ALBRIGHT'S MOST SUCCESSFUL FOOTBALL SEASON COMES TO CLOSE

Six Victories And Three Defeats Is The Record Made By Our Fighting 162 Pound Team

DECH, KLINE, AND LACKEY LOST TO TEAM NEXT YEAR

In losing to Cornell on Saturday by the score of 48-14, Albright College closed one of the most successful seasons in recent years, and the sons of the Red and White can feel well satisfied with the showing made this season by their doughty, fighting eleven. Starting out in the beginning of the season with a few veterans, Coach Benfer molded an eleven that has attracted attention thru-out the state, and has given the Red and White collegians one of their best years.

After starting the season at Lancaster with a defeat at the hands of Whitley Price's powerful eleven, Albright waded thru Juniata in an impressive manner to the tune of 34-0. Glenn Killinger's powerful, machine-like, Dickinson team hand-

Coach Benfer Is Host and Prof. Dech Toastmaster At Closing Event of Season

As a grand finale to eleven weeks of strenuous effort and glorious results, our loyal squad was most royally banqueted at the home of Coach Benfer on the evening of November 22nd.

The boys who carried the Red and White thru the nine games this season, were surely repaid by the sumptuous feast which was spread for them. There were luxuries of all kinds prepared in the most appetizing manner, and the boys who have been in intensive training since Sept. 1, certainly did justice to the spread. When all had eaten their fill, Prof. W. J. Dech, toastmaster, called upon the following, who responded with toasts:

HOLIDAY GRANTED IN HONOR OF TEAM

"—and so, the faculty has unanimously granted this day a holiday to celebrate—" but the thunders of applause drown the rest of the speech. Thus Dr. Bowman announced the holiday of Monday, November 20, to celebrate Albright's successful football season, and the glorious score on Cornell. A petition had been gotten up the night before, signed, and presented to the Faculty on Monday morning. In Chapel service, after the first class, the announcement came. Classes were dispensed with for the rest of the day, and announcements of the day's activities were made.

The Soph-Fresh game was pulled in the afternoon in a freezing biting wind on the open field, and the banquet took place at 7 P. M. in the college dining room. Chas. Raffensperger served as the toastmaster. Dean Bowman, Rev. Heck, Prof. Dech and Coach Benfer responded with appropriate toasts. Music from the stringed duo and songs from the banqueters made the evening another of Albright's social successes.

Football Victory Wins Series For '26

Green Caps Are Minus Red Buttons For Remainder of Year; Leh Stars For Frosh

The Soph. Frosh football game was to decide whether or not the Frosh were to continue wearing the red button on their caps, as the results of the interclass track meet ended with a tie, each class having 26 points to their credit. The Sophs. excelled in the track events, due to the excellent running of Christ, but the Frosh. won the big events, that of dragging the Sophs. through the canal, and carrying away the football honors. The Frosh won the meet 41 to 26.

The football game was played on Albright Field on Monday afternoon, the Frosh winning 13-6. The game had all aspects of a real game. Plenty of thrills and chills. The teams furnishing the thrills and Cornell defeated us, as almost everyone expected, at Ithaca, but Albright's defeat was not without its glory to the losers, and the crippled Myerstown team enjoyed a big day despite the defeat in their final game of the season. The fighting Red and White collegians scored twice on Cornell, once when the regulars were in, and once when the substitutes were in. Both scores were results of brilliant running on the part of the players carrying the ball, and excellent interference on the part of their teammates.

Cornell had things her own way in the first quarter, scoring on us three, Cassidy and Pfann going across for touchdowns. Both teams used straight football, Cornell hitting the line, and Albright circling

C. was beaten when Benfer's crew waded thru their line for a 13-6 victory. They followed this win by trouncing Susquehanna University in front of their alumni 6-0, then we knocked Schuylkill Seminary to the tune of 61-0, Ursinus was bowled over by a 38-0 score, and Western Maryland came here highly confident of carrying home our scalps, but went back with a pretty 20-0 defeat hanging on them. Then came the climax of the year. Our little team, (Continued on Page Three)

Short Sketches of Our Thirteen Football Letter Men

Eldred J. Miller, Quarterback
Weight 155; Height 5-6
Capt. E. J. Miller was quarterback of the Albright squad, who jumped into the limelight by carrying a kickoff thru the entire Dickinson team and dashing 90 yds. for a touchdown. Miller is one of the best open field runners in football today. He is a natural born leader, and the success of the season is largely the result of his generalship. Not only does he run well, but he can throw passes and drop kick as well. Miller was injured the latter part of the season and did not participate in the last few games.

