Propst To Rule On May Day

Richard Major First In Speech Contest

Speaks Extemporaneously On War, Democracy

In the local contest of the National Extempore Speech Contest to select Albright's delegate to the district contest, Richard Major, a sophomore, came through in first place. The speeches consisted of seven-minute presentations, three-minute questioning periods, and three-minute summaries on the topics: "The Good Neighbor as a Customer," "Latin America and War Production," "Democracy in Latin America," and "Latin America and Europe."

Emma Cora Hafer, Patricia Smith, and William Bottonari were the other competitors. The contest sponsored by the debate squad and I. R. C. was judged by Dean A. Kratz, dean of the School of Theology and Mrs. Joseph Schonbauer, chairman of International Relations for the A. A. U. W.

ELAINE SHADE

ELLA PROPST

Elaine Shade Chosen As Maid Of Honor For Annual Festival

Campus Coeds To Be Featured In Dances

This year Albright's annual spring regal display, the crowning of the Campus May Queen, will feature as its ruling lady—Miss Ella Propst with Miss Elaine Shade as the Maid-of-Honor.

The May Day festival which will be held outdoors as originally planned will have as added attractions a lovely court composed of the following campus beauties: Jane Louise Haupt, Olga Bitler, Natalie Brant, Olen Boyer, Dorothy Gaul, Margaret Wolfe, and Esther Whitehead.

Elizabeth Jones, the custodian of the crown, and Katharine Taylor, the May Day chairman, were elected last year, while the other participants were chosen last December.

Other campus coeds will be featured in dances under the sponsorship of the physical education department.

Miss Propst, this year's campus favorite, hails from Scranton where she attended the Central High School. She is majoring in Home Economics at Albright, is an officer in the Home Ec Club, and a member of the Pi Alpha Tau sorority.

Miss Shade, a Berks County product from Fleetwood, attended high school in her home town. She is the only senior girl who is taking up medicine. Elaine is a member of the Skull and Bones Society, the Alchemist Club, the Day-women's Organization, and the Phi Beta Mu sorority.

The date for the yearly festal occasion has not been definitely set as yet, but will be decided upon in the near future.

Three Fraternities And Sorority Pledge New Members This Week

"Hell Week" To Be Omitted This Year

During this past week, three fraternities and one sorority on campus have pledged their new members. The usual "Hell Week" will be dispensed with this year due to the curtailment of social functions.

Nineteen men became pledges of the Zeta Omega Epsilon. They are Bill Deardon, Lester Pushman, Richard Stark, Bill Miksch, Robert Gustafson, Mike Buyukas, Mark Titus, Lester Koffel, Kenneth Disser, John Patrician, Robert Reed, John Baird, Robert Hagy, George Yocum, Robert Reeser, Ralph Miller, Robert Hertzog, Steve Falkiewicz and James Brusch.

Pi Tau Beta pledges are: William A. Fisher, William C. Fisher, John Smythe, Ralph Frymoyer, Lester Blehl, Eugene Mendelsohn, Kenneth Detweiler, Walter Hauser, Cecil Pottelger, Stuart Bingaman.

Monday evening eleven girls became P. A. T. pledges at a service held for them in the Selwyn Hall parlors. Each girl was presented with a corsage in the sorority colors and a pledge pin to be worn until formal initiation. Those pledged were: Gerry Bowker, Betty Rex, Margaret Sheppard, Betty Werley, Margaret Hopkins, Lura Heverly, Joyce Moyer, Mary Nichol, Marie Stein, Betty Claire Voeste, and Polly Wessler.

Staff Meeting Today; Editor Asks For Juniors

There will be a meeting of the Albrightian staff at 1 p. m. today in room 103. Assignments for next week's issue will be handed out. An urgent call is extended for juniors who will "carry on" next year.—Editor.

Y's To Sponsor Program In Chapel Next Tuesday

The "Y" program for next Tuesday, March 3, will be a Worship Service in the college chapel.

