Y's To Hear C. E. Hinshaw

Cecil E. Hinshaw will be the guest speaker at the Spring Y Retreat, which will be held at Bynden Wood during the weekend of May 6 and 7. The theme for the retreat is "What Things Matter Most?" Mr. Hinshaw's topics for the four seminars are: "The Choice Is Ours," "The Price of Peace," "Birth of a Civilization," and "The Call of God."

Mr. Hinshaw is now secretary of the St. Louis Regional Fellowship of Reconciliation and also a lecturer for the American Friends Service Committee. From 1944 to 1949 he was president of William Penn College at Oskaloosa, Iowa. Previous to this he taught religion and philosophy at Friends University, Wichita, Kansas.

The retreat will begin Saturday noon with a box lunch and will end Sunday afternoon. Between the seminars there will be out-of-doors recreation, and Saturday evening original skits will be produced around the campfire. A communion service will be held early Sunday morning.

Norman Snook and Kathleen Guenther are co-chairmen of this year's Y Retreat. Francis Carney, who is in charge of registration, has announced that the students will be able to register next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 1, 2 and 3, in Union Hall, Administration Building and the Science Hall.

NSA Sub-region Confab Tomorrow

The Pennsylvania Sub-Region of the National Student Association will hold a conference on Student Rights and Responsibilities at Bryn Mawr College tomorrow. The conference will discuss Student Rights and Responsibilities as outlined in the N.S.A. Student Bills of Rights which are being considered for official N.S.A. adoption, the problem of creating a mature, socially alert Student Body and the role of the N.S.A. in relation to these questions.

Radio Work Shop To Present Final Play Of Season

Climaxing a 13 week series of Albright College Radio Workshop productions will be the presentation of "Return To My Knee," a comedy farce, to be broadcast next Wednesday night over Station WEEU from 8:30-9 o'clock. Richard Stinson will be heard in the leading role as a ventriloquist who falls in love with his dummy and suffers rather fanciful consequences. Stinson will be supported by a cast of Workshop regulars.

The current series of broadcasts has been under the direction of Nan Heckman and has consisted of modern dramas and current comedies. Miss Heckman has expressed the hope that the Workshop can continue its present quality of productions with the support of interested students. Membership in Radio Workshop is not limited to persons with previous radio experience, but presents opportunities to anyone interested in acting, sound effects, musical direction or production in general. Students seeking such extra-curricular work are urged to notify either the director or the Office of Public Relations of their interest so that arrangements can be made for them in the new series which is in the process of re-organization. With the graduation of such students as Harry Hart, Fred Neuroth, William Skinner and Beverly Bressler, openings will be made in almost every phase of Radio Workshop activity.

There is an immediate need for an assistant commentator on the weekly news broadcast heard over Station WHUM every Saturday from 2:30-2:45 o'clock. Karol Ruppel, Radio News Editor of The Albrightian has stated that men and women interested in news broadcasting are urged to contact him at their earliest convenience to arrange for a trial broadcast. The job involves sports as well as news reporting and interview work with campus and local personalities.

Largely as a result of her work as Director of the Albright Radio Workshop, Miss Heckman has recently been appointed Public Service Director for Station WEEU to succeed Miss Mildred Carroll, who is relinquishing her post to assume Oratorical Contest To Be Held Wed.

An Oratorical Contest, sponsored by the speech classes of Albright, will be held next Wednesday, May 3, at 8 o'clock in the college chapel. The eight speakers who will participate in the program were chosen by presenting the best talks on famous personalities in class. The program will be supervised by Mrs. Annadora Shirk and Mrs. Jean Voss, public speaking professors.

The winner of the contest will receive the Charles S. Kelchner prize of $15. Mr. Kelchner, a scout for the St. Louis Cardinals, graduated from Albright in 1895.

Joan M. Lavesson, now a student at Michigan, won the prize in 1949 during her freshman year.

Fall Class Schedules To Be Issued Monday

The schedule of classes for the fall semester of the 1950-51 school year will be available Monday, May 1, according to Mr. Newton S. Danford, registrar.

Spring registration for the fall semester will take place Tuesday, May 22.

Retiring Council Suggests Plans For Coming Year

The Student Council of 1949-50 held its last meeting before the new Council takes over on Tuesday, April 25.

