Y Schedules Easter Plays

Albright's 1951 observance of the Easter season will be highlighted by matins broadcasts, a play, chapel worship service, dawn communion and a banquet for all boarding students. Easter vacation will begin after last classes Wednesday, March 21 and end at 8:10 A. M. Tuesday, March 27.

This year for the first time the Y Choir will present Easter Matins, which will be similar to the annual Christmas Matins, announced Lester L. Stabler, head of Public Relations. The Matins will be broadcast over station WRAW from 7:45 A. M. to 8:00 A. M. every day through the week starting Monday, March 19. Leonard Buxton will be in charge of the programs.

The general theme will be highlights of Passion Week, worked around phrases from the Bible.

The program will be as follows:

Monday—"This is my blood which is shed for many"—script written by Peter Young.

Tuesday—"Not my will but thine"—written by William A. Heck.

Wednesday—"And the cock crew"—written by Percy Brown.

Thursday—"I find no guilt in this man"—written by Nancy Lou Walker.

Friday—"Father, forgive them"—written by Ruth Zimmer.

An Easter play will be presented at the regular Y meeting on Tuesday, March 20 at 7:30 P. M. in Union Hall. "Those who Truly See Him" is a modern story of the crucifixion of Christ done in present day dialogue. The cast which consists of men only is as follows: Fred, Percy Brown; Bill, Jay Shenk; Herb, Dean Hoffman; Jake, Norman Snook; Nick, Leonard Buxton; senior director, Richard Stinson; chairman, Charles Wolfe; John, Charles Klinger; Alexander, Edward Yarnell; and Jim, James Barret. Nancy Lou Walker and David Smith are the directors.

Dr. J. Arthur Heck will be the speaker at the annual Easter Communion service on Wednesday, March 21 at 6:00 A. M. in the College Chapel. George Heil will be in charge of the service and Leonard Buxton will direct the Y Choir.

The annual Easter Lenten Service will be held in the regular Chapel period on March 20. It will be given under the auspices of Student Council. The speaker will be the Rev. Daniel J. Wetzel, pastor of First Reformed Church.

The Easter banquet for boarding students will be held in the College Dining Hall at 6 o'clock Monday evening, March 19.

'Albrightians' Sent To Servicemen

A committee was selected by Student Council to send The Albrightian to former college students who are now serving in the armed forces. Evelyn Nantz, chairman, announced that the committee has the names of 44 men, who left this year and two who left last year. However, the committee can not get all the addresses of these men. If any students have any addresses or names and addresses of these men, they should turn them over to Evelyn Nantz.

The following is a section of a letter received from Benjamin D. Weidner, a former Albrightian who is fighting in Korea, in appreciation for sending him the paper:

"Yesterday I received an edition of The Albrightian and was very glad to receive it. It was so good to read the news of the activities going on and about Albright. I want to thank you and all concerned for sending me this edition."

Air Force Dep't Notifies College About ROTC Unit

Two items of information for all students concerned about the draft were received by college authorities this week. They concern Albright's application for an A. R. O. T. C. unit and a new Navy ruling about enlistments.

N. S. Danford, Registrar, received information concerning applications for an ROTC unit here at Albright on March 9 from the Dept. of the Air Force.

The Air Force Department stated that they had received Albright's formal applications for the establishment of an ROTC and that it will be considered in connection with 1951 augmentation program which provides for the establishment of an additional unit on or about July 1, 1951. They concluded by saying that an impartial board has been assigned the responsibility for selecting the 62 additional units and that our application will be transmitted to the board within the next few days. The institutions selected will be announced on or about April 20, 1951. They and the schools will be individually notified of the final action taken upon the application.

Mr. Danford also announced he has received no information as to the status of students now in college.

The Navy Recruiting Service will accept applications for enlistment within the quota in the Navy from those students who are deferred from induction pending completion of the current academic school year, provided that they are physically and otherwise qualified. This action has resulted from the Selective Service Director's announcement which gave the local selective service boards authority to postpone the induction of all high school and college students who are presently on a statutory postponement until the end of the current academic year, for an additional thirty day period so that they may enlist in the branch of the Armed Forces they prefer.

Students who have been called for their pre-induction physical and who desire more information on this new Navy regulation, contact Mr. Newton S. Danford or any local Navy Recruiting Station.

