DR. J. P. STOBER ATTENDS CHAPEL SERVICES AT LAST

Had Not Attended College Chapel Services For Eight Years Until October 7th

HIS PHYSICAL CONDITION HAS KEPT HIM IN HIS ROOM SINCE '17

Dr. Stober Spoke To Students On "Our Opportunities As College Students" And Impressed All With His Earnestness And The Truth of His Statements

The Chapel service on Tuesday, October 7 will always stand out as a great event in the minds and lives of students and friends of the College. That morning, through the assistance of the faculty, Dr. J. Palm Stober, formerly Professor of Biology and Botany, made his first appearance in eight years at the chapel service.

Dr. Stober had been a member of the faculty for twenty-two years. For the past eight years he has been in an emeritus position. During his years of service as a Professor in this Institution Dr. Stober built one of the finest biological departments, and was and is still recognized as an authority on biological subjects. Dr. Stober has one of the keenest and sharpest minds and is kept well informed concerning world happenings, which could easily be seen by his address.

After devotional exercises, Miss Strasser sang. Dr. Stober made several mentions to his appreciation of this part of the program. Dr. Bowman then welcomed Dr. Stober, expressing his delight at his presence and the hope that it might be repeated.

Professor Walton, instructor in Biology and Botany, at one time a student of Dr. Stober, spoke. He voiced his thanks to Dr. Stober's work in this department. It was due to the host's sincere efforts that the present Science status is maintained.

Dr. Gobble followed with a splendid tribute to Dr. Stober's character, and to his personal influence in the lives of those with whom he came in contact. His work will always be carried on because of its results in the lives of his students.

The biggest treat, however, was Dr. Stober's address. Taking as his general theme, "Our Opportunities as College Students", he spoke to the students right from his heart.

He pointed out that few realize their great privileges, and many fail to appreciate them. How many students remember to thank the Higher Power for health, friends, school, opportunity—for anything they own? Very many fail to be glad for the Chapel service, which ought to be a source of strength and help.

Most of all, few students realize the great advantage of a college education. "Education should fit" (Continued on Page Three)

Zeta Fraternity Holds Annual Theatre Party

The Zeta Omega Epsilon fraternity held its annual theatre party and dinner on Monday, October 6th.

The party left Mohn Hall for Reading about 5 o'clock. They made the trip in the machines of Professor Kiess, Dr. Davis, Henry Haak, and Edgar Bahney.

The first part of the evening was spent at the Rajah Theatre, where the party witnessed a very fine performance of Keith's Vaudeville. The latter part of the evening was given over to the enjoyment of a sump-

DEBATING PROGRAM BEGINS TO TAKE SHAPE

Try-outs Have Been Held and Selection Will Be Made Soon—Manager Hewitt Busy Arranging Debates

The Debating program for the year is beginning to take shape and the indications are that Albright's Debating squad will be up to its usual standard.

Tryouts for the squad were held Monday evening, October 13, in the College chapel. A fine group of fellows were present and presented their five-minute discussions to the committee as selected by the debating coach, Prof. Keen.

On Saturday, October 4, a meeting of all the debating coaches of the state was held in the Penn Harris Hotel at Harrisburg. Quite a large number of questions were discussed by the committee, no final decision being reached as to the question that will be used. It is possible that a question concerning the legality of the Supreme Court of the United States passing upon the constitutional amendments will be the question for the inter-collegiate debates this year. This question was the one which was most favorably considered at the meeting.

Debating Manager Hewitt has been in touch with a number of colleges in this section of the state. Muhlenburg, and Juniata have submitted requests for dates, and replies are being awaited from Temple, F. & A. M. and Bucknell. It is planned to hold at least one debate before the Christmas vacation.

A. C. MUSIC DEPARTMENT FACES 2 BUSY SEMESTERS

Large Number of Students Enrolled In Both Voice and Piano—Preparations Made To Meet State Requirements For Teaching of Music

Work in the Music department has again been resumed under the direction of Misses Strasser and Flory, and Mrs. Mohn. The outlook for the year is very promising with the talent enrolled in the two departments of Voice and Piano.

The Glee Clubs have always played an important part in the musical life of the College. Both Clubs have lost many of their members, but with the material at hand, prospects are good for the coming season.

In addition to the Glee Club concerts, plans are being made for a series of recitals representing composers of different nationalities. The first will be a Spanish program, to be given some evening in December.

