Seymour Mendelsohn, one of Albright's premier debaters, again came through in the recently completed T. K. A. convention. The topics for the contest were chosen by President

T.K.A. Expresses Thanks To Albright College

The Albright Chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha expresses its sincere thanks to every member of the Albright College Family—students, faculty, and administration—for their excellent cooperation in connection with the convention last week-end. It is noteworthy, too, many delegates commented on the great hospitality which they enjoyed while visiting our campus.

Harry V. Masters and were: "What is my responsibility now?" "If I were a freshman again," and "Has college prepared me to graduate into a world at war?" Our star chose the second of these for his speech.

George Evans of Albright was chosen student representative at the election Saturday afternoon. Richard Pollock of Waynesburg College was named president of the fraternity. "Pollock was the winner of this year's tournament, in which Warren Friedman of Rutgers University was runner-up.

N. Y. Journal-American Reporter Visits Campus For Defense Story

Scribe Impressed With Albright C. D. Set-Up

Last Thursday, students on their way to 11:30 classes stopped to stare at the crowd of Albright Cadets and the rows of shining fire extinguishers on the lawn and to wonder what was the occasion for all the hubbub. The Albright Committee of Civilian Defense was going through its paces for a New York Journal-American reporter and photographer, who were collecting material for a feature write-up of the defense set-up in Reading. For the past four or five months, the New York Journal-American has been running a series of two to four page feature articles on the defense set-ups in various cities along the eastern seaboard and has already covered some thirty-five cities.

When Mr. Mulvany, the N. Y. J. A. reporter, made arrangement with Reading's Chamber of Commerce to cover Reading defense, Mr. Benjamin Barr, Publicity Director of the Council of Defense for Berks County, and Mr. Jacobson of the C. of C., aware of the well-organized Albright program, sent him immediately to our campus. The reporter also visited the control headquarters and the industrial plants engaged in defense manufacture in the city.

Defense Group Photographed

The various units of Albright's Council of Defense, auxiliary firemen, air raid wardens, fire watchers, first aiders, and Dr. Masters with a group of students on the committee were photographed.

Mr. Mulvany asked many questions about the college and asked Dr. Masters particularly why he, if he were a high school graduate from one of the Middle Atlantic States, would enroll at Albright. The reporter remarked that Albright was the first place he knew where there were girl air raid wardens and that he was very much impressed with the defense set-up at Albright, and with the cooperation he received from the college.

The organization of defense on the campus has been entirely a student project directed by Ray Hain, Student Council president, and Michael Dutzer, Chief Air Raid Warden.

The faculty has acted merely in an advisory capacity and feels that the entire project is a credit to the student body as a whole.

The story will probably be featured in the New York paper this Sunday, to appear in conjunction with Reading's first black-out last Tuesday evening.

Pres. Masters Presented With First Cue Wednesday

President Masters was formally presented with a personal copy of the "Cue," during the chapel program on Wednesday, April 22. Seymour Mendelsohn, editor of the '42-'43 yearbook, and Bob Mattson, business manager, conducted the presentation.

Echo Dell Players Perform Skits For Campus Group

At a recent meeting of the Domino Club, Geraldine Ross was elected president for next year. The other officers are Jacob Wagner, vice president; Dorothy Reber, secretary; and Saul Pokrass, treasurer.

The Echo Dell Players under the direction of Paul B. Sands presented one-act plays, "Bedside Manners" and "Villa for Sale." One of the players gave a scene from "Anna Christie" by O'Neil, and Mr. Sands gave a reading.

The student directors and authors have collaborated on direction and production in the May Day One-Acters to be presented next Saturday evening in the college chapel.

German Fraternity Organized Here

Dr. Memming Inducts Charter Members

The Beta Psi Chapter of Delta Phi Alpha, national honorary German fraternity, was recently organized at Albright College. Dr. Gerrit Memming inducted the following charter members: Jean Bomgardner, Virginia Schoener, Olen Boyer, Charles Miesse, Nicholas Schaefer, and John Hertz. Mr. Miesse and Mr. Hertz were elected to serve as president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, for the remainder of the year.

To be eligible for membership in this fraternity, a student must be a member of the Junior class and must have a B average in German and quality grades in all other subjects.