Work on the new Constitution took up the greater part of the meeting, as well as reports from committee heads.

Beverly Bressler, chairman of the Leadership Training Program, urged that the course be continued next year with the suggestions that students sign up for it on their registration forms, that it be a one day session in the fall of the year, that the name of the course be changed, and that support of campus leaders be enlisted before the fall session.

Kathleen Guenther, chairman of the Social Committee, suggested the new Council should have organizations hand the desired dates for activities of the 1950 fall semester to the Faculty Calendar Committee this spring so the dates could be approved before the close of this semester and organizations could work with greater assurance on their social events. She also suggested that a student be permitted to serve on the calendar committee for the committee to know student feeling on calendar appointments.

Dick Chambers, Mardi Gras chairman, reminded all organizations to fill in and return concession slips before Friday, April 28, in the Albrightian office door mailbox.

The Inter-Fraternity Constitution has undergone minor changes and will be presented to Council for approval in the near future.

The Council moved that all persons capable of writing college songs, which are not in abundance at Albright, should be contacted by Council and any suggestions any students may have as to capable song writers should be given to Council members.

Bynden Wood Party Scheduled For Faculty

The members of the Albright faculty will hold a social party tonight at Bynden Wood. A light supper will be served buffet style.

John Savidge, Reading biology major, was elected editor-in-chief of the 1951 Cue by the junior class in a special class meeting last Tuesday. At the same time John Wise was named business manager.

A future high school teacher, Savidge is a member of the Domino Club, Skull and Bones, Daymen's Organization, the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity and the track team. He was born in Tower City, Pa., and graduated from the Tamaqua (Pa.) High School.

Wise is vice-president of the Pi Tau Beta fraternity and a member of Student Council. He is a native of Reading.

One hundred thirty of the 175 members of the junior class voted in the Cue election. The appointment of Savidge and Wise was approved by Student Council and the Faculty Committee on Publications.

Alma Natanblut was also a nominee for the Cue editorship. Another candidate for the post of business manager was Devere Pomroy.

The editor of the 1950 Cue, which was distributed to students this week, was W. Walter Hayum, John Worley was the business manager.

Cue Dedicated To C. L. Gordon, College Treasurer

The 1950 Cue, distributed last Tuesday, is dedicated to Mr. Charles L. Gordon Jr., for 23 years treasurer of Albright College.

"He has given his time and efforts freely, not only to the tremendous task of handling the college's financial affairs, but also to numerous student affairs and problems," the dedication reads. "He is an active link between Albright College and the Reading community through his civic leadership and active participation in its progress."

The editors concluded the dedication by saying, "We are happy to be able to dedicate this volume to Mr. Gordon in recognition of his tireless efforts and cheerful helpfulness."

W. Walter Hayum, Cue editor, and his staff are to be commended for producing a yearbook of which the class of 1950 and the college may be proud. The book of 128 pages is divided into six sections, Campus, Academic, Seniors, Activities, Social and Athletics.

Among the more outstanding features of the 1950 Cue are the large senior pictures, the pages dividing the various sections and the informal snapshots of various campus activities.

Leaders Chosen For Mardi Gras

Richard Chambers, chairman of Mardi Gras, has announced the following committees to assist in the planning of the event: Organization and Planning, Robert Van Houten, chairman; Dance, Kathryn Collins, chairman; Margaret Sternberg, Mary Ellen Schuman, Ruth Bray, Marilyn Himmelstein and Nancy Reed; Hospitality, Betty Bratton, chairman; Maintenance, Charles Wolfe, chairman; Burton Schaffer, Robert De Farges, Ronald Romig, James Gerhart, James Mann, Ronald Black; Technical, Edward Seisler, chairman, Warren Kaebnick, Robert Batdorf, William Wesner, Kenneth Wagner, Eugene Batastini and Prof. Edwin Dunkle, advisor; Publicity, Walter Hayum, chairman, James Raab, Fred Neuroth, Jack Gounder and Harry Hart.

A Year Of Progress

Inasmuch as my term of office as President of the Student Council has come to an end, I feel obligated to give to you a general report concerning the accomplishments and the problems of your student government.

