albrightian - the college paper which is never touched by human hands. During the following weeks, we will describe and comment on persons, places, and things of interest to all of the collegiate crowd.

Today let us talk about things. Let us go into the case history of a professor who brought fame to a nearby college campus after having been a practically unobserved member of the faculty for nearly thirty years. This is the story of Professor Acrid, who occupied a chair in the Philology Department at Articulate University. Rumors at the University often had it that Professor Acrid was born in the chair of the University's Philology Department. This was not so, because a very reliable member of the Alumni informed me that he had personally seen the professor being hoisted into the chair by the college janitor in the fall of 1917. This alumnus explained to me that he had returned to college early to help with Freshman orientation and consequently became a witness to this most sacred ritual.

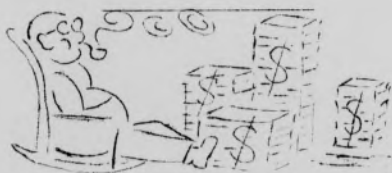

But to return to Professor Acrid. He was not at all what his name implied. He was as peaceful as jello poured into a mold. He was also a genius, and because of this, some of his peculiarities were pointed to with pride by students and faculty alike. Other men with equal traits would have been placed into retirement somewhere in the Tibetan mountains where newspapermen could cause no added friction to the burning ulcers of influential alumni. Professor Acrid, however, was voted an automatic yearly salary increase of $10, plus the warmest personal commendations of the Alumni Association. His classes were crowded and he continued to eat certain pages out of the textbook which contained the writings of his favorite authors. Occasionally in Spring, nature took its course on the good professor and he would throw a rakish spit-ball at a pretty coed. This was usually around the time the class reached hieroglyphics in Teutonic Language 307, and the spit-ball usually contained the greater parts of the alphabet. Beyond that, however, the professor was not given to anything that could be called emotion. He was calm, and dry, and very very intelligent.

Yet one spring the good professor was tempted to throw a second spit-ball at a pretty coed and to follow it by a third one. Very confused over his own action he reported to the Psychological Clinic of the University for psychoanalysis. After several pattern tests, a finger-dexterity test and a wigley-block test, it was the unanimous opinion of the doctors in attendance that Professor Acrid was in love. Professor Acrid was very much ashamed over the appearance of this human emotion in his personality. For thirty years he had disliked both sexes and was proud of it, and now----?

Professor Acrid proposed, and was promptly rejected for reasons of financial insecurity. He became desperate. He thought of writing a text-book and requiring his classes to buy it for the next 25 years like most other professors did. He thought of the royalties, and he thought of all the textbooks the head of the Philology Department had already written, and he gave it up. Then a strange and miraculous thought flashed into his mind: Why not write a book - something fictitious, something that would be read by the illiterates as well as the semi-literates, something that would be bought by the Months-of-the-Book Club Company and bring thousands of dollars in royalties?

Professor Acrid seated himself in front of his Louis XIV desk and started to write. He wrote, he raved, he permitted his imagination to enter his mind, and when his imagination failed, he sought inspiration in the write-ups of some voluptuous looking book-jackets, as well as some rather sacred volumes. Finally, he sent his manuscript to the editors of the Months of-the-Book Club Company. When he received his first check he got married. Then his book was banned in Boston he bought a Rolls Royce, and learned to Rhumba at Arthur Murray's. At present, he is in the news for his generous contribution to the Old Age Professors and Vegetarian Fund. So much for Professor Acrid.

I hope the upper-classmen have recovered,
And that the Freshmen are still going strong,
Because I'm back again to treat you;
Your response will determine how long.

I have been asked to bring to you another vocabulary for the future school year. I haven't had much opportunity to acquire a new vocabulary as I spent the summer working in a cemetery. That definitely wasn't a locality for much conversation. Well anyway, football season is in the air. (a bit inconvenient, huh?)

FOOTBALL VOCABULARY: Football game - a game in which one side of the stadium wants to see eleven men killed, and the other side of the stadium wants to see eleven men killed - (healthy American sport).

Science Sants

The men and women of science have returned from a frustrating vacation to calm their shattered nerves by absorbing the quiet and soothing lectures of Prof Green. A few students gave up a "Room Full of Roses" for those rooms full of H₂S and dead fish.

BIOLOGICALLY SPEAKING

In Comparative Anatomy, the proportion of male and female specie is 14 to 1. Pat Leavitt has made no statement other than, "Saturday labs are wonderful, but I do feel conspicuous."

Prof Hollenbach is now conducting the General Biology lectures, and it is understood that a requisite to pass the course is a detached drawing of the paramosium in the student's living room at home.

CHEMICAL EQUILIBRIUM

The classes in qualitative analysis have already completed groups I and are working on the preliminaries of group II. A few of the students staggered out of the lab with their heads spinning and gasping for air not saturated with hydrogen sulfide.

The organic lab students have been distilling 95% ethyl alcohol and a few of the students stagger out with.....

