

Seminary Observes 25th Anniversary

Bishop Epp Delivers Anniversary Address; Bishop Maze, Guest

Last Thursday, December 4th, the Evangelical School of Theology celebrated the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of its history. The entire day, beginning at 10.30 in the morning was devoted to the occasion.

The morning service was of a devotional character in charge of Professor J. A. Heck, Registrar of the school. After the opening devotions Earle M. Slichter, '31, President of the Senior Class presented the Christian Flag, gift of the Senior Class to the school, which was accepted by Rev. J. W. Klein, member of the board of trustees, on behalf of the school. Professor Theodore C. Hunt, head of the Department of Music, Albright College then favored with an organ solo.

Visiting Bishops M. T. Maze and G. Epp brought greetings from their particular fields. Rev. W. F. Teel, President of Albright College was its official representative, bringing the greetings of the school.

A very interesting historical sketch, which touched upon the most important events in the school's history, was delivered by Rev. R. W. Albright, Professor of Church History.

In the absence of Bishop S. C. Breyfogel, President of the Seminary, due to illness, Dean A. R. Kratz, in a few words told of future opportunities and needs of the school, after which the morning exercise was brought to a close.

At 2.30 in the afternoon, following an Alumni Luncheon in the Albright College Dining Hall, the main Anniversary Service was held in the Seminary Chapel, Dean Kratz presiding. After the opening devotions by Rev. M. E. Ritzman, Professor of New Testament, Alumni Greetings were brought by Rev. C. E. Kachel, President of the Alumni Association. In a short and inspiring talk Rev. Lee M. Erdman, Pastor of the Lutheran Reformed Church, Reading, brought to the school Fraternal Greetings, in which he spoke of the bond existing between all churches and church schools. Miss Josephine Strasser, Teacher of Voice, Albright College, then favored with a vocal solo.

The Anniversary Address was delivered by the newly elected Bishop George Edward Epp. He had as his subject "The Seminary and Christianity's World Mission." The address was delivered in a most eloquent manner and was very inspiring and uplifting. Bishop Epp spoke of the mission of Christianity as being the spreading of the Gospel throughout the entire world as Christ has given command. He said that it is the Church's duty to send men and women filled with the Spirit of God into the four corners of the world with the message of Salvation through Jesus Christ. Today it is not so much, as it was centuries ago, a matter of men and women dying without Christ, but more than that it is a problem of men and women living without Christ. He then pointed out the need of young people engaging in missionary work and the necessity of the sentinial training them for the work. The address dealt with the work of missions very extensively and was indeed a strong challenge to men and women to make their lives lives of service.

The program of the day was ended with a dinner meeting at six o'clock in the evening at the Wyoming Club, which was attended by Evangelical Church Officials, School of Theology, Faculty and Students, and numerous laymen of the Church, the latter acting as hosts to the Seminary Student Body, 71 in all being present. Dr. W. L. Bollman was Master of Ceremonies, and called upon various laymen to give brief addresses, all of which were very much appreciated. The laymen who spoke were Prof. F. C. Bowersox, Mr. Charles Rall, Dr. C. H. Wintach, Mr. Charles Bretz. Several remarks were also made by Bishop M. T. Maze. During the evening's program William Maier, student of Albright College favored with a vocal solo, accompanied on the piano by Paul Teel.

Faculty & Students Enjoy Concert

On Thursday evening The Cleveland Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Sokoloff gave the second Haage Concert of the current season. This famous orchestra, one of the four or five greatest symphonic organizations in the country, is well known to Mr. Haage's followers and its perfectly executed programs are always enjoyed. The gem of the concert to many was the Debussy number. It consisted of three symphonic sketches and was called "The Sea." Its composer was one of the most subtle of the moderns. Seldom indeed has a local audience heard such powerful descriptive music played with such finesse. Rachmanioff's symphony No. 2 in E Minor was read also with much pleasure. It is perhaps the famous Pianist's greatest contribution to musical literature and this rendition of it showed off all its beauty and brilliance. The composer himself by the way is to appear in a later concert.

