NEOS OUTDEBATE THEMISIANS 2-1; WIN KELLER CUP

Men Extended To Gain Close Decision Over Mohn Hall Rivals Who Furnish Strong Opposition

ABOLITION OF PRIMARY SYSTEM IS QUESTION

Neos' Varsity Experience Proves Margin of Victory; Fifth Consecutive Triumph For Victors

Last Friday night the Neocosmian Debating Team downed the Themisians by a 2-1 vote, in a very hard struggle, thereby gaining possession of the Keller Cup for the second consecutive year in the race which was started last year to obtain permanent possession of the trophy. The team winning the cup for three consecutive years will be pronounced the winner.

The teams consisting of four speakers from the two Literary Societies presented their arguments "pro and con" on the question: "Resolved that the primary system of election for state and national officials should be abandoned" before one of the largest crowds in the history of Inter-society Debates.

The Themisians upheld the affirmative side of the question while the winners advanced strong arguments in favor of the primary system of election as is being held today. The wearers of the Purple in the order in which they spoke were: Lenora Hemstreet, Irene Wright, Henrietta Spangler, and alternate, Helen Ulrich. For the Neos, the speakers in their order were: Elwood McGuigan, (Continued On Page Two)

C. W. GUNTER '05 MISSIONARY IN 'Y

Returning On Furlough, Tells Of Thrilling Experiences On Dark Continent

On Dec. 6th the combined Y's met in the College Chapel. The Vice President of the Y. M. C. A. had charge of the meeting. After several hymns had been sung and prayer had been offered by Rev. Boyer, Harry Houseal gave a very pleasing and delightful violin solo. Hood ably accompanied him on the piano.

Wilkes then introduced Rev. C. W. Gunter of the Class of 1905, a returned missionary from Africa, who gave the address of the evening on his work in Africa.

He took the combined Y's on a trip from New York to his home in Wurkum Land. From New York one takes an ocean liner to Liverpool—from there to the Canary Islands—to Freetown, Africa, one of the few natural ports on the West African Coast.

Here one gets off the boat and goes up the Nigerian River in a dug-out canoe, sleeping at night out in the open, hearing, during the night many wild animals. One has to cross a swamp sometimes on the backs of natives, sometimes in small boats. One then reaches Bambar, the village in which Rev. Gunter has his work.

The people of Bambar live in the mountains and valleys, cultivating from 1 to 10 acres of land with a (Continued On Page Two)

SPECIAL CHRISTMAS RECITAL TONIGHT

Expression Department Will Present Recital of Unusual Nature—Readings, Musical Numbers, Novelties

All out for the Recital tonight! It's going to be good, 'cause Mrs. Landis said so, and she certainly knows. For the past several weeks the Expression Department has been working diligently for this, one of their Big Recitals. The program will be made up of mainly Christmas numbers, but if you like readings of a serious nature, come; if you like musical numbers or novelties, come; and even if you have no favorite in this line, come anyway, you won't regret it. Let's have every chapel seat filled!

VARSITY DEBATE TRY-OUT TONIGHT BEFORE RECITAL

Second Forensic Competition of Year Scheduled For Seven O'clock In Chapel

SAME RULES AS BEFORE

Tonight at seven o'clock the second try-out for the varsity debating team will be held in the chapel. This will give all who could not, or did not take the chance two weeks ago, when the first try-out was held.

There are three varsity positions to be filled in the competition tonight, leaving plenty to be worked for by the contestants. Coach Weber is anxious that a large number of boys present themselves in order that the team may be completed and work begun in earnest. So far the team has been held up because of the fact that the teams were not filled out, and that no progress could be made before the try-out was held and the varsity squad personnel completed.

The conditions and rules governing the debate tonight are the same as before. Each one of the candidates is to take one side of the varsity question "Resolved, that the Primary System of Nominating Federal and State Officials Should Be Abandoned," and a five minute presentation deliberated on it, either on the affirmative or negative side. STUDENTS SING CHRISTMAS CAROLS

Large Group Took Part in Evening of Sacred Music Last Night; Visit Homes of Profs.

PART OF ANNUAL CUSTOM

Last night a great majority of the resident students of the college, together with a few of the day students entertained the citizens of Myerstown with a fine selection and array of Christmas carols.

