"THE WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING" TO BE SENIOR PLAY

Successful Comedy And Stage Favorite With Fine Cast of Seniors Promises To Be Unusually Good

TWELVE CHARACTERS

For years one of the chief dramatic performances of the spring has been the play given by the Senior Class. Last year the present senior class decided to give a Junior Play, and also a play the following year. However, due to the full schedule, the "Thirteenth Chair" which was selected as the play to be given last year was given up.

This year the class debated whether to continue with that play or to select a new one, which would be more suitable for an audience typical of Albright and Myerstown. Therefore with this in view the committee selected a popular comedy written by John Emerson and Anita Loos, entitled, "The Whole Town's Talking."

It is a typical American three act play set in an American household and centers around the daughter of a paint manufacturer, who desires for a husband a man who has seen the world, and is wise in its ways. The father's partner is exactly opposite to this requirement, but is desired by the father as his son-in-law. How he acts the part

SPRAGUE HIGH SCORER

With the defeat at the hands of Lebanon Valley, last Saturday night on the Lebanon High Floor, Albright's cage season came to a close. Although figures would point to an unsuccessful season, considering only figures, the fact must be taken into consideration that at the beginning of the season Coach Smith did not have a team of veterans. Several old men were on the squad, but our new coach was forced to use quite a bit of green, inexperienced material, with which to build up a team which faced the hardest schedule in the history of Albright's basketball teams.

Playing such teams as those representing Villanova, Dickinson, Washington College, Lafayette, Muhlenberg, and the strong Lebanon Valley Quintette, it was very obvious at the beginning of the season that the Red & White five would have to battle against great odds.

DEBATERS DEFEATED BY MUHLENBERG IN COLLEGE CHAPEL

Single Debate Results In Loss By Albright Affirmative For Second Defeat Of The Year

WILLIAMS, SERVEY, YOUSE, ON TEAM

On Thursday evening in the College Chapel, Muhlenberg College debating team defeated Albright team by a score of two to one. The question for debate was: Resolved, That the American Jury System Should Be Abolished. Albright upheld the affirmative side, Muhlenberg the negative. The debaters were, for Muhlenberg, Stanley Printz, Kenneth Koch and Donald Hock; for Albright, Lester Williams, John Youse, Harold Servey. Both teams spoke in the order listed. The judges for debate were Prof. J. C. Phillips, of Lebanon High School, Miss Alta Bortz, of Lebanon High School and Dr. R. R. Butterwick, of Lebanon Valley College.

The Affirmative side asserted as their main issues, that, first, we have outgrown the jury system; second, it has deteriorated; third, it is ruled by prejudice rather than reason; fourth, it is expensive and wasteful; fifth, it is grossly inefficient; and sixth, the judge or judges is the best substitute.

The main issues for the negative side, were, first, the jury system adequately meets the requirements of criminal cases, second, it furnishes a good fact-finding body, third, it is the best system available with no superior substitute.

The affirmative side maintained that trial by jury has been a changing one, its elements are cosmopolitan, and it is no longer apolitical protection. They proved that the judge is a mere umpire, that the jury system is an obstruction to modern times, and that it causes many delays and much expense. The negative side denied these facts, by saying that judgment depends upon human beings, the common man is Sheely, Assistant Principal of the Myerstown High School, Prof. V. C. Zener, and Mr. D. G. Lubold, members of Albright College Faculty.

The members of the Affirmative Team, were: in order of speaking, Lester Williams, John Youse, Harold Servey, and Charles Katzman, as alternate. The Negative consisted of

STUDENTS HEAR ILLUSTRATED TALK ON SINGLE TAX

Mr. Charles Goeller, Political Economy Specialist Presents Many Interesting Facts

Last Monday evening, Mr. Chas. Goeller, gave an illustrated lecture in the College Chapel on "The Single Tax." Mr. Goeller is a man who is well versed in the study of political Science, and has spent much of his time and energy in working out a means of solving the present economic pressure, due to the uneven distribution of wealth. He became interested in this field of work through his associations with Henry George, author of "Progress and Poverty", as well as many other books written on the subject of Political Science.

In the first part of his lecture, Mr. Goeller told of the "Single Tax Movement" instigated by Henry George in 1865. This new step in Political Science was taken in an endeavor to peacefully

ARTHUR AYRES, '32 HONORED BY STATE FORESTRY DEPARTMENT

Arthur W. Ayres, Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop No. 12, Boy Scouts of the Salem Lutheran Church, of Lebanon, was honored by the Pennsylvania State Forestry Department for his excellent work and interest in the department, all of which was done voluntarily.

