

Chorus Presents "The Messiah"

Duddy Heads 120 Voices In Norristown Church

One hundred and twenty voices, under the direction of Dr. John H. Duddy, sang "The Messiah" by Handel Sunday, December 8 in Trinity Lutheran Church in Norristown. The soloists in this presentation, which was Dr. Duddy's fifty-first, were Mary Jackson, soprano, Ann Simon, contralto, Fritz Krueger, tenor, and Ira Bowles, baritone. The soloists are famous for their excellent interpretation, Mr. Bowles having traveled all over the country with the Westminster Choir.

Radio station WNAR, Norristown, made a recording of this rendition which was broadcast at 12:15 p. m., December 9. After the program, all members of the Albright chorus were served dinner by the Ladies' Guild of Trinity Lutheran Church, at which the table was decorated with candles and greens furnished by several of the many garden clubs of that city.

December 15 at 4:00 p. m. the chorus will sing "The Messiah" at Trinity Evangelical and Reformed Church in Pottstown. Soloists will be Carolyn Powers, soprano, and Fritz Krueger, tenor.

"The Messiah" will be sung in the College Dining Hall Thursday, December 19, at 8:00 p. m. All students are urged to attend this performance, which promises to be an excellent program. Soloists will be Carolyn Powers, Ethel Harris, and Jeanne Schlegel, sopranos; Joyce Moyer, contralto; Donald Liddicoat, tenor; and John Kieffel, bass.

The Men's Glee Club is planning several engagements which include an all-sacred concert at Park Evangelical United Brethren Church at 7:45 p. m., Sunday, December 15, directed by Allen Fisher. John Faustnauch will be the accompanist. January 26 the male vocalists will sing in Norristown and February 25 and 27, they will sing in Chapel.

February 20 there will be a mixed concert with orchestra and chorus in the College Dining Hall.

Philosophy Club Takes New Members at Meeting

Several new members were taken into the Philosophy Club at a meeting last night at the home of Dr. Morris S. Greth, former club advisor, at Allentown. The new sophomores are William Ebert, Raymond Fidler, Marion Fiedler, Robert Holtzapfel, Stewart McCleary, Lynne Parr, Violette Seibert, and Mary Jane Thompson.

Mervin Helfrich, president, presented a paper on the philosophy of Oswald Spengler. Professor Ellery B. Haskell is advisor to the group.

Housing, Subsistence Aired by Student Vets

By Bob Evers

Before getting down to the resolutions adopted by the student-veterans' conference, held at the University of Pennsylvania, last Saturday, I feel it is necessary, first, to explain what this is all about.

The conference was sponsored by the Student-Veterans' Coordinating Committee, which was organized last July by veterans' clubs from colleges and universities of Pa., N.J., N.Y., Md., and Del. The purpose of the conference was to discuss the needs and complaints of student-veterans, to adopt resolutions concerning the most urgent problems, and, in cooperation with other veteran groups in this area, to bring these matters to the attention of the next congress for action.

By and large, the matters discussed were subsistence, academic, and housing, as they confront the student-veteran. Each item was aired at separate panel discussions and the final resolutions were adopted by a plenary session. Only one vote was allowed each institution represented at this session. Your Albright delegation, therefore, had as much voice in the proceedings as did the large universities. Each school was allowed two delegates. Attendance at the afternoon session totaled 88 delegates and observers, representing 28 institutions and 71,000 students.

Briefly, here are some of the more important resolutions of interest to Albright vets:

Subsistence

To keep pace with the rising cost of living, subsistence must be increased to $100 per month for single men and $125 for married men, plus $10 for each child; the ceiling on employment earnings must be increased, plus subsistence to $250 for single men and $300 for married men; interruption and delay of checks must be abolished.

Academic

The purchase of supplemental supplies (such as fountain pens and gym suits), as well as books and stationery, should be permitted; colleges should not be allowed to discriminate as to race, creed, or color; protest against any increase of tuition should be made.

Housing

Rent control should not be lifted, including campus dorms; passage of the Wagner-Taft Bill providing emergency housing, should be urged; race, creed, and color discriminations against men and women seeking housing facilities should be protested.

Speakers

Dr. Arnold K. Henry, Dean of Student Affairs, U. of Pa. declared that obtaining housing for married veteran-students is U. of P.'s major problem. Brigadier General H. L. Inman, chief of Vocational Rehabilitation, reviewed the G. I. Bill of Rights and stated that the motto of the V. A. is "Service to the Vet".

In conclusion, I wish to say that, if the lively spirit of participation and debate shown at this conference is coordinated with similar efforts made by other veterans' groups, the future of student-vets looks very bright.

Questioned by police about his habit of walking backwards, a man replied: "I like to see the expressions on the faces of people who are following me."