Since time immemorial, almost, this has become a tradition among the students who spend several evenings at this popular musical pastime in defiance of storm, pestilence or flood, which may endeavor to hold the warblers in check. It is interesting the growth of the popularity of this annual occasion among the student body. The old timers tell us that last year there was the greatest crowd of students in years who were out singing carols. It seemed that almost every student of the college was out there singing. For all prac (Continued On Page Three)

SPECIAL MUSIC PROGRAM IN CHURCH

Albright Musicians Lend Talent in Special Christmas Service. Solos And Duets Feature

"WISE MEN" BOYER'S THEME

On Sunday night a special musical program was given in the college church, consisting of very good numbers by members of the choir. It was a special Christmas season program.

The choir sang several anthems, and the other numbers were solos, duets and quartets. Eva Lucks, accompanied by Harold Grubins on the violin, rendered a very pleasing solo. The Red and White Quartet sang a number which was liked by everyone. Several duets, Miss Strasser and "Peep" Jarrett, Flo Wilkes and Gladys Jones were also very good. Max Walker accompanied on the piano.

Rev. Boyer delivered a short Christmas message, his theme being the story of the Wise Men following the star, and bringing their gifts to Christ.

SENATE TO SUGGEST REFORM

At a recent meeting of the Men's Senate the boys decided to put on a campaign to improve the etiquette in the dining room, which, going from bad to worse, is now in as low a degree as it has ever been in recent years. Immediately after vacation the Senate is going to call a meeting of the boys and present the proposition to them and let them take what action they choose. Among some of the undesirable practices in the dining room which are engaged in so often and which ought to be terminated are grabbing and serving food before the rest are seated, laughing during grace, and heaving food around the dining room as well as yelling from one table to another or across the hall, and over-boisterousness during meal hours. It is not their idea to suppress fun and a reasonably good time, but merely to better certain practices which are being abused at the present time.

WE ENJOYED the Chapel Services last Monday morning.

WITH THE BEGINNING of the second term, our Literary Societies are off for a big season this winter. The pep and enthusiasm in evidence last Friday will give the new officers real hope of making this a big Literary Society year.

THE DEBATE between the Thesistans and Neos, last Friday, in the Campus was a big success, the best attended debate in our recollection, and real talent was in evidence on the platform.

WE HAVE been hearing a lot about the burial of some of Albright's time honored organizations, such as the Science Club and the Speaker's Club, but we must expect the swing of the pendulum to leave some things behind. Their death, should cause no worry for they are being supplanted by the birth of bigger and better things. Last week we were informed of the organization of two new clubs—the Dramatic Club and the Chess Club.

These new fields of activity will lend much new force and dignity to our campus and we can expect more laurels for our Alma Mater. Our best wishes to these groups, and our pledge of cooperation for success should be theirs.

"PEACE ON EARTH; GOOD WILL TO MEN"

The night was dark and like a seething maelstrom, but the morning has come and the blackness is gone.

For now is the gladdest Christmas time, and today we are going home to what is undeniably the most joyous recess of the school year. There will be a Christmas tree, and candles in the window, and a happy realization of "peace on earth" and "good will to men." There will be family gatherings—and friends among friends will lay aside all things that press heavily on the heart to enjoy the "Merry Christmas" feeling that is softly stealing over the entire world.

Then when the Christmas season draws to a close, there is still another occasion for festivity. It is the New Year! And we all know with what resolution, and toasts, and hopes the New Year is welcomed. It can be made to mean so much, or so little. What do we see when we look back over "1927"? Is it with satisfaction that we do? For, you know, if we are not pleased, we have no one to blame but ourselves.

So, with these thoughts which all of us have, let us go forward! Let us break away from biased ideas! Let us look always up and never down! For in a short while this fleeing year will soon be past. Shall we resolve to uphold everything that is good and best for ourselves and others? Yes? That is fine! Now let's wish each other

"A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS"

—and—

"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"

SUPPORT THE SPECULUM!

Last Monday the 1929 Speculum staff sent to the Canton Engraving Company a large number of photographs from which will be made about a thousand dollars worth of engravings for the annual. The consignment includes all photographs which have been taken up to date.

However there are still some very important photographs to be taken and these will undoubtedly be taken and sent to the engraver soon after the holidays.

Albright annuals have always been noted for the amount of engraving. Perhaps this is because we have such a great amount of scenery and various organizations. Students sometimes cannot believe why the annual costs so much.

If only they would know what expenses there really are. This amount of engraving represents just about two-fifths of the entire cost of the book. This year only about 150 of the students paid their budget fee. Figure for yourself the cost per individual.

