Kopp Named Chairman Of Alumni Homecoming

Dr. John W. Kopp, '29, of New Cumberland, Pa., has been appointed chairman for Alumni Homecoming Day, Saturday, Nov. 3, by John C. Lanz, '37, Alumni Association president.

Chief of the school building programs for the State Department of Public Instruction, Dr. Kopp will head the committee making plans for the annual fall reunion. The traditional afternoon football game between Lebanon Valley and Albright, the alumni luncheon at noon and fraternity and sorority get-togethers will highlight the day's program.

The father of John Kopp, a member of the junior class, Dr. Kopp supports the activities of the Alumni Association and the Harrisburg Area Alumni Club. He served as a member of the faculty-alumni-student seminar on Alumni Day, June, 1955 to present his ideas as an alumnus on the theme, "The College Man's Responsibility to His Society."

M.A. Degree

Dr. Kopp holds the M.A. degree from New York University and D. Ed. degree in administration and supervision from Pennsylvania State University. Before assuming his present position, he was the supervising principal of the Cambridge Springs, Pa., High School.

He is a member of Kappa Delta Phi and Phi Delta Kappa, national honorary educational fraternities, the American Association of School Administrators, Pennsylvania State Educational Association, and other local and state professional and civic organizations.

While at Albright, Dr. Kopp was a four-year letterman, in football and baseball. His son, John is following in these footsteps, and is a member of the backfield of the Lions' football squad.

'Fair' Report Given On Sale Of Tickets

Because a complete report on the sales of football tickets for last week's game could not be obtained before press time, results of the test trial program will not be available until the next issue of The Albrightian.

Louis J. Rossi, '59, chairman of the ticket committee, announced, however, that response was "fair" and that the program will be continued.

Members of the ticket committee are scheduled to meet with Rossi Tuesday afternoon in The Albrightian office to prepare plans for a concerted two week selling campaign to cover Albright's last three home games of the year.

Early College Prank Traced To Students

Although early spring is the usual time for mayhem and mischief around a college campus, local police officials believe that several Albrightians pulled a prank out of season this week at the Albright College Court Dormitory.

What caused this conclusion was the presence of a small foreign car parked within the court of the dormitory building, more than 40 feet from the sidewalk.

It is believed that several strong armed students carried the small car from the street outside and through an archway to the middle of the court which is surrounded on three sides by the dormitory building.

The car, a Volkswagon, is owned by George Gulder, '60.

SC Considers Chartering Bus To Gettysburg

Student Council held its second meeting of the year on Tuesday. Numerous items of business were discussed, including the chartering of a bus to the Gettysburg football game tomorrow. It was decided that if enough students desired to go, an adequate number of buses would be secured.

The representatives voted to approve the formation of both a Republican and a Democratic political club on a temporary basis for those students interested in the coming presidential election. These groups are not to be active in regular campus elections.

After debate, Council approved a proposal by the Alumni Association that Mrs. Arthur Dunlop, the former Pam Ulrich and a recent Miss Pennsylvania, be invited to the Ivy Ball to crown Albright's Homecoming queen.

The representatives decided to refer to a combined Student-Faculty and Judiciary Committee a plan to have an honor code, enforced by the Student Council and fully supported by the administration.

Committee Appointed

A committee was appointed to inquire about the new band uniforms and new equipment that the music department desires to secure.

Council accepted the resignation of John Tibbetts, '59, as a representative from the Daymen's Association and, at the same time, suggested that those organizations who are represented by football players replace these people until they can again attend meetings.

Barbara Pelkus, '58, and Mary Ellen Appleman, '58, were named co-chairmen for Homecoming.

Committee reports were given and the following freshmen had qualified for the final election of class officers for that group: Charles Smith, Gerald Bauer, Arthur Younkin, Richard Greene, Patricia Cush, Marianna Wonder, Sandra Strickler, Arthur Olsen, Leslie Wolf, and Alan Kutner.