Dr. J. E. Dirks Stresses Challenge Of Religion in Contemporary World

Dr. J. Edward Dirks, professor of philosophy and religion at Lake Forest College, Illinois, presented the challenge of religion in today's world in eight lectures during Religion in Life Week which ended yesterday. His chapel talks dealt with the sickness of the modern civilization and the answers to this problem, while the evening talks dealt with man, God, Christ, and history.

In Monday and Tuesday chapel, Dr. Dirks presented the world as one which is dominated by confusion and perplexity. Not only are people confused about themselves, but also about what is true value and what is the reality of religion. Motivated too much by fear, the people of the world have made their homes, communities and nations places which are ruled by distrust. Being satisfied with superficial questions and answers, the people never go into the basic meaning of life with a faith and hope of coming out on the other side victorious. Religion is not a simple system of spoon-fed beliefs, nor a system of ethics, but it can be found by recognizing that a person is a sinner and separate from God. "It is caught, not taught."

In Wednesday chapel Dr. Dirks stated that man has sought to change his condition by employing new materialistic techniques in an economic sphere and by employing techniques of power in military and political field. The true solution needed to change the condition man is in today is found in love, love of God and love of man.

Dr. Dirks' lecture on Monday night dealt with the three major

Russell Weigley, Vincent Gentile Nominated For Position As Student Council President

Vincent Gentile

Russell F. Weigley

Russell F. Weigley and Vincent Gentile were nominated Tuesday for the presidency of Student Council in 1951-52.

Although 11 juniors were eligible, only one other person, William A. Heck, was nominated. He declined because of the duties which he will assume in April as editor-in-chief of The Albrightian.

The other eligible candidates, all of whom attended a majority of the Council meetings during the year in which they were members, were Barbara Wrisley, Charles Ziegler, Barbara Finch, Norman Dettra, Evelyn Nantz, Robert Long, Richard Stinson and James Gerhart.

Elections Scheduled For April
Since there were only two nominees, no balloting was necessary in Council. The election will take place on April 9, 10 and 11, when all students will vote.

Weigley has been chairman of the constitution committee of Council since September. As such he has directed the work of Council in adopting a new constitution which will, if approved by the student body, completely change the student government organization at Albright. He was elected to Council last April by the Daymen.

Named Model U.N. Delegate

A history major and political science minor from Reading, Weigley hopes to go to graduate school. His activities at Albright in addition to Student Council include the International Relations Club; Tau Kappa Alpha, the honorary debating fraternity; the Daymen's Organization and the debating squad, of which he is assistant manager. He was recently selected as a delegate to the Model U.N. by the International Relations Club.

Gentile is a business administration major from Philadelphia. He has been president of the Class of 1952 for two years and is a candidate for reelection. In Student Council since the spring of 1949, he has served as publicity chairman this year. His other activities include Alpha Pi Omega social fraternity, Marching Band, Concert Band and Celebrities.

W.S.S.F. Money To Go to Manila

Money which Albright students and faculty members have contributed in the World Student Service Fund drive will be sent to the University of Manila in the Philippines, according to action taken Tuesday by Student Council. Council felt that this would maintain a contact with the university which was created last summer when Dr. Milton G. Geil, on leave of absence as head of the psychology department, was assigned there by the State Department.

Alma Mater Investigated

Elliott Sauerterg told Council that the present alma mater song has been in use since near the turn of the century. His investigation followed debate last week about the introduction of John McKenna's song, "At the Foot of Old Mt. Penn," as a new school song or possibly an alma mater.

44 Leave For Service

Forty-four Albright men have left for the service since September, according to Evelyn Nantz, chairman of the men-in-service committee. She indicated that the committee has had difficulty in obtaining the addresses of all of these men.

Camille Thorpe reported that progress is being made on the faculty evaluation which will be held later this spring. All students will participate in this evaluation.

The by-laws of the proposed Council constitution were approved.

Domino to Begin Sale Of Tickets on Monday

The tickets for the spring Domino production, "The Madwoman of Chaillot," will be on sale Monday, March 19 and will continue to be sold until vacation.

Danford Presents Views Concerning Saturday Classes

"It's just a case of not being able to have your cake and eat it too," Mr. Newton S. Danford, Registrar and Director of Admissions, told The Albrightian Monday in answer to a query about the possibility of abolishing Saturday classes next year.

