College to Gather Funds in W.S.S.F. Student Drive

Albrightians will be made conscious of the World's Student Service Fund drive Friday, November 1 when a series of chapel programs will begin. Monday, November 4 and Wednesday, November 6 chapel periods will also be in charge of Albright's committee in charge of the drive so that all classes will have equal opportunity to hear of its purpose and to share in putting our quota over the top.

Financial Goal

Albright has set for its goal $666.66 with the purpose of making each student responsible for at least $1.00 or more. A chart will be kept in the Administration Building to show the progress of the drive.

The World's Student Service Fund is a duly organized and chartered organization which has as its purpose aiding worthy students of all nations to obtain an education. Many countries because of the ravages of war have extremely poor facilities for education and the need for our money is greater than ever.

A good example of the use to which the money is put is afforded in the information Doris Downes and Jack Shafer received from W.S.S.F. headquarters last week. Heidelberg University, Germany's most famous and colorful university, reopened on January 8. This university is in the American zone of occupation and falls under the supervision of the American military authorities who are actively promoting education.

In the presence of Lieutenant General Geoffrey Keyes, commander of the Seventh Army, the new rector of Heidelberg, Dr. Karl H. Bauer, who is also Dean of the Medical College, gave a notable address, which was applauded by the students in the traditional way by stamping with one foot. Among the student body are Jewish students, fresh from concentration camps. These are the first Jews to be admitted to German universities since Hitler expelled them a dozen years ago.

Bauer Says

Rector Bauer said, "Without tolerance there is no democracy and without democracy no German future. The Third Reich has shown quite clearly that political interference with science is equivalent to decay. With the whole fervor of our hearts we join the struggle for the German mind and soul, the struggle for a complete new attitude toward the nation."

Pat Sorority to Hold Several Rush Affairs

Pi Alpha Tau Sorority's informal rush party for all freshmen women and transfers will be held November 4 at the Y.W.C.A. at Eighth and Washington Streets. Gloria McKittrick is in charge of arrangements.

On November 23 in the Walnut Room of the Berkshire Hotel, Fred Breininger and his orchestra will provide the music for the Pat's Fall Formal. Members of the committee in charge of the dance are Jeanne Schlegel, chairman; Eileen O'Neil, Margaret Walton, and Lynne Parr.

Whitner's Garden Room will be the scene of the rush dinner on November 18, it was announced by Miss Schlegel, social chairman.

Albrightians will welcome Al Capp, artist of the "Li'l Abner" comic strip, November 12.

Assembly Schedules U. of P. Speaker, W.S.S.F. Program

Morning chapel and assembly for the coming week promise an interesting variety of programs presented by well-known individuals or groups, including L. Haring of the University of Pennsylvania.

Tomorrow morning Dr. D. J. Wetzel, Pastor of First Reformed Church, Reading, will speak on "The Right Use of Freedom." Dr. Wetzel, a familiar man about campus, is active in young people's work.

Professor V. C. Zener will conduct a religious program Thursday. His topic is "Autumn Time of the Year."

The assembly on Friday, Nov. 1 and Monday, Nov. 4, with Jack Shafer and Doris Downes in charge, will be devoted to the World's Student Service Fund. Mr. Haring, Presbyterian pastor from the University of Pennsylvania, will be the main speaker on Friday. A short skit presented by Betty Thompson, and information concerning the local drive will conclude the WSSF program on Monday.

On Tuesday, Nov. 5, Dr. Hamilton will talk on a topic dealing with international affairs.

Albright Alumni Gather For Homecoming Day

Albright College will greet its alumni Homecoming Day Saturday, November 2 when the school celebrates its first Homecoming Day since the beginning of the war. The activities of the group will be in charge of Glenn Morris, president of the Alumni Association.

The day's events will begin with an Alumni Luncheon being served in the College Dining Hall at 12:30 p.m. Jack Davis, local Chamber of Commerce secretary, will direct the after luncheon program.

The College Alumni will be special guests at the Albright-West Chester football game in the College Stadium at 2 p.m. The evening will be left open to socialization.