Ayres ran an article in the Lebanon Daily News, last April, on the Forestry Department, and on the Forests of Pennsylvania. Later, when the Cornwall telephone system was out of order, he carried reports from the towerman to the nearest telephone and sent them to the proper wardens. In addition to this, he proved to be a valuable

GIRLS' GAME

Plenty of pep and fight, resulting in a tie score mark the Albright coeds' closing game of the season, which was played with Lebanon Valley, on Saturday night.

The game started nip and tuck, the ball went up and down the floor furiously, but neither team seemed to be on with their shots. At the end of the quarter the score stood 3-2. In the second quarter the Albright girls tightened up on Lebanon Valley and held them to one foul shot. Ditty and Deekle located the basket, and as the fast, sure passes of perfect team work came through to them, dropped the ball through the basket for a total of eleven points, thus making the score at half time 13-3, in favor of the Red & White.

The Lebanon Valley girls came back with grit and determination. They fought furiously, and in the third quarter scored 13 points to Albright's 3. An almost exact reversal of the second quarter. The last quarter the game again changed. The nip and tuck battle that characterized the beginning of the game was renewed. Each team fought for the uncertain victory, but neither was able to draw it unto itself and the game ended 17-17.

This game makes the Albright girls champions of the "Little Three", with three victories and one tie.

Line-up:
Albright: K. Deck, R.F. Lane, Deterline, L.F. Ylengst, Youse, C. I. Miller, Stauffer, S.C. J. Miller, Painter, R.G. Rupp, C. Wilkes, L.G. Gohran
Substitutes: Albright—J. Deek, Hangen, L. V. C.—Dietrich, Gorski.

Frosh B. B. Team Trips League Leading Juniors Soph-Seniors Cancelled

B.B. Contest Marked With Frequent Fights Given Yearlings Edge For Second Half Of League

On the evening of March 5th, the "inter-class" basketball games were staged, with the following results, Freshmen, 32, Juniors, 21. Neither the Senior or the Sophomore teams showed up, so that part of the affray was consequently called off.

The first half of the game, goes to the Juniors, but during the early part of the second half the "Yearlings" gradually gained the lead, only to hold it throughout the remaining quarter. The leading scorer for the Juniors was Youse, while Weiss took that berth for the "Frosh."

In the second half, Youse jumped center, while Hangen played right guard. Savidge substituted for Katzman at center, and scored 8 of the 32 points. The latter part of the game was fast played, and another "set-to" occurred between Youse and Reitman.

The game was refereed by Horn, while Vickery was both scorekeeper, and linekeeper. The line-up of the teams was as follows:

Frosh: Weiss, R.F. 2
Cruttenden, L. F. 1
Katzman, C. 0

MEN'S GAME

Lebanon Valley, 41; Albright, 28. This was the final score of the Lebanon Valley-Albright basketball game, played Saturday night on the Lebanon high school floor. It was the second time this season that Coach Mylin's pupils won over Captain "Pat" Clemens and his mates.

With this victory goes the "Little Three" championship. Albright finished in second place in the standing of the "Little Three" with Schuylkill at the bottom of the pile. The game was rough throughout and disinteresting to outside spectators. In the first half play was almost even up with Lebanon Valley holding a slight advantage. When the initial stanza ended, the Blue and White held a three-point advantage, 20 to 17.

However, when the second period opened, Captain Piela and his Blue and White mates opened an attack that bowled over the Myerstown Collegians.

Piela led the attack with seven field goals and four fouls for 18 points. This flashy dribbler many times stood near the center of the floor, and sent the inflated leather through the nets for two points. He was not to be stopped.

Captain Clemens led his team's scoring with eleven points. Two field goals and seven fouls were garnered by the local athletes.

Players of both teams were "booded" by spectators during the game for rough play. Fouls were committed frequently by the Annvillians in the first half. Time and time again the Blue and White tossers would deliberately foul Albright players cutting for the basket. In the second period the Red and White dribblers were of the opinion that Referee Earl Killinger was partial and frequently attempted to pull the same tactics on their opponents.

At times play was fast and exciting. Occasionally one term or the other displayed extra fine passing. However, the latter kind of basketball did not prevail any length of time. Players returned to their rough tactics.