Interest in Council's activities was high last year when I assumed office and I sincerely wish that I could say the same upon leaving office this year. I am convinced that the principle reason for this lack of interest centers around the nature of the business of which Council concerns itself, namely the constitution. We should remind ourselves that every year council does not deal with identical questions. Every year isn't a flag-waving year in which colorful personalities are debating likewise colorful issues. This fact must be clearly understood if one desires to appraise the work of the council. A constitution can be either interesting or boring depending, of course, upon one's attitude, but regardless of one's attitude the problem remains to be resolved; and a lack of serious interest never leads toward a solution.

I can report that many things have been accomplished by Council which have contributed toward making this year a year of progress. First of all, the student campaign for the proposed physical education building was a tremendous success, and you deserve all the praise and credit. Any person who is aware of the sacrifice many of you made to contribute to the campaign would tip his hat to you. Secondly, the Council inaugurated the Leadership Training Program which, though not too successful this year, will most certainly gain momentum next year because a program of such practical value most assuredly will not fall by the wayside. Another project which has been completed except for faculty approval has been the Interfraternity Council. Our social and chapel programs have been very successful and worthwhile and as a matter of fact, all of the council committees have done praiseworthy jobs. They deserve much more credit than many times they receive. If I had the space and the time there is much more I could tell you, but I'm sure you can see that your Council has tried to promote your interests through that which I have already mentioned.

Students, it is my personal belief that Albright provides much more than an academic environment. It affords a friendliness which can hardly be equaled anywhere. As long as that remains with us your student government will be successful. Let not your membership in the many organizations on campus keep your interest from your student government which expresses your voice. Let it be heard.

Before I add "finis" to this report permit me to say with all sincerity, "Thanks to you for providing me with such worthwhile experiences. It was a privilege that I'll not forget."

Bob.

Utopia University

Along with prospects of eating meals by taking one pill a day and of living in push-button houses, there is the delightful new method of "sleep-teaching"—doing your learning while you are sound asleep on a beauty rest mattress. This isn't another nightmare out of the book, "1980," it's the result of scientific study started at the University of North Carolina and now being carried on all over the world. (See "Look" Magazine—March 14.)

It seems that part of your brain is on duty constantly and can learn anything from chemical equations to postmen's routes even while you're asleep. But don't drop off to sleep with a book under your pillow until you finish this, please. The process is a rather complicated one.

First you have to have an electroencephalograph so that you will know when you are absolutely asleep, or at least so someone or something will know so that the specially built phonograph can be switched on and the knowledge can start pouring in. Now the rest is dependent upon your brain—I told you it was complicated.

If you ever get to sleep, your head is so crammed with knowledge in the morning, that you will very probably have a headache; and besides, you have to review the stuff while awake to make it practicable knowledge. The equipment, which I can't even pronounce, is a trifle expensive and you have to hire a laboratory technician to run it, not to mention that brain angle. So all in all, Mr Elliot's scheme (Mr. Elliot is the father of this invention) has yet to be of any use to college students.

There's another side to the story, however. With the announcement of this monstrous discovery, Mr. Elliot has let the cat out of the bag, and ingenious students can take over from here. There is now not only an excuse for sleeping in class, but a scientifically proven one. The fact that the student is absolutely asleep is incontestable; so the need for the electrowhateveritis is eliminated. The professor takes the place of the phonograph; and the brain, if that's still a problem, can be adequately replaced by some fellow classmate suffering from insomnia who will lend you his notes.

And so we see this year's freshman, three years from now, in a classroom lined with beds snoring away while the professor, who is the piteous victim of this story, talks on in a quiet monotone, being careful not to disturb the state of absolute sleep. By a signal light on his desk, the prof knows it's time to change classes so he tiptoes out and another tiptoes in and classes resume.

Science Slants

As Sammy Science Hall returned to Merner-Pfeiffer with a generous supply of benzedrene and No-Dose, he seemed prepared for that "heat" of the Maytime Races. Somehow Sammy has changed. His cranial nerves barely transmit impulses; his sphygmomanometer records an uneven pounding; and his analytical balance has gone completely haywire. Could it be that he has contracted chronic amorphitis from the metamorphosing of the vernal equinox? Are the other symptoms present: premarital interdigitation, esoteric osculation, cardinal malloesitis? Of course not! Even Bob Konrath will admit that science majors are immune to spring fever.