Annual Fall 'Y' Retreat Starts Tomorrow At Blue Mountain

Albright students will leave tomorrow morning for the annual Fall "Y" Retreat at Blue Mountain Camp, Hamburg, Pa. The group will leave at 9:30 a.m. from the college parking lot. The weekend will include recreation, devotions, and discussions.

The retreat will feature a series of three seminars during which Rev. Adolph Unger will present his interpretation of the topics: "Life Becoming in Christ," "Life Being in Christ" and "Life Acting in Christ."

Cue Staff Ready To Take Pictures

After spending the past summer doing extensive ground work on this year's Cue, Marilyn Teeter, '57, editor of the Albright yearbook, and her staff have begun work on the 1956-57 edition. One of the first jobs to be completed is the taking of senior pictures which will commence this Monday. George Deinger, '34, is the yearbook photographer. A complete schedule for the seniors is now posted on the bulletin board in the administration building.

Miss Teeter announced that the William J. Keller Company of Buffalo, N. Y., will publish the yearbook, which will use this year a method of printing called photo offset.

Other members of The Cue staff are also immediately engaged in producing this mid-May classic. They are: Sheldon Kaplan, '57, business manager; Kathleen Forry, '57, editorial assistant; Barbara Pelkus, '58 and Dorothy Englert, '57, co-photography editors; Jeanne Palm, '57 and Elizabeth Wellenmann, '57, co-copy editors and Elizabeth Trevas, '57, sports editor.

Reppert to Discuss Literature 'Y' Night

Tuesday night's "Y" program will feature a discussion on literature by Dr. James Reppert, instructor in English. The meeting will be held in the Pine Room at 7:30 p.m. Ehrhardt Lang, '57, president of the YMCA, is in charge.

IFC Holds Initial Meeting Of Semester

Interfraternity Council held its first meeting of the semester Monday, Sept. 24. The officers leading this group are Larry Nester, '57, president; Ernest Brodbeck, '57, vice-president; Albert Ellis, '58, secretary and Robert Wetzel, '58, treasurer.

The first action that the Council undertook was to set up a new intramural sports program. IFC will have complete charge of all intramural sports this year, with Wilbur Renken, assistant professor of physical education and coach of basketball, acting as advisor of the program. Nester, president of the group, picked a special committee headed by Brodbeck to draw up the schedule. The Council will try and better the intramural program this year by awarding more trophies.

The Council briefly discussed Homecoming plans. The next meeting is scheduled for this Monday.

Domino Try-outs

Today is the last day of try-outs for the Domino Club's fall production, THE RAINMAKER. Tryouts will be held from 3-6 p.m. in White Chapel Hall. The play will be presented Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Nov. 15, 16 and 17.

1956-57 Cheerleading Squad

Englert Chairman

Dorothy Englert, '57, chairman of the retreat and her assistants, Mildred Folk, '58, and Albert Ellis, '58, announced that the cost of the retreat will be two dollars per person. Mary Ellen Appleman, '58, is in charge of registration.

Miss Anna Benninger, registrar, and Rev. Dean Allen, lecturer in religion, will be the chaperones. Other faculty guests include Dr. Lewis Smith, professor of political science; Dr. Felix Gingrich, professor of Greek; Dr. Harry V. Masters, president of the college; and Rev. Ronald Cocroft, instructor in religion.

The campers will return to the Albright campus Sunday afternoon.

Dance Tonight

The first Friday night dance of the year will be held tonight, 8-11 p.m., in Krause Hall. Music will be supplied by the newly formed college dance combo, "The Collegiate Minuetters," under the leadership of Jay Salustro, '58. All students are invited. Admission and refreshments are free.

Pin Money

America is a "land of opportunity." Such prosperity, as is found here, enables large corporations to accumulate huge financial resources. Often these companies share their profits with the public for a variety of reasons. This month the Reader's Digest is doing just that. Last week's issue of The Albrightian devoted the entire back page to the details of the contest. No ingenuity, creative talent, or mystic powers are necessary. All the entrants must do is use their common sense. If common sense is lacking, then a simple opinion will suffice.

Out of 47 articles that will appear in the October Reader's Digest, six should be chosen as most representative of what the average Digest reader will like best.