The considerable number of Albright's faculty and student body which attended this concert showed that more and more we are appreciating this great cultural force so near to us. Some few even attended the afternoon concert for children (which incidentally held some very mature music) determined not to miss any part of so good a thing. Mr. Haage is to be felicitated on the splendid work, often a losing one of procuring this fine orchestra not only for the adults but also, at an absurdly low price, for children. This shows a civic spirit that the "luncheon clubs" might well emulate.

"Messiah" Will Be Given Dec. 16

Chorus of Fifty Voices and Four Soloists to Be Heard in Chapel

Albright College students will be delighted to hear Handel's "Messiah," the greatest oratorio ever written. It will be presented as part of the Christmas Campus festivities, next Tuesday evening, December 16, at 8 P. M. in the College Chapel, by the Choir of Salem U. B. Church.

Mr. Ira M. Ruth, organist and Choir Director of that church will again lead his Choir of fifty voices in the presentation for the delight of the students. Four well known soloists will make their appearance that evening also. They are: Miss Bettie Russell, Soprano; Miss Helen Frank, Contralto; Mr. Paul Jones, Tenor and our own Mr. William Maier, '31, who will well handle the Bass.

P. Tau Beta Fraternity is sponsoring the event and invites all College Students to attend. There will be no admission charge.

The same Choir and soloists will sing the "Messiah" at Salem U. B. Church on December 14 and 17.

Community Players Open Season

The Reading Community Players will open their eleventh season of successful participation in the so-called Little Theatre Movement with an elaborate production of the play "He Who Gets Slapped". This is, we understand quite the most pretentious thing the club has done to date but their fine work in past years, with which many of the students and faculty of this campus are well acquainted, leads one to expect much.

Needless to say the group's followers are watching this play very critically as the first it will make without the guiding hand of their able founder, Mr. Grizwold Williams. Those who wish may see for themselves whether it is to be a flat piece of amateurish work or a typical Grizwoldian production on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights of this week. The play is staged in their hall on Franklin Street at Fourth. There is a special reduction for Albrightians.

Dr. Chalmers To Speak Here

The second service, in the series of six Great Preachers Meetings will be held next Tuesday evening, December 16, at the First Presbyterian Church.

At this time, the Rev. Dr. Allan Knight Chalmers of the Broadway Tabernacle Church, New York City, will be the guest preacher. This noted cleric needs no introduction to the people of Reading or the students of Albright College. Anyone who has heard him before knows his ability and his sincerity.

These meetings begin with an Organ Recital and Song Service, lasting from 7.30 to 8 P. M. Everybody is cordially invited to attend. Other meetings will be announced later, in this paper.

Dominoes To Open Dramatic Season

Will Present a Comedy, "Turn To The Right," Dec. 12

On December 12 at 8 o'clock at the Womens Club the Domino Dramatic Club of Albright College is presenting their major production of the year.

"Turn to the Right" is a comedy in three acts starring such well known campus celebrities as Carl Gunther, Earl Chappel, "Sally" Varner, "Rip" Stauffer, "Mil" Wissinger and others in an inimitable presentation of humor, pathos, love and hatred.

Carl Gunther, as Joe Bascomb alias Pete Turner, Earl Chappel as Dynamite Gilly and "Rip" Stauffer as Slippery Muggs represent a trio of ex-convicts with a dark past. Sally Varner, the sister of Joe, vivacious and pretty. Paul Teel—a ha—the city sleuth. "Mil" Wissinger—Childhood sweetheart of Joe—a love affair.

Hen Bollman, a country lad with big time ideas. Bob Work, the swindling shylock. Chas. Roberts, the villain. "Ginny" Zug, the country lass, and Marion Costello.

The play promises to be a real success in itself, but as an added attraction, dancing will follow the play, with the music supplied by our own Albright Collegians.

Let's all turn out for what will prove to be one of the high spots in the social calendar of the year at Albright College.

Tickets may be purchased, seventy-five cents apiece, from any member of the Domino Club.