In General Biology Prof. Hollenbach rereashed a few theories of the origin of life and began planning for a bird hike. After forbidding the collection of leaves on the museum grounds, he threw new "light" on this rare opportunity to observe Mt. Penn—nocturnally. There should be at least the required number of species along the Skyline Drive. Don't let this assignment go until the last night. (Just us two and ye olde flashlight makes three.)

Recently Jack Greenspan was overheard optimistically predicting the future of his fellow sophomore pre-meds, "We'll have a gala celebration. I'll drop my shock, washup and visit both of you at the Cozy Rest Hospital."

Science Fundamentals students received the bad news this week. Their test on biology will consist of 90 fill-in questions and one essay question. All this in 50 minutes! By the way, don't forget to bring these colored pencils; the essay question will include drawing a diagram. Could that human skeleton in the lecture room be a Science Fundamentals student who decided to end it all? Keep your chins up, boys.

Professor Perfect

My favorite prof is one of lenience—
 Schedules tests at my convenience.
 Football game the night before?
 Go and watch those Lions roar.
 That test will gladly be postponed—
 Copies even may be loaned.
 About the homework he is firm:
 Never more than once a term!
 He hands out A's and B's a-plenty;
 Flunks only those with less than twenty.
 Does he ask you to recite?
 No indeedy!—It's all right.
 He knows you studied before you went to Class—at least he knows you meant to!
 Movies illustrate the text:
 Cartoons first, the newsreels next.
 He never, never checks attendance—
 Often even serves refreshments!
 Bring your combs and bobby-pins
 If he sees them, he just grins;
 He knows they help to make the beauties
 And keep his classes filled with cuties.
 Where to find him, did you ask?
 No, not at Albright—alas!

—Mary Phillips.

Introducing Mr. Science Hall himself, Bob Batdorf, known to his colleagues in chemistry as the "blind hunter." Bob is the versatile young scientist with an interesting past and an even more interesting future. Bob hails from Reading and when not living at the science hall, he can be found at 838 N. 11th Street repairing radios or helping his father in the gift shop.

Bob graduated from Reading High School in 1944 and matriculated at Albright the following fall. Not much later Bob received the well-known "greetings" from Uncle Sam and was soon wearing the bell-bottomed trousers of the U. S. Navy. As an instructor in the navy Bob taught electronics at the Naval Research Laboratories in Washington, D. C. By 1946 Bob was back at Albright once more enjoying the peculiar aromas of chem lab so dear to his heart.

Since 1946 Bob has devoted much time to his position as lab assistant in the chem department and the work that is associated with a chem major and a math minor. Work seems to agree with Bob, for in his sophomore year he received the Mathematics Award and in his junior year, the American Chemical Society Award. All is not work with this "A" student. Bob has served as secretary and president of the Pi Tau Beta fraternity and at present is its pledgemaster, as the pledges who go on his note hunts will know. Bob has been president of the Alchemists Society for the past two years and previous to that served as its vice-president. In addition to these activities, Bob is an avid camper and hunter and spends much of his time with his motor boat.

Before starting on his graduate work, Bob plans to teach an elementary geology course this summer at the Reading Public Museum. After this summer, Bob will begin to haunt the halls of the University of Minnesota where he holds a teaching assistantship and intends to begin work toward a Ph. D. in chemistry. After the Ph. D. comes the chemical research and, we predict a successful career.

In The News

For the past several weeks the American press has shouted the charges of Senator Joseph McCarthy to every town and hitching post in these United States. America has been informed of the imminent dangers of Red activity in our State Department. Men whose integrity and responsibility have gained them far reaching respect on matters of foreign policy have been assailed and denounced by McCarthy, number one on the hit parade of spy hunters.

Recently information of tremendous importance concerning the inner workings of McCarthy's organization has been divulged by a few courageous editors, who unlike most of our press, are more concerned with reporting objectively than inflating dubious truth in order to inflame the passions of one hundred per cent Americans.