There is hardly an easier way to make $5,000 for yourself and the Albright scholarship fund. It seems like the duty of every student to take a crack at this absurdly easy contest. Since there is little time involved in entering, why not take a chance? This applies to faculty as well as students. Everyone who owns a three-cent stamp can afford to make this investment. It is not necessary to buy the Digest.

For those who are altruistic, this is a good way to help a student through college, who could not afford an education without financial aid. For the selfish people, it would be a nice sum for pin money.

If you lost the last issue of The Albrightian or threw it away, it is possible to get an entry blank at the bookstore. Details are also supplied in the SUB. Discuss the contest over a cup of coffee. That dime may turn into five grand.

If Albrightians support this contest, one of us is bound to come out a winner. Let's give it a try for Albright, as well as for ourselves.

B.A.W.

An Invitation

Have you ever become worn out from the rushing and running of college? I'm sure you all have.

One of the best remedies for this condition is to attend the Fall "Y" Retreat. This activity refreshes one physically. There is an opportunity to play all kinds of sports and an opportunity to just walk quietly through the woods. There is a warm and friendly spirit among everyone. The change of environment allows one to forget studies and responsibilities.

But even more than this, "Y" Retreat refreshes one spiritually. It gives an opportunity to think about the higher things of life. Why am I studying and sweating it out when I could be earning money? Why do I go out of my way to be nice to people? What do I owe God? Why is God so distant? Why does God allow the things that happen to me? I'm sure we all think of these things at college, but how often do we answer these questions? At "Y" Retreat, there is an ideal environment to find answers to these questions. At "Y" Retreat, there are also capable people who want to help us answer these questions.

Everyone is always urging us to take part in Albright's activities. We are asked to attend football games. The administration asks us to make the most of our academic opportunities. We are urged to take part in the social activities. May I also ask you to take part in "Y" Retreat this weekend?

Football For Females

By Sandra Strickler

It has come to my attention that quite a number of the girls on our campus don't have the vaguest idea how the game of football is played. The following is a conversation that could have been heard at the game on Saturday night with the correct explanation given by Patient Pete.

"I think it's just terrible the way those silly fellows stand around in a circle and gossip, when they're supposed to be playing a game!", cried Dense Dora. Patient Pete hastened to explain that they were deciding what tactics they were going to use on the next play.

Downs Explained

A few moments later Dora asked Pete what everyone was so excited about and he told her that it was the fourth down. "Four down," she exclaimed! "Goodness, can't they get up? What's wrong with them?"

Pete looked at her in surprise and said, "Dora, my dear, the men aren't down. You see, a football team gets a series of four downs every time they get the ball. In other words, they receive four chances to make 10 yards. If they can't cover 10 yards, the opposing team gets the ball and then our team is on the defensive until the other team fails to make their 10 yards, fumbles the ball, or makes a touchdown."

"Gee," squealed Dora, "Wasn't that nice of Podunk to refuse the penalty. Now Albright won't have to move backwards."

Penalties

Pete unraveled this mysterious incident to Dora by explaining that, when the penalty is refused by Podunk, Albright loses one down; so if the penalty occurs on the second down we don't get a third down but skip right to the fourth. If they accept the penalty, we move "backwards" for the number of yards we lost by the penalty, but still have the benefits of the same number of downs we would have had before the penalty.

"Gosh, then there really is a point to all that running around with the ball and knocking all these poor fellows over."

"Of course there is," said Pete, "But tell me, why did you bother to come to the game? You wouldn't have known if we were winning or losing."

"Honestly," retorted our dense friend, "I came for the same reason everyone else came—to watch the cheerleaders and to wear our lovely, new red hats with the cute white buttons on the top!"

Best Wishes

Tonight there's a dance in Krause Hall

We hope everyone has a ball

When dates say adieu,

At the dreaded curfew

There's no sense in trying to stall.

Albright Personality

• Mary Jo Wolf •

By Kathi Weiss

The Albrightian is proud to present as its personality of the week a well-known, friendly, and active girl on the Albright campus. Her name is Mary Jo Wolf.