Large Squad For A. C. Varsity

Having drawn the curtain on the football season, Albright College turned its attention, athletically, toward basketball last Monday when Coach John Smith called the first meeting of candidates for the impending campaign.

About 25 aspirants for places on the Red and White quintet responded to Coach Smith's call and they included some last year men: Kern, Capt. Abi Karlip, Horn, Furnell, Vickery and Deibert. The candidates will practice in the gymnasium of Northeast Junior High School, but no home games will be played on the new Y. M. C. A. court.

Coach Smith hopes to build up another winning combination, despite the fact that the victorious squad of last Winter was riddled by the graduation of four stars, Capt. "Bull" firing, a forward; Clarence Roth, a guard; and Dave Neff and Pichicolas, both centers. Roth has been assisting Coach Smith in putting some of the new players through practice during the past week. Albright had its greatest basketball season last Winter winning 11 games out of 16 including Princeton, of the Eastern Intercollegiate League, among its victims. The Lions were defeated by a total margin of only 12 points in their five setbacks.

Football Banquet Monday Night

Next Monday evening, December 15, the annual Football Banquet will be held in the College Dining Hall at 7 P. M. Dr. Taylor, of the Athletic Council is making big preparations for same.

At that time the team will elect a captain for next year and many of the players will receive their letters. Football men, who graduate this June, will receive the usual gold footballs.

Of course, Coach "Doggie" Julian will be there and so will Coach "Hooks" Mylin, of Lebanon Valley. Both will be at the speakers' table.

A good time is in store for all. The Athletic Council wishes to announce that College boarding students will receive their Banquet tickets from the Athletic Office, free of charge. Day Students will be able to secure them for $1.00 and all others will be charged $1.50 per plate. Get your tickets early.

Albright Eleven Makes History

Team Closes Record Season By Defeating Lebanon Valley 12-6

More than 4000 fans braved the bitter wind and a freezing temperature to see Albright win its seventh victory of the season by defeating a strong and determined Lebanon Valley eleven. The game marked the close of Albright's most successful football seasons.

The victory gave Albright a record of seven wins, one defeat, and one tie. The outstanding victory was scored over Davis and Elkins, rated as one of the best Eastern teams. The second great victory came when the Lions broke the winning streak of Dick Harlow's "Green Terrors," by a 7 to 7 tie score. Western Maryland the only undefeated eleven in the East was lucky to escape defeat Albright was defeated only by Bucknell.

Larry Hutton scored both tallies, one in the second quarter and one in the fourth quarter. Both tries for the extra point failed. The visitors scored in the second quarter when Lloyd Daub, captain of the Blue and White eleven, caught a lateral pass from Slack, and ran 80 yards, through a broken field, in one of the most spectacular runs of the day. The Lions scored on the first play of the second quarter when Larry Hutton dashed through tackle for a touchdown. The second tally came in the fourth quarter when Larry again dashed through the Blue and White line for another touchdown. The try for placement kick was blocked again.

The nine players who fought so valiantly for the Red and White for the last time were: Capt. "Ding" Schaeffer, Abe Karlin, Curly Emmett, Joe Neff, Harold Carney, Glosser, Ash Seesholtz, Eli Furnell and Les Deibert. When the final whistle blew the nine men concluded a glorious football career with the Lions. "Ding" Schaeffer had the distinction of captaining one of the best teams ever to represent Albright. They will leave their Alma Mater, highly respected by everyone. Albright is sorry to see them leave. The team they represented was, without doubt, the greatest ever to don the Red and White. Albright is proud of this great team.

Albright was first to score, as Hutton crossed the line on the first play of the second quarter. The first quarter was bitterly fought without scoring a single tally as both teams fought desperately. A poor punt by Daub put Albright within scoring distance. The Lion eleven attempted several smashing line backs but the stalwart Lebanon Valley line refused to yield. Albright was penalized 15 yards for holding. Hutton sneaked through tackle for an 11 yard gain. Emmett on a double pass behind the line got off another 11 yard advance. The oval was now only nine yards from the goal line. Lebanon Valley, threatened with a score, braced itself and withstood the attacks for the Red and White. On fourth down Hutton resorted to a field goal but the boot was wide of the uprights. The ball went into Lebanon Valley's possession. For the remainder of the period both teams resorted to a punting duel. In the last few minutes Albright advanced the ball to Lebanon's 8 yard line. The whistle blew and the quarter was over.

