Orientation Welcomes 257 Freshmen

Foreign Students Bring Varied Cultures

This year it is our privilege to have on campus freshmen from five distinctly different countries—Holland, Ghana, Kenya, Italy and Japan.

From Den Burg, Texel, Holland, comes Maria de Lugt, 19. Miss Lugt attended the College for Girls' Education in Amsterdam from September 1960 to March 1961 wherein she was voted class president, played piano in the school orchestra and attended dramatic-art plays. This past summer, Miss Lugt lived in the United States and spent the month of August at the YWCA camp in Silverbay. Her interests in languages and countries leads to her quest for a bachelor of arts degree in both English and history.

From Ghana

Joseph Tetteh, 23, comes to us from X-Borg, Accra, Ghana. While attending the Odorgonno Secondary School, Tetteh was secretary of the Senior Debating Society, class monitor, laboratory assistant and was associated with the international Voluntary Work Camp program. He is one of 64 freshmen enrolled in Albright's pre-medical curriculum and is preparing for a future in medicine or dentistry.

Kenya

From Kenya we have Samuel Mbugua, 20. Specializing in the biological sciences, Mbugua plans to study six years in this country and then to return to Kenya "and become a teacher in biology which would be certainly helpful" to his people. A graduate of Kagumo Secondary School, he was house and school representative in hockey and football, a member of the Kiambi Students' Association of which he was chairman from 1958-1960 and a house representative for the school Prefects Committee. In addition to learning from Albright as an institution, he desires to share experiences "with people of different races" and to learn from them as well.

Economics Student

Caserta, Italy, gives us Mario Farina, a 26-year-old student of economics. In preparation for American college work, Farina attended the University of Naples for two years. Having studied English and Spanish there, he furthered his study in English by spending one year at the Language Tuition Center in London, England. Upon his return to Italy, Farina taught elementary English to nearly 200 members of the Italian Air Force. He also taught physical education in Bellona, Italy. Farina is pursuing the economics course in the United States because he wants to learn, first-hand, about the economy which "dominates the Occident." Working with industrial personnel in the United States is his chosen career.

Convocation Set For Tuesday at Chapel

William Schuyler Pettit, dean of Ursinus College, Collegeville, will speak at Albright College's Opening Convocation, Tuesday, September 19, at 11 a.m. in Merner-Pfeiffer-Klein Memorial Chapel-Auditorium. The annual convocation program ushers in Albright's 106th academic year and officially welcomes the incoming freshmen to the Albright College family.

B.S. and M.S. Degrees

A native of Burlington, N. J., Pettit received the B.S. and M.S. degrees in chemistry from the University of Pennsylvania in 1932 and 1933. He joined the Ursinus chemistry department faculty in 1933 and was appointed to the college administrative staff as assistant registrar in 1948. He has been registrar and director of admissions and has served as dean since 1954.

Consultant to Temple

Pettit also is a consultant to the Temple University Experimental Program for Teacher Education, sponsored by the Ford Foundation. He is a former vice chairman of the Montgomery County Red Cross, and serves as president of the Worcester School Authority and chairman of the Worcester-Lower Providence School Authority.

He holds membership in the following professional organizations: Alpha Chi Sigma, Society of Sigma Xi, American Chemical Society, Norristown Chemists Club, American Assn. of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers, and the Eastern Assn. of Deans and Advisors of Men.

Do You Know..

THAT: pre-enrollment figures indicate that there are 257 freshmen on campus for the opening of Albright's 107th academic year?

THAT: among these 257 students, 186 are boarding and 69 are commuting?

THAT: ten sons and daughters of alumni are attending Albright this year?

THAT: the class of '65 comes from 157 high schools in the United States and abroad?

THAT: about two-thirds of the incoming freshmen are from Pennsylvania with students from New Jersey, New York, Maryland, Connecticut, District of Columbia, South Carolina, Delaware, Massachusetts, Kenya, Ghana, Japan, Holland, and Italy comprising the other third?