The following students are enrolled in the voice department: Misses Kleinginna, Hetrick, Frieda Miller, Kathleen Miller, Mowry, Long, Wray, Mohn, Hunsicker, Line, Doretha Snyder, Shultz, Gindlesperger, McCauley, Wright, Helm, Kal-treider, Benfer, Kinsinger, Esther Dundore, Cooper, Fray; Messrs. Raffensperger, Beeky, Kleinginna, Osswald, Deterline, Price, Miller, Weiss, Hartranft, Yost, Krimmel, Rutter and Hoffman.

Those studying piano are Helen Hess, Charles Lehman, Helen Froelich, Blanche McCauley, Caroline Mowry, Mary Shultz, Virginia Zener, Mabel Gindlesperger, Kathleen Miller, Pauline Swanger, Mary Wray, Katherine Dech, Doretha Snyder and Kathryn Dice.

Students interested in public school music will be pleased to know that supplementary work will be given with the Progressive Series, using text books authorized by Dr. Hollis Dann, Supervisor of Public School Music of Pennsylvania, and used in his schools of music in this state. This will give those desiring to teach public school music a better

BULLETIN'S STRAW VOTE

On Tuesday, Oct. 14, the Bulletin conducted in the Chapel service a student straw-vote on the presidency.

The result of the Albright student straw-vote was an overwhelming preference for the Republican candidate, President Coolidge scored 115 tallies; John L. Davis, 16; Robert M. LaFollette, 8; Wm. Z. Foster, 1; Gilbert O. Nations, 1.

There were 143 ballots distributed. Two students did not cast a ballot.

FRESHMAN CLASS HOLDS DOG-GIE ROAST SUCCESSFULLY

The old canal was, on Monday night the scene of the first informal gathering of the Freshmen. There, they roasted weiners around the fire and engaged in gay talk and fun. The majority of the class was present, and all report a good time.

INTERESTING JOINT SESSIONS OF CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS ARE HELD

Mr. H. W. Lentz, of Student Volunteer Movement, Speaks Interestingly at First Joint Meeting of "Y's"

SPEAKS ON FOREIGN MISSIONS

On Tuesday evening, October 7, the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A's of Albright College met in joint session in the chapel, at 8:30. Mr. Dietz, president of the Y. M. C. A. led in the devotional exercises. Those present had the privilege of listening to Mr. H. W. Lentz, Student Secretary of the Student Volunteers in Eastern Pennsylvania.

Mr. Lentz spoke on the objections often offered to prospective foreign missionaries. The usual objection is that there is much work to be done at home. However, there are many more to do that work here, and many more waiting to receive the Gospel in other lands. Why then, should we withhold that Gospel when others are willing to receive it?

Second, is the prejudiced view that missionaries are narrow and bigoted. But popular ideas are often proved false. If it is true, there is so much the more reason for men and women of broad vision to go into this work.

Third, comes the argument that it is a waste of time and talent to go to a foreign land. A study of the lives of famous missionaries shows that their lives were not wasted. Statistics given by Mr. Lentz

"FOG" SMITH ELECTED CAPTAIN OF FOOTBALL

Proves Popular Choice of Squad And of Student Body For Captaincy. Has Plenty of Experience To Back Him Up and Also a Peppy Disposition

In the election held Monday, October 4, for captain of football, John "Fog" Smith received a large majority. The large majority given by the club to Smith expresses the club's sentiment toward him. Smith, early in the season won for himself at Albright the name of "The Fighting Center". This is Captain Smith's first year in the ranks of the Albright football squad.

A short biography of his football career suffices to show that he is well equipped to occupy the leading position on the squad. He started to learn football at Harrisburg Tech in 1918 and in 1919 played center on the team that won the High School championship of the United States. His team scored 701 points against its opponents and was not scored upon. After hanging up a brilliant record at Tech he entered Dickinson and achieved a record even more enviable. While there he was acclaimed the best center that Dickinson ever had. He was called "Never-a-bad-pass-Smith". It is also a fact that during one of his seasons at Dickinson he made the first tackle of every game.

He spent three years at Dickinson and then came to Albright. Now he is fighting with his whole heart and soul to lead a winning team upon the field. Saturday, October 25, will be a dramatic day for "Fog" when he will lead a team against the most powerful team that his former Alma Mater has ever boasted. In spite of the defeats his team has already suffered it will be a "fighting and busting" center who will enter that game with blood in his eyes to win for Albright.

Captain Smith has shown himself to be a born fighter, a brainy leader, and also one of the most faithful to keep training rules. Therefore he is the ideal man to Captain the Red and White eleven for the campaign of 1924.