Saltern, Fullback
Weight 171; Height 5-11
Harry Saltern, better known as "Gook", was our star fullback. When the line opened up at all "Gook" went thru for substantial gains. When not carrying the ball, he was a whole team of interference. He received an injury to his shoulder in the Ursinus game that kept him out for the rest of the season and was greatly missed in the remaining games. Around this gridiron warrior Coach Benfer expects to build a strong team next year.

"Holly"
George Hollenbaugh became a star in the last game. While playing a remarkable game at halfback all season, he never really starred. He has the speed of a deer, and is alert, quick, wiry, brilliant on the offense, and dependable on the defense. "Holly" pulled the surprise of the year on the Cornell team, when he caught one of "Swede" Hanson's punts on the 3 yard line (Continued on Page Two) the class mates and class cousins on the sidelines furnished the chills, for the day was lousy.

"And" Leh, quarterback for 1926, was the outstanding star of the frosh. Time after time he ripped holes thru the Soph. line. He circled the ends for the longest gains of the day, and in the first period he carried a punt thru the entire Soph. team for the first touchdown. It was a remarkable piece of open field running for 60 yards. Derr, Lackey and Abel played a good game in the Frosh. backfield. Zeigensuf on right end shone brilliantly on the defense.
Leinbach and Raffensperger were the threats for the Sophs. Time (Continued on Page Three) the ends. Cornell scored twice in the second period, Cassidy and Pfann again carrying the ball as it crossed the line. Near the end of the period Albright furnished the thrills for the crowd, and had a little party of her own. Hollenbaugh, standing on his own three yard line caught one of big "Swede" Hanson's kickoffs and started for the goal line 97 yards away. Dashing down the field near the sidelines like a scared wild cat, while his comrades cut down the would-be tacklers, the fleet halfback eluded the entire Cornell team and went unhindered to the goal for the first touchdown. The half ended with the score 35-7. (Continued on Page Four)

ZIMMERMAN GUEST OF POLITICAL CLUB

Myerstown, Pa., Nov. 17, 1922
The Albright Political Club celebrated the first anniversary of its organization by a banquet on Friday Evening at the Taste Good Shop in Myerstown. After a delightful hour had been spent in enjoying the elaborate banquet, Pres. C. I. Raffensperger introduced the principal speaker of the evening, Mr. Zimmerman, one of Lebanon's foremost citizens, Pres. of the Chamber of Commerce and Treas. of the Lebanon Trust Co. He is well known throughout the country as an authority on banking and is well versed in many phases of Political Sciences. He spoke forcefully on the Tendency of the Young Man of Today Toward Radicalism.

Dr. C. A. Bowman, head of the Political & Social Science Dept. of Albright College, spoke on "The Need of Better Statesmen". Prof. V. C. Zener, Head of the History Department, was also present. Both Dean Bowman and Prof. Zener have shown (Continued on Page Four)

THEMESJANS GIVE UNIQUE PROGRAM

The Shakespeare group rendered their program in the literary contest, Friday evening, November 17. The program was unique, something entirely different from the general form of programs.

The first number was a very interesting review of the life of Shakespeare by Katharine Sherk. A sketch from "The Taming of the Shrew" followed. The characters in the sketch, as well as in the following sketches, were attired so as to typify the characters of the Elizabethan age. The principal parts in the play were taken by Mary Marquardt as Katherine, Romaine Raub as Baptiste and Caroline Illick as "Petruccio."

Alice Gilmore then rendered a vocal solo entitled "Who Is Sylvia?" the words of which were written by Shakespeare.