Since her arrival here in 1952, Mary Jo has donated a great deal of her spare time to extra-curricular activities. She claims she is best known for the "odd" jobs given her.

One of Mary Jo's main interests is working with young people. As president of the Y.W.C.A., she gets a lot of experience along these lines, especially at the Christmas and Easter parties which the Y's sponsor for underprivileged children in the Reading area.

Mary Jo put this past summer to good use by serving as a missionary for the EUB church's Youth's Mission to Youth. She toured the entire United States, meeting fascinating people and gaining in religious values.

As a home economics major, Mary Jo will move from Teel Hall to

CHAT A-WEIL

By Janet

Tired of Elvis? Disgusted with the recent adventures of Dick Tracy? Bored of Bridie Murphy?

Admittedly, even though we are college people, we sometimes become so indoctrinated with blue suede shoes and hound dogs that we forget that there are other types of entertainment and enjoyment. Pseudo-intellectuals and sophisticates we're not trying to make you! And yet, we realize after the first few weeks of hitting the books, a bit of relaxation may be a welcome relief for you. Fortunately, Reading offers quite a varied program of outstanding events next week. Perhaps one of these may interest you.

Theatre

Wednesday, Oct. 10 is the opening night for Reading Community Players' production of The Magnificent Yankee. This show which had a long and successful run on Broadway is a dramatic narration of the life of Supreme Court Justice, Oliver Wendell Holmes. We might say in anticipation of the play—excellent play, excellent cast, and undoubtedly, The Magnificent Yankee will be an enjoyable night of community theatre at its best.

Incidentally, student tickets for the production may be secured by calling the Players' Box Office. Subsequent productions planned are Point of No Return, Anastasia, and The Solid Gold Cadillac.

Concerts

The forty-ninth series of Haage Concerts will have its curtain raised at the Rajah Theatre on Thursday evening, Oct. 11 at 8:30 p.m. The first concert is an outstanding attraction and should be a huge drawing card for this popular series promoted by Reading's own 81-year old, George D. Haage.

Mr. Haage has succeeded in signing Miss Lily Pons, soprano, opera and concert star. Artists, equally

Sherman Cottage in four weeks. There she will take a required course in home management, assuming the entire responsibility of keeping house with a few other students.

Club Member

Her future plans are revealed upon learning that she is a member of both the Home Economics Organization and the Future Teacher's of America Club.

Mary Jo has also shown an interest in sports by participating in both inter-collegiate basketball and varsity hockey.

A member of the Phi Beta Mu social sorority, she served as recording secretary for the Mu's. In her junior year at Albright, Mary Jo served on the Women's Student Senate. She has been a member of the Glee Club for the past two years. She has also received the honor of being mistress of ceremonies at the May Day program for this year.

Being well rounded in her talents, Mary Jo's name appears frequently on the Dean's list. Her hobby is sewing, which fits well into the field of her chosen profession.

She is fondly referred to as "Cupid" by her roommate of three years, for what she claims are obvious reasons.

Because Mary Jo is such an ambitious, hard-working student, and has a pleasant personality, we are sure that she will fulfill all her ambitions and go far in the field of home economics.

School Interest

By Billie Williams

Three weeks ago the Frosh were finishing up their orientation and upperclassmen were preparing for another year at Albright. Since that time, the campus has really started jumping. Many clubs have had their first meetings and have planned the year's programs. The combined "Y's" have had a variety of programs to get students into the swing of things. There has been one informal dance with many more planned in the future.

Football season is underway, but not so far along that the school spirit is waning. Already a pep squad has been formed to keep interest alive in all school functions and a broad ticket-selling campaign is being carried on. For those who can't get to the game this weekend, there is the "Y" retreat—a chance to leave the bustle of campus life for a brief and satisfying time in the mountains.

Those students who aren't aware of all the opportunities offered through extra-curricular activities should come to see the light now. However, there are some who just aren't interested in knowing about their school. These people will gain a degree from Albright and little else. It all depends upon what the individual is seeking.

As well known and talented as Miss Pons, will appear in the remaining three concerts of the series. Admission is either by a year subscription or a single performance ticket.