CANDIDATES CALLED OUT FOR BASEBALL PRACTICE

Coach Smith Faced With Problem Of Developing New Team Since Only Two Veterans Are Back

Monday afternoon of this week, Coach "Johnny" Smith issued his first call for baseball practice. All interests have turned from the indoor basketball court to the diamond. The freshmen are busy whipping and digging the field into shape for the season which opens two days after Easter vacation ends, April 10th, with Lafayette.

In an interview with Coach Smith, Monday before practice, it was learned that only two men from last year's squad will be out. They are Clemens, outfielder, and Karlip, second baseman and pitcher. However, the Coach is looking forward to building up a good team around these men with the other material on hand. Those expected to report for practice were "Pete" Strickler,

GREATER-ALBRIGHT PROGRESS

For a long time the realization of the consummation of the two schools, Albright at Myerstown, and Albright at Reading, has been attained, but just recently the physical merger has taken place—not only the consolidation of the teaching staff, and of the students has occurred, but recently the societies and the extra-curricular affairs have made great progress toward the final merging. Members of the Y. M. and Y. W. cabinets visited Schuylkill, and were received and entertained very cordially, and they together have formed many plans for the new year for Greater Albright. A reception and party will take place on Monday for the members of the Y. M. and Y. W. cabinets from Reading, and also the president of the new and greater Albright. After this reception we expect and anticipate a better social feeling between both schools, and we sincerely hope it will fulfill its purpose. In a very short time the Bulletin is to hold the election of the new staff, but the members thereof will be members of the two schools, with a majority from neither. The afore-mentioned societies are only a very few of the organizations yet to be consolidated, but Commencement in June, we hope, will see final arrangements and plans for the new school year.

Combined Meeting Of Men's Y. M. Cabinets

Last Sunday the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet met in joint session with the cabinet of the Y. at Reading. The purpose of the meeting was to enable the two groups to become better acquainted and discussed such things as were necessary for the merging of the two, and the carrying on of the work next year.

Following an appetizing dinner, the group was shown about the former Schuylkill campus and inspected the new theological building, after which they held a meeting in the administration building.

Mr. Bergstresser, president of the "Y" at the Reading school, welcomed the Myerstown gathering, to which Mr. Gunther, president of the local association, responded. Then Mr. Williams gave a resume of the work being done by the Y. M. C. A. at Myerstown, and Mr. Wood did the same for the Association at Reading.

Finances, handbook, and election of officers were the most important items discussed. The consensus of opinion was that the new officers should be elected at an early date, and that the old cabinet function in each school until the close of the present year. The formal merging of the associations is to be left until the opening of school in the Fall. The new officers, however will take charge immediately upon election.

In the matter of offices, the Myerstown association is to elect the president, and secretary from its group, while the Reading Y. will elect the Vice President and Treasurer, the vice president to take charge there in place of the president.

The matter of the Handbook is to be left in the hands of the new officers. The finances will, in all probability, be taken care of much the same way as at present; by making it an item in the student budget or incidentals fee.

Besides the cabinet members of each school, the following were present: Profs. Zener and Weber, of Albright at Myerstown, Dr. Teel and Profs. Miller, Smith, and Albright of the Reading unit.

assistant in repairing the tower wire.

Ayres has also been mentioned as being one of the few who took an active and helpful part in the American Forest Week program, last year. He was amply awarded for his work within the past week when he received a gold medal, a beautiful piece of work cut in the emblem of the State—a Keystone. The scout emblem and the oak leaf, which represents the Forestry Department make up the engraving on it.

When he is graduated from Albright, where he is now a student of the Freshman Class, it is expected that he will take a course in the State Forestry School at Mt. Alto. His many friends and fellow students extend their heartiest congratulations, and wish him the best of success in his future work.

"Parrakeet's Prattle"

"All candidates for baseball report at 2:30." So says Coach Smith and immediately there is a long string of healthy enthusiasts wending their way toward yonder baseball field not to mention those much-abused (?) Freshmen who have to spend weary hours shining up the diamond. He pities them but then, the nice weather must make them feel most as elated as it does Parrakeet. He rather wishes that they might belong to a different "Diamond" gang. Or is it frat pins? Parrakeet can't remember but he heard cupid's call for candidates and the result was surprising. "Guke" and Gutshall, Clare and "Gunnle" as well as Pat and Jonesey were the veterans represented. Then some of the subs who aren't quite as far advanced made their appearance or rather disappearance. Wiss and Pred, Irma and Tommie, Gladys and Russ, Evelyn and Benny, Eva and Mac and a score of others all wended their way toward second. But it may change into high and then they'll be eligible to join the "diamond" club. Nevertheless, Parrakeet loves spring as much as any of you. His only regret is that he can't change from a bird to a person and go with one or another of these nice girls.

