Program Plans Revealed For Parents' Coming Visit

Final plans have been completed for the annual Parents' Weekend to be held May 13, 14, and 15, next Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, announced Joyce Thompson and Harold Matter, general co-chairmen of the weekend activities.

Added to this year's program will be a Spring Music Festival, to be held Saturday evening in the College Stadium. Those groups participating will be the combined choirs and orchestras of Drexel Institute, Kutztown State Teachers College, and Albright. The program will be under the direction of Dr. John H. Duddy and Mr. Hans Nix.

The annual Mardi Gras will begin the activities Friday night at 8:00 p.m. There will be shows and concessions operating until 10:00 p.m., at which time a dance for the benefit of the D.P. Fund will be held in Union Hall. Richard Dexter is Mardi Gras chairman.

May Coronation

Rudolph Reuter, Pianist, Highlighted In Cultural Program Tuesday, May 17

Rudolph Reuter, pianist, will be featured on the last program of the Albright Cultural Series, to be held Tuesday, May 17, announced Dr. Milton Hamilton, chairman. Mr. Reuter has been before America's public for a number of years after success on the European continent.

Born in New York, of a family closely identified with the music of that city, he began his studies as a child, and gave concerts at the age of eleven. His grandfather had been a conductor of early opera, and his father and mother were both teachers of repute. Reuter became solo soprano in the choir of St. James Church, and at fourteen often played the organ in smaller services. He was promised the post of assistant organist at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, where his organ teacher and choir director was head of the music, with the position of head organist to come later, if he wanted to turn his career in that direction and study in Europe from the great organists.

Honor Graduate

Reuter chose the path of concert pianist and was taken into the then State Academy in Berlin, graduated with honors, which included a Mendelssohn Prize, a debut with the Philharmonic Orchestra of Hamburg and a solo debut in Berlin. Reuter also made a tour of the world, playing in the Far East. He returned to Europe a second time, staying two years for purposes of concertizing, when he played in Italy, England, Austria, Hungary, Germany and Denmark.

He returned a second time to this country and has played in most states of the Union. His engagements include eight of the major orchestras, big courses in the large cities: Minneapolis, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Toledo, Milwaukee, Washington, Indianapolis, etc., the important university courses in Chicago, Indiana, Kansas, North Carolina, Northwestern, Notre Dame, Ohio, North Dakota, etc., and such large private courses as a number of Civic Music Associations, the Matinee Musicale of Cincinnati, the Coolidge chamber of festivals, the Iowa Spring Festival in Mt. Vernon, etc.

English Teacher Guest During F.T.A. Meeting

The Future Teachers of America held a meeting on Wednesday, May 4, at 7:00 p.m. in the Lower Social Room. Mr. Ronald Kent, an English exchange teacher from West Reading was the guest speaker; he talked on teachers' training in England.

Speaker

DR. HARRY J. CARMAN

Dr. Harry Carman Listed As Commencement Speaker

Dr. Harry J. Carman, Dean of Columbia College, New York, will be the Commencement speaker on Sunday, June 5 and will also be awarded an honorary L.L.D. degree at that time, announced Dr. Harry V. Masters, College President.

Dean Carman received his Ph.B. degree in 1909 and his Ph.D. and A.M. degrees in 1914 from Syracuse University. He was instructor and assistant professor in history and political science at Syracuse from 1914 to 1917. In 1919 he received his Ph.D. from Columbia University. Dean Carman was a member of the Department of History of Columbia from 1919 to 1943. Syracuse University honored him with an L.H.D. degree in 1938 and Wagner College with an L.L.D. in 1944. Hobart and William Smith Colleges also honored Dean Carman with an L.L.D. in 1938.

Educator

His major interest is education, particularly higher education; he was one of the founders of the contemporary civilization course at Columbia College which has been influential in changing the character of the first two years of the curriculum in liberal arts colleges in the United States. Dean Carman has long been interested in Adult Education and in this connection has been closely associated at various times with the educational work of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, the American Manufacturing Company, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, and the New York Adult Education Council which the late John H. Finley was largely instrumental in organizing. Dean Carman has been president of the latter organization since Dr. Finley's death. He is at present a member of the Board of Higher Education of the City of New York and during his incumbency on the Board, he has been helpful in selecting the present presidents of City, Hunter, and Brooklyn Colleges.