Museum

For those of you who appreciate art, you may enjoy a trip to the Reading Museum. The Annual Regional Exhibit of Art will be on display next week. As its name implies, it is a showing of the works of artists of Reading and vicinity. Both modern and ultra-conservative canvasses will be on display.

Red And White Invades Gettysburg Tomorrow

Muhlenberg Upsets Albright 18-0; Second Quarter Fatal To The Lions

IN THE LION'S DEN

By Phil Eyrich, Associate Editor

Albright College reached a low point in its football history last Saturday night. Without a doubt, the disorganization of the gridlers made what should have been a victory for the Lions a humiliating defeat at the hands of an inept Muhlenberg team. True, the Mules were reportedly "up" for the contest, but certainly Albright had proved by its performance against Bucknell that it should have been able to dispose of the visitors from Allentown. Instead the Mules found the Red and White a stately target for their offense.

But it was the Lions own offense that again proved their downfall. For the second week in succession, Albright could not develop a noticeable attack. The factors which contributed to this were many, but it was the general ineptness of the Lions grid game which prevented them from seriously threatening to win the contest. Along the theme of the disorganization of the team, the reserve situation was an important catalyst in the Lions becoming so confused.

Mass Substitution . . .

When the coaching staff, weakened by the illness of Coach John Potsklan, substituted players in groups of seven or nine it was almost unbelievable. Because of the nature of the grid situation here at the college, Albright is short of manpower. Developing a good first team is a tremendous accomplishment. After the first team, there are a few reserves who can be substituted alternately and still preserve Albright's chance of winning. But when an attempt is made to use a two-platoon system on a squad like Albright's, the results are easily predictable. That prediction came true last week. Even with the system of mass substitutions leading to general team disorganization, not every player who is injury-free and who has been training with the squad since September 1 got into the game. What purpose did the mass-reserve use program serve?

There were bright spots on the Albright side. The play of John Mishko at center was again superior to anything else seen on the field as he served to thwart the Mules offense from turning the game into a complete rout. Freshman Ted Mortsea played well, although he saw limited service, and brightens the future of the team. Others on the squad had their moments, but for the most part their play was something short of acceptable.

Veteran Line . . .

Aside from the factors mentioned previously, one of the things that was particularly significant in the defeat was that Muhlenberg's veteran line held sway over the Lion's forward wall. In the Mule backfield, Bob Lee was the standout, with his speed and heady running.

This week the Red and White meets Gettysburg. Although the Bullets dropped their first two games, they must rate a substantial favorite over the Lions. If Albright's grid team helps its organization, the game will be interesting. If Albright's grid team loses its organization, the game will be a slaughter. Efforts have been made during the past week to refashion the grid squad into a working unit. It is hoped that this effort succeeded and that the Bullets will be pleasantly surprised tomorrow.

INTRAMURALS

Grid, Net Competition Begins

The race for the intramural football championship is on, and Alpha Pi Omega is bidding to retain the title. APO opened the defense with a hard fought win over Pi Tau Beta. The game was featured by the passing of APO'S Dale Yoder, and the tremendous lineplay of two team-mates; Norm Klingerman and Bruce Townly, the latter being a former member of the Lion eleven. This trio was just too much for a game Pi Tau team, with the final score showing APO leading 27-15.

In other games, Zeta Omega Epsilon and the Dorm teams also recorded wins. Zeta downed Kappa Upsilon Phi 12-0, while the Daymen forfeited to the Dorm team.

The remaining games of the first half are listed below, along with the location of the game. All games start at 4:15 p.m.

In tennis, 12 men entered the intramurals, which is a single elimination tournament. Among the entries were four members of last year's team; Ernie Firestone, Ted Gabriel, Charlie Sample, and Dick Steffy. Another entry was the number one man on the 1956 Reading High team, Jack Reinhart. Other entries include Jim Doremus, Nelson Haller, Randy Hertzog, Al Kuttner, Bob Mollar, Lee Molnar, and Lee Swartz.

