W.S.S.F. Drive Begins Feb. 16

$250.00 Goal Set By 'Y' Committee

February 16 will open Albright's World Student Service Fund Drive under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. The campaign, designed to raise funds for the aid of foreign students and universities will last until February 20. W.S.S.F. has set as their main objective of the drive to exceed $250.00, which was the amount received last year in the Albright drive.

Special programs have been planned for the week of the drive including a guest speaker, Mr. David Levering, who is the director of W.S.S.F. from Philadelphia, Pa. On Tuesday night, February 17, the World Relatedness committee will have charge of the "Y" meeting, at which time Mr. Levering will explain the project. The guest speaker previously spoke in chapel on Tuesday, February 10, and at a special solicitor's meeting that night. 50% of the proceeds of the drive will be given to Africa; and as Mr. Levering explained, the other 50% will go to the general W.S.S.F. fund for use in the Near East or wherever the need arises.

A new type of entertainment will be introduced in the form of a student-faculty auction. Between the events at the Sports Carnival on Friday, February 20, such items as a dinner date for two at the home of one of the professors, a late permission and chauffeur's service to a formal dance will be auctioned off to the highest bidder. Mrs. Jordan is in charge of the administrative committee of the auction, and James Barrett, special events chairman.

Containers for donations will be placed in various places such as in Krause Hall, the Physical Education Building, the Administration building and the treasurer's office. A large chart will be hung in the hall of the Administration building posting the progress of the drive. Refreshments will be sold at the Sports Carnival; the proceeds going toward the drive.

The W.S.S.F. solicitors will be as follows: Theana Koutroulelis, Evelyn R. Kressler, Dorothy Kuetzel, Michael Lafferty, Eugene Lang, Ann J. Lanz, Jane Lausch, Julia Leinbach, Luther W. LeVan, Jr., Carl A. Lins, William Locher, Jack Long, Nancy Loose, Rhoda Marks, Elizabeth Martin, William Masters, Joseph McWilliams, Marilyn Miller, Patricia Miller and Carolyn Moyer, all seniors.

Mary Jane Titlow Heads Subscription Drive

Mary Jane Titlow, '53, has been named head of the subscription drive for the 1953 Cue. The announcement of her advancement on the staff was made yesterday at the weekly staff meeting by John Schmidt, business manager.

Miss Titlow will begin a three week drive for subscriptions for the annual which will be distributed to the student body in May. She will take orders from faculty, administrators and students who desire "extras." The price of the yearbook will be $5.00. February 27 will be the final day for orders.

Patricia Scheerer, editor-in-chief, announced that Miss Titlow will also edit the May Queen section of the book.

Ten Organizations To Participate In Sports Night

Sports Night, sponsored annually by the combined Y's, will be held on Friday evening, February 20, in the Albright College gymnasium. Ten campus organizations will participate in the evening's program, with a special feature planned by the faculty members. The groups taking part include: Day and Dorm women, Mu's, Pat's, Dorm and freshman men, APO's, Kappas, Pi Taus, KTX, and Zetas.

Two Trophies To Be Given
Two trophies will be awarded, one to the winning men's group, one to the winning women. In case of a tie, the men will participate in a relay race and the women will take part in snatch the bacon.

Committee members for the participating women's organizations have been selected by Patricia Upczak, chairman. They include Sandra Smith and Jean Schaeffer, Daywomen; Barbara Smith and Patricia Upczak, Phi Beta Mu; Jean Dirmitt and Jean Filbert, Pi Alpha Tau; and Jean Hook, Dorm women.

5 Women's Events Listed
Five women's events have been scheduled. They include ping pong, badminton, steal the bacon, volleyball, and hop, skip, and jump. Each event is rated on a ten point basis, the highest total points scored by a team determining the winner of the trophy.

7 Men's Sports Planned
James Croke and Jack Fetterman, co-chairmen for the men's events, have scheduled seven contests for the participants. These include ping pong, tug-of-war, Indian leg wrestle, high jump, horse and rider, wrestling and boxing. In the latter two, there will be two weight classes. The organization drawing one weight class in one event must participate in the opposite weight class in the other event.

Programs prepared by the Y will be sold during the events. The committee in charge of planning the programs includes Mary Bysher, Jeannette Mayer, David Lubba, and Charles Moyer.

Students To Select Court Next Week

Elizabeth Martin, '53, 5' 6" brunette from West Leesport, Pa., was elected May Queen for 1953 in an all-campus election held Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Following Miss Martin closely in the contest, Patricia Miller, of Harrisburg, Pa. was selected to be the queen's Maid of Honor. The election, in which 283 members of the student body participated, was conducted by the Women's Athletic Association. The race was a closely contested one, with only six separating the first and second winners. The results were announced by Patricia Kennedy, '53, mistress of ceremonies for the May Day program, and Phoebe Hunter, '53, custodian of the crown.