THAT: the incoming freshman class increases the number of students enrolled in the pre-medical curriculum by 64, the engineering curriculum by 21, the business administration curriculum by 31, the home economics curriculum by 19 and other arts and science curricula by 122.

William S. Pettit

Five Receive Degrees in August

Five Berks students were among eight seniors awarded degrees at Albright College's summer commencement exercises in Teel Hall chapel on the campus.

The graduates heard Dr. Wilbur G. Renken, associate professor of physical education and basketball and tennis coach at Albright, discuss "Problems in Sports."

Contending that the basketball scandals reflect the society we live in today, Dr. Renken added, "this in no way excuses the individuals involved, nor does it mean we should go easy in dealing out punishments."

"In view of the daily reports of graft in government, illegal abortions, and embezzlement, it is frankly surprising that cheating in athletics has not happened more often," the speaker stated.

Degrees Conferred

Degrees were conferred by Dr. Harry V. Masters, college president, and James F. Brusch, 2701 Grandview Blvd., West Lawn, alumni vice-president, welcomed the class into Albright alumni association membership.

The invocation was given by the Rev. William R. Marlow, college chaplain, and Mrs. Charles E. Kistler was organist.

The graduates and their degrees are: Phyllis Ann Dinger, R. D. No. 1, Sheridan; Carole Anne Flanagan, 106 Hollywood Ave., Mount Penn; Stanley L. Kaminski, Bloomfield, N. J.; James W. Keltz, 1552 Reading Blvd., Wyomissing; all bachelor of arts.

Also, Harvey F. March, 409 Main St., Birdsboro, and Gary E. Wolf, 2811 Garfield Ave., West Wyomissing, both bachelor of science; Edward M. Chernoff, Philadelphia, and Bernard J. Green, Jr., 2810 Helster Blvd., West Lawn, both bachelor of science in economics.

New Staff Assumes Positions in Education

Eight new persons were named to the faculty and administrative staffs during the summer vacation.

The faculty members and their positions are: Wilma D. Rieser, instructor in the French and Spanish Departments; James C. Doremus, graduate assistant in history and assistant football coach; Emma Seifrit, assistant professor and acting head of the home economics staff; Dr. Morgan S. Heller, chemistry professor; Richard E. Kimmey, executive secretary of the Alumni Association; John A. Patton, assistant professor of English; Allan L. Allenspach, assistant professor of biology; and Vincent C. High, instructor in mathematics.

Recipient of Gold "A"

Miss Rieser, a 1958 graduate of Albright, is a recipient of a Gold "A". She has been teaching German in the Reading School Districts Foreign Language in elementary schools program since 1959. She is co-author of a German syllabus, "Lasst Uns Lernen".

Customs Change For Better?

In an effort to avoid the problems which have been encountered in past years, and to attempt to keep an Albright tradition alive, the 1961 Custom's Program has been completely revised from former years. Barry Parney, '63, Chairman of the Custom's Committee announced that in general, the program will be shorter but stricter, emphasizing constructive features rather than non-constructive ones. Among other features, this year's program will see the abolishment of the Kangaroo Court and individual performances. Upperclassmen, with the exception of buttoning, will not be allowed to request a Freshman to perform as an individual.

Customs' Times

In general, the customs which will be in effect between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. on September 19 thru September 22 and between 8:00 a.m. and noon on September 23, and also at the football games on Sept. 30 and October 7 are as follows:

1. All freshmen must wear their dink. Boys must also wear their red and white tie, properly tied, and a white shirt.
2. All freshmen must wear their identification badge.
3. All freshmen must carry and be familiar with their compass.
4. No freshmen will be allowed to wear bermudas during the customs hours.
5. Freshmen will be forbidden to use the following areas:
  - a. Selwyn Pond Walk
  - b. Upperclassmen Row
  - c. Main Stairway in Administration Building.
6. Freshmen will be required to button when requested by an upperclassman.

