Barbara Bliss Wins Team's Vote For Bowl Queen

The Albright College football team has selected Barbara Bliss, a freshman from Jenkintown, Pa., to represent the college as queen at the second annual Kiwanis Bologna Bowl football game against Lebanon Valley College. The game will be played November 8 at 2:00 p. m. in the Lebanon High School Stadium. Each school that was invited to the game will send one representative to make up a group of football queens for that special game.

One hundred per cent of the members of the team voted for a first and second choice. The judges gave ten points for the top spot and five points for the second place. Miss Bliss won with 220 points, while Barbara Burbank took second place honors with 195 points.

Other freshman girls that received votes were Stephany Bartollett, Patricia Brown, Joan Delp, Sylvia Gruel, Jeanette Meyer and Claire Simmat.

The queen is 5' 6" tall and has blonde hair and blue eyes. An honor student in high school, Miss Bliss was elected May Queen of her senior class. She is now majoring in business administration and was one of the five finalists seeking the Homecoming crown.

Mixed Quartet To Sing In Lancaster Church

The mixed quartet, under the direction of Dr. John Duddy, will sing at the Broad Street Methodist Church in Lancaster on Sunday, November 9 and 16. The group will render three selections at each service which is conducted by Reverend William J. Mann, an alumnus of Albright, class of '39.

Members of the organization are Shirley Schaefer and Ann Kocher, sopranos; Kathleen Carls and Dorothea Sheetz, altos; Samuel Shirk and Robert Reeser, tenors; and Ivan Moyer and David Serfass, bass. Sally Lanz is the accompanist.

Glee Club

Various musical organizations are rehearsing for coming engagements. The glee club, directed by Dr. John Duddy, will present a program in chapel in the near future. After Christmas the group plans to sing in numerous Evan-

Bauer To Take Senior Photos

Senior portraits for the Cue will be taken next week, November 3 through 8, at the photographic studios of Paul Bauer, 608 Franklin Street, Reading. In announcing the times for the individual sittings, Ron Schlossberg, photographic editor, urged all seniors to check with the lists in the administration building basement for confirmation as to the day and hour each will be scheduled.

Men are reminded to wear white shirts, ties, and, if possible, dark suits. Women are urged to dress conservatively in dark grey, blue, black, red, purple or brown dresses or blouses.

Fee To Be Charged

A $2.00 fee will be charged all seniors who do not appear at the scheduled times they requested during the first week in November. If new appointments during the following week must be made because seniors failed to report, they will be scheduled at the photographer's convenience and the fee will be charged.

Faculty Pictures Scheduled

Pictures of the faculty will be taken Monday, November 3, at 3:30, in Selwyn Parlor. Pictures will be taken by departments immediately preceding faculty meeting.

43 Students Stage Domino Club Plays

Domino Club presented four student written, student directed one act plays on Friday night, October 24, in the Chapel. The productions were all written last year for English Composition.

"Ice Storm," written by Roger Spang and directed by Nancy Lou Walker, featured Lois Hughes, Peter Schoffstall, Helen Schoener and Robert Walker. Patricia Weherer was responsible for the play entitled "Go Ahead—Sue Me." Directed by Jacqueline Zwoyer, the cast included Mahlon Gebhardt, Joan Delp, Stanley Order, Donald Hallas, Roberta Crimbring, William Lord and Thelma Arnold.

"Tea For Ski" was written by Donald Downs and had as its director, Robert Waldner. Taking part in it were Sally Aicher, Elissa Swisher, Betty Williams, Barbara Topken, Rodney Bentz, Fred Hess and David Frankhouser. The final play "Sophistication" included Claire Speidel, Virginia Mangin, Sandra Smith, Jean Filbert and Donald Miller in the cast. Written by Stella Tryka, it was under the direction of Virginia Seems.

The following people aided in the production of the plays: William Britton, stage manager; Donald Miller, Ken Hughes, Chris Walck, Robert Walker, and James Zaferes, stage assistants; Jean Walker and Nancy Geissler, properties; Annetta Deussen, Roberta Crimbring, Ruth Fry, and Charlotte McCane, publicity; Nancy Lou Walker, Dolores Luhowy, Claire Speidel and Peter Schoffstall, make-up.

Price Announced For November 8 Ivy Ball

The price of tickets for the Ivy Ball has been announced at $2.50 by Robert Bieler, social chairman of Student Council. The Ivy Ball, which will be the first social event held in the college's new gymnasium, is scheduled for November 8, from 8:30 until 11:30. Hank Hoffman's orchestra will provide the music. It was also announced that it is a non-corsage dance. All faculty members have been invited, and all alumni are welcome.

Frosh Girls Elect Council Members

Freshman representatives to the Women's Day and Dorm Councils have been elected by the respective freshman groups, announced Dean Eleanor E. Westerberg, advisor to the groups. The Day Council representatives are Claire Simmat and Betty Miraszewski; Dorm Council, Betty Williams and Mary Bysher.