And then, too, just try to estimate how much work the members of the staff put upon the book. Scarcely a day goes by without each member of the staff spending a part of an hour or maybe several hours on the annual. What do they receive for their work.

It is no new experience for most of them. They are not paid. Their studies suffer as the result of the time spent upon the Speculum.

Students, this year the Speculum staff has been working very hard and their work is beginning to bear fruit. Give them your best support and cooperation.

Alumni, if you are asked to buy a Speculum don't say, "NO." Especially you who have friends now in the college. They will be glad to know that you have bought a book. If you can aid financially, the staff will be glad to have your contribution.

Parrot : Campus Chatter :

Oh, oh, oh, oh, oh, oh! No, Parrot isn't stuttering, he is just happy. You see, by the time you finish reading this he will have started home. And it is a long, long, journey for a pair of slender, green wings to make successfully. But Parrot doesn't care 'cause he is alive with the anticipation of what awaits him when he does get HOME. Why of course, how foolish, even Parrots have homes.

Guess what? Parrot peeped into a window the other night and heard the queerest stories. They were all about chinese children, and chinese customs, and while the girls and boys in the room listened, they drank tea very daintily from lovely blue tea cups, and ate sandwiches as though they really enjoyed them. It made Parrot so hungry he couldn't listen to the rest of the stories but had to fly away where he could rub his empty tummy and crack his bill regretfully over what he knew he had missed.

Wasn't the Christmas tree pretty? Parrot saw that, too, and heard all the exclamations and ahs and ohs. No wonder! Such pretty things—such queer shaped packages and so much excitement. Parrot decided that grown-ups are still youngsters inside of them, because they like the fun, the tree, the mystery and all the rest of it just as much as do youngsters four years old. But then why grow up anyway?

Parrot heard a good one. It was in Christian Endeavor, and they were talking about Mottos. Somebody said, for Parrot heard them—a new motto has come into vogue and it is, "If you can't boast, don't knock." He thought it a good one and worth repeating, for as another fellow said, "tell it to others." And it does bear repeating.

And now Parrot wishes to add, Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, everybody, and don't forget to come back with a lot of pep, a lot of courage and a spirit brimful of happiness.

hoe as their only farm implement. Their products are maize, cotton, sorghum, sweet potatoes, cotton, sugar cane and tobacco.

They are very primitive people wearing little if any clothes. They live in small huts built on terraces on the mountains. The huts contain no furniture, they sleep on grass mats with either a rock or a piece of wood under it as a pillow. They use covering. There is a hut for each of a man's wives, one as a cook hut, and one for the children.

Conditions are very unsanitary, the town road is the town dump, therefore the mortality is high. One half of the children die in infancy, and many young men die of fever, tropical dysentery, and pneumonia.

Illiteracy prevailed, for no person could either read or write as there was no written language. Rev. Gunter and McBride had to learn their language and give them a written language. They have now translated a primer, a second reader, Bible readings, hymns and the Bible. The people received them with kindness. They used pictures, a phonograph and a motorcycle as points of contact on which to do their work.

The natives believe in a Supreme Being, but they worship evil spirits, their ancestors, and idols. They use sacrifices in their worship, and they believe in immortality.

Ernest Heckert, Russell Loucks, and Leon Hood, alternate.

Some of the arguments presented by the affirmative were that the Primary System tends toward a Pure Democracy, that there is only a minority vote, and that it is too expensive. The remedy as presented by the third speaker was to introduce a Short Ballot System of electing the chief executives, these in turn choosing their subordinates.

The negatives upheld the Primary System stating that it is more democratic, it gives the voters and candidates a better chance, it has proven practical and sound, and that none of the systems heretofore have been better, contrasting the Convention and Caucus Systems, and showing the superiority of the Primary system.

In their rebuttals the winners showed that the Short Ballot System, as presented by the affirmative side, would fall under the old "Spoils System," thereby in no way ameliorating the present method of election.

The arguments of both teams were presented in a very forceful manner and no discredit is due the losers for the wide margin of experience in varsity contests of the members of the Neo team proved to be the deciding factor in the decision.

Miss Garlach was chairlady of the debate, and the judges were: Mrs. Frantz, Mrs. Honker, and Rev. Tyson, all of Myerstown.