Reider, Violinist, To Entertain In Chapel

Tomorrow at 8:10 in the regular junior-senior Chapel period, Student Council will present J. Walter Reider, violinist, in the second program of its 1946-47 "Little Cultural Series." Reider, who will be accompanied at the piano by Florence Hoyer of the Reading School of Music, attended the Philadelphia Musical Academy and is a graduate of the Pittsburgh Conservatory of Music. He is a former member of station KDKA's Little Symphony, and currently is a member of the Reading Symphony Reider, who has appeared throughout the eastern United States as a soloist with Herman Miller's Sylvania, will appear as a soloist with the Reading Philharmonic May 20, 1947.

Among his other achievements, Reider has gained recognition as a successful teacher. Several of his more prominent pupils are Carl Eberl, Quinten Biesenbach, and Martin Eshelman. At present he is head of the violin department of the Reading School of Music, located at 18 North Fifth Street.

Miss Hoyer, accompanist, formerly studied at the Philadelphia Conservatory and is now studying under Dr. Chester Wittell. Well established in teaching in this community, she is associated with the elementary piano department of the Reading School of Music. In addition, she is a pianist and an accompanist in the Sylvania School of Music.

Christmas Issue

Don't be surprised when THE ALBRIGHTIAN doesn't appear next Tuesday. It doesn't mean that we're starting our Christmas vacation early. Instead, THE ALBRIGHTIAN will be published next Friday, December 20, as a special Christmas present to you.

With this issue, Helen Capozello takes over the position of assistant news editor of the sheet. Miss Capozello and Mary Fry have been dividing the duties between them this semester.

Cultural Program Features Armitage

Dickens' People Come To Life at Albright

The third program of the College cultural series, which will be held Monday evening, December 16, in the College Dining Hall in connection with the students' Christmas dinner, will feature Frank Guy Armitage, the famous impersonator of the characters of Charles Dickens.

Dr. Armitage, "the superb English actor" who works such wizardry with Dickens, was born in England but belongs to America by education and adoption. He holds degrees from several American colleges and universities, and is also a member of the Royal Geographical Society.

From Dickens' mine of characters, Dr. Armitage has selected the most outstanding to live and move once more. Through him Micawber "struts in his cheerful optimistic way", always waiting for miracles; Uriah Heep describes his "umble" life; Sydney Carton makes his noble sacrifice and goes to the guillotine; and Scrooge learns the Christmas spirit.

In his characterizations Dr. Armitage employs wigs and costumes to heighten the effect, but his facial expressions are obtained by movement of the facial muscles alone.

The program will be presented in the Dining Hall at the time of the (Continued on Page 3)

All seats are reserved, so students expecting to attend can turn in their activity books for tickets today at a special booth set up in the Ad Building. Tickets for the public are still on sale, and may be purchased from Domino Club members.

Headed by Peggy Fisher as Aunt Abby, Norman Telsey as Jonathan, and Beverly Bresler as Aunt Martha, the cast includes:

Robert Dombro — The Rev. Dr. Harper

Stanley Taub—Teddy Brewster
John Spindler—Officer Brophy

Joseph Richter, Jr., president of Domino Club in 1938-39, and now manager of the Reading Community Players, discussed the aims and program of that group at Domino's meeting last Thursday. He invited interested members to attend a rehearsal of the Players.

It was decided at the meeting that any member missing two consecutive meetings without a reasonable excuse will be dropped. Jeanne Schlegel, president, outlined a program for the year, and workshop productions were planned.

Miss Seibert conducted a makeup demonstration, showing how to age a stage character with appropriate makeup.

Students to Participate In Traditional Matins

The annual Christmas Matins, sponsored by the worship committees of the Y's, will be held during the week of December 9 from 8:00 to 8:05 a. m. in Sylvania Chapel. Featured on these daily broadcasts will be the "Christmas Story", which will be read by a choir composed of Shirley Miller, Joy Davis, Shirley Douty, Newell Vert, Allen Fisher, and David DeWitt.

A chorus to sing familiar carols will also be used on these programs. Jeanne Schlegel and DeWitt will be the soloists with this group which will be augmented with violin selections presented by John Woyanowski. Included in the chorus will be Beverly Morgan, Miss Douty, Violette Seibert, and Ethel Harris, sopranos; Grace Miller, Shirley Miller, Ferne Allen, and Miss Davis, altos; Paul Kimmel, Fisher, Gerald Lauck, and Werm, tenors; Richard Cattermole, David Bailey, DeWitt, and William Marlow, basses. Robert Holtzapfel will accompany the chorus at the organ.

Christmas Matins will be broadcast over station WEEU, Reading.

A famous author was autographing copies of his new novel in a department store. One gentleman pleased him by bringing up not only his new book for signature, but reprint editions of his two previous ones as well.

"My wife likes your stuff," he remarked rather apologetically, "so I thought I'd give her these signed copies for a birthday present." "A surprise, eh?" said the author. "I'll say," agreed the customer. "She's expecting a Cadillac."

