Urban Sociologists Take Field Trip To Philadelphia

Greth Leads Group Through City's Social Centers

The members of the class in Urban Sociology spent Friday, May 16, in Philadelphia to study the social organization and functioning of a big metropolitan city at first hand. The group under Dr. Morris S. Greth's leadership journeyed to the Lutheran Settlement House at 1340 Frankford Ave., where they were met by Frank M. Brown, Superintendent of the Philadelphia Hospice for Men, who in accordance with a pre-arranged schedule, accompanied the party through the city.

In addition to a tour through some of the natural areas of Philadelphia, the work of the following institutions was studied: the Lutheran Settlement House, Fifth Street community center of the Methodist Temple, the Galilee Mission for Homeless Men of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the Reed Street Neighborhood House, the Susan Parrish Wharton Settlement for Colored People, the new Federal Housing Project at Glenwood, which consists of more than 500 dwelling units, one of the largest of the city's recreation centers conducted by the Bureau of Recreation, and the Lakenau Old Folk's Home and Children's Hospital. Those making the trip were Paul Ackert, Jerome Bentz, Marjorie Frundt, Verna Fye, Esther Gingrich, Marie Bertolet, Olen Boyer, Harry Buck, Betty Ebbert, Walter Greth, Jr., Jane Louise Haupt, Miriam Hershey, Phyllis Kaltreider, Charles Malin, Robert Mattson, Grace Mock, Paul Petrucka, Rollin Reiner, Mrs. Marion Rupp, Vincent Rusbosin, James Sharp, Kenneth Stout, Kay Wanner, Margaret Wolfe, Marie Zaffiro, Catherine Gray, Betty Siegel, Willard Bollinger, Virginia Schoener and Dr. Morris Greth.

Eagles Mere Site Of Y Conference

Program Contains Forums, Recreation

The annual student-faculty conference of the Student Christian Movement of the Middle Atlantic Region will be held at Eagles Mere, June 8-15.

Albright delegates will be Marjorie Frundt, Katharine Taylor, Ruth Hand, Verna Fye, Rillie Lee Wright, Jane Redcay, Esther Gingrich, Harry Buck, Donald Blackmore, Donald Buxton, Paul Kimmel, James Snelbaker, Art McKay, William Lippert.

The entire program of the conference — worship, discussion groups, platform talks, and recreation — will be organized around the "central purpose of discovering the kind of strength which individuals and groups need for creative action in our world."

Dear Diary: George Horn-'Sorority Man'; P. B. M'S Explore R. C. C. Golf Course.

PAT Formal

The highlight of the Pi Alpha Tau spring formal last Friday evening was the crowning of George Horn as the boy who has done most for the sorority during the past year. George has been admitted as an honorary member of the P. A. T.'s, beginning a custom which is to take place at each spring formal in succeeding years. The dance was held at the Berkshire Country Club with music furnished by the Royal Manhattans. Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gordon and Mr. and Mrs. Neal O. Harris. To show the girls how much they enjoyed the dance and the favors of leather key cases, the men serenaded them with "Auld Lang Syne" shortly before the dance ended, and everyone left — I almost said for home.

Officers of P. A. T. for the coming year were elected at the business meeting Monday evening. Those elected are: President, Jane Louise Haupt; vice president, Ella Propst; secretary, Betty Jones; treasurer, Esther Whitehead; student council representative, Sally Weaver.

Mu Affair

"Eat, dance, and be merry" — this might have been the slogan at the Phi Beta Mu dinner-dance at the Reading Country Club last Friday evening. With 100 per cent attendance of active members, there was no end of fun and gaiety.

During the dinner the well-known quartet — Rillie Lee Wright, Dorothy Fox, Jane Redcay, and Doris Schlosser — entertained by singing the Phi Beta Mu sorority song which was written by Rillie Lee.

Notes from my little black book:

Dr. Masters entertaining during intermission by telling stories.

Little Jeanie Bomgardner, with a look of extreme pleasure on her face as she danced with Dr. Geil.

Wet feet giving away all those who explored the golf course.

Bessie Knerr and Mary Lower renewing old acquaintances.

The management removing the tables and turning out the lights to hasten homeward the reluctantly departing dancers.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor-in-Chief:

This is in reply to the libelous statements written last week by "The College Democratic Committee" in a letter to you.

