Queen To Receive Tiara At Ivy Ball

An innovation which will become a permanent part of the ceremony of crowning a Homecoming Queen will be the presentation of a tiara to the woman chosen to reign over Homecoming weekend. The Alumni association of Albright College and the Student Council will donate the tiara. Mr. Carl Fogel, chairman of the alumni Homecoming committee will award the alumni trophy to the Homecoming Queen. The nomination and election of the Queen and her court was under the direction of the Student Council Election Committee.

You and the Night and the Music, the theme of the Ivy Ball will be carried out in the decorations, favors, publicity and programs. The music for the evening will be furnished by Johnny Barker and His Redcoats.

Chairmen

Committee chairmen for the Ivy Ball include Marianna Wonder, '60, general chairman Janice Hockhaus, '60, decorations; Jane Yeager, '60, refreshments; Linda Hersberger, '61, program and tickets; Sandra Strickler, '60, and Marilyn Catlow, '60, publicity; Gary Stone, '60, special lighting effects; and Alan Seifart, '60, music.

Chaperons

Chaperons for the evening will be Dr. and Mrs. E. Luke Matz and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jordan.

Anyone wishing to purchase tickets for the Ivy Ball should contact a Student Council representative.

Council Reps Question Profits

The question of the disposition of profits earned during organization sponsored Friday night activities highlighted Tuesday's Student Council meeting.

Suzanne Schick, '59 (PAT rep.), brought the matter to Council's attention when she asked how the profits were distributed. It appears that some students are under the impression that the organizations keep all of the profit made from the sale of refreshment, while others feel that one-half of the profits should be turned over to Student Council.

Weil Explains

Janet Weil, '59 (Daywomen rep.), stated that Miss Mary E. Harding, dean of women, told the daywomen that half of any money earned during tonight's dance would have to be given to Council. However, Council learned from Agnes Oaks, '61 (Dorm rep.), that the Women's Student Association kept all of the money made at last Friday's Sadie Hawkins Dance.

Herbert Zakrisson, '59, president, promised to check into the matter and report to Council at the next meeting.

Other Business

A motion concerning a proposed trophy in honor of the late Charles 'Pop' Kelchner, explanation of the method of determining the Homecoming Queen and the acceptance of Suzy Hart, '62, as the new freshman class representative filled out the meeting agenda.

Michael Teitelman, '60 (Junior class rep.), requested a report from a committee appointed to look into the possibility of awarding a 'Pop' Kelchner trophy. The committee (Cont. on Page Two, Col. Three)

Ground-Breaking Set For Homecoming Day

Ground-breaking for the new Merner-Pfeiffer-Kline Chapel is set for Homecoming Day, November 1. The Chapel will be located on the southwest corner of the campus.

Scheduled as the first event to follow alumni registration, the ground-breaking will take place at 10:30 a.m. The Alumni Association is in charge of planning the ceremonies.

Dr. J. Arthur Heck, '16, vice-president of United Theological Seminary, Dayton, Ohio will present the main address. Dr. Heck was formerly president of the Evangelical School of Theology when it was located in what is now Teel Hall.

Masters To Preside

Dr. Harry V. Masters, president of the college, will preside over the ceremonies. Representatives of various college divisions, such as the alumni and faculty, will turn over spades of earth.

The chapel will be large enough to accommodate the entire student body at one time. Several classrooms will be located in the basement of the building.

Music will be provided by the Albright Band. Reverend Robert Smethers, director of church relations, will pronounce the benediction.

Bart Smith To Play Tonight

The Daywomen's Association has scheduled Bart Smith and His Quartet to provide the music for tonight's dance in Krause Hall. The appearance of Smith marks the first "live" Friday night entertainment of the semester.

Decorations for the dance will center around a huge silhouette of a couple dancing. Replicas of musical notes will complete the atmosphere. General Chairwoman of the affair is Marlene Wentzel, '61.

Committee heads include Judie Millere, '61, program; Karen Kunkle, '62, decorations; Peggy Adams, '61, publicity; and Mary Ann Tema, '62, refreshments.