The Rev. Scott Eganer of St. Paul's Reformed Church in Reading will speak on a seasonal topic. The worship service will be in charge of members of the worship committee of the combined "Y's".

Oratorical Contest In Chapel Tonight

Kelchner Oratory Prize, Reward For Speakers

Tonight at eight o'clock in the chapel three juniors will vie for the Kelchner oratorical prize. The participants will be Patricia Smith, George Evans, and Donald Floyd. The ten dollar first prize and the five dollar second prize will be awarded at the discretion of the judges, Norman Brillhart, teacher of history at Reading Senior High School; James A. Shook, principal of Northeast Junior High School, and Edwin Yelch, principal of West Reading High School.

Sigma Tau Delta Hears Book Review

Garlach Discusses Armstrong Work

Miss Elsie Garlach reviewed "Trelawny" by Margaret Armstrong at the last Sigma Tau Delta meeting held at the home of Marie Bertolet.

"Trelawny," the story of the young Englishman, Edward Trelawny, is a biography that reads like a novel. Throughout the story one finds the spirit of adventure. "Trelawny" appeals to scholars because of its intimate pictures of Shelley and Byron. Moreover, it has the flavor of a sea-tale, the glamor of the South Seas, and the beauty of a prose poem.

Following the book review, refreshments were served.

Real Defense!

By ART MCKAY

The Office of Civilian Defense has become the center of a sharp controversy within the past few weeks. Aside from the discussion which centers about personalities—from New York City's fiery little floral contribution to the program to Mrs. Roosevelt's fancy dancier—certain basic issues are at stake.

Is the main work of the OCD the protection of cities against air raids? Or is its purpose the broader one of strengthening the human resources which are to be used in the drive for victory through health and recreation programs?

The OCD was organized before the United States entered the war and, at first, air raid defense was generally regarded as its chief duty. With Pearl Harbor came the threat of bombing along the western and eastern coasts. The program was consequently speeded up—cities were encouraged to prepare thoroughly for protection of their citizens in case of raids.

Much of the criticism in this area of the program centers about the fact that this work, though done well in some places, elsewhere has been neglected, or done in a half-hearted and inefficient manner. Within one city, for instance, there may be sections where wardens meet regularly, first-aid classes are held; every effort, in fact, is being made to prepare the citizenry. Yet several blocks away the citizens may be wholly unprepared for emergencies.

The OCD has expanded its program since those pre-war days. It has entered into the fields of education for better health, recreation and informal education, housing, war relief, etc. Listen to Mrs.

AT THE TOP OF THE LIST

Simple Arithmetic

In the past few trying months of World War II we have seen some of the following headlines or words to that effect—Japanese Attack Pearl Harbor—Manila Under Siege—British Lose Two Battleships—Tanker Given Up For Lost—British Give Up Malaya—British Give Up Singapore—. What do these headlines tell us? They tell us stories of sacrifice, stories of people giving up their liberties, their properties, their very lives for the thing which is closest to their hearts—freedom.

All over the world nations are struggling against great odds—struggling, sacrificing, praying for that ultimate victory to come. Just what does this mean to us, the students of Albright, in our relatively safe haven of "inner security?" From the outside it looks as though the matter doesn't concern us in the least. We go about our usual ways, doing the things we have always done, except where some minor curtailment of privileges detours us from our random course.

Will we never wake up to the realization that WE ARE AT WAR? Are we like France, Norway, and all the other occupied countries of the war-torn world? Are we going to sit by and wait for the Germans to bomb New York City or the Panama Canal before we go into action? Are we so penniless that we cannot afford to contribute to a fund for the national defense? Are we a bunch of deadheads, or ignoramuses who "don't know what the score is?" Or are we a group of logically-minded, intelligent college students who realize the necessity of the sacrifices which we are forced to make today?

Do you realize that if Albright's 400 students would each contribute one cent a day to the defense fund, that fund would be increased weekly by the sum of $28.00? It's simple arithmetic which can help to complicate things for the Axis.