Some of the fellows went for "home runs" this week-end. Ask Abel or Doug Rinehart. They can tell you about it. Cupid called "Haps" Paul safe at first. Look at the pleased expression on his face and ask Parrakeet the reason. Sammy's "Sis" has been here so of course he's happy. Wouldn't you be if you had as nice a girl as she is? Parrakeet says he would, and how!

Parrakeet saw this published as a notice in a classroom. Is it another illustrated lecture or a movie? Just what does it mean?

"Richy" and "Pearly"

Tragedy

In 2 Acts

Finis

(She died for love)

Parrakeet was pecking in a window on Monday nite. Guess what he saw. Pat and Jonesey were entertaining "Jakie" Stahl at the Tastedood at dinner. If you please, Six o'clock, too. Suite unusual, except for one similar occurrence. Where was Tommie? But as long as Jonesey was there, it was perfectly proper. Wasn't it?

Lots of ambiguities and things Parrakeet can't understand. Perhaps the readers can help him out. He wonders:—

1 Why Tommie and Charlie were so sleepy on Sunday morning
2 Whether Abel was "at" conference or "in" conference on the week-end.
3 Why Mildred couldn't find the football she lost without Fred's help.

4 Why Bitten was so "fussed" about the phone call he got Sunday afternoon.

5 How Pellen gets that way. He would suggest as remedies the following things if he knew the facts in the case.

1 Not using borrowed cars after 12 P. M.

2 Getting more logical excuses for his week-end trips.

3 Putting her valuables in a safe place.

4 Stop thinking he's kidding the public about his liking for Grace Dundore.

5 An advancement to Soph. rules. But perhaps that isn't needed since Frosh. rules aren't enforced anyway.

Parrakeet thought he'd have a surprise for you folks. Honest he did. He fully intended to find the rest of that beautiful poem and then tell you who wrote it and who it referred to. But plans failed. Mind you, he flew 'round and 'round and looked and looked but it seemed like it's been torn up and there

SCRAPS

From the new Albright College Record, published quarterly by Albright College, Reading, Pa.

Courses and Instruction

Several new courses have been added to the curriculum:

"Ethics of the Promenade," to be taught in three sections:

(1) "By Moonlight"—Clara Rae Wilkes, professor.

(2) "After Breakfast"—Norma Ellen Michael, professor.

(3) "After Curfew"—Mildred Wissinger, professor.

Also, a course in the Psychology of Sleep, will be offered, three hours per week, by Alfred Francis Gibbons, who the trustees fondly hope will secure some kind of degree before September, 1920, preferably NOT a bachelor's degree.

Buildings

The new girls' dormitory building will have a low spacious porch in front, with massive pillars and plenty of cozy, snug little nooks with benches for two. The trustees agreed that here would be a good place to economize, so there will be no lights on the porch.

The dining room will be on the first floor of the girls' dormitory building. Meals will be served at all hours. There will be no Lebanon Bologna served unless on the special occasion of a visit by Minnie, the College's greatest benefactor, to whom many of us owe our present state of health and physical fitness (or unfitness). Students will wear evening attire to dinner. The College will furnish napkins for the dining room. There will be luncheon and dinner music by the College Orchestra and "Buddies" every day.

No Freshman girls will be allowed to accompany male friends across the Duck path to their dormitory building after meals, that privilege will be reserved for the upper class girls only.

There will be no recitation hall, lecture halls, or class rooms. The faculty members will arrange with each of the students to confer with them at their own convenience in the student rooms. In case some of the consultation hours of the faculty conflict, the student will make such concessions as he deems fit. The faculty will govern themselves accordingly.

Organizations

Several organizations will make their initial appearance on the new campus. A High Hatters' Club will be formed as soon as a suitable and embracing definition can be found for that team as it has been used by students on this campus.

The Society for the Promotion of Personal Rights and Privileges and a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Freshmen, will be organized.