Al Capp Invades Albright For Sadie Hawkins' Day Race

Brethren and sistern, harken a spell 'til you hear what's goin', ta' happen on this hyar Sadie Hawkins' Day (November 12) on campus. All she-male Dog Patchers will be wearin' their oldest britches, shawls, and smoods to represent favorite Dog-Patch characters. Due consideration will be given to the fit of the clothing—"cain't ketch a man of yew cain't run." The Li'l Abners, Lonesome Polecats, Hairless Joes, Joe Jsvlqks, and other male Dog Patchers of Albright will be wearing high shoes (G.I. boot-dockers suggested), dungarees, straw hats, or what-have-you to imitate their favorite Dog Patch characters. The meals in the Dining Hall will include such delicacies as chittlins, corn pone, po'k chops, cat-fish haid stew, and possum ta', soup.

What? No Paper?

We can't figure out why, but the professors have decided it's about time that THE ALBRIGHTIAN staff pays attention to something besides the paper, namely their books.

So, in order to please our dear profs, we have no other alternative (sigh) but to take a week off to study. Consequently, there will be no issue of THE ALBRIGHTIAN next Tuesday, but it will be back in publication November 12.

You Asked For It

By Kenneth Good

When did you have your last date? A date, whether for a movie or for a formal dance, is an experience which calls for equal responsibility on the part of both the man and the woman.

It should be so well planned that both know where to go and what to do every minute. Date suggestions should be made by the fellow with the girl taking the initiative in approving or disapproving. The girl or the boy with an indifferent careless date attitude doesn't rate too well.

Perhaps a main reason for date failure is the fact that the manners exhibited by either person on the date were such that another date would be out of the question. Your manners and etiquette need not be the kind that would make Emily Post sit up and take notice, though that might help in that they should be such that your escort doesn't have to wish that she or he had never dated you. Manners in this modern world call for simple courteous consideration for other people. If you consider others at all times and hang on to simple rules of good conduct it's a sure bet you'll get along.

Above all, in your dating remember always to dress properly for every occasion. The sloppy saddle shoes and plaid shirts may be alright for lounging around in the dorm, but for almost any date, they're out. You may feel that dress is unimportant but to your date it may be a very significant thing, so dress accordingly.

Being frank and truthful is another very important thing which one must consider when having a dating experience. Trying to act out a role and being something you really are not is a sure bet you'll get along.

Air Force Vets Form National Association

The Air Force Association, a new national organization for Army Air Force veterans and present members of the AAF headed by former General Jimmy Doolittle, has begun to authorize the formation of chapter camps squadrons in colleges throughout the country. The University of Kentucky, Columbia University, University of Texas, New York University, and many others have units already in action.

Some of the aims of the Air Force Association, which was formed in January, 1946, are to preserve and foster the spirit of fellowship among former, present, and future members of the United States Army Air Force; to educate its members and the public at large in the proper development of air power and to keep them abreast of new accomplishments in the field of aviation; and to help develop friendly relations among nations based on respect for the principle of equal rights to all people.

Membership in the Association is open to all men and women who served in any branch of the Army Air Forces and additional information may be obtained by writing to the Air Force Association, 1603 K Street, Washington, D.C.

Till Next Year

So frosh orientation is over. Maybe you thought it was too short, or perhaps you frosh thought the torture lasted too long a time. Maybe you upperclassmen thought the frosh had it much too easy, what with only two lineups and with the limitations placed on customs. Or maybe you liked this year's customs and would like to see them carried on that way.

At any rate, whatever you thought of orientation, and whatever improvements you would like to see next year, report them to this year's orientation committee, headed by Denny Ertel, or to Student Council prexy Kenneth Good, so that they may pass on the suggestions to next year's customs committee.

Perhaps, with your suggestions and with everyone's co-operation, someday we'll have the perfect freshman orientation program.

Let's Get Something Done

The issue concerning having a "Cue" this year is still on the fire and the way things look, if the senior class doesn't stop quibbling about unimportant details, there will not be time left to produce the book. Maybe the seniors don't realize it, but take it from your editorial staff, who have met many of the publishing problems of today, putting out the "Cue" this year will be a terrific undertaking and may be well nigh impossible. In fact, even though we don't like to sound too pessimistic, it may very well be, that if work were started on the "Cue" tomorrow, we would still not have the book in our hands by next September.

