Spring Concert Of Music Dept. To Be Thursday

The combined talents of the music department of Albright College will present the annual spring concert this Thursday evening at 8:15 in the College Dining Hall. Hans Nix is director of instrumental music and Professor John H. Duddy of vocal music.

The program will commence with the National Anthem, followed by "Processional March" by Foulds, with the College symphony orchestra, and "Fantasie" by Mozart, with the orchestra and the mixed chorus. The women's glee club will sing the traditional hymn "Beautiful Saviour," "Romance" by Debussy, and "Ho! Mr. Piper" by Carew.

The concert will continue with "Keltic Lament" by Woodhouse and Haydn's "Minuet" with the orchestra. Dorothy Seisler, pianist, will play "Fantasie Impromptu" by Chopin. The mixed chorus will sing "Carillon of Kharkov" by Arensky, and "Onward, Christian Soldiers" by Waring. Mrs. Gerritt Menning will sing two numbers with a flute accompaniment.

The program will also include "Theme from Piano Concerto No. 1" by Tchaikowsky with the orchestra; "Serenade" from "Student Prince" by Romberg, with Gerald Laucks as soloist; and "Procession of the Sarda" by Iwanoff-Ippolitoff with the orchestra.

The concert will conclude with the singing of the Alma Mater.

PTB Chooses Winter, Inducts New Pledges

Reed Frederick, president, announces that the Pi Tau Beta Fraternity will install new officers and induct pledges at a formal dinner next Monday, May 20 at Reeser's Restaurant at 7 p. m. The installation and induction will be in the form of a campfire service after the banquet.

The new officers of the Pi Taus are Steven Winter, president; Gilbert Feeg, vice-president and chairman; Charles Stump, secretary; and Russell Luck, treasurer.

The pledges to be taken in are Ira Custman, James Delp, Oldric Von Seekamm, Harry Kousaros, Alton Fisher, and Donald Lykens.

Yeagley Formulates Plans To Improve Men's Club

Heber Yeagley, succeeding Edwin Biehl as president of the Fraternal Order of the Daymen, has listed the tentative plans of the Daymen for the coming year. Although the recently remodeled Daymen's Club quarters are adequate and comfortable, President Yeagley feels that there remains much to be done, and he will attempt to make the clubhouse a bigger and better place for the social activities of the men. Also in the formative stage are the social and organizational events that will take place during the '46-'47 school calendar year.

Doggie Roast Tonight Climaxes Heo Activities

The annual doggie roast this evening will mark the closing of the year's activities of the Heo Club. The roast will be held from 5 to 7:30 p. m. at Hampden Park with a program of games under the direction of Mildred Kauffman. Also assisting in the plans are Mary Alice Lippert, Betty Shroyer, and Joy Cutler, president.

College To Celebrate 90th Year; Alumni Resume Annual Homecoming

Albright College will commemorate two important events June 1 when the Alumni Association holds its Victory Homecoming and annual meeting, and the College celebrates the 90th Anniversary of its founding.

The program for the Homecoming, as released by the Office of Public Relations, is as follows: 10 a. m. to 2 p. m., registration in the Alumni Memorial Library; 12:15 p. m., luncheon in the College Dining Hall; 1 p. m., business meeting in the College Chapel with Leonard M. Miller, president of the Alumni Association, presiding. The meeting will include a memorial service for Albrightians who died in World War II, and an announcement of the election of Association officers elected for 1946-1947. From 3 p. m. to 4 p. m. all of the classes who graduated in years ending in 1 and 6 will have their class reunions.

The Alumni tea to be held in the Library from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m. is in charge of the Berks County Alumni Club. Miller will again preside at the annual Alumni dinner in the College Dining Hall.

Another event under the sponsorship of the Alumni Association is the senior dinner for 1946 Albright graduates. The dinner will be held on Friday, May 31 at 6 p. m. at the Wyomissing Club.

Dr. J. Warren Klein, president emeritus of Albright College, will open the 90th Anniversary Program at 8 p. m. Saturday, June 1 with an invocation. The program will be held in the College Chapel. President Harry V. Masters will introduce Clarence D. Becker, class of 1910, speaker of the evening. Dr. Raymond W. Albright, class of 1919, will present a resume of the history of the College.