Vets' Wives Invited To Womens' Senate Holiday Xmas Party

The Women's Senate of Albright College will hold a Christmas party tomorrow evening at 7:30 p. m. in the Selwyn Hall Lounge in honor of college veterans' wives. "The main project of our organization for this semester is this Christmas party, which we hope will be a huge success. The purpose is to create more interest between veterans' wives and the campus life with its functions," stated Joy Cutler, president.

During the course of the evening, movies will be shown relative to Albright's campus and college life. Also, other entertainment and games will take place. Refreshments will conclude the program. The Women's Senate hopes to initiate interest groups, which would include book clubs, sewing clubs, and the like at the time.

Betty Berger is chairman of the Christmas party. Assisting her in the sub-committees are Helen Seiber, chairman of the invitations; Mildred Abrams, chairman of refreshments; and Marjorie Christ, chairman of the program for the evening.

German Club Plans Christmas Social

A covered-dish social will be the main feature at the annual Christmas party given by the German Club this Thursday in the Lower Social Room at 8:00 p. m. The program will consist of Christmas songs, poems recited by Dolores Reinhardt and Frances Koebel, and the Christmas story by Dorothy Seiser. Geraldine Wentzel, Henrietta Morrison, Werner Kaese, Erica Rothermel, and Robert Bachman will take part in a Christmas play, "Frohe Weihnachten".

Inquiring Reporter

They told me that I was going to see a miserable football game, that Blanchard and Davis would go through the Navy line like Grant went through Richmond, and that I'd wish I'd done that Christmas shopping in town instead of fighting my way out to Municipal Stadium. Well, I thought, something has sold 101,999 other seats and who am I not to "latch on" to a first viewing of the annual classic? So armed with a bag of peanuts and the current best-seller, I propped myself up against the hony knees belonging to the gentleman behind me and settled back to catch up on my reading for a few hours.

When Army made her first touchdown, I looked up, disinterestedly yawned, and returned to my book and expelling ear-shattering screams. In fact people were acting like mad things all around me. I knocked unconscious what was obstructing the view in front of me, and took a quick look at the gridiron. Was that the Blue and Gold streaking down the field? It was, and from that point on, I forgot the book and peanuts and yelled and cheered for all I was worth. What a game!

Well, my team lost, or was recorded to have done so in the books. There's been many a heated argument on the subject since that memorable Saturday afternoon. What do you think, Albright?

"What is your opinion of the outcome of the Army-Navy game?"

Perry Matz, '49—As far as I'm concerned, it was a moral victory for the Navy. I think the Army felt worse than the Navy about the outcome.

Mary Stokes, '48—You mean there was another team on the field besides Navy?

Kenny Faylor, '47—The better team won, that's all.

Daymen to Change Organizational Setup

A move to reorganize the Daymen's Club was made at a meeting of the commuters Tuesday, December 3, in the College Chapel. Dean LeVan P. Smith and Heber Yeagley, president of the group, explained the new plan of having a Daymen's Executive Council to lead the organization. The Council will probably be composed of two members from each class, the president, vice-president, and the secretary-treasurer.

To assist Dean Smith in this task is the following committee of daymen: Heber Yeagley, Allen Hyman, John Woyanowski, Umberto Tucci, Lawrence Beyer, Raymond Fidler, and Stanford Green.

Lockers for Daywomen To be $1.50 Per Year

A rental fee of $1.50 a semester will be charged each daywoman for the use of the lockers which at the present time are being assembled in the Daywomen's Room. By Thursday the lockers are expected to be ready for occupancy, and at that time they will be assigned to the daywomen. Since this semester is already partly over, the fee to be charged will be only $1.25.

In addition, a deposit of $1.50, which will be returnable to the payer when the lock is turned in at the end of the year, is required for each lock.

Heo Holiday Program Features Singing, Skit

A holiday program, including Christmas carols, duet singing, and poems by various members comprised the combination Christmas and New Year party held last night by the Heo Club in Sherman Cottage. Beverly Morgan also sang a solo, "O Holy Night."

With the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," a New Year skit was introduced. Virginia Woerle portrayed the Old Year while Vivian Miller enacted the New Year.

BY ANNE ONYMOUS

Prof Harding wants to assure Albright that the Harding letters Santa Claus has been reading over the radio are really sent by his small daughter.

Larry Delewski is determined to get a beautiful woman, and since he heard that beautiful women can't cook, he is taking lessons—cooking.

In keeping with "Pearl Harbor Day," Prof Danford is presenting sneak attack quizzes and Albright's students are falling in the battle.

George Urosevich and Dorace Hornberger both spent Thanksgiving in the hospital. Doris had her sailor friend to keep her company and George, whose main interest is the Daywomen's Club, was alone. It seems that the Daywomen want their men only when physically fit.

Helen Capozello has caught the first hart of deer season—Jeff. You can find his first name all over her books, it's his last name that's news. If you find out—you let me know.

