

PI GAMMA MU BANQUETS AT TASTE GOOD

One Act Social Service Play Features The Entertainment Of The Evening

FIRST SOCIAL EVENT

On Wednesday, February 20th, the Pi Gamma Mu held a banquet at the Taste Good Hall. This was the first social affair that the fraternity has undertaken, and it proved to be a very successful and enjoyable event.

After dinner had been served President William Shaw gave a short speech of welcome. Following this a few matters of important business were discussed and decided upon.

The program was then turned over to the banquet committee, and a one act social service play, dealing with the problems of the working girl was given. The play was entitled "The First of May" and was written by Eleanor Rowland Weinbridge. The following took part in this play: Misses Pauline Swanger, Catherine Steltz, LeNora Hemstreet, Orpha Hangen, Blanche McCauley, Kathryn Deck, Marion Shaw, Alvin Youse, and Benjamin Wilkes. Following this, the affair closed with the singing of the Alma Mater.

Those present were: Dr. Gobbie, Professor Hamilton, Dean Walton, Prof. Zener, Dr. Weber, Dean Elles, Leah Hoffman, Kathryn Deck, Orpha Hangen, Blanche McCauley, Catherine Steltz, Marion Shaw, Pauline Swanger, Helen Uhrich, LeNora Hemstreet, Dorsey Brunner, Horris Light, William Shaw, John Youse, Alvin Youse, Benjamin Wilkes, and Prof. Harry Sheeley.

ALBRIGHT BULLETIN CREATES DEFINITE ALUMNI SECTION

Department To Feature On Alternate Weeks With Dale Gramley As Alumni Section

The Alumni news section of the Albright Bulletin is inaugurated at the request and under the supervision of the Alumni Association in the hope that it may be a means to attract and renew alumni interest in Alma Mater; that it may stir former students to constructive work for Alma Mater, and that it may bring them back to Alma Mater. It is hoped the news section may be a clearing house for Alumni opinion, a bulletin board for Alumni events, and a mirror of Alumni progress in the marching world.

The Alumni association feels keenly the need for cooperation and service on the part of its members during the reorganization and enlargement of the college. It feels that it must take a more prominent part in the school's broadened program; that it must no longer be a silent partner in the great business its Alma Mater is engaged in. It feels that individual preferences and personal wishes should be thrown overboard and that all should pitch in and help. It feels there is everything to gain by lending a hand and that the American doctrine of

DEBATE

Next Thursday evening at 8 P. M. in the College Chapel, the second men's debate of the season will be held between Albright College Affirmative, and Lebanon Valley College negative teams.

CO-EDS CONQUER LEBANON VALLEY IN CLOSE GAME

Sextette Emerges Victor After Nip and Tuck Battle That Repeatedly Thrills Crowd

SCORE 23 to 21

The Albright girls triumphed over the Lebanon Valley sextette in a hotly fought contest, last week. Every girl on the squad was full of pep, ready, eager to do her best, to put her team first and play the game. The old Albright spirit had returned.

Yiengst scored first for Lebanon Valley, by shooting two foul shots. Draper added two field goals, which gave the Blue and White a tally of six points to Albright's one. The quarter was nearly ended. Dettlerline came in for Leah Deck, who with Mim Youse held down the center section. Just as the timer's horn sounded for the end of the first quarter ended, Dety dropped the ball thru the basket, making the score 6-3, in favor of Lebanon Valley. Throughout the second quarter the Red & White team continued to climb up on Lebanon Valley, but were unable to overtake them. The half ended 14-12, in favor of the Blue & White.

When the Albright coeds went back on the floor, Leah Deck went in at guard for Hangen, and F. Wilkes took her post at side-center. It was then that Albright began to show their real stuff. Their quick, sure aerial attack, reinforced by a stonewall defense, culminated in goals for the Red & White. The score steadily mounted upward. It was tied. The crowd went wild. The players' reserve strength was called into action. Both teams played like demons, neither knowing which would be victorious. L. V. C. scored another two points. Albright again tied the score, then loomed ahead by one point. L. V. C. tied. Deckie came across with a field goal, and the score was 23-21. Lebanon Valley called time out. Ten seconds to play and the score was 23-21. The ball was put in play at center, Wilkes got it from the tip off, passed it into the forward section, Dety gave it to Deckie—the whistle blew—the game was over, and the Albright girls had another victory to their credit.