At this service the oldest living graduates of the College will be honored. Professor Ray F. Nichols, head of the history department at the University of Pennsylvania, will also speak at the commemoration program.

The 90th Anniversary committee is composed of the following representatives: alumni representatives, Miller, and Miss Lydia Roland; faculty and administrative representatives, Dr. Milton W. Hamilton, Dr. F. W. Gingrich, President Masters, Professor Lewis E. Smith, and Lester L. Stabler; student representatives, Margaret Ball, Phyllis Carter, and Herbert Vogt; trustee representatives, Dr. Klein, and Rev. C. E. Kachel.

APO Arranges Dance For Saturday Night, Pledge Induction

Members of the Alpha Pi Omega Fraternity will hold their traditional spring formal this Saturday evening at the Women's Club of Reading, from 9 p. m. to 12 p. m. with Dick Hilbert's orchestra providing the music. Favors with the A. P. O. seal engraved on them will be given to all guests. Fraternity alumni have been invited to attend.

Lee Kachel is heading the committee planning the dance, assisted by George Morfogen, Richard Derr, president of the fraternity, Gerald Felter, and Paul Kimmel.

The present A. P. O. pledges will be inducted at a formal service next Monday, May 20, announced Derr. The pledges are Jacob Sklover, Irvin Mull, Jerome Dersh, Nevin Follweiler, Edward Bigler, Donald Liddicoat, Waid Rowland, Jack Werner, Abe Markowitz, and Evans Keim, an honorary member.

Daywomen to Have Last Meeting at Noon, Today

Agnes Snyder, president of the Daywomen's Organization, will call the last meeting for the year today at 12:50 p. m. in the daywomen's quarters.

Problems concerning the daywomen's quarters will probably be discussed and the question of a treasury for the Organization will be brought up.

Senate Will Choose Leaders Thursday Night

The election of a vice-president and secretary-treasurer for the coming year will highlight the first business meeting of the new Women's Student Senate Thursday evening, announced Joy Cutler, president.

After the chairman of the standing committees have been appointed, plans and projects for the new school year will be discussed. The approval of a report on the Mardi Gras, which was sponsored by the Senate, will conclude the business.

Domino Club Presents One-Act Dramas Written by Freshmen

Five one-act plays written by members of freshman English classes were presented by the Domino Club to a capacity audience Saturday night as a part of Parents' Weekend. Minnie Silberman was responsible for arrangements for the one-act plays, and introduced the plays to the audience.

"The Dean"

"The Dean Solves a Problem" by Elaine Huber, and directed by Betty Burnett, had in its cast Jacob Sklover as Dean Dawson; Peggy Walton as Judy Dawson; and Jack Shafer as Bob Dane. The cast for "Creamery Guest" by Barbara Scheib, directed by Claire Porter, included Robert McKinney as Ellsworth, Whitely; Beth Sanger as Isabel Whitely; Gloria McKittrick as Constance Whitely; William Emrich as Jonathan Whitely; and Robin Fenchel as Isabella.

Richard Mason, director of "A Chance" by Dorothy Seisler, casted his play as follows: Lynn Brown as Steve; Hiram Delp as Bill; Forrest Compton as Paul; and Thomas Price as the bell boy.

"Black Heaven"

"My Black Heaven" was written by Jeanne Hartraft and directed by Jeanne Schlegel. The cast included Minnie Silberman as Magnolia; Aline Wyldie as Rose; William Ebbert as Mose; Betty Thompson as the first angel; Mary Bechtel as the second angel; and Warren Pfost as Stonewall Lincoln Lee Smith.

"A Lover" by Carl Kern, directed by Rhea Dobb, had for its cast Marion Latta as Louise; Ray Batastini as Newton; and George Lamberson as Marlin.

Aides

In charge of publicity for the one-act plays were Lynne Parr and Louis McCann. Esther Savidge arranged the program; Beth Sanger and Oldric Von Seekamm were in charge of properties; and Reed Frederick handled the make-up.

Pats Pick Burnett As Prexy For '47, Plan Spring Formal

Members of the Pi Alpha Tau Sorority selected Betty Burnett to be their president at a recent meeting. The other officers include Jeanne Schlegel, vice-president; Joan House, recording secretary; Elaine Kyle, corresponding secretary; Joy Cutler, treasurer; and Margaret Walton, chaplain.

