41 To Leave On Y Retreat

Program Prepared For Group of Campers

More than 40 young people will travel to Camp Fernbrook tomorrow for the annual Fall Y Retreat. A program of recreation, worship and fellowship planned around the general theme, "How God Guides," has been prepared for the group.

Leaving the parking lot at 1:00 p. m., the campers will arrive at the camp site at 2:30 p. m. After looking around and getting settled, the first seminar will begin at 3:30 p. m. Rev. Homer L. Trickett, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Reading and speaker for the retreat, will use the topic, "One Increasing Purpose," for the first seminar. A discussion period will follow the meditation. Time will be given for recreation at 4:45 p. m. before supper at 6:00 p. m.

"Living Presence—Guides Us," is the title of the second seminar at 7:00 p. m., followed by an outdoor campfire at which time there will be group singing, entertainment and roasting of marshmallows and hotdogs.

Sunday will start with breakfast at 8:30 p. m. Everyone will then hike up Hopewell Mountain where Rev. Eugene Barth will conduct a short meditation. Dinner will be served at 12 noon. A communion service conducted by Rev. Barth will close the Fall Retreat.

Chaperones are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jordan and Rev. Barth.

Committees Appointed For Domino Fall Play

Committee chairmen for the Domino fall production, "Bell, Book and Candle," have recently been appointed. These include: make-up, Claire Spiedel; properties, Marianne Tipper; costume and stage design, Ruth Fry; tickets, Roslyn Cowen; stage, Neal Krape and James Zafferes; ushers, Judith Canfield and prompters, Virginia Mangin.

The play will be presented on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, October 29, 30 and 31.

DANDY LION

This week, Dandy Lion tips his red and white hat and salutes the senior class' vivacious Cue editor, Margaret Israel. Margy, an English major and history minor, hails from York and hangs her coat in Chapel Dorm's "fishbowl."

Besides being the chief cog in the wheel of the Cue, Marg serves as vice prexy of the Pi Alpha Tau sorority and also their social chairman. How well she remembers folding dance programs! Domino Club claims her as a make-up artist and a four year member.

Beauty and brains, too! Marg signs "respectfully submitted" to the minutes of Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary English fraternity, and has just been bid to Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary social science fraternity.

Known for her corny jokes, her unique ideas, that infectious giggle, and an unbeatable personality, Marg will be an asset to the teaching profession, come June (Speaking of June, ask this Chapel Dormer what her plans are regarding an "old '53 grad," Bill Locher. The diamond on her left hand tells the whole story.)

Ivy Ball To Launch '54 Homecoming

Queen's Crowning At Intermission To Be Highlight

The annual Homecoming Weekend, which will get under way next weekend, is scheduled to begin this year with the traditional Ivy Ball on Friday evening, October 23, in the physical education building. George Halle and his orchestra have been selected to provide music for the affair, which will begin at 9:00 p. m.

The theme of this year's first all-campus formal affair will be "Autumn," John Fetterman and Harry Houck, '54, co-chairmen of the Ivy Ball committee, have announced. The freshmen are scheduled to provide entertainment during intermission as part of their "welcome" into the social aspect of college life.

Alumni Luncheon

The highlight of the evening's festivities will be the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, who will reign over the weekend's program. The queen was chosen at an all-campus election Thursday, October 15, from five candidates selected by various campus organizations. Nominees for the Homecoming crown are: Evelyn James, '54, and Stephany Bartolett, Barbara Burbank, Alma Grove and Margaret Kane, all '56. Robert Bieler and Bruce Eickhoff, '54, are in charge of the Homecoming Queen committee.

A run-down of the weekend's activities includes "open house" for all campus buildings on Saturday morning together with registration to be held in Krause Hall from 10:00 a. m. until noon. Also slated for Saturday morning is the Alumni Citation luncheon to be held in Krause Hall at 12 noon.

Lions Host To Diplomats

At 2 p. m., the Albright Lions will play host to the Diplomats from Franklin and Marshall on the Albright gridiron. Following the game, the alumni of the sororities and fraternities will meet with their respective active groups.

From 5:30 to 6:30 p. m., a buffet supper will be served in the college dining hall. Open house in Krause Hall from 7:00 to 9:00 p. m., is scheduled to end the day's events. The committee in charge of the open house is headed by Michelina Cacciola and Nancy Lou Walker, both '54.

General chairmen for the weekend include Dr. Samuel Shirk, representing the college faculty, Rev. Dean Allen, Alumni president, and James Barrett, '54, student representative.

