Geil Given Year's Leave To Teach In Korean School

Dr. Milton G. Geil, Director of the Psychological Service Center and head of the psychology department, has been granted one year's leave of absence by President Harry V. Masters and the Board of Trustees, to teach certain courses in Industrial Psychology at the State University of Korea in Seoul. This invitation from the Department of State in Washington on February 7, was entirely unsolicited by Dr. Geil and came as a complete surprise. During his stay in Korea he will reside in the American Embassy. He will leave by plane on June 10.

The University's school year begins on June 12, and extends to March 1. After this time, Dr. Geil hopes to visit other areas in the Far East. He considers the Far East to be the "hot spot of the cold war" within the next year. The place where Dr. Geil will reside is very close to the sector of Korea ceded to the Russians in World War II.

Dr. Geil has previously visited in the Near East, including Syria, Palestine, Egypt, Luxor, the Valley of the Kings and Greece. He has stated that he considers this position a high honor and a grave responsibility.

During Dr. Geil's absence his position at Albright will be filled by a temporary appointee.

All-College Election Selects Ray Schlegel As President Of Council For Coming Year

Polling 264 votes in the All-Campus Election last week, Raymond C. Schlegel defeated Kathleen M. Guenther for the presidency of Student Council. Miss Guenther had 198 votes.

Balloting was close in all but the freshman class, in which Schlegel had a 71-21 edge. He had a majority of only three votes, 50-47, in the senior class. The juniors gave him a 71-66 edge, while the sophomores gave him 72 to Miss Guenther's 64.

Ray Schlegel

Schlegel served as treasurer of the Student Council this year. He is also sports editor of The Albrightian, vice-president of the Kappa Upsilon Phi Fraternity, student manager of the debating team, president of Tau Kappa Alpha, the honorary debating fraternity, and a member of Sigma Tau Delta. A graduate of Muhlenberg Township High School, he is a pre-law student and English major.

600 Voted in '49

The number of students who voted this year, for the Student Council president, 462, was lower than approximately 600 who cast ballots in 1949.

The Mantle Ceremony for the newly-elected president and Council members will be held next Thursday, April 27, during the regular chapel period. The new officers and representatives will begin their duties on Tuesday, May 2.

Chief problem confronting the new Council will be the approval of the proposed constitution.

More Support Needed

In his pre-campaign statements, Schlegel stressed the need for greater interest in Student Council so that a quorum may be obtained.

At a recent meeting Student Council took action that the complete returns of the All-Campus elections should be published in The Albrightian.

Annual Junior Prom To Be Held Tomorrow

The annual Junior Prom, this year to be in honor of the senior class, will be held tomorrow evening in Union Hall from 9-12 p. m., announced Jay Shenk, junior class president. This semi-formal dance is open to all students.

David Smith is chairman of the affair. Whitey Meisky's orchestra will provide the music and no corsages should be given. Tickets are $1.50 per couple.

Senate Names Winner

Charlotte Winney was elected president of the Women's Student Senate with 81 votes to Ruth Tyson's 57. Miss Winter received her largest support from the freshman class with 35 votes.

Albright to Welcome High School Seniors Saturday with Varied Program

Albright will hold its first College Day for High School Seniors on Saturday, April 22. This day is set aside to acquaint any high school seniors who are interested in the academic offerings and opportunities which are available on this campus. Registration will take place from 9-11 o'clock. During this time there will be guided tours of the campus facilities including classrooms, laboratories, and dormitories.

At 11 o'clock an assembly in the Union Hall for all seniors will take place. Mr. Lester Stabler, Director of Public Relations, will give the welcome. An introduction of the Dean of the College, the Dean of Women, the Dean of Men and the Director of Admissions will follow. The Albright College Glee Club will offer several selections, and Robert White, President of Student Council will issue greetings from the student body. Dr. Milton G. Geil will then speak on "College and Your Career."