Possessions

From the period of Monday, September 25 until Freshmen Induction, the following customs will be in effect between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.:

1. All freshmen must have in their possession their dink and compass. They must wear their identification badges.

Doremus, a 1960 graduate of Albright, received his M.S. degree from Colgate University in June, following completion of a preceptorial scholarship program there. He replaces Richard H. Koch, who resigned to coach football at West Reading High School, on the coaching staff.

Graduate of Albright

Miss Seifrit, a 1954 graduate of Albright, was awarded a graduate assistantship at Drexel Institute of Technology and received the M.S. degree in nutrition in 1956. She formerly was a dietician and clinical instructor in nutrition at Reading Hospital.

Dr. Morgan S. Heller, a Lafayette graduate, received his M.S. degree and Ph.D. degree, both in organic chemistry, from University of Alabama. Heller was a member of the chemical research and sales development staff of E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., Inc., Wilmington, Delaware. Heller did post-doctoral study at Eidgenossische Technische Hochschule, Zurich, Switzerland.

Completing Work

Patton, recipient of bachelor and master degrees from the University of Pennsylvania, is completing work on his doctorate. He previously taught English and speech at Russell Sage College and Villanova University. He also taught at the University of Colorado.

Allenspach, a graduate of Sioux Falls College, has been a research and teaching assistant at Iowa State, receiving a master of science degree there. While completing work toward his doctorate at Iowa State University, he has been working on research involving experimental embryology on the chick. Allenspach is replacing Dr. Clarence A. Horn, who recently retired after 37 years with Albright.

High, who attended the University of Alabama and later did work at Trinity University, where he received his bachelor of arts degree, worked for a master's degree at Purdue University this past summer. High has been added to the mathematics staff, following the retirement of Paul I. Speicher.

From The President's Desk

Welcome to Albright's 106th year! As faculty and students, we are opening the 106th year of Albright College. The history of Albright has been long and one in which all of us can take pride. What we have today by way of facilities, educational program, and other necessary elements of a good college, are due to what has been done in the past. For all of those who have helped to make these things possible, we are thankful. Our job now, however, is to look primarily to the present and the future.

No Albright student is going to be a success at Albright or after leaving Albright just because he is a member of the student body today. No one can make a promise of that kind. All there is ahead for any one of us is opportunity. That is what a college, through its program and faculty, provides. Obviously, there are opportunities of many kinds. Since a college is primarily an educational institution, we think first of all of the opportunities for intellectual stimulus, growth and development which comes about through classroom, laboratory experience, reading, and other educational activities. These must take first place in the time and effort of every successful student. There are also other opportunities which are of great value such as learning through many social experiences, how to improve our understanding and relationship with people in order that together we may achieve our purposes as individuals and as a college group. At Albright, especially, we are also concerned that each student use the opportunities presented to assist in the formulation of values and ideals which shall serve as guides for a life of service.

On the letter head of one of the largest chain department stores in our nation appears this statement:

To LOOK is one thing.

To SEE what you look at is another.

To UNDERSTAND what you see is a third.

To LEARN from what you understand is still something else.

But to ACT on what you learn is all that really matters, isn't it?

This statement is applicable to our work at Albright College. May this be a year of significant growth and development in all areas for each of us.

Dr. Harry V. Masters

Four Spend Unusual Summer

Building a Mexican school, picking England's strawberries, and studying African affairs "on location" are among the summer projects included in the separate plans of five Albright College students who traveled abroad during the summer.

All of the group participated in programs sponsored by national or international church, student, and service organizations seeking to promote better world understanding by working at the college undergraduate level.

Berry harvester E. Lynne Shivers, Sewell, N. J., worked hard at a camp 50 miles north of London, with 39 other college students from the United States and Europe. The junior English major embarked June 9 on a student ship from New York, under a work camp-travel program arranged through the National Student Association, a non-profit group that assists students to go abroad for work, study, and travel.

Following the close of the strawberry crop early in July, Miss Shivers traveled throughout England, Ireland, Scotland, and Holland to meet and talk with government officials, politicians, sociologists, and foreign students. She returns to the U. S. August 16.