Margaret Hendricks, retiring president, announces that the Pat spring formal will be held this Friday evening at the Green Valley Country Club, with Wally Spotts' orchestra. Dancing will be from 9:00 to 12:00 p. m. Rita Deceavage and Miss Walton are co-chairmen of the dance, and chaperones are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gordon and Eugene Shirk.

On Sunday, May 12, the sorority held their traditional tree planting ceremony on campus in honor of Mother's Day. A white magnolia tree was planted in a grove in the rear of the Administration Building. Miss Burnett, the newly-elected president, was mistress of ceremonies.

Happy Days Are Here Again, Albright Sings As Weekend Doings Greet Happy Crowds

By JEANNE SCHLEGEL
"Happy days are here again" was the idea in evidence all over the campus as Albright had its first big post-war function, Parents' Weekend, with its Mardi Gras, May Day Ceremonies, and One-Acters, had the gala pre-war atmosphere of plenty of men on campus, and everyone running frantically around trying to do sixteen things at once.

A La New Orleans

Flower carts, cafes, side-shows, bright lights, and dancing in the dining hall if not in the streets, all combined to run New Orleans delightful competition Friday night. Sam Correnti's orchestra provided lovely, smooth tunes, sharp jive, and some very, very, scintillating rumbas. Come around again, Sammy.

Mardi Gras Gayeties

Yours truly was kept busy providing the entertainment for the "Cafe de la PAT", so I didn't get to see too much of the Mardi Gras gayeties. However, I did manage to lose a few cents on the Pi Tau's penny pitch, and to get roped in for the A. P. O.'s fabulous Arabian Nights' side show at the outrageous (that's what the Barker said) price of thirty cents. Oh yes, that Barker — if he isn't careful, Hollywood is going to get him before his diploma does. Hope, Kaye, and Skelton may come and go, but our Benny goes on forever. That's my brother on the drums, son.

Stormy Weather

Saturday morning dawned anything but bright and clear. If New

Dr. Geil Chosen To Tour Europe

Twenty Will Study Social Movement

Dr. Milton G. Geil, head of the psychology department and director of the Veterans' Administration Guidance Center located on Albright's campus, has been selected as one of twenty American leaders to visit Europe this summer studying postwar changes and conferring with leaders there. The American leaders will include public officials, writers, business men, and labor leaders, as well as educators. Dr. Goodwin Watson, head of the psychology department of Columbia University, is director of the tour.

Itinerary of Trip

Dr. Geil was informed that the itinerary will include such countries as England, France, Norway, and Sweden, and an air view of devastated portions of Germany. The observers will spend two days in New York City studying Swedish. They will sail for Europe June 28 and plan to return September 4.

Flight Over Europe

They will fly over northwest Europe in a Swedish Airlines plane, and will note such Scandinavian landmarks as the Uppsala University, the Asa rural folk school, the Norrkoping community center, and the Gottenburg rural school and University.

The leaders expect to visit Coventry, Birmingham, and Manchester, the three English cities most devastated by the war. They will spend one week in Paris, observing the social changes made in France by the war conditions. The twenty Americans will probably report to the United States government.

Intelligence Officer

Dr. Watson, director of the trip, in addition to being connected with Columbia, served as an intelligence officer during the war.

Mexican Indians had a dance to prevent rain, we would have told them to go out on the front lawn of the College on Saturday, and go to it. However, the gods, or the elements, or just old lady luck were with us, and though cloudy, the weather was warm and clear for the May Day ceremonies.

Lovely Ladies

Our popular senior Gayle Haunt was a lovely and gracious Queen of the May; her stunning Maid of Honor, Marion Latta looked beautiful in a yellow gown. The senior women made quite an unusual background gowning in varying shades of blue and yellow. The court of honor appeared to have stepped out from a lawn fete of the 1850's. They were old fashioned, off-the-shoulder, hoop-skirted gowns and carried bouquets. Each girl in the court wore a gown of one of the pastel colors of the rainbow.