"Pop" Schner, Former Albright Coach and Member of Faculty, Addresses Students at Second Joint Session

"WHAT IS IN YOUR POCKET?"

On the evening of October 14, Prof. Charles Kelchner addressed the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A's in the College chapel. His subject was: "What's in a Man's Pocket?"

The central theme of his address was brought to us in the following words: "What do we carry in our pockets is the real indication of what we are or are not." This was forcefully brought out by various illustrations and examples. A letter, a pack of cards, cigarettes,—anything we carry may change the world's idea of us. But our greatest pocket is our mind. Will that which we put in our minds help us or hinder us? "Now is the time to fill our pockets" for the benefit of others.

He closed with an earnest appeal for students to get a right conception of life.

BAND CONTINUES TO ORGANIZE

Monday evening, Oct. 6, the Band held a meeting and voted Hartwell Fassnacht, '27 as its leader. With Russel Grumbling as president and Mr. Fassnacht as director the Albright Band should become an important part of our school life.

Albright—Muhlenburg

Albright met its second defeat on Saturday, October 4, at the hands of the powerful Muhlenburg College eleven at Allentown. Two touchdowns came from skillful use of the forward pass, these being made by Dickert and Willingham, Tursi made one touchdown by recovering a fumble and dashing about five yards. The final tally was made after several fresh, rangy and brawny forwards had been substituted for their fatigued teammates. These same men tore a gap into the Albright line which made it possible for Willingham to carry the ball for another touchdown. Slemmer kicked four goals after touchdowns out of five. Slemmer, by the way is considered by many as the greatest field general who has ever played on any Muhlenburg eleven.

One of the most powerful of all of Muhlenburg's offensive plays was its forward passing game. Several long passes were utilized for long gains and two resulted directly in touchdowns. Another strong point in Muhlenburg's offense was its wealth of good substitute material. Albright's line held good until faced by substitutes who were equal in ability and weight to their predecessors. The last touchdown was made on a powerful line thrust when the game had only a few minutes longer to go.

A large crowd of spectators filled the North and South stands. Among the spectators were many ardent Red and White supporters; Students, friends and alumni. Two of Albright's former stars who had participated in hard battles against Muhlenburg in years past occupied seats on the bench. They were "Daddy" Miller one of Albright's greatest quarterbacks, whom we lost last year through graduation, and (Continued on Page Three)

INTER-SOCIETY DEBATE MAY BE POSTPONED

The first Inter-Society debate between the Themisian and Excelsior Literary Societies regularly scheduled for Friday, Oct. 31, will likely be postponed until Nov. 14th. The matter is in the hands of faculty for consideration and final decision.

Hallow'en and Excelsior Anniversary are the objections offered by the Societies for the changing of the catalogue date.

Employment Bureau Added To Activities of "Y"

An employment bureau has recently been added to the activities of the Y. M. C. A. The bureau is for the purpose of finding work for the students who desire to work during their spare time, and who wish to help pay their college expenses.

Forty letters have been sent to local and Lebanon concerns, and personal inquiries have been made from merchants and manufacturers in both towns. Several fellows have already been placed. All those desirous of work report to Paul E. Hartranft. Men will be placed as soon as openings are available.

EDITORIALS

A CLUB

The Inter-Collegiate News Service of the New Student tells us that at Dartmouth College there is a club house where anyone may drop in during the day for tea or coffee, and for discussion of undergraduate problems. The Campus Reflector states that a Readers' Club has been organized. Clubs like these have been springing up in many institutions, clubs to educate students to the present.

We have our books to tell us of the past. We study them daily. We have our organizations for special college activities. We work for them constantly. We have our newspapers and current magazines. But what do we know about the present world affairs? How many of us read the newspapers daily—more than "Maggie and Jiggs"? What do we know about the candidates for President of the United States? Do we know when and how they are to be elected? What do we know, anyway, about international troubles? The majority of us knows little of the newspaper world. It seems to me that the Albright students are living too independently.

College should teach us how to live. Living means adjusting oneself to a suitable environment. How can we live if we know nothing of the changes that are taking place in the world about us? To most of us college means living at Albright College—not in the United States, North America, Western Hemisphere, or the world.

A poor student, a poor citizen, you and I of the supposedly highest type of citizenship, if we cannot, when mingling with the so-called lower educated group, talk with them on world news. The latter type is always well read, but the college student is too busy blowing his little bubble to pick up the newspaper and become a cleansing soap for the universe.