If Saturday classes are abolished, Mr. Danford explained, they will have to be rescheduled for two afternoons a week, probably from 1-2:30 or 2:30-4 o'clock. In certain cases they might last at late as 5 o'clock. Thus whatever a student may gain by being free to work on Saturday morning would be offset by the necessity of attending classes most afternoons.

In scheduling classes at present, an effort is made to keep those listed for Saturday at a minimum, Mr. Danford noted. Whenever a section of a particular course must be dropped, he said, it is the Saturday section. Furthermore, as many classes as possible are scheduled at 9, 10 and 11 o'clock on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, when all classrooms are in use.

Conflicts in scheduling might result if Saturday classes are abolished, Mr. Danford said. At present, almost any conceivable combination of courses can be scheduled.

Mr. Danford indicated that most colleges in this area do have Saturday classes. In certain metropolitan districts where the transportation problem is an important factor, students attend classes from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M. daily but do not go on Saturday.

According to action taken recently by Student Council, the question of abolishing Saturday classes at Albright will appear on the all-campus ballot in April. In the event that students vote in favor of doing away with them, the question will be considered by the faculty and administration.

Nominees For Officers Selected By Juniors

Nominees for officers of the Class of 1952 during its senior year were chosen at a meeting of the group on Thursday, March 8.

Vincent Gentile, currently head of the class, and Owen J. Davis were named candidates for the presidency. Francis Carney and Norman Snook were chosen for the vice-presidency; Margery Mansfield and Helen Hasselgren for the secretaryship and Barbara Wrisley and Charles Ziegler for the treasurer.

Albrightian Staff To Meet Fridays

Following the Easter vacation The Albrightian staff will be completely reorganized under the direction of William A. Heck, editor-in-chief, and Howard Platzker, business manager. The new staff will begin functioning with the issue of Friday, April 13. The first meeting of the new staff will be held Friday, March 30, at 2:10 P. M. in room 204, Heck said. Meetings have been scheduled for the same time every Friday until May 18.

Why A New Constitution?

In last week's issue of The Albrightian the proposed new constitution of the Albright College Student Council was published. The bylaws appear in this issue. During its next two meetings the present Council will probably give this document its final approval, and in the all-college election of April 9, 10 and 11 the student body as a whole will be called on to accept or reject the new plan of organization for the student government of Albright College.

Two major aims have been kept in mind in drafting the new Student Council constitution: first, to design a student government organization that would foster increased intra-class solidarity; second, and more important, to render more democratic the student government of the college.

In order to carry out the first aim, representation in the new governing groups would be established largely on a class basis. The day men of each of the four classes would elect two representatives to the Day Men's Council and so on through the other subordinate governing groups. Similarly, the Men's and Women's Senates would elect representatives to Student Council on a class basis.

The chief innovation, however, has been made in order to democratize student government. The present Student Council is made up of the four class presidents and representatives of the day men, boarding men, day women, boarding women, the four fraternities and the two sororities. Thus each fraternity or sorority member is triply represented in Student Council. A day man who is a fraternity member, for example, can participate in the election of day men's representatives, his class president and fraternity representatives; while a non-fraternity day man is represented only by the day men's delegates and his class president. The fraternities and sororities, in short, are at present over-represented. Not only that, but if the social fraternities and sororities are to be represented in Council, it would seem reasonable that other campus organizations should be similarly represented; to attempt such representation, however, would obviously increase Council to a fantastic size. Therefore, the new constitution would do away with fraternity and sorority representation altogether. Each student would help elect two representatives to one of the four subordinate governing councils; through these councils he would be indirectly represented in the higher groups up to Student Council itself.

Several other, minor improvements have been included in the new constitution. A change in the date of the all-college election, for example, would enable the outgoing Student Council President to serve as a Council member and give the Council the benefit of his experience for most of a semester after the expiration of his term. But the outstanding change is that toward democratization of the representation system; it is this change which above all deserves the thoughtful consideration of every student.

Harry Nelson, this week's Dandy Lion, came to us from Roselle Park, New Jersey. A senior, Harry has been a familiar personality at most campus functions and affairs, always willing to lend an active and helping hand whenever needed.

