Several members of Future Teachers of America and their advisor, Dr. Russell B. Smith, visited the experimental laboratory school at Kutztown State Teachers' College last week in a survey of the unique educational setup at the school for pupils from nursery school age through junior high school. Many new pedagogical techniques are constantly tried out at the school, revealed the director of the experimental program.

Representing the campus F.T.A. on the tour were Marian Fiedler, Robert Mattern, president of the Albright chapter, Kenneth Good, and John Kissinger.

Mattern reported on the Pennsylvania State Education Association convention at Harrisburg at the meeting of the Future Teachers last Thursday evening. Kissinger also conducted a panel on teacher ethics and the code of ethics set up by the National Education Association.

Several faculty members were present at the meeting, including Prof. Florence Innis, Dr. Virgil Zener, Dean Levan Smith, and Dr. Russell B. Smith.

Raepfel Conducts Library Survey

A study to determine how the College's library facilities can be improved is being conducted by Librarian Josephine E. Raepfel in collaboration with Richard L. Brown, head of the Reading Public Library, and will continue for three months.

Students and faculty using the Fifth and Franklin building are asked to fill out questionnaires kept at the main desk of the Public Library. The questionnaires will help Librarian Raepfel determine what volumes the College lacks and what added facilities are needed. She also expects, to report her findings at the convention of college librarians this summer.

Spanish Students Dine In Traditional Motif

A dinner was held at 6:30, Friday, January 10th in the Lower Social Room by the Spanish students. The dinner was planned by Professor Consuelo Rodriguez and Professor Mary Jane Ward, and all the students worked to prepare it. The menu consisted of pineapple juice, chicken with rice, stewed beans, mixed salad, baked banana, ambrosia, crackers with guava jelly, rolls and butter and coffee. Several of the items were especially ordered from Puerto Rico for the occasion.

Following the dinner, a program planned by Mary Fry was given, and several games were played.

Cunliffe Reviews Book at Auxiliary; Teas Continue

Helen Cunliffe, dean of women, gave a review of the book, "East River" by Sholem Asch, at the regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary last Wednesday afternoon in the College Dining Hall.

Mrs. Harry V. Masters, president, conducted the business meeting, which was followed by a tea at which Mrs. A. R. Tatterman was the hostess.

Dean Cunliffe has announced that the regular Friday afternoon teas will continue under the sponsorship of the Women's Dorm Council.

Students and faculty are invited to attend from 3:30 to 5:30 in Selwyn Hall Parlor.

A bridge tournament has been set for Muhlenberg College students. The tourney will be held on a nationwide scale.

Y's to Hear Classical Record Program

An "Hour of Music" will be presented tonight by the combined Y.M. and Y.W.C.A.'s at 7:30 in the College Chapel. Marjorie Christ and Robert Holtzapfel are in charge of this record program of classical music.

Miss Christ, Agnes Snyder, and Robert Ziegler participated in the discussion "For Christ and the World" last Tuesday evening. The informal discussion included a report of the National Student Assembly which convened on the campus of the University of Illinois in December. Albright's part in promoting some of the Christian activities suggested at this conference were discussed.

A Student Asks Vets Who Gripe About Campus To Pitch In and Correct Things They Don't Like

Well, here goes, I'm probably sicking my neck out so far it will never get back to its proper place, but since The Albrightian is the place to air opinions, I want to give mine on a particular problem which appears to be prevalent on campus today.

Discussions Aired

The subject of the return of the veteran to Albright has been discussed in many ways, through the Inquiring Reporter, special features, and letters to the editor. Most of the discussions have been favorable, and rightly so. Our veterans have made a finer academic record as a group than any other in the history of the college. However, some of the veterans have renewed their interest in extra-curricular activities, and others have not. With so large a percentage of older married men among them, many having children, it is not strange that this group of

K.T.X. Initiates Five; Heck Outlines Sermon Preparation

Thomas Young, William Marlow, Fred Wolfe, Mervin Helfrich, and Eldon Snyder were formally inducted into Kappa Tau Chi, pre-theological fraternity last Thursday evening in Selwyn Parlors. Robert Ziegler, president, was assisted by Stewart McCleary, vice-president, in the traditional induction service.