On the very first play of the second quarter Larry Hutton took a lateral pass from Haines and scored the first touchdown of the game. The attempt for that important extra point was not successful. For some minutes both teams fought evenly. Haines intercepted Daub's forward pass on Lebanon's 43 yard line. Albright marched consistently up the field on some beautiful running by Weigle. The Red and White was stopped on Lebanon's 14 yard line, where Lebanon Valley gained possession of the ball on downs. A forward pass, Daub to Sweeney Light, netted 20 yards. A second forward pass was intercepted by Emmett on Lebanon's 45 yard line. Hutton was forced to punt and the ball rolled over the goal line, it was brought back on the twenty yard line and Daub on a lateral pass from Slack, fumbled the ball, recovered it on the first bounce, and ran 80 yards, through a broken field, for Lebanon's single touchdown.

EDITORIALS

GREETINGS

It is with great pleasure and pride that the Class of '34, edits this week's edition of the Albrightian. They feel confident that their superiors, the faculty, and the alumni will be pleased with their efforts, as they have done their best to make this issue worthy of praise.

A WORD TO THE FROSH

It is the custom of every college to impose upon its freshman class certain rules and regulations which are to be obeyed. If they aren't carried out they are usually punishable by the use of the "old paddle" or by some other humiliating device.

This year, Frosh rules at Albright have been broken now and then, and the worthy sophomores have justly made amends for them. So frequent were the Frosh found disobeying orders, that the upperclassmen found it necessary to use added force to quell the revolting men of '34. Because of these forceful tactics, college authorities forbid the sophomores to paddle their underclassmen.

Now the Frosh are running wild, more or less. They are forgetting that they are breaking down an old tradition which has been carried on for many years. It is not so much for the enjoyment of the upperclassmen that the Frosh should be humiliated, as it is to keep that enthusiasm in the newcomers at Albright, so that they may keep alive a certain spirit of fellowship and love for their Alma Mater. The Frosh have evidently brought this upon themselves and should find some remedy for it, before it is too late.

The only alternative the Sophomores have is to keep the customs on the Frosh as long as they care to. If the men of '34 would put their heads together, and plan some way of getting the frequent law breakers to be good for a while, maybe the class would be surprised to find that some of their customs were shortly coming off.
—A. C. P. '34

A WORD FROM THE FROSH PRESIDENT

Now that the Class of 1934 has discovered and taken its rightful place upon the campus, it is desirable that they take this opportunity to express a few formal words of greeting to the upper classes and to the faculty.

Throughout the past year here at the new college, you of the upper classes have established an enviable record. A record of worth and initiative that looms large as a challenge to the character of the new class.

The freshmen class accepts this challenge!

For they too have ideals that are infinite. Each member is willing to support the fine traditions of Albright and to perform his share of work in a wholehearted effort toward even greater progress in the years to be.

This willingness to do is not ill founded. One has but to observe—How much a part the freshmen have become of the various activities on the campus! In scholarship and in athletics, in talent and in good fellowship, they have many leaders.

With such a foundation they must surely show in the near future a marked willingness to be loyal and a decided eagerness to be progressive if they are properly guided.

This responsibility of guidance lies wholly with the faculty. For only here can one find that keen ability, well seasoned with ample experience which is so necessary for the promotion of a better student welfare.

So with a man's challenge and a guiding hand, there is no doubt that the character of the freshmen class will gain in strength and assure for Albright College a future full of promise and achievement that shall not be unworthy of those who have gone before.