He has long been interested in agriculture and labor, and is acquainted with the problems that have long beset American agriculture. In the field of labor, he was, during the First World War, a member of the personnel staff of the American Manufacturing Company and is at present a member of the New York State Mediation Board.

Despite his teaching and administrative interests, Dean Carman has found time for research and publication.

Council Checking On "Who's Who" Selection Method

At a recent meeting of Student Council, the committee formed to investigate the method of selection for seniors in "Who's Who" submitted the following report:

That the people for Who's Who be selected by a joint student-faculty committee. The number of students on the committee should equal the number of faculty members on the committee. The students on this committee shall be made up of members of Student Council.

The students for this committee shall be nominated and balloted for at the first meeting of the new Student Council in May. At the same time there shall also be chosen a first and second alternate to the committee.

The plan at the present time is in the hands of the Faculty Committee for their approval.

Dr. Klein Returns From Foreign Trip

Dr. J. Warren Klein, President Emeritus of Albright College, returned April 11 from a trip throughout the Middle East. His travels included Damascus in Syria, Beirut, Lebanon, and the main cities in France, Italy, and Greece.

The main objectives in his visit to Beirut was to see the campus of the American University of Beirut and the Beirut Girls' School, which is the oldest girls' school in the Middle East.

Reading Officials Asked to Vacate Bern Street Lot

Mr. Charles L. Gordon, Jr., Treasurer of the College, asked city officials to vacate Bern Street between Birch and 13th Streets for the purpose of creating a physical education building with facilities for 800 students. In addition to the 800 students' athletic program the building will contain a swimming pool and locker and shower facilities for visiting teams. Plans are also made for a large field house and power house, and a caretaker's cottage nearby.

Vacating Bern Street will allow the wall that surrounds Albright Stadium to also surround the new proposed building.

Upon a motion made by City Councilman J. Clinton Bach, the Council moved to refer the request to a conference with the city officials aiding in collaboration with City Engineer Robert S. Chubb and Attorney C. Wilson Austin, City Solicitor.

German Honorary Inducts Members

An induction service highlighted Delta Phi Alpha's, the Honorary German Fraternity's, meeting last night in the Dean's Parlor at 8:00 p.m. New members inducted were Ralph Stoldt, Terrance Connor, Ronald Romig, Jesse Hunsberger, William Schaeffer, John Krouse, Ingelora Gramm, and Kathleen Guenther.

A round table discussion led by Dr. Gerrit Memming followed the induction. The subject discussed was Goethe's personality as reflected in his literary works.

Skull and Bones To Hold Banquet

At the last regular meeting of Skull and Bones, held last Wednesday, it was decided to hold a banquet on Wednesday, May 11, at 7 p.m. at the Crystal Restaurant Annex. At this time the results of the voting for next year's officers will be announced and a gift will be presented by the society to the College.

Skull and Bones will be represented at the Mardi Gras Carnival with Donald Snyder as chairman.

A film on cancer was presented which emphasized the importance of early discovery, adequate diagnosis, and effective treatment in reducing mortality. Gastric, breast, rectum, cervix, and lung are the type of cancers most fatal. Richard Stuart, president, presided at this final meeting.

Albright's Goethe Festival Brings Dr. Hans Gramm

Dr. Hans Gramm will address next Tuesday and Thursday Chapelets, May 10 and 12, on the subject "Goethe's Influence on American Scholars and Writers" as part of Albright's Goethe Festival Celebration.

In addition to Dr. Gramm, on Wednesday, May 11 at 8:00 p.m. in the College Chapel, the honorary German fraternity, Delta Phi Alpha, and Der Deutsche Verein jointly will sponsor a Goethe poem recital in which the German students of eight high schools of Berks County will participate. Various prizes will be awarded to the best recitalists. The best essay written by an Albright student on the subject "Goethe the Modern Man" will also be read. There will be three prizes given.

Dorace Hornberger, soprano, will sing a solo; there will be informal singing of Goethe's poems set to music. Refreshments will be served.

Library Exhibit

During this week in the Alumni Memorial Library, an exhibition of some of the most famous works of Goethe and also pictures of Goethe and the places where he spent his life, is displayed.

The civilized world everywhere is paying homage to the great poet-philosopher, Johann Wolfgang von Goethe on the occasion of the 200th Anniversary of his birth in 1749 in Frankfurt, Germany. Goethe stands high in the world's record of men who contributed mightily to the foundation of our modern ideas of the liberty of the individual, the dignity of man, and the supreme faith in all men to be masters of themselves, their governments, and their institutions.