Six senior women will be selected for the Queen's Court of Honor in an election to be held next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The 32 women eligible for the court, including all seniors except the four already taking part in May Day, are: Annetta Deussen, Kathryn Fisher, Anne Girvin, Catherine Girvin, Mary Ellen Greth, Joann Hassler, Nancy Lou Hawman, Dolores High, Evelyn Hinkle, Bernadette Kaluzny and Nancy Klein.

Also Theana Koutroulelis, Evelyn Kressler, Dorothy Kuetzel, Ann Lanz, Jane Lausch, Julia Leinbach, Nancy Loose, Rhoda Marks, Marilyn Miller, Carolyn Moyer, Nancy Neatock, Sandra Pelus, Sonia Phipps, Cynthia Reinhart, Irene Seay, Patricia Shearer, Virginia Slemmons, Camille Thorpe, Mary Jane Titlow, Arlene Yeager, and Anne Yoder.

Miss Martin is president of the Pi Alpha Tau sorority and Women's Student Senate, secretary for the Y.W.C.A. and of the class of 1953, and is active in many other campus activities. She is a pledge to Phi Delta Sigma, honorary alumnae of the society. She will graduate in June with a psychology major and sociology minor.

Miss Miller, serving as president of the Phi Beta Mu sorority and of the Women's Athletic Association, is active on both the hockey and basketball teams, being co-captain of the latter. A recent pledge to Phi Delta Sigma, she is a member of F.T.A., "Informalities" editor of the Cue, publicity chairman of Student Council, and serves on the Y cabinet. Miss Miller is majoring in social science with a minor in history.

Christian Vocations To Be Discussed

Albright College students will have the opportunity of consulting three representatives of the Evangelical United Brethren Church on vocations during a three-day visit to the campus February 16-18, according to Prof. Eugene Barth, director of religious activities.

Dr. J. Allen Ranck, director of young people's work, Rev. Lester Crum, pastor of the EUB Church in Beverly, Ky., and Mrs. Leona Hansen, secretary of missionary education for children and youth, will comprise the group. Dr. Ranck will speak before the student body in the chapel service Tuesday morning an Mr. Crum will be in charge of the Thursday service.

Stults Resigns Post As Activities Head

Thomas Stults, daymen representative to Student Council, resigned as chairman of the student activities committee at the council meeting on Tuesday. Stults stated, "I hereby respectfully tender my resignation as chairman of the student activities committee to become effective immediately upon the appointment of the new committee head."

A dance, sponsored by the daywomen, will be held tonight in Krause Hall, Robert Bieler, social chairman of council, announced on Tuesday. Records will furnish music for the event which will begin at 8:30 p. m.

The rest of the Tuesday meeting was devoted to discussing the constitution. During the semester vacation several council members revised sections of the present constitution. President Buch read these changes to council.

Wagner Outlasts Cagers to Score 78-72 Court Win

The Seahawks of Wagner College staved off a last-quarter bid for victory by Albright's Lions last Wednesday night to tally a 78-72 verdict in a game played on the home gymnasium floor. In the preliminary contest the Baby Lions suffered their first defeat in eleven games when the Hamburg Home five, of the Berks Rec A League, turned the trick by a 54-49 count.

DePaul Brings Rally
Trailing by 60-53 after three quarters of play, Albright's Lions, led by Mike DePaul's deadly shooting, pulled to within one point of the visitors at 60-54 when Co-Capt. George Amole called a one-hander. But 30 seconds later Bob Bosley curled in a lay-up for the New Yorkers which, followed by Lionel Rotelli foul and Charles Harreus' pivot shot, sent the eventual winners out to a six-point lead. They retained this margin until the final whistle.

Contest Proves Close
The contest was nip-and-tuck all the way, with a 52-42 margin for the Seahawks, midway in the fourth period, being the longest lead of the night. But at this point the home team rang up eight markers to bring them up to 52-50. However with Rotelli and Bosley hitting consistently, the visitors managed to widen their margin to 60-53 at the third quarter.

DePaul Hits Peak
DePaul had his greatest shooting night of the season as he poured in 28 points on 14 field goals, mostly of the one-hand variety from all over the floor. Capt. Bosley, of the visitors, added 24 markers to bring his season's total to 360 for 19 games. It was Albright's ninth loss in 14 games, while the Seahawks posted their eleventh win in 19 starts.

Annadora Vesper Shirk Selects Cast For Spring Play, "Barefoot In Athens"

ANNADORA VESPER SHIRK

Casting for the second Domino Club play at Albright College, Maxwell Anderson's "Barefoot in Athens," is being conducted today by Annadora Vesper Shirk, director. The play is scheduled for production March 20, 21, 27 and 28, the latter performance sponsored by the Reading branch of the American Association of University Women.