The short devotional service which preceded the induction was led by Dale Weber who read a portion from Thomas Aquinas. Mr. Ziegler, before introducing the speakers, emphasized the four goals of K.T.X., spirituality, sacrifice, service, and scholarship.

Dr. J. Arthur Heck, president of the Evangelical School of Theology, presented a discussion outline on "Sermon Preparation". Dr. Heck emphasized the importance of the preacher being original and added, "The best sermons one preaches are thought about weeks in advance".

The Divinity Students' Society have invited the fraternity, along with all pre-theologs on campus, to visit them in the Seminary next meeting night, February 13.

Singing Teachers Group Elects Dr. Duddy

Dr. John H. Duddy, professor of voice and music, recently received notification of his election to the National Association of Teachers of Singing. Headquarters for this organization are located in New York. Dr. Duddy was awarded his doctor's degree in music last summer.

Day Student Organizations Set For "Snow Ball" January 31

As a climax to Albright College's winter social calendar, the Daywomen and Daymen Organizations will sponsor "The Snow Ball" a semi-formal dance to be held in the Mirror Room of the Berkshire Hotel on Friday, January 31.

Herman Miller's Ork

Dancing, from nine to twelve, will be to the smooth rhythms of Herman Miller and his Sylvanians and will be closed to daystudents and their guests.

Wives Launch Club Hold Panel Discussion On Money Problems

The Veterans' Wives Clubs, an organization which has grown out of a Christmas party given for the wives by the Women's Senate, will meet tonight in the Lower Social Room to conduct a panel discussion on How to Get the Most Out of $90 a Month.

On the panel will be Professor Donald S. Gates, a home economist from the city, and a member of the veterans' administration. This new group, which consists of about 30 members plans to meet once a month and is outlining constructive programs.

Officers for the organization were recently nominated and include Mrs. Wilfred Fromuth, president; Mrs. Francis Leisey, vice-president; Mrs. Robert Mattern, secretary-treasurer; program committee, Mrs. Edmond Albright and Mrs. Richard Bertollette. Mrs. Fromuth is the former Jean Seidel, an Albright graduate who was active in student government on campus. Mrs. Albright, the former Lucy Griswold, is a 1944 graduate.

Albright wishes to extend a cordial welcome to the Veterans' Wives' Club and wish them success in their program.

Senate to Meet For Conference Plans

Women's Student Senate will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 p. m. in Selwyn Hall Parlors to discuss further plans for its student government conference in early spring. The women will also discuss suggestions made to have a Mardi Gras shortly before commencement.

Dean Helen Cunliffe and Prof. Anna H. Smith are advisors to the Senate.

menting leaves situations just about where they were.

Paper Has Been Fair

I feel that The Albrightian has been very fair in trying to voice opinions of both veterans and non-veteran students on various topics. The "Vet's Voice" gives evidence that the paper is glad to print what the "average" veteran has to say about things. If you veterans don't like some of the activities that have been going on we other students are pleased to know about it, but if the complaints shouldn't be the end of it.

Do Something About It

After you've decided what you don't like, vets, why let it stop there? Remember Albright is your school as much as ours—we want to be proud of it; so should you. You can't be proud of a school you criticize so frequently, so think over what you don't like, and do something about it.

—A Student.

$2.40 Per Couple

Chaperones for the ball are Dean and Mrs. Levan P. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gordon. Tickets at 2.40 per couple can be purchased from members of the student committee consisting of Adele Boothroyd, Miriam Kramer, Betty Berger, Heber Yeagley, John Woyrnarowski, and William Wallb.

Faculty to Have Vespers Sunday

The second in the series of faculty-sponsored Vesper Services will be held this Sunday evening, January 26, in the College Chapel. The Rev. W. Paul Thompson, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Fifth and Court Streets, Reading, will deliver the evening message. Following the Vesper Service at 5 o'clock, a buffet luncheon will be sponsored in the Dining Hall.