Goethe Bicentennial

In the United States, a Goethe Bicentennial Foundation was inspired.

More Seed for Thought

One of the recent and current issues with us here at Albright is that of academic dishonesty. It is a problem that involves more than that of thought and action on the part of the Student Body, Faculty, or Administration. The business of cheating requires the serious consideration and action of each of these groups.

In any large group of people, some will take the easy way out. However, these people do not constitute a large part of the problem, especially since, in college, they are denying themselves the education for which they are paying.

But a large group of students is represented by those who must write reports under adverse circumstances. Some of the poor conditions griped about for writing reports are: too few library books in certain fields for required reports in proportion to the number of students using the books; some professors' indifferent attitudes toward this insufficiency of library books; student apathy toward handing in assigned reports in competition with other students' reports copied from "A" papers; and student indifference towards writing reports for professors who merely read the bibliography of the reports and hand them back. Some students also feel a sense of hopelessness in studying for tests when they realize that their marks are computed against other students who had a copy of last year's test.

If these were the only reasons for academic dishonesty, the solution would be simple. More library books that are needed could be made available through the efforts of professors' keeping close tabs on their teaching situations. The outlines or other pertinent notes concerning term papers could be kept on file by professors' as a safeguard against copying. And professors could realize their moral obligations of reading papers they require for their courses, and making a new test for every test unit. Although these suggestions are not the solution to the problem, they have some value.

Then, in addition to removing physical reasons for cheating, we also need a kind of re-interpretation of some of our basic principles. There are probably more factors which should be considered also in this big problem. And that is why the solution will come only after the discussions and actions of the Student Body, Faculty, and Administration.

A Competent Group

A week ago yesterday, the first meeting of the newly elected Student Council was held with President Bob White presiding for his first time. Of the nearly thirty voting members composing our student government body, approximately twenty were present. These figures do not include faculty advisors and representative—two of whom were there. Welcomed we're sure were interested visitors.

Considering the importance of an opening meeting and the responsible business of electing officers, more than the two-thirds should have been present to demonstrate their actual interest in their position and their full support for Mr. White. It is urgent that there be full attendance throughout the next college year for various reasons:

In a representative body, motions and resolutions should be voted on not by just a majority, but a total. Out of a desire to have each organization fully recognized, their delegated members should attend. In order to gain a good understanding of the questions presented weekly to Council, regular attendance is necessary. So that all the work of Council does not fall on a few, all members should be present to share the job. The president and his officers need all the support they can get. Finally, 100% participation is a key to preventing clique rule and to vitalizing student opinion more completely—

This last point brings to mind a concluding thought. Student Council is comprised of students who are to voice the sentiments of the organizations they represent, independent of outside pressure and void of purely personal objectives. There should be communication through the member to and from the organization, to and from Council. If organizations are lax in interest, it is to their discredit and their representatives' misfortune.

"WELL, WELL— THE SHINING KNIGHT IN WHITE ARMOR, THE GAY LOTHARIO FROM THE WEST, THE BEAU BRUMMEL OF PARK AVENUE— COME IN, JERK!"

A Job Well Done . . .

D. P. Fund Reaches $1000.00

Who said college students don't like to play with yo-yo's? What cynic said blowing bubbles was for kids and that anyone over sixteen wouldn't go near the stuff? Whoever mulled such thoughts around in his mind was proven wrong last Wednesday. For although our campus might have resembled a children's playground, it was for a worthy cause. Last Wednesday was our One Thousand dollar D. P. Day, and the home made board-walk on campus reaped in the necessary money to bring our D. P. fund to $1000.00!

The walk between the college chapel and the Administration building was redesigned. Balloons swayed between the trees, crepe paper stretched from one end of the walk to the other, and tables lined the path. Ice-cream, cake and soft drinks were bought for a dime, and gardenias sold like hot cakes. Balls and bats, yo-yo's and bubble blowers created a sensation. The home-rigged swing in front of Sherman Cottage provided fun for all who tried it. And it was surprising to see how many students missed the pail that was placed in the middle of "Selwyn Lake." The nickles, dimes and quarters that reached the bottom of the pond, instead of the pail, made it necessary for a brave dorm gal to plunge into the cold water to get the money out.

The amazon that carried a lovely lass over his shoulder proved to be a good background for photographs. The head of the leopard-skinned amazon and the head of the scantily clad maiden were cut out so that our students could put their faces in the proper position for a candid shot.