A luncheon at 12:15 p. m. in the Dining Hall will follow the morning meeting. From 1-2 o'clock there will be career conferences with faculty advisors. At this time information on the various college courses may be obtained by the following faculty advisors: Dr. John B. Douds, Prof. John W. Khouri, the Rev. E. H. Barth, Prof. Lewis E. Smith, Dr. Milton G. Geil, Dean LeVan Smith, Dr. Clarence Horn, Dr. Benjamin Handorf, Prof. Paul Speicher, Dr. Thomas Merritt, Prof. Donald S. Gates, Prof. Florence Innis, Prof. Ernestine Elder, and Prof. Newton S. Danford. Guided tours of the campus will again be held from 2 to 3 o'clock.

All the students attending will be invited to attend the 27th Annual Albright College Invitation Berks Inter-Scholastic Track Meet and the meet between Albright College and Juniata College in the Albright Stadium.

Names of high school students who will attend the conference have been posted on the bulletin board in the Administration Building. It is hoped that any student who knows a student who is coming will try to meet that person and make him feel at home on the campus. The success of the day can depend in a large part on the co-operation of the Albright students.

Eckenroad Chosen Daywomen Prexy

The Daywomen elected Shirley Eckenroad president in last week's all-campus balloting. At the same time the Daymen named Terry Connor. For virtually all of the offices of the commuting students' organizations the victors were chosen by wide majorities.

Lois Gehris will serve as vice-president of the Daywomen. Their other officers will be Dolores Genetti, secretary, and Mary Ann Gerhart, treasurer.

The Daywomen elected five representatives to Student Council. These people, who will take office on Tuesday, May 2, are Louise Hoff, Virginia Kitzmiller, Kathryn Fisher, Camille Thorpe and Marian McGinithen. All of these will be seniors except Miss Fisher and Miss Thorpe, who will be sophomores.

Lost—30 Per Cent

Last week's all-college election showed that 70% of the student body voted which, is a slight decrease from last year's voting when 77% voted. 484 students voted this year out of 695. Last year 600 voted out of a student body of 776. That percentage is very good compared with the results some colleges have in their campus elections. For example, Temple University in one of their recent Senate elections had only 13% of the eligible 213 students voting.

However, what about our other 30% who didn't vote. One indication in our election was that very few freshmen voted for Student Council president. This may be due to the fact that the freshmen were not familiar with the two candidates for the Council office. It also may have been that the importance of the office has not been made clear to students. Student Council is the student governing body and every one of us should take an interest in it.

The comment has been made that there was not enough publicity and campaigning for the election. Last year's policy of campaign speeches should be continued. It increases the students' interest and creates a competitive atmosphere on campus.

Several students when asked why they didn't vote, replied that the ballot box was not made conspicuous and that they just didn't notice it. For these students perhaps the ballot box and voting stand should be made more elaborate so that they couldn't miss it when passing through the halls.

These offices of Council President, Y Presidents, class officers, Senate President, and the Day students' officers should be of interest to ALL of us as students. They are for our benefit, so let's raise our participation next year.

Student Support Needed

In past years, Student Council has had a difficult time in getting a quorum to their meetings. Considering the importance of this organization on campus, representatives should demonstrate their interest in their positions. It is urgent that there be good attendance throughout the next college year, for our new constitution will demand the interest of all.

In order to gain a good understanding of the questions presented each week to council, regular attendance is necessary. So that all the work does not fall on a few, all members should be present to share the job. The new president, Raymond Schlegel, and his officers will need all the support they can get.

100% participation will prevent the clique rule and will vitalize student opinion more completely. If the interest of our organizations is lax, it is to their discredit and their representatives' misfortune.

Letter To Ed

Dear Editor:

The colorful letter published in The Albrightian last week under the secret veil of anonymity was just the catalyst needed to bring our fraternity to a violent explosion. Ever since our hard-earned victory on Stunt Night, we have suffered the pangs of bitter denunciations which labeled our show as lecherous, void of originality, conducive to persecution of the Negro race, and finally as one which gained its victory through the influence of the master of ceremonies, a Zeta, upon the judges. We managed to bear the brunt of these accusations, feeling they were merely caused by a few bitter die-hards, but the publication of that mass of conflicting gibberish directed at both our Fraternity and the well-meaning efforts of Miss Parker, Mr. Kobrin, and Mr. Snell was the bitter end.