Day Students may purchase tickets for the luncheon for 25 cents in the treasurer's office before Thursday.

Where the Elite Meet to Eat

By Joan House

This isn't an essay on the use of the right fork or the value of charm at the dinner table; rather, we'd like to give you an idea of the ordinary manners which can be expected in a college dining hall. There's really the best opportunity for all the resident students to meet and eat. You can say the dining hall lacks the atmosphere and personality found in a home or a supper club but perhaps a little stress placed on method and manners would help.

Would you ever think of "spooning water" from table to table at the Crystal? It's hilarious funny to a few, but those innocent bystanders sitting in the line of attack won't agree. We don't advise improving the aim either, you, sharpshooters, just curb that impulse.

Do you get that feeling that the table you've been sitting at for two weeks is boring you to death either because there is no conversation or so much "shop talk" going on so that you're completely out of it? Maybe you could add a general topic into the conversation, for instance the latest movie downtown or a forthcoming campus event. It's a sad situation when eight people sit together for two weeks and merely look at each other, while the hostess feels she's responsible.

And speaking of the hostess or host—give them a break! A brief answer like "Yes" or "No" is all she asks when she inquires whether or not the waiter may take away the food. It's embarrassing to call it back because someone was "shy".

We don't think these hints on manners will cramp your style too much, and at least you can always eat.

A Call for Action

The letter from a student on page one represents the viewpoint of a number of students on campus, and we think it ought to be considered thoughtfully by veterans and "civilians" alike.

The issue is, as we see it, that Albright is our school; it is our life for the four years we spend here; and our experiences here will influence us for the rest of our lives. If we want these experiences to be fruitful ones, if we want our school to be a better one, we've all got to work together to make them so.

Albright isn't exclusively the administration; it isn't the faculty; it isn't the students. It has to be all three working and pulling together, trying to understand each other's problems. It has to be all three honestly trying to solve these problems.

It is a truism that there is strength in unity and weakness in dissension.

A Vote of Confidence

When you see a group of people quietly but effectively doing their job, you can't help wanting to give them a vote of encouragement and telling the whole world about it. Such a group is our campus Y's.

Backed by strong leaders and a capable advisor, the Y's have their aims and objectives clearly in mind and are proceeding to carry them out.

They are helping to spread the name of our school abroad by their activities, which are numerous and varied.

What is more, they are making a successful attempt to appeal to all the different interests on campus.

Although all of us are token members of the Y's, most of us might find much that is worthwhile and satisfying in active membership in the campus Y's. They must have something needed or they wouldn't be growing so steadily in influence.

Fun and Games

A word of thanks might also be said to those who planned and carried out the faculty-student party last Friday. The faculty, especially, turned out en masse to make it a gay evening for everyone.

It was lots of fun to see Dr. Horn running a relay race, donning a raincoat, umbrella, and mittens; Mr. Shirk refereeing a volley ball game; and Prof Haskell helping his team work out a puzzle with magazine titles.

We hope the annual student-faculty get-together will join the realm of Albright traditions and become a permanent thing.

A flashing smile, boundless energy, and a winning personality are the characteristics of this week's Dandy Lion from Hollidaysburg—Joy Cutler.

Her activities in her four years of Albright have known practice, no limit. Entering into the spirit of Albright her freshman year, she started playing varsity sports in all the seasons. Deeply involved in Y work, she is now chairman of the "big-little sister" committee, and got a bang out of getting big and little sisters together in September.

Joy's extracurricular time this year is mainly taken up with the presidencies of Women's Senate, which is celebrating its second birthday this year, and of the Home Economics Organization. Incidentally, Joy has lots of anecdotes to tell about her adventures in Sherman Cottage practice house. In addition, she takes an active interest in the doings of the Bible Class and Future Teachers of America.

