David E. Young

He has been granted the degrees of Bachelor of Arts by Lebanon Valley College, Bachelor of Divinity by Bonebrake Theological Seminary, Dayton, Ohio, Master of Arts by the University of Pennsylvania, and Doctor of Divinity by Lebanon Valley College.

Commencement exercises will be held at 3:30 p. m., Sunday, June 2, on the Albright campus with Assistant Secretary of State Spruille Braden as speaker, said Stabler.

Conference Assigns Albright Students To Regional Churches

Several Albright students and recent graduates studying for the ministry were assigned churches at the annual conference of the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference of the Evangelical Church at Lebanon, Pa., April 24-28. The conference was presided over by Bishop John S. Stamm.

Charles Kachel was assigned to serve as minister at New Berlinville, and J. H. Smith to Berkshire Heights, while Newell Wert was re-appointed to the Catasqua church and Ray Pottieger to the Muir church. Cecil Pottieger was assigned to Ackermanville, Saylorsburg, and Hidden Creek; Orlan Pottieger to the Anville circuit; and Warren Loesch was re-assigned to the Steelton church. All three are Albright graduates in the class of 1945.

Wert, Cecil and Orlan Pottieger, and Loesch were also ordained to the deacon's orders at the conference.

Several other men were granted licenses as ministers on trial, including Robert Buxton, William Ebbert, Kachel, Stewart McCleary, Ray Pottieger, and Robert Ziegler.

Dr. Morris Greth To Leave For Post At Muhlenberg

Dr. Morris S. Greth, head of the sociology and philosophy departments for the past sixteen years, will leave Albright July 1 to accept a position as head of the sociology department at Muhlenberg College.

In a letter to President Harry V. Masters, Dr. Greth said: "We have been happy at Albright and feel ourselves a part of its life and its community. However, we feel we are obligated to go to Muhlenberg because it offers an opportunity to render a greater service to our Church and its offer comes as a call from the Church.

"We shall always have a warm spot in our hearts for Albright and hope and pray that she may continue to grow and prosper." Dr. Greth is a clergyman in the Lutheran Church, and Muhlenberg is a Lutheran college.

Dr. Masters, in expressing how the faculty and Administration felt at Dr. Greth's leaving, said: "He is as valuable a person as there is on the entire staff, a real scholar, and a very effective teacher. Dr. Greth has had a very wholesome influence on his students, and is truly a fine Christian."

Dr. Greth holds several degrees, including A.B. from Muhlenberg College, A.M. from the University of Pennsylvania, B.D. from the Philadelphia Theological Seminary, and Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania.

His career included such positions as professor of psychology and pedagogy at the Philadelphia Training School for Christian Workers from 1928 to 1930, and special lecturer at the Mt. Airy Seminary. He also taught in the public schools and at one time acted as supervising principal.

Assembly Programs Include Fielitz Recital, Worship Services

A song recital by Betty Fielitz, soprano, will highlight Thursday morning's chapel programs. Miss Fielitz is a pupil of Professor John H. Duddy.

Both programs this morning were devoted to worship services led by Dr. Milton W. Hamilton and Dr. Morris S. Greth. The program comprised song, prayer, and responsive readings.

Jeanne Welty presented "The Mystery of Theodosia Burr" last Thursday as the final number in the College's cultural series. The Rev. Mark J. Steierwald, pastor of Park Evangelical Church, delivered an address at last Tuesday's service on the theme, "Prove All Things; Hold Fast What Is Good." His address urged the audience to weigh the gains of any action against its cost to inner peace and happiness.

College students, because of their training, have a greater opportunity to determine intelligently the moral quality of experiences, he concluded.