The following upperclass girls serve on the Dorm Council: seniors, Annetta Deussen, president, Evelyn Kressler and Dorothy Kuetzel; juniors, Michelina Cacciola, Dorothy DeLaney and Shirley Hasikin; sophomores, Theresa Winkler and Lorraine Wagner.

Upperclass daywomen on the Day Council are: seniors, Catherine Girvin, president, Mary Jane Titlow and Jane Lausch; juniors, JoAnn Duffy and Barbara Ravel; sophomores, Leda PasYotis and Mary Althouse.

Art Exhibit To Be Held

Albright College will present an art exhibit by Franz de Merlier November 9th through the 22nd in Selwyn Hall. This will be the first showing of ten paintings which de Merlier classifies as "non-objective realism." He will also show six other paintings which are in the Philadelphia Y.M.C.A. representing the period before "non-objective realism."

de Merlier, a native of Belgium, taught at the Wyomissing Institute of Fine Arts and is now teaching an adult education class in art one night a week in the Reading Y.M.C.A. He is also accredited with painting the murals for the local Y.M.C.A.

Y Group To Show Campus Movies

Tuesday evening, November 4, will be entertainment night for the "Y" in the chapel at 7:30 p. m. Movies about college life at Albright will be shown. The program will include outstanding football games, graduation exercises, snow battles, May Day, Sadie Hawkins' Day and other interesting activities which took place in past years.

Last Tuesday the Y sponsored a "Halloween Hoe-Down" in Krause Hall. Paul Scheirer was caller for the square dancing.

THE EBONAIRES Singers To Present Cultural Program

The Ebonaires, original Deep River Singers, will be featured in the first cultural program to be presented this year, Tuesday, November 4. The quartet is noted for their renditions of old Southern Spirituals, folksongs and Gershwin ballads.

They have performed as a group for twenty years, with their chief aim to promote inter-racial goodwill through the expression of songs typical of the feeling of the Negro race. The Ebonaires have made 38 extended tours of the United States, Canada, Mexico and Cuba.

The program will include such favorites as "Workin' on de Railroad," "Shortnin' Bread," "Old Man River" and "Swing Low Sweet Chariot."

On Thursday, February 12 the students will hear the pianist, William Haaker. "Peeps at People Perplexities" will be the dramatic program to be presented by Margaret St. Clair on Thursday, April 16.

Albright College went Republican in the recent straw election when "Ike" Eisenhower rolled up the large majority of 216 votes out of 380 that were cast. This represents 57% of the votes.

134 students voted for Governor Adlai Stevenson on the Democratic ticket. 35% of the ballots were given the candidate. Darlington Hoopes, the Socialist candidate, received 28 of Albright votes, 8% of the tallies.

In the vice-president race Senator Richard Nixon came out on top with 225 votes. This shows a 99 lead over Senator John Sparkman's 126 votes and a 205 over Mayor Samuel Friedman's 20. Nixon surprisingly received nine more votes than his running-mate Eisenhower. Both Sparkman and Friedman tallied less votes than Stevenson and Hoopes.

With 64% of the class voting for Eisenhower, the sophomores had the highest percentage of "Ike" votes. The junior class was lowest with 48% for Eisenhower. The senior class gave 54% to "Ike," while the freshman class came closest to the final results with 58%. Stevenson polled his highest vote in the freshman class where he received 39% of the total and was low in the junior class where he got 29%. Hoopes, however tallied his highest, 23%, in the junior class and his lowest, 2%, in the sophomore class.

Faculty Likes "Ike"

76% of the 21 faculty and administration who voted cast their ballots for Eisenhower. Stevenson received three, or 14% of their votes and Hoopes, 2 votes, or 10% of the total. The vice-presidential votes numbered the same as those cast for the president in this group.

Actually 75% of the student body voted, however, 25 ballots had to be invalidated because the signatures were not legible. There were also the usual few "joker" ballots cast. Another note is the fact that many students cast a split ballot.

The Republican victory in this election was not as overwhelming as it was in 1948 when Governor Thomas E. Dewey received 66% of the votes cast, while President Harry Truman got only 23%. In that year Norman Thomas, the Socialist candidate, received 12.1%.

Educator To Speak In Thursday Chapel

As an introduction to American Education Week, Mr. Joseph G. Plank, instructor of English at Reading high school, will speak to the Chapel group on November 6. Recalling his experiences in an army school, Plank will stress the advantages of teaching.

"You Shall Know the Truth and the Truth Shall Make You Free" was the title of Reverend Eugene H. Barth's speech in chapel on Tuesday. Also during the assembly, the Y Choir sang "Lead Me, Lord" by Wesley. The Thursday program consisted of a speech by the Socialist candidate for President of the United States, Darlington Hoopes Sr., who presented the points of view of the Socialist party.