Three Nominated For Danforth Fellowships

Three seniors, Merlyn Krick, David McFall, and Robert Peckham, have been nominated as candidates for Danforth Fellowships. Dr. Charles E. Kistler, chairman of the faculty committee for placement and graduate study announced that the three were chosen from a large list of eligible seniors.

The fellowships, which are based on scholastic ability, aptitude, religious background, and the expressed desire of the candidate to make a career of college teaching, cannot be applied for. The candidates must be recommended by faculty members.

Danforth fellowships grant substantial stipends plus tuition and fees charged to all graduate students.

A New Approach To An Old Problem

A new approach to the old problem of getting freshmen oriented to the academic and social life of the college was inaugurated this semester. For three weeks members of the class of '62 underwent an extensive "Briefing Program."

Conducted by Miss Anna R. Benninger, registrar, Dr. John W. Kopp, dean of men, and Dr. Samuel B. Shirk, assistant to the President, the program was designed to introduce the students to proper study habits and the social mores of campus life. Miss Benninger said that this year's class showed "definite interest" in the program and were "more attentive" than most previous classes had been.

Mixed Reactions

The program was met with mixed reactions by the class. Although most of the Frosh feel that they benefited substantially from the briefing sessions, some would have rather spent the time studying for their present classes. The great majority of the freshmen feel that the program should be a part of Orientation Week.

Former Approach

In the past, when freshman classes were smaller in number, the information was presented to the Frosh during two eight-week-long courses which actually involved credit hours. However, as the classes grew in size, it was considered impractical to continue the courses.

Different approaches to the problem were tried, and out of them the present system evolved.

Role Of Church-Related College In Modern Education Explained

By NANCY HEILMAN

What is the role of the church-related college in contemporary American higher education?

This is a problem difficult to resolve, and is a popular topic incorporated into workshop themes of conferences, one of which was that of the second quadrennial Convocation of Christian Colleges held at Drake University in June of this year.

Modified Methods

It is hard to set forth features which are to be found today ONLY in institutions of this type, as was once the case. American higher education has expanded in keeping with the growth of the nation, and has therefore, necessarily, modified, increased, and changed its scope and methods. Yet, among the university, the limited or specialized college, and the large secular college, the liberal arts church-related institution continues to hold its own on the educational scene, making distinct and needed contributions.

When the church-related college first appeared in the early days of American life its reasons for existence were clear and definite. It was, practically speaking, the only institution of higher education. The church-related college sought to perpetuate a learned ministry, training leadership for the church, to prepare men for professions, to contribute to morality in citizenship, and to foster learning and the culture. The colleges were small and scattered across the country. They were the bearers of Christianity and civilization, trying to synthesize the two in terms of the perspectives of the times. These objectives are still fundamental, but not entirely unique anymore.

Liberal Arts Schools

Today, the church-related colleges, like Albright, are usually small to middle-sized liberal arts schools which provide an opportunity for an intimate student-faculty relationship hardly possible in a large institution. Albright, exemplary of this characteristic, prides itself in maintaining the worth of and the concern for the individual student in the face of increasing enrollments.

What is the reason for church affiliation and support and what results does this produce?

Christian College

Founded as a Christian college in the mid-nineteenth century by Evangelical United Brethren church and maintained as such, Albright is influenced by the fundamental moral and religious principles of the denomination. Emphasizing individual worth and high moral responsibility, this church-related college strives to "make possible the highest intellectual development in an atmosphere of Christian ideals."

In the privately operated church-related college, there is the opportunity to select, in so far as is pos-

PATs, president of the Home Economics Club, and a member of the Cue staff and the glee club. She is a home economics major.

Miss Hogg, a social science major, comes from Shippensburg. She is a member of Y cabinet. Miss Knight, a home economics major from Philadelphia, is a member of the Women's hockey team, domino club and HEO.

A home economics major from Perth Amboy, N. J., Miss Miller is a member of HEO. Miss Scipione is an education major from Johnstown.

PAT President

Currently president of the PATs, Miss Smith is a home economics major from Lancaster. She is president of Women's Dormitory Council, vice-president of both Women's Athletic Association and Women's Student Association, and secretary of the senior class. She is a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, HEO and the tennis team.