In defense of our show I would first like to defend the theme. Minstrel shows have always been a favorite of our American people. Their dry humor, live music and colorful antics have created a feeling of warmth and brotherhood, not of persecution, for the Negro race. The jokes, naturally, were based on the humor of the Negro; but if this is or will lead to persecution, all jokes based on Jewish, Irish, or Pennsylvania Dutch groups, and various trades, including that of the ice man, will have to be censored also for fear of hurting those individuals' feelings. The idea of a Minstrel show wasn't original in the minds of many, but as it appears in an Albright Stunt Night, it was. All too many of the competing groups depended upon originality to win the evening's first prize, and in doing so, many of the shows approached the ridiculous in their attempt to equal last year's prize winning performance. The audience and the judges were there to judge the productions, not only on the basis of originality; for what good is originality if the performance is not entertaining? Many of the sources of criticism, especially the character who was the author of that letter to the editor, failed to take into consideration the talent, presentation, participation, music, and costuming that were evident in our show.

I would next like to speak in defense, not that they should need one, of the judges for the evening, who have taken much childish criticism from many of our campus' prize critics. Because they were neutral in their relation to the competing organizations, I'm afraid the judges used their emotional reactions in making their decisions and not the prejudiced opinions of our many antagonists, as would be the case if members of the faculty were to act as judges.

In "its" (I use this term not knowing the exact form the author assumes) opening attack, "it" mentions a "powerful silence" that followed the announcement of our winning the Stunt Night competition. This could easily be the key to all that follows, considering the possibility that "it" was so shocked at hearing that "its" favorite did not claim first prize, "it" couldn't hear the generous applause from the audience and victorious shouts of the Zetas in the rear of the building.

Unlike the author of last week's anonymous letter, I am proud to identify myself as a Zeta (even though "it" has given most of our members up as enemies to mankind) and place this letter on record as a defense of the Zeta Omega Epsilon Fraternity victory on Stunt Night.

Robert "Hank" Miller.

The Great Paradox

In our government's determined fight to halt the spread of communism, we patriotic, "Hurrah for Democracy!" Americans have been drawn into a web which offers no solution, but only leads to a loss of our own democracy. Since the end of the world's last attempt at suicide, we in this country have been taught by our politicians, aided by an irresponsible press, that communism is evil in many ways, but most of all because it is the antithesis of democracy. Although the average one-hundred per cent American knew little about communism until 1945 and thought of it only as a boon to the poverty stricken Russian peasant, he now is repelled by the word. Granted that if all exists in Russia as presented by American newspapers and quasi-experts on the subject, neither we nor any one else could be contented under that kind of regime. For people living in a democracy, that is, I believe, as much as we can say.

Within the last year, thanks to many inflammable events, we have ignited the fire that may consume us. It would be denying the truth if we were to say that there is no immediate danger to our traditional concepts, because the spy trials and witch hunts have been conducted by our "most responsible" legislators who seldom are rebuked by more than a negligible segment of the population.

Recently, for example, a civil service employee, Dorothy Bailey, was dismissed from her job for "security reasons." She was given no opportunity to defend herself; she was not informed of the nature of the charges; and she wasn't told who her accusers were. Her dismissal was upheld by the District of Columbia Circuit Court of Appeals. The only possible cause for dismissal was that "informants believed to be reliable had made general statements purporting to connect her with the Communist Party," reported the New Republic. Chalk up a deliberate invasion of a citizen's Constitutional rights. Judge Edgerton, the dissenting judge scorned the tyrannical methods employed in this case, and revealed the kind of questions that many government employees have been asked by loyalty boards. "Is it true that you have an album of Paul Robeson's records in your home? . . . Is it true that you favor legislation discouraging racial discrimination?" (God bless me! I'm a Red.)