DRAMATIC CLUB SELECTS PLAYS

"The Travelers"—Booth Tarkington, "The Makers of Dreams"—Oliphant Down To Be Presented After Vacation

The committee appointed for the selecting of plays to be given by the Albright Dramatic Club, after many investigations, has selected two very high class and exceptionally good plays, which will be given shortly after the holidays. The plays selected are "The Travelers" by Booth Tarkington, a play of unusual interest and novel plot, and "The Maker of Dreams" by Oliphant, a play of an individual nature. The selection of the cast is in the hands of Mrs. Landis, and will, within a few days, be ready for publication. The club plans to make this, their initial year, a real and profitable one, in which they hope to give several plays of superior quality.

"CY" BEEKEY '27 IN STELLAR DRAMATIC ROLE

Plays Important Role in Play Staged By Reading High Faculty

"Cy" Beekey '27, a graduate of last year's class, and now a member of the faculty of the Southern Junior faculty played a stellar role in "Master Patelin" a three act comedy presented by the faculty of the high school where he is teaching. Beekey played the part of a Parisian judge in the fifteenth century which was the time of the drama.

William Willits, also a member of the same faculty appeared in the cast. Willits took extension work at Albright several years ago.

This play, which was a huge success, attracting capacity crowds for three nights in the large auditorium of the school, was held to raise money for their new million dollar edifice.

—It takes a lot of hard practice to give some girls that charming naturalness.

TOWSEN WINS SEVENTH; HOUCK RESIGNS TO FATE

Sees Futurity In Carrying Match Far—
Fails; Return Match Planned

By winning the 7th game of his 10 game series with David Houck, of Reading, last week, "Gus" Townsen increased his lead to three games, and Houck thereupon resigned the match, as it would have been necessary to win all three remaining games to get an even break in the series, a draw game being sufficient to clinch the match for the college player.

Houck, realizing he didn't dare allow any more draw games if he wished to win the match adopted a "wild" variation in the hopes that Townsen would go astray. His strategy caused the Albright player to do some sweating in the first part of the game, but by dint of careful finessing he avoided all the traps, and captured a pawn, with which he afterwards forced a win.

A return match is being arranged for early next year, and some good chess is being looked forward to. The final score of the match was: Townsen 4, Houck 1, Draws 2.

Reading Team Comes Here

On Thursday evening, January 5, in the first week after Christmas recess, the crack Reading chess team, champions of the Central Pennsylvania Chess League will meet the Albright team on anywhere from eight to twelve boards. Instead of employing the old style of matching opponents, a new system will be used in which the captains of the rival teams will nominate the positions alternately.

—: Poets' Corner :—

THE MEANING OF CHRISTMAS

Long years ago a child was born
Among Judean hills;
He laughed, and played, and learned to take

His ups and downs—life's ills,
With better grace than children do
Who have not Christ within;
The other children teased, and talked.
He showed no least chagrin.

But spoke as wise men—answered those

Old graybeards—shamed them, too;
Until they stared amazed at all
The things a child could do
And say: such wisdom, charm and grace;

They tried to speak, but they Could only look; so Mary found
Them speechless there that day
And marveled that a child of hers,
A boy, the merest lad,
Could understand the things they said,

The secrets that they had.
So Christmas day was born for us
In that old Bethlehem town;

The star that led the Wisemen there,
That gleamed and glimmered down
Across the manger where He slept,
Knew in its glimmerings

The secret of the Christmas day
That lights our years; that brings
The hope of ages yet to come,
That we of earth might live;

And so that Christmas, long ago,
As ours today, means give.
—Blanche McCauley.

will be preferable and simpler to take only one main point and develop it rather than to try to cover too many phases of the question in this limited time. However, it is the presentation and debating skill manifested which will be judged most, content being only secondary. There will be several faculty judges besides Dr. Weber.

The team is planning a speedy organization after the try-out in order to get into shape for the first intercollegiate debate of the season which will be held shortly after the Christmas recess. Prospects for a successful season look brighter than for several years. The big problem now confronting the debaters is "to get going."

SHERID GIVEN SIGNAL HONOR BY 'STONY' McLINN

First Albright Gridder To Receive
Similar Honor Since "Haps"
Benfer

WINS ALL-AMERICAN MENTION

For the first time since the days when "Haps" Benfer was tearing up the gridirons, has an Albright man received any recognition on any All-American team. "Stony" McLinn in his selection gave Roy Sherid, the outstanding backfield performer of the Albright team, honorable mention in a selection that embraced the leading players from coast to coast.