Friends of Democracy, a group composed of truth-seeking Americans prepared an analysis of McCarthy's vituperations and the pages of Joseph Kamp's pamphlet "America Betrayed," which showed that the wording in each is almost identical. The Kamp sheet was released several weeks before McCarthy went to bat for America. Joseph Kamp in 1933 began his fascist activities with Lawrence Dennis who called himself an "intellectual leader of American Fascism," and who edited "The Awakener," so obviously pro-fascist that Kamp and his friend Dennis were commended by Hitler's own propaganda sheet, World Service. Kamp upheld his fame as a Fascist by heading the Constitutional Education League whose literature was again recommended by World Service as must reading for all Fascists. In 1944 Kamp was fined and jailed when he refused to answer a congressional committee as to who was financing his political literature.

Another prime mover of the McCarthy organization is Alfred Kohlberg who does a 1.5 million dollar business importing linen goods made by Chinese women in their homes. It is quite possible that Red China would not tolerate this source of cheap labor. Kohlberg recently admitted he was "one of McCarthy's secret sources." He is the founder of the American China Policy Association representing the Chiang government. Last year he contributed $1,000 to the political fund of Senator Styles Bridges, the last ditch defender of McCarthy.

It is time for the activities of native Fascists and vested interests to be brought into the open. It is time to refrain from branding as Red opinions that differ from men like these. If previous support of the Chiang government has resulted in failure and loss of American prestige with the Chinese people, we cannot follow the advice of men whose secret patrons will go to great length to promote Fascism and fill their pocketbooks at the expense of freedom and truth.

Letter To Ed

Dear Sir:

"Democracy is a way of Life."
 In view of this fact, it seems to me that we could have more democracy in the library. That is, it is a waste of the librarian's time and mine, too, to have her go to the stacks and get a book for me every time I want one. Why not have the stacks open, so that students can get their own books, as they do in the public library? This will facilitate matters all around, since the librarian will then have more time to devote to more important activities, and I won't have to stand in line for a book, wasting more time than it would take to read the reference I'm looking for.

Yours very sincerely,

Beverly Bresler.

TRACKMEN LOOK FOR THIRD DUAL WIN

Albright's Stellar 1950 Outfield

Lion Diamondmen to Face Moravian, Drexel; Nab Win From F&M, Lose to Loyola

Greyhounds to Boast Ten Returning Lettermen from 1949 MAC Runnerup Squad

Tomorrow afternoon the Lion baseball nine will journey to Bethlehem to face the Greyhounds from Moravian in a fracas on the foreign diamond. Next Wednesday, May 3, Albright's diamond squad is slated to return to the home field to battle Drexel at 3:30 p. m. The Cats have racked up an 11-9 win over F & M and a 7-4 loss to Loyola in their last two games.

Coached by "Gil" Gillespie, who is starting his eleventh year as head baseball coach for the Greyhounds, Moravian is hoping to better its 9-7 record of last year. The Greyhounds were runners-up in the MAC tournament last year after having lost the championship game to Muhlenberg, 4-3, in an extra-inning battle. The Lions copped their first game from the Greyhounds last year with an overwhelming 11-2 score but turned around to drop the second contest with a 7-0 shutout.

Ten lettermen, including four pitchers, have returned from last year's northern division, MAC championship team. Captain Bernie Knoblauch and Don Deibert are the veteran catchers, the latter having also served outfield duty. Returning infielders are Johnny Stengele, and Willie Lobb; while Joe Garin, and Del Dottor are the holdover outfielders. John "Lefty" Seifert, a sophomore who posted a 5-3 freshman record last year, is a standout among the returning tossers. Other pitchers on the squad include "Stubby" Hudock and Howard Obergfell. Deeply missed on this year's squad has been the long ball hitting first baseman of last year, Frank Weaver, who went the graduation route last spring.

Defeat Drexel Last Year

A 7-1 victory for the Lions was the result of last year's meeting with Drexel in the City of Brotherly Love. George Baumgaertel pitched three-hit ball and slammed in two runs with two triples to spark his teammates.

In their last two contests the Lions dropped a 7-4 verdict to Loyola University of Baltimore last Friday and copped an 11-9 victory from Franklin and Marshall in Lancaster the next day.

Pitcher Baumgaertel notched his second win in two starts with the victory over the Diplomats. Until relieved by Paul Muller in the eighth inning he allowed 12 hits, six walks and struck out five batters.