VECTORITIS

Physics classes have been studying the effects of applied force by vector analysis. Jess Hunsberger has just finished his experiment entitled, "The applied negative acceleration of a burning wood." At the end of a personal interview, Jess said, "I thoroughly enjoyed the experiment and appreciated the aid received from my colleagues, Mr. John Larkin and Mr. William Shaeffer who so generously contributed to the cause!"

So we leave the industrious ambitious, potential scientist in his beloved environment of test tubes, microscopes, analytical balances, and hyper-critical professors.

THE CAT'S

MEEYOW

By Scratch

It was a different Albright eleven, or should I say twenty-two, that battled on the Stadium gridiron last Friday night from the befuddled group of athletes who performed at West Chester the Friday evening before. Time and time again during the course of the game the question was asked by some of the Lincoln rooters and other spectators seeing the Lions for the first time, "How did West Chester ever beat this club 46-6?" Well, we've got an answer for them now: "Who knows and who cares? We've got a gang that's going to cause a bit of sorrow in the ranks of their small college opponents this year."

Both the offensive and defensive platoons did themselves justice in outplaying the Lincoln lads in every department: first downs 13-9; net yards gained 193-88; and yards gained passing 62-24. Only a momentary lapse in alertness and the outstanding play of Howard Thomas in the role of key blocker on Fulley's last quarter 76 yard runback snatched the laurels of victory from our fighting Lion's claws.

Looking at the lineups, we see that it was actually a couple of T's that did the damage, the running and blocking of Thomas and the never erring converting of Harry Tunnell. Indeed it was the very same Thomas who earlier in the third quarter galloped through tackle for 58 big yards and Lincoln's first score. For those Lion rooters who feel that Thomas and Fulley should never have gotten away for such long paces into paydirt, let me report that both these boys broeze the hundred in 9.7 seconds flat, so that even with the track team's Howie Brenner trotting ever-so-speedily on their tails, it would remain a matter of debate whether even Howie could have tied their shoelaces together. But enough of the disa and data.

Luckily for Big Al Harnly and Little Johnny Krouse, Coach Gulian is also slated to be at the reins of the Lion baseball team; and should he be in need of an ace battery, I'm sure he'll be partial to the throwing and receiving of this pair. In that last quarter drive for our Lion's second TD, it was Harnly pitching to Krouse for the three completed passes covering over 50 yards, the last one, of course being the score. Incidentally, our first six-pointer came early in the second quarter on a sweet bit of strategy, Harnly around end on a quarterback sneak. As quiet Al so easily proved, why go bounding loudly through center when you can sneak around end for the same 6 points? While we're still making with the garlands and roses, jumping Joe Czutno and elusive Billy Krohto certainly have to be mentioned for their own field scampering that aided in setting up those scores. The defensive heavies deserve a plug in here somewhere too. Jerry Padott, Fred Rosen and Cal Cizowski chased their men hither and yon time and again to tie knots in Lincoln's ground game. What? You think I'm overly impressed? Unh uh, it's just that I saw the West Chester game the week before..... See you at Moravian.

Tennis Pairings Posted

Pairings for the student intra-mural tennis tourney will be found on the bulletin board outside The Albrightian office. The turnout for the tournament was promising and it is hoped that the freshmen and other participants will tune up for next spring's inter-collegiate competition.

Those who have registered for the tournament are Paul Kissinger, Walt Fox, Don Miller, Art Wade, Pete Shanaman, Bruce Leebcr, Willy Rancourt, Harry Bell, Darlington Hoopes, Roy Rentz, Forrest Strawbridge, Jim Menzel, Dale Moyer, Don Arnold, Rod Smith, Al Rasprovicz, Tom Kane, Don Grigsby, Stan Taub and Lewis Hallock.

Winners announced to date in the student singles tourney are Darlington Hoopes over Harry Bell, 9-6, 6-2; and Roy Rentz over Forrest Strawbridge, 6-3, 1-6, 6-4.

Faculty Netmen To Play

Faculty tennis matches which were scheduled to be played last Thursday were rained out, and will be played as soon as possible.

Pairings announced for the doubles tourney are Professors Ellery B. Haskell and LeVan P. Smith vs. John W. Khouri and Donald S. Gates; and Professors Eugene L. Shirk and Eugene H. Barth vs. Luther F. Brozman and J. Howard Widdowson. The winner of the two best out of three sets will cop the match.

Consolation in Defeat

Consoling the Lions after their losses to West Chester and Lincoln and the fatal scores of other teams soon to appear on the Albright schedule. Last Saturday the Diplomats from Franklin and Marshall suffered a 14-13 defeat at the hands of Johns Hopkins University. After building up a 13-0 lead in the first three periods, the Dips futilely watched Johns Hopkins stage a fourth period rally for two touchdowns and two conversions. On the previous Saturday the Dips were trounced 53-0 by powerful Lehigh University.