In selecting his backfield men he selected men who showed versatility in every department of the game, and Sherid was an outstanding player in every department. He ranked with the best punters of the year, one of his punts probably creating an intercollegiate record, and thruout the season his punting was outstanding in every game that Albright played.

As a forward passer he is probably without a peer in small college ranks. The mighty right arm that has been instrumental in turning in victories on the ball diamond was used to great effect on the gridiron. Albright was noted for its great aerial attack and it was through Sherid's passing that made it so effective.

The opposing teams were bewildered when Sherid dropped back, for they did not know what was coming off—whether he would kick pass or carry the ball, for as a ball carrier he was one of the most dangerous men on the Albright attack, and in the other departments they knew him to well.

Sherid since his high school days has been an outstanding performer in three sports. In his senior year at Norristown high he was selected as full back on the All-Philadelphia and Suburban teams, and was rated the best school boy back in the section. In baseball he is without doubt the greatest pitcher in college ranks. In basket ball he ranks with the best centers in small colleges, and the honor that he gained this year ranks him as one of the best backs in Central Pennsylvania.

Sherid has two more years of football left and before he receives his sheepskin he has a chance to receive more honor for himself and Albright.

ing much of her time rounding out the material for the girls' varsity. Nor is that time spent in vain. Already the writer can see a champion team in the making. Two positions were left vacant by the graduation of "Nenie" Herr and Ann Benfer, but new recruits are shaping up in fine form to fill their places. The varsity squad has not been fully decided upon as yet, and each girl going to practice is giving her best to the task at hand. Coach VanDuzer has been extending her greatest efforts toward making a winning team, and the enthusiasm shown by the girls proves that their efforts are appreciated.

The subs of last year's team, together with the new material are giving the first team of last year a merry battle to hold their positions. The girls are putting their best into this sport, and deserve the support of the college. They have the ability and material, but need cooperation and support to make them entirely successful.

PLAY OFF FOR THE INTER-CLASS TITLE

Soon after the Christmas recess ends, the old battle cries of the classes will be heard in the Gym once more, for the class games are scheduled to begin. All of the games will be under the direction of the MEN'S SENATE. If any disputes arise it will be this body that will settle them and not the OFFICIALS of the game.

With this in view, it will do the ones good that are interested in the games to dig out your uniform over the holidays and get a little practice so you will be all set to get away to a good start and help your class on to the championship.

A committee was appointed by the MEN'S SENATE to draw up the rules and the schedule for the games. The following are the rules, and each rule will be strictly adhered to thruout the entire schedule.

1. All games shall be governed by the MEN'S SENATE.
2. Proper OFFICIALS shall be provided for by the SENATE.
3. All games are scheduled to begin at 7:30 o'clock (P. M.)
4. The team not having five (5) men on the floor at the scheduled time (7:30 p. m.) shall forfeit the game.
5. All players shall be properly dressed for playing (not in street attire).
6. The game shall consist of two (2) halves, each being fifteen (15) minutes long.
7. Any one on the VARSITY SQUAD will not be permitted to PARTICIPATE in any CLASS GAME.
8. The schedule shall consist of two (2) rounds, of three (3) games each. The winners of the first round shall play the winners of the second round for the TITLE.

tical intents and purposes it reminded the mob which assembles the night before the annual Lebanon Valley gridiron contest as far as numbers and spirit go.

While the plans for the 1927 edition of the carol singing fiesta were not complete when the Bulletin went to press, certain ones who knew that the procession would include visits at the home of Dr. J. P. Stober, professor-emeritus of Biology who has been confined in his home for almost a decade as well as the homes of the members of the faculty and "Minnie's." Plenty of time will like wise be spent at the most important street corners of the borough. Unusually clement weather held out great promise for the carolers several days before the scheduled date.

DOCTOR WEBER MISSES CHANCE FOR FORTUNE

Comes Out Second Best In Local Newspaper Competition

Fame and honor just fitted past the grasp of Dr. Weber, professor of Social Science, last week—but unfortunately passed by on the other side, and thereby hangs a tale.

There is a new newspaper in Myerstown, which however is not seen as yet as a potential rival of the Albright Bulletin. In order to avoid opposition, they are specializing, the new one in reporting the news of the town, the Bulletin from now on, the better side of the life at Albright College. The first edition of this new-comer was published last week without a name, but with an offer of a certain number of dollar bills for the lucky one to suggest the proper name. The following issue appeared with the name "Lebanon County Press" streaming across the top. In a follow-up article it was explained that this name was chosen only after the keenest competition with a certain title, "The Newsline" implying a combination of newspaper and magazine which was submitted by Dr. Weber. The winning title was sent in by "Lem" Immel, Myerstown's most popular letter-carrier and head-empire at Albright during the baseball season.

