Band To Give Concert To Raise Funds For New Uniforms

Chef Preparing For Gala Affair In Selwyn Hall

The final details of arrangement for the coming symphony concert to raise funds for band uniforms have now been completed, and the musicians are ready to swing into action. For the past two months the sprightly piccolo and the grandiose bass, the beating drum and the bleating horn have united their efforts in planning for this concert to be given by the Albright Symphony Orchestra under the able direction of Prof. Hans Nix. As a result of this drive, all expenses of the concert (including posters, announcements, programs, tickets, and extra chairs) have been donated. For the past week the bandsters have been following up the letters of announcements which had been distributed previously, and have been delivering their best before-dinner sales talks, all for the sake of some ticket-sales.

Tickets Go On Sale Today For Student Matinee

Tickets for the Wednesday afternoon Student concert at 4:30 o'clock will go on sale at the Treasurer's Office and at the book store today. Should it be necessary to cancel this matinee performance, a notice will be posted, and these tickets will be good for either evening performance.

The first campus sale was made by Jake Sklover, whose efficient line (Continued on page 3, column 4)

Council Nominates For Gavel Job

Strawbridge, Swett, Hain Selected

May time is election time on campus! That's what Student Council thinks anyway.

The student-faculty association selected candidates for the highest executive office in the student body. The presidential nominees are: Dennis Strawbridge, Ray Swett, and Ray Hain.

The all-college election will take place next Monday and Tuesday. Classes will also cast ballots for their officers.

Next week organizations on campus will elect their new representative to the council.

Dean's Office Announces Exam Schedule Change

The Dean and Registrar's office announced this week a change in the examination schedule. In order to permit students more time to study after a strenuous Memorial Day, the Saturday examinations have been deferred to Wednesday, June 4, when they will be given at the hours previously noted.

May Day, Mother's Weekend, Highlights of May's Activities

Visiting Mothers To Witness May Queen Crowning

"To the First Lady of Albright—Mother," this weekend is dedicated. From Saturday noon until Sunday noon, Albright students' mothers will be the honor guests of the college.

Upon their arrival, all guests will register in Selwyn Hall. At 2 p. m. the Pi Alpha Tau sorority will plant a tree on the front campus in memory of PAT mothers.

Highlighting the afternoon's activities will be the ceremony of the coronation of the May Queen, Kitty Buzzard, with her attendants: Eleanor Troutman, maid of honor; Marion Plummer, first lady in waiting; Margaret Savidge, mistress of ceremonies; and Edna Bialek, custodian of the crown.

Ruth Ennis, Miriam Hershey, Thelma Shimp, and Esther Sipple comprise the court of honor. The arch of honor includes Thelma Bayne, Evelyn Belmont, Kay Gasche, Virginia Gaul, Phyllis Kaltreider, Mary Klein, Marjorie Lebo, Helen Markey, Grace Mack, Thelma Rebert, Kay Warner, Jean Weissinger, and Margaret Schmeek. Dorothy Gaul is trainbearer; Marian Bittenbender and Jeune Shetron are pages.

Costume arrangements were made by Edna Bialek and Miss Ernestine Elder; the crown was designed and made by Dorothy Zieber. The ceremony includes the maypole dance, the traditional dance by the junior girls and dances arranged by and secured from the Chalif School of Dancing.

After the coronation, Mrs. Harry V. Masters, Kitty Buzzard, Miss Ethel Norton, Miss Elder, and Miss Florence Innis will receive the senior and the junior women in the library.

'Y' Cabinet Leaders Attend Conference At Harrisburg

Program Includes Folk Dancing, Field Trip

A group of Albright delegates attended a special training conference for new "Y" officers and cabinet members at Camp Reilly near Harrisburg last weekend.

Albright's representatives were: Esther Gingrich, Miss Ethel E. Norton, Ruth Hand, Irene Snyder, Mary Levan, Geraldine Bowker, June Hausman, Harry Buck, Bruce Knisely, Charles Miesse, and Margaret Savidge, who was chairman of the conference committee.

The program included discussion groups on the various fields of "Y" action—worship, social service, peace and world fellowship, assemblies, and addresses. There was folk dancing in the evening. On Saturday afternoon, a field trip was taken to Indiantown Gap.