The Cats got into the ball game early by racking up two runs in the first inning, largely through the efforts of Russ Millard and Jim Fromuth who singled for the Lions. One run each was added in the third, fourth, and fifth innings before the Lions again let loose to tally three in the sixth stanza. After two Albright men had gone down, Fromuth and John Santo began the barrage with successive hits. Ervin walked, Lillis' double brought in the first two hitters, and Krohto's single pushed in Ervin.

Dips on Warpath

The Albright squad added another run in the seventh to put the score at 9-1, the Dips having scored in the second stanza. But the Dips went on the warpath in this inning to pile up four runs, and grabbed an additional three in the eighth to put the score at 9-8.

However, the Cats grabbed two insurance runs in the ninth to stave off the Diplomats' last attack. A hit by Millard and a triple by Hooks Martone were the deciding tallies.

Seventh and eighth inning rallies by Loyola turned the tables on the Cats last Friday. Albright had a 4-2 edge going into the stretch inning but the Greyhounds racked up three runs in this inning and two in the next to ice the contest. Muller pitched for the Lions and yielded eleven hits, seven passes, and ten strikeouts. His opposite, Gerry Malone, held the Lions to eight hits. Lillis and Santo led the Lions at the plate with two singles each.

The game scheduled with Lebanon Valley for Monday was postponed on account of rain.

Drexel Girls to Face Red and White Lassies Today; Ursinus Next

The Albright Lionesses will open their 1950 softball season this afternoon when they play hosts to the Dragonettes of Drexel on the Science Hall Field at 3:30 p. m. Their next game will be with the gals of Ursinus next Wednesday on the foreign field.

Coach Eva M. Mosser will mold her team around the nucleus of last year's veterans who drubbed the Dragonettes by the sound score of 27-3 in the game played last year at Drexel. Diminutive Nancy Stump will probably be the starter on the mound for the femmes. Her battery mate will be Anona Serfass with Jane Roney in reserve.

Rounding out the infield will be Marge Zeok at first, Shirley Johnson on the keystone sack, and Jean Magee holding down the hot corner. The vital shortstop position will be a tossup among several freshmen hopefuls. The outer garden positions still have not been decided although Mary Schwartz, Delores Bedding, Jane Pollack, Lois Gehris, and Eleanor Spring may get the nod unless the freshmen newcomers can prove their mettle and displace the veterans. Nancy Young and Nancy Leymeister are the relief hurlers.

The femme tennisers will inaugurate their 1950 season in a home opener against the visiting Drexel team and will face Ursinus away next Wednesday. Captain Joan Betty Peck, seeded number one, has announced that Doris Chanin, Jane Pollack, Jean Magee, and Eleanor Spring, all veterans returning from last year, will toe the service line for the Red and White lassies. Added to the roster this year are Helen Hasselgren and Marge Sternberg.

Linkmen to Battle La Salle on Tuesday

Albright's 1950 linkmen will play the second match of their current season against La Salle College on the foreign greens next Tuesday afternoon. The squad has been cut to the eight men who will form the team for the current season. They are: Art Dunlop, Earl Langford, Jack Gilbert, Jesse Becker, Sonny Chelius, Ed Funk, Ken Dougherty, and John Werner.

Eight Cindermen In Relay Carnival

Gerry Potts this afternoon at 3 o'clock will be the first of Albright's eight entries to participate in the annual Penn Relays at Franklin Field when he will be seeking honors in the discus and shot put events. Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock Al Harnly and Lee Cappel will represent the Lions in the javelin event and Howe Brenner in the broad jump.

Starting at 2:20 the same afternoon Albright's quartet will participate in the mile relay event. This team will be drawn from among Ed Enlian, Bruce Tenley, Ed Oberly, Paul James, and Dave Roland. Anlian will definitely run in the all-important anchor position. The Cats' opponents in the mile relay will be Adelphia, Dickinson, Haverford, Ithaca, Fisk, St. Peter's, and Gettysburg. The Strikemen have drawn the third lane for this event.