Rainbow Dances

In keeping with the theme of the day, the rainbow, the dances centered around the different periods of a day. The flowers managed to wake up, and dance in keeping with the spirit of morning to the bounding rhythm of "Sunrise Serenade." Next the exquisite music of "Rustling of Spring" provided the background for the dance of the rain. After the rain the rainbow appeared, forming a background for strawberry blonde Gloria McKittrick's sun dance. The shadows of evening were

Horatio Wants A Girl

Have you seen Horatio? If not drop into the bookstore this week and get familiar with one whose fate will be decided next Tuesday in the Skunk Day softball game. Horatio, the little black and white kitty, is anxiously awaiting the date when he finds out whether or not he gets a new master. At present and during the past two years the "furry stinker" has been under the care of the male students. He's hoping this year that the females gain his ownership and change his surroundings so that he can get to know the gals a little better.

Last year it was close to a femme victory, but not close enough—So come on, girls, that ball of effervescence is rooting for you.

We Knew It

Just as we predicted last week, Parents' Weekend was a marvelous success. Seldom have we seen so many people buzzing around campus with so much to do, and looking so happy doing it. Seems to us the whole affair was a shining example of co-operation from all quarters and of ingenuity put to the test.

Particularly proud are we of the Women's Senate Mardi Gras, which turned out to be a sell-out affair, much to everyone's delight. It was certainly marvelous publicity for the College, and gave our parents, friends, and relatives a birdseye view of a student planned and managed affair, with little help from the outside.

It ought to give us all a nice feeling when we see the completed Lower Social Room, knowing we all had a part in its re-decoration, for the proceeds from the Mardi Gras were used to help in this project.

Jim Is Missing

Somebody was definitely missing during the festivities of last weekend on campus. Last Friday, Jim Spatz, Albright's beloved campus engineer, was taken to the hospital for a serious operation. In just these few days he has been away, we have realized how important Jim is to campus life.

We are glad to hear he is now resting comfortably at home, and we sincerely hope Jim will have a speedy and permanent recovery.

Eventful Summer for Geil

The amazing bid which Dr. Geil received to travel throughout Europe this summer as an observer of social movements has us almost as breathless as Dr. Geil himself. Such an opportunity to study with one's own eyes the changes which war and post-war conditions have wrought in Europe presents itself to very few persons.

Dr. Geil can undoubtedly expect, when he returns in the fall, to be constantly surrounded with fascinated questioners. We will certainly await with interest what he has to report on his trip.

Over Hill, Over Dale With the "Dashing" Fraternity Pledges

So you want to be a pledge! So you want to be a big fraternity man! Well, then ponder over the following report, all you potential paddle pushers.

The Pi Tau pledges started hell-week by wearing skirts on campus during the day and in the evening by accosting pedestrians on Penn Street. Ira Custman was seen scrubbing a fire-plug with a toothbrush and later was found fishing in a sewer at 6th and Penn Streets. Harry Kouzaros amused himself with a dirty hot dog measuring the distance between 7th and 6th Streets. Another sad pledge by the name of Von Seekamm was standing on 6th St. handing out programs, which, according to the Reading Times, were "of fine texture."

APO's on Hike

While the Pi Tau's were amusing themselves thusly, the Zetas and the APO's went on a hike. They started out at nine and didn't return until 5:30 a. m. No doubt they know more about Reading now than they did before. After all, they explored enough.

The Kappa pledges gave us a preview of what would happen if you crossed a pair of G. I. "long John's" with a grass skirt and a burlap bag. Result: a new and seductive Gene Shollenberger.

On Thursday the pledges were out and at it again. Allen Fisher, Jimmy Delp, and Don Lykens broke a cross-country record, and Ira Custman cultivated a good set of varicose veins.

Tug of War

Friday noon, a tug-of-war took place over Selwyn Lake. The pledges teamed up against each other and pulled and pulled and pulled. They all landed on their lower extremities when the rope snapped. Finally ropes were secured that could stand the strain. And after some dirty work on the part of the fraternity brothers, everyone landed in the cold waters of the lake.

The Banquet

Friday night, the APO pledges had a banquet at the expense (?) of the members. Everything from cigars to a well-guarded prescription for a nightmare was served.

Thus Hell Week ended, and many a pledge dreamed of cars jumping fences, while trying to get some recuperative sleep after a delightful three days. Borrowed articles are still drifting back to their owners, and pledges are heard murmuring thankfully, "at least I can sit."