Mardi Gras to Open Parents' Days With May Day, One Acters

The Mardi Gras will officially open Parents' Weekend Friday evening, May 10, announced Rita Duncavage, chairman of the Friday affair. The Mardi Gras, sponsored by the Women's Senate, will be held on the campus surrounding Selwyn Hall, from 8:00 p. m. until 12:00 p. m. The Women's Senate is putting up the booths, and all concessions are on a ten-cent basis. Some of the features which will be offered by various organizations of the College are: a French cafe, a flower barge, an ice cream bar, a side show, games of various types, refreshments of carnival style, balloons, and everything festive. In addition there will be dancing to the orchestra of Sam Correnti in the dining hall.

Registration of parents for the weekend occasion will be taken care of on Saturday morning from 10:00 to 12:00 in Selwyn Parlor. The Parents' Weekend is sponsored by Student Council, with Ruth Rehr in charge of general plans.

On Saturday afternoon from 3:00 to 5:00 the annual May Day festivities will be culminated by the crowning of the May Queen. Gayle Haupt has been chosen queen to preside over the court. Her maid of honor will be Marion Latta, and her court will consist of: Gloria Safceety, Mary Beth Schofer, Margaret Hendricks, Marguerite Shalter, and Margaret Ball. Mary Ellen Hill and Mary Jane March will serve as train bearers. Anna Wartluft will be custodian of the crown, and Miss Duncavage, chairman, and Miss Duncavage and Corinne Ball. Senior women will form the arch of honor.

A total of six dances portraying a perfect day, will be presented in the May Day festivities. In the Sunrise Serenade, the flowers dance at daybreak while the sun rises. The sun will be represented by Gloria McKittrick. The Rain Dance and the Rainbow Dance will follow the sun as the solo. Flowers will feature the fourth dance which is the May Pole Dance.

Following the May Pole Dance will be Deep Purple, a dance portraying dusk. Clair de Lune Dance, with Martha Herrick as the moon, will conclude the dances. Marion Latta, Margaret Hendricks, Christine Schweimler, and Rita Duncavage are the dance directors. In charge of the musical arrangements are Marjorie Christ, Robert Holtzapfel, Dorothy Seisler, and Jeanne Schlegel. Miss Christ and Holtzapfel (Continued on Page 3)

Park Evangelical Church will be the scene this Sunday of a sacred concert in which the Women's Glee Club of Albright College will participate. The women will present a musical program in keeping with the theme of Mother's Day.

Last night the Glee Club rendered a musical program at the Women's Club of Reading. Soloists were Dorace Hornberger, Jeanne Schlegel, and Carolyn Powers. Betty Fielitz and Elizabeth Pottieger formed a duet. Mrs. Gerritt Memming sang several folk songs in German and played a flute solo.

Students Lead Services; Fisher and Smith Speak

For the balance of the week, Lois Wheeler will have charge on May 8, Howard Smith on May 9, and Miriam Parker on May 10. The following week on Monday, May 13, and Tuesday, May 14, Gerald Hertzog and Agnes Snyder will be the leaders.

Theodosia Wins Audience as a School Girl— And Proves How Charming a Ghost Can Be

By BETSY POTTIEGER

Theodosia Burr is one personality in American history that Dr. Hamilton will have no trouble teaching the next few generations of Albrightians. For it would be hard, indeed, to forget the 75 minutes that that unusual woman lived on the stage of Albright's Chapel in the person of Jeanne Welty.

Miss Welty charmed her audience completely in the first act as a coy, vivacious, and unsophisticated girl. Although her audience may have missed the other characters somewhat in the opening of the play, by the second act, they were convinced that they were there. Witness the way they craned their necks to see "little Aaron" when she led him on the stage!

From the lovable, confident school girl, to the mature but intellectually suffocated wife, and then to the ill and broken-hearted woman, Miss Welty's change of mood and character, both in her drama construction and portrayal, were consistent and sure. Particularly remarkable was her vocal power which she turned older with her character, from a childish lightness to a tragic bitterness.