A play about Socrates, "Barefoot in Athens" was first produced in New York in October, 1951. Anderson, in this comic and serious play, has captured the sunny mood and essentially happy Athens of the 5th Century B.C. While many of the 18 characters and extras are historically accurate pictures, several are products of Anderson's imagination.

The plot concerns the period shortly before Socrates' enemies bring their charges against him for corrupting the youth of the city and inciting treason against the state. Socrates' wife contradicts the picture history has given by showing a deep affection for her husband and a deep understanding of why he gave up his life.

The climax of the play is based on one of the greatest trials in history, where Socrates sets forth his faith in democracy. Three scenes comprise each of the two acts, with settings in and about Athens.

What More Can Be Said?

NEXT WEEK IS BROTHERHOOD WEEK. This almost invariably means some trite, even if sincere, sermon or lecture from the pens of editors on how to or why we should practice this greatest of human enterprises. This, however, will not be the manner in which this writer will attack the problem. It is fully realized that such an approach produces about as much splash as a raindrop falling in the ocean.

We are simply going to print a story about a Texas Negro and let the story do more than any amount of words from this pen could. What, truthfully, could be said here that hasn't been said an infinite number of times before? How could we improve upon what much greater men have said previously on the subject and what you are all familiar with? Then is there profit in attempting to do so? We feel not.

Thus we ask only that you read the article and use your own conscience as a guide as to what you are going to do during this coming week AND during the rest of your life.

Is NSA Subversive?

Since the student body of Albright College is a member of the United States National Student Association, the following statement made by Richard J. Murphy, President of the United States National Student Association, should be of interest to all Albright students.

The United States National Student Association (USNSA) has recently been charged with being a "subversive" and "insidious left-wing pressure group." These charges have been leveled by an extreme group known as Students For America through a monthly magazine and a speech delivered by its president before the National Interfraternity Conference in New York City last November.

USNSA takes no exception to the right of any group or individual to criticize its program, policies, and activities. USNSA, however, will not stand by and allow its reputation to be damaged by irresponsible and unfounded charges such as those that have been recently made.

USNSA is positively non-communist and participates in absolutely no political activity whatsoever. USNSA cooperates with no subversive organizations. USNSA is not listed on any of the so-called subversive organizations listings, and it has not been cited by any of the security agencies for disloyal activities. Such charges are baseless and libelous.

USNSA is not engaged in activities to destroy fraternities as has been charged. Nowhere does USNSA demand conformity to any policies, and no policy calls for the destruction of the fraternity system. Many outstanding leaders in USNSA at present and in the past have been fraternity members. USNSA does stand for the eventual elimination of discrimination in all student organizations, a policy that has been adopted as a recommendation to member student governments.

USNSA claims to be the most representative student organization in the United States today by virtue of the active membership of three hundred student governments widely diverse in type of school and geographical location whose jurisdictions extend to over eight hundred thousand American college students.

USNSA is proud to have the active participation of an advisory group including such outstanding Americans as Harold E. Stassen, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Very Reverend Vincent J. Flynn, Dean Althea Kratz Hottel, and Reverend Celestine Steiner, S.J. Such Americans would not be actively associated with any organization of questionable loyalty.

As President, I call upon student governments in the United States and its territories to join in strengthening USNSA and in enriching its program and activities by active participation.

CURRENT TIDES— It Couldn't Happen Here — But It Did!

By L. RAY WEITZEL

It can't happen here, but it didn't— not fifty, twenty, or ten years ago, but just within the last year. It is a case of Jim Crow terror and frameup that should make any true American's blood boil. But above all, it is a test of whether there are sufficient unterrorized forces of liberal protest left in the country to stop as blatant a legal lynching as any seen in many a year. The facts are as follows:

An all-white jury in Brown County, Texas, has convicted 19-year-old John Taft Roseborough of rape, solely on the basis of a confession extorted from him by force and he has consequently been sentenced to 99 years in prison.

Furthermore, the alleged victim of the crime, which occurred two months before Roseborough was arrested, told the jury that she could not identify her assailant.

Roseborough was evidently chosen more or less at random by two police officers that went to a restaurant in search of a scapegoat after two months of failure to solve the case.

He was held four days without arraignment and without a lawyer. During this time he was beaten, threatened, and told that he could save his life by admitting his guilt or by accusing someone else. He signed a confession.

If the highlights are greuling, then the following details are nothing less than appalling.