There are exactly eleven weeks left until the school year ends—eleven weeks at the rate of $28.00 a week adds up to $308.00. Of course we cannot expect too much, but let's see if, by the end of the school year, we can raise at least $200.00 for the Albright College Defense Fund. We should be able and willing to give up this small amount as our contribution to the defense of freedom—the Allied Forces have given up Malaya, Singapore, many ships and machines and countless lives for the very same great cause.

—Harold M. Werner.

POETICALLY SPEAKING

This week we turn to one of the lighter sides of life for a bit of literary enjoyment. We hope you like it!

MEN

I like men,
They stride about,
They reach in their pockets
And pull things out;

They look important,
They rock on their toes,
They lose all the buttons
Off of their clothes.

They throw away pipes;
They find them again.
Men are queer creatures;
I like men.

—Dorothy Reid.

A WISE OLD OWL

A wise old owl sat on an oak,
The more he saw the less he spoke;
The less he spoke the more he heard;
Why aren't we like that wise old bird?

—Ed. Richards.

A WISH

I wish I was a little egg,
Way up in the tree,
A-sittin' in my little nest,
As rotten as could be.
I wish that you would come along
And stand beneath that tree,
And I would up and burst myself,
And cover thee with me.

Late to bed,
Late to rise,
The next day in school
You're rubbing your eyes.

Early to bed,
Early to rise,
You gal steps out
With other guys.

Curlem hair,
Filem nails,
Paintem face,
Catchem males.

GRADUATE'S LAMENT

I'm well educated,
'Tis easy to see;
The world's at my feet,
For I have my O.B.
M.A. will come next,
Then, of course, Ph.D.
But I'd chuck it all
For a good J.O.B.
—L. Paul Roberts.

Real Defense

Roosevelt, erstwhile champion of this latter emphasis:

"Civilian defense . . . if it were a matter purely of fire bombs and air raids, that would be one thing. But it is not. Real defense is preparation of people to have confidence in themselves, to feel security in their way of life, to have a high morale, which comes not just from the ability to meet in a military way certain conditions, but from a knowledge that any conditions can be met, that you have a say in meeting them, and a part in the defense work of your community and the country."

The controversy has direct bearing upon our program under the Defense Council on campus. We, too, must seek to define our objectives very clearly. At least one thing seems true—there is ample room for both emphases within a program of civilian defense. Real defense IS more than gas masks and air-raid shelters!

Faculty

This week we pay respects to Dean George W. Walton, Ph. B., M.S., D.Sc. Dean Walton received his Ph. B. degree from Lafayette in 1915 and M.S. from Cornell in 1924. Dean Walton has been with the college faculty since 1917.

From 1917 to 1927, he was professor of biology and geology, and from 1928 to date he has been professor of botany, geology, and dean. Dean Walton is the gentleman who sends out those little tokens of affliction at the middle and end of each semester.

Dr. F. Wilbur Gingrich will present his biblical slides at Emmanuel Evangelical Church Sunday evening, March 1.

A capacity registration in the defense school is expected this semester. Dr. Milton Gell, administrative head of the school, announced that 600 persons have already registered for the courses and 150 more are expected.

The Alumni Association is in the process of setting up an executive secretaryship. Rev. Brininger, recently appointed part-time appropriation executive, announced that the office is planning to publish a new alumni directory, to organize the alumni into regular groups, and to undertake other important alumni projects.

Prof. Clyde A. Harding was one of the judges in a county debate last Friday, February 20.

Rev. H. Leroy Brininger delivered the Education Day address at Queens Evangelical Church in Queens, N. Y., last Sunday evening. He also arranged for the presentation of color films concerning Albright College at the evening services.

Lions Out To Saddle Mules

In another ten days the champions of the Eastern Penn Collegiate League will have been crowned. Muhlenberg appears to have the inside track with their undefeated record. The Mules, however, must face Albright twice on successive Saturdays and Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster. Incidentally, F and M hasn't lost a cage contest at home since February, 1940. The Lions still have a chance.