The sleep walking scene from Macbeth was very ably presented, Martha Shambaugh playing the part of Lady Macbeth to perfection. (Continued on Page Four)

HERE'S TO CORNELL!

Our hats are off to you, Cornell! Who says, "Ye good old days of hospitality and sportsmanship are past?" Not withstanding current rumors to the contrary, at least in the regards of our team and therefore of Albright herself, Cornell stands as one example of the old College sportsmanship which so many declare is a thing of the past.

Cornell sustains an enviable position among the largest institutions in the Eastern part of the country, both in size and in athletic prowess, yet she was not too big to show a team from a comparatively unknown College every courtesy of hospitality and entertainment. She had scheduled Albright as a practice game, but was careful that nothing in her bearing toward us suggested it. Nor did her courtesy fade when the teams met upon the gridiron. Our little team was cheered from the time it ran on the field until the final whistle. Hollenbaugh's ninety-seven yard run brought the cheering section to its feet. Even the second run of the length of the field by Dech failed to dampen her enthusiasm over the plucky fight her little opponents were putting up. Two record runs—both thru a pretty exhibition of straight football, had been made on her own field against her. She had allowed a team from a little college less than one-tenth her size to score more points against her than had any opponents of the past two seasons. Yet good sportsmanship came to the fore, and our squad was cheered as enthusiastically as at the beginning of the game. At the end of the battle her students and team alike were ready to commend and congratulate a plucky little opponent. Coach Dobie himself was not too proud to say to Coach Benfer, "Your exhibition of fight and football have given us something to think about."

We lost to Cornell,—yes. But,—even leaving the splendid record our team made against tremendous odds out of consideration,—there is no bitterness in losing to good sports. Our hats are off to you, Cornell!

TO THE ALUMNI

We are devoting this issue mainly to the interests of football. We feel that at the close of such a successful season it is well to particularize upon the various phases of the game.

You will notice, by reading the individual write-ups of the various players on the football team, that several of the men are going to leave us at the close of this year. Moreover, we think it can be well said of those who graduate that in them some of the best caliber of the team will be found.

This fact is of great importance. It means that a big gap will be left in the team when these men leave. In their positions must be placed men of equal worth. The question arises, "Where will we find them?" We, as students, are acquainted with various players on our High School teams, and we are going to do our part in influencing them to come to Albright. But this is not sufficient. We need scouts; and you, Alumni, can be the scouts. Many of you are teaching in High Schools and are closely connected with the best football men on the High School gridiron. We would like to have you use your influence in persuading such men to make Albright their school. Tell them there is a place on the team for every good man who steps upon the field. Also, remind them of the remarkable showing Albright has made during the past season. The opportunity is theirs, if they but take it, to run through the Cornell eleven of next year for a ninety-seven yard touchdown. A freshman performed that wonderful feat this year and one of your men can do it next year.

We ask, Alumni, that you use all your influence in sending as much football talent to Albright as possible, in order that the football season of 1923 may be more successful than that of 1922.

and dashed 97 yds. thru the entire Cornell varsity for a touchdown. He is a freshman at Albright and will be one of the mainstays in the backfield next year.

Paul Dech, Right Halfback Weight 145; Height 5—8

Paul Dech, who was shifted from end halfback this season played a wonderful game in that position. After Capt. Miller's injury, Dech jumped into quarterback and run the team for three of the biggest games of the season. He is easily one of the best defensive players on the squad. During the season he developed into a line plunger, and when a gain was needed, they called upon Dech, and the lad never failed. His most remarkable feat was to run 95 yds. from a trick formation against Cornell. He did it so cleverly that he was 25 yds. on the way before Cornell knew where the ball was. Paul will be lost by graduation this year.

Stanley Ziegler, Full-Back Weight 165; Height 5—11

After the injury to Saltern, Ziegler stepped into the capacity of full-back and played a hard game. He was most evident as a punter, and after he got started was able to deal with the rest of them. The "Big Swen" was capable of much dry humor, and the incident of the Cornell game concerning Dech's run, is typical of him. He came from Allentown and to that place has returned, yielding to the darts of Cupid. His former football experience was limited to two years' playing while in the navy.