Among the delegates, all of whom worked on a cooperative basis, were representatives from Bloomsburg, Millersville, Kutztown, Juniata, Gettysburg, Franklin and Marshall, Wilson, Penn State, and Albright.

Leaders at the conference were: E. H. Bonsall, general secretary of the Pennsylvania State Council for Religious Education; "Woody" Messner and Louise Pfeutze, regional secretaries of the Student Christian Movement, and Eunice King, the travelling secretary for the Student Volunteer Movement.

"Collegians" Swing Out For Student Council

Student Council will sponsor their last dance tonight in conjunction with Mother's weekend. The function will begin at 8 p. m. in the college dining hall. Albright's own band, the Albright Collegians, will swing out "a la rhythm" and the price is 25c per. Come on, guys, bring yore gals—it's yore last chance.

One-Actors To Mimic For Mothers

To Entertain Mothers In Chapel Tomorrow

One of the features of the Mother's Day weekend will be the presentation of the original one-act plays written by the members of John B. Douds' creative writing classes. These plays will be presented in the chapel at 8:30 tomorrow night.

The following plays will be given: "Two in the Dark," which was written by Lenore Linden, will be directed by Arthur McKay, and will feature George Henry and Margaret Thompson.

"Acres of Flames" by Emma Cora Hafer will be directed by George Henry. In the cast are Emma Hafer, George Henry, Geraldine Ross, and Arthur McKay.

"Time and Half-Time," written by Kathryn Muhs, will be directed (Continued on page 2, column 3)

Buckwalter Speaks On Economics and Peace

Professor Henry G. Buckwalter addressed the Tri-County regional Lions Clubs at Downingtown last night at their annual dinner banquet. His topic, "The Economic Consequences of Peace," was followed by a 20-minute forum discussion from the floor.

Art McKay's Oration Takes Third Place

Campus Orator Brings Home Honors

Arthur McKay was awarded third place in the Pennsylvania intercollegiate oratorical contest held at Bucknell University last week.

For receiving this honor, McKay returned to Albright richer by twenty dollars. His oration was entitled, "Problems of Peace."

The first prize of $50 went to Sam Rogers, of the University of Pittsburgh. Placing second was Richard Scullin, of Grove City College.

McKay, a member of the campus debate squad, was winner of the Junior and the Junior-Senior oratorical contests.

Dr. Geil, Speechmaker, Has Gift Of Gab

Dr. Milton Geil is surely the most "talkin'-est" man at Albright and may even hold a world's record for speech-making.

Dr. Geil, who has spread his psychology far and wide, has spoken to at least 38 different organizations in and around Reading since September. Besides teaching in Reading hospitals, he has given 92 speeches, 38 of which were entirely different—and all this between September and May.

Orchids

A new order cometh—and so the old gives way to the new. With this our first issue, the new ALBRIGHTIAN staff eagerly and conscientiously assumes its journalistic duties of bringing before the eyes of the student the news, opinions, and comment of our campus.

Before we proceed any further, however, we feel that we have an obligation to fulfill on behalf of the entire student body. The time has come to hand out a few orchids to those of the departing ALBRIGHTIAN staff who are seniors.

Have you ever picked up one of our newsheets of the past few years and noted the tremendous improvements our present paper has made over them? Things like that don't just happen—somebody is behind it all.

Noting the excellent work of these people and realizing the responsibilities that they assumed in their journalistic triumphs, we of the new order wish to throw out our bunch of orchids to the past editor and the seniors of his staff. We extend our heartiest congratulations to them in view of their crowning success. We feel that they have helped to make the name of ALBRIGHT ring with a lustier and more sincere meaning. They have, through their endeavors, helped to bring about a better understanding between faculty and student, they have promoted the interests of the college as a whole, and they have had a very great influence upon college journalism in general.

We of the 1941-42 staff shall do our utmost to follow very closely the pathway our brothers have opened before us. Of course, with every new order, there is a new policy. Mistakes have been made in the past and we hope to benefit by noting their results. Our policy, consequently, will be rather simple—to further the interests of the faculty and students of ALBRIGHT by every means available to us and to state the facts as we see them. We shall give credit where credit is due and shall strive to point out and aid in the elimination of all undesirable elements found upon our campus.

This column shall be available at all times for comment and discussion of vital interests and shall welcome any criticism of its policy.