PLEASING RECITAL RENDERED IN CHAPEL

Tuesday evening, Feb. 19, the music department of Albright College gave one of their usual pleasing recitals under the direction of Miss Josephine Strasser, Instructor in Voice Culture and Mrs. Jean Peters Welker, Instructor in Piano.

Mildred Wissinger and Flora Gross rendered pleasing solos which were enjoyed very much. This was the first appearance of Flora Gross as a voice soloist and Mildred Wissinger's first evening appearance.

Piano soloists were Valentine Beshore, Violet Pontz, Grace Dundore, Flora Gross, Dora Elizabeth Miller, and Harold Miles. These selections were very well rendered and well received by the audience. Besides the solos by these talented soloists,

GUNTHER PLAYS WELL

Albright vs. Lebanon Valley
Lebanon Valley F. Karlip
Albright F. Sprague
Shroyer F. Gunther
Heller C. Clemens
Miller G. (Capt.) Vickery

Substitutions—Lebanon Valley—Stewart for Shroyer, Light for Miller, Frey for Albright.

Albright—Horn for Sprague.
Field Goals—Piela, 5; Shroyer, 1; Stewart, 1; Heller, 7; Miller, 2; Albright, 2; Karlip, 4; Gunther, 5; Clemens, 1; Vickery, 1.

Foul Goals—Piela, 5; Stewart, 1; Heller, 4; Light, 1; Karlip, 5; Sprague, 1; Gunther, 3; Vickery, 1.
Referee—Allen Boyer, Lancaster.
Captain Stanley Piela, led his Lebanon Valley College dribblers to victory, Friday night, on the High school floor over Albright College, in the first of a two game series between the two Lebanon County rival colleges, by the score of 43 to 32.

This victory for Coach E. E. "Hooks" Mylin's pupils places the Annvillians at the top of the race in the "Little Three" Championship series, with three victories and no defeats.

Captain Piela and Heller, the latter a former Steelton High athlete were too much for coach John "Fog" Smith's Red and White players, representing Albright College.

Between these two high scoring basketball players they collected a total of thirty-one of their teams 43 points. Heller outscored Piela 18 to 13. Piela was able to dent the nets five times from the field and three times from the free throw line and Heller whipped the cords seven times from the field and four times from the foul line.

Gunther Plays Well
Gunther, the Red and White center man, apparently was the only player on the losing team who could cope with the victorious quintet. This sturdy veteran of many Albright-Lebanon Valley conflicts was a tower of strength for his team, both offensively and defensively.

Although his man, Heller, was the outstanding scorer of the game Gunther was handicapped without the assistance usually coming in other games from his mates.

Throughout the game Leb-

PAY YOUR DUES!

According to the number of ballots returned in the trustee election, recently, there are only about 215 members of the Alumni Association who have paid their dues this year.

The association, since the recent merger of the Albright and Schuylkill branches, now has about 1500 members. All of which means only about 14.3% are in good standing.

The executive committee of the association feels there should be a greater response if the enlarged program of the association is to be effective.

Dues should be sent to the Secretary of the Association, Mrs. Florence Schlegel Miller, 1025 Perry St., Reading, or the Treasurer, the Rev. Dr. J. Arthur Heck, Albright College, Reading, Pa. Checks should be made out to Dr. Heck.

BANQUET OF KAPPA UPSILON PHI FRAT HELD IN READING

Alpha And Beta Chapters Hold First Complete Session Since Granting Of Charter

E. L. MOHN SPEAKER

On Saturday night, February 23d, at 6:30 o'clock, a combined banquet of the Alpha and Beta Chapters of Kappa Upsilon Phi Fraternity was held at the Daniel Boone Hotel at Reading. This was the first complete union of the two chapters since the Beta Chapter of Albright College at Reading was granted a charter in November.