In any event, speaking as seniors, we hope this editorial will serve as a prod to our classmates to organize 100% and get something constructive done in a hurry about publishing a '47 "Cue."

One Lump or Two?

The Friday afternoon teas sponsored by the dormitory and day women are attaining a greater significance in the all-round educational experience of our life here at Albright.

Mrs. Vesper, in recognizing the spirit in which these teas are given, is planning to attend next Friday's session with her public speaking class in tow. This is certainly a step in the right direction.

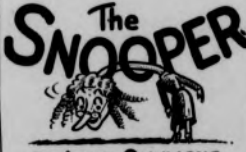

The purpose of these teas is not, as supposed, to learn the gentle art of balancing a tea cup on one knee, nor to provide a free lunch for hungry students, although these are reasons to be considered. Seriously, the underlying purpose of these teas is to provide a general rendezvous for students and faculty on an informal, non-academic basis so as to promote knowledge and understanding of one another as individuals. Come prepared to exhibit your conversational powers.

An invitation is extended to all faculty members and students to come join the fun, not to sit in a corner hiding behind a tea cup nor to dash in for a swig and a bite and then dash out again, but to participate wholeheartedly in the informal spirit of the group.

Come on then, gang, get to know your profs as just people. Apart from what has been said — they are human.

Until tea time then — yours for larger attendance and more small talk.

The dorm girls have a collection committee to raise money to make sure Joe Laucks gets a haircut before Christmas. However, (and this isn't funny), if the prices keep rising, Sally Walb will be plaiting it for summer coolness.

At Friday's game Arlene Schell went popeyed as number 63 ran onto the field, but a bug flew in her eye, and she missed the play. She's expecting Ren to give her an exhibition in the Dean's Parlour. Esther Savidge will call the plays or else—Ren.

Doris Chanin has been reading Freud ever since she dreamed that Johnny Soja came through every door she opened. Some of the dorm girls think that it's all in what you eat.

Minnie Silberman has been knitting socks for her Jackie. Girls will do anything to be sure the fellas won't get cold feet.

Grace Miller has been heard running around her room ever since she found out that there is going to be a Sadies Hawkins' Day race.

Jean Fehr is planning on retaining her maiden name after marriage just to name her first son, Teddy Fehr instead of Teddy Bear.

The Mu rush party confused Marie Courtenay and Joyce Thompson to the extent that they traveled the wrong way on all the one way streets in town.

Talking about confusion — have you heard the football players lately? They have started a new language that confuses even the coach. Just ask surget.

Joyce Ruth and Ariane Smiley went to the Penn-Navy game with two Penn men and Mary Stokes went with the Navy. In fact, most of the girls were out of town doing big things the day of the Ivy Ball. Seems like Anne is the only one who can say blankly, "I didn't go because I wasn't ast."

A Fraternity Man Speaks

For the first time in four years, fraternities are again taking their prominent place on the campus. Prospective pledges are now being rushed and the process of finding out what this business of "brotherhood" is all about. With these future brothers in mind, an old fraternity member has written a letter to the editor, through which he hopes to let them know something more about the why's and why not's of fraternities.

By Fred Perfect

Many people, in many different times and places have asked, "What's in a fraternity?" This question will continue to be asked here at Albright, now and in the future, by those persons who are not, for various and sometimes obvious reasons, in mental equilibrium with this social form.

Hear Ye, Brothers

Brotherless and brotherful sons have throughout history banded themselves together for what? For companionship? Yes, and for all the social privileges, such as, sports and conversation as brought under this term. Why not in larger and less exclusive groups, you may ask. Why — because human character and personality are not flexible enough to adjust themselves to all of the colossal number of the other types of the same element and still continue to feel comfortably secure. Security is therefore the element to be sought and maintained through small numbers reinforced with a "black-ball" vote, which insures the ego still further that nothing undesirable will encroach upon its harmony with its group.

You say this is undemocratic and I say you are quite right. It is so-

Among the outstanding personalities seen daily on our campus, Dandy Lion finds himself particularly attracted to Herb Vogt, tall, handsome senior. His hair graying slightly at the temples, giving him an air of natural dignity, presents a fine picture of manhood, a picture that many a glamorous female no doubt carries in her heart.