Short And Sweet

The Campus Collegian, University of Toledo, asked two top student political leaders, one Democrat and one Republican, each to write a short piece in support of his candidate. Here's the result.

For Eisenhower: First thing you notice about Eisenhower is a reddish-tan sunburn, eyes a striking blue. You will not get an impression of height, size or grand manner when Ike goes by. He looks solid, walking with a rapid, bouncing effect.

Ike is usually surrounded by many people. He seems to be quite good at carrying along two or three trains of thought, a few words here, a few there. You get the strong feeling he stands for no monkey-business when he's working.

On the other hand, it's an altogether pleasant picture to see Ike shake the hand of a kid who's been up half the night getting out a job well done. There's nothing put on about Ike's grin and the vigorous handshake.

He's giving all he's got and he wants those around him to do the same. If there's a single word to describe his appearance, it must be "confidence."

For Stevenson: The emotional appeal of General Eisenhower is the only factor that could win for him in November. Despite this appeal—one based on loyal devotion to a great hero of World War II—Governor Adlai Stevenson is the better presidential candidate.

Stevenson's career has been devoted to civil government. Eisenhower is a military man. Stevenson is a great political leader. Ike isn't.

Adlai Stevenson is the leader of his party. Senator Taft controls the Republican party. Stevenson has proven his political intelligence. Ike hasn't.

Adlai believes in federal control when state authority fails. Eisenhower's "corruption" campaign commits him to states' rights. Eisenhower has accepted the support of men like McCarthy. Stevenson does not want or need that kind of support.

We Can't Tell The Truth

College editors across the nation have been having trouble expressing themselves, according to an article by Tom Tomizawa in The Masthead.

The trouble is, says Tomizawa, that whenever they deal with a controversial topic, somebody—administration, student government or alumni—is likely to stifle them.

He cites many examples, a few of which we have space to print: "Miss Sara Woods, editor of the University of Oklahoma Daily . . . this spring went corruption-hunting in the student governing body, and called its elections 'rotten, stinking and filthy.'"

"The student senate attempted to stifle me when I was writing nasty editorials about it," she recalls now, somewhat with relish. "My life was even threatened."

"When six students of a small eastern college recently were reprimanded for drinking, the editor of the school paper took advantage of the opportunity for some barbed comments. A lot the college has to holler about student drinking, she said in an editorial blast, when the school owns shares in a tavern and when it goes around soliciting funds from local pubs.

"The editor found herself on the carpet—first in the office of the centennial campaign fund chairman, then in the president's office. She was warned to keep under control the 'impetuosity of her youth.'"

The article points out that most college newspapers are very loyal to their school administrations and often bend backwards to support them.

"But," it continues, "it is the school editor's occasional flights into criticism of school authorities which get him into hot water. That is when charges of student editor

My Turn To Make The Decision

The Reason Why I Am Going To Vote—

Democratic

by Robert Ravetz

Possibly one of the most disappointing aspects of the present campaign has been Dwight Eisenhower's election tactics since winning the Republican nomination. The noise of the convention had hardly subsided when the General began to eradicate any vestige of liberalism which had supposedly been injected into the party. Though I had welcomed the nomination of the crusader, in tactics, and the subsequent nomination of Adlai Stevenson, possibly the very best man the Democrats could have chosen, make it impossible for me to vote Republican.

Eisenhower's campaign has indeed been a sorry one. It has been a campaign of evasions and generalizations; of platitudes and gaping inconsistencies; of compromising breakfast parties and betraying political endorsements; of cover ups and strangely irrelevant puppy dogs. It has been a soap opera campaign designed to play upon the emotions and fears and to appeal to an electorate too lazy to evaluate issues. It has been a campaign promising all things to all people. It is, in short, a hodge podge of Republicanism that is an unacceptable today as it was twenty years ago.

In his short reign as nominal head, Eisenhower has demonstrated that he cannot handle his party. He has surrendered to the McCarthys and Jenners to the Tafts and Kems, and he has alienated the

by Nancy Imlay

We are all aware of the fact that voting is a great American privilege, but to the Republicans it is an even greater privilege this year for we have a chance to put our government into the hands of competent and able leaders, who have a fervent desire to straighten out the "Mess in Washington."

My reasons for voting Republican in this election are numerous. The first and most obvious is that it appears to me we need a change. Our democratic friends have had their chance at improving the government. We know the results, now is the time for new blood.

As far as platform is concerned I firmly believe the Republicans offer the American people both a domestic and foreign policy which can better further the aims of a democracy than that of the Democratic party. On civil rights the Republicans have definitely promised appropriate action to end segregation in the District of Columbia, as well as to take federal action toward elementary discrimination of poll taxes.

As for foreign policy, the Republican platform is one of endeavoring to stop the Korean War before it can grow into a full fledged 3rd World War. What finer qualifications for a good foreign policy could a leader of a party have than to have been chief of NATO.