Also, a matrimonial bureau will be established, although perhaps that will be rather unnecessary. The popularity it gains in its first year, will determine its permanence.

Gifts To The Library

Books:—"How to Capture a Football Man in a Week"—(Edited jointly by Sally Varner and Gladys Baker.)

"How to Love"—Mildred Wissinger, with comments by several other notables.

"How to Live on a Bluff"—Bill Cully.

Other Gifts to the Library: Cleo to help Danny Loophole OUT of mischief and IN practice.

: Poets' Corner :

IT'S MIGHTY HARD TO BE CHEERFUL

It's mighty hard to be cheerful
When everything goes wrong,
To meet the world with a happy
greeting,
Or to sing a cheerful song;

When your plans all fail to develop,
And your guests forget to call,
The postman brings no letter,
Your friends have failed you one
and all;

The weather seems to be contrary
To what you had hoped for,
The day's whole program is a fizzle
And perfection is no more.

The neighbors all are pouting
'Cause you won't do it all—
No matter what or how much you do,
To them it's always very small;

If you step right up and take control,
They're bound to always say,
You try to run the entire thing
In your own selfish way;

If you've planned a trip so lovely,
With friends you hope to see,
And last minute plans develop,
Then at home you have to be;

The new dress for the party,
Was too small when it came,
No time to make another,
Always have to wear the same;

The poem you wanted isn't written,
'Cause you couldn't find time,
And every time you did try,
It simply wouldn't rhyme;

When someone hurts your feelings,
And your throat feels full of lumps,
It's mighty hard to be cheerful
When your heart's down in the dumps.

HEART-BREAK

Never an aching
Heart
Will she know
For she is untouched
By the splendor of Snow,
Untouched by the Petals that
Tip a black bough,
Unmindful of breaking
The most solemn Vow.
While I—dear God,
It is Spring!
My heart is broken.
At every small thing—
The pink of a Blossom,
The blue of the sky,
The whirl of a
Blue-jay
Flashing by.
And mingled with Rains
That come wandering in
Are tears of mine
From a heart worn thin.

WRITERS' CLUB MEETING IS VERY UNIQUE

The meeting of the Writers' Club held Wednesday evening, was one of unusual interest. Each member submitted and read "Impressions" of the previous week. Some were in Diary form, with clever comments on incidents or spectacles of special interest, some were in the form of Episodes, while others were descriptions and narratives. Individuality was a prominent feature. The following program will be devoted to "Lost and Found" Stories.

Presidential Popularity

SATURDAY'S GAME MARKED CLOSE OF COURT SEASON

not only due to the fact that they were comparatively inexperienced, but also because they were small and lacked substitutes. As a result, opponents were able to put in fresh substitutes in every game, against whom our men, tired from the first half playing, had to continue to battle.

Due to this fact the Red & White Quintette became what might be termed a first-half team. Consistently, and against their strongest opponents, they held a lead from the start of the game until the second half. Then as a result of fresh substitutes, the opponents were able to cut down the lead and spurt ahead with which odds our men were unable to cope.

In the fourteen games played, Albright scored a total of 470 points, for an average of 33½ points per game, as compared with their opponents 610 points, averaging 43½ points per game, a game point advantage of 10.

Sprague, playing at both forward and guard positions led the squad in the scoring column, being credited with 42 field goals and 41 fouls, totaling 125 points for the season. Not far behind him were Karlip with 115 and Capt. "Pat" Clemens with 109. "Abe's" total was made up of 36 field goals and 43 fouls, which was the highest individual number of one-pointers scored. "Pat" Clemens tied Sprague for field goal honors with 42, but fell behind on the fifteen foot counters, having only 25, and bringing his point total to 109 for third place.

given justice, the system keeps the law elastic, a jury is human and is always chosen until both sides arrive at favorable conclusion.

As a substitute for the jury system the affirmative side suggested that for a suit not exceeding $1000 one judge should decide the case. For suits over that amount the judge should have two associates, one a substantial business man, and a junior member of the bar. This included the jury for all civil cases. For criminal cases there should be five judges, all members of the bar. The negative side refuted this plan by saying that if this were done, too much technicality would be involved, the judges would be living in an atmosphere of a technical court, and thus become case-hardened and caloused. As an authority they quoted Judge Collins, who is opposed to it.

Muhlenberg decided that the jury system should be used in criminal cases only, whereby Albright claimed to have won half the debate by virtue of the negative sides statement.