In the past three years, and no doubt before that, there has never been such questionable tactics employed to win political offices on campus or attempts to justify the means by slandering the students who had the courage to expose the undemocratic methods of the political aspirants, as witnessed the past few weeks.

The attempt of the "CDC" to besmirch the sincere motive of the "Y" president cannot be ignored. Art McKay's character and loyalty to Albright tradition is above reproach. Having committed many wrongs during the election, the "CDC" does not hesitate to do one more in a last ditch effort to justify their actions before the student body.

The remarkable thing about last week's letter is that it did not even attempt to refute or disprove a single statement printed in the social action paper. For that matter, no one has presented contradictory evidence because the social action paper contained the pure and simple truth.

When I undertook to write the article to express my conviction that such a condition was intolerable on our campus, I expected ridicule. And I got it.

But, it doesn't take much courage to hide behind a name front, introduce corrupt politics; and then when you are exposed, to try to cover up your misdeeds by a letter — planned to smudge the character of the "Y", its president, and the members of the Social Action committee. And to top it off, the writer hasn't the decency to sign his name.

The "CDC", operating on the supposition that the majority of students are very gullible and easily swayed, warns them to vote a straight party ticket. Why? Who is at the head of the party? Who are its leaders? What is the purpose or motives in having "selected" candidates? What does the party stand for — better student government?

I wish that the "CDC", whoever they may be, would take a good look at Albright's motto: "Veritas et Justitia" — truth and justice. The social action committee of the "Y" is resolved and dedicated to the task of upholding these principles at all times. The "CDC" has their choice. As for me, I shall continue to protest if the institution with which I am affiliated is made the home of political hirelings.

Even some party men laughed at the whole election stunt. But, it was no laughing matter. Too many citizens nowadays accept local

Sophocles' Antigone, Annual Greek Play, To Star Hollenbach

Festival Drama Portrays Struggle Of State and Person

Albright will observe its eighth annual Greek Festival this year with the rendition of the ANTI-GONE of Sophocles. The event is scheduled to take place on Friday, June 6, at 7:00 p. m., D.S.T., on the science hall steps. In case of rain the play will be presented in the college chapel.

ANTIGONE is the first Greek play ever to be given on the Albright campus, being rendered for the first time in 1934. It is a story of the conflict between man-made laws and divine mandates and pictures the struggle between the state and the individual. It is one of the finest of the extant Greek plays and has been given before university and college audiences more frequently than any other play.

The title role, Antigone, will be portrayed by Margaret Hollenbach, with the supporting cast of: George Henry as Creon, the king; Verna Fye as Ismene, the sister of Antigone; Marjorie Frundt as Eurydice, Creon's wife; Albert Falcone as Haemon, the son of Creon; Henry Hellstrom as Tiresias, the soothsayer; Paul Ackert as the Watchman; Charles Miesse as the First Messenger; Donald Blackmore, the Second Messenger; Paul Kimmel, the leader of the chorus; and Tommy Masters as the little boy. The attendants and the chorus have not been selected as yet.

The scene of this Greek conflict lies before the palace of the king at Thebes. The play is at the present time in the early production stage under the supervision of Mr. Robert L. Work. Miss Ernestine Elder is directing the making of a few new costumes which will be used in the production.

The cast were among the guests at the library book-talk and tea on Wednesday afternoon at which time Dean John P. Carroll of the Jesuit Novitiate at Wernersville spoke on "Sophocles."

bosses and corrupt politics without complaining or protesting, and there is absolutely no reason for beginning such practices at Albright.

Signed:

Seymour Mendelsohn.

We wish to thank Mr. Mendelsohn for this letter in defense of the "Y" social action committee. It will go a long way in explaining their action.

To the Editor of the Albrightian:

We, the students behind the school spirit of Albright, would like to put a proposition before the student body.

The Albrightian is our paper, it is the medium through which we can express our views and put our suggestions and pleas before the student body.

With this in mind, we would like to request:

1. That this editorial column be used for our unprejudiced views that concern our campus as a whole.
2. That when used specifically, it be used not for name-calling, or airing of personal grievances, but for sincere, impersonal and unbiased criticism.
3. That it be used for constructive suggestion, opinions or advice.
4. That it be used for discussion of thought-provoking and vital on-and-off campus problems.
5. That it be used as our tool to create a more enthusiastic Albright spirit.

Can we eliminate from this opinion-forming editorial space any material that runs counter to these principles?

This is our proposition for the year ahead and we hope it can be our policy.

Signed:

Concerned Students of Albright.