An active Pat treasurer, Joy always has original ideas for the sorority's social activities. Her talents extended last year to managing the business end of the "Cue" and to being custodian of the crown in the May Day festivities. This year Cutler's activities were crowned by her election to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" and by her pledging to Phi Delta Sigma, honorary alumnae sorority.

A Vet's Voice

By Mort
Or Weak Before Exam Week

Since next week is examination week, it is only fair that we should make this "anti-professor week". At onetime, it is true that I thought professors were nice people, but then I came to college and now I doubt whether they are even people.

This week when profs start telling about their wives, dogs or families, students should sit back and return vacant stares, which will not be unfamiliar to many profs because they probably have looking glasses at home anyway. Instead of apologizing this week when a prof catches you not knowing an answer, just snap back with, "What do you expect, something immortal?"

The prof I like most is the one who clears his throat and casually remarks, "Tomorrow we'll have a short quiz." He then goes home, stays up for the next twenty-three hours reading fine print foot-notes and digs up questions like: How many cavities did Napoleon have in his upper molars or what color eyes did Shakespeare's dog have? This short quiz is only counted as ninety eight percent of the final grade so students always have some chance.

The prof who would be known in the army as chicken, (but at Albright he is just known) is the one who announces a test of only five questions and keeps his promise by asking only thirty-five parts to each question. This chicken is usually followed by a unique marking system which deducts fifty percent for one part wrong, because it is undoubtedly the main point of entire question.

Seems as though all the departments in the Science Hall are trying to squeeze as much work into this semester as is possible. After the Christmas vacation, squeezing more work out of some of the students is like stamping on an empty tube of Burma Shave.

In Biology 2a, the students wonder how it's humanly possible to finish all the drawings. Biology 6a is even worse. There are so many drawings to be completed in this course that the pre-meds are seeing red to mention Green.

The Organic students find it just as bad. Between surprise lecture tests and lab, there will be approximately sixty-nine more business majors next semester.

The unknowns in the lab are rugged, too. Between lab assistant Haag digging up compounds from the basement vault and Professor Behm dishing out a "hard time", more than one student has breathed a silent prayer to the "unknown God".

Oh, yes—there's a new face in the Chemistry Department this semester. You've seen Willard Grubb, the comparative lab assistant; well, add thirty-five pounds and there's Prof Behm. The two individuals (?) are so often mistaken for each other that the other day someone asked Prof Behm for the vicissitudes of the hyale portion hyomandibular arch in teleostomes. The funny part is that the Prof not only knew the answer, but he then proceeded to give it as the formula of an aliphatic hydrocarbon.

To distinguish these two gentlemen apart poses a problem. However, your reporter has finally arrived at a solution. Hereafter, the students will address the unknown (Prof Behm or "Grubby") as "Sir". If the unknown retorts, "You forgot to salute," it's Grubb. This works best with a left arm rate catalyst and in the presence of the American flag.

Yesterdays

Seven years ago this week — Albright was honored with the presence of David Metcalf who delivered a lecture-demonstration on a stage make-up in the College Chapel. Mr. Metcalf appeared through the courtesy of the Hedgerow Theater and proved to be a very interesting entertainer—Doctor Gerrit Memming presented a talk on Penna. German pow-wow in the week's regular chapel program.

The Albright College basketball team was setting it's sights on victory No. 3, entertaining a strong West Chester Teachers quintet at Northwest.

The seniors (class of 1940) selected Dr. Milton Geil as their favorite professor.

Four years ago this week — Dean Mary Jane Stevenson was named chairman of the Student Activities Committee by Pres. Harry V. Masters. Miss Stevenson was quite experienced in this field of work since she did extensive work in Guidance and Supervision.

The College was receiving application from seniors in high schools who were planning to take advantage of the accelerated program set up by the school.

Ralph Wagner
Student Council cultural programs are hitting a new high again this year, and on the way out of the chapel Annie overheard several people agree on this and add the afterthought that it would be nice to hear Carolyn Powers again.

Then, too, Wes Brown wants a chapel period to tell the world that, in spite of him, interior decorators don't have to be sissies.