Eileen M. McCracken, King of Prussia, a cum laude graduate at Albright's 102nd commencement exercises and George A. Reagan, a senior from Marmora, N. J., are members of an American Friends Service Committee unit of 13 students who were stationed in the state of Veracruz, Mexico. Both speak fluent Spanish.

Their mission was to assist Mexican federal workers in enlarging the local school and building housing for the teacher in the 250-family mountain village of Monte Blanco, located 3,600 feet above sea level in the province of Teocelo. The six-week project began July 3 with a brief orientation and concluded August 22 with an evaluation session, both held in Mexico City.

Junior pre-ministerial major Carl D. Schneider, Philadelphia, flew to Ghana July 4 to begin a study seminar concerned with the church's role in emerging Africa. Sponsored by the United Campus Christian Fellowship, a Presbyterian Church agency, the course was led by prominent figures in church and Ghanaian national life and by the Student Christian Movement of Ghana.

Schneider's itinerary included stopovers in London, Paris, Dakar, Freetown, and visits to Senegal and Sierra Leone. He returned August 24.

James K. Spatz

Mr. James K. Spatz, assistant superintendent of buildings and grounds, died on June 10 in the Reading Hospital. The services were held in the Merner-Pfeiffer-Klein Memorial chapel with the Rev. Eugene Barth and the Rev. Frank W. Ruth officiating. It was the first funeral service to be held in the chapel.

Mr. Spatz, who resided on campus, had been employed at the college for 29 years.

A son of Daniel I. and Katie (Kauffman) Spatz, he was born in Shartlesville and was a member of the United Church of Christ of Little Tulpehocken Church.

Navy Veteran

He was a U. S. Navy veteran of World War I, an honorary member of the Alpha Pi Omega fraternity, and an honorary member of the Albright College Alumni Association.

Surviving are a son, James K.; two daughters: Elsie M., wife of D. Robert Houck, Reading, and Kathryn Irene, wife of Francis W. Schweitzer, Fleetwood R. D. 3, and three grandchildren; four sisters: Elsie K., wife of Clayton Hoffman, Hamburg; Mrs. Mollie Babinsky, Wernersville; Mrs. Stella Moyer, Schuylkill Haven; and Mrs. Hester K. Haring, Kenhorst; also, three brothers: Herbert K. of Rehersburg; William K. of Mohrsville, and Raymond, of Cross Keys. He was preceded in death by his wife, Amy P. (Schlappich) Spatz, in Dec., 1956.

Mr. Spatz was a devoted member of the college family and all of us have benefited from the services he performed so well.

Customs Change

Nobuhiko Ochai, 19, is a native of Taito-ku, Tokyo, Japan. While attending Ryogoku High School in Tokyo, Ochai was a member of student council and a reporter for the student newspaper. He also played shortstop in baseball, ran the marathon in track which he prepared for by running 26 miles a day, and was the city high school judo champion. Part of Ochai's summer was spent in California where he taught judo for one week to the Boy Scouts. While he was still in Japan, Ochai counseled his own age group for the month-long Tokyo Christian Crusade—a movement which explained the Christian religion to the Japanese people and which caused over 10,000 people to embrace Christianity as their own religion. He is majoring in political science and plans his career in international relations.

Each of these students offers us a chance for cultural exchange. Through them we may broaden our knowledge of their homelands and their people; through us they may better understand America and her people. Let us take advantage of this privilege so that Albright's family may be an international one.

Kathleen J. Zellers

On August 10, 1961, Kathleen J. Zellers was pronounced dead on arrival at Community General Hospital. Her automobile ran off the Pottsville Pike at 2:30 a.m. and hit a garage at a petroleum bulk station south of Tuckerton in Muhlenberg Township. Doctors attributed the cause of death to a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Miss Zellers was a graduate of Wilson High School and a 1959 cum laude graduate of Albright College. She majored in psychology. Upon graduation from Albright College, she accepted a position with the college and worked for the Registrar. At the time of her death, she was secretary to Dean Mahlon Helberich.