Miss Yeager, a home economics major from Phoenixville, is a member of the band and of HEO.

Other Candidates

Six other women complete the list of Homecoming Queen candidates. Diane Andriella, '61, an English major, is from Collingswood, N. J. She is a member of the cheerleading squad, domino club, French Club and Spanish Club.

A sociology major from Johnstown, Linda Hershberger, '61, is a member of glee club and the International Relations Club.

Transfer Student

A transfer student from Elmira College, Lynn Knowles, '61, is a home economics major. Her home is in Crosswicks, N. J. Coming to Albright from Broomall, Barbara Schaefer, '61, is a home economics major.

Carolyn Sharpless, '62, is a pre-nursing major from Malvern. A psychology major, Carol Wilson, '61, is from Mt. Penn.

Frosh Women Attempt Bribe

Freshmen women attempted to bribe the Kangaroo and his Noble Associates at the last meeting of this year's Kangaroo Court. After receiving their sentences, a group of the Frosh women produced a large chocolate cake, which the Court promptly and properly dispensed with. The bribe, however, had no effect on the Court members (other than to satisfy their appetites) as all penalties stood.

Twenty-one freshmen women were brought before the Court, and additional 14 being sentenced in absentia. Thirteen male violators appeared to answer for their sings against the traditional Customs regulations.

All Guilty

Once again all of the accused were found guilty—a remarkable piece of courtroom efficiency. The women violators were assigned the task of keeping Upperclassmen Row and the White Chapel steps clean, forbidden to wear make-up and Bermuda shorts, and told to wear violator signs.

Male violators were ordered to wear pajamas, made to roll peanuts during the half-time break at Saturday's football game, and also assigned to the "cleaning detail" and forced to wear violator signs.

Jazz Concert Sunday

A new experience in musical concerts for the Reading Public Museum and Art Gallery is scheduled for this Sunday afternoon when the Contemporary Jazz Septet, under the direction of Ronald A. Kalina, will present a sequence of tunes revealing the historical development of Jazz.

According to Mr. Samuel C. Gundy, acting director of the Museum, the program is not only "musically enjoyable and handled with the dignity of longhair music", but "should prove to be a sensuous educational experience as well."

The concert is scheduled for Sunday, October 26, at 3:00 p.m.

Schwartz Analyzes Castro Movement

Dr. Albert Schwartz, instructor in biology, analyzed the Fidel Castro movement in Cuba at a meeting of upperclass Spanish students Sunday evening at the home of Consuelo R. Jordan, assistant professor of Spanish.

Schwartz Explains

According to Dr. Schwartz, Fidel Castro has, for the last three years, been actively fighting dictator Batista. Dr. Schwartz pointed out how strong the rebels are and how well organized the movement is. Castro, a wealthy educated man, gave all his money to the cause.

For the last three years, Dr. Schwartz has been going to Cuba on biological field trips sponsored by the U. S. Science Foundation. Dr. Schwartz, who speaks Spanish, believes the only way to travel in a foreign country is to know the language and be able to communicate intelligently with the natives.

Fellowships Available For Science Grads

Senior science majors will be given the opportunity to compete for approximately 1,000 National Science Foundation Graduate Fellowships for 1959-1960. The fellowships are open only to citizens of the United States and are awarded solely on the basis of ability.

The annual stipends for graduate Fellows are as follows: $1800 for the first year; $2000 for the intermediate year; and $2200 for the terminal year. Dependency allowances will be made to married Fellows. Tuition, laboratory fees and limited travel allowances will also be provided.

Further information and application material may be obtained from the Fellowship Office, National Academy of Sciences—National Research Council, 2101 Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington 25, D. C.

had no report to make. At that time Teitelman moved that Council drop the matter and leave it in the hands of the Athletic Director's Office. The motion carried unanimously.

James Garofolo, '61 (Dorm rep.), explained that the votes for Homecoming Queen and her court will be tabulated on a point basis. Since each student votes for seven women, the first name of each ballot will receive seven points, the next six and so on. The nominee with the highest number of points will be the Homecoming Queen.