"Lights Out" On Campus

By ANN DE FARGES

It all began as I was dialing for the "Red Skelton" program. There was a queer feeling in the pit of my stomach, even though we were expecting a Reading-Berks County practise air raid. All of a sudden a very distant whistle was faintly heard, seemingly coming from the general direction of the center of the city. All doors opened simultaneously as though an unseen hand had unlatched each one at the same time. Then we heard our warning bell. Girls, in all varieties of dress, literally poured unto the Freshmen hall. From upstairs came upper classmen. From Selwyn Hall came more upper classmen and the Belfry girls. The Home Ec's came from the cottage. The air raid wardens were scurrying around opening doors and windows that were supposed to be opened, and generally checking on everything.

The lights went out, leaving us in total darkness. All became quiet when over a portable radio was heard the casual, subdued voice of the radio announcer. We all sat on the floor against each wall, some on blankets and pillows, all with coats and flashlights.

Then the final check-up by the boys, coming through the halls. After the murmur of voices and exclamations as they passed through our lines, all became quiet again. We listened to the announcer's description of the black-out, and the sight as he saw it. The sight of a darkened city.

Even during this solemn spectacle there was a note of humor when the radio died out, and the program could be heard no longer. At this point, someone suggested we sing. From the entire girls dorm came a variety of songs, ranging from "Roll Out the Barrel" to "Tangerine." This seemed to break the tension.

Finally the "all clear" signal was given, and the Albright girls went calmly back to their tasks of the evening, showing that, we of Albright, are ready for any undertaking in regard to National Defense and that we will give our fullest support.

CURTAIN TIME

The curtains have opened on a new play. This week's issue of the Albrightian is supported by its new cast, the Albrightian staff.

Every year the new staff takes over several issues before the end of the semester, so that the old editor can graduate with the assurance that his journal is in fairly competent hands. We hope to be able to give this past year's chief and his associates that comfort.

In regards to policy, (that's an explanation written on the program of what the new staff intends to do) we believe that previous years of Albrightian publication have done a pretty good job of defining our course for us.

They say that the editorial is the old editor's smallest worry and the new editor's biggest worry, but why have these columns exclusively for the editor, who is, after all, only one four-hundredth of the student roster.

This paper has always been a student publication. The editorial columns are to be used by the student to express his opinions, complaints, and ideas.

In this way, we hope to be a milieu between the faculty and administration and the student body and to promote there an understanding and spirit that is ALBRIGHT.

We are, however, a small sequence in the long history of the Albrightian. Whatever we build will be on the foundations of other men's work. The retiring head and other senior editors deserve our sincere thanks for their understanding and sympathy in teaching us our new jobs, but most of all they deserve the congratulations of the whole school for their contributions to the heritage of the Albrightian.

KEEP COOL

We'll admit there is a fire, but the best way to handle it is to keep calm. The next three weeks of school, if the law of acceleration still holds, will pass at treadmill speed AND be accompanied with the usual frenzy of writing term papers, studying for exams, attending last meetings, banquets, picnics, lunches, ad infinitum.

Already professors and students alike are becoming short tempered and long faced. Nerves are running rampant and in general the new war schedule at Albright is creating a stewing mass of dizzy activity.

One, and only one, thing can be done at a time. Of course, this time can be better budgeted, but if the student and the prof will take things one by one, he'll find his nervous system will give him more hours per day and more days per week. That's war economy, with priorities on time.

Most of us spend more time thinking of what we have to do than in what we do.

Relax, and step up production.

Tulip Brew

Now that Nature has taken up her palate and is giving her landscape a new coat of paint, I couldn't help noticing a garden near my home. You would stop to look at it too. Everybody does, for it is well-planned and extremely colorful. On one slope was a magnolia dropping gigantic rose petals. Nearby was a bed of pansies, their faces smiling. Beyond them among the shrubbery were scattered delicate bluebells, frail narcissus, daffodils with cups as yellow as butter, and tulips holding their heads proudly. Not far away stood the prettiest tree of all, gracefully bearing delicate blossoms of the palest pink. It was at this tree that I looked longest, for, as you may have guessed, it was a Japanese cherry. Ironically enough, it seemed more beautiful than ever this year. People you and I know have chopped down such trees in fits of anger.