Concerning the individual candidates again I say new blood is

The Reason Why I Am Voting—Socialist

When Arthur was our President—perhaps it wasn't strange—The people said: "There is something wrong—it's time there was a change."

And so they changed to Cleveland, but when his course was run, The people said: "We need a change," and called Ben Harrison.

When Harrison was finished, the future looking black, The people were not satisfied, and said, "Oh, let's change back."

When Grover's second race was run, their bread was buttered thinly, And so the people said: "Let's change," and turned to Bill McKinley.

When Teddy Roosevelt, and Taft had shown upon the range, The people said: "The jig is up—the time has come to change."

The change was made to Wilson, who tried to re-arrange, But what he got for what he did was "Let us have a change."

Then Harding, Coolidge, Hoover came, who many did estrange, And Democrats were quite convinced there ought to be a change.

That change was Franklin Roosevelt, and then came Harry Truman, Republicans now want a change, and that was only human.

But what's the use of changing, and what good can it bring, If, after all these changes, we have the same old thing.

The same old vile corruption, the same old graft and crime, The same old lack of high ideals, the same old muck and slime,

We've got to have a party new, with ideals young and high, Let's keep our feet upon the ground, our heads up in the sky.

Oh! tell me, patient voter, will you awaken never? Must we keep changing back and forth, and forth and back forever?

Americans! Americans! let's not be simple fools, And try to build a modern house with ancient, worn-out tools!

Need I add any more reasons why I'm going to vote Socialist!

And You?

The inquiring reporter question for this week is "Whom Are You Voting For For President and Why?" Some of the responses were as follows:

Richard Broadbelt, '53: "Stevenson, I don't believe in hypocrisy of calling the Communist bluff and simultaneous tax reduction."

John Spannuth, '56: "Militant workers candidate—he's in favor of no work and high wages."

Evelyn James, '54: "Neither one is outstanding."

Janet Gehris, '54: "Eisenhower—I think he's more of a statesman than Stevenson."

Robert Sulyma, '56: "Eisenhower—there's no doubt about it, after twenty years of one administration I think it's time for a change."

Dennis Gillen, '56: "Stevenson—I think his personality and leadership are the epitome of American diplomacy."

Marvin Fishman, '56: "Stevenson—his policy is more firm and his platform more sound and specific."

Margaret Israel, '54: "Eisenhower—in my opinion he's the lesser of the two evils. I really believe he's a more honest man."

Marilyn Yatron, '54: "Stevenson—he's a better man."

Richard Stambaugh, '53: "Eisenhower—I'm impressed with his sincerity."

Brimstone And Burning Ballots

I stumbled out of my "ivory tower" this morning and noticed a vaguely familiar odor. My memory stirred and stretched, then began trying to identify the smell. Finally it hit me! This was an election year. The smell was a cross between brimstone and burning ballots. We were to elect a president this year! I must go down into the village and poll the inhabitants, in order to make a logical, rational choice. Shutting off my four-year alarm and arming myself with a sharp Dewey-Bricker pin, I descended the leafy slopes to the edge of town. Here a political speaker on a small platform was addressing a compact crowd of loafers and derelicts.

Judging from the general context of his speech and his bodily contortions, this speaker had a rather poor opinion of his "worthy opponents" as he called them. It boiled down to the bald facts that "them crooks in Washington" were nothing but a tribe of wandering gypsies milking the town, and thus the nation, of every cent by inefficiency, graft and fly-by-night tactics. Also they beat up old ladies and put lumps in everyone's mashed potatoes—a rather unpleasant group. I resolved, on the basis of this man's apparently well-founded logic, not to vote Democratic.

An uproar from the other side of the street attracted my attention, and my body, rather firmly attached, went along. I found another platform, gaudily decorated, with another speaker. He was discussing the Republicans, of which group the first speaker was a member. He explained how his opponents were a bunch of vandals, blackguards, etceteras who have succeeded in tying the country in a knot at every opportunity, and were trying again with the aid of the Communists, racketeers, international bankers, Mohammedans and League of Women Voters, to give the country back to the dinosaurs and trilobites. "Do not vote Republican," I wrote in my notebook in large black letters.

Someone turned on a television set in a small appliance store and everyone crowded around to hear the Socialist candidate for Second

Gridders Return To Stadium Against Moravian

Lions Set For Greyhounds

Eddie Gulian's Roar in Lions fresh from their defeat at the hands of Franklin and Marshall Diplomats are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the Greyhounds from Moravian College.

The Hounds unvictorious in four starts will gamble their passing attack against the rounded offense and tired but staunch defense of the G-men.

Diplomats Clawed by Harriers

Coach Eugene Shirk took his cross country team to F. & M. last Saturday, and they immediately proceeded to cast the one dark spot on the latters Homecoming by defeating Shirk's Alma Mater 27-28.