It seems that the writers of this letter have the same ideas in mind as do the members of the editorial staff. We thank them for presenting this tentative policy to the student body.

Who Failed?

A dark blot has been placed on the name of Albright. An incident took place in chapel last week which warrants an apology to Mr. Fred Cardin, who was to appear on the program. Here's where the rub comes in—not knowing that Mr. Cardin was behind stage waiting to be introduced, the students unintentionally walked out on him. The students surely could not be blamed for this insult to the performer—they were eagerly awaiting his appearance.

Who was to blame for this slip-up—not the student council chapel committee as they, not having sponsored the program, knew nothing about it. Even the faculty members present were unaware of Mr. Cardin's presence. Someone failed in his duty!

The Axis Divides The World

By ART MCKAY

Recently there came to this observer's attention a very interesting reprint of an article published in the JAPAN TIMES ADVERTISER, the organ of the Japanese foreign office, dated April 29, 1941. It contained a set of "exploratory" peace aims.

These may serve to clarify for us the aims of the Axis and may be summarized briefly as follows:

1. The strongest powers, Germany, Japan, the British Empire, Russia and the United States, are to rule the world.
2. The Axis is to have naval parity with Britain and America, while the latter are to demilitarize their outposts.
3. Germany is to rule Europe and North Africa, and share in the control of Suez. South Africa is to be "independent."

4. Japan is to be hegemon in Asia and in the Pacific Islands. The older colonies are to be "freed." India is to have self-government and Siberia is to be demilitarized.

5. The United States is to rule the Americas, but with equality of opportunity for the Axis.

With the spokesmen of the democratic states unwilling or unable to phrase their peace aims, these voiced by the Axis powers become increasingly significant. If we are to look ahead intelligently toward international justice, we must soon give expression to those things we desire to embody in (Continued on page 4, column 1)

STRICTLY PARTIAL

Hello, Folks:

Well, what will we start off with this week? Strikes? O. K. That's as good a topic as any. Heaven knows that there are enough of them. Striking seems to be the latest national pastime. The big question the rules committee is working on is just how many strikes are out in this game. I was looking at a picture of a "peaceful" picket line in a newspaper just the other day. In the foreground were a union worker and a non-union worker settling their differences with left hooks. In the background was a state trooper "warming up in the bull pen." It's a wonder Mike Jacobs doesn't do something about this. Boxing fans would pay good money to see some of that "peaceful picketing" they tell us about.

After lifting the lid off the garbage can and delving into the European mess, the first thing we encounter is this Hess incident. The known facts concerning the case are few. Out of a clear blue sky, this number three Nazi came sailing into the limelight, accompanied only by a bullet-ventilated Messerschmidt, a Brooklyn city guide, a hook ticket for a concentration camp, and an emergency supply of bologna. The Germans promptly announced, "He's either screwy, or just plain nuts—or both!" What prompted Hess's desertion? For the answer to this question I have delved into Astrology, a subject which exerted an enormous influence on Herr Hess, and have emerged with the following results. Hess was compelled to do what he did by the stars. Hess's horoscope shows that the poor boy was astronomically stuck behind the eight ball. With the planet Pluto (the devil) on one side and Neptune (the deep blue sea) on the other, things were bad enough. Mars, moreover, was acting in conjunction with these two planets at a 36° angle and telling Hess to do something violent. Then there was Mercury (the 36°) telling him to do whatever he was going to do, fast. With all these forces acting on him, it's no wonder the poor gent did what he did. You can't buck the stars.

Well, the Iraq situation is still in a semi-explosive stage. The Iraq big shot (I couldn't spell his name if I wanted to) still refuses to play marbles with Wavell's boys. If the British don't watch their step they'll have a mess on their hands that will be as wicked as an Albright election.

The week's prediction: The Italians in Ethiopia will surrender rather than be wiped out. Each soldier is willing to fight to the last man, but the trouble is, each bambino wants to make certain that he is the last man.

RALPH FLEMING, Esq.

Dr. Masters presided over a unique round-table discussion in which graduate-representatives of the various professions participated. The topic of discussion was "Education for Service in a Democracy." The alumnae speakers gave their comments on (1) How Albright prepared them for their professions, and (2) What the professions are looking for in the present graduates. Dean Walton then pointed out the work that the college is doing to prepare the students for the various professions.

Jane Redcay and Paul Kimmel furnished the entertainment in the way of music.