Absentees were Kenneth Nessler, '59 (Daymen rep.), and Arthur Younklin, '60 (APO rep.).

50 Students To Attend Y Retreat

Approximately 50 Albrightians have registered for the one-day Y Retreat to be held at Bynden Wood Mountain Center tomorrow. The retreat, according to James Larson, '61, general chairman, "promises to be a rewarding spiritual adventure."

Scheduled to last from 7:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m., the Retreat will provide a full day of Christian fellowship for the students attending.

Schneider To Speak

The Reverend Mr. Robert Schneider, Boyertown, will present the main topic of the day: "Freedom in Discipline". The topic will be introduced during the morning worship service and discussed more fully at an afternoon meeting.

Also scheduled for the Retreat are informal group discussions on "The Root of Freedom" and "Experiments in Ordered Living". The day will end with a candle-light Communion Service and meditation, the meditation to be led by the Reverend Ronald E. Cocroft, instructor in religion.

Communion Service

A campfire and hymn-sing will precede the Communion Service. The Communion will be served by Reverend Cocroft and the Reverend Eugene H. Barth, professor of religion.

The Y Retreat has as its purpose spiritual uplifting as well as mental and physical relaxation in a Christian atmosphere.

Renner, Reid

Assisting Larson with the planning and preparation of the Retreat were Louise Reid, '59, YWCA president, and Eustace Renner, '59, YMCA president.

The group scheduled for the Retreat will leave the Albright parking lot at 7:45 a.m. tomorrow.

Key Club Workshop

Representative of five Berks and Lancaster County high schools attended a Pennsylvania Division 16 Key Club workshop on Albright's campus Saturday. The purpose of the Workshop was to discuss problems relating to the responsibilities of the various offices of the club.

Adams In Charge

Key Club Lieutenant-Governor Richard Adams, of Exeter High School Key Club was in charge of the workshop. Adams is known to many Albrightians, having served as president of the General Assembly of the Model UN held at Albright last year.

Bruce Birkholz, '62, former Key Club lieutenant-governor of the New Jersey District, explained the activities of the New Jersey District to the delegates. Approximately 25 Albrightians, many of whom attended the Workshop, are former Key Club members.

Service Club

According to Dr. Samuel B. Shirk, assistant to the president, who is the Kiwanis sponsor of Division 16, "the Key Club is a Kiwanis sponsored boys' service club for high school students. It undertakes service projects of all types."

The delegates attended the Albright-Gettysburg football game as guests of the college after a full day of general meetings and group discussions.

Role Of Church-Related College Explained

sible and practical, a Christian faculty who share its ideals.

This relationship, a dual one between the church and the college which mutually benefit each other, gives the opportunity for the church to provide training for the young people of its faith, as well as for others. It thus seeks to provide in all departments of instruction an atmosphere sympathetic to the Christian faith and practice. It strives to maintain a spirit which will encourage and develop leaders for the church and also the community.

Being a liberal church-related institution, Albright welcomes persons of other religious backgrounds, conferring its honors without distinction of creed. Inherent in the aims of the college is to inspire and guide the student in developing his whole personality through intimate contact with, and appreciation of, the broad cultural heritage of the human race.

Thus the church-related college is operated to specially foster a religious and moral background in addition to serving the intellectual, vocational, and social needs of our higher educational institutions.

Views of the News

New System Needed . . .

Recently, in connection with the much publicized fraternity Achievement Trophy, a, may we say distasteful, situation arose. It was a situation of which none of us can be proud.

However, like most occurrences of this nature, it did serve a good purpose. The dispute over last year's Achievement Trophy brought to light some major weaknesses in the present method of awarding the trophy.

First, there is the scoring basis for determining the trophy winner. The scoring system as approved in 1952 is

	EVENT
	Scholastic Average	Intra-Mural Sports*	Sports Night	Stunt Night
1st Place	30 pts.	20	10	10
2nd Place	23	15	7	6
3rd Place	16	10	4	0
4th Place	9	5	1	0

*Includes intra-mural football, basketball and softball.

About all that can be said for the above system is that it is a system. But what is it based upon? How can one justify the various point allotments? What basis is there for awarding third and fourth place points in Sports Night and not in Stunt Night?