Betty Sarge and Bryant Smith are going to test their ruggedness as soon as the snow breaks. They're planning a hunting trip to his cabin in the north woods. They have to answer the question of who's rugged enough to be boss.

Although it's obvious that Angie Baro is bigger and stronger than Elaine Kyle, there is still some speculation about who's boss 'cause Elaine's motto is "The bigger they come—the harder they fall." Mike Smfinski, our campus short guy, sez size isn't a prerequisite of falling for that girl.

Midge Abrams and Mark Guss would have the same trouble if Midge hadn't been heard (when Guss was away) saying, and I quote, "If that guy comes back I'll follow him around forever." She did, Guss, honest! She said it in the dining hall last year and in my files there are affidavits to prove it.

Ginny Woerle and Bob Deach have settled all their problems and as a flag of truce Ginny is now sporting Bob's frat pin.

Beverly Reimsnider is swept off her feet by that tall handsome trumpeter Donald Snyder. Watch out, Don, she has always wanted to cut the Reim off her name.

Ken Faylor is suffering from the Wrath of Dot.

After driving through the fog to Lebanon Valley with Barb Lichtenberger and Cleta Rein, Bill Ebbert is still in the fog.

Ziegler and Crocroft must have something against Reverend Keim. They feed him hamburgers with glass in them.

In case you have been wondering what the lone name was doing at the top of this column, Annie was warned not to place it too close to that of Arlene Schell if she didn't want the paper to catch on fire.

Council Says:

Kenneth Good, president, appointed Minnie Silberman to take charge of Albright's annual Stunt Night March 7. Several organizations on campus will present skits on that date in competition for a special cup awarded by Student Council for the best skit.

A special committee headed by Joe Lauck is still working on the problem of seating at the home basketball games. Together with faculty manager Eugene L. Shirk, the committee is trying to arrange a plan of seating which will be fair to all the spectators.

Herb Vogt, chairman of the social committee, was urged by Council to remind organizations who are given Council dates for dances, of their responsibilities.

Perry Matz, Council representative to the Chicago student conference, reported further last week on the aims which the organization hopes to put into law next September at another conference.

Roy Fidler, chairman of men-in-service, told Council his committee is collecting addresses of Albright servicemen for the "Cue."

Absentees from last Thursday's Student Council parley were Umberto Tucci, daymen; Betty Burnett, Pats; Jeanne Flickinger, Mus; Catherine Frantz, daywomen; George Morfogen, senior class; Alief Fisher, daymen; Ralph Miller, Veterans Club; John Woynarowski, daymen; Jerome Dersh, APO; and Professor John Khouri, faculty.

Prayer Group Has Allen, Cattermole

Noonday prayers on Wednesday will be conducted by Ferne Allen and by Richard Cattermole on Thursday. They will then be discontinued until after the midterm recess.

Vespers were held in the Trinity Evangelical Congregational Church, Eleventh and Spruce, last Sunday evening. The Albright Women's Glee Club also contributed to the musical program.

Penn State students were advised by their cheerleaders to cheer louder at athletic contests.

Students Sum Up Guidance Articles

A forum based on the four guidance articles written by upperclassmen and published in The Albrightian was held in freshmen chapel this morning. Dean Helen Cunliffe was the moderator, while George Morfogen, Kenneth Good, Ames Snyder, and Herb Vogt answered students' questions on drinking, dating, student-faculty relations, and friendships.

Later in the season LeVan P. Smith will conduct another forum on the topics to be featured in forthcoming issues of The Albrightian for freshman guidance.

Vets to Hear of Increase in Subsistence Allotment

All veterans are urged to attend the meeting tomorrow noon in the Science Lecture Hall to hear about an "increase in subsistence" movement being made by veterans' organizations throughout the country.

Petitions to this effect are available, and cooperation of every student-veteran is requested, says Ralph Miller, president.

DANDY LIONS

In what little spare time she has, Joy likes to sew on the outfits she creates for sewing classes (and a neat seamstress she is), and to collect dolls from all over the world. Her collection of dolls is now on display in the library. Joy is also enthusiastic about silver Mexican jewelry.