In a pamphlet called "99 Years" the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has published excerpts from John Roseborough's testimony at the trial and from his statement to U. Simpson Tate, Southwest Regional Counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund. Roseborough's account is shocking, to say the least:

"On the night of December 19, 1951, after I came out of the movies at about 11:15, I went to the Paradise Inn . . . That is a colored restaurant. I saw Mr. Hinkle Boyd and Mr. Cecil Turner there that night. They are policemen from City-Hall. They arrested me at about five minutes after twelve o'clock that night and took me to the police station. Then they took me off to Mr. Roy Jackson's office (Chief of City Detective Bureau) and when we got there, the room was dark, and I refused to go in, and they pushed me in."

"Then they made me sit down and turned a light on over my head. There were two more officers there. They went and called two more officers and said, 'We've got him.' They turned a light on over my face, and Mr. Hinkle Boyd pulled my arms behind me and said, 'You were peeping in the window.' I told him I was not down there. When I said that, he then bent my head back. The other officers were standing around there and he said, 'You are the boy that raped that woman,' and then he beat me around the face and hurt my left leg . . ."

"The officer said, 'You call me a liar?' and he slapped me in the face. Another officer picked up my left leg and kicked me three times . . . I don't know the name of the officer that did that, but I know him when I see him. I didn't say anything when they did that, except I started crying, and one officer caught the jacket that I had on and said, 'Look here boy, if you do not tell us that you raped that woman, we will kill you and I will do the killing.'"

"I started to cry again and then they picked me up and pushed me out. It was Mr. Hinkle Boyd that picked me up from the chair and shoved me out the door, and at that time somebody hit me behind the head and knocked me clear away from the door."

"Then I went to the police desk, and they took me back to Roy Jackson's office and asked me if I made up my mind yet, and I didn't make up my mind and they put me in jail then. They threatened me several times at the jail. Mr. Hinkle Boyd told me if I said anything about what they had done that night he would kill me . . ."

On the second day of his imprisonment Roseborough still had not been told of his right to legal counsel. He was given a truth serum and further threatened. On the third day there were more threats. On the fourth day he was allowed to see his grandmother who had inquired for him at the jail before and been told that he was not there. A bondsman also talked to him on the fourth day telling him that if he would confess to house-peeping, he could get out on bond.

On the fifth day Roseborough signed the confession without ever having legal counsel. His own words explain the circumstances:

"Mr. Affleck (the bondsman) came back the next day, I guess about 2:30. He told me that I had lied to him and said, 'Now, junior, I told your mother and father that I would help you and you are lying to me,' and I told him that I was not lying. He said, 'You want to get out of jail, don't you? Or do you want in jail or out?' And I said, 'I want out of jail.' And he said, 'O.K., I will help you,' and he left and went to the courthouse and then he came back and had me taken out of my cell again and he said, 'Junior, what else do they have on you?' and I told him I didn't know but they had said rape."

"He said, 'That's what they have on you, they have a rape charge against you,' and I told him that I didn't do that. Then he told me that if I would come along and put the finger on the others he could get me out and I told him I didn't know who the others were, that I wasn't gonna do any lying . . ."

"He said, 'Junior, if you don't know who did it, then you did it.' Then he said, 'If that's all you are going to say, I will have to tell your mother and father there is nothing to be done for you.'"

" . . . I didn't know his name up to that time; I thought he was a friend. I thought he worked for the city, because he had a gun in his pocket; and I thought he would get me out."

"I saw him again the same evening. Mr. Hinkle Boyd came and took me over to the courthouse, to the District Attorney's office. When I got in the room Mr. Joe Foy was sitting behind the desk. Mr. Joe Foy was typewriting at the time and when Mr. Joe Foy finished typewriting he handed me the paper to sign and said he had warned me and I signed the paper he handed me and then my dad came in . . ."

"My dad looked at the paper and asked me if I did that, and I told him no. Then he said, 'Why did you sign the paper?' I was going to tell him that if I said I didn't they would kill me, but they were taking me out and the district attorney told me, he said, 'Tell your daddy you did it,' and they took me back to jail that night."

"On the way back to the jail my daddy didn't say anything. I signed that statement because they told me that if I didn't sign it they would kill me; and this man Mr. Affleck told me that if I would say that I did it, he would get me out of jail. He said he couldn't promise me anything if I didn't sign it because they had said they would kill me if I didn't, and I was in fear of my life."

At 8:30 the same evening the

Science Slants — Ge's Still Running

Unknown to most of our readers, we have been conducting rather extensive research problems throughout the world. From our field representative in South Africa, we received an interesting report which should prove valuable to you who either know or would like to know science in the making. The letter is as follows:

Science Slants
 Albright College
 Reading, Pa.
 Dear Sir:

Our recent expedition in the Kalahari Desert in Southern Africa has proved to be fruitful for an old manuscript had been unearthed along with its supposed author's body; Chief Al-ota-bool, a previously alleged mythical character in anthropological circles. This chief was supposed to have been leader of the Anthropophagi (cannibals) in South Africa and controlled his vast domain with extreme rigidity. He had many vague facets to his personality, for he, according to the manuscript, had a definite scientific background and laid claim to have seen the first Venusian to have landed on earth. The recent flying saucer craze might well be explained by this incident.