The debate proved to be interesting, and oratorical ability was displayed by both sides, and a feeling of fellowship prevailed throughout the entire procedure.

JUNIATA TAKES DECISION OVER A. C. DEBATERS

ed of the following, in order of speaking, Arthur Ferner, Alger Geary, Raymond Morris, and Eugene McCoy, as alternate.

In rebuttal only two members of each team spoke. The ones who took part in the rebuttal were, Affirmative: Lester Williams and Harold Servey; Negative: Arthur Ferner and Raymond Morris.

The main points for the Affirmative, were: First, The Jury System has outgrown itself. Second, It is grossly inefficient. Third, The Judge is superior to the Jury as a trier of facts.

The Negative presented as proof that the Jury System should not be abolished; First, That the Jury System is desirable in principle and results. Second, They asked if the Jury System is really at fault. Answering this they stated that it is a fundamental of free government. The jury serves as an educator of the people. The Jury System is not fundamentally defective and not a cause of dissatisfaction among the people. Also it is desirable in principle and everyday results. Third, We must give the Jury System a square deal. The change is not necessary, and the system should be improved and not abolished. The jury is hindered by technicalities of law, legalisms of court procedure and methods of securing the jury. The third speaker also stated that we are living in an age of legislation, lawyers quibble over meanings of technicalities of the law, this is one of the reasons that our country system is attacked, but who gets the blame, the jury of course. He admits that the court system is absurd, antique and too technical. He stated that the jury does become interested in the proceedings of the case for which they are impaneled, and derive much knowledge of law and legal practices through jury service. To do away with the evils of the method of securing the jury, he suggested the method by which the state of New York secures its jury, by means of a Jury Commission.

The debate was well attended, considering the number of other events that were going on at the same time. It was a very good debate, the Juniata team having been experienced debaters, and having debated together for their four years at college, yet the Albright fellows showed marked improvement in their ability as debaters.

who pitched two years ago for us, Savidge, a freshman twirler, who came to us at the beginning of the year with a good reputation behind him as a pitcher. Others on hand are Abel, Cruttenden, Thomas, Bruner, Sprague, Bowman, Mauer, Vickery, and Peckham.

These are the men who it was almost a certainty would report, and the coach is in high hopes of having still more candidates report for open berths on the team. There will be an equal chance for all to make the squad, provided they can show the "stuff."

For the first week or two the men will devote their time exclusively to batting practice until the diamond is in better shape when intensive practice will be begun in earnest. The coach asks that all who are interested in baseball come out and help build up a strong representative team.

wasn't even any sign of "Scraps". But perhaps it's only temporary 'cause Parrakeet heard someone say "they always come back for more."

Who's "they"? Well, he rather thinks it could be either a boy or a girl this time. So Parrakeet hopes "Cupid" mends his bow right quick and shoots a stronger arrow so the "case" will stay closed, boxed or whatever they're supposed to be. As soon as he finds out if it's "re-glued" he'll let you know even if he has to write a special "Edition" to do it. But "for now" it's "so long." He'll leave you to decide HOW long.

The Juniors would be victorious. The Freshmen however during half time planned a counter attack, and came back strong in the third and fourth quarters. A minute and a half before the final whistle the score was a tie at 10-10, and neither team was able to break away till the end.

The game was inclined to be slightly boisterous, on the floor, and especially on the side lines. One player from each team was put out of the game for fouls.

Juniors vs. Sophs

On Thursday afternoon the Junior sextet downed the strong Sophomore class team to the tune of 18-13. The game, while it began rather slowly, without anything outstanding happening in the first quarter, took on a livelier aspect before the end of the half. During the second half the game was faster, and the Sophs showed a decided determination to win. However it was the Juniors lucky day, and the end of the game found them with a five point lead.

The game was very interesting and exciting, there were very few fouls called, and the spirit on the floor was excellent.

avoid the undesirable results caused by severe economic pressure, either on individuals, or groups, such as the laboring class. Failure to adopt such a means as the Single Tax to relieve the economic needs of the lower classes in France, resulted in the disastrous French Revolution with its abhorred history of the guillotine.

Within our own country, bread lines, slums, and in many cases robberies and murders have been a milder result of the extreme economic pressure. To adopt the Single Tax plan would mean that the redistribution of wealth would come about through the ballot, instead of employing more drastic means, such as that of the French Revolution.