With the closing of every sports season, there comes the annual selection of All-Star teams. Personally we never have much faith in them except those chosen by the coaches and players. Even then personal prejudices influence some choices. Anyway here is our Eastern Penn team based on our observations of the players' all-around ability and value to his respective team.

George Haines, Bucknell, forward.

Ralph Mease, Lebanon Valley, forward.

Hal Mackin, F and M, center.

Ken Hopkins, Albright, guard.

Pete Schneider, Muhlenberg, guard.

One thing we noticed in trying to select an all-league five was the scarcity of outstanding performers. Last year it was a simple matter to pick a first team. One selection we're sure of being correct—that is Kenny Hopkins'. Watch when the Associated Press releases their All-League team chosen by the loop's coaches, Hopkins' name will be among the first five.

Johnny Smith, who has charge of the Physical Fitness program at Reading High under the Hale America setup, invites any Albright man to attend the sessions. They are held every Thursday afternoon at 5:30. Our own Vic Gigli is giving the lads instructions in the art of self defense. There are plenty of gloves to go around, too.

Now it can be told. Jimmy Bunn, who dropped out of school the past week, is slated to matriculate at Franklin and Marshall next September. It's tough that Coach Neal Harris had to lose the former Reading High star for Bunn has the makings of developing into a great player. His actions on the court resemble those of Johnny DeBold, Reading's contribution to Franklin and Marshall's great championship team last year.

Alumni notes: Paul Petrucka is having a great time as a member of the Regimental Glee Club at Pensacola, the Naval Air Station. "Popeye" expects to receive his commission as an Ensign by the end of August. Petrucka tells us that he met Mr. and Mrs. Burt Aszman on a recent singing trip

Frosh	3	3	206	287	.500
Daymen	2	4	235	280	.333
Pi Taus	0	6	147	321	.000

Two stunning upsets highlighted this week's action in the intramural basketball race. The Zeta's five were knocked out of the league race by a stubborn freshmen team, 29-26. The A.P.O.'s registered the second upset by edging out the previously unbeaten Kappas, 28-24.

The Frosh, led by Gene Ridolfi and Bob Bull, got away to a big lead in the first quarter by rolling up 12 points while holding the Zetas to two lonely field goals. The second period, the Z.O.E. club narrowed the margin to 14-10. With speedy Bob Glomatti marking up seven of his 11 points, the Zetas outscored the first year men the second half but could not overcome the early advantage.

Jack Gundlach and Carl Osenbach led the A.P.O.'s to their fourth win in six starts. The chapel boys held a 17-12 margin over the league leaders at the end of the half. Second half scoring was about even with the Kappas making 12 counters and the winners 11.

This loss ruins the undefeated aspirations of the Kappas and throws the A.P.O. aggregation into a second place tie with the Zetas, first half champs. The Kappas knocked off the Z.O.E. five last week, 53-44.

The Daymen moved up in the games won column by outscoring the Pi Taus, 31-23.

Women Courters Win First Home Game

Trounce L. V. To Cop 3rd Straight

The Red and White girls' basketball team, in their first home game of the year, trounced Lebanon Valley 28-12. The opposing team started out strongly and gained a one-point advantage in the first quarter. In the second quarter Elaine O'Shadey, the high scorer of the evening, set her eye on the basket and shot in three field goals in rapid succession, to start her team on their merry way. The guards did their part in the last half of the game when they held the Lebanon Valley girls to three lonely points. Eleanor Platt was runner-up for high scoring honors.

Tonight the Albright girls will make their last appearance for the season when they play Moravian in the Thirteenth and Union gym at 7:30 p. m.

Honorary Sorority To Fete Juniors

Five Pledges Accept Bids

Phi Delta Sigma, honorary alumnae sorority, has issued invitations for a formal party to all junior girls. The sorority will be hostess to the girls in the Selwyn Hall parlors, Friday evening, March 6, at 8:30 o'clock.