Dr. I. Etumwraw of the Bechua-land School of Modern Orthophony and Archeologic Vernacularology has kindly translated this document and it is with deepest acknowledgment that we present chief Al-ota-bool's description of his fantastic experience.

"I was crossing the Limpopo River near its head waters when I was besieged with a peculiar light of a possibly tribophosphorescent origin; then I disembarked on the opposite shore and followed the lights to their source. In a clearing not more than 50 paces from the shore, I saw it—a disk-shaped air ship with web-like protrusions about its rim (radar?) and the most peculiar looking monster descending to the ground from an open hatchway underneath. Being a scientist I took quick mental notes and noticed that its teramorphous shape was of an earthy theriomorphic form with a reptile body with scaly appendages and a rather large head (humanoid) with receding forehead and protruding eyeballs (all six of them). It bore zygodactylic feet, tridentate mouth and behind it flipped a muscular trifurcate tail. It shined its tribophosphorescent "flashlight" in my direction and immediately attacked me with accompanying dis-

"Everything I do at Albright is wrapped up in that fraternity," says Owen James Davis, president of the Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity.

As a social science major, Jim, who dislikes being called Owen, is at present student teaching a senior P.A.D. class at Reading High School. Following graduation from Albright, he hopes to do graduate work in secondary school administration. Eventually he would like to become the principal of a medium sized high school.

His college career began in 1948, but in May 1951 he left Albright for a year and a half "vacation" in the army. Jim is married and works part time as a real estate salesman for his father. Occasionally he plays the drums with dance bands. Besides presiding over the Zetas, he is also a member of Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity, and of Future Teachers of America.

Lions Seek Revenge On Undefeated Dutchmen

LION'S DEN

By Tom Masters
Tough Going

The early season basketball campaign has been a rugged one for the young Lions. They've run into some of the best competition the country has to offer, and all this in their freshman year, for many of them.

The amazing part is that they have turned in some really fine performances against this class of opposition. They gave St. Joe's a hard fight before going down to a 67-64 defeat, and Temple's smooth operators really began to move after stopping the Lions by a 61-54 count. Of course, no one expected any miracles against Seton Hall, national leaders in the Associated Press rankings, but the score of 82-52 was less than many anticipated.

But there does seem to be an epidemic of shot-missing, especially in the last three contests, starting with Seton Hall. Maybe the boys are concentrating too much on their floor game, but it also seems as though they aren't taking the time with their shots that they might be. We all hope this is a temporary condition, and that the team's collective shooting eye will return as quickly as it seemed to disappear after the Juniata contest.

Albright's shining light for the season so far has been little freshman Mike DePaul. This became more evident last Saturday night when the little shot-maker took charge in the second half against Franklin & Marshall to lead a futile but noble rally against the big visitors. His shooting improved to the point where he racked up 26 points for the night. What's more, this example seemed to inspire the rest of the club, with the result that the Dips were matched, point for point, in the second half. It's nice to speculate, at any rate, as to what the outcome might have been had the first half been more like the second.

Down The Stretch

But now the roughest part of the campaign is concluded and, although there are some really tough contests still coming up, especially the one with Lebanon Valley tomorrow night, it would surely be a feather in the home club's cap to upset the Dutchmen. However, to do this a better all-round showing than the one in Anville last month will have to be displayed. We think that the game will be better than the controversial one last month, but it would be going a little too far to predict victory.

At any rate it will certainly feel good to the Gulianmen to return to their own class as they meet L. V., Scranton and Moravian in their next three MASCAC battles. None of these opponents will be push-overs, but at least the odds will not be so heavily stacked against them as has been the case in many of the games up to now.

Two-Platoon Demise

The sudden decision by the NCAA to wipe out the two-platoon in football was a shocking one in many quarters. Our own Coach Gulian undoubtedly expressed the feelings of many coaches when he said that it would be bad for the game. It's especially so here at Albright, where the coach has prospects of 18 experienced per-

Zetas Top 'A' Loop; F.B.I. Tie Keglers For First 'B' Spot

According to the standings in our intermural basketball league on January 19th the "A" league is topped by the Zeta's, which is no unusual occurrence, and the honors in the "B" circuit are shared by F. B. I. and the Keglers. Due to final tests and the mid-semester vacation league activity will not get under way until Monday, February 16th, when a full schedule will be played.

The Zetas ran up a high score against KTX to cop their fourth win of the season and retain first place; however, the APO's kept at their heels with a forfeit win over the Aces while the Frosh eked out a 21-20 win over the Kappa's to remain tied for second place with the APO's. The surprise in the "A" wheel was furnished by the Rebels in their 48-25 win over the Pi Tau's. It dropped the Pi Tau's to a three way tie with the victorious Rebels and the Kappa's. KTX and the Aces round out the league with winless records.