Nab Overwhelming Victories From Juniata, Lebanon Valley; To Face Diplomats Wednesday

After getting off to an auspicious start in meet victories over Lebanon Valley and Juniata the Lion cindermen are looking for their third straight dual meet win when they journey to Lancaster next Wednesday to face the Diplomats of Franklin and Marshall on the Dips' home field. Last Thursday, April 20, the trackmen opened their current season with a decisive 89-44 win over the Dutchmen and followed it up two days later with an equally decisive 85-41 victory over Juniata.

Last year Albright lost to the Dips, 80-46, in a rainy inaugural when the visitors overpowered the Cats in running events and allowed them first places only in the field. Although the Diplomats will be without the very able running of last year's captain, George Rutter, they will sport such winners of last year as Sumner Bohe, Charlie Cope, Curt Gallagher, Gus Lundquist, and Stewart Hoffheins.

Albright's tracksters had little difficulty in vanquishing Juniata College of Huntingdon, Pa., by the crushing score of 85-41 in the Albright stadium last Saturday afternoon. The inter-collegiate competition was run in conjunction with the 27th annual Albright College Invitational Track and Field meet which Shillington High School copped for the eighth time.

Anlian, Potts, Harnly Star

Co-captain Ed Anlian's double victories in the 880 and 440 yard runs along with Gerry Potts' discus and shot put first places sparked the Cats in the second win of the year. Al Harnly, Anlian's captain cohort, did his bit for the victory by tossing the cigar 201 feet, seven and one-quarter inches, tying for first with Pete Alberts in the pole vault event, and copping a clear second place in the broad jump.

Fred Stouffer was the only bright spot for Juniata when he futiley copped two first places in the 100 and 220 yard dashes.

A clean sweep of the field events and victories in the hurdle and half-mile relay cinder events put Albright's best track foot forward with their 89-44 victory over Lebanon Valley in the initial meet of the year. Potts was again a double winner by nabbing first places in the discus and shot put events. He was closely followed by co-captain Harnly who tossed for a victory in the javelin event and jumped for a three-way tie in the pole vault with his teammates Alberts and Lee Cappel.

Other Event Winners

Other event winners for Albright were Jack Snook in the 120 yard high hurdles; Cappel in the 220 yard low hurdles; Rod Shippe in the high jump; and Lou Brenner in the broad jump.

Trunova, Cassel and Barrett Oxley were the big guns for the Dutchmen when the former grabbed victories in the 100 and 220 yard dashes and the latter copped wins in the 880 yard and two mile runs. They sparked the losers in their almost clean sweep of the cinder events.

Here are the summaries for the Juniata meet:

Netmen to Battle Greyhounds, Rams In Future Matches

Lose First of Regular Season to Diplomats

Following their initial defeat of the regular season to Franklin and Marshall's stellar net squad by a score of 7-2, Albright's netmen are scheduled to face Moravian on the Bethlehem courts tomorrow. On Monday the Lion racqueters will again be at home to battle the top notch court squad of West Chester State Teachers College.

Last season Albright's tennisers vanquished the Moravian Greyhounds twice by the overwhelming score of 7-2, Moravian getting its points in the first match only by default. This year the Greyhound squad, coached by Sam Kilpatrick, former Moravian netman and a member of the English faculty there, has only Captain Joe Connell returning from last year's team which garnered only three wins as opposed to nine setbacks. A number of freshmen and sophomore candidates will form the bulk of the Greyhound squad.

In their opener last year the Cat tennisers trounced the Rams, 6-3, on the foreign court.

Mengel, Siegfried Win

The only victories tallied in the Lion netmen's first loss of the regular season were those by Captain Jim Mengel, 7-5, 7-5, over Joe Strode, and Paul Siegfried's 6-2, 7-5 victories over Jack Rhode. The Albright squad dropped the meet by a score of 7-2 to the Franklin and Marshall Diplomats last Saturday afternoon on the foreign courts.

Near victories for the hapless Cats was the doubles contest fought between playing coach Bob Zink and Strode of the Dips and Bob Ruoff and Paul Kissinger of the Lions. The Dips took the first game, 6-4, dropped the second to the determined Albright duo, but came back to cop the clincher, 6-3.