"Y's" to Sponsor "Mystery" Minstrel

Two "mystery" comedians, renowned in the world of blackface art, will star in the minstrel show which will be presented by the combined "Y's" tonight. Faculty, office personnel, and all students as well as the friends of Albright are invited to attend this entertainment at 8:00 p. m. The comedians will be assisted by some of Albright's talent.

The show will follow the lines of the old-fashioned minstrel with poems, acts, solos, duets, and dancing. The gags are designed to apply directly to campus life.

A period of hymn-singing and meditation around the fire place in the Lower Social Room replaced the hymn-hike which was canceled because of rain last Tuesday night. Esther Messersmith and Shirley Miller planned the service.

Student: "What is the date, professor?"

Feminine instructor: "Never mind the date—finish the exam."

Student: "I just wanted to have something right on my paper."

By FRED PERFECT

It is quite natural that as one semester comes to a close, preparations for the next one are being made. At least we understand that this is the case so far as comparative anatomy is concerned. The dog fish are on the way; this wild and rugged course will soon launch out as a bunch of science majors, for a period of twelve weeks, to see how many can hold their own. The biology department seems to feel sad, because not everyone will have the privilege of taking this course; after all every prof knows that his course is very important and quite necessary. It appears that the students in this course will have to get along as best they can from 7:30 to 12:00, for most of us won't be lucky people.

Science Hall Activity

We sometimes wonder why the end of a semester brings on such great activity in the Science Hall. All the science students seem to have many more things to do than they can possibly take care of. Biology drawings, hybridisms, bird hikes, term papers, and chemistry experiments all seem to smash into each other, like the cars hauling a freight train, and where the time to finish these things is going to come from nobody seems to know. Could it be that the student has been gliding along, or has the prof assigned too much work or has he suddenly looked over his books and found out that there are a few important points he ought to get across before the semester closes? Now the reason for all of this might be any one of these things or a combination of them, or even another factor; whatever the reason is, it seems to be a natural occurrence and nothing seems to be done about it, so therefore the students will just have to go on wishing "this semester was over."

Edison's Mistake

Some time ago we mentioned a little bit about the Dean of American Inventors, Thomas Edison. The impression at that time seemed to have been that Tom never made a mistake. However, he was human like the rest of us. One big mistake he seemed to have made, though a somewhat technical one, was arguing with Westinghouse about the point of direct current vs. alternating current. We clear this statement up by saying that Edison thought that direct current for street lighting was best. One of his reasons for thinking this was that it was safer. However, Westinghouse opposed this, pointing out that alternating current carried further and that it was better in spite of the fact that it was dangerous. Westinghouse won his point, and gave Edison a black eye, in a way of speaking. In a number of other cases these two inventive geniuses came to blows with a more or less tie score. For those who are interested in reading a little more (Continued on Page 3)

Dr. Geil received his A.B. from North Central College, and his A.M. and Ph.D. from Northwestern University. He taught at Northwestern and served as clinical psychologist there before coming to Albright.

Wartime Activities

Dr. Geil's wartime activities have been highlighted by his directorship of the Veterans' bureau which he started last fall in the Kappa house. He was also director of the Engineering Science, Management, and War Training Program under the Bureau of Education at Washington, which located on the Albright campus from 1941 until 1945.

Inquiring Reporter

While inquiring around campus several weeks ago we overheard students firmly resolving not to let their work slide until it all piled up right before exam week. So now, we are taking them up on those resolutions and have asked some of them:

How is that term paper coming along that you vowed not to leave until the last minute?

Virginia Reinsel, Pre-nursing, '48: Golly, what a jumbled mess of notes.

Kenneth Good, Chemistry, '47: It's in already. (Phenomenal, Kenny).

Marguerite Shalter, Home Ec, '46: I'm still digging for knowledge.

Lucy Smith, English, '48: No term papers, merely three book reports, three of which aren't done.

Marjorie Plowfield, English, '48: Speculated theories, but give me time!

William Beal, Pre-Min, '47: What would college life be without a term paper at the last minute? It's an old tradition, you know.

Walter Konecki, Pre-Med, '48: All prepared, ready for action.

Mervin Helfrich, Pre-Min, '47: A joke, son, a joke that is.

You can't tell me that Ray Fidler is eating celery every time I see him—there ain't that much celery in the world. He must be sprouting the stuff.