The large banquet hall was cleverly decorated in black and white and with banners and pennants of the fraternity. Along with this theme was introduced the idea of Washington's Birthday which was the preceding day. Favors were candy made to imitate a sprig of red cherries.

After a sumptuous, six-course dinner including roast chicken, mushrooms on toast, and everything that goes with it, Frater Dale Gramley, '26, again proved his ability to act as a clever and witty toastmaster. The ever-popular Peep Garrett was programmed to sing several selections, but due to unavoidable circumstances was unable to attend; and so the two chapters joined in singing songs, one of which was an arrangement for a fraternity song.

The address of the evening was given by Frater Mohn, of Elizabeth, N. J., who has been elected president of the combined alumni associations of Greater Albright College. He stressed the importance of a live Alumni Association and gave in detail his plans as administrator of that organization. His address again proved his unselfish love for his Alma Mater and insured the success of that association which has hitherto been practically inactive—success, provided that he receive the loyal support of all Alumni who after all insure the prosperity of any college. This address was followed by several very humorous monologues by Frater Heilman of Beta Chapter.

The business of the fraternity was then discussed. The building of a fraternity house, the ultimate ambition of the fraternity, was the main issue of the evening. Reports of committees on this project were heard and several plans were formulated to that end. Other matters

This delegation made its trip to Poughkeepsie by automobile, leaving early Thursday morning and returning late Sunday night.

The Assembly met for its initial function in the Alumnae House at 12:30 P. M. Friday, at which time the Heads of Delegations were served luncheon. Instructions as to the manner of carrying on the work of the Assembly were given to the Heads. At the same time Prof. Royal Meeker, of Yale, gave an address on "War and Peace." From there the delegates went to Student Building, where each foreign delegation, fifty-two in all, found its place in the alphabetical order of arrangement, the names of the countries being in native French. The address of welcome was given by

OUR POLICIES

1. Fair treatment for all.

3. Athletics for all.
4. Progress in all respects—curricular and extra-curricular.
5. Increased student activity and honor.
6. An Albright Individuality.

JUST EXACTLY ONE HALF of the great Albright—Lebanon Valley struggle is over. Although we were very victorious in the results of the girls' game, we came out on the losing side as far as the boys were concerned. But is it impossible to have a double victory? No, it is not, but the teams alone cannot do it, for cooperation on the part of all is needed. Where, oh where was the cooperation and pep last Friday night? Did everyone go to the game prepared to remain silent, or was it because there were no CHEER LEADERS to arouse the pep? The old Albright pep was certainly a minus quality, and was especially evident because of the support the Lebanon Valley teams had from their fellow students. No team no matter what marvelous qualities or material it possesses is going to enter a game, give the hardest and best it has if no support from the side lines is evident. It is possible for our teams to win a double victory from Lebanon Valley if we are willing to give the best we have to back them up. In just a week from tomorrow we will all have a second chance to help our teams to victory and let's do so by appearing at the game one hundred per cent. strong, and while there show what the old Albright pep means. We also expect the cheerleaders to be on hand to help along and EVERYONE to come prepared to stand in back of your teams, and in so doing make them return victors.

THE STATUS OF THE COLLEGE ALUMNUS was recently defined by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, in remarks addressed to alumni of his school on the occasion of the mid-winter Alumni Day celebration. The definition applies to alumni of Albright College and it is printed here for that reason:

"It is a fixed doctrine at Columbia University that the alumnus is permanently a member of the university. He has come to it of his own accord, has placed his name upon its books, has qualified for one of its degrees and has taken that degree. By these several acts he has become a member of the university family, entitled to recognition as such and bearing responsibility as such. He is always and everywhere, whether willingly or not, whether consciously or not, a representative of his university's training and ideals."

Dr. Butler then extended a welcome to alumni of his school and invited their interest and concern as follows:

"On Alumni Day Alma Mater welcomes with glad interest and true affection all her children. She asks them to take note of her welfare, to be concerned for her future usefulness and to strengthen their memories and their spirit of devotion by gathering about her hearth fire."