Far-eastern experts in the State Department are very cautious about uttering disapproval of official policy regarding China and Communism. Keeping in mind the ludicrous charges hurled against Owen Lattimore, who had the guts to tell us that our own stubborn persistence has and will continue to gain enemies in the Far East, is it hard to understand why?

Let's keep it up, America. Let's find them and lock them up so we can keep America free from loss of liberty. Though we guarantee what we take away, we're justified because we're right and they're wrong.

I'm not a "status quo" man—come and get me.

She's that gal who's always around when you need her—you know her—Barbara Kast. With her quick wit and dry sense of humor, she is usually where the liveliest groups can be found, in the dorm, in The Albrightian Office, or most anywhere on campus.

The delightful Friday afternoon teas in Selwyn Hall Parlor are part of her job on the Women's Student Senate; and with her artistic talent applied to the table decorations, combined with a real know-how where food is concerned, Barb has made everyone of them a success. As secretary of dormitory council, her cheerful notes (?) to the girls in ye olde boarding house have been familiar to a few of those lucky enough to get communiques from the high command. It was Barb's voice which narrated the Stunt Night presentation for the Mus, an enterprise which required her familiar patient willingness for hard work. Associate Editor of the forthcoming Cue, Barb was the Girl Friday who found so many hours to put into the making of the Cue that it should have her name on every page. And when Cue work didn't keep her in The Albrightian Office, the interminable copy for this weekly did. She is on the Junior Varsity basketball team, and just as a side line, she does publicity work for the Senior Class.

Barbara (alias Barb, Bobbie, and just plain Kast) has inherited her interest in antiques from her Dad, and her uncanny ability for practical jokes seems to be innate, too. Nobody has been damaged yet, but there are five weeks left, and Roney has yet to fall out of her window. There are all kinds of artistic talents to be found in our versatile Dandy. She likes classical music, and as a photography fan she has come up with some rare snapshots. She has two weaknesses, we are sorry to say, but pinocchio and Italian Sandwiches are not particularly serious ones.

Barbara will graduate with a psychology major and a biology minor, and although plans are not completely definite now, she hopes to go to the Hartford Retreat in Connecticut, and perhaps from there to the Katherine Gibbs Secretarial School. With the many and varied activities she exhibited here, we can expect a prosperous future for Barbara.

The Scientific Mind

With the fragrant aroma of chem lab in his clothes and with nasal membranes smarting from the formaldehyde vapors of his biological specimen, Sammy Science-Hall left dear old Albright for a few days of blissful rest away from it all.

Sammy took a walk down the main street lined with gaily colored shops and department stores and stopped at one of the windows to look at some colorful rayon sport-shirts.

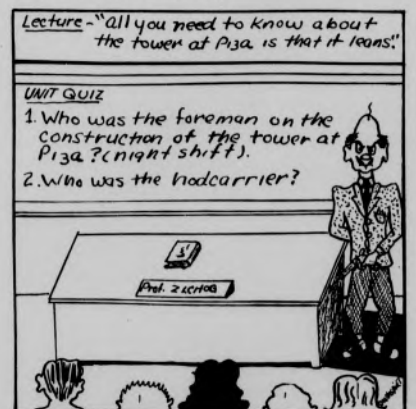

"Rayon? I wonder if it is made by the Bemberg or the Viscose process. Let's see, Bemberg rayon is made by dissolving cellulose in carbon disulfide and sodium hydroxide. No, that's viscose rayon. I wonder how Bemberg rayon is made."

Sammy collected his thoughts and quickly marched on to a colorful display of Easter bunnies pushing wheelbarrows loaded with all kinds of Easter candies at the candy shop. A far away look came into Sammy's eyes as he thought.

"Is a wheelbarrow a second or a third class lever? To what subclass of Mammalia does the rabbit belong? How much sucrose is used in making jelly beans and what is the graphic formula for sucrose?"