Fully as charming backstage as she was before the footlights, Miss Welty could relate exciting experiences she had recently on her seven weeks' tour of the west coast. One of the most memorable of those was a white cat which wandered onto the stage in the middle of the third act's tragic doll scene. She hastily inserted a line about "little Aaron's pets" and "let the cat out" to a waiting stage hand. And then there was the occasion at three o'clock one morning somewhere in Utah when the porter helped her off the train and pointed out the station—a dim light in the distance. She finally persuaded a police car, out cruising for drunks, to take her to her hotel. The life of an actress!

Miss Welty's fine performance gave a punch ending to a year of exceptionally fine Cultural Programs. And we need not exaggerate to say that Albright will long remember Jeanne Welty and "The Mystery of Theodosia Burr."

Miller, Lackey Elected At Dorm Council Meeting

Plans for Open House during Parents' Weekend were discussed at the Dorm Council meeting April 29, with Joan Howe, president, in charge. In the business session Grace Miller and Lois Lackey were elected secretary and treasurer respectively. New members present were Mildred Abrams, Alice Albright, Marjorie Christ, Betty Deibert, Lois Lackey, and Grace Miller.

A Truly Fine Person

In the leaving of Dr. Morris S. Greth, Albright faces the loss of one of the finest persons, as well as one of the best professors, who has ever been part of her campus life. Those of us who have been fortunate enough to have studied in his sociology and philosophy courses will always carry with us at least some portion of the messages he imparts, for it is impossible not to take an active part in a Greth class. If ever a professor made his students aware of their inherent mental capacities, and encouraged their self-realization, that professor is Dr. Greth. If ever a person personified the words "Christian ideals," in their broadest and most tolerant sense, that person is Dr. Greth.

At this point it seems impossible to imagine soc and philosophy classes without Dr. Greth and his impatience of non-essentials, his unerring way of striking at the heart of things, his clearly idealistic viewpoint. Our loss is truly Muhlenberg's gain.

We hope that Dr. Greth will carry with him to Muhlenberg the knowledge of the part he has played in Albright life, the contribution which he has made toward realizing the goal of a truly democratic, Christian life.

Council Needs Your Help

It seems that Student Council has a very interesting skeleton program of student activities lined up for next year. Our Student Council seems to be tearing right into its new job.

Ah, ha! But here's the rub: none of these plans for campus activities means the snap of a finger without the cooperation of every student. Council members can beat their brains out planning a Friday night hop, decorating the Dining Hall, ordering refreshments, winding up the old phonograph, but the dance cannot help but be a flop if student and college support is not behind it. The same goes for any other campus activity you can name.

For the sake of helping to make 1946-47 a year for every Albrightian to remember vividly, every Albrightian owes it to his Student Council to back the plans which that organization is making for his benefit.

Big Weekend Ahead

Talking about campus activities, as we were, we cannot think of any offhand which promises more and better entertainment than Student Council's Parents' Weekend scheduled for the tail end of this week. The list of activities is bewildering in its magnitude and scope, but the Woman's Senate Mardi Gras, the crowning of Queen of the May, the May Day one-acters, and the visit of Albrightian parents to campus will definitely be highlights.

Here's a perfect opportunity to show our campus to the townspeople of Reading and to our friends and relatives from Friday evening to Sunday evening. Here's also a perfect opportunity for a social get-together of the pleasantest kind.

Student Council is hoping to see everyone of you on campus this weekend, complete with friends and relatives.

So Sorry!

In our pledge to our readers last week, we didn't mention that THE ALBRIGHTIAN always strives to avoid errors in its columns. Maybe it's a good thing we didn't, because it is our sad duty this week to apologize for an error in last week's issue. The night of music presented by the music department will be held May 16, not May 17, as THE ALBRIGHTIAN reported.

'Nuff said--we hope it won't happen again.

BY ANNE ONYMOUS

That tall, dark, and mysterious man from Rutgers has pledged himself to protect Jean Fehr from all dogs--and men.

Ever since Minnie Silberman presented "Jonesie" with that flashy "corage" at the Sadie Hawkins dance she has had him in a spell. She always signs out with Jonesie.