Are We Ready For War?

By ART MCKAY

Words which may become prophetic before many days are gone by were uttered by our President, Franklin D. Roosevelt, during the ceremonies at Woodrow Wilson's birthplace last week-end. Mr. Roosevelt in stirring words proclaimed that "freedom of democracy in the world" is the kind of faith for which this nation is "ever ready to fight again."

The immediate reaction to this blunt assertion was one of uncertainty as to the meaning of these words, "ever ready to fight." Senator Clark of Idaho, an opponent of the Administration's foreign policy, declared that if the United States attempts "to fight for democracy in our present condition we will fail not only to have it abroad but will destroy it at home." Senator Nye of North Dakota, a leader in the unsuccessful Senate fight against enactment of British-aid legislation, felt that "if the President is making a feeler for a declaration of war he will be quickly surprised to see that the people of America do not want to be involved."

Interested to know just how well the President had reflected the popular mind, your observer looked to the latest release of the Gallup Poll to find 81 per cent of the people answering in the negative to the question, "Should the U. S.

STRICTLY PARTIAL

(In view of the present world conditions; in view of the United States' stepped-up defense policy; in view of increased taxes; and in view—well, we'll let that go—the ALBRIGHTIAN has decided to inaugurate a column dealing with confidential analyses of current events, at home and abroad. (Ain't that just ducky?) Every good newspaper has a news analyst—it gives it prestige. (And we need it.) P.S.—Any similarity between this and any legitimate headlines you may read is purely coincidental.)

Hello, Folks:

Let's start off with my Washington observer. He reliably informs me that the creator of "Terry and the Pirates" has been offered a place in the "new order" provided he will sell the plans for his new torpedo raft to "Der Fuehrer." If he sends Burma along with it, he'll be made an air marshal.

Some U. S. senators say that all the taxpayers interviewed, thus far, state that they will be glad to pay much higher defense taxes. All I can say is that the accountants must have been extremely bad at the time.

Now for the foreign news: Spring is here, the Nazis are in North Africa, and Mussolini's chin is coming out from a winter in mothballs. "Muss" is tired of playing second fiddle: he's taking up the bass viol now. A couple more sinkings and Mussolini's "invincible" navy is going to be "invisible." When you think of all the Fascist battleships at the bottom of the Mediterranean, it seems "Musso" would have been as well off if he'd have bought himself a fleet of half a dozen ten-ton trucks. (There's less upkeep!)

The British aren't unhappy about being pushed back in Libya. They claim that there was never a battle in Libya in the first place—just an eight-hundred mile dash round the

If the RAF hit Nazi cultural centers in Berlin twice a row, you've got to hand it to them—it must be mighty hard to find a center of culture in Saziland today.

The Red "comedies" are taking keen interest in the popularity of the American song hit "There'll Be Some Changes Made." (Trotzky, Sroozee bomb.)

No trouble with the three-power pact is that it consists of one power house, a blown-out fuse, and a connection which can't be depended upon.

This week's prediction of future events: I predict that Germany will not invade Russia. Think of the fix Adolph would be in if the Russian armies surrendered and he had to feed them.—R. F.

by Arthur McKay and George Henry, who will also take part in the acting.

"Gingham Dog and Calico Cat" by Robert Gasser, directed by Margaret Thompson, will have in its cast Margaret Thompson, Jacob Wagner, and Henry Helstrom.

"Skip the Homework, Kathie" by Doris Kinsey, has Ruth Ennis as the director. The cast includes Sally Weaver, Margaret Thompson, Lucille Griswold, Betty Werley, Myrtle Stegman, Betty Miller, Burdsall Miller, Bill Bottonari, Lewis Smith, and John Rudzinski.

Comings and Goings

To the scientist this world is one of constant movement and change. We study the changes in our universe with the most technical and delicate of instruments. These changes we survey with a critical eye in order to sift the good from the bad. And so, this week there came a change to the science column of your paper, a change brought about by elevating to a higher position an individual whose services merit recognition. To Harold Werner, your science columnist for the past year, has been delegated the responsibility of editing the Albrightian. It is hard to fill the shoes of one who merits such recognition, for the new but rarely supersedes the old. It is with quaking knees and fingers crossed that your science columnist for the coming year undertakes to bring to you the latest in the Journal of Albrightian Science.