She is survived by her father, Harry Zellers of 4026 Willow Grove Avenue, Reading Crest and a sister in Ohio and Philadelphia. Funeral services were conducted by the Kuhn Funeral Home.

Capital Fund Results Seen

In June, construction was started on two three-story dormitory buildings to be built on a triangular plot across the street from the physical education building. The men's building will face west on Thirteenth Street and the women's will be to the north on Richmond Street. Each building will house 118 students and will be connected to a two-story "core" building. The "core" building will have identical facilities on both floors, including recreation, canteen, lounge, mail distribution areas, office and storage space and supervisory staffs' living quarters. Access to the dormitories from the core building will be on separate floors.

The plans call for similar facilities in each dormitory. Student rooms will face on a central corridor running the entire length of the building and connecting with a stairway tower at both ends. Bathroom facilities will be located on each floor at both ends of the corridor on opposite sides of the building. Also included in the specifications are linen storage space, janitorial work stations and laundry rooms to be located in the basement.

Each student room will measure twelve feet by sixteen feet and will have built-in combination desk-book case units for study use, in addition to closet space. Furnishings for the dormitories and the core building will be provided with funds from the Albright College Development Campaign. About $100,000 has been allotted for furnishings. The cost of the dormitories will be $972,000. Construction of the brick buildings will be financed through a loan from the Housing and Home Finance Agency, a division of the Community Facilities Administration in Washington, D. C.

General contractors for this project are L. H. Focht and Son, Inc. The architects are Muhlenberg Brothers, Wyomissing, Pa.

Experience To Faith Summer Conference Theme

After finals last semester, three Albrightians, Bev Barthold, '61, Jim Clayter, '63, and Chuck Schleifer, '62, journeyed to Camp Michaux near Gardners, Pennsylvania for the 1961 Middle Atlantic Region Student Summer Conference.

The theme of the conclave, sponsored by the "Y", the United Church of Christ, and the United Presbyterian Church, was "Breakthrough from Experience to Faith." Drama, poetry, literature, art, music, and motion pictures were presented and their value as a religious experience were discussed. The main speaker was Dr. Richard E. Rubenstein, director of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundations and Chaplain to Jewish students in colleges in the Pittsburgh area. Dr. Rubenstein discussed the religious philosophy of Sigmund Freud. He explained the beginnings of religion and "the area of doubt and confusion which lies between man's experience and his attempt to conceptualize this experience."

"beat" Poets

Dr. William L. Kinter, an Associate Professor of English at Muhlenberg College, spoke on the "beat" poets and read some of their works. Dr. Philip Young, professor of American literature at Pennsylvania State University, discussed American epics.

The conference which lasted five days (June 5 to 10) was a huge success. Plans are now being made for next year's meeting. The Albright "Y" will distribute information on it.

Albright Grad Completes USIS

Air Force Second Lieutenant Suzanne F. Kaltenstein, a native of Ephrata, Pennsylvania and a graduate of Ephrata High School and Albright College of Reading, recently completed the U. S. Army Information School at Fort Slocum, New York. Lt. Kaltenstein applied for entry in the Air Force after completing college and was accepted to attend Officers Training School at Lackland AFB, Texas.

She received her commission in the Air Force last November and was assigned to the Office of Information at Hancock Field in Syracuse, New York. From there she attended the Information School and has since resumed her duties at Hancock Field.

Foreign Students

2. Buttoning will not be in effect except at football games and pep rallies.

Violations will be handled through a student-faculty board. A record will be kept of the frosh offenses. On the third offense which is reported to this board, the student will be requested to appear before the board to discuss his problem. If after this consultation, the student continues to violate the program, he will be asked to confer with the Dean of Men or Women.

Upperclassmen are reminded that this is a trial program and its success can be determined only by the extent to which the upperclassmen carry it out. The co-operation of the entire student body is requested in order that the traditional custom's program may be kept a part of Albright.