Harry is one of the proud members of the original "Geiger Marauders" which consisted of eighteen other Albright freshmen four years ago. Unfortunately, the mortality rate for this group was unusually high, and due to the graduation of some and the sudden change of plans of others there are only seven surviving members at Albright. Harry is proud to be among them.

During his career as an Albrightian, Harry has found time to institute a few new actions on campus. We've all seen the Albright Lion helping to cheer and cut up at our football games; this was originally Harry's idea, and he was the first "Lion" to put in an appearance. We, the student body, thank you, Harry. Also, as a four year member of the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity, he was instrumental in the procurement of their present fraternity house, and is the first house manager to appear in this group's history. Harry has also been an active member of the Domino Club since his freshman year and has played notable roles in many of this organization's presentations. He was fine in "Family Portrait" and "Good-bye My Fancy"; and the group is especially proud of the fact that their presentation of "Thunder Rock," in which Harry appeared as Charleston, the lead, received the first favorable review from the critics that this particular play ever received. For this achievement, the group received mention in the International Theatre Monthly.

His most memorable summer vacations were spent working as a counsellor at a boys' camp in New England along with many other Albrightians. "Happy" Harry tells us he'll never forget the boys—Gerry, Paul, Dick, Greenville, Charlie and Farver. What a time they must have had.

With a business administration major and a psychology minor, Harry has as yet made no definite future plans. Tentatively, however, he mentions doing graduate work at either the University of Pittsburgh or New York University. Another iron in the fire is his desire to join an executive training program for a large New York firm. We might add that selling and advertising are of special interest to him.

Whatever the future holds for you, Harry, we wish you the best of luck!

Science Slants

Spring is here. The grass is "ris." I wonder where the boids is. The question is simply answered, for the whole Science Hall is infested with "boids." One has a particular habit of running off at the mouth and is known scientifically as Stoma magnicians (derivation: mouth + big) or, in the common vernacular of bird fanciers as Burt Schaffer. Then there are particular "boids" who always feel slighted when their names do not appear in this column. They come under the general group of Ego persecutants which includes such "boids" as George Hamm, Helen Hasselgren, and Prof. Dunkle. Then, of course, there is the general and very colorful group known as Aves amour (derivation: bird + love). The complexity of this group demands a sub-grouping based on the criteria of actuality and "would-be-ality." Under the first sub-group, Aves actualis, fall such boids as Paul LeVan, Bill Schmidt, Chuck Wolfe, and Bob DeFarges. Under the second sub-group, which incidentally has a high rate of turnover within its constituency and is termed Aves Traumalis (derivation: love + dream), are such "boids" as Ron Romig, Bill Kehler, Blaine Schmehl, and Tom Barnett.

After the recent Sports Carnival there were several of "the boys" from the Science Hall analysing the event. Elliot Sauersteig had no particular opinion except that the "latissimus dorsi" of one of the boxers certainly was an abnormality compared to his own. (This naturally brings in the phenomenon of reactivity and we could continue to discuss the matter with no satisfactory conclusion, so let's drop it!)

The senior pre-meds, Bill Schaeffer and Burton Shaffer, managed their pugilists with words of advice and confidence. The content of the advice and the result of the fight may or may not be correlated, but nevertheless we shall go along with Heisenberg and accept the fact that there are certain undeterminable factors whenever the human factor is extant.

Probably one of the most interesting events was the "ring toss" match. This contest included the basic laws of inertia of a hollow disc accompanied by the psychology of an excited female, a thought stimulating event for the class of "rara aves" both academically and otherwise inclined.

In closing this ornithological report we would like to salute the real birds of the Science Hall, the "aves didacticians," our dear "hard-nosed" profs.

In Oklahoma City, President George L. Cross of the University of Oklahoma was reported by Time Magazine as using a new pitch to argue the state legislature out of money. "We're working," he told them, "to develop a university the football team can be proud of."

The Daily Northwestern, worried over the increasing worthlessness of a nickel, took solace by listing some of the items a nickel can still buy. The list includes small candy bars, a bag of potato chips, a pencil, an eraser, an invitation to a shower, a split ring for a loose-leaf notebook, a styptic pencil, a candle, a comb, a spool of thread and a valentine.