It's days like last Wednesday that make everyone connected with Albright proud of their students. For the organization and planning of $1000.00 D. P. Day we wish to thank Doris Chanin. For the smoothly run booths we can thank Doris Downes, Kathleen Guenther, William Marlow, Beverly Bresler, Joyce Thomson, Esther Messersmith, John Wise, and June Christman. And to all those who did everything, including cutting classes, to help work at the booths we say; you're a wonderful bunch, thank you!

Socialized Medicine . . .

Let's Begin To Think It Over

The term "socialized medicine" and "compulsory health insurance" have become familiar to everyone. Every college student might do well to consider the ideas behind those phrases and the effect they might have on him.

Three separate bills have been proposed to better the health of American citizens. The administration-sponsored bill would provide compulsory health insurance for the nation at a cost of about six billion dollars annually. The money would be paid by the participants in the plan. The second bill would allow each state to decide how much health service it would provide for its citizens. The third bill would provide free medical care for the destitute.

The administration bill is the most widely discussed. Opponents of the bill argue that its passage would create a new army of bureaucrats, lower standards of medical care, and result in eventual deterioration of hospital facilities, medical education, and scientific research. They contend that in nations where similar plans have been tried, from sixty to seventy per cent of the calls made by patients on physicians were unnecessary. They point to our medical facilities, the best in the world, and to the great advances we have made in recent years. They readily the healthiest people in the world; that our great progress in that respect could not have been made if the government had meddled in medicine.

Supporters of the bill assert that every citizen is entitled to freedom from fear of sickness without treatment. They say that the benefits of our modern facilities and new medical discoveries are of little avail to those who can't afford them. They point to draft board statistics as evidence that a large percentage of people lack proper medical care.

The Bureau of Research and Statistics, Social Security Board issued a leaflet in March, 1946, which said, "Of 16,000,000 youths examined, fully half were unfit for military service. The nature of the defects among the rejectees suggests that half to two-thirds of the defects could have been rehabilitated with timely care."

The Administration contends that conditions such as those need immediate correction; that the inability of a large portion of citizens to obtain proper medical care is detrimental to the nation's security.

These are but a few of the countless arguments on the question. You pay your money and take your choice.

DANDY LIONS

She was really stumped when we asked her what color her eyes were, but after a short discussion, we decided that they were predominantly blue, with a slight touch of brown contrast. Not everyone can be that individualistic, so you have every right to ask who this fortunate young lady might be. And Lois Lackey is the only possible answer.

Our conscientious and hard working Dandy Lion majors in sociology and minors in psychology. A very busy girl, she is even busier than usual at this particular time, for she's Custodian of the Crown for our May Day Ceremonies, and as feature editor of the Blue Book (she couldn't imagine a beaver during the past several weeks trying to meet the deadlines. A member of the Pi Alpha Tau Sorority, she belongs to Dorm Council and is the secretary-treasurer of Women's Senate.

Lois has a passion for swimming and finds an outlet for said passion in teaching swimming and life saving downtown for the Red Cross. Field hockey and camping come next in the line of interest. Incidentally (she couldn't imagine how we found out), she has a mania for mystery programs and soap operas. "Some of them can be very intellectual," Dr. Geil might say she's rationalizing; we couldn't say. She's crazy about pinocchio and likes good books and classical music. Nothing like variety!

For the future, Lois says she is interested in doing social work, preferably in the Red Cross. She has no "other" plans—"at least for a year." That's a puzzling statement, but we think we saw Bill written across her face. Good luck, Lois, in all your plans, whenever they may come to be.

HEO

It's spring time and fashion time, so what could be more appropriate than a fashion show. The veterans' wives proved a willing audience for our strutting models, the sophomore sewing class. The girls modeled the clothing they made during the year, except for a nightgown that's three-drawers after the long winters use and a dress or two that just didn't seem to fit any more. Some becoming cotton numbers, which fit like the store bought ones, were modeled by the upperclass seamstresses.

The setting for the show was a typical home sewing center with everything from a sewing machine to dummy models. Miss Elder introduced the living models, commented on the highlights of their costumes and reminded the wives that their husbands could save a tidy sum if their better halves (?) whipped together their own wardrobes.

Who says that four people can't live on $18 a week? The meal planning class is going to prove that it's possible to do without neglecting all those minerals and vitamins we need to keep us ticking. They won't eat steak, but corn meal mush never hurt anyone.