Bill Shirk again was the individual star. He finished well ahead of the first F. & M. man for his fifth win in as many starts.

The team as a whole looked very good. They seem to have the spark and self confidence they lacked earlier in the season.

Rehash

Although our defense played its usual rough, staunch game last Saturday, they were obviously bothered by the Diplomats option plays. Repeatedly the line broke through to smother the Dips quarterback only to find he had either lateraled or handed off to one of his half-backs.

Jack Sudol's performance again was outstanding. He played his usual sterling game on defense in addition to playing offensive fullback and handling the punting chores.

Rock'em and Sock'em

Our intramural football league is really rolling, complete with injuries and protests. The early game casualties are living evidence of the roughness of "tough-football."

The Zetas kept their slate clean in the intramural football league by downing the Pi Taus, 31-0, on Tuesday. A week ago yesterday the leaders tied the APO's, 0-0. This was the second scoreless tie for the third-place APO's, the other coming Monday night against the Daymen.

The Jerseyites continued their winning ways by collecting two more victories. A week ago Wednesday they mauled the Frosh, 58-0, and then scored their third triumph over the Kappas on Monday, 27-0. The Kappas also met defeat at the hands of the Pi Taus, 20-14.

Besides holding the APO's to a tie, the Daymen shared second place with the Jerseyites by virtue of a 13-7 win over the Rebels.

In Wednesday's games the Zetas and Jerseyites were paired in an important encounter as were the Daymen and Pi Taus. On Thursday the Daymen met the Frosh and the APO's tangled with the Rebels.

Standings

	Won	Lost	Tied
Zetas	4	0	1
Daymen	3	1	1
Jerseyites	3	1	1
APO	3	1	2
Pi Taus	2	3	0
Frosh	2	3	0
Rebels	1	2	2
Kappas	1	4	1

Diplomats Down Lions, 20-13 With Final Quarter Surge

Blocked Punt Sets Up Deciding Touchdown

The Albright Lions had their three-game victory string snapped last Saturday afternoon when a determined band of Franklin and Marshall Diplomats tacked a 20-13 defeat on the Red and White at Lancaster before a Homecoming crowd of 6,500.

It was a last-quarter surge which won for the Diplomats as they overcame a 13-7 Albright edge at the end of three quarters.

Leading 13-7, the visitors had the ball, first and ten, on the Dips' 30, and were intent on tallying the clinching touchdown. However, they ran afoul of the referees and F. & M.'s defensive line, the result of which was a loss of 55 yards in only two plays. Three 15-yard penalties in a row helped bring this about.

Elect to Punt

Thus, on third down on their own 15, the Lions elected to punt out of danger. However, the Dip line completed its task and broke through to block Jack Sudol's kick and recover on the eight. Three plays later Kenny Davis scored from the two and Jack Hepler added the extra point which sewed up the ball game.

With less than four minutes remaining, Albright's Bob Carney was forced to throw passes, but this strategy boomeranged when he faded back, fumbled in the end zone, and Moose Hower recovered for the Dips for their final score.

Up until then it was a thriller-diller, with the Lions outstrutting the Dips, 231 to 199, and scoring 13 first downs to 11. Bruce Tenley, Sudol, Mike DePaul and Tony D'Apolito threw scare after scare into the F. & M. camp, but their heroic efforts were nullified largely by the 75 yards lost on penalties. The Dips did not suffer a single yard lost on penalties and therein lies the difference in the ultimate outcome.

The Lions got a great chance to score in the early minutes of the first quarter when F. & M.'s Dale Ritter fumbled and Al Weidman pounced on the ball on F. & M.'s four-yard line but D'Apolito fumbled on second down and this time Ritter recovered on his own three. Here the Dips went to work, and with Witmer, Davis and Hepler doing the toting they chalked up six straight first downs and moved to the Lions' one-foot line. At this point the Lions showed their defensive strength, tossing Witmer for a two-yard loss and Davis for a four-yard loss to take the ball on downs on their own six. That ended the scoring threats in the first stanza but in the second the Lions got going right through F. & M.'s middle. Taking the ball on their own 20, Sudol, Tenley and DePaul ripped the F. & M. line to pieces, scored three first downs and never stopped until Sudol skirted his own left end for two yards and the score. Sudol's 22-yard run featured this attack which was climaxed with

Lionesses Defeat Ursinus Girls, 2-1, Elizabethtown, 5-1

The Albright Lionesses stopped their two-game losing streak by defeating Elizabethtown 5-1 on Monday and overcoming Ursinus last Wednesday, 2-1.

The game with Elizabethtown began as a fast race with E-town scoring first. However, the team was not taking a defeat and Patricia Miller broke the ice and scored. Miss Miller went on to score three more goals, and Elissa Toepperwein tallied one also.

The lassies pulled a stunning upset in defeating the Ursinus team. Miss Miller scored both goals to bring the Lionesses their victory. In both games the line and the backfield worked together to keep the opposing forwards from breaking through the defense.