Keglers Down Pappas
It was the same story in the "B" league with but one exception—the defeat of the Kappas. The Keglers and the F. B. I. carried their spotless 4-0 record through the fourth week of the campaign with rather convincing wins over their opponents. The Keglers defeated the previously undefeated Kappa's and dropped them into second place by a 41-17 score, and the F. B. I. continued to roll up high scores by conquering the Pi Tau's B team by a 69-27 score. The Zeta's "B" team is serving notice that it is not out of the race yet by downing the Hot Shots by a 39-23 margin and advancing itself into a two-way tie with the second place Kappa's. In the other game in this league the A. P. O.'s "B" team defeated the Rockets 38-22 to hold down third place.

formers returning next year, while he'll only be able to use eleven of them. And Albright isn't the only school where this is true. On the other hand, the new ruling won't be so disagreeable in a college where not as many regulars are returning. This means that a coach will not have as much trouble teaching new men both offense and defense as he would in training men who have played only one platoon to play both ways.

But we don't agree that, all in all, the new ruling will be bad for football. There will still be substitutions, so that the arguments about players getting more tired

Have Return Meeting With LV Tomorrow

Scranton, Moravian Scheduled Next Week

Tomorrow evening will see one of the most heated contests of the season take place in the new gymnasium when the Flying Dutchmen from Lebanon Valley college provide the opposition for the Red and White basketballers. The junior varsity teams of both schools will meet in a preliminary game at 7:15 p. m., while the main contest gets under way at 8:30 p. m.

The Lions will be queuing their first MASCAC win, after suffering one loss at the hands of these same Dutchmen, 74-49, at Anville on January 10. In this contest, the Dutchmen were never headed after Herb Finkelstein opened the scoring for the hosts. The home team had quarter leads of 23-12, 40-26 and 69-40.

The starting five for Coach Eddie Gulian is still problematical. He may use three freshmen, namely Mike DePaul, George Conrad and Bill Spaide, along with senior co-captains Connie Detling and George Amole.

On Monday evening the Red and White will journey to Scranton to meet the Royals in another MASCAC fracas. Last year the Gulianmen dropped two games to the Purple, 69-66 and 91-76. Pete Carlesimo coaches the Royals, who play a 25 game card.

On Wednesday night the Lions return home to face the Moravian Greyhounds, another MASCAC opponent. Gil Gillespie is mentor of the young Greyhounds, who were subdued twice last year by the Lions. The scores were 78-63 and 77-60.

Girls Schedule 9 Games For Basketball Season

The girls' basketball team opens its season tomorrow against Lebanon Valley.

Junior Varsity Posts Tenth Victory Of Season Over F. & M. Frosh, 45-40

Extending their six game winning streak, Coach Bobby Hick's Lion Cubs romped to an easy 72-46 victory over the visiting hoopers from Dickinson. Richard Jockmann lead the scoring with 14 points, followed by John Reusing and Dave Townley, who had 13 points each. In their next game the Baby Lions had difficulty in overcoming the Birdsboro Sportsmen. Townley set the pace with 14 points in the 49-47 struggle.

Three Albright players, each scoring over 20 points, aided greatly in subduing the host, Hershey Junior College. They were Jockmann, Townley, and Bernard Seaman. The final whistle found the visiting Cubs out front, 89-66.

The Franklin & Marshall frosh, led by Jim Bean, gave the Hicksmen a struggle to the end. With 17 points, Townley ranked first in the scoring column. The final outcome was 45-40, with Albright on the winning side.

Basketeers Bring Record To Five Wins, Eight Defeats

Triumph in Three Straight Before Suffering Three Consecutive Losses; DePaul Top Scorer

Albright's still inexperienced but scrapping basketball team won three and lost three of its last six games. These results gave Coach Eddie Gulian's forces an overall record of five wins and eight defeats for the season.

On January 16 the Red and White took the floor in the new gymnasium against the Dickinson Red Devils and came away with a handy 77-65 triumph. This victory was the first for the Lions on the new gym floor after four straight setbacks. Ken Nase and Mike DePaul were the high scorers for the winners with 14 points apiece.

Another victory followed on January 21 when Bucknell's Bisons tasted defeat to the tune of 89-50, also at the new gym. This was the second win of the season over Bucknell for the current campaign, the Gulianmen having triumphed earlier in the season at Lewisburg, 65-55.

The Lion cagers pulled away decisively in the second quarter when, with the score 24-22 in their favor, they totaled 23 points in a row to take a commanding advantage. DePaul again headed the scoring list with 14 points, while his teammates, Nase and Connie Detling were right behind with 13.