Yes, if Albright had a club house, a readers' club! No matter house or name—if each one of us would take fifteen minutes of each day to study the public press we would then be more worthy of the title we hold. Can we not take fifteen minutes of the seven hundred twenty minutes of the school day and use it for nation-wide education? Can we not talk about Coolidge, LaFollette, Davis, to a better advantage than Albright's Kathryn or John?

An imaginary club, but real members. You are a member if you read national news and discuss it with students and teachers.

PERSONAL DISLIKES

More than one business, organization, enterprise, or athletic team have been failures because the one in authority had a "personal dislike" for a certain member of the organization or team. This seems to be a great fault in many people and judgments and decisions are made against members under their authority because they dislike them. To judge according to personal like or dislike and not according to ability, willingness to work, and conscientiousness to duty is a fault many of us have and is indeed to be lamented. It takes a man with a big character to erase this failing from his system and often it is not accomplished until he reaps of his own sowing.

Campus Chatter

Well, yes, as usual, life is going on at a great rate, and Albright campus activities are not lagging behind. Even if we have met with some reverses, there are no signs of discouragement at Albright. Some things may fail, but for everything that is not successful, about three new projects appear at which one may try his hand. Everyone is busy and then some, seems to the parrot.

There's no doubt that the football squad is busy and interested, when you consider that they stay down on the field scrimmaging until the supper hour is all over. They've been doing some very excellent scrimmaging, too, according to the opinions of those who know, for some of the play has been as interesting as a real game. There was high excitement especially one evening, when one of the scrubs made two touchdowns, the first team scoring nothing.

The girls are busy out-of-doors also. In the last issue of the Bulletin, our worthy composer of headlines announced to the public that "Dr. Bowman plans to keep girls healthy." Well, Mr. Headliner, it appears that you are right at that. If providing materials for out-of-door games is going to keep the girls healthy, Dr. Bowman is doing it. First he generously lent his clock golf outfit to the girls who wished to play, and now he has secured somehow from somewhere the wherewithal for the girls to practice lawn bowling. Also the campus has been mowed in a way especially suited for that purpose. No, Dr. Bowman no girl at Albright can say now that she has nothing to do.

Besides golf and bowling, there are also the two sports,—tennis and hiking, which engage the spare time of many of the Mohn Hallers, as well as of the town girls. Yes, at last, the parrot has had his game of tennis.

But these four ways of "keeping healthy" do not satisfy everyone, as Mrs. Mohn knows. Every evening at the end of study hour, Deb Long and Mabel Gindlesperger have been struggling even harder than the hikers, golfers, etc., to acquire health and grace. The hall has nightly resounded to thumps and bumps, as these two devotees to physical culture have pursued their program. It is evident, since even Deb and Mabel have gone in for the strenuous life, that Albright is indeed active.

The parrot does not mean to suggest however, that physical training is the largest interest in campus life. Other activities are flourishing just as well. It is merely that time of the year is more favorable than any other for out-of-doors, and everyone on the campus seems to be making the most of the splendid weather we're having.

But other activities haven't suffered. Both religious and academic work is wide awake. The unusually large attendance at the Joint Y meetings held lately has been very noticeable, and is somewhat surprising as well. Really not surprising, though, on second thought. The fact is that since there is no Star Course this year, and since the cases simply must have dates, that they are enjoying these joint Y meetings fully as much as any evening's entertainment. Hence the parrot deduces that religious work is experiencing a boom period. It is now up to the leaders to make the most of opportunity.

And as for the academic branch of the campus life, we can say that debating is a fair representative. Had anyone who saw Professor Keen speak on the subject in chapel last week can not have a doubt but that it is in a most successful condition, for anything which could bring a smile of such unmixed happiness to his face could surely be in nothing else but a perfect state.

And so, since life is going on at a great rate as usual, and since the only way one can get the most out of it, is to go along, may the parrot moralize for just a minute, and say, let's all keep going, and push while we go, so that our college may be up to the standard.

Eccentric

It is claimed that there are too many laws, and the co-eds heartily agree regarding Mohn Hall regulations.

It is terrible the way the students grab for meals without figuring how many calories they are getting.

In criticising yourself always go under the assumption that you are wrong until you have proved yourself to be right.

Inspirational talks are a fine thing, but if the school's work is to be done efficiently there must be some inspirational ones, too.

The lazy students seem to think that school marks are less valuable than the German kind.

The sale of throat tablets ought to increase as our Voice department progresses. After going to class from day to day and continually glancing at their watches many students claim that some malicious jinx is getting all their luck.