LITERARY

Mary Moyer

Many of the recent books are interesting and worthwhile, and they should be read and enjoyed by members of the student body. In the list of recent books will be found Bruce Barton's "On the Up and Up." The title does not definitely suggest any special significance, but upon reading it we find this book to be made up of morals taken from business life. Much psychology is involved, which, splendidly portrayed, lends advice to the reader. This book deals with practically every form of business, but is strictly based on the personal behavior of people. The matter of thought, for example, is brought about in connection with a story of a woman, who had been paralyzed by a fall from the street car, and had taken the case to court. She was unable to move arm or leg, and needles thrust into her flesh were not felt. A nerve-specialist was called to testify, and was convinced that her condition was the result of her own thinking. He followed up the case, and found that two days after she was given the awards for her damages she had completely recovered. It cannot be said that the woman was "faking." The specialist said that no one can produce such a condition in himself and she could not do it again. Futher, he testifies that shock combined with the thought was sufficient to put her in that state.

Other points considered are that a youth should start at the bottom of the ladder in business and climb gradually instead of being a quick-starter and fall toward the end. Build up a sound health first and then demand the pull. While climbing don't let people disturb or wrong you, for worrying brings great chances in faces and also shorter days. Don't take business too seriously because "little business is done with solemn boredom and most big enterprises are carried forward with spirit." Don't consider your job as a burden and attend to it in a dreary way. Calvin Coolidge held one of these jobs—that of lieutenant governor—he attended to dreary functions and his speeches were seldom known. Yet Pres. Coolidge took a deep interest in his work and this collection of speeches helped most to make him Vice-President.

Another phase of interest is that no credit is given to people who help leaders to accomplish what they have. No credit is given to the teacher of Abraham Lincoln who sat up many nights before the fire place with him. The mother of Socrates has no mention in history, neither the underspaid teacher of Shakespeare or the country doctor who attended Joan of Arc. How many business people realize that their road to success is supported by the poorer class? Such and more interesting points are discussed in short stories in this book.

Lovers of dogs are especially advised to read "If Dogs Could Write" by Lucas. The plot is centered about the actions in daily life of an Aberdeen. Two of the dog's most outstanding features are his degree of curiosity and wisdom. Explanation of the likes and dislikes of dogs together with their jealousy are also important factors woven in the plot. Several stories are included to let the reader see what relation exists between dogs and people, and what dogs mean to dog-fanciers.

At Albright In 1906

(Excerpts From Old Bulletins)
By The Editor

Fall Semester

In November, the County Institute again assembled at Lebanon. Seniors were excused for the day and went to the city. The meetings were very instructive, but it seems the Senior men and women enjoyed sightseeing the town more.

On November 9, the Sophs went to Reading for their annual Banquet. And they certainly had their plans well laid, to escape the Frosh, who were on the alert to discover the place of eating. During the day, members of the Sophomore Class left the Campus at various times. Early that night, they met together in Reading, and proceeded with their feast. They had just begun, when 15 Freshmen appeared outside the waiter thinking they were Sophs, had almost let them in.

Co-ed? Why not form a Sewing Circle? The December issue of the old Bulletin of this year reports that such an organization was started again, on the Campus. The girls met every Saturday evening at East Hall and from all indications, they enjoyed it.

Basketball

For being a thing of the past, C. S. Kelchner arranged a basketball schedule for those interested. Many turned out for the first practice, and the prospects loomed bright for the season. The first game with the Arlington Basketball team of Reading, resulted in Albright's swamping that delegation.

On the schedule for the season there appeared such schools as Moravian, Muhlenberg, Lehigh, Hill School, Susquehanna and Delaware.

Christmas Theme In Y. W. Meeting

The regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was held in the "Y" room of Selwyn Hall, Wednesday evening, December 3. The meeting was in charge of the iVice-President, Lydia Schober. The theme of the program for the evening was "Christmas." A Christmas song was sung and Mary Yohn read the Christmas story from the bible.

Mildred Wissinger sang a solo accompanied by Flora Gross. Marion Costello led the discussion on "College Christmas Spirit." The discussion was of a very practical nature and could easily be applied to the life of an Albright College student. It was announced that the Day Students would have charge of the next meeting. An announcement was also made that the city Y. W. C. A. had asked for volunteers to mend toys to be given to poor children at Christmas. Many of the girls responded with the true Christmas spirit.