The third victory in a row followed on January 24 when the Juniata Indians visited the home court, only to be reversed, 66-56. DePaul and Detling shared 32 points evenly in this contest. Both George Amole and Bernie Krick were forced to miss this game because of colds.

The Lions' victory string, as was expected, came to an end on January 28 when the basketballers faced the Pirates of Seton Hall in their lair at South Orange, N. J. The visitors were never in the contest as the high-ranking Bucs posted an 82-52 decision. Big Walt Dukes, All-American candidate, tossed in 20 points for the winners. George Conrad was Albright's best answer to the Blue and White's sizzling attack as he garnered 16 markers for his best showing of the year.

Defeat number seven was Albright's lot when the Red and White visited Easton on January 31 and absorbed a 72-56 licking from the Lafayette Leopards. Big Leon Miller poured in 19 tallies for the winners after sitting out the whole first quarter. DePaul again showed up best in the scoring column for the losers with 12 points.

Albright's eighth defeat of the season came last Saturday evening against Franklin and Marshall in a game which saw the winners come only two points short of the gymnasium record set by LaSalle as they posted a 99-80 triumph. Albright outscored the visitors in the second half, but a deficit of 51-29 at the half was too much to overcome.

William Haaker Featured In Cultural Program

William Haaker, distinguished American pianist, was featured in the fifth cultural program of the year, yesterday in Krause Hall. "By leaps and bounds," he has literally carved for himself a musical niche in the concert consciousness of his country through constant devotion and a unique, individual, yet sincere approach to his art. Following his debut, Winthrop Tryon, in the Christian Science Monitor, heralded the distinctive Haaker pianistic expression.

While in his early teens, William Haaker's pianistic talents drew the attention of the great Iturbi, and from then there has continued a constant association. Iturbi took Haaker as one of his few and most favored proteges, making accessible to him the inestimable value of his technical and interpretative insight. It is safe to say that Iturbi guided and inspired Haaker to his realized artistic goal—hardly short of perfection itself.

Recitals Launch Career

Finally, in 1945, after a decade and a half of preparation his two New York Town Hall recitals within a year launched the career of pianist Haaker. It has carried him up and down the highways and byways, in hundreds of recitals from Maine to Mexico, on a tour of the Netherlands, and in repeated visits to Cuba and leading American music centers. A Haaker appearance becomes a memorable event, whether it occurs in Pecos, Texas or sophisticated Boston, Detroit or New York. The response is invariably the same, for as one Albany paper put it following a recital by Haaker in the city of his birth, "a talent has gained ten talents."—R.K.

remedied by having two separate squads with each player competing in all phases of the game, instead of one squad with many players competing in only part of the game. But whatever the results in the quality of game, it can't be doubted that costs will be cut considerably, which is surely good news for small schools at least, and probably many large ones as well.

first complaint against John Taft Roseborough was filed in the Justice of the Peace Court and sworn to by Hinkle Boyd, assistant chief of police.

Ten character witnesses testified at Roseborough's trial. All agreed that he was a quiet, even timid boy. He had been hard of hearing from early childhood and perhaps for this reason was not particularly good at school, though he made passing marks. He held the same job for over three years, attended church, and did not drink or "carouse around."

The proprietor of the theater which John Roseborough said he had attended on the nights when he was supposedly "houspeeping," remembered talking to him on that occasion about his church dues and other church affairs.

The victim of the crime told the jury that it had been too dark to see her assailant. She knew only that he was a Negro.

No evidence was produced to connect Roseborough with the crime except his confession, which he testified in court had been extracted from him by force. Yet he was convicted and sentenced to 99 years, another victim of a legal lynching in the South. Attorneys for the NAACP are filing an appeal in the Supreme Court of Texas and will, if necessary, carry the case to the United States Supreme Court.

But it is not the Supreme Court which need have the last word in such a case. The NAACP needs, and is asking for, contributions toward the legal defense; but it also needs behind it the indignant outcry of outraged people to tell the Texas lynchers that they can't get away with it again.

The Communists may have their anti-Semitic purges but let's not forget that old saying which goes something like this: Don't try to remove the splinter from your neighbor's eye until you've removed the beam from your own.

Sororities Plan Reciprocal Teas During February

Phi Beta Mu sorority will entertain the Pi Alpha Tau sisterhood at the traditional Valentine Tea to be held Sunday at the home of Miss Ernestine Elder, Mu advisor. Dorothy Delaney, '54 is in charge of arrangements.

Plans were made at the recent Monday evening meeting for Sports Night and Stunt Night. Barbara Smith and Barbara Ravel, respectively, are in charge of the two group participations.