Ollie

Oliver Edwards learned to play football at South Bend, Ind. where he was a star half-back on the South Bend High School team. He played on the Freshman team at Notre Dame after his graduation from high school. Edwards has been one of the mainstays in the Albright backfield this season. He is especially adept in the handling of passes. When carrying the ball, "Ollie" seems to crawl along the ground instead of run, but his knife-like plunges have earned many a first down for Albright.

Harry Crumbling, Center Weight 177; Height 5—9

Crumbling is a hard-working, aggressive, steady player and just the dependable, cool-headed type of man for the center position. This marked his second year as a varsity man, having played guard before. His defensive game was well up to the standard of the rest of the line and it was indeed a problem for anyone to get through "Crumb". His passing was fine throughout the season and the "wild pass" that spoils so many well-played games was not in his curriculum. Before coming to Albright, Crumbling had one year's experience in the backfield with Carlisle High School.

Ray B. Lackey, Left Guard Weight 174; Height 5—8

After playing three years, tackle and guard on the Carlisle High School team, he came to Albright during the S.A.T.C. and has been one of Albright's reliable players ever since. For four years Ray has held down the position of Left Guard and has the enviable record of playing in every game that the Red and the White engaged in for the past four seasons.

Right Guard—Weight 211; Height 5—11

Gilbert Robinson, Right Tackle Weight 172; Height 6—0

One of the experienced men who aided materially in making the 1922 football season the success that it was, rated as All-State tackle (Illinois) during two successive seasons. He played during his entire High School course for Lane Technical High School of Chicago. He comes to us from Kenosha, Wisconsin, after spending a year at North Western University where he also played football. "Robby" played in every quarter except one, this season, and missed that one on account of an injury at Dickinson.

Herbert Jago, Left Tackle Weight 158; Height 6—0

This left tackle is one of the trio of Star players who hail from Pen Argyll, Pa. "Jake" won his letter last season and maintained his position at left tackle during the past successful season. He played in every quarter except one, this season. In scrimmage vs. the scrubs, no one is more merciful than "Herb"; while against an opposing team, he is aggressive to the extent of mercilessness. In clean, hard, consistent fighting Jago ranks among the highest in the squad.

Harvey J. Kline, Right End Weight 160; Height 5—9

"Four years of college football, and good work in every game" is a record which few gridiron warriors have ever produced; yet such is the record of H. J. Kline, our aggressive end on the right wing of the Red and White. During his four years with the squad he always showed a student's determination to get his man, with the result that in '22 few, indeed, have been the gains around the right wing. In a real way Kline has earned the title "A Student of Football."

Urban Zievers, Left End Weight 170; Height 6—0

Urban Zievers (Zeke) brought with him from the West, qualities of courage and skill that enabled him to seize and hold his position with a vengeance. Tall, wiry, fast moving, "Zeke" was the logical man to work the receiving end of a forward pass. It was in this capacity that "Zeke" was at his best, and his performance on the flank was always commendable. The squad and the school can be justly proud of this hard-playing westerner.

AROUND THE TOWN

Thursday, November 23, proved to be a red letter day for the people of Myerstown when the "Grand Old Man of the American Platform" appeared in the High School auditorium and delivered his world famous lecture, "Acres of Diamonds", for the six thousand and seventy-first time.

Although eighty-two years of age, Dr. Conwell held the large audience spell bound for two hours by his eloquence and forceful illustrations. It is inspiring from beginning to end, and contains a vein of humor running thru almost the entire lecture. Splendid attention and the enthusiastic applause speak for the success of the lecture.

Another lecture of interest will be delivered by Dr. McKeen in the H. S. auditorium, in the afternoon and evening of Dec. 15th. He appeared last year under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers' Association and many people are pleased to hear that he has consented to a return engagement. He has just completed a lecture course for the Swarthmore Chautauqua. Dr. McKeen is lecturing in the interests of the Extension Department of the University of Oklahoma. He is employed by the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce as a community expert and will present a new and interesting lecture on some phase of community work. Admission will be free.

On Saturday evening, Dec. 16th, Judge Ben B. Lindsey, who won fame as Judge of the Juvenile Court of Denver, will deliver a lecture on the subject "Why Kids Lie." This will be the third number of the Lyceum Course.