How can one arrive at the weights given to the scores for the various events? Particularly when we see a three to one ratio between the points awarded for first place in Scholastic Achievement and those awarded for first place in Stunt Night and Sports Night, when at the same time, there is a ratio of infinite proportion between the last place points awarded for these same events.

Perhaps there should be weighted scores, but upon what basis are the weights to be assigned?

Secondly, why are there not points awarded for the Float Parade and for the volleyball tournament? Would it not be more judicious to award points in all of the areas in which the four fraternities compete?

In an effort to correct both of these situations we would like to propose (1) that all events in which the four fraternities compete be included in the scoring for the Achievement Trophy, and (2) that a new scoring system be initiated. This system to award three points for first place, two for second place, one for third place, and none for last place. The proposed system would apply at all events.

The Achievement Trophy is probably the most important award a fraternity can win. Why base its award on a scoring system that gives evidence of "being shot off the top of someone's head" instead of being realistically based?

Bouquets . . .

We have not awarded many "bouquets" this year. However, we feel that one is in order this week.

We would like to say thanks to the Daywomen's Association for being the first organization this semester to sponsor "live" entertainment at a Friday night activity. Needless to say, we would like to see more organizations follow the lead of the Daywomen.

To the Daywomen an extra large bouquet, our sincerest thanks and a wish for a great dance tonight.

(Editor's Note: Too often words of value and meaning are passed on to posterity with the label "anon". The following poem is in that class. It is believed that the poem was written by a United States Air Force Cadet who was stationed at Spence AFB, Georgia. It is further believed that the Cadet crashed to his death shortly after composing the poem. He was ready to meet his Creator.)

I'd like to have a moment, Sir,
Up here so close to You,
To talk about the things I've done
And things I've yet to do.

At times I've left formation,
To peel off and slip away,
When "Move in. Close that gap up."
Was the order of the day.

I didn't need my compass.
No, not me. I thought I knew.
So I've cursed and made excuses
When my field was overdue.

But each time I've lost my way, Sir,
From my flight of fellow men,
You've found and brought me safely
To formation once again.

And I know that You are watching,
Sir,
As I walk Your halls of air,
For the majesty of Heaven
Is about me everywhere.

And when You form Your squadron,
Sir,
And lead those men who fly
On their last and final mission
To Your airdrome in the sky.

I ask that I may be there, Sir
To make that journey too.
With throttles to the firewall,
Sir, let me follow You.

A Prayer For United Nations

By JOHN GOLDEN

God of the measureless universe
... Creator of men's conscience . . .
to Thee in this our fervent prayer for peace, we lift our voices in

We . . . people of every faith . . .
of every creed . . . join together . . .
pleading for truth, justice and charity among men. We pray for Thy omnipotent aid in this hour of imperiled

That thou shalt cast out forever

That the advocates of war shall

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Albright Is Talking About

By BARBARA ANN SYCHTERZ

... The spurge of "open houses" being held on campus. October 11 saw one of the most festive of these events taking place when the Pi Tau-PAT open house was held at the Pi Tau House on Hampden Blvd. On Saturday, October 25, the Zeta Omega Epsilon Fraternity will have its chance to play "host" when it will sponsor its open house at the Zeta House which is situated on Alsace Road. Also coming up on the Albright social calendar is the PAT-APO open house which will be held November 8 at the APO House on Olive Street.

... The delicious cakes that the Phi Beta Mu Sorority sold at their successful cake sale last Wednesday in the Ad Building.

... Bernard Peiffer and his jazz combo which really "broke up" the chapel on Tuesday. In my opinion, Mr. Peiffer is truly a great artist, and the rest of his group are nothing to sneeze at either.

Attitude

... The repulsive attitude of some of the Frosh towards the Customs period on campus. With Customs ended, it is hardly the time to pick over old bones, but . . . the fact that certain freshmen viewed Customs with a "ha-ha" attitude seems to me a little difficult to overlook. When some freshmen deliberately refused to wear their "dinks" all during Customs, (and slyly got away without any consequences) I seem to get the idea that something is wrong somewhere. Customs is a period that should be taken in good stead by both frosh and upper-classmen ALIKE! This year's Customs are over, and I know that as far as a few of the freshmen are concerned Customs never even began.