Lebanon Valley held the edge over their rivals. The only time Albright looked better than the Blue and White was during the opening minutes. Then the Annville collegians did more fouling than usual and through this medium Captain Clemens and his mates had an advantage, but for only a brief period of time.

At half time Coach Mylin's pupils held a 24 to 18 advantage over their opponents and seemed to work not too hard to gain their lead. Every member of the starting team contributed to the score column in the initial period for Lebanon Valley, while only three Red and White players were able to break through their opponents defense for scores. Gunther kept his mates in the running in the first half with his five field goals. Karlip's seven points and Sprague's lone counter of the game prevented a one-sided battle in this stanza.

The next game, which is scheduled for March the 9th, between these two, promises to be one of an even greater interest than the one just played, for both teams must win to gain the "Little Three Championship."

Albright vs. Lafayette

Playing a bang up game for the first fifteen minutes of the game, the Red and White of Albright gave the Maroon of Lafayette a tough battle to gain the victory that they won.

Ranaldi, who started at center received a painful injury to his ankle, near the close of the first half, and had to be removed from the game.

"Parrakeet's Prattle"

Parrakeet greets you all with "Tweet, tweet, Chirrup, chirrup-up-up" and other phrases of bird language. He has new news and left over news from last week so he'll have to get all his data in "quick and snappy" before time's up. He's a little better off than the Mohn Hall girls who get only three minutes (Poor things) so he'll be able to give you a concise statement of happenings even if it's rather condensed.

How many were at the L. V. C. games? Hands up. No, Parrakeet isn't turning into a crook but he was rather disappointed that there wasn't more organized cheering.

Lots of room for improvement. Parrakeet expects better results March 9. Don't you? But speaking of games, weren't the girls great? Gee, what a set-back for L. V. C. And the boys played a mighty fine game, too. The score doesn't show the fighting spirit of the team, does it? Parrakeet remembers a few lines he saw somewhere once. They're like this: When the one great scorer comes To write against your name, He'll write not whether you won or lost, But how you played the game. Nice sentiment. How about it?

Visitors over the week-end. Yes, here and there. Quite a few of the Alumni were here and Parrakeet heard that Houseal and Williams were there. Where? Why, Philadelphia of course. Didn't you know? But WHY? Flora looked mighty lonesome this week-end, didn't she? No wonder. You see Ard went home. But Parrakeet wonders if he went to see that "sister" of his. One never can tell.

Well, Roy is in St. Petersburg by this time and little Sally is here all alone. But she's a gentle reminder in the form of a Zeta Fraternity and Parrakeet's sure Horn will do all he can to keep her from getting too lonesome even if she is a Freshman. Ain't so, Slots? Oh, yes, Horn and Johnny Davis seem to have taken a liking to the same girl. Sure, she's nice. But it's a shame that she's a Freshman, too. But there's one consolation. Rules will be advanced May 1. Only two months to go.

Parrakeet was rather surprised to find that a certain Frosh lad has changed his mind. Instead of liking only the girls of '32 he has extended his mind, arms, or what have you to include a very attractive young maid who is a Sr. Music Student. It all began on Thursday nite and can already be classed as another "Taste Good Romance." Parrakeet wishes Don lots of luck.

Yes, folks, there's a new case. Not even yet over from last week, it's a brand new one. It's been broadcast quite a bit thru the considerable help of two 3rd floor fellows one of whom seems to be especially interested in the successes of Cupid. No kiddin', folks, "Stech" looked positively spiffy on Sunday nite and Parrakeet approves Eva's choice. But why did they go to the cemetery? Never mind, Eva, Flora says she's been there too, so it must be O. K.

BY the way, Parrakeet has some inside dope from Cupid. He got it at the Valentine party. There may be another new case. Parrakeet's awfully anxious to see how it turns out. In fact, so anxious he feels most like he just must give somebody a gentle hint, a push or perhaps a shove. You see Bittner has found a girl who suits his tastes quite well. But, being deliberate in all things he's waiting the opportune moment, as it were. Who is she? Maybe you'll soon find out. It's up to Bittner 'cause Parrakeet promised not to tell and he always keeps his word.