Bob Buxton gets our Albrightian Congressional Medal of Honor for bravery in the field. While visiting Lebanon Valley, our enemy of old, he managed to seat himself at the organ and valiantly played Albright's "Alma Mater." Three cheers forucky.

Jeanne Schlegel may have been able to explain why she and Bob Bilinski use the same key. But can she explain why he blushes at the mention of her name, and writes English themes tilted "Jeanne"?

Dotty Lou Moyer has been paying me to keep her and George Manderbach out of the news. But this week she's broke.

Nancy Matten may drool over Abie Markowitz in religion but his brother Herbert is way ahead of him. He eats lunch at Boyer's with eight girls in his booth.

George Morfogen was seen eating peas with a knife at the Pi Gamma Mu banquet, just to amuse Gloria Salfetty.

Fleurs de lis to Miss Garlach and her French classes. They are going to send food and clothing to needy families in France.

Betty Hill is Sammy Orlando's pin up girl. Under her picture he has written "Lena the Hyena."

Mary Briner has been heard scolding John Howard Smith. Sounds pretty possessive to me.

"Butch," a mysterious character, has been helping Dorace Hornberger with her homework until the wee hours.

Carl Kern had Dot Holl in mind when he wrote "A Favor." Some of you guys better make sure you see it or you'll be sorry.

Rita Duncavage announces that the May Day gowns are finished. Well, at least the girls won't be dancing in their night gowns. P. S. Paul Siegfried helped her make them.

Inquiring Reporter

This week the snoopng reporter took to snooping about "The Snoopng," the latest addition to The Albrightian. Approaching various characters on campus, we fired the following question at them:

What do you think about "The Snoopng" by Anne Onymous? Here are the results:

Dorace Hornberger, Liberal Arts, '49: It's all right, but I think they pick on the same people all the time.

Oldric Von Seekamm, English, '49: I think it's about the best column in The Albrightian, but I think it could cover a greater variety of people.

William Hechler, Pre-med, '48: Everyone knows who Anne is!

Peggy Walker, Pre-nursing, '48: Confidentially, it stinks!

Esther Downes, Science, '49: I like the idea of the things we find out.

Sylvia Hoppaugh, Science, '49: I think it's very clever.

Doris Downes, Science, '49: Critical addition to the paper.

Katherine Heimbach, Home Ec, '49: It's quite an interesting addition to the paper.

John Spindler, Pre-min, '48: It should contain more gossip.

French Classes Aim To Aid Needy Youth In Extensive Project

The French Department, under the supervision of Miss Elsie M. Garlach, is planning to include itself in a national project for college students whereby the teen-to-twenty student group in France may be saved from hunger, cold, disease, and even worse, despair.

The project consists of sending an eleven pound package of food and clothing, supplemented with books and school supplies, once a month for six months to a needy French student of college age. Since the project is an expensive one, the French classes have decided to share the cost of packages for two students, a boy and a girl, whose names are on file at American Relief for France, Incorporated in New York City. The first and third year French classes, both small groups, will send packages to a nineteen-year-old French boy, while the second year French will send packages to a seventeen-year-old girl. Dolores Reinhardt will act as chairman for the first group, Betty Davis for the second. Nancy Matten will send packages herself to an eighteen-year-old girl once a month. It is hoped that this student-to-student package plan for six months, with the privilege of continuing for a longer period, will help, through direct contact and correspondence, to establish international understanding and mutual helpfulness.

Dandy bowed a great big bow, and gave a roar of recognition when he heard that Mrs. Orlan D. E. Pottler, "Betsy" to you kids, was to be this week's Dandy Lion. Dandy and Betsy have struggled through many a deadline together, as the latter was on the news staff of Dandy's alma mater, The Albrightian, during her first two years at Albright, and became editor-in-chief of the paper in her senior year, from which position she has just retired. Betsy's pointed editorials will not soon be forgotten by the student body.