Yes, Annie is really slipping. Last week she accused the Plowfields of being the noisest three at the football games. Instead it's Guy's sister who makes the noise now.

Bennie Markowitz wrote to Santa asking him to bring Doris Chanin. He wants the old boy to stop at the Markowitz home first so Chanin can help him open his other presents. She's expecting more.

Betty Jane Hill and Fay Sheetz have been fighting over Elwood Snook. Fay claims a priority since they were practically reared in the same West Lawn crib. But Betty Jane believes that might makes right.

Last, but not least, The Albrightian wishes to announce the addition of an honorary member to its staff. Mr. Richard Cattermole opens the bookstore every Thursday evening to furnish our helpers with refreshments. Thanks for everything, Dick. We surely appreciate the eats.

Students Make Survey Of Opinions in Berks

A survey to find out what Berks County residents think about Reading and its industries is being made by the business administration students under the guidance of Professor Donald S. Gates.

Each student interviewer is responsible for contacting several residents in various social and industrial categories, and having them fill out a brief questionnaire. This assignment will be completed it is hoped, by the middle of December, at which time a dinner meeting will mark the completion of the survey.

Pi Tau's to Hold Dance Friday, Initiate Pledges

Pi Tau Beta Fraternity plans for its fall season affair a semi-formal dance at the Berkshire Hotel this Friday evening. Harold Harrington and his orchestra will furnish the music in the Walnut Room. Dr. and Mrs. Memming will chaperone the affair. Heber Yeagley, Donald Snyder, John Kissinger, and Charles Stump are in charge of the arrangements.

President Gilbert Peeg announced that David Voigt, Richard Heberling, and Robert Thomas are to be the frat's pledges.

A Vet's Voice

By Mort

(Or the story of who ruptured the ducks.)

This is the only veterans' column (I could stop here) containing at least ten derogatory remarks, six out right insults and two tossups. Well, at any rate, we veterans are all glad to be back at Albright—it says here. It's a funny thing, though, I remember as the chaplain shook my hand and presented me with my blue discharge button, he said, "Well at last you're out for good." He should see me now.

Speaking of returnees, there was a fellow who came to school at the beginning of the year who used to run after girls on campus waving a pack of cigarettes and yelling, "Hello baby," but he finally got tired of it, and besides I found out that the natives here don't like Chelseas anyway.

This week as a special feature we are going to present the story of Joe Frump, our veteran Danky Lion of the week. Next week's feature will be the Infuriating Reporter, who will ask the question, "What do you think Albright will look like after the next war?"

Tall, dapper Danky Lion, Joe Frump was a high "academic probation" sophomore at the outbreak of the war. Being unable to switch his course to pre-med in time, dapper Joe, heroically enlisted in the army and was raised to the grade of private with astounding rapidity. After serving four years in that grade, and having merited the usual achievements in the army, such as making first place in the P.X. ice cream line twice, visiting the chaplain thirteen times to have his card punched, and beating three A.W.O.L. charges, Joe Frump was finally honorably discharged. Upon returning to Albright, Joe has continued his breath-taking achievements by winning three straight hands of pinochle, tilting the pin ball machine eight times, and sitting in the wrong seat in Chapel twice. For these achievements alone, dapper Joe Frump deserves to be the Danky Lion of the week, but in addition Frump was recently blackballed by four fraternities.

Don't forget the Infuriating Reporter next week and by the way any similarity in this column to persons living or dead is just "T.S."

Nolan, Epstein Speak At I.R.C. Gathering

An open meeting of the International Relations Club was held Thursday, November 5, in the Lower Social Room of Selwyn Hall with J. Bennett Nolan, local historian and world traveler, presenting his impressions of the Nuernberg trials. As an added treat, Dr. Nolan brought with him Dr. Epstein, Director of the British Association for International Understanding. The noted Dr. Epstein, who was a former secretary of Lord Robert Cecil, British representative in the League of Nations, revealed his plans for the restoration of the Benjamin Franklin Home in London as an international goodwill gesture.

In the business portion of the meeting Geraldine Wentzel and Dennis Ertel gave a brief report on the material covered at the Vassar International Conference. Dr. Milton Hamilton, advisor of the club, called the club's attention to literature which was recently received.

Berks Alumni Club Plans Annual Dinner

At 6:30 p. m. Friday, December 20 the Berks County Alumni Club of Albright College will hold its annual Christmas dinner in the College Dining Hall, when the speaker will be Dr. George W. Taylor, who was once a professor at Albright and who served as chairman of the War Labor Relations Board. His subject will be "A College Professor in Washington".

Home Ec Omelet

In order to double the amount of dues, Heo Club members are working on special projects that make lovely Christmas gifts. Mim Parker and Adele Boothroyd are stitching quilted pot holders. Mary Ellen Hill, who has great plans, is keeping her pot holders for her hope chest. From scraps of material, Betty Shroyer makes bedroom slippers (scuffs); Ethel Hill, tile plaques; and Joy Cutler, mammy dolls and clowns. Marion Swartz aims to brighten nurseries with felt pictures of Jack and Jill, Little Jack Horner, Old Mother Goose, and other story-book characters.