Blessed Event

We called this dance "The Blessed Event" and we're pacing the floor expectantly, waiting to see if our brain-child will be a success. This is the birth of something big—a name band playing at an Albright formal.

The Frosh-Soph Ball has been combined with the Junior Formal to weather the cost of bringing Claude Thornhill and his orchestra, but, like most babies, this one is expensive. If we're going to usher in this event with the proper trimmings, without playing havoc with our budget, we must all get behind this dance. So much depends on every Albrightian, his friends and the alumni turning out to support this affair, and to share the fun of this "Blessed Event."

The tri-class dance committee has begun to realize why a ball such as this has never been given before. Not only is the cost of a name band prohibitive, but there are so many difficulties involved in sponsoring a dance this size. They've hurdled quite a few—engaged the band and the Rajah Ballroom, and are now busy planning and publicizing. The representative committee is enthusiastic; they feel proud that on April 7, 1951, they can deliver this bundle of joy—a terrific semi-formal at nominal cost, featuring Claude Thornhill, his piano and orchestra.

You Albright students are the proud parents of this "Blessed Event." Let's give it the big welcome it deserves so that our Frosh-Soph-Jr. semi-formal may be the big brother of many such terrific dances in the future. All it will take to make the dance the success that it potentially is will be the support of all of us. This is our opportunity to initiate something new and big. Let's do it! J.K.

This 'n That

Hello, and how many of you have noticed the wonderful bargain for sale in the book store—"Four months of Time for one dollar?" Cheap at double the price, I'm sure most of us would buy about $135.00 worth; that would be enough to have us live for forty-five years more. What's that, you say it pertains to Time, the magazine, and not Time, that which is usually of the essence?

Another item in the S.U.B. that attracted our attention was the leopard-skin cap that was hanging from the wall with a card under it that bore this inscription: Shot by C. Deegan, near Pottstown on March 3, 1941. Come now, since when do leopards wear ready-made caps?

A column we read last week compared radio's version of "Hamlet" with the T.V. production of the musical program featuring the songs of Rogers and Hart. Most of the column was devoted to the T.V. show, but the column ended with this citation—"Shakespeare was good, too."

Speaking of Hamlet, one of Dr. J. Doud's Shakespeare students, was heard to mutter the immortal "get thee to a nunnery" when he returned his date to the girls' dorm last week. Some students really live their work!

The Domino Club is currently hard at work on its forthcoming production of "The Madwoman of Chailot," and is diligently practicing almost every night in the Chapel. With a cast of about forty people, its understandable that a certain amount of confusion is present. There are people walking in the aisles, in the corners of the room, behind the stage, on stage, and enough left over to provide a sufficient audience. The group especially enjoys doing the second act, in which numerous people are killed and sent to Hell through a hole in the floor. Several of the cast are also growing sprouts of beards, so please don't approach these characters and ask them to wash their faces. Mrs. Shirk's choice of this particular play is, we feel, very subtle. With all of the elements of practice and confusion present, it'll be impossible for the cast to maintain their sanity. The theme of the play is madness. This can't help but result in stark realism, and therefore a hit play. If this be madness, Mrs. Shirk, there's method to it! J.K.

P. T. Blues

I never was the athletic type. But when the P.T. instructor yelled "You take center field," I was automatically classified as "the type." I knew that the New York Yankees had won the series and that Babe Ruth had played for them (I picked the bit of amazing information up in a movie I once saw), but that completed my knowledge of baseball. As I walked endlessly towards what I thought was the middle of the large field I wondered how I ever got into this course. I didn't sign up for it as I remember. Ah! I vaguely remember something about sound health and physical fitness in the manual. But for me it's developing more pains than fitness. For days I limped about the campus because, for exercise, we ran around the track several times. They call it the mile race—it was no race; it was a feat of human stamina and endurance for me to even walk it.

And then there's what they call physical contact, to build big strong bodies, if it doesn't break them first. It should be called inevitable contact—you just can't get away from it, but you can try, I thought. I stood opposite a boy who was terribly big for his age who wanted to get some of this "physical contact" to build up that massive structure of his. In any direction it would have been impossible. As his huge bulk came lumbering towards me I developed a sudden dislike for physical contact and started to retreat, but this boy was not to be denied. I don't remember exactly what happened but I can't possibly conceive what can be developed by physical contact but lumps and bruises.