By this time Sammy's mouth stood open at the appalling thought of all he had forgotten from the past few weeks. Several passers-by noticed this strange expression on Sammy's face, mistook it for one of hunger, and in the cheerful spirit of Easter, contributed a few cents to this poor young man who ostensibly desired, but couldn't afford an Easter egg.

The jingling of coins in his hand startled Sammy from his reverie. Sammy regained as much of his composure as was possible and dashed wildly home. To the surprise of his parents and himself, he went directly to his room to the safe and comforting environment of his chem, bio, math, and physics books. Soon Sammy was safe from all harm in his world of microbes, molecules, and masses. Sammy was really resting now.

COURTMEN POST 3 - 2 SOUTHERN RECORD

Juniata to Match Albright Runners In Meet Tomorrow

Cadets, Penn Relays To Follow Next Week

Albright's tracksters will face their second dual meet opponents of the 1950 season when they face Juniata tomorrow in the Albright stadium. In conjunction with this inter-collegiate meet the Berks County high schools will be battling for laurels in the 27th annual Albright Invitational Track Meet for county high schools also to be held in the local stadium. Last year the Lions defeated the Juniata thrifolds by a score of 65-61 on the foreign field.

Next week the Lion thrifolds will face PMC in a dual meet there Wednesday, April 26, and on Friday and Saturday, April 28-29, they will participate in the annual Penn Relays in Philadelphia.

Last year the Juniata Indians, in addition to their loss to Albright, suffered losses from Dickinson, and from Bucknell and Gettysburg in a triangular meet. They defeated only Geneva College.

Eleven Lettermen

Coached by "Mike" Snyder, the Indians' director of athletics and the president of the Middle Atlantic Collegiate Track and Field Association, Juniata's 11 lettermen will be bolstering the cindermen's hopes. They are in turn headed by three record-holders: Joe Beyer, the mile and two mile; Bill Murray, the 880-yard run; and Coy Hicks, the 100-yard dash. Jack Rothenberger, a local Boyertown high product, will also be boosting the Indians in the 100 and 200-yard runs.

Heading the line-up for the local collegians will be Albright's recently appointed cinder co-captains—Ed (1,681) Anlian and Al Harnly. In track uniform, the former has been a Shirk mainstay in the distance running department while the latter has been notably outstanding in the javelin tossing and pole vaulting events.

Eight in Penn Relays

Eight men will journey to Philadelphia for the annual Penn Relays on Friday and Saturday, April 28 and 29. Harnly and Lee Cappel will participate in the javelin contest. Last year Harnly placed second in his specialty at the Relays with Bob Kirk of North Carolina taking the event. The Lion det will still have plenty of competition in the returning Kirk and last year's third place finalist.

Gerry Potts will put forth his energy in the shot-put and discus events while Howe Brenner will do his bit in the broad jump. The Lion's relay team will be composed of four of the following five men: Anlian, Bruce Tenley, Dave Roland, Ed Oberly, and Paul James.

Anlian, Basketball Lettermen Feted By Athletic Council

Captain Eddie Anlian and the remainder of Albright's stellar 1949-50 hoop squad were honored by the school's athletic council with a dinner at the Berkshire Hotel on Tuesday, April 12. Following the banquet itself Anlian was honored by the unprecedented presentation of an engraved wrist watch by the Albright athletic council. He also received a basketball autographed by his hoop teammates.

Previous to receiving these awards, Anlian was lauded as the Lions' most outstanding athlete since the gridiron days of Dick Riffle. He has scored 1,681 points in four years of basketball activity at Albright and has twice won the outstanding player award and led the team to two conference championships.

Banquet Speakers

Speakers at the honoring banquet were Dr. Harry V. Masters, president of Albright; Eugene L. Shirk, faculty manager of athletics; George Bollman, president of the

Femme Hopefulls Report for Softball

Dorm Women Nab I-M Inter-House Title

Answering the call to the first practice session of the girls' softball team were ten members of last year's combine headed by Shirley Johnson, captain-elect for the 1950 team. A total of nine other hopefuls also showed up for the inaugural practice last Thursday afternoon.