Others are making pin-cushions and Pennsylvania Dutch piggy banks. The members have given a bank to Sandra, the dimpled darling of Sherman Cottage, and are hoping she'll save her pennies.

By graduation, Mary Jane March should be quite an experienced teacher. Already she has substituted in Shillington High School.

Professor Innis recently attended a Home Economics Teachers' Training Conference in Harrisburg.

Frosh Guidance

Married G.I.'s

By Richard Gable

Numerous and ever present seem to be the problems of the married, veteran at school. The most outstanding problem might be that school life is not the married vet's primary interest. Curricular and extra-curricular activities are merely secondary to his home, wife, and children. To some extent this glaring problem could perhaps be solved if at least some of the extra-curricular activities of college would include activity for the veteran's wife, as well as for himself, or if the wives could form some organization of their own, thus making the bond between the college and the vets and their wives a much closer one.

Home Responsibility

Another problem of the married veteran is that there are times when it is necessary for him to neglect out-of-class school work, because the responsibilities and duties of his home are more demanding. The choice between school requirements and marital responsibility can be a very difficult one to make. Perhaps more understanding and consideration on the part of the various professors could ease this problem. Also, the veteran himself might help to solve his own problem by setting up a daily schedule of school and home activities and sticking to it as closely as possible.

At the present time the average married veteran has staring him in the face a huge financial problem. The old adage that two can live as cheaply as one just doesn't seem to hold weight. Ninety dollars a month for two or more people is definitely not enough income to live on with the high cost of living today, and prices constantly soaring. The vets are meeting this problem by seeking part-time work after school hours. Here again the college can do its part in aiding the married vet, if it will give part time work around the college itself to veteran applicants, preferably before non-veterans. Veterans can cut grass, keep the campus in order, and clean halls and classrooms as well as can anyone else, and the college will be do-

Caroling, Dawn Service, Children's Party are Y Plans for Yuletide

Albright College through the Y's will play host to forty underprivileged children of the city Sunday, December 15 at a Christmas program. The children will be brought to the college by a member of either the YM or the YW for an afternoon of worship, recreation, and fun.

Santa on Hand

The afternoon will begin with a dinner in the Dining Hall which will be followed by the Christmas party. Santa Claus will also be on hand with a personal Christmas gift for each child. The Women's Glee Club will conclude the program with a musical service in the College Chapel at 8:30 p. m. The entire party will be led by Doris Hicks and William Marlow.

A Communion Dawn Service will be held on Friday morning, December 20 at 6:30 a. m. in the College Chapel. The Rev. Eugene H. Barth, Director of Religious Activities and Assistant Professor of Religion, will present a Christmas message.

Caroling

The traditional program of Christmas Caroling will be held the evening of December 17 at 9 o'clock from the College Chapel. The group will be under the direction of Miss Hicks and Marlow. Following the caroling to the professors' homes in this vicinity, the group will return to the Lower Social Room for refreshments.

Y's to Visit County Home for Aged, Hear Missionary Speak

Tonight members of the YM and YW, under the leadership of Doris Downes and Jack Shafer, will travel to the County Home for the Aged at Shillington to present a Christmas variety program. The group will leave the college at 7 p. m. The Christmas program will consist of a worship service, carols, and selected readings. Candy favors and a Christmas programme will be given to each person, and picture magazines will also be distributed.

Interned Missionary

The Rev. Woodrow Bartges, returned missionary of the Evangelical Church, spoke at the combined YM and YW worship service last Tuesday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the Lower Social Room. Rev. Bartges emphasized two main points which grew out of his internment by the Japanese. He testified concerning the power of God through Jesus Christ in the time of great need. Also, he emphasized that Christianity is the only hope of the world.

In Philippines

Rev. Bartges and his wife were on their way to the missionfield when hostilities broke out in the Pacific. They landed on the Philippines and when that country was overrun by the enemy, they were placed in concentration camps where they remained for three years until their rescue by the American army.

Members of the debate squad, under the leadership of Professor Haas, are already proposing their arguments, pro and con, on the labor problem. With the sweat (?) John L. (Lewis, of course) bringing industry to a standstill, the debaters should find the topic an easy one. If you are interested in debating, see Prof. Haas.

Natty Burnett announced that the Alpha Tau Sorority will hold an old fashioned Christmas Party Monday evening. There will be a taffy pull and gifts appropriate to each member's personality will be exchanged.

The trip to Hershey has been postponed until spring announced Jean Long at the last meeting of the Sophomore Class.

It was a disappointment to the Junior Class to know that because a full calendar of College activities, the class is unable to hold any social functions. However, the Juniors are discussing plans for the Junior-Senior Prom to be held in the spring during Commencement week.