Besides this lighter side of the picture, Herb is very much the he-man. An active footballer of long standing, Herb finds himself an important figure in Albright's world of sport. As a veteran of World War II, our pal returned to the campus this year to take up his studies and his old lively participation in College activities. Herb is a member of the Zeta Omega Epsilon Fraternity, filling the post of vice president. Formerly a member of the Y.M.C.A. Cabinet, The Albrightian staff, and the College Band, he now also halls as vice president of his class.

Representing his fraternity, Herb is on Student Council, and, with his colleagues, is responsible for attractive dances like the Ivy Ball. The Domino Club also is a great interest of Herb's.

As the fall runs into winter, and winter changes to spring, our college year comes to an end. It is then that Herb leaves us, but he won't really leave us completely. Behind him their will always be memories of him as a fine Albrightian.

BEAT WEST CHESTER

I think that I shall never see
A "D" as lovely as a "B"—
A "B" whose rounded form is pressed
Upon the records of the blessed
A "D" comes easily—and yet
It isn't easy to forget:
"D's" are made by fools like me
And how this fool could use a "B."

The Contrast

Thus, the contrast is ismple. A fraternity, in the college sense, is a small, exclusive and organized group, whereas neighborhood cliques are small, exclusive and unorganized groups. The fraternity does do something a neighborhood does not. Fraternities aid, physically and mentally, in the needs of its members as implied through the use of the word security.

Not only do fraternity members excel in individual positions, but as organized groups they entertain and round out college life through intramural sports, stunt night, and pledge activities.

So, let us think reasonably about fraternities, for in idle speech reason is half-murdered.

Football Spirit Prevails At Mu Rush Party; Members Give Skit

Approximately sixty freshmen women and transfers were entertained by the Phi Beta Mu Sorority at an informal football party in the Lower Social Room on Monday, October 21.

The room was appropriately decorated with football helmets, crepe paper streamers, and megaphones. The games were also planned for the occasion, all of them being centered around the football theme. In one particular game, a gridiron was made on the floor with strips of adhesive tape and a hollow egg was used for a football. Two teams laid down on the floor and blew the "football" across the "field".

The entertainment consisted of the presentation of "Sissy Football", a traditional skit of the Phi Beta Mu's, by the sorority women.

The committees consisted of the following: Elaine Schwartz, entertainment; Grace Miller and Mary Fry, recreation; Virginia Woerle and Alice Albright, invitations; and Vivian Miller, Betty Cusano, and Helen Carol Wright, refreshments.

Professors Ernestine Elder and Annadora Vesper were the chaperones for this rush party.

New Forensic Coach Issues Debate Plans

Only six men answered Professor Willard Haas's call for debating try-outs which was held last Monday, reported the new forensic coach.

The national question to be discussed throughout the semester is "That labor should be given a direct share in the management of industry." The alternate question is: "That the United Nations Organization should be resolved forthwith into a federal world government."

At the present time two debates are pending, one with Lehigh University and one with Allegheny College.

Professor Haas stated that he was very disappointed in the small number of candidates and that he sincerely hopes that more men and women interested in debating will contact him immediately. He also states that a regular meeting time will be announced shortly.

The six candidates who have already begun compiling their material are Ralph Stoudt, Umberto Tucci, Arthur High, Frederick Mech, David Bailey, and Walter Keller.

Inquiring Reporter

The ban on material used in women's clothes has finally been dropped, after having been in effect since 1942. Fashion experts tell us that the new fashions are going to be made of yards and yards of cloth. All the new styles are supposed to have large trains, frills, and folds. Probably no matter which one a woman chooses to wear, she will look like a deflated blimp.

Your inquiring reporter was curious to know what some of the Al-brightians thought about coming dress styles, and here are some of the answers he received to the question, "Now that the ban has been lifted on the amount of material that can be used in women's clothes, do you think dresses will be longer, shorter, or stay the same length?"

Heber Yeagley, '48: The women will keep their dresses the same length to intrigue the men. (Heber just sits there in his Buick when he wants to be intriguing.)