John Lyon criticizes the American Educational System for being too lenient with the younger generation. Lyon has coined the phrase "Spare the rod and spoil the child." We all hope that some of the profs remember this advice.

Somehow American ingenuity always finds a way to make education fun. The kids in biology 2 are supposed to be hunting for wild flowers, but Fry and Good, Borgstrom and Brusich, Yeagley and Flickinger, and Davis and her Charlie all come back empty-handed.

Shirley Sperans has been receiving phone calls from Yale.

Joan Clarke is knocking herself out over an off-campus fellow named Carl Steele... Romaine Traugh and Johnny Kiliyani have been seeing quite a bit of each other lately.

If Marjorie Christ is looking kinda green it's only because she swallowed part of her frog in bio lab.

Flash of the week: Have you seen that gorgeous sparkler that Doris Ferris is sporting? Congratulations, Doris and Dick.

"Johnny" Hartraft and Alice Voit are two more lucky girls on the engagement list.

IRC Elects Winter, Accepts Nine Pledges

At a meeting held last night at the home of Dr. Milton W. Hamilton, the newly elected officers of the International Relations Club were inducted. They are president, Steven Winter; vice-president, Geraldine Wentzel; secretary, Henrietta Morrison; and treasurer, Kenneth Good.

The following pledges were formally inducted: Dennis Ertel, Rosemarie Behler, Helen Capozello, Jerome Dersh, Doris Downes, Oldric von Seekamm, William Heckler, Jacob Sklover, and Catherine Frantz.

After the induction ceremonies, a discussion was held on the trip to the model United Nations conference at Lafayette. The delegates to the conference were Peter Cianci, Martha Friedericks, Winter, and John Kisinger.

then portrayed by the modernistic dance "Deep Purple." Quite a dance, that!

"Clair de Lune"

The fall of night was beautifully interpreted in the "Clair de Lune" dance. The ethereal light of the moon was woven into the dance in the form of a graceful solo by Pat Herrick. The costumes of the dancers were quite different from those for the usual May Day, and the dances were well received by the audience for their interpretation and occasional humor (unintentional, as it was caused by a little too much wind and movement).

Chapel Dramas

The "One-Acters", five in all, went off in fine form to a packed chapel. Peggy Walton was right in character as the dean's daughter; we hope the same thing can't be said for Lynn Brown, who played the part of a chronic drunk in the tragedy "A Chance", by Dorothy Seisler. The lights instead of going on the blink, refused to blink at the climax of the last play "My Black Heaven". However, "Brooklyn" pulled up and saved the day, in his own inimitable fashion, and the curtain closed on a Magnolia who was "heavenly" happy, and a Rosie who was properly penitent.

Thanks to Rita

Here's hoping you enjoyed the Mardi Gras and May Day ceremonies. If you did, thank Rita Dun-cavage, who was largely responsible for the planning behind them.

Aim to Please

All the activities were especially "aimed to please" our parents for whom this week-end was planned. A dinner and reception were held for them on Saturday evening in the Dining Hall. The Parents' Service was held at 11:00 A. M. on Sunday morning in the chapel. At that time, Dr. Masters delivered an inspiring address in keeping with the spirit and occasion of Mother's Day.

Welcome Mat

The week-end closed with open house on Sunday afternoon. Men were wandering up and down the corridors of Selwyn Hall and the erstwhile fraternity houses without causing so much as a squeal, and the girls were finally allowed to mount the stairs to the third floor "bachelors' quarters" of the Administration Building.

Council Says:

Student Council decided at its meeting last Thursday to drop the idea of having a "traditional rival" football game on Homecoming Day in the fall until football becomes once more established on Albright's campus.

Council approved a request by Herbert Vogt, chairman of the social committee, that a co-chairman be appointed to work with him. Vogt expects to leave Albright next winter, and expressed the suggestion that the co-chairman could then take over his job. Kenneth Good, president, tendered the name of Betty Burnett as co-chairman and Council approved it.

Absent from the meeting were Shirley Sperans, secretary; Warren Pfost, sophomore class; Betty Burnett, Pi Alpha Tau; Peggy Walker, Pi Alpha Tau; Catherine Frantz, daywomen; Ira Custman, daymen; Professor Lewis E. Smith, and Lester L. Stabler.