Y, IRC Groups Combine For Panel Discussion

"Christian Responsibility in World Affairs," is the topic for the panel discussion of the "Y" next Tuesday evening, October 20. The discussion, being held in conjunction with the International Relations Club, will have several professors as the panel leaders.

More than sixty Y members enjoyed an evening of eating popcorn and watching movies at last week's meeting in the lower social room. The movies included a film, "The Barrier," a comic strip, and a short film of college songs.

Committee Heads

Extensive planning has gone into the arrangements for the annual Ivy Ball these past few weeks. The hard-working "college Joes" pictured above have been responsible for much of this planning. They are (l. to r.) Bruce Eickhoff, queen committee; Jim Barrett, Homecoming student representative; Bob Bieler, queen committee; Harry Houck, Ivy Ball committee; and Jack Fetterman, Ivy Ball committee.

Noted Dancer Begins Series

Irene Hawthorne, well-known dancer and choreographer, will be featured at the first cultural program of the season in chapel next Thursday morning, October 22.

Critics have stamped Miss Hawthorne's approach to her art as distinctively American. A native of San Francisco with Scottish-Spanish ancestry, she possesses an unusual endowment of fire and grace. She has appeared as the premiere danseuse of the Metropolitan Opera Association for two seasons, as premiere danseuse and as choreographer for the Opera Nacional, Mexico, for two seasons, and as prima ballerina in the Theatre Guild's Broadway musical, "Sing Out Sweet Land."

Miss Hawthorne has also been presented as guest soloist with both the San Francisco Symphony and the New Orleans Symphony, and has toured extensively with her own concert company. Her solo programs range from the traditional Spanish dances to the most exacting modern ballet.

Council Slates Dance

Student Council will sponsor a dance tonight in Krause Hall from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m., Paul Hetrick, chairman of the Friday night dances, has announced. The dance is an open affair and all students are invited to attend. Music will be furnished by records.

Rocktashel Elected Daymen President

James Rocktashel, '54, is the newly elected president of the Daymen's Organization. Richard Bauer, '56, is vice president; John Catalano, '56, treasurer; and Robert Brown, '56, secretary. The elections took place last Thursday.

Possibilities of a judicial committee was also considered, their duty to administer punishment to persons who deface the daymen's room and do not obey the standards set for the men.

Local Merchants Contribute Gifts For Attendants

Numerous gifts have been donated by local merchants for the Homecoming queen, runner-up and the other candidates, it has been announced by the committee. Barbara Burbank, Michelina Cacciola, Janet Lanfranke, Elissa Topperwein, Robert Bieler and Harry Houck visited many merchants during the past two weeks, and additional contributions are expected this week.

The trophy that the queen will receive when she is crowned during intermission is now on display in the glass case in the administration building. The trophy was the gift of the Alumni Association.

The gifts received thus far and the donors, include the following: 2 pair nylons, Reading Hosiery Outlet; three dollars worth of dry-cleaning, One-Hour Martinizing; four movie passes, Loew's Theatre; two pair of hose, Leonard Shops; wrapped gift, Smart Accessories; movie passes, Warner Theatre; wrapped gift, Joyce Sports Shop; nylons, Famous Maid Shops; jewelry box, Kins; album of records, Chiarelli Bros.; album of records, Zeswitz Music House; bracelet, Memo Gift Shop; cuff links, Babs Shop; camera and film, Hollywood Camera Shop; blouse, Tersuhow's; five dollar gift certificate, Martin's; and a pair of earrings. The queen will get the largest share of the gifts, but all participants will be honored with some of the contributions.

Ticket Sellers Named

The following people have been appointed to sell tickets for the Ivy Ball, by Joseph Kiersted, chairman of the ticket committee: Gail Ade, Patricia Brown, Roselyn Cowen, Alma Grove, Evelyn James, Walterine Szalay and Frank Guenther.

Lie To Open Tour On Albright Campus

Trygve Lie, former secretary-general of the United Nations will open his nation-wide lecture tour on the Albright campus on Monday, October 19. He will appear under the sponsorship of the Reading Town Hall Association.

Mr. Lie's talk will be based upon "The United Nations and the United States." He will be introduced by Dr. Samuel B. Shirk, director of public relations at Albright and chairman of the program committee of the Town Hall Association.

The Town Hall Association is scheduled to present three more attractions during the coming season. To date, membership in the group numbers 534 persons from Reading and the vicinity.

These are the facts. On the night of Oct. 23 George Halle has been booked on a 9:01 to a 11:59 at the Albright gym. You're right. It's a dance. The Ivy Ball. We haven't played a hunch—just the facts. Only the price has been changed to give you a break — $2.50 per couple.