Old members reporting besides Johnson, who will probably hold down the keystone sack, were Nancy Stump, pitcher; Jean Magee, who handles the hot corner offerings; Anona Serfass, candidate for the catcher's slot; Delores Bedding, Jane Pollack, Mary Swartz and Mickey Roney, hopefuls for the outfield positions. Margie Zeock, the basketball whizz, is expected to report this week and will undoubtedly use her long stretch at her usual first base position.

New Candidates

New candidates reporting to contend for the unfilled shortstop's position, and as additional pitchers and fielders, were Joan Trumbore, Cynthia Rinehart, Virginia Seems, Nancy Leymeister, Eleanor Williams, Carol Krecker, Pat Miller, Evelyn Kressler, and Pat Kennedy. All positions are still open since the above named are only being filled in on last year's performances. Mrs. Mosser hopes to be able to field a winning combine as the team entertains Drexel on the Science Hall Field on Friday afternoon, April 28.

Intramurals Concluded

Prior to the Easter vacation, the Girls' Intramurals were concluded with the Dorm Women copping the InterHouse-Sorority title with two wins and a tie, followed by the Daywomen and Pats in a second place tie with a win, a loss and a tie. The Mu's finished in third with two losses and a tie.

The scores for the three afternoon twinbills were indicative of the keen interest the non-varsity lassies took in this year's Intramural Basketball League. The first two games ended in thrilling deadlocks, Dorm vs. Pats, 22-22; and Day vs. Mus, 21-21. However, the Dorm and Daywomen topped the Mu's and Pat's respectively, by scores of 34-30 and 26-22. The final afternoon's fracas saw the Dormwomen topple the Daywomen, 30-23; and the Mu's lose a very close decision to their rival sorority, the Pat's, 20-19.

A playoff between the Sophomores, winner of the Interclass championship, and the Dormwomen could not be scheduled due to the lack of time caused by the intervention of the Easter vacation and the start of softball practice following the vacation. With this year's success in mind, the W.A.A. is looking forward to having a very good turnout for next year's intramurals.

Cats Defeat Mules, Rams; Lose to Bullets In Initial Contests

After posting a two win, one loss record in their first three contests the Lion diamondmen are anxiously awaiting the chance to improve their record against Loyola of Baltimore when they play host to their squad this afternoon. The big city boys are new diamond foes, but were on the Cat's basketball schedule two seasons ago.

Tomorrow afternoon the Albright nine travel to Lancaster to battle it out with the Diplomats of Franklin and Marshall. Last season the Smithmen drubbed F & M, 14-6, in revenge for the 17-0 blasting of the year before. Big men in last year's attack were Russ Millard with three for four and Jim Delp with two for three. Millard homered and Delp belted a triple to drive in seven runs between them.

On Monday the Cats will again be on the home diamond to face the Dutchmen of Lebanon Valley. A close 5-4 victory for Albright was the result of last year's contest in which Millard had three hits in four trips to the plate. Next Tuesday, April 25, the postponed home Elizabethtown contest will be fought while on Thursday the Cats will journey to the foreign field to face the same opponents.

Pitcher Hook Martone's first inning home run with Russ Millard on the first sack opened the Lion's 11-4 conquest of Muhlenberg last Tuesday afternoon on the home diamond. A second walk on the part of Millard brought in a second run in the third inning when Jim Fromuth's single drove him in. Three runs crossed the plate in the third inning when Bernie Lillis, Bill Krohto, and Jay Sherlach galloped in succession; Wilson Seifzick hit a timely long fly; and Seifzick dashed in on a third base error. A number of walks, wild balls, and Albright singles all combined to give the Lions their great sixth inning in which they racked up five final runs to clinch the contest.

In their first two played contests, the Cats dropped one to Gettysburg, 4-1, on Saturday, April 15, and came back last Monday with a big 10-5 win over the Rams of West Chester to open the season on the home front.