Future home ec students were invited to inspect our campus last Friday afternoon. Another fashion show was held and this time Kay Collins introduced the breathless (from making snappy changes) models. Then to add a dignified touch to the event, the guests were served tea, and were convinced, we hope, that Albright is the place for them.

LIONS LACE GREYHOUNDS, SCRANTON 11-2, 6-4

Harnly Cops 2nd in Javelin at Penn

Spearman Passes 194 ft. Line, Shines in Devil, Hawk Losses

Al Harnly did it again! Fresh from setting a javelin record at Albright College's track inaugural against F&M, the brown-haired, strong-arm hurler from Wyoming heaved the spear 194 feet, 5 and 3/4 inches to capture second place in his event at the 55th Annual Penn Relays at Philadelphia's Franklin Field last Saturday.

Harnly's effort was only four feet behind the winning throw of Robert Kirk, of North Carolina, who won the match over a field of 61 of the nation's top throwers. The mark was not set better than the record he established at Albright, when he opened the season with a throw of 186 feet, six inches.

Consistently hitting above 190 feet all morning, Harnly qualified for the finals in second place and held that position in the deciding competition. Coach Gene Shirk expects the stellar slinger to better the 200 mark before the season is out.

Relay Team Looks Good

Albright's mile relay team, running one of its best races of the year, was outshone in its event by winding up last in a field of seven entries. Clocked at 3:24 minutes, the quartet of Ed Anlian, Dave Roland, Roy Boush and Dick Reich was definitely out of its class in a race won by the Manhattan "B" team in 3:22.7.

Leadoff runner Ed Anlian toured the oval in a sensational 52 seconds, but still wound up seventh. His successors, although running consistently, couldn't better their position. Roland hit 53.6 seconds and Boush made a 53.6 trip around the 440-yard lane.

Starting on a brilliant burst of power but unable to catch the field, anchorman Dick Reich covered the stripe in 55 seconds to wind up the race. Although Albright's effort failed to duplicate the only triumph in its history in 1927, the present-day Lions dwarfed the former winning time of 3:39.8.

Brenner Leaps 21 Feet

The only other contestant for Albright, Howie Brenner, failed to qualify in his event although he too turned in one of the best performances of his career. Leaping 21 feet, one inch, the consistent point-producer for the Red and White bettered all of his previous match-winning marks. The event was won by Wayne University's Lorenzo Wright who jumped 23 feet, five and 3/4 inches.

Although they took six firsts, Albright's track and field combination took another one on the chin here Tuesday against Dickinson, 71-55. The Red and White thincleds also wound up with six second and eight third places. At the did it again! Harnly broke his own record when he tossed the javelin 191 feet. The Albright wonder man also tied for first in the high jump and took a second in the pole vault for 12 points in the home effort.

Gerry Potts won the shotput, Dave Roland won the low hurdles, Roy Boush took the half-mile and Howie Brenner won the broad jump to pace the Albrightians. Cappel, Kubisen, Leitman, Anlian, Zellner and Reich showed up well against the rough and ready Devils, with second a and third places.

Sporting a strong field aggregation but showing up weak in track rivalry, Albright's thincleds dropped an 86-40 decision last week to St. Joseph's at Philadelphia. Al Harnly was big noise for the Lions as he captured the javelin throw at 176 feet, five inches, tied for first in the pole vault with the Hawks' Mike Rodden. Harnly also placed second in the high jump to garner a total of 12 points. Joe Kubisen and Gerry Potts won the shot put and discus.

Ursinus Here Next

Tomorrow afternoon the Shirkmen meet the Ursinus Bears on their grounds. The Bears are new opposition for the trackmen. Juniata's Indians play host to the Red and White next Tuesday.

Facing the Bears will be Russ Binder, who has run the 100 in 9.8 this year; Bill Hefferich, George Kennedy, an ace discus thrower; Bill Turner, Don Compstone, Dick Bailey in the field events, and a mile team of Zeigler, Foster, Cohen, and Schriener.

Gulian Gives Info To Albrightian

Promising "to give Albright a team which we will be justly proud of," Eddie Gulian announced his intention of visiting the Albright campus in connection with his recent appointment as Albright's new football and baseball coach.

The new mentor, who comes here from his post as backfield coach at Lafayette, will travel to Reading to acquaint himself with next-year's material and pending coaches. Gulian will remain at Lafayette until June and then lay plans for his first meeting with the Lions in August.