Unconsciously I turned back to the sturdy tulips. Do you know that this year the people in Holland cannot stand on their back porches and gaze out at acres of their national flowers? No, Germany has found another use for those tulip bulbs—food. After sufficient boiling, the bulbs serve as potatoes for thousands of starving Dutch. Or they are dried, browned, and ground into German "coffee." Oh, we here in American cannot imagine what it must mean to a country to see her livelihood being drunk by German soldiers to give them strength to ruin the pride of another nation.

Doesn't it appear rather foolish and a little in vain to chop down cherry trees and boil tulip bulbs when those Japanese cherries, Dutch tulips, French magnolias, bluebells from Scotland, and American pansies can all grow so peacefully in one garden?

Dr. Gingrich is Lay Delegate from Park Church. On Sunday he will also go to the Jesuit Novitiate at Wernersville to participate as an examiner in the Symposium on Homer's Iliad and Odyssey. THE CORNY EXCHANGE

Some good advice from the "Vil-lanovan" who got it straight from the "Maroon and Gold" who got it directly from Dorothy Dix, that you should:

- Say it with flowers.
- Say it with cats.
- Say it with kisses.
- Say it with sweets.
- Say it with jewelry.
- Say it with bank.
- But never, never
- Say it with ink!

Philosophically speaking from "Moravian Men":

"A sensible girl is not so sensible as she seems for a sensible girl has more sense than to look sensible."

While visiting the Hawaiian Islands last summer, we had a very thrilling experience. We met two hula girls who loved the same man, so they pulled straws for him."

"The Stute"

Again I quote from "The Stute":
A bird sits on a tree,
Now he flies away—
Life is like that.
Here today, gone tomorrow,
A little bird sits on a tree,
Now he scratches himself,
Life is that way—
Lousy!

The aviation instructor, having delivered a lecture on parachute work, concluded:

"And if it doesn't open, well, gentlemen, that is what's known as jumping to a conclusion."

The day after:
"Well," said the cannibal chief, "what are we going to have for breakfast?"

"A couple of old maids."

Chin

Yes, we're thinking of the same person—Chin Rhoads. It's funny the way he got that name. About three years ago when Bob was playing on that crack Regar's basketball team, his colleague, Pete Yousaitis, wanted to pass the ball to him. But Pete couldn't think of that diminutive forward's name, so he took one look at a protruding jaw and shouted, "Chin."

Robert Rhoads, as he is known to his family, is a junior day student and a member of the Kappa Upsilon Phi fraternity. He's the guy who laughs when teams like Long Island take time outs to get their breath.

Miss Helen Dracha Addresses I. R. C.

Tells Of Conditions In War Torn Europe

Miss Helen Dracha presented a very gripping account of her experiences in Europe at a meeting of the International Relations Club, April 16. Miss Dracha emphasized the atrocities and starvation familiar to the anti-Axis nations.

After many failures, Miss Dracha finally secured her much awaited visa, granting her permission to return to the United States.

Previous to Miss Dracha's talk the new club members were taken in. President Christus Bratiotis announced that the next meeting would consist of an open forum on Pan-American relations. Seymour Mendelsohn, Patricia Smith, and George Evans will discuss the broad topics of military, political set-up, and cultural problems.

Plans For Funds Discussed At HEO

New Officers Nominated At Meeting

What shall we do with our money? That question seemed to be the main topic of discussion at the last meeting of the Heo Club. Plans were made to dispose of the money by purchasing a bathnet and a rug for the baby's room in Sherman Cottage and by awarding a key to the senior girl who has done the most for the Home Economics Club. All surplus funds will be used in furnishing the much depleted laboratories.

The last meeting of the club will be devoted to electing officers. The nominees for the various positions are: President, Polly Brossman, Margaret Shepperd, Jean Seidel; vice president, second highest receiver of presidential votes; treasurer, Ruth Ritzman, Catherine Hill, and secretary, Alda Matz.

During the May meeting, two Albright graduates, one teaching Home Economics and one in home service work, will speak to the club telling of their new and different experiences since graduation.

Idle Zetas Retain Softball Lead

By NICK MAJOR and SAUL POKRASS

So-long Roy, and thanks a million. In this first issue of the new Albrightian we want to tell our readers something about the retiring sports editor, Roy Conner came to Albright College via Reading High. In his first year here he started on the Frosh eleven. Dropping out of school in his sophomore year, Roy went on to play guard for the Gaenzel Green Jackets and was selected on the Greater Reading Conference All-Star football team.