After having a shaky first inning, Paul Muller mastered the Bullets and allowed only two more hits. Three runs, three hits, and three walks gave G-burg the winning margin with pitcher Kenny Houtz allowing the Lions a mere four hits.

Monday's game with the Rams started out like a repeat performance of the G-burg battle. The future teachers banged out five hits interspersed with Lion errors in the first inning to give them five big runs. But Baumgaertel then bore down and allowed only five hits the rest of the way while striking out eight batters and not giving up a single walk.

Picking up their first run in the second, the Lions started on their Albright's tennis squad returned home from their annual southern junket with well-tanned faces and a winning record as the Lions roared their rivals into submission in three out of the five engagements. More recently the Cat netmen have been rained out of a contest with Elizabethtown and have notched a 7-2 win over the Bullets from Gettysburg.

The Cats opened their travelling battles in North Carolina on Tuesday, April 4, when they battered Elon College by a 4-1 score before winning way. Ervin received a pass, Lillis singled him to second, and Jay Sherlach drove Ervin in with a booming single to center field. In the third stanza Russ Millard led off with a bingle, Martone walked, Millard in the mean time went to third on an error, and Johnny Santo slammed out a big double to bring in Millard and Martone.

Millard opened the fifth inning with a double, went to third on a fielder's choice, and came in on Fromuth's double. Santo came up next and powdered the ball for a home run to score the fifth and sixth runs. A double by Sherlach, walks by Millard and Martone, a wild pitch against John Santo, and a timely triple by Jesse Ervin all contributed to the four additional runs which the Lions racked up in this inning to post the final score of 10-5.

rain erased one singles and two doubles events. Jim Mengel, Paul Kissinger, Paul Siegfried, Don Ermoild, and Darlington Hoopes were winners in the singles events while Siegfried and Mengel were leading in a doubles match before rain halted the event.

The following day the wanderers moved over to Greensboro, N. C., and beat out a 6-3 victory over Guilford College in that location. Kissinger, Mengel, Ermoild and Siegfried racked up singles victories in this contest while Bob Ruoff and Kissinger, and Mengel and Siegfried copped doubles triumphs.

Lions Nudge Lynchburg

The all-winning Lions refused to rest on their laurels, however, as they motored to the neighboring state of Virginia where they nudged Lynchburg College, a school which was undefeated in Southern Conference warfare for the past three years, by a ticklish score of 5-4. Paul Siegfried's 9-7, 2-6, and 13-11 victory over Joe Lindsoe was the most crucial match of the win. The Lions outplayed their opponents 2-1 in doubles matches.

Like all other good things, the Cats' three-game win streak was broken the following day when Virginia Military Institute barely overpowered the Lions by a 5-4 score. The two rivals were equal in singles competition in which each garnered three matches but the southern hosts nudged the Albright courtmen 2-1 in the doubles matches. Ruoff, Siegfried, and Mengel copped the singles and the Ruoff-Kissinger combine copped the lone doubles match.

Voyagers Suffer Second Loss

The voyagers concluded their tour in Blacksburg, Virginia, where they suffered their second loss by a score of 7-2 to Virginia Polytechnic Institute. The losers failed to win any singles matches although the Ruoff-Siegfried and Ermoild-Hoopes combines chalked up wins in the doubles events. This match marked the initial loss for Jim Mengel, Albright's number two man.

Following the rained-out Elizabethtown match at home the Cat courtsters travelled to Gettysburg where they grabbed a 7-2 victory from the Bullets. Ruoff and Kissinger continued their winning ways as they chalked up two of the victor's five singles victories and one of their two doubles wins.

In future matches the Lion racketeers will face Franklin and Marshall, away, tomorrow; Muhlenberg, home, Wednesday, April 26; and Elizabethtown, away, on Thursday, April 27. Headed by coach and playing captain, Bobby Zink, the Dips are boasting a veteran court team which hopes to rack up a commendable record in a twelve-match season.