On November 16th, Dr. Nichols pleased a large and enthusiastic audience with his lecture, "The Love and Laughter of James Whitcomb Riley." These four lectures, all within one month and of the best before the American people, are examples of the splendid work of the Parent-Teachers' Association and of the up-to-date administration of the local schools under the efficient leadership of Professor Davenport.

ALBRIGHT'S MOST SUCCESSFUL FOOTBALL SEASON COMES TO CLOSE

averaging not more than 162 pounds, went up and tackled that well-coached, highly polished, undefeated team of Gil Dobie's at Cornell. Well, we broke three records that day. We scored more points against them than any team has been able to score in the past two years, we scored more than the rest of the opponents together have scored this year, and we made two of the longest runs ever made on Schoellkopf Field.

Several outstanding stars were brought out by Coach Benfer this season and should shine before they finish their college careers. Dech, Miller and Hollenbaugh displayed real ability as football men, and Dech jumped into the breach made when Capt. Miller suffered torn ligaments in the ankle, by filling the quarterback position ably. Saltern, of course, played his usual reliable bangup game at full back until he suffered a fractured shoulder in the Ursinus game that forced his retirement for the season. Kline and Zievers handled the ends in great style after Dech was called into backfield service. Lackey and Prigg were fixtures at the guard position. Robinson and Jago finished the season as tackles in great shape. Crumbling, formerly a guard, filled the center position ably. From end to end the line was well balanced, hitting like a catapult on the offense, and holding like a wall on the defense.

A word must be said about the reserves. It was the reserves that saved the day at Verdun, and it was the reserves that made Albright's football team a success this year. Day after day they appeared on the field to give the best they had in order to fit the varsity for the battles of the year. When any one of the first string was taken out, one of the scrubs was ready to take his place, and take it well. Many of them got into games, and always made a creditable showing.

Coach Benfer was well pleased with the showing of his team this year, and with the exceptions of Dech, Lackey and Kline, he will have eight letter men back, so Albright can look forward to another big year on the gridiron. Manager Sechrist is working on the 1923 schedule which promises to be one of the hardest ever tackled by an Albright team.

When it is considered that the male student body numbers less than 100 boys, it is remarkable that any team at all can be gotten together, much less a real team of which Albright can boast. The spirit of the students and the manner of handling the small squad by Coach Benfer contributed largely to the successful season, of which every loyal Albright student and alumnus is justly proud.

and again these huskies would hit the Frosh line for first downs. The Sophs lost the game when they had the ball within the five yard line and were held for downs in the second period. Again in the fourth period they had the ball within the ten yard line and lost on account of a fumble. Their only score came as the result of Clark's grabbing a pass that wasn't meant for him, and dashing for a touchdown.

The Sophs had the Frosh beat on paper, getting eleven first downs to the Frosh seven. They also gained 163 yards from scrimmage to the Frosh's 149. All of their passes went wild; nine were grounded and two were intercepted. The Frosh completed three out of five and one was intercepted. Leh outpunted Leinbach in the kicking.

PORTRAIT OF J. DALTON

BY JOHN LONSDALE

The Quaker who made Chemistry a Science

DAVID DASH had shown that two volumes of hydrogen and one of oxygen always combine completely to form water and nothing else. Proust, a Frenchman, had proved that natural and artificial carbonates of copper are always constant in composition.

"There must be some law in this," reasoned Dalton (1766-1844), the Quaker mathematician and school teacher. That law he proceeded to discover by weighing and measuring. He found that each element has a combining weight of its own. To explain this, he evolved his atomic theory—the atoms of each element are all alike in size and weight; hence a combination can occur only in definite proportions.

Dalton's theory was published in 1808. In that same year, Napoleon made his brother, Joseph, king of Spain. This was considered a political event of tremendous importance. But Joseph left no lasting impression, while Dalton, by his discovery, elevated chemistry from a mass of unclassified observations and recipes into a science.