Scientific Culture

Last evening the Berks County Astronomical Society held a meeting in the science lecture hall. Mr. Jacob Wagner of Birdsboro spoke to the group on "The Life of John Lick." John Lick, incidentally, was the founder of the Lick Observatory in California. The life of John Lick was of special interest to the group because he was born in Fredericksburg, Pa.

On Monday evening the Skull and Bones Society will hold their regular monthly meeting. Senior members of the society will present papers on which they have been working during the past year. Margaret Savidge will present a paper on "Bacteria in Foods"; Al Falcone and Kitty Buzzard will present a paper on the "Histology of Tissues."

Our Social Science

The more you eat the more you grow; the more you grow the more you know (especially about chemistry). At least this is what the Alchemists thought when they attended their annual outing at Egelman's Park on Tuesday afternoon. After the debris of the battle cleared—and I'm speaking about the battle for control of the hot dogs—the annual election of officers took place. Willis Helsey will map the course of the Alchemists for the coming year. Richard Reinsel and Elaine Shade will assist in the offices of vice-president and secretary, respectively.

After Four Years

Twice during the school days of each Albrightian there comes the time when he must face the needle of Dr. Horn, once as a freshman and once again as a senior. The tuberculin tests for the outgoing class have just been completed and the results are most startling. While 43 per cent of the senior class showed a positive reaction when they were freshmen, now 53 per cent of the same class, after four years of college life, show a positive reaction. Well it just goes to prove that you shouldn't let

Breen Stars As Devils Tie

This column will attempt to bring to you in each issue pertinent facts about Albright sports, and the doings of the athletes who perform for your Alma Mater. It will also be the policy of your correspondent to express his viewpoints on matters that directly affect the Albright sport schedules.

At all times this corner will be open to expression of opinions from the student body concerning sports. It is our aim to please the customers.

Dick Shollenberger and Raymer Kent are displaying their baseball talents every weekend cavorting for Terre Hill (population 812, 1940 census) in the Lancaster County-City League. Sholly holds down second base while Kent patrols center field. Both are getting their share of base knocks.

It's a shame that Albright can't have a nine, what with the wealth of baseball talent going to waste on the campus. But conditions rule otherwise.

We think the City League managers could benefit from the abilities of such lads as John Durko, Vic Gigli, Leon Steckley, (he was quite some shakes as a pitcher in high school), Joe Gillis, and many others.

Steve Plaskonos, Bob Giamotti, Frank "Blacky" Bertino, and Pete Hassler are pulling down two hamburgers and a bottle of—per contest for several City League clubs.

Talked with Mr. Dietz the other day. He feels that Clem Boland could break 48 seconds in the quarter mile if the facilities for an all winter training schedule were available. That's darn fast time with the world's record at 46.4 held by Ben Eastman since 1932.

The track coach also believes this year's track and field squad is about the best balanced one he's coached since coming to Albright five years ago. So—how about coming out and cheering the boys in the next meet? That helps a lot, girls.

We'd like to throw a few dozen orchids the way of Ray

Dickinson Rallies In 26 Point Spurt

Lions To Meet Ursinus, May 17

Albright's track and field squad found out it doesn't pay to "count your chickens before they're hatched," Wednesday afternoon in the stadium. Dickinson's Red Devils came from behind in the last four events to tally 26 points to tie the Lions, 63-63. The Lions were ahead 53-37 until that outburst. The Red and White's showing was better than last year when they lost 76-49.

Individual stars were Jimmy Breen and the visitors' Ace Kenety. Breen won the 100, 220 and tied for first in the pole vault with Co-Captain Paul Petrucka. Kenety walked away with the hurdle events and finished second in the century and broad jump.

The Lion's next test is Saturday, May 17, when they entertain Ursinus at home.

DAYMEN SURPRISE

The Kappas well-balanced softie outfit continue to pace the Inter-Frat loop with a clean slate of four wins. The biggest upset of the week was the Day Students victory over the Zetas, 6-5, behind the five-hit pitching of Joe Zeock.

STANDINGS
	Won	Lost	A.P.O.	Won	Lost
Kappas	4	0	...	2	2
Day Students	5	2	T.F.B.	...	0 4
Zetas	4	2	Pi Tau	...	0 5

Swett and his tennis squad. They've got the real ideals of sportmanship.