An examination disclosed that no bones were broken, but the ankle was badly sprained. Taking an early lead in the first

SCRAPS

The Walrus Fraternity has made its initial appearance on the Albright Campus. It's supposed to be a secret organization, but there's nothing secret about the way those fellows eat.

Meat for Parrakeet: Emma Hefling has at last succumbed to entrancing Romance, where upon Dan Cupid takes a vacation, exhausted but happy, after having practically worn out his bow, and used up his supply of arrows. What is there about Abie Karlip that he alone has been able to fan to a flame that spark of Love?

More meat for Parrakeet, but perhaps Parrakeet can't digest this. Anyway, even birds don't see everything, and this one had to be told. Who's "Scraps" from Slippery Rock, and how did she get to know Sam? And why should Sam prefer "Scraps" when he has Parrakeet? But maybe that's why!

—And Horse Feathers? For Souvenirs

Coming back to life—did you ever attend a banquet of the "Preparator's League"? The main course is "Boloney" and "Applesauce" topped off with "Banana Oil" for a wash down, and a lotta "Hay wire" for salad.

Well, well, well. Who originated all this responsive cheering, questions and answers, in the gym? Some folks don't even go to games anymore for fear they'll be yelled at, others go FOR publicity's sake, and more go in SPITE of it all. Parrakeet goes to hear all the dirt. Well, well. But perhaps the TEAM needs a little supporting. Folks who can organize to create a sensation by shrieking all the scandal and dumb stuff they know at the tops of their voices, who in between times insinuate that the coach doesn't know her stuff, when her team is pitted against one of the strongest championship teams, ought to sublimate their barbarian impulses, and cheer to victory those representing their Alma Mater. Let's have some concentrated effort in real cheering for our teams!

few minutes of the game, Albright led the strong Maroon of Lafayette, in the scoring, until the closing period, when the Eastons forged ahead and won with a 29-30 score.

Starting the game with a revised line-up the Red & White played a good brand of basketball, with Gunther, Karlip and Clemens carrying the heaviest of the burden. The game was loosely played and several times it looked as if it were out of the referees' hands, time after time, when an Albright score seemed sure, the official would disqualify it by one charge or another.

Albright was leading with a score of 16-13 at the half time. This was soon overcome by Lafayette in the beginning of the second half. Once they gained the lead they were never headed until the final whistle.

For Lafayette Leisinger and Dimminger held the scoring honors, both scoring time and again to keep their team in the running. The feature of the evening was the playing of Lipsly the diminutive guard of the Maroon squad. Besides scoring points he was all over the floor, breaking up the opponents offense and aiding greatly in getting the ball toward his own basket.

Line-up and score:

Albright	Lafayette
Karlip F.	Leisinger
Sprague C.	F. Adams
Ranaldi C.	Dimminger
Gunther G.-C.	Lipsly
Clemens G.	Rumbo
Horn F.	Reson

Field Goals: Clemens, 5; Leisinger, 5; Dimminger, 4; Karlip, 3; Lipsly, 2; Gunther, 1; Sprague, 2; Sherwood, Adams, 2; Fouls: Ranaldi, 3; Gunther, 2; Sprague, Clemens, 1; Lipsly, 6; Reson, Leisinger, 1.

THE THREE BACHELORS

Three bachelors step in their shuttered room—
In the shuttered room when the sun shone high;
Not one of them felt he must rise till noon,
Or take his breakfast till by-and-by:
For single men may happily sleep—
A pillow is good and breakfast will keep
Till ten o'clock in the morning.

Three fair maids smiled on these bachelors three—
On these bachelors three when they came to town;
They waltzed, they sang, they made high tea
And had their accomplishments quickly known;
For it matters not if bachelors sleep,
The maids are awake quite soon in the week,
And sometimes rise in the morning.

Three married men jumped when the sun arose,
And left their pillows in swift dismay;
They felt for their boots, they grabbed their clothes,
And thoroughly realized it was day;
For women will never let men sleep
When there's breakfast to get and wash for the week,
Though it's five o'clock in the morning.

—Anon.

BEING A SENIOR

Too soon will I leave
All the paths I have trod;
Too soon will the arms
Of the trees as they nod

Fling over some others
The shade I have known,
And tease them and taunt them
When they are alone.