Glenn Miller

... Ray McKinley and the Glenn Miller Orchestra which will be appearing down at Sunnybrook this Saturday. For those of you boys who are always complaining that there's no place for you to take your date on a Saturday night—why don't you try Sunnybrook? I guarantee you'll have a blast.

... And speaking of having a blast at a dance, next weekend is Homecoming and the gala Ivy Ball, at which time the new Homecoming Queen will be crowned. So, until then, I'll see you at the dance.

Just How Strong Is Your Faith

Submitted by BOB PECKHAM

The following is a passage quoted from The Ugglians, by L. M. Falaw, Philosophical Library, (New York, 1956), p. 27. It is the understanding with regard to the Christian faith of a person from a primitive culture. Test your faith and knowledge of Christianity by determining if you can refute his argument.

Christianity

"Their system of magic (Christianity) in general goes like this. A Great White Father lived upstairs, a three-headed god who created and ruled the world. This god they claimed to be all-powerful. Yet a miserable midge of a human being, even a suckling babe, could defy this god and make him unhappy. In revenge, the god would burn the person, or the babe, in a lake of fire forever. He sneaked around watching everybody keeping a record of each misdeed and anything could be a misdeed at certain times and in certain places. This Great White Father was supposed to be good. In reality, he was a megalomaniac with an inferiority complex."

For those unfamiliar with the term "megalomaniac", Webster's unabridged defines it as referring to one who has "a disordered mental condition in which the patient has grandiose delusions."

Upon first reading this discourse, do not be fooled by its superficial simplicity. Under close observation, one can discover a tenet in Christianity from which every point made is derived. The question is, "do you know enough about Christianity, and is your faith strong enough to illustrate to this primitive the errors he makes, so that he can truly understand Christianity?" Think about it!

IN THE LION'S DEN

By MICHAEL TEITELMAN, Sports Editor

There certainly will never be another newspaperman like Bill Reedy, the Grey Eagle and former Sports Editor of the Reading Eagle. Reedy was in a class with the immortal Grantland Rice. But out of the horizon there always comes someone who reminds you of the great. The following article by Bob Riegner, sports writer for the Eagle is a story that Bill Reedy would have written had he been alive. A grateful Albright and a helluva football team say thanks.

Full Effort

For years I have been a bitter foe of worn out and useless sports clichés to wit: 1.—they played their hearts out; 2.—they were outmanned but not outfought, and; 3.—a never say die ball club.

They are all glorified (but feeble) ways of saying a team or an individual tried. Simply that: they tried.

And this year's Albright College Lions belong in that classification. They try.

Coach John Potskian's crew has been remarkable despite its current log of 1-2-1. When you consider that Potskian has less personnel than almost any high school you can name, their accomplishments become even more astounding.

When Albright suits up 26 players, Potskian feels he's lucky. And that number includes the cripples.

Injuries are the greatest enemy of a small squad and Albright has had more than its share. Enough in fact, to make big college coaches (with squads of 60 or 70) moan.

Saturday's 18-8 loss to Gettysburg was Albright's finest hour this season. It topped Lion performances in a 21-0 win over Drexel and a 14-14 tie with Lebanon Valley.

For nearly three full quarters, the Lions gave the undefeated Bullets fits and early in the third period had the visitors talking to themselves with a pair of brilliant punt returns that provided some of the finest blocking seen in these parts in many a season.

And they did it without their veteran quarterback Frank Sudock who was sidelined early in the second period when he aggravated an ankle injury picked up in a practice session.

Also missing after a brief stint in the opening quarter was punter and placekicker Claude Lynch who re-injured an ankle.

Ballentine Out

The most difficult blow of the game came in the third period when sophomore tackle Bill Ballentine suffered a broken right leg. He'll be out for the season.

"I would have rather have lost 100-0 than have that boy hurt," Potskian said after the game.

Albright rates as an improved team and may cause trouble from here on in. Jim McGuckin, who officiated the Gettysburg game, said Albright was "1,000 per cent better than a year ago" and called its line play a key factor in the game.