Wolf: "You get pearls from an oyster."

KTX Elects Ziegler To Head Fraternity, Receives 7 Pledges

Robert Ziegler was inducted as new president of Kappa Tau Chi, local pre-ministerial fraternity, at its meeting last Thursday evening, May 9. At the same time, Stewart McCleary was inducted as vice-president, Jack Shafer as secretary, and Robert Buxton as treasurer.

Dr. Virgil C. Zener, advisor to K.T.X., spoke briefly about the responsibilities of pre-ministerial students on campus. Seven prospective ministers were received into membership at this meeting, including Ronald Cocroft, Edward Bigler, Dale Weber, Charles Kachel, Gerald Hertzog, Raymond Fidler, and Richard Cattermole.

Officers for 1945-46 have been Robert Schneider, president; Newell Wert, vice-president; Robert Holtzapple, secretary; and Ray Pottliger, treasurer.

Zeta's Break League Deadlock, Beat A.P.O.'s

By BILL EBBERT

Next Tuesday all faithful Albrightians will have a chance to see the males and females clash in the ball game of the year, when an all-star men's team meets the women's varsity in the Skunk Day fray. This great event brings to memory last year's classic, which was played by many Albrightians no longer on campus. My fellow umpire was Eddie Daniels, whose big smile and calm decisions always wowed the fairer of the players. I also cannot forget the look of amazement on the girls' faces when Eddie Lange, now in med. school, came up in the last inning with two out and two on and hit a home run that eventually won the game—that was quite a feat considering that the men could only bat with one hand.

Landis on First

First base for the men was covered by big Bill Landis, who could almost reach second without moving. He, along with his roommate Forrest Saylor, now in the army, who pitched, were the best defensive players on the field. Landis had quite a job, as he had to catch all the pegs to first with one hand—try it some time, if you think it is easy. Saylor almost had his head knocked off by a line drive of Erma Leinbach's, but he held it for the out.

Many Crack-ups

Quite a few collisions were recorded during the fray. Jim Pott-eiger and Erma Leinbach both hit third at the same time and with such force that Albrightians had a preview of the atomic bomb. These girls were really out to win—Phil Stock hit home with enough force to take catcher, "Brook" Pfost, right along with her—for a girl her size moving an object that size really requires the old will to win.

Men Take Horatio

By the time the dinner bell rang, Eddie Lange had hit his homer and the boys were able to retain possession of Horatio for the second straight year. Horatio, incidentally, is the cute little skunk that adorns The Albrightian office. His appearance, like that of the groundhog, is but once a year, the annual SKUNK DAY. So don't forget, guys and gals, to be on hand at 4:30 next Tuesday for a great game.

Femmes, Frat Stars Vie For Horatio May 21

Horatio The Great, The Albrightian skunk, will make his third annual appearance next Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 as the trophy when the women's Varsity baseball team takes on an all-star men's team in the classic sponsored by The Albrightian. This will be Horatio's third game, and both times in the past the men were victorious in winning possession of Horatio for the following year.

Because of conceded masculine superiority, a few extra rules will be enforced to equalize the game. The men are required to use only one hand while fielding the ball, and while batting will be required to use only one hand, but left handed, and stand on the left side of the plate.

The women's team will be composed of members of the girls' varsity, and the men's team will be an all-star team selected from the five teams in the inter-frat league. Each team will pick its three best players, and all will have an opportunity to play. The winners, of course, will be presented with a trophy for their efforts, Horatio, the china skunk, who will be on display in the college bookstore all this week.

Final details for the Skunk Day competition will be printed in next week's The Albrightian.

Sports Gab

Last Saturday Coach Gene Shirk took nine members of his track team to the Third Middle Atlantic Track Meet held at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa. Rutgers College won the meet by scoring 38 points to beat out Swarthmore who scored 27 points to take second place. Lafayette, an early season victor over the Lions at Easton, placed fourth with 19 points. St. Joe's, Albright's opponent for next Saturday, placed fifth with 18 points, and Juniata, winner over the Lions two weeks ago took tenth place with 11 points. The green Lions failed to place in any of the events.