Too soon will I go
From these steadfast old walls,
To answer the voice
Of ambition that calls.

And wander the wide
World and over again
In search of success—
But I'll long now and then

To fuss at the bells
As they call me to class,
And hear the "Hellos"
In the paths when we'd pass.

Too soon will the chapel
Doors shut in my face,
And I, coming back,
Must feel strange to the place.

Once upon a time there was a little boy named Burger, who ordered ice cream for lunch. When the waiter brought the microscopic marvel Burger moaned (and by this moral our tale endeth) "Never order ice cream at a bakery."

Once upon a time three people ordered lemon pie at luncheon. The waiter looked at Dr. Weber and said "Another lemon?" Moral: Beauty is only skin deep.

Once upon a time there was a History Prof. who was asked by a Vassar maiden, "How about a match?" and came the reply, "My match is down in Pennsylvania."

Once upon a time there was a Junior maiden who went to Vassar for a week-end. While there this said Junior maiden literally "went to the dogs"—eighty in fact. Moral: Room decorations affect occupants, special deliveries notwithstanding.

Once upon a time there was a Senior girl, who got hooked to write the feature. Moral: Man works from sun to sun, but woman's work is never done.

And hereby endeth our tale. Can you imagine this secret connected with Vassar? Well, it's not what you think it is, at any rate.

PLEASING RECITAL

Harold Miles and Valentine Beshore played a duo in their own fine style. Altogether it was a very fine musical entertainment showing much talent and wonderful instruction, also great diligence on part of the participants. Recitals of this nature are to be given every month from now on so Albright can look forward to a number of fine musical treats.

New York Alumni
Pass Resolutions

New York City, Jan. 1929
Members of the Trustee Board of Greater Albright College:

The following resolutions were adopted at the recent meeting of the New York branch of the Alumni Association of Albright College and are subscribed to by the York, (Pa.) and Baltimore (Md.) branches of the same association. The New York branch claims a constituency of approximately 70 members, the York (Pa.) branch, 60 members, and the Baltimore (Md.) branch, 30 members, or a total of 160 Albright Alumni.

We believe that it will be to the advantage of the trustee board and the administration to become better acquainted with the Alumni of the college. We believe that a spirit of friendship and good-will should prevail and that a sense of cooperation and enthusiasm should be realized. We are sure that many of the Alumni of Albright are in positions now that they may mean much to the new college. On a rough estimate, it is safe to say at least 50 per cent. of Albright's graduates are school teachers and an additional 5 per cent. ministers—persons who are in positions of influence with the high school children of the East, the prospective college students.

We know that the full influence of these Alumni has not been wielded in favor of our Alma Mater in the past. Having realized serious handicaps in graduate studies because of poorly correlated courses, many of us wish to avoid similar experiences to those who enroll in the future. Many Alumni serving as preachers, teachers or in business relationships are now in positions where students coming from homes of wealth could be directed to the school, but knowing living conditions in the past were unable to recommend the college. We never want Albright to become a rich man's college, but increasingly men of wealth must be interested to help keep up the progress and standing of the college. We have already experienced the withdrawal of interest on the part of some fine Christian business men for reasons that could have been avoided.

We believe and know that the Christian traditions of Albright and close cooperation between professor and student in the past has been one of our greatest assets. We are glad to know that these features which are among its outstanding distinctions will be conserved.

The members of these three branches of the Alumni Association are greatly interested in the future of Alma Mater and are zealous for her progress through her recent consolidation and enlargement. It is with the idea that you may realize our deep interest in Alma Mater, that the following resolutions are approved and respectfully submitted.

WHEREAS the New York Branch of the Alumni Association of Albright College feels deep interested in Alma Mater, especially in regard to her recent merger with Schuylkill College;

AND WHEREAS the members of the New York branch are zealous for the future progress and growth of Alma Mater in property improvements, scholarship standing, curriculum, faculty, student body, athletics and other extra-curricular activities; and

WHEREAS FURTHERMORE it is within our means, however slight, to aid financially in the upbuilding of Alma Mater, and within the reach of our influence to supply students for her;

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED AS FOLLOWS:

I. That we hereby approve the desire of the trustee board to establish a Greater Albright at Reading, Pa., and that we assure said board of our interest and cooperation.