A Place To Start

The relationship between student and faculty is perhaps the most important phase of college life. When the relationship is good, the college runs smoothly and the general morale of the college is more favorably noted. Sometimes in the past this congeniality with the administration has dropped below the safe margin. With this fact in mind, the Albrightian hopes to contribute its share by improving relationships between the two levels of our college family. In this first issue of the year appears the president's message. This article is the first in a series of faculty articles which will appear in each issue. Through this medium we expect to be able to stimulate a better understanding between faculty and students at Albright College.

How To Stay In College

"1. Bring the professor newspaper clippings dealing with his subject. Demonstrate fiery interest and give him timely items to mention to the class. If you can't find clippings dealing with his subject, bring any clippings at random. He thinks everything deals with his subject.

"2. Look alert. Take notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't stare at it unbelievably and shake it.

"3. Nod frequently and murmur, 'How true'. To you, this seems exaggerated. To him, it's quite objective.

"4. Sit in front, near him. (Applies only if you intend to stay awake.) If you're going to all the trouble of making a good impression, you might as well let him know who you are, especially in a large class.

"5. Laugh at his jokes. You can tell, if he looks up from his notes and smiles expectantly, that he has told a joke.

"6. Ask for outside reading. You don't have to read it. Just ask.

"7. If you must sleep, arrange to be called by a friend at the end of the hour. It creates an unfavorable impression if the rest of the class has left and you sit there alone, dozing.

"8. Be sure the book you read during the lecture looks like a book from the course. If you do math in Psychology class and vice versa, match the books for size and color.

"9. Ask any questions you think he can answer. Conversely, avoid announcing that you have found the answer to a question he couldn't answer, and in your younger brother's second grade reader at that.

"10. Call attention to his writing. Produces exquisitely pleasant experiences connected with you. If you know he's written a book or an article, ask in class if he wrote it.

"As to whether or not you want to do some work, in addition to all this, well, it's controversial and up to the individual."—Robert Tyson, Hunter College psychology instructor, quoted in STATE PRESS, Arizona State University.

Lions Prepare For Muhlenberg Battle

IN THE LION'S DEN

By BARRY PARNEY, Sports Editor

Can They Do It Again?

While the football team worked out in 90 degree temperatures during the last few weeks, most observers were asking the same question, "Can the Lions continue where they left off?" Most agree that it won't be easy as a great deal of talent was lost through graduation last year not to mention the fact that a new place kicker will have to be found to take the place of Jack DeLorenzo who underwent surgery over the summer months. It isn't often that a college team can put together two undefeated seasons in a row and there aren't too many winning streaks as long as Albright's in present college circles. However, with all this in mind, most of the grid experts are suggesting that the Lions will be stronger than last year. Of course, they admit that most of the pressure is going to fall upon quarterback Gary Chapman who last year completed 65 of 117 passes for a total of 1091 yards and 17 touchdowns. He has thrown at least one touchdown pass in the last ten games for Albright.

Of course, much of the success of this year's team is going to depend on the freshmen to make the jump from scholastic to college ball. Until it can be determined if they can make that conversion, the only answer to the question can be, "Wait and see."

Albright Invitational Scheduled

After repeated efforts on the part of Gene Shirk and other college officials, plans have finally been completed to have the college sponsor a holiday invitational basketball tourney. The first annual tournament will be held in the Albright Field House on Thursday and Friday nights, December 28-29, between teams from Boston University, Rutgers University, Williams College, and host Albright. The invitational was in addition to a 22 game schedule which was released during the summer vacation. The Lions will open at home against Wilkes College on December 2. New opponents appearing on this year's schedule include a home and home series with Susquehanna University, Hartwick College of Oneonta, New York, and a renewed rivalry with Army at West Point on January 31. Another interesting feature of this year's schedule is that the Albright-LaSalle game will be played in the Penn Palestra on December 6 instead of in the LaSalle Fieldhouse which has been the usual site.