Kappas, Zetas Vie For Crown

Word has come to us that the college fathers have decided to build tennis courts on the campus. Don't get excited girls, for that was news years ago. The tough part of the whole matter is that this time it looks as if we are actually going to have the courts, but—they will be made of asphalt.

Ask any good tennis player, or even those who profess to be good, what they think of a hard surface court. We warn you, you had better duck quickly.

We think the administration should consider building several clay courts, instead. The initial cost is the same. The chief objection so far has been the cost of upkeep. This problem could easily be solved by assigning the job of keeping the courts in condition to two players who have made the squad, under the facilities of the self-help program. Rest assured that a tennis player takes care of his equipment as carefully as Ray Shugard does his car. The only work necessary on the courts would be in the spring when, in a few days, the clay could be smoothed into shape. Thereafter it would be but a matter of rolling and lining.

We also understand that the men who are in charge of the building program have but a meager knowledge of tennis courts. We are not beriding individuals for that lack of knowledge. Nevertheless, don't you think that it would be a good plan to consult someone who knows something about different types of tennis courts and of their advantages and disadvantages? Maybe the lads who are going to perform on the courts would like to be consulted.

Here are some salient facts about the essential differences between a clay and hard surface court gathered by a member of the present net squad:

1. Balls will last three sets on a hard surface and 10-12 sets on clay.
2. Shoes last about 25 sets on hard surface and are good for a whole season on clay.
3. A good clay court will absorb water and dry as quickly as a hard surface court.
4. Hard surfaces are much harder on a player's feet and racquet than a clay court.

These facts should be heartening to the athletic council which must buy the equipment for the squad. The saving in balls alone would compensate for the amount expended for the small upkeep on the clay courts.

Kappas Hold First As Daymen Lose; Track Squad Wins

Miller, Breen, Boland, Star Against St. Joe's

STANDINGS

W. L.	A.P.O.	W. L.
Kappas 6 2	A.P.O. 4 3
Zetas 5 2	T.F.B. 2 6
Day Students . 6 4	Pi Tau 1 7

You can take your pick between the Kappas and Zetas for the intramural softball league. The Kappas appear to have the edge up until Wednesday night boasting one more win.

The Kappas advanced to first place within the last week by trouncing the Day Students, 16-3 and pushing across a run in the last inning to nip a scrappy Pi Tau outfit, 6-5. In the other contest, the fourth place A.P.O. club humbled the Day Studes, 12-1.

Cindermen Cop Win

Albright's track and field squad finally conquered "Old Lady Luck" and St. Joseph's College at the same time Tuesday afternoon. After losing to Ursinus by 2½ points on Saturday and being tied by Dickinson a week before, the win was well deserved. The cindermen close their season tomorrow dueling Susquehanna University at Selinsgrove.

Burd Miller and Jimmy Breen were the individual stars for the Red and White. Big Burd easily outclassed the entries in the mile and half mile events. Breen copped the pole vault a la Cornelius Warmerdam, world's record holder. Clem Boland upset the Hawks' ace, Jimmy Nicholas, by racing to a triumph in the 440 yard dash. Nicholas was high point getter for both sides, scoring wins in the 100 and 220 dashes, broad jump and second in the quarter mile. The summaries:

- 100-yard dash—Won by Nicholas, St. Joseph's; second, Breen, Albright; third, Kent, Albright. Time—10.2.
- Pole vault—Won by Breen, Albright; second, He between Dever and Gallagher, St. Joseph's. Height—10 feet, 6 inches.
- Mile run—Won by Miller, Albright; second, Matteucci, St. Joseph's; third, Mackell, St. Joseph's. Time—4:41.8.
- High jump—Won by Gaughlin, St. Joseph's; second, Michaels, Albright; third, Derr, Albright.
- 440-yard run—Won by Boland, Albright; second, Nicholas, St. Joseph's; third, Dutzer, Albright. Time—51.9.

KTX Inducts Pledges; Enjoy Social Period

Last Tuesday evening the Kappa Tau Chi fraternity, the Albright pre-ministerial group, inducted formally its new members. The impressive worship and induction service was held in the School of Theology Chapel; the new president, Harry Buck, presided.

The following new members took the oath of loyalty: William Blackley, Gerard Heilman, John Klein, William Lippert, Robert Reed, James Snelbaker and Jacob Wagner.

Following the induction, the entire fraternity adjourned to the lower social hall for an hour of fellowship and refreshment.