Roy's last two years were occupied with the pig-skin pastime, Alchemists, Skull and Bones, and intra-mural sports. Roy lists pre-eminently as his major, but we believe that his Uncle Sammy has another idea.

Again we want to thank Roy for doing a swell job. When one considers that his hands were tied, one can't help congratulating him. Also, Roy, we want to give you this promise, that LION TALES will live up to the hopes and faith that you in your writing have given it.

In that line, we'd like to campaign for more and better facilities and provisions for intra-mural sports. We also believe in a larger number of participants and more faculty support. We hope to see many improvements in the next year.

Don't forget, that this is as much your column as it is ours. If you have any suggestions or howels to make, we'll be glad to hear them.

We thought perhaps you'd like to know something about our new pigskin rivals for next year. We have two, both state teachers colleges.

The Mansfield "Mountaineers" were scheduled to open the season with us last year, but the game was canceled because of the polio scare. The Red and Black won two, lost four, and tied one last year. A coed school of about 370, their coach is Glenn Johnson, of Indiana. In 1938 Mansfield completed an undefeated, untied season to win the mythical State Teachers College Championship. The only score made against them all year was a safety by Millersville.

The Roaring Lion's other new opponent is Shippensburg's "Red Raiders." Last year's record for the Red and Blue was six wins and two losses. Ed Galian of Gettysburg coaches the gridders from this school of 500.

Strangely enough Millersville was our only mutual opponent with either team last year. The "Marauders," whom our lads shelled 26-13 on Turkey Day, beat both our new foes; Shippensburg 7-0 and Mansfield 16-0.

This week's "Tales of Lion Cubs" concerns Rinaldo Ridolfi. Home town, Peckville, Pa. . . . Went to Blakely High School . . . Took part in football, basketball, and track . . . Starting quarterback for four years . . . Captain of the team his junior and senior years . . . Selected All-Scholastic quarter for Scranton and vicinity the same years . . . Called signals for County team in Scranton's annual City-County Dream Game . . . Class president for three years, vice president for one . . . Weight, 158; height, five feet eight inches . . . Starting left-half on Frosh eleven . . . Rated by some as the best ball carrier on the squad . . . Played basketball and softball for Frosh Dorm teams . . . Teammates and friends call him Reynolds . . . A chemistry major . . . One of the newest edition of Kappas.

By the by, did you see our own Burd Miller in Monday's P. M.? His countenance beamed at us from a group of birdmen being sworn in for Uncle Sam.

Another round of Intra-mural softball finds the Zetas in first place with the hard fighting Kappas making a strong bid to oust the league leaders. The Zetas, by virtue of a few days of inactivity, were able to remain undefeated, but the scrappy Kappas led by Phil Mertz and Bob Rhoads turned in two wins and a tie.

The slick Kappa ten kept their fast and furious pace by beating the A.P.O.'s 7-4, the Pi Taus 11-3, and tying the surprisingly strong Theologs 7-7. Chuck Klein, Kappa hurler, turned in two stellar mound performances in limiting the A.P.O.'s to five bingles and the Pi Taus to four hits.

The Theologs, by beating the A. P. O.'s and tying the second place Kappas, presented the possibility of an upset in any of the games to be played yet. Big John Durko saved Ralph Frymoyer from defeat by driving in three runs for as many times at bat. The inspired playing of the Theologs brought them to third place, moving the A.P.O.'s to fourth rung on the ladder.

The A.P.O.'s, seemingly in a slump, dropped four games of the current week to find themselves with a 500 average. The Frosh remained in fifth place in spite of their 9-5 victory over the Chapel Boys.

The Daymen, idle this week, remained in sixth place, while the Pi Taus strengthened their hold on the cellar by dropping another game to the Kappas 11-3.

A. B. C. Elections Put Pokrass At Head

The Albright Business Club completed its election of officers on Wednesday with Saul Pokrass taking the top office. Harry Biting, chairman of the election committee, disclosed that Bill Dearden was elected vice president; Joanna Wentz, secretary; and John Baird treasurer.