Sean Bomgardner, Esther Gingrich, Marjorie Frundt, Katherine Taylor and Mary Jane Ward recently accepted bids to membership in Phi Delta Sigma and will be pledged March 6 at the informal party for juniors.

points. Those 38 enabled the A.P.O.'s to down the Pi Taus, 82-24. Steve's mark betters by one point that set by Wally Dunceavage in the first half of the current campaign.

Albright Cubs Seek 9th Win From Little Mules

Albright's Lions will have to do a lot of roaring during the next week. The Red and White cagers will attempt to do what no other Eastern Penn Collegiate League five has done this season—beat Muhlenberg. A capacity crowd, several hundred from Reading, are expected to watch the Lions and Mules tangle tomorrow night in Allentown's Little Palestra, beginning at 8:30. Albright's classy Frosh crew will meet an equally strong Baby Mule quintet in the preliminary.

The Red and White passers were shoved into third place as a result of Franklin and Marshall's win over Bucknell Tuesday night. The Diplomats now have control of the second rung with seven wins and two reverses. Albright has chalked up six decisions against two setbacks. These marks will be changed after last night's games when the Lions tangled with Gettysburg on the Bullets' home floor and F. and M. faced Bucknell. Muhlenberg with an undefeated card of eight straight should have had little trouble with Bucknell.

Albright will pit its usual combination of Hopkins, Shollenberger, Spangler, Rhoads and Boltz against Coach Doggie Julian's five tomorrow night. The Mules are riding on the crest of a 13 game winning streak, eight of those made against the stiff E.P.C.L. competition.

Julian has built a smooth working offensive club around seniors Charlie Trinkle and big Captain Pete Schneider with a trio of sophomores, Jim Crampsey, Jack Meyerderks, and Ken Stone providing the speed and deception. Two styles of play will be pitted against each other. The Albrightians' slam bang, shoot 'em until they drop' attack and the Cardinal and Gray's set play offense.

In Stone and Meyerderks, the Allentown Collegians are rated to have two of the finest soph performers in the loop this year. Meyerderks is especially noted for his fine ball-handling ability.

The Lion Cubs will attempt to get back on the winning trail by sinking the Muhlenberg yearlings. The Red and White Frosh had their eight game streak terminated by Lebanon Valley last Saturday. The Cubs have a record of 12 victories against three setbacks.

The loss of Jimmy Bunn, who dropped out of school this week because of scholastic difficulties, will not seriously weaken the freshmen. Harris plans to continue to use the hardworking Les Pushman in Bunn's old guard spot. The rest of the starting array will find Walt Houser, Russ Guensch, Bill Dearden, and Johnny Patrician. Dick Stark, suffering with a broken finger, is out of action for the rest of the season.

A Bacteriological Harem

I have always maintained that the men of the science department are offered many advantages and privileges denied the college students in general. Proof of this was flashed very vividly before me the other afternoon when I stuck my neck in the bacteriology laboratory. There, to my amazement, was Sammy Larue strutting his muscular figure before seventeen other members of the bacteriology class all of whom incidentally happened to be young women. Many of these young women are members of the home economics department.

These future home economists are studying bacteriology in order to have a knowledge of microorganisms and their relation to cooking and food processes. One of the projects of the class is to prepare alcohol from growing yeasts and mold. I am sure that if these young women succeed in their project, Calvert distillery will find a little competition arising. Anyhow, alcohol is a priority in our growing defense effort and we need every bit we can manufacture.

After a brief glimpse around this lab, I beat a hasty retreat, for Sammy Larue thought I was trying to muscle in on his priority—the 17 maidens of the bacteriology lab. If I ever have the opportunity to visit the lab again without starting a feud with Sammy Larue, I will give you the latest news concerning the field of bacteriology and Sammy's harem.

Some of the college chemistry majors are considering taking the course in textile chemistry because of the influence of the nearby Textile Knitting Mills.