Sigma Tau Delta, National English Fraternity, received 11 pledges into active membership Wednesday Evening in the Lower Social Room. Each pledge submitted a short story or poem to be read. Librarian Josephine E. Raeppl, librarian, discussed "English Studies and the Library".
 Miss Raeppl recently attended a conference of Eastern college librarians at Columbia University.

Pi Gamma Mu will meet in Dr. Gell's apartment tomorrow night at 7:30 p. m., when Eileen O'Neil will read a paper to the group. Discussion of the topic will follow.

Council Says:

Gilbert Feeg will represent Student Council and Albright College at a University of Chicago conference of the United Students' Movement, December 28-30. Feeg was selected at a special Council meeting from three candidates, including Jeanne Flickinger and William Marlow. Council will, through the delegate, learn what other colleges are doing in the way of student government.

Eugene H. Shirk, faculty manager of athletics, petitioned Student Council for suggestions on seating arrangements at varsity basketball games. Gerald Laucks will bring to Shirk Council's motion that an entire side of the Northwest Junior High gym be roped off for the students and their guests, and, if that section is not filled by the first quarter of the varsity game, the remaining space be open to the public.

The issue of an all-college dance in the spring was again brought up at last Thursday's meeting. The social committee, under Herb Vogt and Betty Burnett, were asked to draw up a tentative plan for the affair so that organizations on campus may know what such plan implies.

Ira Custman moved that Council ask the Administration to make temporary repairs on the driveway in the back of the Daymen's quarters which is deeply rutted and broken.

Kenneth Good, president, asked Professor Anna H. Smith to report on the qualifications necessary for a Council member to be awarded the Student Council key. They are a minimum of one year's membership, attendance of at least 75% of the meetings during one's whole term as a representative, and constructive contributions to Student Council.

Student Council approved for the second time a revision to the constitution concerning the election of "Cue" editors and business managers. The revision will next go to a faculty committee for approval and, finally, to the general student body.

Marion Fiedler, chairman of the chapel committee, outlined several programs in the future in Council's "Little Cultural Series". They include the College dance band, January 13, 14, and 15; Men's Glee Club, February 25 and 27; and two other programs, March 19 and April 15.

Absent from the meeting last Thursday were Bea Ribner, dorm women; Umberto Tucci and John Woyanowski, daymen; William Marlow and Gerald Hertzog, dorm men; William Heckler, A.P.O.; Dean LeVan P. Smith, Professor John Khouri, and Professor Eugene H. Barth, faculty.

Lion Shooters Face Elizabethtown; Kriebel, Guensch Show Promise

Albright's Roaring Lions yank the lid off a brand new campaign this Saturday night as the Elizabethtown "Lizsies" hit Northwest. Although the "Lizsies" have never beaten a Lion basketball team, they're always a tough nut to crack. Last year at Elizabethtown the "Bessies" had a 33-20 edge at the half before our Lions finally edged them out 65-55 in the closing minutes of the contest.

This year the E-town outfit has high scoring Frankie Keath back in the fold. The "Betsy" hot shot dunked in 371 points in 20 games last season. Also on deck will be Roy Shiffer—a shifty guard and Reed and Hivner also of the back court position. The lone mainstay at the forward position is Bobbie Boll who gave our Lions plenty of trouble in last season's fracs.

As for our Lions we'll no doubt get a good look at everyone. Coach Harris, true to form, is the "mystery man" and is reluctant to divulge any definite starting lineup for our home club. So upon racking our noble brains and doing a little "speculating" we can come out with the following information.

Veteran Courtiers Return

Coach Harris is embarking on his ninth season this year. Returning to the hardwoods are such former stars as Russ Guensch, Mark Guss, Hops Guldin, Joe Kubisen, Gene Shollenberger, Mort Witman and Ed Emmet Glass. Coach Harris has some fancy new recruits. Especially promising are shifty Johnny Yocum, and speedy Eddie Anlian—the latter you will doubtless recall was the big gun of Albright's cross country team. Added to these two is skyhook Ozzie Kriebel, who tips the height scale at a mere 6 foot 7 inches, and who bids fair to make the immortal "Tiny" Landis look to his laurels.

The newly formed J.V. team will see action in the preliminary game commencing at 7:15. In this encounter, keep your eyes on Elmer Davis, Jimmy Brush, Bob Buxton and Jimmie Delp.

The probable starting lineups for both varsities may be as follows:

Albright	Pos.	E-town
Kriebel	F	Troup
Yocum	F	Keath
Guldin	C	Zine
Guensch	G	Schiffer
Anlian	G	Reed

"Go to bed early the night before and enjoy the game".

Farm Team Has Stars of '44-45 Basketball Season

Watch the Modern Dairy basketball team! This City League Class A team has six members of the conquering 1944-45 Albright varsity aggregation, winners of nineteen out of twenty encounters, in Stew Beyerle, Ray Chelius, Jim Braun, Jesse Ervin, all of Reading; Cookie Wagner of Shillington; and Forrest Saylor, Kutztown. Ervin is on his way home from Korea at the present time.