Big Names On Schedule:

With the appearance of such schools as Boston University, Rutgers, Army, Delaware, St. Josephs, LaSalle, Lafayette, and Bucknell on the basketball schedule, Albright is more and more beginning to enter the realm of big time ball. This is nothing new however. As was of interest to me upon doing some checking, in former years, Albright was often paired with opponents from such schools as Brigham Young University of Nevada, The University of Wyoming, Arizona State University, Villanova, Temple, William and Mary, Rice, and many more who would appear on the Lions' schedule as a part of their eastern or northern vacation tours. It seems likely that if the team continues winning championships as it did last year or even if it continues to play the kind of ball which it has become noted for, more and more of these larger schools will be seeking contests with the Lions in future years.

Words To The Frosh:

In the first part of this column, I mentioned that a great deal of the success of this year's football team is going to depend upon the ability of the freshmen to make the transition from scholastic to college football. I wasn't only referring to the freshmen who are members of the team itself. I was referring to the entire freshmen class who will be attending the first two football games as a group. Spirit is as much a part of the game as are the plays in a college contest whether it be football, basketball, or any college game. We who have been here the past few games saw great examples of how this works at such places as Juniata last year or at Muhlenberg College during the basketball play-off against Hofstra. Customs have been relaxed this year and we are trying something new for the first two football games. Show that you have made the conversion between school kids and college students. When you enter the stadium, don't sit and watch the game, be a part of it. Show the team you are behind it and show the upperclassmen and other fans in the stands you plan to carry through the tradition which is Albright.

Team Opens Sept. 30 In Home Fray

The Lions will open on September 30 against Muhlenberg College whom they defeated last year 31-7 at Allentown. Assisting Coach Potskian in his attempt to retain the Middle Atlantic Northern Division Championship are Robert Ford and Jim Doremus, assistant coaches.

With 12 returning lettermen to form the nucleus of the Lion's 1961 team, Coach John Potskian began pre-season drills on September 1. A total of 38 men reported for the drills which were held twice daily with the exception of Sunday up until last Thursday when the Orientation program reduced the drills to one per day.

The dozen lettermen who will have to carry the force of the Albright attack are quarterback Gary Chapman and Gary Sheeler who are co-captains of the team, Tom Olivo, who led last year's team in rushing with 536 net yards, George Reagan, George Seighman and Robert Guglielmino. The above six were all starters on last year's team which compiled an unblemished record of 9-0. Other lettermen are Steve Simon, Rod Duckworth, Don Riettscha, Gene Alfiero, Jim Hule and Harold Buck.

Non-lettermen returning from last year's team include Bob Kopp, Doug Deicke, Mike Morano, Irv Godboldte, C. T. Miller, and Bernard Shutt.

The 14 freshmen hopefuls are William Bors, Wil Leonard, Michael Gaito, Ronald Limoll, William Savage, Jon Paris, Otello Ricca, Donato D'Apolito, Donald Hartman, Thomas Griffe, Donald Manlove, Lewis Nevins, Dave Rees, and Clayton Snear.

Coach Potskian's biggest problem will be finding replacements for the five starters who were lost through graduation last June. They were halfback Mike Varano, guard Robert Meyer, end Claude Lynch, tackle Bill Ballantine, and fullback Mike Matto. Other regulars who will not be on the scene this year are Richard Crouse and Mike Weinhold lost through graduation, Jack DeLorenzo who had converted 28 of 35 extra-point placements, Al Pitts and George Kurowski.

Football Contest Being Started By Newspaper

The ALBRIGHTIAN Sport's Department is sponsoring a contest to see who can most correctly predict the outcome of the 1961 Lions football season. To enter, simply circle the winner of the eight games on Albright's schedule and beside it, place the number of points which will be the margin of victory. For instance, if you predict Albright will beat Muhlenberg by a score of 27-6, circle Albright and place the number 21 in the blank aside of it. The winner will receive two reserved seat season tickets to all the home basketball games this year. Fill out the blank now and deposit it in the special box in the lobby of the Ad Building before Sept. 23.