Boasting an even scorecard at present but awaiting a second defeat at the hands of our Lions is the Greyhound team from Moravian. In their first scheduled game with Wagner, the Greyhounds downed their opponents 26-18. It was a different story against the powerful Scranton Royals. Pete Mondati opened the Scranton victory with the first two touchdowns that finally culminated in a 32-13 victory for the Royals.

Providing hope for sweet revenge against the not-so-unbeatable Muhlenberg College Mules are losses to Duquesne 14-6 and to the undefeated Scranton Royals 12-7. For their first score the Royals staged a 55-yard payoff march and tossed the pigskin during the last two minutes of play for the winning touchdown. Elmo Hackson grabbed a 20-yard pass for the Mules' only touchdown. Although their undefeated card strengthens the Royals' position on anyone's schedule, including the Lion's, it provides an opportunity for revenge over the Mules who last year barely managed to overpower Albright in a Thanksgiving Day contest.

Getting closer to home and to traditional rivals, the results of two weeks ago showed a 33-14 defeat for Lebanon Valley at the hands of Gettysburg. Antonio Cervino dashed 79 yards for the Bullets' first TD, while the four remaining scores were accomplished with passes by Ross Sachs and Bob Bitner. Big guns for the Flying Dutchmen in running and scoring were Hen DiJohnson and Joe Oxley. Last Saturday the Bullets romped over Western Maryland 21-0, boosting their record to two straight wins.

Our old rival, West Chester State Teachers' College, defeated our last scheduled opponent, P.M.C., 20-0, increasing our hopes for a victory with them here.

LIONS MEET MORAVIAN TONIGHT AT BETHLEHEM

Sporting a .500 average this season, the streaking Greyhounds of Moravian meet our fighting Lions in the spacious 16,500 seat Liberty High Stadium tonight in Bethlehem. Celebrating their Founders' Day, the hosts plan to make our thirteenth meeting an unlucky one since we came out victorious in 10 of the last 12 frays, including the last one by a 19-0 score.

Coach Larry Rosati, a Bethlehem High and Moravian star himself, is fielding an experienced squad made up of 18 lettermen from last year's team plus a crew of outstanding freshmen that have already proven themselves in battle.

Among the big men the Blue and Gray imported to their campus is Joe Gorenecser, a halfback from Northampton who scampered for two touchdowns in the 26-18 Wagner victory. Also among the stellar frosh is an outstanding end recruited from Northampton by the name of Ed Novogratz and watching him for first year honors is Bob Weisel, a tackle from Philipsburg.

Although losing the services of Frank Weaver by the graduation route, the "steel millers" still have the services of their leading ground gainer, a rangy, 178-pound junior under the banner of Ray Snyder. Snyder with the help of Johnny Policelli, scored the TD's in the loss to the strong Royal team from Scranton by the score of 32-13 last week.

Summing all this info up, Coach Gulian's two platoons are again pitted against a fast, heavy team and will try to make their first win at the expense of Moravian.

After the three opening days of Intramural competition, the Pi Tau and Zeta fraternities headed their league with clean slates of one and two wins, respectively. The Boarding Students clinched their league lead with a rout over the Hornets, 30-0.

Opening the fraternity competition on Monday, the Zetas edged out the Kappas, 9-6, with a second period safety and a fourth period pass from Gene Stoudt to John McKenna. In the Independent League, the Boarding Students copped their opener over the Hornets, 39-0.

The Pi Taus took their first fray, 25-6, at the expense of the KTX fraternity with touchdowns by Jesse Ervin, Blaine Schmehl, and Bill Heffner. Scoring two first period touchdowns, the Frosh copped their first battle from the Daymen, 13-0.

Wednesday afternoon the Pi Taus nudged the APO's 13-12, scoring their winning T-D on a pin-point pass from Ray Chelius to Ervin. The Independent All Stars and Frosh battled to a 12-12 tie, both teams scoring in the second and third stanzas.

Here are the league standings:

	FRATERNITY LEAGUE		Tied
	Won	Lost
Kappas	0	1	0
KTX	0	1	0
APO's	0	1	0
INDEPENDENT LEAGUE
Frosh	1	0	1
All Stars	0	0	1
Daymen	0	1	0
Hornets	0	1	0

THANKS FOR WAITING

The editors and staff of the Albrightian express their thanks to the readers for their patience and understanding during these last two weeks when the normal quality of the newspaper was lacking.

In order to keep our regular publication schedule in tact, a mimeographed edition has again been issued. Enough copies will be available for all students. We assure our readers that by the next issue, of October 14, a standard Albrightian will be put to press. A fuller explanation of the recent events will be given at that time.

The first Student Council - sponsored chapel program, to be held Tuesday, October 11, will feature the work of Student Council itself. A regular meeting will be held on the stage of Union Hall so that freshmen will be able to see just how Council works. A period will be set aside for questions from the floor.

Thursday, October 13, Student Council will present motion pictures from the Museum of Modern Art in New York.