Scranton to Face Golfmen in Opener

The Lion golf squad will open its 1950 season in the match with Scranton, Wednesday, April 26, on the home greens. At present the squad has been cut to nine men but will be further cut to seven before the opening match. The nine who still remain are: Art Dunlop, Earl Langford, Joel Gilbert, Jesse Becker, Sonny Chelius, Ed Funk, Ken Dougherty, Ted Whitby, and John Werley.

Delegation of 65 Assembles Here For F.T.A. Confab

The Future Teachers of America Club of Albright College held a convention of the F.T.A. Clubs of Reading and Berks County on Saturday, April 15. Dr. George Cressman, head of the education department of West Chester Teacher's College, addressed the main session of the convention on "Teachers are Important People." He stressed that "the primary function of education is the teaching of children how to live together to become useful citizens. This can be achieved by actively participating in the practice of government."

President Harry V. Masters, President of Albright College, introduced the main speaker. From 10:45-12:30 panel discussions were held for faculty advisors and also the student delegates attending the meeting. The faculty advisors led by Mr. Joseph Plank, advisor to Reading High School F.T.A., and Miss Mary Capallo, advisor to Northwest Junior High School F.T.A., discussed "Problems in the Organization of F.T.A. Clubs in Schools." The students in their panel discussed "Modern Teaching Demands Modern Methods." A tour of the campus followed this panel.

Noted Explorer Tells Experiences

Sir Hubert Wilkins, the noted Arctic and Antarctic explorer, presented in last Tuesday's chapel program an entertaining account of a few of his many unusual experiences.

Explaining his reason for entering this type of work was a severe drought causing hardship among his family in Australia, Sir Hubert became determined to use his capability in a life attempt to seek the cause of disastrous natural phenomena for the benefit of men everywhere.

Pointing out the potentialities of the Arctic for defensive purposes as a route to striking range of an aggressive Russia, Sir Hubert explained plans now being made for that purpose and proceeded to illustrate his talk with motion pictures of his Arctic travels.

Domino's 'Thunder Rock' Challenges Large Audience

Robert Ardrey's "Thunder Rock," Domino Club's spring production, was a play which challenged Albright's dramatics personae as well as the audiences. The message could not help but be perceived, for every speech from Doris Chanin's and Jon Reside's poignant lines to Leonard Buxton's "O K," gave impetus, almost to the point of excess, to a philosophy of courage and faith, brilliantly adapted to our lives and times.

The cast took the challenge and did another splendid job with Harry Nelson, the imaginative "Charleston," top man on the list. Nelson carried through a difficult train of thought with understanding, poise and marked ability. His rapid-fire speeches held the audience throughout his convincing performance.

Doris Chanin as "Melanie," a spirited courageous young girl, was a decorative addition to the necessarily drab environment of a light-house keeper, and played her part with conviction. Looking at the future with young wistfulness, she added her point of view with sincerity, exhibiting stage presence made familiar by previous Domino productions.

Richard Stinson, "Captain Joshua," adapted himself to the mannerisms and speech of an old sea captain with apparent ease in an excellent portrayal. Yvonne Voigt and Harry Kousaros in their difficult character parts were outstanding in the production and gave a human contrast to this drama of individuals.

Jon Reside played the part well of the understanding Doctor Kurtz, complacent to the injustices from which he was escaping, but his complacency was perhaps too constant at times when his words had force. Jay Shenk was "Streeter," "Charleston's" best friend, stubborn in his determination to keep fighting for ideals which had faded for "Charleston" and which actually had little more than blind faith as their basis for "Streeter." John Savidge was the delightfully human "Inspector Flanning," and "Anne Marie," the conventional wife and mother, was played by Beverly Bressler.

The well designed set can be attributed to Harry Kousaros, and its sturdy construction to Charles Burkhardt. Lighting effects were by Howard Platzker. It was Kathleen Guenther who made the wind blow and the airplanes go.

As usual, the lady responsible for this annual success was Mrs. Annadora Vesper Shirk, and she may well be proud of a production that will be remembered pleasantly by all who saw it. Congratulations, Domino, you've done it again!