How Betsy has managed to maintain her excellent scholastic record while carrying a very heavy extra-curricular activity schedule, has been a source of mystery to students less gifted with the ability to make straight 100's in Dr. Hamilton's well known and highly respected history exams. A social science major, Betsy has an excellent record in all the courses which she has taken in that field.

Betsy has been an active member of the Phi Beta Mu Sorority, holding the office of chaplain in her sophomore, junior, and senior years. Work on the "Cue" for 1944, membership in the International Relations Club, and the Pi Gamma Mu fraternity have helped to fill some of the crowded extra-curricular hours during her years at Albright. Two special honors have come to Betsy in her senior year; she was initiated into the alumnae sorority, Phi Delta Sigma, and was written up in "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

Her literary and editing ability have not been confined to work on The Albrightian as she edited the "Compass" for this year. For the benefit of the freshmen, Betsy was the gal responsible for all the why's and where's included in the "Compass" which helped them through those first few strange and "painful" weeks of school.

Betsy received the popular degree of MRS. during the Easter vacation of her sophomore year, and now at less than the drop of even a pledge's bennie she will show you dozens of snapshots of her remarkably photogenic young daughter, Anne, who, though she looks just like O.D.E., has Betsy's blond curls and fair coloring.

Formerly a resident of Williamsport, Pa., Mrs. O.D.E. is now a full fledged citizen of Reading. Betsy's father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. Norman L. Hummel, and her brother Norman are graduates of Albright, so Dandy's expecting to see Anne batting out a story on one of the paper's famous typewriters in another decade or so.

Betsy's activities are not limited to the literary and academic, but include membership in musical organizations, and a minor in music. She

PGM Has Banquet With Hess As Speaker

Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary social science fraternity, swung back to pre-war normalcy when the fourteenth annual banquet was held last Friday night at the Wyomissing Club, with Judge Warren K. Hess, of the Berks County courts, as the main speaker. Approximately fifty members, alumni, and guests attended the first Pi Gamma Mu banquet since the war started.

Shirley Rekoon, retiring president, welcomed the alumni and guests, and presented diplomas to the 1946 initiates, who included Reed Fredrick, Eileen O'Neil, Jeanne Schlegel, Mary Beth Schofer, and Agnes Snyder.

George Morfogen, 1946-47 president, said to the group, "I've seen in Europe the cost of ignorance, prejudice, and bias. It is organizations such as Pi Gamma Mu which foster sound thinking, and scientific and truthful insight into the problems that face the world."

Jeanne Schlegel sang several solos, and Dr. Milton G. Geil, secretary-treasurer of the chapter, requested each alumnus to tell the group what he had been doing since leaving Albright.

Judge Hess addressed the gathering on a subject which he named as being of great interest to him, "Changing Concepts of the Law as Affected by the Social Sciences." He emphasized the fact that "the safety of the citizens generally is best protected by the fact that the law is flexible." He showed how this flexibility has allowed women greater freedom than they had in the past. He also demonstrated how this flexibility has changed the treatment of

The arch of honor will be dressed in shades of blue down to a brilliant yellow. The court of honor will be in pale shades of the colors of the rainbow.

Following the May Day ceremonies will be open house at the dormitories. At the same time tea will be served in Selwyn Parlor.

Miss Rehr will arrange the student program to be given during dinner on Saturday evening.

Preceding the presentation of the one-act plays in the College Chapel on Saturday evening at 8:30 will be a faculty reception in Selwyn Parlor. The plays were written by members of the freshman English classes and include: "My Black Heaven," written by Jeanne Hartranft and directed by Jeanne Schlegel; "A Favor," written by Carl Kern and directed by Rhea Dobb; "A Chance," by Dorothy Seisler and directed by Richard Major; "The Dean Solves a Problem," written by Elaine Huber and directed by Betty Burnett; and "Creamery Guest" by Barbara Scheib, directed by Claire Porter.

The traditional tree planting of the Pi Alpha Tau Sorority will take place on Sunday morning at 10:00. At 10:35 trumpeters will play hymns from the balcony of the Administration Building.