Lions Play St. Joe's

A meet with the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College has been tentatively arranged for this afternoon, but as The Albrightian went to press the meet had not been fully arranged. Next Saturday afternoon in the College stadium, the Albright thincads will be host to St. Joe's College of Philadelphia. This will be the second of the Albright Saturday afternoon track meets, and the Red and White will be gunning for their first win.

Girls Play Beaver

The girls' Varsity Softball team will again see action this Saturday, when the girls travel to Beaver College.

The Inter-frat league will again swing into action this week with a full schedule. The first-place Zetas will face two tough opponents this week, playing the up and coming Daymen and the second place Kappa-Pi Tau's. In the other scheduled game of the week, the second place A.P.O.'s take on the last-place Dorm team in hopes of breaking their tie with the Kappa-Pi Tau's.

Zetas Take Over

The Zetas took undisputed first place in the inter-frat league by handing the A.P.O.'s their second defeat of the season 7-1. Behind the steady pitching of Jug Manderbach the Zetas were in trouble only in the second inning when George Morfogen doubled and Mull singled him home for the only A. P. O. run. However, the Zetas got this back with two hits in the next inning, and thereafter Manderbach was almost invulnerable. For good measure the Zetas added four more in the fourth.

A. P. O. Runs Second

The A. P. O.'s remained in a second place tie with the Kappa-Pi Tau's by defeating the Dorm 11-7 for their third win. The game was a slugfest from the very start, as the A.P.O.'s pushed across five runs in the first inning, only to have their lead vanish when the dorm scored six in the second. However, the A. P. O.'s were not to be denied, and a four run uprising in the fifth iced the verdict.

Day Edges Dorm

After losing their first three games, the last place Daymen came to life to defeat the Dorm and Kappa-Pi Tau's and take over fourth place. With Fromuth and Rabuck hitting homers the Daymen were able to avenge a previous 14-13 setback by the Dorm.

In a game in which no official score was kept, the Daymen avenged another of their defeats by edging the Kappa-Pi Tau's out of first place, 8-7.

Men's Tennis Resumed As Lions Beat K.S.T. Five Sets to Two

In its first appearance in several years, Albright's men's varsity tennis team was victorious over Kutztown State Teachers College, five sets to two last Tuesday afternoon on the campus courts. Although the last two doubles matches were rained out, the Lions copped enough singles matches to win the meet.

Frosh Win Matches

Paul Siegfried, playing in Albright's number one slot, won his match in the third set after splitting the first two. Both Al Fisher and Don Sailer had annexed their matches, Fisher winning in two sets, 6-2 and 6-2. Sailer had a little trouble, but finally won his second set 7-5, after copping the first one with ease, 6-1. Red Glickman was extended to three sets before he won Albright's final singles victory.

K-town Wins Two

Kutztown picked up their two points in the last two singles matches when Herbie Hyman and Ralph Miller dropped two hard fought battles. In the only doubles match that was completed, Bob Starr teamed with Don Sailer to take their match easily, 6-1 and 6-2.

Team Plays Again

The Tennis Team continues its activities this week with a practice meet against Reading High's Varsity Team to be played Wednesday afternoon on the Albright College Courts. The team has several matches pending with various colleges, but as yet no final arrangements have been made.

Dorm Loses Fourth

In the week's final game, the Kappa-Pi Taus managed to keep their toe-hold on second place by shading the unfortunate Dorm 3-2. Again the Dorm boys scored early when they shoved over two markers in the first, but their opponents Bunched four of their five hits to shove over three runs on a double by Gene Shollenberger and singles by Russ Guensch, Irvin Smith, and Dick Major. Johnny Killiany got into trouble several times in the following innings, but always settled down to work his way out again.

Side Lions

In looking over the 1940 Reading High year book, one finds many names familiar to Albrightians. On page 159 are individual photographs of the Reading High starting basketball team. Captain of that team that won twelve and lost seven and took second in the Central Penn League was none other than Hops Guldin. Strangely enough another member of that team returned to Albright the same time Guldin did, the now familiar Russ Guensch.

Also on that same team was Ray Kurovski, brother of the St. Louis Cardinals' third baseman, Whitey Kurovski. Ray is currently making quite a name for himself in sports at Penn State. The fourth member of that team that Albrightians might know was Johnny Szajna, who is now pitching for the Newark Bears in the International League. Read as now Reading High was far along out many fine athletes.