In a letter to The Albrightian, Gulian said he would use the T-formation system of play with "flankers and spread ends." The line will call the blocking assignments as "sock-it" and "run-it," the grid coach said.

Gulian is an advocate of strict training according to his remarks. He assures the students that the team will be in the best of condition. "To me," Gulian wrote, "there is no short cut to a good football team except hard work."

A native of Norristown, Gulian is well-known to the sports public in this area. He played pro basketball here in the late thirties and served, during the war, as a civilian instructor with the Air Corps at KSTC. Gulian was an all-around athlete in high school and college, attaining the captaincy of the Gettysburg football team in 1930.

Gulian also made the significant statement that the effort he will put forth in football and baseball will continue to keep him busy the complete year.

Girls Rout Drexel In Tennis, Baseball

Last Saturday proved to be field day for Albright's lassies as they trounced the Drexel Tech girls in tennis and baseball on their home grounds in Philadelphia. The femme racket-wielders captured three out of the five matches, giving them a clear title of victory. Joanne Peck, in first seeder position, played a swift game to gain her crown, but Jean Magee was defeated in a good battle with her opponent, Captain Jean Long, in third place on the line up, lived up to her name by taking the three full sets to triumph in her match. Joanne Baker and Janie Pollack championed the doubles ranks, while Helen Hasselgren and Eleanor Spring lost out after three good sets.

Adding even greater laurels to away with twenty-seven runs in Albright, the diamondgirls walked the afternoon baseball game, leaving only three for Drexel. From the start of the contest, it was clear that the Lionesses' superior batting and fielding ability would easily give them the game. Jean Schwartz was the brightest sparkler with a home run, two doubles, and a triple to her credit. She disproved the old adage that a good pitcher cannot bat, by striking out the Drexel co-eds one, two, three in the second inning. Nancy Stump stepped into the box in the sixth inning and continued to send the Drexelites back to their bench.

Marge Zeock put in her customary consistent performance at bat and on first, as did Shirley Johnson and Jean Magee, the other basemen. The fielders never got much business, but the infield received ample practice for future encounters. The femme sluggers connected for a grand total of thirty-five hits, with no girl going down on a strike out.

The majority of the entire team played good ball, while the sub-

Low 75's by Yocum, Batorf, Pace Gol, Win Over LaSalle

The Red and White's club-totin' caddie-worriers were on the war-path last week — boosting their season's average to .750 by throttling the LaSalle golf team, 8 1/2 to 1/2 at the Reading Country Club.

Highlight of the match was a close hole-in-one by Bob Batorf on the course's No. 4 hole—a par three. The ball landed on the green, rimmed the cup and came to a stop two feet from the hole. Batorf sunk it for a birdie.

Batorf and Johnny Yocum both registered 75's to pace the Lions while D. Fengan was low for LaSalle's Explorers with 78. The visitors' points came from a split score over the best ball tabulation between Albright's Gilbert Rickenbach and LaSalle's Lawrence Griesch. Art Dunlop and Earl Langford defeated their opponents handily.

Next Tuesday, the Lions take on a new foe in golf rivalry when they travel to Dickinson. On Thursday, the Lion linksters move to Scranton for a match. Albright won last year's match from the Royals, 6-0.

Pi Taus, Daymen Clinch Leagues

Concluding an almost completely fair-weather, 24-game, intramural baseball season, the Daymen romped over their fellow National League opponents for a perfect record, while the Pi Tau Betas maintained their early lead to capture the American League crown. Oddity of the Nation! League finale was a three-way tie for last place among the Hot Shots, Baby Lions, and KTX.

On April 27, the Pi Taus clinched their American League lead by trouncing the second-place Kappas, 10-1, under the last-moving pitching of Roy Coochias. The Daymen lengthened their margin in the National division with a 22-1 rout over the KTX. Other games of the day saw the Baby Lions nose out the Hot Shots, 14-11, and the Zetas trim the APO's, 6-3.

An 11-3 defeat of the Zetas on April 28, enabled the Pi Taus to further their lead; and the Daymen kept pace with another win over the Baby Lions, 16-1. The KTX captured their first win, 14-10, over the Hot Shots.