Dr. Harry V. Masters will conclude formal plans for Parents' Weekend with a parents' service in the College Chapel at 1:00 A. M.

Council Says:

At a recent meeting, Student Council chose officers to assist president Kenneth Good in the executive committee of Council. The new officials are Dennis Ertel, vice-president; Shirley Sperans, secretary; and Perry Matz, treasurer.

Committees

Good announced the list of 1946-47 committee chairmen for Council's approval at last Thursday's meeting. The new committee heads will be Raymond Fidler, Men-in-Service; Umberto Tucci, publicity; Herbert Hyman, orientation; Dennis Ertel, constitution; Herbert Vogt, social; and Virginia Woerle, dining hall.

Good presented to Council a skeleton program for the first semester of next year. The program includes a four-week freshmen orientation period, six Friday night dances, the Ivy Ball, whose date is set for October 27, and the World Student Service Fund. Second semester activities will probably include six more Friday night dances, Stunt Night, Music Night, Parents' Weekend, Valentine Day Dance, and Homecoming Day.

Student Council, adopted, after much debate, a motion to the effect that it is outside the scope of Student Council to dispense student money for charitable purposes. The motion was passed with only one vote in opposition.

Hyman, chairman of fresh orientation, outlined to Council the plans which his committee has made for the orientation program next September. The program has to be approved by the faculty committee on freshman orientation.

Treasury Report

Reed Frederick, former treasurer of Student Council, reported that Council expenses for the past year were $207.07, and that the balance was $82.48.

Absent from the Thursday meeting were Perry Matz, Ira Custman, Catherine Frantz, Herbert Vogt, and Jeanne Flickinger. Professor Lewis E. Smith of the faculty was missing.

"Y's" To Hike Tonight In Outdoor Meeting

Shirley Miller and Esther Messersmith have planned a hymn hike in place of a regular Y Meeting tonight, announce presidents Agnes Snyder and Newell Wert. The route will be along Mt. Penn and those desiring to go will meet in front of the College Chapel at 7:30. At the end of the hike there will be a short Vesper service.

Ping pong, parchesi, checkers and other quiet games formed the nucleus of last Tuesday's meeting. Joy Cutler and Robert Ziegler planned the games and served refreshments.

Philadelphia Clergyman Lectures at Albright

Rev. Vincent Fowler Pottle, professor of New Testament at the Philadelphia Divinity School of the Protestant Episcopal Church, recently addressed students of the Greek department in the Alumni Room of the Alumni Memorial Library.

Rev. Pottle spoke on Greek manuscripts of the New Testament, and exhibited specimens and facsimiles which he brought with him. He was accompanied by Donald Parsons, a senior student at the Divinity School.

By JEAN SCHWARTZ

Looking up from the dusty textbooks, most coeds are filled with awe to find only three more weeks of classes. Awe meaning, of course, "reports not finished." With the weather outside delightful, Albrightians have put aside reports for the love of the great outdoor life. Now with the advent of exams, we fill ourselves scheming to finish the scheduled task and still cram in that baseball game.

Speaking of baseball, the Albright diamond is about the most active place on campus, right now. Every afternoon a flock of fans can be seen jamming the field for a workout. In fact, we understand the demand for the ground is so great that the various teams are vying for positions on the practice schedule. With the return of more muscular skill to the campus, the men's softball league is blooming into an object of immense interest at Albright. Every other afternoon, however, feminine grace dots the field, for the girls' varsity softball team is setting its sights on a victory at Beaver. This practice arrangement works out nicely and we're sure it gives the fans an eyeeful no matter where they stand.

Girls Need Help

From reliable sources come the report that the girls' softball team is in need of a little masculine talent. The reports state that with this skill the girls would cop a pennant. Some flies, and fast grounders plus a few coaching instructions — there's really nothing hard about the work, boys, and we're sure you couldn't complain about the pay. Applications will be accepted at the baseball diamond on practice days.