Teaching home ec in high school will probably be Joy's immediate future after graduation. Dandy knows she will pour the same enthusiasm and talent into her career that she did into Albright, and wishes her the best of "joy" and luck.

2nd Joe College: "Yeah buy us this and buy us that until I'm broke."

"What's worse than raining cats and dogs?" Inquired the Senior.

"I don't know murmured the Freshman, "Unless it's hailing a street car."

YESTERDAYS

The A.P.O.'s, pacing the interfrat basketball league, knocked the Zetas from the undefeated list by beating them 23-21. Red Gable led the Blue and Gold attack.

Dick Shollenberger, in a game against Ft. Meade at Northwest, tallied his 1000th point when he gathered 19 markers for the evening.

Two years ago this week — The Day students were preparing to hold their annual dance in the College Dining Hall. Men from the Reading Army Airfield were invited to attend the affair.

The great Albright basketball team of that year extended their record breaking win streak to nine games when they defeated the University of Mexico, 47-44.

La Salle Edges Albright In Thriller

Kappas, Lamba Chis, Psi Betas Knotted for League Lead

Albright's Frat loop got off to an airborne start as seven games were played last week. When the fumes finally cleared away, the favored Kappas definitely had the green light as they brushed aside the powerhouse Zetas and the Sigma Mus. However, the newly formed Lamba Chis also edged the Zetas and for good measure knocked off the Sigma Mus. The Lambas should give the Kappas some trouble. Also the potent Psi Betas edged the Phi Mus and the Delta Rhos for a perfect slate.

Elsewhere in the loop, the Pi Taus were forced to forfeit the game to Chi Phi. Delta Rho bowed to Psi Beta, but knocked off the A.P.O.'s for a 500 percentage.

The cellar dwelling squads can take heart and "be of good cheer" as they are in good company. Currently battling for win number one are the A.P.O.'s, Pi Taus, Phi Mus, Sigma Mus, and the powerhouse Zetas.

This week should again see some action-packed contests as the Northeast and the Thirteenth and Union floors get their weekly beating. So drop in on the boys, pick a team, and maybe they'll win — anything can happen!

Shirk Racks up 223; "Miracle Man" Gates Rolls Shattering 185

Well, what do we have here? Our profs have again lift the books for a more enjoyable pastime bowling. Wonder of wonders, look at "Headpin Gates"! Our low man on the totem pole made five strikes in a row and finished in a blaze of glory and a 185. His average so far this year has been near 100. Now look at him! Hope he keeps it up! Shirk lead the way this week when he broke 200 and finished with an average of 190.

Next came another one of our wonder-men, Rev. Barth, from the bottom to the top in one easy jump. Barth is another low man who rose to fame, glory, and a 162. How about giving your secret to Khouri and Widdowson. They seem to be in a rut. Dean Smith, head man last week, fell to third place. Prof. Memming is struggling along in fifth place and trying desperately to maintain his 150 average.

This week was full of upsets. Let's see what happens next week when they again head for the alleys.

Shirk	157	223	-190
Barth	470	154	-162
Smith	133	172	164-156.3

Junior Explorers Hand Baby Lions First Loss

LaSalle's reserve Explorers successfully led the Blue and Gold's feeler expedition into Albright territory, and also chalked up the Jayvee Lions' first defeat. With Bob Comersod getting seven points, LaSalle's flashy play, made the first period score read 16-5. Undaunted, nevertheless, Jimmy Brusck sparked a Red and White rally by dumping in two and two foul shots in the second quarter. But at the half LaSalle was still out front, however, 18-23.

Both clubs kept up their fast and exciting pace in the second half, but the Explorers stretched their lead to twenty-one points by the time the third quarter ended. LaSalle's lanky center Bob Berry swished in eleven points in that period. It was the Blue and Gold the rest of the way, as the game ended 52-32.

Theology School Head To Speak at K.T.X.