As on any team with a limited number of performers, the physical beating of an ordinary game begins to take its toll in the late stages.

If the Lions are to win, they will have to get the lead early while they are fresh and then hold off the late rush which is certain to come from schools with much larger squads.

Albright has won countless new fans this season. And because of the predominantly freshman and sophomore squad it will win even more in the future.

It's a great feeling when you can come away from a game in which your team has been beaten and still feel rewarded. That's the way it was Saturday night.

Albright Tangles With Diplomats

Unbeaten Gettysburg Team Edges Game Albrightians

A superior Gettysburg team, taking advantage of three Lion mis-cues, defeated the game Albrightians, 18-8, in the 19th meeting between the two Pennsylvania rivals last Saturday night at Albright Stadium.

Last week's victory preserved Gettysburg's clean slate at three wins and one tie. Albright now has a 1-2-1 log.

Jim Flood and Dick Stravolo, a pair of seniors, led the effective Bullet attack which dominated play throughout all of the hard-fought contest. Albright, suffering from the loss of Frank Sudock, Bill Ballentine, and Claude Lynch, could hold their heads high in going down for their second consecutive defeat of the campaign, for they did well under difficult circumstances.

A Dream Come True

Harold Miller fulfilled a lineman's dream-come-true in tallying Albright's lone touchdown in the final thirty seconds of play. The Bullets' Tom Hyland was running through the line from his own twenty-six when guard Miller took the ball from him and scampered the distance to the goal. Gary Chapman had to run eight yards for the two-point conversion because of an Albright offside penalty.

Mike Varano's back-to-back punt returns, of 40 and 39 yards each, electrified a chilled audience of 2500 in the third quarter. His first jaunt put the Lions on the G-burg 26, and they moved to the nine on an overthe-middle pass from Gary Chapman to Varano. The drive stopped there, however, as Albright failed to score on four downs.

In the waning seconds of the initial period, Claude Lynch attempted, on a fourth down, to punt out of his own territory. A high pass from center went over his head, and before Lynch could run with the recovered ball, a horde of blue-clad Bullets swamped him under on the ten. Jim Flood reached paydirt on the next play, putting Gettysburg in a 6-0 lead. The attempted kick was no good.

Lynch Hunt

Lynch was the first of three Lion starters to be injured in the ball game when he left the contest immediately before the first G-burg score. Next was Frank Sudock, taken out after a minute and a half had elapsed in the second quarter. In the third period an ambulance was summoned to remove Bill Ballentine from the field. Ballentine suffered a broken right leg.

Chapman Fumbles

Chapman lost the ball on his own 21 mid-way in the third period, and, twelve plays later, Stravolo crept over from the two with 55 seconds left in the stanza.

The final Bullet tally, scored by Ernest Velton on a one-yard plunge in the last frame, also stemmed from a Chapman bobble.

Because Nobody, But Nobody, Outfits Like This!

The Albright College Lions travel to Lancaster this Saturday for a clash with the Diplomats of Franklin and Marshall College.

The Lions, hampered by injuries, will have their work cut out for them in this gridiron contest tomorrow. Claude Lynch, Albright end, will probably be out due to sprained ankles. Quarterback Frank Sudock is a possible starter although he suffered a sprained ankle in last week's game with Gettysburg.

Bill Ballentine, ace tackle for the Lions, received a broken leg in the Gettysburg game last week and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Reading for treatment. He will be out for the rest of the season.

It will be Homecoming for the Diplomats of F. & M. as they meet the Albright gridgers tomorrow. This contest will mark the 26th game of a series which began in 1912.

Darrah Leads Dips

Coach Woody Sponaugle of F. & M. will probably bring in his big offensive players, fullback George Darrah, halfback Johnny Betrone, and quarterback Fred Hesse.

In the event that veteran Frank Sudock does not start Coach Potskian will probably count heavily on freshman Gary Chapman to take over the quarterback position. Other offensive players figuring heavily will probably be fullback Gerry Bricker and sophomore halfback Mike Varano, who showed up well in last week's Gettysburg game.