Rained-out games of May 2 were postponed until last Tuesday, when the Pi Taus edged the APO's, 6-5, in what looked almost like a seventh inning win for the previously luckless APO's. The Kappas captured the American League second standing by defeating the Zetas, 5-3. In the National League the Daymen grabbed their last tilt from the Hot Shots, 14-3, and the KTX continued their winning streak by drubbing the Baby Lions, 12-7.

Tossers Triumph Two Times On Near-Perfect Play; Muller, Martone Hurl Wins

Wagner Here; Lebanon Valley, E-town On Tap as Smithmen Stake Record

Putting on their best hitting and pitching show of the current campaign, the Lions pounded out two big victories, 6-4, 11-2, over Scranton and Moravian, after dropping a fumbling 8-7 ball game to E-town. The rebounding baseballers have burst forth with some superb pitching and excellent hitting their last four times out, and now have a 4-3 record.

Coming up next on the schedule are Wagner, tomorrow afternoon, May 7, Lebanon Valley, on Monday, and E-town next Tuesday. Elizabethtown will be in for a hard time as we seek revenge for the 8-7 setback. Wagner took us to the task by a 6 to 2 score last year, and the Anville aggregation coked out a 3-2 victory.

Paul Muller handcuffed the Greyhounds of Moravian, 11-2, with two hits and nine strikeouts. Five runs came across in the second inning brought in by Glass' scorching single down the left field line to score Delp and Muller; and with the help of the Moravian third baseman, plus Jim Fro-muth's timely double, three more runs scored.

Moravian's two runs came on a walk and a fielder's choice, both unearned. Guss added the punch with a triple in the fourth to score Ervin, and in return was brought in by Billy Krohto's single. Krohto had 3 for 3 for the day. Muller himself added some insurance when he sacrifice bunted in two runs in the seventh, while Russ Millard also helped the cause with a double that scored Hoffert. Albright's tally in the ninth started with Krohto's double and Lee's single to end the holocaust.

Martone Limits Royals

In the slugfest at Scranton, Albright found another hurler to add to its staff of Baumgaertel and Muller. Martone limited the "coal miners" to three hits in the first inning and one in the third. From there he went on to pitch hitless ball. "Em" Glass and "Mook" Guss both had three for five at the plate and drove in five runs between them.

Albright's loss to E-town resulted from poor fielding adding up to ten errors. Though 2 ungarretel gave up only six hits, ten of the Lion men died on a base.

Local Hurler Coaches

Who's bouquets of May flowers to be handed out, one goes big one should be given to Bobbie Rothberger, veteran Berks Co. pitcher. Bob ably substituted for Coach Smith at Scranton and coached the victorious nine to a "Royal" triumph, 11-2. Thanks a million, Bob.

I-M Track Meet

On Deck, Monday

Assistant Intramural Athletic Director Lloyd Parsons has announced that the annual Intramural Track Meet will be held Monday, May 9, at 4 p.m. in the college Stadium. All organizations should enter at least one contest for each event, with a maximum of two allowed per each event. To hold an event, four organizations or independents must be represented. Officials for the Intramural Meet will be members of the varsity track team.

Schedule of events:

- 4:00—120 yard low hurdles.
- 4:00—High jump.
- 4:00—Shot put.
- 4:15—100-yard dash.
- 4:30—220-yard dash.
- 4:45—440-yard dash.
- 5:00—Javelin.
- 5:00—Broad jump.

No members of the varsity track and field teams can participate. All other independents and organizations are encouraged to sign up today if they were not able to meet yesterday's deadline.

Last year a swell time was had, as the sophomores nosed out the freshmen for first place.

Cats Rout Hounds, Bow to E-town

After dropping a 5-4 tilt to a strong Elizabethtown team on April 26, Albright's racketmen routed a hapless Moravian outfit 7-2 on the Greyhounds' courts last Saturday to top their season's log to 4-6-1.

Coach Leo Bloom's proteges, with a shrunken squad due to the absence of Jay Shenk, bore down with relentless fury on the Blue and White Bethlehmites to cop a 7-2 decision. For the first time this year the Lion netmen snared all the played singles and doubles matches as Moravian could only garner two points via the default route. Except for the Red and White's John Dohner, who was extended to three sets before winning, the Albrightians ran into little trouble. Jim Mengel, Bob Ruoff, Tom Kane, and the Kissinger added the cause with fashionable wins. Ruoff and Kissinger, along with Mengel and Kane, grabbed the doubles for good measure.