David Garvey, Local Pianist, To Play at Albright May 4

David Garvey, 27-year-old pianist of Reading, will present the last Cultural Program in the 1949-50 series in chapel next Thursday, May 4. Mr. Garvey has been recognized by many eminent musicians as being an unusually gifted young artist.

He also had the distinction of working with the renowned tenor, Paul Alt-house, as accompanist for his artist-pupils in Reading. Mr. Garvey had his first full recital at Albright College.

His musical horizon was greatly broadened by the association with, and coaching under, such artists as Piatigorsky and San Roma. He was chosen by these artists in the summer of 1942 to appear in several of the Berkshire Music Center's important ensemble concerts.

After having spent two years in the Armed Forces, Mr. Garvey appeared before the Philadelphia Music Club as a winner in the Fifth Annual Lee Wade Young Artist Contest. He graduated from Juilliard, received the Damrosch Scholarship for being highest ranking student in his class, and the Bosenberg cash award for highest rank as pianist.

This past year Mr. Garvey has gone on tour through Canada and Minnesota with the violinist, Frances Wagner. He has also appeared in two concerts with Beveridge Webster in New York City.

Y to Install New Leaders Next Tues.

Officers of the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. for 1950-51 will be inducted Tuesday, May 2, when the combined groups meet in the College Chapel.

The officers to be installed are the following: For the Y.M.C.A., Jay Shenk, president; Edward Yarnell, vice-president; secretary, Norman Snook; treasurer, Robert Remz. For the Y.W.C.A., Jean Maguee, president; Mary Ellen Shuman, vice-president; Evelyn Kressler, secretary; Barbara Wrisley, treasurer.

Mr. William Snow, a State Department representative for 16 years, spoke to the Y groups last Tuesday evening. His topic was "A Quick Glance at Our Foreign Policy." Mr. Snow spent most of his years of service abroad before returning to the United States in 1947.

Mr. Snow stated that the foreign policy of the United States is to strengthen the non-communicative free world. Cultural restraint hinders the complete carrying out of this policy.

Concerning military forces of this country, Mr. Snow said that a moral dilemma must be faced. If too large a military force is created, other countries will think that the United States is attempting to arouse them. On the other hand, if the military force is too small, others will seek to overcome this nation.

Bill Marlow Tells of Experiences At Indian Methodist Boy School

A letter from William Marlow, Albright graduate will tell the class of 1949 who is now teaching at the Methodist Boys' High School in Hyderabad, Decan, India, has recently been received.

Under date of March 1, Marlow writes, "I have been exactly three months today that I began my correspondence with you from India. At that time India was my home of only one week and everything was new and strange. It is wonderful how quickly God helps us find our place in a new environment, and how quickly we become bonded into a fellowship with our new co-workers. . . . So many fascinating experiences happen every week that it seems almost impossible to condense them into one letter, but this privilege of contacting you is one I would never miss. . . .

"Three-thirty is a pretty early hour to get up for most of us, but last Sunday fifteen of us were busy at that time preparing to leave on a Social Service tour to the little village of Kofur. . . . The boys, armed with brooms, shovels, medicine, our food and many other necessary things, had a wonderful time singing Christian bhujans on the train that was full of overflow-ing with people of many religions. In fact, the whole day was a demonstration of the spirit of our boys when given a hard task to do. . . . All day long the people came to our medical station, and the words of the New Testament, 'they brought the sick of the village to Him, and He healed them,' took on new significance, not because we were in any way duplicating the acts of Jesus, but because for the first time I looked on a mass of people that is closer to being identical to those underprivileged with whom Jesus lived and worked than any group on earth. . . .

"In a few hours the boys had finished cleaning a large part of the village, so we all began to give baths to every child in sight. . . . When they were all shining like new dimes, we formed Bible story classes with the children and then invited everyone in the village to play games with us. As the afternoon ended we had a village service, and then hiked back to the station in time to catch the evening train. . . . We were tired, . . . but we sang all of the way back, because we knew that the day had been spent in God's service. . . .

"Those of you who would like to help our work may send the money to: Dr. Albert E. Beebe, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York 11, N. Y. and earmark it for the specific project. Right now 'purchase of jeep' is top priority on the list of needs. And many thanks for your many letters. We meet you each morning at 6 o'clock and each evening at 6:30 in prayer time; please include us in your prayers."