Modern scientists have gone beyond Dalton. They have found the atom to be composed of electrons, minute electrical particles. In the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company much has been done to make this theory practically applicable so that chemists can actually predict the physical, chemical and electrical properties of compounds yet undiscovered.

In a world of fleeting events the spirit of science and research endures.

ball men from Dedy, from Gook, from Ben and to wind up, a peppy talk from Pres. Hunt, all were just the kind to create thrills of expectancy and pride.

Friday night was the night for the noisy crew, who 100% escorted the team to the train and saw them safely off to Ithaca. Any one who understands Albright's "pep" knows why we scored on Cornell.

SECOND WILSON CONSERVATION MEETING

Many students and a majority of the faculty members attended the combined session, in the College Chapel, of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.'s on Tuesday evening. This was the second of a series of Wilson Conservation meetings which are being held under the auspices of the Christian organizations of the College.

Miss Faust, of the Y. W. presided at this meeting which was under the able leadership of Miss Garlach. The leader presented and discussed the following subjects, (1) Do great fortunes aid or hinder social progress? and (2) "Are luxuries antagonistic to Public Welfare?"

Miss Royer and Frank Kyle then gave supplementary talks on, respectively, "The Disadvantages of" and "The Advantages of Wealth." Prof. V. C. Zener, local Y. secretary, then conducted an open forum when these subjects were freely discussed.

At the next meeting of this series, Dr. Bowman, head of the Department of Economics, will speak on the subject, "Why isn't there enough to go around?"

Coach Dobie removed his varsity men and sent in substitutes, but Albright outplayed this crew in all departments. On a fake criss-cross play, Dech, the sturdy little quarterback, dashed down the field 95 yards for Albright's second touchdown, electrifying the crowd by his scintillating dash. For a time it looked as if the game was to take a turn, and Coach Dobie called Kaw and several others from the club house in preparation. Cassidy did get back in the game. The Cornell team got going in the last period and tallied two more touchdowns, boosting the score to 48-14.

COACHES STATEMENT

When I saw that team of mine line up against Cornell, and match their strength against Cornell's, I was satisfied with my season's work. I wish that I could send that team against the teams that defeated us earlier in the year, and I am sure they would make an entirely different showing than they did. One of the happiest moments of the season came when Coach Gil Dobie of Cornell came to me after the game and said, "Benfer, outside of the Colgate and Dartmouth game, your team has given us the best game of the year, and has given us more to think about than any of the others."

Cornell wanted to know if Albright had all track men on her team.

Last season they were offering $100. for the first one that could locate Myerstown.

Going One Better

The board met—"You, sir," shouted one member to another, "are about the most pigheaded fool I have ever met."

"Order, order," interrupted the chairman, "You seem to forget I am in the room."

Psychology

Dr. Bowman says that the phenomenon is what, under ordinary conditions a normally constituted individual would be accustomed to designate as a clear case of chicken imagination.

THEMESIANS GIVE UNIQUE PROGRAM

Another of Shakespeare's songs, "Hark, Hark the Lark!" was delightfully sung by Grace Otto.

The last sketch of the program was taken from "Midsummer Night's Dream"—the little play given by the peasants to amuse the nobles at the court. The sketch was so amusing and was performed with such interest and enthusiasm by the players that the audience laughed during the entire performance. Ruth Hetrick as Pyramus and Jessie Statler as Thisbe were all that could be expected of faithful lovers. Violet Kinsinger was a most ferocious lion, Lina Bertolet a very friendly wall, and Kay Billman the kind and friendly moon.

The Tennyson program was given Friday evening, November 24th. This performance was also unique and very interesting.

The first number was a very pleasing rendition of Tennyson's "Sweet and Low," by a quartet, after which a number of prominent characters in Tennyson's poems were presented in still life pictures.

Then a scene from Enoch Arden was played revealing his disappointment and despair when viewing the happy home life of his rival and his own wife. Grace Hangen represented Enoch Arden.

A parody of the Round Table was then given, with Ann Ritter as King Arthur, who in company with five knights around a square table, boasted of their brave and daring exploits.

The program ended with the selection "Crossing the Bar" played on the Victrola and sung by Earl Williams.

Both of these programs were very heartily enjoyed by the girls.