E-Town Trio Stars

A strong trio of soft-war tennisers consisting of veterans Frank Zink and Harold Fellenbaum, plus newcomer Jim Memminger, proved too much for the travelling Lions at E-town where the Lizzies eked out a 5-4 triumph. Kissinger, Kane, and the duos of Mengel-Kane and Ruoff-Kissinger accounted for the Cats' four.

Next Tuesday against this same Elizabethtown team and on Friday when they play host to Ursinus, the Bloom-boys will be out to reach the 500 mark as the schedule moves down the home stretch.

Gals Sniff Skunk Day With Doubts

Snaking into the girls' locker room after the date of Skunk Day —Albright's traditional battle of the sexes—sponsored by The Albrightian Sport Staff—had been announced on May 19, Mosser's Mammies were teamed with excitement and questions as to the oncoming event. Who plays? —The girls' baseball team and a group of male representatives of the intramural softball league. Still more inquiries by the newcomers on campus led to the fact that the handicapped males catch and bat lefthanded.

Years before, a hockey game was used as a deciding factor in superiority, but this proved too rough; and four years ago the coeds decided to battle out their differences on the baseball diamond. The first three years the men, confident and cocky, strode off with the laurels—not to mention "little Horatio," the prized china Skunk and symbol of victory. But last season, the gals took matters into their own hands and eked out a 15-14 decision to gain possession of the little pet—after a few arguments, of course.

The male species, smarting from defeat and crying "foul play," are hoping to avenge the setback. So this year's contest should prove to be a battle royal with plenty of sweat, tears, and laughter as a setting.

After all searching questions had been satisfied, the feminine voices resounded as one body, and their heads nodded in agreement. "Don't worry, the weaker sex always wins." From the corner came a shriek of terror as one pert miss and baseball enthusiast looked up astoundedly, and exclaimed, "Oh, but they mustn't!"

Added attraction to the men's left-handed antics, will be the officiating—done by two members of our eagle-eye faculty.

New N.S.A. Committee Plans for Economic Aid to Students and D.P.'s

The hard-working students for the D. P. drive have instituted a new and successful program to help in boosting funds still further towards the $1200 mark. This Economic Sub-Committee has gotten off to a great start by earning approximately $78 for the volunteers and adding $35 to the D. P. fund.

This new system operates on the basis that on the first job half the money goes to the Fund and the other half to the worker. From then on the volunteer receives the full pay for any job he gets through this committee. The necessity and value of this project needs no further elaboration.

Contact

If there is anyone who wishes to participate in this worthwhile program, they should hand their name, phone number, and available hours into the Public Relations office. Men can contact Vince Gentile; women can get in touch with Barbara Wrisley. More workers are needed to wash windows, mow lawns, wash cars, and do house cleaning. The members of the committee have cooperated and they are so well satisfied with the results that they have voluntarily extended some bonuses.

Here is a grand way for Albright students to circulate among and become acquainted with the people in this vicinity. How about handing your name in today, and help in getting some valued results?

One reason for the Red-shirts' overwhelming victory was the way they clicked as a team. Steady afternoon practices have shown the fruits of the labor put in by the girls, for Drexel had only met twice on the diamond before going down under Albright claws.

Rev. Allan Ranck Speaker at Y Meeting Stresses Youth Movement in Churches

Rev. J. Allan Ranck, director of Young People's Work in the E. U. B. church, was guest speaker at the regular "Y" meeting on May 3. Speaking in the College Chapel before an audience of approximately fifty students, Rev. Ranck emphasized the idea of having individuals starting a new endeavor in the young movement of the church right now where they happen to be.

Stressing the selections of high values, Rev. Ranck brought to mind the importance of picking the best in student campus activities, especially those dealing with the spiritual values of life. The audience took particular interest in Rev. Ranck's expression of anonymity, frugality, and dedication, which dealt with the ideas and experiences of every day living and of not wearing religion for show. On Wednesday morning, Rev. Ranck spoke in the Seminary Chapel and presented the graduating seniors with certificates of leadership from the educational board of the church.

REV. J. ALLAN RANCK

Rev. Ranck appeared on campus during February, 1948 with the Mission Visitation Committee of the E. U. B. church for the purpose of presenting current views of the Christian life in this field, discussing questions pertaining to missionary work. A native of New Holland, Pa., and pastor for nine years of Zion U. B. Allentown, Rev. Ranck is a graduate of Lebanon Valley College and received his Bachelor of Divinity degree from Bonebrake Theological Seminary.