Political scientists like normative scientists have endeavored to use exact formulae and terms, for accuracy in political science is as dangerous as it is in ordinary sciences. In terms of political science, labor acts upon land to produce wealth. In the earliest times of civilization all labor resulted in wealth or wages. Later certain men began to control land, bringing about monopoly rent at the expense of the laboring man's wages. In still more recent times land owners have made use of speculative rent, or speculation to increase their wealth to enormous amounts. In this case as in monopoly rent, the laborer's wage has been cut, or rather kept down at a low scale, for the advantage of the speculator.

Monopoly and speculative rents, plus economic rent, have all combined to keep down wages. Of these three rents or taxes, only economic rent is desirable. Both monopoly and speculative rents should be abolished for the good of the business man, and the home owner, thus shifting the burden of taxation, from the business man, and the home owner to the speculator. Labor and Capital have been

Who's Who At AlbrightLENORA SOPHIA HEMSTREET

We like to think of LeNora as a charming hostess, presiding over dainty tea things, attractive with her blue-black hair and soft brown eyes. She has that personality which makes an immediate appeal—and has, to certain fellows we know, especially one Fuzzy Wonder, Fuzzy with his captivating smile and charming drawl.

LeNora is a most capable person—busy always with some class affair, or the affairs of the numerous organizations with which she is connected; and ever ready to assume more responsibility, which she discharges in a most business-like and practical way. Girls' Varsity Debators, Speakers' Club, Writers' Club, Pi Gamma Mu, Lutheran Club, Themisian Literary Society, all owe much to LeNora for her services freely given. As student leader of the Lutheran Club, as hostess to the many Lutheran students on the campus at their friendly teas, she successfully managed to keep the Club together.

LeNora spends hours in the studio, painting, an art for which she has no little talent. One would scarcely think that one with talent for such dainty things would make as successful an appearance on the gym floor as she does in class basketball and volleyball, but to the Senior class she is quite invaluable.

The teaching profession seems to be LeNora's immediate goal, but one thing leads to another, and we feel that altogether she may teach for a while, it won't be for very many years, and she will some day be the charming mistress of a lovely little home of her own, surrounded by the dainty things which make such a splendid background for her attractive self.

squabbling, while Landlordism has been growing wealthier. To shift the burden of taxation upon the useless speculator would encourage business improvements, and bring about better living conditions for the lower classes.

The Single Tax has as its motto "Justice The Object; Taxation The Means." It has been tried out in several cities, Pittsburgh in particular, and many favorable results have been obtained. Closing his lecture Mr. Goelz stated that the Single Tax or the New Abolition is a boom for "Justice Without War."

DR FLUCK ADDRESSES

WEEKLY Y. W. MEETING

Under the supervision of Miss Catherine Steltz, the following Y. W. program was presented, Tuesday evening, March 5th:

Song.

Scripture.

Prayer—Dr. Fluck.

Solo—"Skies Are Blue"—Gladys Jones.

Address—Dr. Fluck.

Benediction.

Dr. Fluck's address was very interesting, and dealt with the phases of social adjustment. He said: "We have obligations to others of sacrifice, solitude and gratitude. Our obligations will be paid in the future in the Kingdom of Heaven."

The problem of adjustment is bigger than in any other time or place. This is a world of action, and many problems are arising. It is hard to find ourselves at any point on the great ocean of life. Take the problem of capital and labor, there is no Norm that runs through the entire affair toward its settlement. The young women have the greatest and most pressing problems. There is no norm to determine their position. There are so many avenues of broad interest and procedure open to them. Our freedom gives us a chance to make use of these opportunities which call forth a larger sense of responsibility. We must think more to-day and our conduct must be regulated by whether we think correctly or incorrectly. There is no help equal to that, that we receive from a simple understanding gospel. If we have a good will we are good. But good-will is an abstraction and must be applied. The gospel only has a meaning when it is applied. The gospel prompts to service and good deeds. Religion comes to be a reality and not a theory under the discipline of a school. Religion throws a perspective for the social experience of man.

What an advance the girl of today is over the one of a generation ago. This is due to conscientiousness and a clear understanding. When Jesus becomes our guide, our lives will be peaceful and we will have liberty.

To be a young woman in the present day is the greatest thing that can come to a young woman. Look at the future with all its possibilities, opportunities, privileges, benefits.

The Y. appreciated Dr. Fluck's message, and was very grateful for his presence.