NOTABLES ON THE CAMPUS

MRS. L. D. MOHN
If you ring the front door bell at Mohn Hall, you will be answered by an important member of Albright's executive and faculty—Mrs. Mohn. Your first impression of her will be that she is willing to be friendly, but might also be a bit stern. She is gracious and courteous, and greets you in a pleasing, yet dignified manner.

Her most important duty is that of Dean of Women. In this position the girls know her better than in any other role, for she finds it necessary in many instances to assert her authority over the girls. It is not always that the students will agree with her and the rules; but in spite of argument, she will usually have her way.

Another important position which Mrs. Mohn holds is that of instructor in History of Music. She is well qualified for this position, having received her B.E. and B.E.M. degrees from Schuylkill Seminary, and also studied at the New England Conservatory of Music.

There is just a lot to admire in Mrs. Mohn, and you will find her more than ordinarily considerate and willing to cooperate if you are ready to be a bit reasonable and consider the demands which the college makes upon her.

NEWTON D. MILLER
"We are getting our Bulletins this morning, because I saw 'Newt' Miller have them." This is the joyful statement heard every two weeks before Chapel. It is due to "Newt's" business ability, and to his promptness, that the Staff is able to cooperate so successfully in putting out the Bulletin bi-weekly. Mr. Newton Miller's executive ability, as proved by his management of the Bulletin, is not only valuable to the Staff, but to various other organizations of the school.

To his faithfulness as Business Manager of the 1925 Speculum was due the fact that it gained so much patronage and success.

"Newt" is "an all-around" fellow, always ready for a good time and ever willing to spread his cheerfulness. He is loyal to the school "to the first degree," and to its many organizations. He is always alert for an argument, whether in the classroom or out. To all the old students he will be remembered as one of the chief members of the "Gossips of the Breakfast Table." If he is handicapped verbally, his gestures of explanation stand him in good stead.

As "Newt", through his many activities in the college, has revealed himself a leader along the business lines, we know that success will be awarded him. Whether he be a lawyer, or a business man, he is capable. As this is his last year, the school will lose an enthusiastic booster.

Other Colleges:

We notice in the Red and Black that smoking in and around the college buildings has been prohibited by the W. and J. trustees.

The New Student reports the following:

Two weeks will be needed by Professors Albert A. Michelson and Henry G. Gale of the University of Chicago to test the Einstein theory of relativity by means of their elaborate apparatus, which is nearing completion at Clearing, Ill.

On Oct. 17 they began observations. The apparatus consists of a rectangle of water pipe 1,800 feet long, by 1,200 feet wide; an arc light which will flash two beams of light around the pipe in opposite directions; sets of mirrors to relay the light beams around the pipe, and an air pump to create a vacuum in the pipe.

According to the Einstein theory, one beam should travel around the circuit in slightly less time than the other.

In response to an invitation by President Hookins of Dartmouth College to ten undergraduates a report giving the students views on educational policy was issued. Part of the document is as follows:

After declaring the faculty all-important in any system of education, the Committee declares that a more personal relationship between professors and students is desirable.

This they would bring about by a change in the method of instruction. The following recommendations are made: (1)—the virtual abolition of lectures, (2)—long time assignment by topic, (3)—small classes meeting weekly, (4)—office hours for consultation with professors, (5)—written work in the form of short assigned papers and (6)—an additional check on the student's work designed to force the completion of each quarter's work before starting it on the next.

Assignment to sections on the basis of scholarship, the substitution of a program of periodic papers for the usual series of examinations, the addition of a sixth letter to the marking system, and the allotment of cuts in proportion to a student's scholastic standing are also recommended.

Abolition of the distinction between the two degrees of A.B. and B. S. and the award of the A.B. to all successful candidates is another change advocated.

In discussing the curriculum the Committee suggests that the first two years be devoted nearly entirely to required courses designed to give the student a cultural background and that the last two years be allowed entirely free for electives in the major and other departments.

students for life'. A college education should give the best of past and present civilization. Our heritage is the power to partake of all past knowledge. Many of the sciences which are so highly developed today are the outcome of years of sacrifice, of time and life. This is particularly true of botany and biology.

Every lesson gives us a new view of life. The value of each course in our after life was forcibly illustrated by the story of a student who took a certain course which proved very difficult. He finally mastered it, but could see no use in it. Later he found that his success in teaching came because he was able to teach that one subject.