II. That we urge upon the board our suggestion that the physical union of the two institutions now known as Albright, be signalized and commemorated by a special program appropriate to the occasion.

III. That we recommend to the trustees that qualified educators from several graduate schools be consulted during the reorganization of the school's curriculum. We urge this especially so that the new program of courses may be correlated properly with requirements of graduate schools.

IV. That we ask the authorities to retain the colors and Alma Mater song of the Myerstown institution.

V. That we urge that student leaders be consulted when extra-curricular activities of the merged colleges are discussed and that the extra-curricular organizations of the present Myerstown school, except athletic, be retained as far as possible because of the approximately 30 years of collegiate traditions associated with them.

VI. That the three Alumni trustees be recognized as representing an interested constituency of approximately 1500 persons.

VII. That we ask for more complete publicity on progress being made in the new school project, in the school papers, the church publications and the daily press.

VIII. That we be assured whether or not the new Albright (after the merger next Fall) will be on the accredited or "white list" of colleges.

ALBRIGHT BULLETIN CREATES
DEFINITE ALUMNI SECTION

"The majority rules" should find alumni in line and ready.

The Alumni news section will be a feature of this paper on alternate weeks, provided, of course, members of the association cooperate and contribute news and opinion. It is hoped real interest may be stirred in the whereabouts of former classmates and friends, sincere concern expressed for the progress of student and administration affairs, and a spirit of cooperation manifested in the program and platform of the Alumni association itself.

The association hopes, furthermore, that this alumni section may develop in due time into an Alumni monthly or quarterly publication.

Communications should be addressed to Dale H. Gramley, Box 212, John Jay Hall, Columbia University, New York City.

VASSAR COLLEGE HOST TO MODEL LEAGUE ASSEMBLY

Pres. Henry Noble MacCracken, of Vassar. The Assembly was officially opened and an address was made by the President to the Council of the League of Nations, Prof. Meeker.

The Report of the Committee on credentials was given. The election of the President of the Assembly was the next step. Mr. Ralph T. Steward, of Washington Square, and Head of the Delegation from Denmark was elected President. The President's speech was given, and then interpreted by Emily Sheets. The Agenda was approved and adopted and committees were appointed. Argentine, Spain and Norway were elected to the Council.

The first session closed with a brief report of the Council on the work of the Council and of the Secretariat, and a flash light picture of the Assembly.

A reception was held for the delegates and advisors at the Alumnae House at 7:00 P. M. after which the delegates were invited to the Barre Little Symphony Orchestra Concert, and from thence to a dance in Josselyn Hall.

The Saturday morning session consisted of an informal discussion on the resolutions which were to be proposed, led by Dr. James G. McDonald, Chairman of the Foreign Policy Association. Following that there was given the Report of the Fourth Committee ending with the resolution: That the international character of the Secretariat should be strictly preserved and high officers more evenly distributed among the powers. A discussion and vote followed, but no definite action could be taken, due to the fact that it was impossible to secure the necessary unanimous decision. A Report of the Sixth Committee, ending with the following resolution was given:

(1) That the petitioners may, under exceptional circumstances, be allowed to appear in person before the Commission. (2) That the Mandat-

Who's Who At Albright

BLANCHE LENORE SEIBERT

There are many things that may be had for the asking—no trouble nor effort to know what it is all about and consequently the value of these things is slight and are soon forgotten. Things easily won are mostly unimportant. Things for which we must strive have a decided value to the achiever. That is why the friendship of some people are regarded with more warmth and love.

Seemingly to the careless observer or Blanche is very quiet, and if one is a mere acquaintance one will always labor under this false impression. Not to be able to pierce beneath the reserve is to miss a great pleasure, for that seeming timidity hides a merry heart, a joyous soul, a happy being. Anyone who is privileged to know Blanche intimately will testify to this. She may be reserved, but that is an asset; she may have dignity, but that is a relief in contrast to the decided absence on some campuses; she may be modest and demure, but we all say if modesty and demureness are akin to this lovely nature, let us have more like them. Is it any wonder that the privilege of learning to know Blanche and of being a friend is regarded as being very much worth while.