POETRY COLUMN

By Perry Ott

FOR FRIENDSHIP'S SAKE

When a pal is down and in of help,
If you are on top, way up on the shelf,
Will you reach down with a life saving grip
And help your old chum to muster some pep?

Assure that friend in your most cheerful tone,
That all he will need is courage alone
To help him rise and achieve what is best,
When he will rejoice to find peace and rest.

But, in the new era of joy and pluck
Will that companion realize his luck,
Of being saved from depths of sheer disgrace—
And thank you heartily for friendship's sake?

No matter if that friend forgets to thank
The kind one who roused him from where he sank,
Remember, worldly rewards may be fakes
—Think the best of him just for friendship's sake!

SHIPS

These ships that journey in the ocean life,
Travel through storm of earthly strife,
In a manner so staunch and stately—
With sails of courage and bravery,
Fellowship, with a cargo of friends—
Workmanship with ambitions ends—
Sportsmanship, carrying health—
Leadership, filled with wealth.

CONSCIENCE

What is it within you, when your mind begins to sway,
That calls and tells you to go the right way?
A faint little voice that you try to smother,

As you waver—the right road or the other?
If perchance you heeded, the faint little voice,
And we're so fortunate, as to make the right choice,
Wouldn't you be the better woman or man?

And be leading your life the best you can?
But, if silenced the voice within your breast,
With a louder clamour of boast or jest,
Of what use will you be hereon earth?
None—of any worth—just common dirt!

So, hearken! hearken! to the voice within;
Then no temptation will lead to sin,
And you'll have nothing to hide
If you let conscience be your guide!

MY IMPRESSION OF THE SOPHOMORES

We know the Sophs are friends to us,
Just as they say they are,
They help us in so many ways;
They see us near and far,
We freshmen never seem to know
Just what is right or wrong—
So Sophomores take us in hand—
Their rules are plenty strong.
Now, I've broken to forget
—And calmly break a rule,
We're doomed to pay the penalty;
Then "sophs" are hard and cruel.
It takes the minds of clever sophs,
I'm sure that you'll agree,
To think of silly things to do
To punish frosh like we,
To make us look ridiculous,
Is their one aim in life;
But I'll bet you we make it hard,
They have an awful strife,
Yet, after all, the sophs are nice,
The hazing is real tough
—The only thing that we regret—
They won't be Frosh when we are Sophs.

Students Hear Elocutionist

Those who attended Chapel yesterday morning were pleased to hear an unusually fine program given by one Miss Bewley of Tennessee.

Miss Bewley portrayed, through her character sketches and various other scenes, life in the Tennessee mountains. As she is a native of Tennessee, she is very capable of portraying the thoughts, speech, and customs of these mountainmountain people.

Besides writing practically all of her own scenes, which in itself makes this an extraordinary feature, Miss Bewley takes all the parts. Only one excellent in elocution is able to do this.

A fairly large audience was present, all of whom were of the opinion that the program was excellent.

SPORT LIGHTS

By Elliott M. Clarke, Jr.

Now that the most successful football season in Albright history is a thing of the past, our thoughts turn to Basketball. But before we leave the Gridiron subject, let's take a look at some of the boys who will certainly be missed next year. Men like Schaeffer, Carney, Karlip, Purnell, Norris, Deibert, Seasholtz, Glosser and that flashy little quarterback, Yank Emmett are among those who will graduate this June. These fellows gave every ounce of their fine fighting spirit to hang up the great football record this last season shows. Here's their record: Won 7, Lost one and tied one. The tie was of course with the undefeated Western Maryland team.

Basketball looms up on the horizon. And take a look at these old veterans of the court—Haines, Deibert, Vickery, Purnell, Horn and Karlip. We expect much from them this season. Then there are a few star Frosh players, like DeFranco, Mowery, Kennedy and Vaness. The first game on the hard schedule is with Lafayette, and as you all know they always put out a good club. In fact, early this season, they beat Stroudsburg, 36 to 31. And you can bet your life we can expect some good opposition from Rutgers, Princeton, Gettysburg and Bucknell. However, Coach Johnny Smith has high hopes of turning out a victorious squad this year.