Yesterday afternoon the Lionesses played two games against Millersville State Teachers College.

The lineups for both games are as follows:

Albright	Ursinus
Filbert, J. L.W.	Mason
Kuettel L.I.	Taylor
Miller C.F.	Montgomery
Toepperwein R.I.	Kuhn
Kramer R.W.	Edwards

Meet Greyhounds In Game Under Arcs Tomorrow Night

G-Men Shoot for 14th Victory in 16 Starts Against Visitors, Shreve Counts On Freshmen

It will be a victory-starved Greyhound that invades Albright Stadium tomorrow night to do battle with the Lions. Winless in their four starts this season, Coach Jim Shreve's Moravian gridders will be out to avenge last year's 33-13 pasting. Not since 1946, when the scored a 27-20 victory here, has Moravian been able to turn the trick.

On the strength of the fact that Shreve's freshmen are showing much improvement, the young mentor is planning to start even more yearlings this week than he did against Lebanon Valley. Apparently the frosh gave good account of themselves, for the Dutchmen had to fight back from a 7-0 halftime deficit to keep their undefeated skein intact.

Leading the offensive array will be star halfback Jim Evanko, who because of injuries has seen only limited service to date. Evanko's running mates in the T-formation are sophomore Don Weaver at wingback, freshman Doug Shiner at fullback, and sensational yearling quarterback Bill Marsh. Albright's defense platoon can look for an aerial barrage to be engineered by the flashy Marsh, whose favorite target is co-captain Eddie Novogratz. Slated to see considerable action in the Greyhound's backfield are Joe Verdi, Don Shaup, Pete Pezzuto, and Ed Malinowski.

Gulian Stands Pat

Coach Eddie Gulian is expected to field the same units that suffered their initial reverse at Franklin and Marshall last week. Heading up the offense is the quartet that has been responsible for grinding out most of the yardage thus far: Mike DePaul, Bruce Tenley, Tony D'Apolito, and Jack Sudol. Led by co-captain Bob Zapora, the line comprises Bob Krize and Bruce Eickhoff at the terminals, Zapora and Fred Hess at tackle, Jack Clopper and Norm Ruppert at guard, and Len Zahurak at center.

The defensive lineup will see Joe Hayick and Ed McNeill at end, Ted Kajawski and Herb Mackler at tackle, and Blackie Weidman and Fred Strahle at guard. Ray Stoneback and Jack Huntzinger will back up the line, with Jack Peiffer, Jack Sudol, and Bill Locher in the secondary.

Results of previous Albright-Moravian games follow:

1936—Albright, 14; Moravian, 13
1937—Albright, 12; Moravian, 6
1938—Albright, 6; Moravian, 0
1937—Albright, 25; Moravian, 0
1938—Albright, 32; Moravian, 0
1939—Albright, 13; Moravian, 6
1940—Albright, 0; Moravian, 9
1941—Albright, 13; Moravian, 0
1942—Albright, 14; Moravian, 13
1946—Albright, 20; Moravian, 27
1947—Albright, 9; Moravian, 7
1948—Albright, 19; Moravian, 0
1949—Albright, 32; Moravian, 6
1950—Albright, 20; Moravian, 13
1951—Albright, 33; Moravian, 13

Albright won 13, lost 2.

D'Apolito place kicking the extra point.

But the Dips struck right back. Johnston took Jesse Tobias' kickoff to his own 28 and the Lions were penalized 15 for piling and a pass, Witmer to Eberle, carried it to Albright's 35 and Davis, Witmer and Ritter alternated to take it to the four. This time Davis slashed off right tackle for the score and Hepler's placement kick barely got over for the tying point.

Tenley threw a scare into the camp of the Lions by fumbling Hepler's kickoff behind the goal but he managed to get out and the Lions held the pigskin until the

Shirk Stays Unbeaten As Harriers Win Two

With undefeated Bill Shirk leading the way and veteran point getters, Bob Miller, Mahlon Frankhouser, Jim Rocktashel, Dick Flammer, Jeb Lengel and Clip Miller following his example, the Red and White defeated the Franklin and Marshall Diplomats 27-28 on the losers course last Saturday.

Third Shirk Win

This win the third straight for Albright, gives the Shirk men an impressive 3-2 record for the season.

Shirk is undefeated so far this year, and he is looking stronger each meet.

The Red and White won their second when they defeated Lafayette College on the Albright course.

Bill Shirk continuing his winning ways turned in a respectable 19:30 for the 3 1/2 mile course. Shirk is undefeated so far this season. Charlie Strond of Lafayette and Don Seltzer of Albright also broke twenty minutes for the course. Their times were 19:46 and 19:56 respectively.