A list of ninety-one names were sent in to the Press, according to the editor, fourteen of which were submitted by Clair Keifer, understudy to Dr. Weber in several classes.

dropping the sphere through the basket. Brown, Sherid and Gunther carrying the brunt of the burden. There are some new boys who are going to give the older fellows a good run for their positions. The varsity squad has not been picked yet, so they all have an equal chance to show what stuff they have. Among the newer ones, Gilbert looks mighty good at one of the guard posts, while Perry, Karlip, and Day are fighting hard for the forward jobs.

The probable starting team will be composed of three veterans who have gone through one season or more on the court. Brown, Clemens or Wissler will more than likely be found at the guard berths and the calibre of ball played by these three last year will make Albright strong in this department. Sherid, who was the varsity center will be found back at his old place at center and if there are better centers in the business they are not found in small colleges. The forward berths will more than likely be occupied by two newcomers. Karlip who hails from Lancaster, will give all opposition a lot of trouble in any attempt to dislodge him from one of the places, while DeBolt who learned his basketball at F. & M. Academy will be found at the other. Both men are good on the floor and have an eagle eye for the basket. If this combination does not go well Sherid who performs equally as well at forward as center will be moved to one of the forwards and

SUSANNA HEINZE

If you can remember that far back, you will recall that it was a rainy, dreary day when Susanna resigned her life at home in Ashland, and came to register here as one of our freshmen. But the weather that first day could not diminish the jolly state of mind in which we ever find her. For "Tootie" has always been one of the most pleasant and best-liked girls on the campus.

Her especial interest seemed to be music, and she has shown us many time how gifted she is along musical lines. This year "Tootie" has joined the ranks of the Senior class, and expects to graduate with "1928."

During this year so far Susanna has served as Vice President of the Y. W. C. A., and has just finished filling the presidency of the Theminian Literary Society for the first term, in which capacity she has done fine work. However, we must not forget to mention that twice "Tootie" was struck by an arrow from Cupid's bow, but neither case proved fatal. As for her future, no one is able to find out just what her plans are, but most likely she will choose a "lit-ol" husband somewhere, and then—

Gunther an experienced man will be run in at center.

Uncle "Jake" laid the law down to the boys the other night. He told them if they want to play, play for the School and the love of the game. To do this one must be in the most perfect physical condition possible. That means keep to strict training. With this in mind the "Coach" gave the boys a few pointers, explaining the different stops and passes. Two teams were chosen and a short scrimmage followed, with the fellows trying out the different things that had just been shown them.

NEW DIX PRODUCTION 'SHANGHAI BOUND' TALE OF MODERN CHINA

Modern China—mysterious with its age-old civilization, militant with its new Western ideas, dangerous with its Bolshevism, revengeful with its hate of Occidental interference, riotous with its famine—provides the background for a new motion picture.

Richard Dix and Mary Brian are the stars in "Shanghai Bound" said to be the first feature length production laid in the surging tempestuous land that was once the placid Nation of the Dragon. Every effort is said to have been made to make the representation faithful to the China that has recently forced its way into America's consciousness.

Coming soon—Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky in "The Magic Flame," Douglas Fairbanks in "The Gaucho," Mary Pickford in "My Best Girl," Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky in "The Winning of Barbara Worth."

When Xerxes wept

THE great Persian ruler gazed from a hill-top upon his vast army of a million men. It was the largest army that had ever existed. And he turned away with tears in his eyes because in a hundred years all trace of it would be gone. That army was a symbol of power, destructive and transient.

Today in one machine, now being built in the General Electric shops, there is combined the muscular energy of two million men. This great machine, a steam turbine, is also a symbol of power—a new power that is constructive and permanent.

Its unprecedented size, a record in construction of such machines, is a pledge to the people that the electrical industry is on the march, ever on the alert to supply plenty of electricity at a low cost to all.

This mammoth steam turbine with a total capacity of 208,000 kilowatts (280,000 horse power) will be installed in the new station of the State Line Generating Company near Chicago. What a striking contrast between this huge generating unit and the group of home devices it operates—MAZDA lamps, fans, vacuum cleaners, and many others. Yet General Electric makes both.