Helen Ross, '49: Dresses will get longer but they ought to stay short (Why?)

Edwin Biehle, '47: The dresses will stay the same length. They'll just use the material to make bigger hats.

Agnes Snyder, '47: It looks to me as if dresses are getting longer all the time. (What kind of glasses do you have, Aggie?)

Robert Moser, '50: I think that dresses will stay the same length. If they were to be lengthened they would cost more. (Nice practical way to look at it.)

Betty Burnett, '47: They should be longer because the average woman looks better in a long dress. (There's nothing the matter with your legs, Betty.)

Allen Fisher, '49: From sheer delight of being able to do something they could not do the last few years, the women will want to wear longer dresses.

Robert Batdorf, '49: They will stay the same length because women like to display their assets. (Don't men?)

Wesley Brown, '50: If they were to get any shorter, it would be a catastrophe, and if they were to get any longer it would take us back to the Dark Ages. Therefore, I think they will remain the same length. (Obviously, the boy has taken a course in logic.)

Ken Kohl, '50: I don't know. I don't wear a dress.

ly aren't usually ends up in a disastrous way. This is especially true when it comes to matters concerning one's pocketbook. Many embarrassing situations can be avoided if fellows and girls face the issue squarely and find out exactly what the financial situation is and then act accordingly.

Above all, in dating it's the little things which you either do or don't do that count. The little smiles and apparent unimportant courtesies actually mean a lot when it comes to the question of another date. Council Says:

The main items on the agenda of Student Council last Thursday was a report submitted by Catherine Frantz on the proposed point system for extra-curricular activities. Under the proposed setup, 40 points is the maximum any person can acquire. Points will be distributed on three levels:

(a) A president of any major campus group — sororities, fraternities, Student Council, and editor-in-chief of The Albrightian, "Compass," or "Cue," all allowed 15 points.

(b) Secondary offices of above groups, departmental editors of The Albrightian, major roles in Domino productions, and Y.M. and Y.W. Cabinet members, allotted 10 points.

(c) Membership in any organized club, sorority, fraternity, veterans' clubs, reporter on The Albrightian, all sports, band, glee clubs, stage hands, and minor roles in Domino productions, 5 points. Miss Frantz and her committee were urged to study the point system in greater detail.

George Morfogen voiced the opinion of the senior class on the question of a yearly "Cue." The seniors will not take the complete financial responsibility for a yearly "Cue" and if there is going to be a year book this year, a senior staff must be appointed. Student Council decided to make arrangements for a popular vote on whether a set sum should be added to everyone's tuition to cover the cost of a yearly "Cue" and to cover increased costs for publishing The Albrightian.

Kenneth Good, president, reported that the final plans for the Sadie Hawkins' Day have been completed by the committee members Newell Wert, Agnes Snyder, William Marlow, Good, Herbert Vogt, Betty Burnett, Doris Chanin, and Doris Hicks.

Dates for Student Council sponsored dances were submitted for approval by Miss Burnett and Vogt. The following dates were approved: November 8, juniors; December 13, frosh; January 10, seniors; January 24, Domino Club; February 14 (Valentine Dance), daymen; February 21, Women's Senate; April 17, combined frats; April 25, combined sororities; May 16, Student Council.

Council decided to pay for the orchestrations of the jazz band being formulated by Abe Markowitz.

Gerald Laucks recommended to each member of Council that they remind their organizations to show greater respect for the flag and the National Anthem at the football games.

On account of the confused set-up in regard to seating at football games, Council decided to ask Eugene H. Shirk, faculty manager of athletics, to explain the ticket arrangement to Council.

Powerful Rams Invade Lions Den

Moravian Surprises Lions 27-20; Ridolfi Waltzes for 72 Yard T.D.

Moravian's scrappy Greyhounds entered Albright Stadium as underdogs Friday night but before the evening was over they blasted their way to a 27-20 victory at the expense of our Lions.

The game was a wild and woolly affair featuring fumbles, blocked kicks, and long runs, all of which kept the 4000 Lion rooters chewing on their sorecarbs.