Rumors fly thick and fast on campus but the most joyous one to fall on our ears is that there will be boys' varsity tennis this spring. Several sources claim a sure thing, but let's hear more about it. When? Where? With all that bulk of masculine energy on the courts maybe we could wrangle a cup.

More Brooklyn

Here's a note to all faithful followers of "de bums." After tuning in on Fred Allen's revised edition of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pinafore," we think you had better keep an eye on Lippy Durocher. He's a potential gag-master and crooner. Some fat contract may drag him away from "de Club."

Albright Loses First Home Meet To Juniata, 80-46

By out-scoring Albright in the half-mile, mile and two mile races 25-2, Juniata College was able to hand Albright's thinclads their second defeat of the season, 80-46.

Two brothers, Ken and Dick Grote, did most of the damage to Coach Gene Shirks' boys, scoring 24 points between them. Dick won the 880 and mile while Ken took the 220 and tied Johnny Patrician in the high jump.

However, individual high scoring honors went to Albright's Lee Cappel, who, by winning the high hurdles, tying Ken Grote in the pole vault, and taking second in both the broad jump and the 220 yard hurdles scored a total of 15 points.

The best race of the afternoon was the two mile event, in which Ralph Harrity of Juniata won by a full lap. He passed his second man just as he finished, a full lap ahead of the field.

Kappa-Pi Tau Edges APO, 11-6; League Deadlocked In Triple Tie

Albright's intramural softball loop became a wide open affair when the Pi Tau-Kappa combination knocked off the leading Alpha Pi Omega nine on Tuesday and turned the league race into a three-way tie for first place. The Zetas had already increased their wins to two at the expense of the Dorm on Monday, but the Dorm stayed within half a game of the top by rapping the winless daymen on Wednesday.

The non-fraternity club gave the Zeta outfit a hard time of it before they finally succumbed. They jumped right off to an early start and collected three markers on three hits and a walk in the first inning. After that Jug Manderbach settled down and held them to four safeties in six frames. Hi Delp was unfortunate in that his teammate's boots came at precisely the wrong time. He pitched a steady game, but the Zetas whittled down his lead and then pushed over the winning run in the fourth stanza.

In the first twilight game of the season, the Kappa-Pi Tau fell on Irv Mull's hurling to pound out an 11-6 victory. Gene Shollenberger was the big gun for the winners with two homers and a single as his contributions to the cause. Mull was relieved by Waid Rowland when he loaded the sacks in the fifth. Rowland walked in a run before he stemmed the tide.

It was definitely a slugging match for the Pi-Tau-Kappa club got 13 hits, while Johnny Killiany gave up nine to their rivals.

The Wednesday afternoon encounter was the wildest yet. The score see-sawed back and forth until the Dorm boys finally came out on top of the Daymen by a 14-18 count. Errors were plentiful on both sides and enough base hits were mixed in to make it the scoring battle it was.

"One-two-three strikes, you're out — at the old ball game" —

Baseball: a game played with a bat, ball, and four bases marking the courses each player must take in running.

Baseball: symbolizing the favorite American pastime, has become a symbol of spirit on ye olde Albright campus.

It's great to see everyone showing up screaming and cheering their teams on to victory—Glick hits to Sylvia... Gene to Lynne... Yup, each fella has his inspiration (who made "Hops" smack his homer??)

Spirit — that's what we like to see! Fraternities and non-fraternity, dorm and day men — organized and varin' to go!

And we're gonna root for the girls' softball varsity too, aren't we? "There Are Such Things."

Speaking of "Such Things" and baseball — and the great Gay 90's... are the A.P.O. pledges officiating in those outfits? The Pi Taus certainly are the inspiration (the Gibson girls have nothing on them)—and the Zetas must be the peanut vendors... oops, pardon, they're the "zigolos."

P. S. Let's hear no remarks about the raindrops and lilacs floating about the lawns this next week — s'help us — it's all for the good of the new and spectacular May Day exercises.