By this time I assumed my position (I must have looked quite awkward since I don't know what position to assume). The P.T. instructor's bellow aroused me with a jolt, "Hey you, I said, center field not second base." With failing heart I viewed the large expanse he pointed to as center field and added it to my list of new terms in physical education. M.L.

DIAMONDMEN FACE 20 GAME SCHEDULE

Zetas, Daywomen Win Sports' Night Carnival Trophies

The Zetas and the Daywomen emerged victorious in their respective divisions in the annual sports night carnival held in the Student Union Building last Friday night, March 9. A three-way tie between the Zetas, Kappas and Dormmen developed in the men's division and a single deadlock between the Daywomen and Pats in the women's division necessitated playoffs to decide the winners.

Dottie Deam and Barbara Wisley led the Mus to the night's first victory over the Dormwomen in the women's badminton doubles while the Daywomen's Jane Lausch and Bernadette Kaluzny trounced the Pats in the second scheduled match.

Don Farr of the Dormmen paced Lee Siebert of the Kappas in the men's ping-pong singles. Lou Brenner led the Pi Taus on the road to victory by beating Jay Shenk of the APO's and Pete Roethermel won his match for the Zetas against KTX.

Pat Miller and Dottie Deam sparked the Mus to their victory over the Dormwomen in the women's doubles ping-pong event. In the second match tennisers Dolores Bedding and Ruth Ann Schaeffer downed the Daywomen to post the Pat's first triumph.

Ella Mae Sheesley, Kay and Ann Girvin and Mary Jane Titlow of the Daywomen defeated the Mus in the ring toss contest. Dolores Bedding, Nancy Stump, Marge Mansfield and Ruth Schaeffer teamed up for the Pats to defeat the Dormwomen in the succeeding event.

Judy Leinbach hopped-skipped-and-jumped the Daywomen to a victory over Jean Magee of the Mus. June Dreyer, representing the Dormwomen, took the same event from Ruth Ann Schaeffer of the Pats.

Ann Doughten, Jane Katz, Carol Mickle, Lois Stockinger, and Mickey Caciola paced the Dormwomen to victory against the Daywomen in the Snatch the Bacon contest. Pats Joan Boyle, Doris Hill, Marilyn Miller, Ellie Spring and Marge Mansfield defeated the Mu squad.

Earl Gernert, John Wise, Lee Frankfort and Ozzie Mogle led the Pi Tau muscle men to a victory against KTX in the Tug-of-War battle.

Bob Bernhardt, Norm Dettra, Connie Dettling and Lee Cappel pulled the APO team over the line to win the same contest and

Lion Hoopmen, Coach Honored By Boosters

Last night Coach Eddie Gulian and several of the members of the Lions' varsity hoop quintet were honored at an "Albright Night" observed by the Reading High Boosters Club at the Gregg Post, American Legion headquarters. Coach Gulian and the varsity basketballers acquainted the club with Albright's athletic program. The Bieber brothers and Bob "Regar" Ruoff are Lion hoopsters who are Reading High graduates.

I-M Hoop Season To Close Monday With Crucial Frays

Last Monday night's intramural basketball games were postponed due to Religion in Life Week, but all teams will resume action next Monday night at 7:00 in the North-east Junior High School gym. Next week's games are the last in the regular schedule for this year, with a playoff between the two leagues scheduled to determine the champion.

The first game of the evening will be the one upon which the spotlight shines brightest. The second place Kappas will battle the undefeated Pi Taus for the "A" league supremacy. Should the Kappas win, an inter-league playoff will have to be waged to break the resulting tie, the winner facing the "B" league victor.

At the same time in the "B" league, the top-rung Racketeers will be on the warpath against the Spades, who tied the Pi Taus for fourth place in the league standings. Should the Racketeers lose and the Kappas win, an inter-league playoff would also have to be fought in this circuit.

At 8:00, KTX, who has yet to win, will tangle with the APO's, who cling tenaciously to the third run in the "A" league ladder.

Also at 8:00, the second spot Kappas mix with the cellar-squatting Stars, who have but one triumph to their credit for the season. A victory for the Kappas won't be of much aid to them; for the Spades, who have failed three times this season to field a full squad, will have to upset the Racketeers.