Lions Roar Ahead

The game was only 2 1/2 minutes old before the Lions had racked up their first tally. Albright booted to Moravian to open the fracas and promptly forced the Greyhounds to punt. The exchange of boots coupled with a 15-yard penalty left the Lions in possession on their own 28-yard line. It was here that Ridolfi slipped through the Moravian tackle and charged down the sidelines for a 72-yard touchdown run. Maracani booted and the Lions were ahead 7-0.

Albright's second score came 4 1/2 minutes later when a blocked Lion punt was recovered by Herb Vogt. Ridolfi was quick to seize the advantage and a beautiful screen pass Ridolfi to Pedota netted our Roaring Lions their second tally. Maracani's conversion was blocked and the score soared to 13-0.

Following an exchange of kicks Moravian began hacking away at our line. A pass from De Angelis to Deetz was good for 18 yards and on the next play Snyder bulled it through for Moravian's initial touchdown. Neff's hoof was good, making it 13-7.

Moravian Blasts Back

With the second quarter barely underway Moravian began knocking at the gates again. The stiff wind played tricks on one of Baumgaertel's punts and the Greyhounds took over on the Lion's 42. From here it was Snyder again, this time on a tricky reverse. The fleet Greyhound scampered 42 yards to paydirt, putting the Moravian club back in the ball game. Neff's kick was good, sending Moravian out front 14-13.

The Albright Lions, rallying swiftly, drove their way to another T.D. Urosevich recovered a fumble and an aerial, Pushman to Harny, sank the ball on Moravian's 2-yard line. Shaffer bulled it over from here to put Albright ahead at the half, 20-14.

Moravian Ices Verdict

After Albright booted to open the second stanza, Moravian's Snyder zipped through for two consecutive first downs. Another Greyhound first down landed them on the Lions 9-yard strip. Here Albright made a last stand while the Moravian backs blasted against a stone wall. Albright took over and when Ridolfi's attempted kick was blocked in the end zone, Nowick flopped on the ball for Moravian. Once again Neff split the uprights and Moravian took over, 21-20.

A kicking duel followed this score and for awhile neither side could get anywhere. Midway through the last quarter Albright pounced on a Greyhound fumble and Baumgaertel plowed through for a first down on the Moravian 39. For a while it seemed that the Lions might yet rally, but the Moravian line stiffened and Baumgaertel was forced to boot. It was here that Moravian put the crusher on the Lion hopes. Snyder broke loose of tackle and raced through the Lion ranks for a beautiful 86-yard touchdown run. For once Neff missed the conversion, but it made no difference to the shattered Lion cause.

In case any Albrightians have wandered late some afternoon over to the north campus and have seen some of their "gentlemen" classmates bashing each others brains out, it was merely a "friendly" frat football game. Little has been heard about the Inter-Fraternity Football League, but there have been some good contests waged, and more students should be out to root for their respective teams. All during the war inter-frat sports were backed by Mr. Harris, but due to the man-power shortage

Profs Battle in Bowling; Khouri, Gates are Goats

When Albright added new members to the faculty, she unwittingly gained two great athletes, athletes of the scientific methods, the Professors Khouri and Gates. Professor Khouri, after figuring out the art of bowling, using science, books, and statistics so that the game was right down his alley, challenged the top members of the faculty bowling league, namely Reverend Barth, Herr Memming, and Doctor Jacob, to a brawn versus brain battle, the brain being Professors Khouri, Gates, and Widdowson.

To get into finest physical condition, Professor Khouri and Professor Gates took brisk walks around the block before the impending match. The results of science versus skill? Well—the Memming team is still undefeated. We'll let the statistics tell you the rest. As Reverend Barth would say, "The storal of the mory is: it is patten to prectice than to breach."

However, something can be said in defense of Prof Khouri. All his life he has bowled duck pins, and he is quite unaccustomed to using the larger bowling balls (they don't have 'em in Pittsburgh. If you think rolling small duck pins is a little boys' game, try it sometime—if you crack 26 you're doing good.)

And triple threat Herr Memming, although he was heard making slighting remarks about the scientific studies of Profs Khouri and Gates, has been seen late at night poring over his slide rule, figuring new ways to improve his "striking" form.