Managed by Mr. William Beyerle, Albright's athletic trainer, the farm team also includes Fred Bull, Kenneth Hoverter, Pat Bieber, Reading High grads; and Dick Thompson. At least eight of the team, having acquired experience playing together in the City League, will be attending Albright by February, 1947.

Beyerle, Chelius, Ervin, Saylor, guards; Wagner, a forward, and Braun, center, were drafted in the midst of their freshman year, and are returning under the G.I. Bill of Rights. During their junior and senior years, they will attend Albright with athletic scholarships. The six veterans have chosen to play together on the Modern Dairy team in their first year before going out for the varsity squad the last three years.

So far to date the men have won all six of their games played so far. They mauled Mohnton Alumni 72-33, Wyoming Alumni 61-29, Stony Creek A. A. 85-24, and Haug Post 90-25. The "Contented Cows" have also won both of their league games, beating G.A.R. 63-41 and Maurer's Express 84-16.

Memming Hits New High; New Players Join Group; Prof. Gates Breaks 100

Herr Doktor Memming is making a habit of stealing the spotlight in the Tuesday afternoon faculty bowling league. Starting out with a blazing 223, the Doc leveled off to a still fiery 184. By playing a consistently good game, Mr. Shirk ended close on Doc Memming's heels with a 174. We have been watching a dark horse on his way up. Prof. Widdowson continued his climb into third position, rolling a 163 average.

The league welcomed two new players, Profs Levan Smith and Hamilton. Their debut wasn't shocking, however, as they rolled 146 and 138 respectively. Dean Walton edged out Dean Smith by two points.

Prof Gates, although remaining in the cellar, pushed his score above 100. Maybe sometime he'll start up the ladder like his fellow B.A. professor, Prof. Khouri seems as changeable as the weather. Going down, then up, then down again, he finished last week with a 141.

Housing Problems

One of the most difficult problems of the married vet is finding a suitable home. Most veterans and their wives are living with one of their families, which may be satisfactory, but can never be ideal. All normal married couples want a home of their own, which is as it is meant to be, and a happy home life is the prerequisite of a successful school life.

Houses and apartments to be rented at a monthly rent which a veteran student can afford are just not to be had at this time. A solution to this problem might be found if the college would again cooperate with the married veteran by setting up a bureau of some sort which is ever alert for news of homes for college veterans and their families. Or the college could set up its own temporary housing facilities: small 3-room cottages, or something similar to army barracks, but more private and cozy. Perhaps a fraternity house could be turned into a home for several veterans and their families.

Cooperation Is Needed

Solutions to the married vet's many problems can be and will be found. The key to all these problems is cooperation from all concerned.

George Urosevich

Urosevich To Pilot '47 Gridders

One of the few bright spots in Albright's disastrous football campaign has been the pile-driving work of George Urosevich at tackle. The funny thing about football is that linemen seldom get in for much of the limelight unless they're really on the old ball. And that best describes how Big George managed to crowd all others out — even the backfield boys!

From that sunny, warm day in September when Albright opened up against Muhlenberg, to the brisk, shivering Saturday when the Cadets of P.M.C. shellacked Albright for our seventh loss, George couldn't have missed more than 15 minutes of playing time. Every time the announcer called out the starting lineup at the beginning of the game it was always "number 85—Urosevich at right tackle." George was the only Lion to start every game and the only 60 minute player on the squad.

This kind of record is good enough for anybody—in fact many players would give their eye teeth to appear in six minutes! But Big George was not only putting in his first season at varsity ball, but his first season as a tackle. Back in 1941 when George won his freshman letter he was playing at end. This makes "adaptable George's" record even more remarkable.

George jumped into Navy blues following his freshman campaign and for the next few years our lad saw service in both the European and Pacific theatres of war. And now, five years later, having successfully completed his first season of varsity ball, George has been elected captain of the '47 squad. In electing Big George to this position, teammates played the greatest tribute to the big tackle. Coach Strong sums it up by saying that George has shown the ability, and the team spirit which goes to make a real football captain.

Urosevich Named Captain

A good example of George's spirit came in the disastrous P.M.C. game which closed the season for our Lions. In the closing minutes of the last quarter with our Lions behind 6-0, George hauled down a P.M.C. pass and carried it to the Cadet 20 yd. line. It was the Lions best scoring threat of the afternoon and although our team couldn't shove it over, it shows the kind of play that George's teammates were thinking about when they elected him captain.

The big, quiet Hazleton lad wouldn't have to play football to be popular with his fellow students. But since he does his quiet, efficient style puts him down in his teammates' book as "a ballplayer's ballplayer".