This year, all home games will be played on the Y. M. C. A. Court, Washington and Reed Streets. Here are the home games and their dates:

- Dec. 17—Kurtztown S. T.
- Jan. 10—Ursinus
- Jan. 17—Gettysburg
- Jan. 31—St. Joseph
- Feb. 7—F. and M.
- Feb. 13—Bucknell
- Feb. 19—Lebanon Valley

Girls Begin Basketball

Much of the spirit of the school is now centered in the gymnasium where the girls are practicing diligently to develop the best team of which Albright College has ever boasted. The competition is very keen and considerable improvement is being shown. As yet, however, there are no outstanding players. There is especial need for centers and forwards.

The following girls are back from last year's squad: Leah Deck, Irene Porter, Kathryn Kutz, Mabel Immel and Ruth Katt. Practice is held on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 4:30 and on Wednesday evening at 8:30 under the supervision of Miss Van Duzer. The following girls report regularly for practice: Irene Porter, Dolores Marconi, Pauline Richards, Mabel Immel, Edith Smith, Kathryn Kutz, Maur Siler, Dorothy Robinhold, Marion Myers, Betty Warner, Laura Webber, Marian Costello, Peg Wittmann, Irma Stahl, Ethel Sprinkle, Agnes Bittle, Ruth Herbert, Lydia Schober, Helen Buck, Mary Ellen Venus, Lillian Slater, Ethel Mauger, Grace Seibert, Catherine Yerkes, Julia Ulrich, Betty Rimelspacher, Ruth Ott, Mildred Haederle, Miriam Reddig, Flora Gross and Leah Deck.

Frosh Lose In Basketball

A crowd of over 200 fans saw the Albright Frosh lose its initial game of the basketball season to the Reading High School Team, on Friday evening, by the score of 30 to 25.

The Red and Black Five showed a great power of scoring ability with Morris and Brown leading their team with 7 and 8 points respectively.

Of the Albright yearlings, DeFranco and latesta stood out from the rest and were the main scoring threats of the team. DeFranco scored three field goals and three foul shots, and latesta was successful in sinking three field goals and two foul shots.

Reading gained an 8 to 2 lead at quarter time and kept up its score at the end of the half to 16 to 7. The score as the third quarter ended was 24 to 12. Then Albright threatened, scoring eight points, but this was checked when Reading High matched

COLLEGIANA

ANN HARBOR, MICH.—How War- ing's Pennsylvanians got their start. Just about financially finished and ready to disband the orchestra received an offer to play at the University in an old gym for the overflow crowd at the Annual Jay Hop. They managed to steal the crowd right away from the two famous bands who were supposed to be the shining lights. Success immediately followed. First they went to a Detroit Theatre, radio station, and then they gave an eight week stage concert. They've been going strong ever since.

The University of Arkansas has a rather unusual tradition in its Senior walk. Each Spring, the graduating class adds another slab to the walk. On it are engraved the names of all the graduating members. This custom originated with the Class of 1905. It is evident that the walk couldn't have been much more than a good size space during the first few years.

During a recent survey made by the University of Wisconsin in co-operation with the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club it was found that College graduates earn an average of $345 more a year than their less educated sisters. There are four ministers on De Pan's grid team this fall. Two of them are regulars. This is something for the Albright Pre-Theologs to try.

It is possible for a student at the University of Paris to live in the Latin quarter for $230 for two semesters. His tuition at the University, unless he takes technical training is $5.60 for the year.

The University of North Dakota recently passed group punishment rules for its co-eds. Since that time said co-eds have spent much of their time in the University library.

The spirit of co-operation shown by the colleges in regard to benefit games should help quiet the cries against professionalism in college ranks and show that college athletics after all are able to help a good cause.

the Red and White's points for the remainder of the contest.

The upperclassmen think they know but we find that what they know isn't half so much as what they think they know.

Wright insists that he is a victim of circumstances.

Speaking of chickens, we hear that Fay, Jones and Speck have done quite well during the recent vacation.