Groups Announce Plans For November Meetings

Debate Squad To Meet At Dr. Shirk's Home

Meetings of the debate group are scheduled regularly on Wednesday of every week at 3 p. m. in room 313 of the Administration Building. Efforts are being made to arrange another meeting time for the inexperienced debaters. An additional meeting is to be held at the home of the coach, Dr. Samuel B. Shirk, in several weeks.

Prof. Elmer Smith, of the sociology department, will discuss at the proposed meeting, both sides of this year's question, "Resolved—that the Congress of the United States should enact a compulsory fair employment practice law."

Invitations have already been received by debaters to participate in a "packet tournament" on December 13 with such schools as Lehigh, Bucknell and Ursinus. The debaters have also been invited to a tournament sponsored by King's College, of Wilkes-Barre, on February 21, 1953.

There are still several openings on the debating squad, and even those persons who are totally inexperienced in debating are urged to come to the club meetings.

Domino To Hear Talks

Domino Club will meet for the second time this year next Thursday evening in the white chapel. Talks and demonstrations on various phases of the theater will be given by different students, reported Nancy Lou Walker, program chairman of the year.

The following students will participate: costuming, Annetta Deussen; make-up, Dolores Luhowy; lights, William Britton; acting, Sally Aicher; dancing, Patricia Upczak; and music, Ivan Moyer.

Club To Show Movies

Skull and Bones Club will hold their second meeting of the year next Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the science hall. Four sound motion pictures pertaining to biology will be shown. They are "Amoeba," "Protozoism, the Basic of Life," "Paramoecium" and "Menhoden, their Catching and Industrial Uses."

Pledges Announced

Pi Gamma Mu will hold a dinner meeting and induction service on Wednesday, November 13. Dr. Charles Kistler will speak on fellowships for graduate study. New members will be Sonia Phipps, Ann Lanz, Richard Gieger, Philip Rickenback, Eugene Hassler, George Myers and George Peiffer.

We Can't Tell The Truth

Tomizawa stresses the fear most colleges have of "bad publicity" as a result of campaigns by student papers. "Schools are sensitive to pressures of public opinion . . ."

The editor attempts to refute this with the claim that "it is the responsibility of the school administrators not to get into embarrassing situations."

Probably never before, says the article, have so many college editors been so sharply aware of the problems of college press freedom. Campus editors from all parts of the country are writing editorials expressing their abhorrence of controls.

The Cornell Daily Sun may be considered fairly typical of the college daily viewpoint. It declares: "Any newspaper, unless it is founded on a core of independence, might just as well fill its columns with comics or boilerplates as to call itself a real organ of truth."

Brimstone

"In over a hundred years a Socialist president cannot be blamed for any major depression, war or period of inflation. And furthermore, we point with pride to . . ." And so on he rambled. A trolley car rumbled past and the picture swam and fractured. I resolved never to help elect such an unsteady individual to such a responsible position. I walked away slowly.

A man wearing an "Ike Likes Me" button approached, and I asked him why he wasn't voting Democratic. "Those guys are trying to ruin the country!", he explained heatedly. I asked an Adlai fan the same question. "Those guys are trying to ruin the country!", he retorted. I turned back to the television set. The same speaker was on. "Why, those guys are trying to ruin the country!", he roared. The crowd also roared. Someone turned off the set.

I scrounged around the rear of the store and found a large, sturdy, wooden box. Dragging it around to the curb, I mounted it and began addressing the slowly disappearing crowd. "It seems to me that, regardless of whom we elect, we'll get a man who will do his conscientious best, and we need not fear that he will sell us out to the Commies or the Indians or something. Surely you don't think any man will . . ." That is all I remember. Apparently it was set upon and beaten by the crowd. At any rate, now that I have regained consciousness I have come to the conclusion that if. (Since I have been criticized for weak endings on my articles, I have left off the last 1323 words of this one. It ain't much anyway, just a moral of a sort. . .)—L. E.

Women's Auxiliary Plan Sauerkraut Supper

Women's Auxiliary of Albright College will meet on November 5 at the college. Mrs. Doris Hulston will speak to the group on "Silver as the King of Metals," announced Mrs. Earl Huber, chairman of the meeting.

Plans will be made for the sauerkraut supper which will be held on November 22 after the Scranton football game. Tickets will be $1.00 for children and $1.50 for adults. This supper is being sponsored by the Infirmary committee of the Women's Auxiliary in order to get funds for new infirmary supplies.

Librarian Attends State Conference

Miss Josephine Raepel, head librarian, attended a meeting of the Pennsylvania Library Association at its annual conference program on October 24 and 25. The meeting was attended by over 300 Pennsylvania librarians, and was held at Lancaster, Pa.