We can appreciate the mechanics of life through Sciences and Mathematics. We can see the universe with new eyes through Astronomy. "College generates intellectual power".

Above all, college does much to develop us morally. To illustrate this development Dr. Stober used a very beautiful parable. He represented life as a journey through a dense forest. One reaches the "Palace of More Abundant Life" and the "Palace of Death" by travelling thru this forest. Each time we blaze our way to one or the other of these mansions we cut a broader pathway. Just so are good and bad habits formed. On the choice of Palaces rests our character. Which Palace shall be chosen?

Dr. Stober's words were earnest, and his clear logical thinking showed in every sentence. His courage and determination to win against physical obstacles are a challenge to everyone, especially those who have abundant health.

Albright vs P. M. C.

On Saturday, October 11th Albright was defeated by P. M. C. by a 20-0 score. It was the best played game of the season for the gray jerseyed boys. But the game was a freak as far as the scoring was concerned. It was another game added to the string of hard luck games it has played in the last two years. The first touchdown was made by Kreig on an intercepted forward pass from Leinbaugh. Kreig had a five yard lead which Leinbach could not diminish in the fifty-five yard dash to the goal line. This touchdown came in the third minute of play.

The Red and White team outplayed the cadets in the remainder of the first half and were marching up the field with six and eight yard stops with a touchdown only two or three plays away when the timekeeper through some blunder cut the period three minutes short and ended the half with Albright on P. M. C.'s 5 yard line.

The second half brought forth even more discouraging decisions against Albright with P. M. C. taking 5 downs several times in order to gain a first down. Then, too, the timekeeper for some reason added five minutes to the final period

Mrs. F. N. Baker, 117 North Martin St., Titusville, Pa., says "Feel I am doing real missionary work when I tell how my goitre was removed with Sorbol-Quadruple, a stainless liniment. while the score was still 6-0. In that five minute period P. M. C. scored two more fluke touchdowns. One was made after the official had blown his whistle to stop play. The runner, however, continued to carry the ball and even ran out of bounds for the touchdown. The officials, in spite of that, decided to allow the touchdown. The second touchdown came when Kreig blocked one of Gross's punts behind the goal line and fell upon the ball.

Garret started the game at quarter and frequently threatened the cadet goal line with his line plunges and end runs. The Red and White line played well while the backfield succeeded excellently in intercepting forward passes.

Following is the line-up:

revealed the great stride the missionary cause has taken in the last century. Above all, Christ died to give us life, and it is up to us to make our lives count for Him. The best use of them is in serving others.

Mr. Lentz was earnest in his appeal, and each word rang true and strong. He has the courage of his convictions.

He also spoke for a few minutes in Chapel on Wednesday morning, on the connection our Western civilization has with missions.

SING AT LANCASTER

Quartet of College Boys Sing At Rally Day Services in The Red Rose City

On Sunday, October 5th, a quartet of College fellows journeyed to Lancaster, where they were the special attraction at the fall Rally Day services held at the Bethany Evangelical Church. The quartet was composed of Messrs. Raffensperger, Yost, Schoenly, and Mohn, with Lehman at the piano.

At the morning Sunday School Rally, the quartet entertained with two selections and Yost sang a solo. In the evening the quartet again sang a number of selections and Mr. Raffensperger rendered a solo.

The fellows were royally entertained at homes of the members of the congregation and friends of the college. From other expressions which we have heard, we know that the quartet was up to its usual standard.

PROF. ZENER SPEAKS AT REGULAR CLERIC MEETING OF OCTOBER 13

Monday evening, October 13, the Cleric met for its regular meeting with Pres. Benfer in the chair. After the singing of a hymn and prayer by Keifer, the President introduced the speaker of the evening, Prof. Zener. In a few well chosen remarks Prof. Zener told the fellows of a number of the snags that the minister is likely to "bump up against", and also presented the thought that the minister must be able to adapt himself to all the environments into which he is thrown. The address was characteristic of the type we are accustomed to hear from Prof. Zener, in that it was immensely practical and applicable to the conditions a minister must face if he is to be successful in his calling.

Poet's Corner:

The golden rod is blooming
By the way side where you pass,
And summer's passing, taking
All the green from out the grass.
The harvest soon is over,
All the sheaves stand straight and tall;
A misty haze is settling
Where the deepest shadows fall.
The crickets are a chirping,
And the buckwheat smells so sweet,
And the katy-dids are singing
In the weeds all round your feet.
The leaves are changing, turning
From a green to warmest red,
And all the signs are telling
Fall's arrived and summer's dead.