It is likely the administration would have abolished tennis from the sports schedule if Swett had not consented to serve in the coaching capacity. The team might not win many matches, but we bet they are having fun.

With the advent of warmer days, the intra mural softball games are attracting larger crowds. We take up our predecessor, Carl Mogen, cry, "Where are the bleachers, Mr. Harris?" Everything else seems to be running smoothly.

Seniors To Get Keys At Albrightian Affair

The annual banquet of the Albrightian Staff of '40 and '41 will be held at the Crystal Restaurant tonight at 6:30. The guest speaker will be the librarian, Mr. Robert L. Work. The award of keys to those seniors who have done meritorious work on the paper will be made by Professor Clyde A. Harding, faculty advisor. This year's editor, Robert Gerhart, will perform the duties of master of ceremonies.

their guests in their respective fraternity houses and dormitories. Dinner in the college dining hall will be served at 6:15 p. m. The speakers will include Margaret Hollenbach, Ray Hain, and Mrs. Elmer A. Muhs. After the coronation only senior women will be in formal attire.

At 8:30 p. m. the original one-act plays will be presented in the chapel, after which Dr. and Mrs. Harry V. Masters will be "at home" very informally in the dining hall.

Sunday morning Mother's Day services will be heralded by trumpeters from the balcony of the administration building. After the trumpeting there will be a bell-ringing, immediately followed by a one minute silence all over the campus.

The committee in charge of Mother's Week-end is Natalie Brant, chairman; Ray Swett, Tom Johnson, Marjorie Lebo and Vincent Rusbosin. In case of rain, the coronation services will be held in the Thirteenth and Union school gymnasium.

Buck, Philosophy President, Elected At Annual Dinner

The annual Philosophy Club dinner was held last night at the Thomas Jefferson room. The guest speaker was Dr. Amos T. Ettinger, professor of history at both Cedar Crest and Moravian colleges.

Dr. Ettinger, son of the dean emeritus of Muhlenberg College, is a graduate of Muhlenberg, the University of Pennsylvania, and Oxford University.

Recently elected officers of the club are Harry Buck, president; Woodrow Witmer, vice-president; and Marjorie Frundt, secretary-treasurer. Other new members are Esther Gingrich and Arthur McKay.

Zieber Stetler Soloist

The concert itself, to be given on the evenings of Wednesday and Thursday, May 14 and 15, at 8:30 in the Dining Hall, will be well worth attending. The program features a classical violin solo by Zieber Stetler. The ten-minute intermission marks the break in the concert, between the classical music of Verdi and Humperdinck, and the lighter, popular music of Strauss, Sousa, and others.

Our jovial chef is out-doing himself to make this concert the biggest event ever held in the Van Driel parlors. Extensive plans for a miniature stage (with all the back-drops, drapes, and shrubbery necessary have been drawn up. Mr. Work is supervising the actual staging and lighting for the festive occasion. Tickets will be collected, and programs distributed by a galaxy of Albright belles and beaux, who will serve as ushers for the evenings.

The actual choice of a uniform is in the hands of a special committee appointed for that purpose by Dr. Harry V. Masters. This committee consists of: Mr. Charles Gordon (chairman); Mrs. Harry V. Masters, Mrs. Chas. D. Brightbill, Mrs. Ralph Davis, Mrs. Eva Miller Mosser, Mr. Dwight Dundore, and Mr. Charles Miesse.

enter the war now?" But, looking further, he espied this fact—68 per cent of the people favor entering the war if it appears that Germany and Italy otherwise would win. It would seem that Mr. Roosevelt does speak for the average man.

In the opinion of the writer, perhaps the greatest weight is lent to the proclamation of our Chief Executive by the speech the Secretary of the Navy, Frank Knox, was making at Fort Dix on the same day. Knox frankly contended that the United States is, at this moment, in greater danger than it was in the World War of 1914-1918. He asked, therefore, that the whole nation be ready to make any sacrifices necessary to preserve American institutions and the American way of life.

The President and Mr. Knox are both, it seems to me, facing up to the logical consequences of our present foreign policy. If we see American safety as dependent upon a defeat of Germany, then this is our course. To delay, to stall our shipments while we debate convoys or no—this is sheer folly. Let us move on!