Jack B. Spear, director of the American Heritage Project of the American Library Association, spoke on the American Heritage Project on October 24. The following day, Miss Raepel heard representatives of various colleges and universities speak on a variety of subjects. The subjects presented were: Circulation by Technician, University of Pa. Library; A New Display Every Day, Seton Hill College Library; New Ideas for the Card Catalog, State Teachers College Library; The Care and Feeding of Film Libraries, Film Library of State Teachers College. Miss Raepel has gotten several new ideas, and is studying the practicability of their application at Albright. While at the meeting, Miss Raepel viewed a display of recently published books, and is considering the purchase of several new volumes.

Y Choir

The Y Choir, also under Dr. Duddy's direction, will sing in all the Tuesday chapel programs until the end of the year.

Band

The Albright band will play at all remaining home football games, announced Hans Nix, band director. They also plan to participate in the annual Christmas parade in Reading which will consist of all the city bands and several church floats.

The orchestra is rehearsing Tschalkowsky's "Marcheslav" for the spring concert.

Republican

(Continued from Page 2) needed. Although Governor Stevenson has proved himself an able contender, it has been made obvious that he is a mere puppet of the Truman regime. The Republican candidate is new in the field of politics, however, he cannot and will not be dominated by retiring political factors.

These reasons and many more have led me to the decision to vote Republican in 1952.

Democratic

(Continued from Page 2) liberals like Wayne Morse of Oregon. It is my hope and belief that he will alienate many more party followers who have lost their illusions about the "Crusade."

If the General's choice of his running-mate is indicative of the type of men he would appoint as president, the nation would soon be wallowing in disaster were he elected. Richard Nixon, were it not for Alger Hiss, would be a senatorial nonentity in the fashion of Ed Martin of Pennsylvania. Nixon's only other claims to distinction are the infamous Mundt-Nixon bill which was happily defeated four years ago and the fact that he has consistently voted on the side of reaction. McCarthy sees only "Red" and Nixon only "Hisses." They both should be set out to pasture.

Adlai E. Stevenson has, on the other hand, displayed remarkable political courage and integrity. He has discussed issues frankly and intelligently. He has presented a clean constructive program that instills hope and confidence. He has surrounded himself with men of high caliber who are reminiscent of Roosevelt's so called "Brain Trust." Governor Stevenson seeks to preserve the best out of both the "New and Fair Deals" and to eliminate the undesirable aspects of "Trumanism" He is, I believe, of sufficient stature to be able to bring the presidency to new heights. I hope Adlai E. Stevenson is given the opportunity by the American people.

F.T.A. To Hear Former Professor, John Khouri

The second meeting of the Future Teachers of America club will be held November 5 at 7:30 in the lower social room and will feature Mr. John Khouri as guest speaker.

Until 1951 Mr. Khouri was a professor of history at Albright and left to assume the supervising principalship of Cataulaeue high school in Leesport. He will speak on the comparison of high school with college teaching.

Jean Hook, Mary Ellen Greth and Donald Miller are in charge of arrangements for the meeting and Ruth Fry is in charge of publicity.

half-time whistle.

The Lions broke the tie at 9:30 of the third period. Taking F. & M.'s kickoff and never relinquishing the ball until they scored. Tenley almost went the whole way on the kickoff but after taking the ball on his own 12 he was finally brought down at midfield by Hepler, the last man in front of the goal.

This sparked the Lions onward and DePaul, Tenley and Sudol lugged forward until they reached the two where DePaul snaked over. D'Apollito's placement was wide and the score stood at 13 to 7 at the end of the third quarter.

Group Sought Answers To Four Main Questions

Last Thursday afternoon about thirty-three students went to Blue Mountain to attend the Y retreat. The leader was Reverend Dean Allen, pastor of St. Matthew's Evangelical United Brethren Church in Reading.

The first seminar was concerned with the Trinity. Rev. Allen said that Jesus Christ was the human fulfillment of God. The question, "What Is God?", was the theme. The groups found the answer to this question very hard to conceive, but decided that human personalities evolve from God and He is seen through humans.

The second seminar was concerned with the problem of "Christ Is the Son of the Living God." It was stated, "Christ is the universal man and as God-man He bridges the 'great divide; in Him lies the keys to the Kingdom."

"What Is Truth?" and "Making Hearsay Into Experience" were topics discussed at the third seminar. Rev. Allen expressed the idea that truth is determined by relation to human personality, and that humans must get these experiences of truth and show others they have them in the Bible, the key symbol of freedom, the ballot, the right to choose leaders, and the pencil, the freedom of expression.

Sunday afternoon was spent in participating in a Holy Communion service which was conducted by Reverend Eugene Barth.

An Albrightian Apology

Apparently the pollsters are not the only ones that make mistakes. This time the Albrightian staff made one in the article concerning the library in the last issue. The mistake was our writing Eisenhower-Nixon when we meant to write Eisenhower-Stevenson.

We wish to sincerely apologize to the library staff for making it appear that they were biased in any way—nothing could be further from the truth. Actually the Eisenhower story and the Stevenson story were on display in the library showcases during this last week. Again we're sorry—the Albrightian staff.