Wes Stevens is certainly living up to his favorite slang name "Flash," all he needs now are the boots, whiskers and reindeers.

Ace Wolbert, we are told, is contemplating on starting a pastry shop. At any rate, he is counting on the good judgement of several Frosh co-eds for their suggestions in regard to his fresh dainties.

Martha has a new outlook on life. We are wondering whether Van Aiken's grey skies have turned blue.

The frosh are trying to find some way to keep the A's from becoming extinct. Perhaps our profs may be able to aid us in our research work.

Clark solicited the aid of several Frosh boy friends to assist him in taking care of his date applications in Pawtucket over the Thanksgiving recess.

Professor Fenili claims that according to statistics, each year one student sparkles in his Spanish class, the result being a future language professor. Bottiglier seems to be a sure bet for this crown.

Stan Brookes told us the first week of school that he objected to paddling the "cocky" frosh. The faculty seem to agree with Mr. Brookes.

PRESIDENT

HOWARD MAYER

As the future members of the Class of '34 gradually acclimated themselves to their new surroundings, a certain young man became conspicuous on the campus. He stood out from the others because of his pleasing smile and cordial greetings; his noticeable power of leadership and the possession of all of the qualities of a gentleman. He is Howard C. Mayer of Philadelphia.

When the time for the election of class officers arrived he had the pleasure of finding himself the choice of his fellow classmates for the presidency. They had chosen him because he had demonstrated in their sight that he was the man with whom they could place their confidence in running the affairs of the class. So far he has occupied his office with considerable ability and has gained the friendship and respect of not only the Frosh, but the upper-classes also.

Frankford High and Brown Prep were the schools that Howard attended in Philadelphia, before entering Albright College, on his quest for further knowledge. It is said that he was an outstanding scholar, and also an athlete of no mean ability. In his spare time he helped to edit the Prep's Brown and White magazine in the position of associate editor.

A lot is expected from the Frosh president, but there is not a doubt that he will lead the class through a very successful year.

DR. J. CALVIN OLDT

When Albright College was located at New Berlin, Pa., and known as the Central Pennsylvania College, the class of 1890 was not large. In fact, it numbered but nine members. Among them Mr. Oldt.

Graduate work at Ohio University followed, where he received the degree of M. A. and Ph. D. Several years were spent in teaching in various High Schools.

At present, Dr. Oldt is Headmaster of the Central Institute, located at Cleveland, Ohio.

FOOTBALL

The try for a placement kick for the extra point was blocked by Albright's fast charging line. The half ended with a 6 to 6 deadlock.

The third period went scoreless with neither team gaining any advantage; it was mostly a punting duel, nine kicks being registered. Near the end of the period the Lions took a kick from Daub on Albright's 38 yard line. A pass, Weigle to Haines, advanced the ball to Lebanon's 43 yard line. The whistle blew with the oval on Lebanon's 33 yard line. And still the score was 6 to 6.

A pass, Weigle to Haines, brought the ball on the 29 yard line. Several line plunges were resorted to, but to no avail. A pass from Weigle was batted down. It looked like an incomplete pass, but Referee Wheeler ruled that Lebanon Valley player had interfered with the receiver. As a result it was Albright's ball on the 29 yard line. Larry Hutton slashed through tackle for the second touchdown. Again Lebanon Valley broke through the line to block the kick from placement. The score was now 12 to 6 and the Albright fans cheered.

The Lebanon Valley gridsters staged a fierce counter-attack, and on a series of forward and lateral passes carried the ball to Albright's nine yard line. Here Albright's line braced itself and withstood the attacks of the Annville team. A pass by Daub over the goal line was batted down beyond the end zone. It was then only scoring threat made by Lebanon Valley, after Lloyd Daub's 20 yard run. Albright staged another march up the field. Carney and Haines were removed dueto injuries. Weigle, running through the entire Lebanon Valley team, made a beautiful gain of 30 yards. Numerous substitutions were made. Albright was staging a consistent march for another touchdown when the final whistle blew. The game was over and another victory had been won by Albright.