Strong West Chester Teachers Form Home Coming Day Opposition

Homecoming Day visitors will have a chance to see West Chester's powerful football squad battle Albright's Roaring Lions in the stadium next Saturday. This will be the ninth game of the series between the two schools, Albright winning three while West Chester took five. With the exception of the first game played in 1932, which Albright won 38 to 2, no game has been decided by more than one touchdown. West Chester annexed the last game played between the schools, in 1942, by taking a hard fought 6 to 0 victory.

Lafayette Harriers Down Red and White; Madara Noses Anlian

Lafayette College harriers defeated Albright's cross-country runners by the score of 35 1/2 to 19 1/2 at Easton last Thursday. Jim Madara, of Lafayette, former Class "B" PIAA mile champion, finished first to nose out Albright's Eddie Anlian of Union City, N. J., by three yards. Winning time was 14:54, while Anlian was clocked at 14:55.

Anlian, unfamiliar with the three-mile course, was trailing by approximately 60 yards at the three-quarter turn when he let loose with a sudden burst of speed to nearly outrun Madara.

The defeat was the first to be suffered by the Lions this season. In their initial contest they defeated Juniata College at Huntingdon, 32-23. On November 2, the Albright harriers, coached by Gene Shirk, will encounter the Chester County thunders here between halves of our football game with West Chester.

The Upperclass Daymen mauled the Zetas for their second win in the Frat Football League. After a scoreless first quarter, Paul Siegfried intercepted a Zeta pass and returned it all the way for the score. In the second half the Daymen added two more for good measure to win easily 21 to 0.

The undefeated Kappas trampled the hapless Day-Frosh for their second win. The Kappas scored early and in every quarter before the Frosh were able to hit paydirt. However, their rally was short lived, and the Kappas won 25-7.

The A.P.O.'s took over the top rung in the football league by edging out the Zetas in a hard fought battle, 13 to 6. The Kappas and Upperclass Daymen knocked each other out of first place by battling to a 13-13 tie. The Daymen had gained their second win of the campaign by edging the Pi Tau's 13-12 when Barro plunged the extra point.

The Alpha Pi Omega's strengthened their lead on Thursday afternoon by bouncing the Pi Tau's 8 to 7 in an action packed contest.

The Teachers will bring as usual a heavy and powerful team to Reading, with many future Phys. Ed. instructors learning their profession the hard way. The man to watch will be triple-threat Fullback Barney Williams, the best open-field runner of the West Chester squad. Williams, a senior, played varsity football for West Chester before joining the Navy. In addition to other accomplishments, he is the most accurate Ram passer and one of their best punters.

The biggest man on the West Chester squad is Joe Jurich, a former Philadelphia Southern High star. Jurich, standing at six feet three inches and weighing 240 pounds, missed the first two games because of a shoulder separation. However, he has become a starting fixture at right tackle and will give our backfield plenty of trouble.

West Chester's basketball team is well represented on the football squad. High-scoring Dave Kirk, wounded war vet Hank Boney, Benny Coren, and Charley Roveto all saw service on the hardwoods and are now getting in shape on the grid-iron.

West Chester, playing a ten-game schedule, was knocked from the ranks of the undefeated two weeks ago when they were upset by Lock Haven 13 to 6. The Rams, favored to win, dominated the play throughout the game, but were unable to take advantage of its scoring opportunities. West Chester has posted victories over Moravian, 13-6; Drexel, 12-0; C.C.N.Y., 20-0; and P.M.C., 40-0.

Side Lions

With football season going full blast and plenty of home games coming up, we feel that Dr. Memming's proposal cheer should get some publicity. One must admit that this little cheer has a vivid ring, so our sharp-looking cheerleaders should have no trouble putting it over.

"WAS IST DAS, WAS ITS DAS? ALBRIGHT COLLEGE — DAS IST WAS!"

Ralph S. Johnson, who has been announcing Albright home games for years, gets quite a charge whenever "Czewski replaces Delewski" in our lineup. Johnson claims to be somewhat of a poet at heart, but I don't suppose our opponents can look at it in the same light. After all they have to face those guys!

It seems some of our lowly freshmen are going in for "swimming" at the late time of the season! We admire your spirit, lads, but couldn't you wait until Syivan Lake reaches the flood stage!