Blanche is a day student and may usually be seen in that room, a quiet but interested observer, or perhaps she will be curling someone's hair or doing something equally beneficial for one of the Chi Sigmas. Being a day student does not prevent Blanche from entering the other activities of the school. She lives conveniently near, and a cut across the campus path lands her in the midst of Albright's activities.

Blanche is a good student, a guard on the Senior Girls' Basketball team, and more than that, she is proficient with the pen. Oh yes, last year her charms—her "differentness" won the heart of a certain light haired lad, and now since he is no longer here at school, letters must serve as next best to actual ties.

Next year Albright will send forth another teacher, and as such Blanche with her perseverance, ideals and capabilities is going to make good, not only for the school, but for those contacting it.

tory country shall prohibit all forms of forced or compulsory labor except for essential public works, and then only for adequate remuneration. Again, following the discussion pro and con, nothing was definitely accomplished.

The afternoon session, including the Report of the Sixth Committee, which ended with the resolution; That Article 21 should be interpreted, so as to preclude the intervention of the League, in accordance with the Covenant, in disputes to which American republics, members of the League are parties. The Assembly was officially closed by an address by the President, and the French interpretation.

A dinner was given in the Alumnae House for the active delegates and advisors, at which a critique of the Assembly was given by Dr. McDonald, and various other speeches. The concluding events of the Assembly were the Vassar-Yale Debate, and the Dance which followed.

The Assembly was indeed a valuable inspiration and experience to

GEORGE KINTED BOWMAN

Perhaps you've bumped into a tall happy-go-lucky young chap while strolling over the campus. Of course, "Putt" isn't the only tall, fair man at Albright, in fact he's only one among many; but some how, he's different. We like his slow drawl, his friendly eyes, the wild tales he tells, and his little bow ties. We call him the "Song and Dance Man" of Albright; though he's not the only one, he's the original, and much in demand to delight the gang.

Straight from Renova High to popularity at Albright in sports, studies, in fact every phase of college life, Bowman showed his stuff on the Freshman football squad when they smothered the Sophs, in Varsity Basketball, and interclass Basketball; Baseball, and Volley ball. He helped the 1929 Speculum staff on to success by his business ability.

Looking forward to a future in the field of medicine, Bowman eagerly applies himself to those studies relative to his intended profession, and we predict for him attainment and achievements such as even he has not dreamed of.

all who were privileged to attend.

A report was given by the delegates in chapel, Monday morning.

Why License Applications Are Not Forwarded

Every year thousands of Pennsylvania motorists are discurbed because they fail to receive applications for renewal of their operators' licenses. On the other hand, some drivers overlook the matter entirely, only to be halted on the highway after March 1st, and arrested for driving without the current year's license.

"There seems to be general misunderstanding," says the Keystone Automobile Club, "of the reason for failure of the applications to reach them at new addresses. They argue that the post office has been furnished with their forwarding address and that all other mail directed to their place of former residence reaches them at the new address. Why, then, they ask, can't the post office forward their license applications?"

"The reason can well be appreciated when once it is understood. The address of every licensed driver is a vital part of the State's records. It is essential that this record be kept up to date, for reasons that should be obvious to every car owner. If an application were forwarded to a new address, the old address would still remain on the records as the operator's place of residence, unless he took the trouble to write to the department to have correction made. It is conceded, in the light of experience that very few would send in corrections.

"In a single year, the number of incorrect addresses in the department's file probably would exceed 200,000. Within a few years the records would be virtually worthless.

"The post office, therefore, is instructed by the Department of Highways not to forward any license application if the address has been changed, but to return all such applications to Harrisburg.

"Those who have not yet received their application because of change in address should obtain address correction blanks and send immediately to the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, Department of Highways, for their applications. These blanks may be obtained at any of offices of the Keystone Automobile Club or by writing to the Bureau of Motor Vehicles."