Pi Alpha Tau

Plans were made for the Pat-Mu party, Saturday, February 28, at the last meeting of the Pi Alpha Tau sorority. Sally Archer will have charge of the affair which is to be held from 2:00 to 4:00 p. m. at her home.

Janet Gehres and Evelyn Weida gave a report on the progress of their preparations for Mardi Gras.

The sorority's participation in Sports Night is being directed by Jean Filbert and Jean Dirmitt. Miss Filbert was also appointed spring pledgemaster.

The spring weekend was also among the more important matters discussed. Margaret Israel and Roslyn Cowen will act as co-chairmen of the annual affair.

The sorority voted on a program for Stunt Night. Virginia Marick and Jacqueline Zwoyer will handle script and direction.

APO's Elect Officers

Officers for the second semester have been selected by the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity. New officers include William Masters, president; Robert Bieler, vice president and house manager; John Sudol, recording secretary; Ivan Moyer, corresponding secretary; and Mahlon Frankhouser, treasurer. Bruce Tenley was appointed as chairman for Sports Night.

sonant grunts. I rushed into the river and mounted my horse with the monster following all the way. I took flight into the dreaded Kalahari Desert. I was amazed at the monster's tropophilosity, for it swam easily and quickly in the swift current and likewise pursued me on foot with equal facility in the dangerously desiccative conditions in the desert. I finally lost it after a day's chase and fell exhausted to the ground with my horse collapsing beside me. I was refreshed by my trusty skin of usquelough and continued on my flight . . .

The veracity of such an incident is questionable, but it does indicate what we have suspected all the time, for there was a definite scientific attitude among the Anthropophagi of South Africa especially since a party translated document shows that Chief Al-ota-bool declared that his "monster" was a Venusian. Most tetrageney experts over here say that this description of a Venusian is entirely feasible and thoroughly practical considering the climatic conditions on the planet. However, whether a thalassocracy exists on Venus as described by Al-ota-bool is doubtful and bears further analysis of that watery planet.

Disrespectfully yours,

Bash To Review Book

John Bash, '54, will review a section of the book "Rediscovering the Bible," in Bible class on Sunday, February 15, at 8:45 a. m. in Selwyn Parlor. The question "In what way did Jesus Fulfill Old Testament Prophecies?" will be discussed.

Alumni Solicit Loyalty Fund

Albright College Alumni Association began its sixth annual Loyalty Fund drive on February 1. Dr. Samuel B. Shirk, assistant to the president of the college, announced that since that date a total of $534.00 has been contributed to the fund by fifty-two alumni. This is the best response to the drive noted since its organization.

The Loyalty Fund is a special contribution made by alumni each year to the college. James R. Koller, '28, president of the Alumni Association, pointed out the importance of each alumni member's support of the program this year in order to help cover an operational deficit suffered by the college. He suggested that each member set aside one dollar for every year beyond graduation as a minimum contribution. The larger the fund maintained by the alumni, the larger will be Albright's share of funds solicited through the Foundation for Independent Colleges in Pennsylvania. The 1953 drive will close on June 30.

Students To Tour Steel Company Feb. 18

The Student Affiliator of the American Chemical Society will tour the Carpenter Steel Company of Reading, Pa. on Wednesday evening, February 18. The Carpenter Steel Company is one of the largest industries in Berks County and produces many different types of stainless steel.

All who wish to go on this tour will meet at 6:30 p. m. at the Science Hall. Transportation will be provided. Since it is necessary to have an accurate count of participants, anyone interested is to give their name to Gerald Greth, club president.

Dr. C. A. Horn To Speak At Skull and Bones

Dr. C. A. Horn, head of the Albright biology department, will present a lecture on the organization and function of the well-known W.H.O., or World Health Organization on Wednesday, February 18, 1953. This will be the Skull and Bones' monthly meeting, starting at 7:30 p. m. Dr. Horn is the vice president of the Northeastern Division of American Association of Professional Biologists. All students taking biology are expected to attend this meeting.

Roche To Be Guest At Friends' Meeting

John P. Roche, assistant professor of political science at Haverford College, will be the guest speaker at the Friends Meeting House tonight at 8:00 p. m. His topic is "America's Answer to Communism."

Professor Roche is a graduate of Hofstra College and of Cornell University, and is a member of Scarsdale Meeting, Society of Friends. He is the author of "The Early Development of United States Citizenship" and of many articles in various periodicals.

Library Urges Students To Display Hobbies

Miss Josephine Raeppl, librarian, recently said, "If a student has a special hobby and wishes to display it in the library showcases, he should see me." Miss Raeppl hopes that Albrightians will want to show their handiworks.

Miss Mary Jane Ward, of the library staff, recently completed two weeks of library field work at Southern Junior High in Reading. Miss Ward is studying for a Master's Degree in Library Science at Drexel Institute of Technology, and did her field work as part of the required curriculum.