The newly elected president has appointed Polly Walls chairman of the program committee. Other members of the committee are George Manderbach and Ralph Miller.

The A.B.C. has under consideration several projects for the forthcoming year. These include an extensive plan to bring to its members the far reaching effects of the current social and economic upheaval.

LADIES' NIGHT
The Reading Chemist Club's speaker on Tuesday, April 21, thoroughly disproved Prof. Green's theory that women are a weak-ignorant parasitic sex. The speaker was Professor Esther A. Engle, a well-known chemist and educator, head of the Chemistry department at Cedar Crest College.

Her topic was chemical aspects of the war of interest to women. Professor Engle appraised the national and international situation through the eyes of a woman and a chemist. She discussed many of the shortages that have developed, along with what chemistry has to offer in alleviating them. Another phase of the discussion was the interpretation for the ladies of the vastness and importance of the chemical phases of the current struggle.

FACULTY ON THE JOB
Albright is doing its part for national defense. Prof. Newton Danford, assisted by Ferril Miller, gave a demonstration on incendiary bombs before the Neversink sector of air raid Wardens, of which Charlie Gordon is the chief. Dr. Horn is one of his wardens. Charlie says, "This is the first time Horn has ever had to take orders from me." Prof. Green has also offered his services to the city as an airplane spotter and will soon be up in the middle of the night looking for planes instead of birds. Have you ever been on one of his 6.00 A.M. bird hikes? Anyone wishing to reduce should go along. I lost four pounds.

HAWK TALK
Mr. Allan Brown, noted ornithologist and representative of Hawk Mountain sanctuary, spoke to Science students last Friday afternoon on Hawks as Birds of Prey, (or are they?). He showed that of all the species of hawks only three are destructive and that most hawks are helpful. Colored moving pictures were shown, the most interesting of which was a picture of an albino red tailed hawk, a great rarity, which was seen over Hawk Mountain.

Dr. Graham Cook and Dr. Danford traveled to Palmerton last Friday to the Lehigh Valley sector of the American Chemical Society, to hear a talk by Dr. H. F. Mark on polymerization.

Charles Miesse has received a mathematics scholarship to Lehigh University.

DON'T QUIT COLLEGE if you are 17^{THRU} 19 and want to become a Naval Officer!

You can serve your country best by acting on this new Navy Plan now!

AVIATION OFFICERS
You want to fight for your country! Are you willing to work for it? To toughen yourself physically? To train yourself mentally for a real job in the United States Navy? If you do, the Navy wants you to enlist now. You don't have to quit college. You can stay in college, continue your studies to prepare for active duty in the air or on the sea. And your college will help you do it! In cooperation with the Navy, it offers all freshmen and sophomores who are seventeen and not yet twenty, special training that may win for you the coveted Wings of Gold of a Naval Aviation Officer or a commission as a Deck or Engineering Officer.

How to Become an Officer
To get this special Navy training, you enlist now as an Apprentice Seaman. Then you may continue in college, but you will include special courses stressing physical development, mathematics and physics. After you successfully complete 1½ calendar years in college, you will be given a classification test.

Aviation Officers
If you qualify by this test, you may volunteer to become a Naval Aviation Officer. In this case, you will be permitted to finish the second calendar year of college work before you start your training to become a Flying Officer.

However, at any time during this two-year period, you may have the option to take immediately the prescribed examination for Aviation Officer... and, if successful, be assigned for Aviation training. Students who fail in their college courses or who withdraw from college will also have the privilege of taking the Aviation examination. Applicants who fail to qualify in this test will be ordered to active duty as Apprentice Seamen.

Deck or Engineering Officers
Those who qualify in the classification test and do not volunteer for Aviation will be selected for training to be Deck or Engineering Officers. In that case, you will continue your college program until you receive your bachelor's degree, provided you maintain the established university standards.

Those whose grades are not high enough to qualify them for Deck or Engineering Officer training will be permitted to finish their second calendar year of college. After this, they will be ordered to duty as Apprentice Seamen, but because of their college training, they will have a better chance for rapid advancement. At any time, if a student should fail in his college courses, he may be ordered to active duty as an Apprentice Seaman.

Pay starts with active duty. It's a real challenge! It's a real opportunity! Make every minute count by doing something about this new Navy plan today.