Mules Capitalize On Lion Miscues For Three Scores

By Mike Teitelman, Albrightian Sports Writer

A disastrous second period spelled doom as the Muhlenberg Mules upset the Albright Lions 18-0 at the Albright Stadium before 3,000 disappointed fans last Saturday night. After a scoreless first quarter, a recovered fumble, an intercepted pass, and a blocked punt added up to three touchdowns for the Mules from Allentown in a space of five minutes.

The first quarter was a scoreless affair, with neither team threatening or any deep penetration by the Lions or Mules. But the second quarter was a different story altogether. Halfback Tom Pollock tried to pick up a crazy bouncing punt and fumbled the ball right into the hands of the onrushing Mule linemen.

First Score

Fleet Bob Lee then flew down the sidelines for 37 yards to the Lion 26-yard line. Line plunges by Jim Madsen, Lee, and Art Wright brought the ball to the Albright four-yard line. Quarterback Art Wright then pushed the ball over for the first Cardinal and Gray score. The attempted conversion was wide of its mark and the score was 6-0 in favor of the Mules.

Trying to get back into the ball game, quarterback Frank Sudock started pitching passes, but guard Francis Guitierrez snagged one of Sudock's tosses and behind beautiful blocking streaked 55 yards to score Muhlenberg's second six pointer. The attempted conversion was again no good, partially blocked by the Lion line.

Punt Blocked

After trying a series of fruitless passes, Willy Smith tried to punt the ball, but end Dick Werkheiser bombed in and blocked the kick on the Albright 25-yard line. Mule guard Nino Carnevale picked the ball off the turf and raced to the Lion four-yard line. Fullback Roy Morris carried the pigskin over on the next play, and the Albrightians were 18 points behind after the first half.

Throughout the first half the Lions started a two-platoon system, where the Lion second team replaced the first team. With Benesky quarterbacking the team, the Lions fared no better, and the Mule secondary intercepted two of Benesky's aeriels to stop any Lion march. Playing for the first time this year with the second team were Gerry Bricker; Ralph Cyphers, Norm Ruppert, who was recovering from an injured heel, Barry Gable, Richard Napolitano, Al Benesky, Ted Mortsea, and Ron Brown.

Many Passes

The third quarter was a replica of the first except for the frequent passes of Sudock. Behind by a deficit of 18 points, Pitching Frank was throwing on every down, but his receivers were covered, sometimes by two men. The fullback draw play worked on two occasions with Benesky giving the ball to Bricker, but it didn't score any touchdowns for the Red and White. A real thrill for the fans was the beautiful catch freshman Ted Mortsea made on a pass from the Mules. (Continued On Page Four)

Bullets Hold Definite Edge In Long Football Rivalry

Saturday, Oct. 6, marks the fourteenth meeting of the Gettysburg and Albright grid rivalry. The record, which includes two ties, shows the Bullets leading in the series, 10 games to two. Last year's performance was no exception to the rule, as coach John Yovicsin's charges defeated the Lions 46-6. Gettysburg's 1955 record was six wins and two losses with Lehigh and Delaware being the only teams able to stop them.

PLAYER OF THE MONTH

John Mishko, sophomore center from Northampton, has been selected The Albrightian's Player of the Month for September. This distinction is made each month from September to May for the most valuable player of a varsity athletic team which competed during the previous month.

A 6'1", 200-pound stalwart of the line, he plays linebacker on defense. In the first two games of the season, Mishko proved himself to be the outstanding member of the Lion line.

Defensive Key

His defensive play was, in a large measure, responsible for keeping either Bucknell or Muhlenberg from really crushing the Red and White. Against the Mules, he was one of the few bright spots in an otherwise bleak grid picture.

He attended Albright in 1953 and was a member of that year's football squad. After one year at college, he joined the Armed Forces and served as a member of the Army Engineers. Mishko played football for his service team in Missouri and gained much valuable experience.

Prior to coming to Albright, Mishko attended Northampton High School and excelled in the grid sport there. He was named an all-conference center.

Here at the college, he is a business student with plans for entering the field upon his graduation in 1959.