A policeman who stopped a college student driving backwards received this explanation: the car was rented on a mileage basis and the student was driving backwards because the speedometer didn't register in reverse.

Gal Dribblers Carded; Woerle, Schwartz To Be Co-Captains

After tucking a luckless hockey season under their belts, the Albright lasses, rested from the Thanksgiving recess, threw their vigor into a brighter looking basketball season.

Since Monday, December 2, Mrs. Eva Mosser has been putting the thirty basketball hopefuls through their paces with fundamental drills. Varsity practices have been held at the 13th and Union school gym, Monday to Thursday from 4:30 to 5:30, and Friday from 3:30 to 5:30. Co-captains of the team this year are Elaine Schwartz and Virginia Woerle.

The contenders for berths on the team are: Marge Lyman, Jean Borgstrom, Elaine Huber, Jean Long, Jane Rooney, Joyce Yocum, Joyce Thompson, Betty Chelius, Anna Laver, Jane Millinger, Sylvia Hoppaugh, Helen Seiber, Gloria Landis, Jean Schwartz, Joyce Costenbader, Hazel Moerder, Anne Courtney, Josephine Stahler, Claire Porter, Shirley Johnson, Beth Sanger, Ruth Hoeman, Gloria McKittrick, Joy Cutler, Ferne Allen, Marjorie Christ, Elaine Schwartz, Virginia Woerle, Elaine Kyle, Dorothy McFarland. The managers of the team are Alice Albright and Barbara Pearsall.

The schedule is as follows: The Lionesses' first opponent will be Immaculata, unbeaten last year, and the sextet that cracked Temple's 31 game winning streak last year—first loss in four years for the Owlettes. January 21 will be at Ursinus, and February 12 at Beaver. Saturday, February 22, the women travel to Wagner College of Long Island, playing at 2:30 P. M. then travelling to Philadelphia to see the LaSalle game.

February 25 the women play host to East Stroudsburg, and on the 27th play Drexel on the Thirteenth and Union Court. The Lasses wind up their season at Temple. In most of the games, there will also be a Junior Varsity contest.

Several contests have been tentatively scheduled with other schools, but as yet no definite dates have been set. The teams are Elizabethtown, Leaning Valley, Millersville, Moxley, and St. John's.

Kappa Upsilon Phi Frat Initiates 10 New Members

President Russell Guensch revealed several new pledges to the Kappa Upsilon Phi Fraternity recently. They are Glenn Adams, Marvin Getz, Howard Guldin, Stewart Beyerle, Rae Guistwite, Bryant Smith, Richard Beyerle, Richard Hagmeyer, Mark Guss, and Leonard Woodring. There will be a meeting in the near future of active members with the new initiates.

This time of the year can be compared to the early evening of the election night when everyone eagerly gathers around the radio to listen for the first preliminary results, hoping against hope to get an early glimpse of some trend in the results. And so, as the first scores of our opponents come in, we try to see which teams are living up to pre-season form.

St. Joe's Beats Idaho

Elizabethtown, whom we meet in our opener this Saturday, already has a tilt under their belt having beaten Philly Pharmacy 59-46. St. Joe's, our next opponent, is living up to pre-season form, last Saturday mauling Idaho in Convention Hall 60-39. In the second game of the double header, Temple opened its season by edging Muhlenberg 34-33.

LaSalle handily won their first two games, proving themselves to be a power to contend with when they easily took Boston College 76-41 and Lock Haven Teachers 69-36. St. Joe's was only able to defeat the same teams last 61-50.

Moravian lost to Muhlenberg in Rockne Hall 67-47, but the game was a bit closer than the score would indicate. Muhlenberg has virtually their entire last year's squad back again and undoubtedly will be one of the best teams in the east. And Moravian always puts up a much better fight on their home floor, whereas Muhlenberg is virtually unbeatable in Rockne Hall. This would indicate that we are in for another rough time in Bethlehem. It must be remembered that one of the three defeats suffered by Coach Harris' '43-'44 team was at the hands of this self-same team in Bethlehem.

Rhode Island Mauls Loyola

Other teams on the Lion's schedule did not fare so well in their opening games. Loyola made the mistake of opening with Rhode Island State and naturally absorbed an 84-55 beating, but still must be pretty good to rack up 55 points against the point-happy Islanders. Manhattan lost to Western Michigan in a close game 55-52. Duquesne romped over Alliance College 75-43 but lost to a non-college team made up of ex-college stars 47-39.

Of course the only real way to predict how our opposition will be is to wait until the game is over. But we think if you want to see some good basketball, don't miss any of our games.

W. A. A. to Buy New Basketball Uniforms

Procurement of new basketball uniforms and plans for a basketball schedule were discussed by Virginia Woerle and the members of the Women's Athletic Association at a recent meeting.

Barbara Pearsall was elected assistant-manager of the basketball squad. A constitutional committee was organized with Jeanne Flickinger as chairman, other members including Josephine Stahler and Alice Albright.