Kappa Tau Chi will hold its monthly meeting Thursday, in Selwyn Hall Parlors at 8:00 p. m. with Dr. J. Arthur Heck, president of the Evangelical School of Theology, as guest speaker on the subject of "Sermon Construction."

Thomas Young, Fred Wolf, William Marlow, Mervin Heifrich, Kenneth Spats, and Eldon Snyder will be taken into active membership at the meeting. Devotional services will be conducted by Dale Weber.

Albright Avenges Lebanon Valley; Oxenreider Star

Albright's flashy Lions donned their bow ties for the second time this year and took a pleasure trip to Lebanon. Once arrived, Harris and Co. wasted little time combining business with pleasure and coming out on the long end of a 59-46 bout with Lebanon Valley's "Flying Dutchmen."

Albright's cagers never were in trouble as they breezed to their fourth consecutive win. Freshman Elwood Oxenreider walked off with scoring honors as he dunked in 15 counters. Teammates Russ Guensch and Ed Anlian were right behind "Ox" with 22 points between them. Floyd Becker, brilliant Dutchman forward, was highboy for both clubs, as he hit the hoops for 17 tallies.

First Quarter Stalemated

Russ Guensch and Elmer Davis p'dt the Lions off to a roaring start with two layups. Joe Hess and Marquette came right back with a field goal and foul shot, but Albright came back with Guensch, Guldin, and Guss to gather a 12-10 lead which was promptly rubbed out by Floyd Becker and Rinsu Marquette as the Dutchmen knotted the count 12-12 at the quarter.

Coming into the second quarter Lebanon grabbed the lead for the only time of the evening as highly touted Marshall Gimberling canned one of his seven points of the evening. Our Lions took over from there as Hops Guldin, Johnny Yocum, Oxenreider, and Russ Guensch piled it on to build up a 27-19 half-time lead.

Lions File It On

Coming into the third period the determined Dutchmen made another drive to regain the lead. Little Rinsu Marquette piled on seven points in this quarter while teammates Hess, Becker, Gimberling, and DiJohnson were also dunking deuces. However, Guensch, Guss, Oxenreider and Witman kept the Lions in the fore as the quarter ended 38-34.

Lebanon Valley's last threat came in the final frame when Becker dunked another one to come within two points of our Lions. But this was the last Kraut threat as Anlian, Guensch, Yocum, Oxenreider, Witman and Elmer Davis turned on a 21 point barrage to snow under the "Flying Dutchmen" 59-46.

J. V.'s Also Win

In the preliminary game the Lion cubs piled up four consecutive wins without a defeat as they sent the Baby Dutchmen back to their cinder court 52-37. Jimmy Brusck provided the necessary punch as he canned fifteen markers. Johnny Hess and Ray Kline brightened the lost Dutchmen's cause with 29 points between them.

Last Period Drive Sinks Lions; Anlian Cans 22 to Pace Losers

La Salle's powerful Explorers blew into town Saturday night and put an end to the current joy reigning in the Lion's den. Although La Salle walked out on top, the powerful show handed them by our Lions left the Explorers shaking in their combat boots.

Big Ed Anlian was never hotter as he showed the way with 22 big points. However, Jim Gallagher, a substitute guard, turned out to be the Lions nemesis as he canned 19 markers to neutralize Big Ed.

Explorers Forge Ahead

Hops Guldin, Mark Guss, and Russ Guensch, Albright's "G" men, roared us into the lead 8-2. But La Salle's red hot club found the hoops as Bob Walters, Joe Greenberg, and Stuart took the Explorers ahead 9-8. Ed Anlian began his scoring spree with two beautiful field goals, but this couldn't quite offset Jim Gallagher and Bill Greenberg as the Explorers hung onto a 14-12 quarter-time lead.

Swimming for Women

Mrs. Eva Mosser, women's physical education instructor, wishes to remind all those women interested in taking swimming as an elective next semester to arrange their schedules to allow for the class at 1 to 2 o'clock on Fridays.