In the "A" league finale, the fourth place Joy Boys are titled against the fifth place Zetas. Last in the "B" loop is a duel between the Pi Taus and the Frosh who will battle for third and fourth places.

Golf, Tennis Team Schedule Released

Tennisers Face 14, Golfers Eight Frays

Faculty Manager of Athletics, Eugene L. Shirk, last week released the golf and tennis schedule for the coming season as plans for these spring sports are being made.

Last year Coach Leo Bloom's tennis squad won nine net battles in fourteen dual matches for a percentage of .648. The team started off the season with wins over Elon, Guilford and Lynchburg on the annual spring tour of the South. No southern tour is listed on the schedule for the nemem this year.

Other victories included Muhlenberg, Drexel, Ursinus, Elizabethtown, Susquehanna and Gettysburg. Returning lettermen from last year's team are Don Ermold, Jay Shenk, Bob Ruoff and Paul Kissinger. Members that left via the graduate route were Captain Jim Mengel, Paul Siegfried, Darlington Hoopes, Jr., and Stan Taub.

Hold 4-3 Record

Last season's golf team under the direction of Coach Paul Matten recorded four victories and three losses for the season. The Lion linkmen took the measure of Bucknell, Dickinson, Ursinus and Scranton. They bowed to Franklin and Marshall, LaSalle and Moravian.

Returning lettermen from last season are Earl Langford, Ted Whitby, Ronald Black, George Simonson, Jesse Becker, Bill Eaken, Ed Flemming and Wait Ryan. Bob Batdorf, who set a new Albright golfing record low in 1949 with a four under par 68, will return to the lineup. Open Season Against Red Devils Away on April 4; 22 Batmen Attend Drills

Coach Eddie Gulian's Albright diamondmen are slated to battle a twenty-game schedule this season beginning with a contest with the Dickinson Red Devils on the foreign field on Wednesday, April 4. Out of the nineteen total slated games, ten are scheduled to be played on the Cats' home diamond and an equal number are scheduled for the road.

Gulian's present squad of eight returning veterans from last year's squad and fourteen newcomers will face a difficult task in attempting to better last year's record of 12 wins and six losses for a .667 average. This excellent record enabled the diamondmen to enter the Middle Atlantic Conference Playoffs where they were defeated, 2-1, by the Lehigh Engineers in their initial battle.

Lions Smear 12 Teams

The schools which fell victim to the Lions' claws last year were West Chester, Muhlenberg, F&M, Elizabethtown, Lebanon Valley, Moravian, Bucknell, Susquehanna, La Salle, Drexel and St. Joseph's. On the darker side of the ledger were losses to Ursinus, Gettysburg, Loyola, Wagner, Moravian and Lehigh. Newcomers to this year's schedule as opposed to the 1950 card are Seton Hall, whom the Lions will face at home on Monday, April 23 and Dickinson, whom the Cats will face in their opening fracas.

Lionesses Split Last Two Frays

The Lionesses have recorded one win and one loss during the past week to bring their season's total to 10-3. Six of the triumphs were achieved at Playday contests at Cedar Crest and Kutztown.

The Albright girls took the measure of the Drexel girls, 42-16, on Thursday, March 8 on the 13th and Union court. Judy Leinbach took top scoring honors for the Lionesses with twenty counters. She was followed by her teammate Nancy Stump with sixteen.

Lionesses Grab Lead

The Albright lassies grabbed an early 19-12 halftime lead and went basket crazy during the final two frames adding twenty-three more counters. They held the Lady Dragons scoreless in the third period, and surrendered only four points in the final chapter to insure their win.

Coach Eva Mosser's Baby Lionesses duplicated the varsity's count by scoring forty-two points in the second game to beat the Drexel JV girls, 42-30. Pat Kennedy led the junior Lionesses with eighteen tallies.

The tables were turned on Saturday, March 10 when Coach Mosser's charges met the Temple physical education majors at Philadelphia and were reversed by a 59-23 count. The Lionesses were unable to hold the Owls, four of whom hit double figures. Nancy Stump led the Lady Lions in their losing cause with eleven counters on three goals and five free tosses.

The Temple girls made it a complete morning by also trouncing the Albright JV's, 75-28, in the following fray. Pat Miller took top honors in the scoring department with nineteen tallies to lead both teams.

heart-breaker, 62-64, to Dickinson.