So far this year, the Bullets have not been so fortunate. They dropped their opener to Lehigh and lost last week to Bucknell in the Rotary Bowl Game. Thus in this week's game, both teams will be seeking their first victory of the campaign, Albright having lost to Bucknell and Muhlenberg.

Gettysburg will undoubtedly have trouble replacing Little All-American quarterback, Frank Gagliard. Gone along with Gagliard are 14 lettermen including end, Fred Alleva, guard, Barry Attig, halfback, Mike Dukag and second string quarterback, Jim Soltesz. To add to the Bullets' woes, Frank Capitani and Bob Lebo, two stellar backfield starters, are injured.

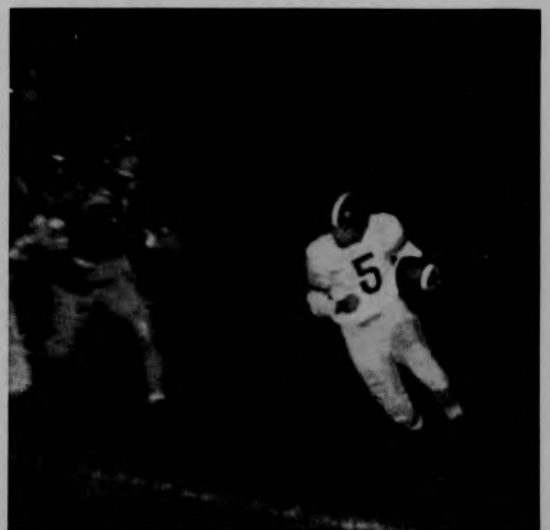

Capitani Star

Leading the returnees, Capitani was the leading ground gainer for the Bullets last year. Starters back from last year are end, Bill Ward, tackle, Al Kempton, guard, Jerry Harrell, and Lebo, who started part of the season.

The Lions will at least have one psychological factor in their favor. Coach John Potsklan has recovered from his illness and is directing the team once more. Probable starters for the Lions this week will be quarterback, Frank Sudock, halfbacks, co-captain Willie Smith and Tom Pollock, and fullback Whitey Rightmire in the backfield. At ends will be Don McCarty and Frank Hoffman. Rounding out the line are guards, co-captain Chuck Hoover and Joe Demeno, tackles, Joe Kramer and John Setzer, and center, John Mishko.

Albright will be looking for its first scoring opportunity, having failed to score against two previous opponents.

News Editor Awarded Honorable Mention

Mules Upset

sea made of a long Sudock aerial for a gain of 40 yards on the play, but the drive ended on the Mule 13-yard line.

The Albright quarterbacks threw three times as many passes as they did in the opening game with Bucknell. Sudock threw 17 passes, completing seven for a total of 70 yards. Benesky attempted eight aeriels, found his target twice, good for 36 yards. John Kopp intercepted one Mule pass, while three aeriels were intercepted by the Cardinal and Gray.

101 Yards

On the ground, Albright gained 101 yards on nine first downs; most of the first downs were via the air-lanes. Smith was the leading ground gainer with 34 yards, or about 3.4 yards per carry. On the other side of the ledger, the Mules gained 201 yards on the ground with 10 first downs, but only 29 yards in the air. Lee was the leading Mule ground gainer with 71 yards on 11 carries.

The entire team performed as well as could be expected, but the play was not as sharp as against the Bisons of Bucknell last week. Two injured guards, Ruppert and Napolitano were in action; both spelled Joe DeMeno or Charles Hoover at the guard slots. Center John Mishko had another great game, playing almost all the way except when relieved by Tony Lo-Sapio or Dick Wagner in the dying moments of the game. The two best looking frosh on the team were two guards, Jim Williamson and Jim Doremus. Both are not big line men but are always in the middle of every play.

Coach Watches

Head coach John Potskian watched the game from the press box, recuperating from a gall bladder operation two weeks ago. Although dismayed by the outcome, the head coach promised a better showing against the strong Bullets from Gettysburg, who are also winless, having lost to Lafayette and Bucknell. Coach Potskian called the game the "best medicine in the world" for him, but an Albright win could have made the remedy sweeter.