Albright Visits Scranton For Third Loop Game; Lions Tackle Moravian

Albright's off-and-on Lions will again attempt to bounce back in the victory column when they take on Scranton's improving Tomcats this Wednesday evening at Scranton. Both our Lions and Scranton's Tomnies are unbeaten in League competition, the latter defeating Moravian 56-52 for their lone win. To date the Lions have two wins against no defeats and can virtually claim the title this week if they can defeat Scranton and Moravian.

Scranton won their first game of the season by beating Bloomsburg 55-39, but then hit the skids and lost their next eight games. However, Scranton now has their own coach back. Pete Carlesimo, and since his return Scranton has been playing much better ball. The Tomnies lost to Loyola 52-42, Manhattan 51-42, and Seton Hall 53-32 under Pete's leadership before they were able to snap their losing streak against Moravian.

Scranton has virtually its entire team back this year, among them Mike Denney who also starred in football. Against common foes, Albright has a great advantage, but this is no indication of the comparative strength of the teams because Scranton has improved vastly in the last few games. Detroit easily defeated Scranton 69-48 and La Salle, last conqueror of our Lions, horribly mauled Scranton 82-36. Loyola, whom Albright beat in an extra period, also defeated Scranton, 52-41.

Moravian Here Saturday

Moravian and Bill Marcincin will visit Northwest next Saturday night in what promises to be another rip-roaring wild-scoring affair. Albright currently is averaging 60.75 points per game but Moravian, playing against generally weaker opposition than Albright, has averaged 61.4 points per game. The chief threat of the Moravian team is Bill Marcincin, whose 21 point average is second in the state only to Frankie Kieth of Elizabethtown.

The Greyhounds started the season by losing to Muhlenberg's power laden outfit 67-47. Then the Bethlehem team hit the hoops for four straight victories, beating West Chester 60-57, Drew 64-47, P. M. C. 51-46 and Wagner 77-65. The only common foe met was Juniata who was beaten by both Albright and Moravian by virtually the same margins, Moravian winning 79-55 and Albright winning 69-44. In their last start, Moravian was defeated by Scranton as mentioned above.

Lions Take Over

Albright saw the Explorers forge ahead 20-12 on deuces by McCann, Gallagher, and Stuart. Right here Albright found themselves as Hops Guldin provided the necessary shot in the arm with a dandy set shot. Ed Anlian, Russ Guensch, Mort Witman, and Hops Guldin went off on a 22 point rampage while holding the exasperated Explorers to a mere three buckets. The desperate Explorer coach pulled sky scraper Larry Foust off the bench to stem the tide. "Shorty" Foust, so called because of his mere 81 inches, added two deuces to keep the Explorers in the game. The jubilant Lions closed the half with a 34-26.

Albright Clings to Lead

The third period opened with the Lions battling furiously to maintain their lead. Bob Walters went hot wild with four consecutive deuces. Mort Witman and Hops Guldin added foul shots to keep the Lions ahead 37-34. La Salle gave Walters a rest as Bill Greenberg and Jim Gallagher combined to give the "Sallys" a momentary 39-38 lead. The Lions, rallying swiftly, drove them back as Ed Anlian, Russ Guensch, Hops Guldin and Oxenreider put the Lions back in the driver's seat 48-45.

La Salle Squeezes Ahead

Albright's battle-weary Lions entered the last frame in the face of a determined Sally drive. McCann and Gallagher combined to give the Explorers a 49-48 lead. Hops Guldin put the Lions back in the lead with a beautiful set shot. Following this the lead see-sawed back and forth and changed hands no less than five times. Coach Harris desperately threw the ailing Ozzie Kriebel into the arena in an attempt to stem the drive. McGlone countered with Foust and the big man again added a pair of deuces.

Teammates Gallagher, Greenberg, and McCann shovelled the Explorers ahead 63-58. Roaring back with Guensch and Anlian the Lions climbed to within one point of the Sallys. But the hard fighting Lion last ditch rally was soured by Bill Greenberg's last second bucket which brought the curtain down on the Lion squad.