Dear Diary

Mrs. Harry V. Masters, Miss Ruth Shaffer, and the active P. A. T. members were entertained by the alumnae group of the sorority at an informal supper party at the home of Ruth Stratton, in Gibraltar, Sunday afternoon. The senior girls were welcomed into the alumnae group and said farewell to their active days.

Back to Nature

A tall, well proportioned stranger dressed in the dark green of the National Park Service came striding over the campus last Wednesday morning. He was Mr. Lemuel A. Garrison, the superintendent of the Hopewell Village National Historic Site. His arrival on campus came as a surprise treat to the zoology class to whom he delivered a lecture on "The Chances of the College Youth in the National Park Service."

This was a big day for the zoology class, for earlier in the day—and I mean much earlier in the day, 5:00 a. m. to be exact—the class went on a bird hike. Many weird bird calls and cat calls were heard, but probably the most charming (?) were Al Thergeson's imitations of Professor Green's imitations—boy, what a "bold" and what a call!

More About Birds

The C. P. T. program for this semester is nearing its close, and as it nears its close, your columnist was able to pick up some interesting tales about the "birds of Albright." Bill Bottonari recently went on a little cross-country flight with the Pottsville airport as his destination. Search as he might, there simply was no Pottsville airport in "Bot's" range of vision. The gas was getting low—his blood pressure getting high so he did the next best thing—made a forced landing in a field. Well, more power to the "birds of Albright" who seek adventure. To those of you who would like similar thrills how about signing up now for the next C. P. T. program.

Men of Industry

The college student believes he is justified in asking to be deferred from military service while he studies for a specialized role in national defense. The value of this attitude was proven this week when two of our senior "chem" majors received positions as chemists at the Rustless Steel and Iron Corporation at Baltimore, Maryland. They are Harold Winterhalter and Carl Yoder.

The Axis

peace, should the democracies prevail.

Both Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt have projected vague ideas and suggested huge general aims, but these will not suffice. If it is possible for the Axis powers to look ahead realistically, it would seem to be equally possible for the democracies.

If we continue to talk in abstractions, we are apt to get very far away from the political realities which will in the final analysis color all our planning.

We should as citizens in a nation standing at the brink of warfare call again and again to our President and the administration's leaders to demand a definition of our "peace aims." If we are to support Great Britain — to what end? If democracy is to win—how preserve it and make it more vital?

Let us seek to impress our leaders with the conviction that this second war "to save the world for democracy" seems headed toward the same end as the first. That must not be!

Symphony Orchestra To Play For Seniors

Net Nearly $200 From First Concert

On Wednesday and Thursday evenings of last week, the Albright Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Prof. Hans Nix, gave an outstanding performance before a most appreciative audience. "Songs from the Old Folks," a medley by Lake, received the greatest applause. The Commencement Concert, to be given June 5, features the rendition of Mozart's piano concerto by Miss Jane Redcay and Sibelius's Finlandia by the orchestra.

The proceeds of the benefit concert amount to nearly $200. The Ladies' Auxiliary have contributed $250, and a gift has been received in the amount of $150, the donors of which prefer to remain anonymous. With the addition of the $50 which the band set aside for uniforms instead of using it for a trip, the grand total amounts to $650 toward the $1000 needed for new uniforms.

These uniforms, collegiate (blazer or cape) in style, are to be selected, measurements taken, and the order made before the students leave for the summer recess.

Pi Tau Beta Elects Leon Steckley, President

Leon Steckley, chemistry student from Newport, Pennsylvania, was elected president of the Pi Tau Beta fraternity for the first semester of the 1941 college year. Also elected last Monday evening, May 19, were Harry Buck, theology student from Williamsport, vice president and chaplain; Walter Melick, business administration major from Morristown, New Jersey, treasurer; and Charles Miesse, liberal arts student from Bethlehem, secretary. Final preparations for the dinner-dance to be held at the Reading Country Club tonight were made. It was announced that Jack Kenney and the Royal Manhattans will provide music for dancing from eight o'clock until twelve o'clock.

Zetas Install Officers; Spring Formal Success

The Zetas' spring formal held in the ballroom of the Wyomissing Club last Saturday night, was a great success. More than 70 couples, including alumnae and friends, were present.

The new officers of the fraternity were installed on Monday night. Donald Buxton, the new president, says that in the coming year the Zetas are going to try to make their affairs even bigger and better than those held this year.
